LIBRARY
ALABAMA COLLEGE
MONTEVALLO

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. I. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 2, 1896. NO. 39.

Love's Millionaire.

I say; "The world is lonely;
The hearth at home is cold,
And sad is life to child and wife
When life hath little gold."
But soft her arms steal round my neck—
My comforter so dear;
And "How much do you love me?"
And her sweet voice answers clear:

"I love you, I love you
A hundred million—there!"
And then I'm poor no more—no more
For I'm Love's millionaire.

Then sweeter seems the breaking
Of Poverty's sad bread.
And roses bloom from out the gloom
And crown the curly head,
And if sometimes a thankful tear
My dreaming eyes shall fill,
Her soft arms steal around me,
And she whispers sweetly still:

"I love you, I love you
A hundred million—there!"
I weep no more: God help the poor!
I'm Love's own millionaire?
[F. S. Stanton in Ladies' Home Journal.

A MODERN LOCHINVAR.

MRS. M. L. RAYNE.

A [illegible] feature of the season of roma[illegible]h is that known as the elopu[illegible]d, when Young Lochinvar [illegible]d the conclusion that he has [illegible]t to the girl of his heart th[illegible]her, mother, brothers, s[illegible] all other relatives com[illegible]. He does not stop to analyze [illegible]g or motives, so does not make [illegible]covery that [illegible] conduct is the [illegible] of a lapse into savagery, his [illegible] ancestors having doubtless [illegible]arbarians, who snatched their [illegible]vage brides from the family, but in [illegible]eyance of the ancient marriage customs. No, our modern Lochinvar imagines himself a valiant knight who [illegible]rries to save his beloved lady from [illegible] cruel restrictions of doting pa[illegible]nts, who know that her esquire has [illegible] a flat to his name, or enough coin [illegible]he realm to sustain life in two per[illegible]with average appetites. They ask [illegible]o wait, but, he ignoring the poet[illegible]ruth that all things come to him [illegible]aits, does not have patience to [illegible] the long result of time.

[illegible]rt Harding and Gussie Marston [illegible]ers and they had planned an [illegible]t.

[illegible]was a squire of high degree,
[illegible]was a lady fair to see.

[illegible] a trifle overdrawn, but it [illegible]heir case better than any [illegible]nes in poetical literature. He [illegible]ly a clerk in a haberdash[illegible]nd she had just graduated [illegible]own trimmed with real lace. [illegible]new absolutely nothing of anythi[illegible]chool lore, and was as helpless [illegible]ignorant as a girl usually is who i[illegible]s a young man to begin his ca[illegible]r running away with her. He [illegible]quite sure, however, that he knew en[illegible]gh for two, and what was a man [illegible]good for anyway, if he couldn't face the world and fight its battles for the [illegible]rl he loved? So the time was set, the parents refusing to consider his suit, because he was poor.

But Gussie loved him all the better for his poverty. She had heard it said that her father was poor when he married her mother, and they had been happy and prospered. She did not reflect that young people of today want to begin life where their parents left off.

It was the night of the elopement. There was no moon, and the electric lights were dim and flickering. Gilbert had engaged the services of a best man—his chum, Bob Kennedy, who was also a friend of Gussie's, and who was to pilot Gilbert through the wing of the house where Gussie was to meet them, when the two would escape by a side door.

The girl had taken her favorite brother Tom into her confidence, but Gilbert did not know this. Tom was to entertain the old folks and keep them in the family sitting room until after nine, the hour which was set for the elopement.

"The great mistake that people make when they elope," said Gilbert, "is in setting the hour too late, when the least sound attracts attention to them."

It might have been supposed from those sage remarks, that he was an old hand at the business. But he had yet much to learn.

I have not stated the fact that Gussie's father was wealthy, but Gilbert would have scorned the imputation that this had any part in his plan of marrying her off hand. He knew that instead of the paternal benediction of the novel, "bless you, my children; bless you!" he might receive the paternal taboo, and be left to love, ashes and a crust in a cottage. But he was willing, brave boy, to risk it.

An open window in an unused and unoccupied wing of the building is always a suspicious incident. A policeman was regarding this one from a convenient tree on the opposite side of the street, but love is blind, so Gilbert did not see him. He went through the window with the agility of a fireman.

"H-i-s-t" came from within.

"W-h-i-s-t."

These were the pass words.

"Is it you?"

"Yes—it's me," was the hasty and ungrammatical reply.

"Where's Gussie!"

"Gussie who?"

This time the voice was a growl, Gilbert saw the form of a man, but it did not resemble his friend Bob.

"What will we carry the swag in?" asked the voice with a growl.

Good heavens! a burglar! Gilbert felt that his only safety lay in keeping up the delusion of the other that he was a pal—he must get out and find Gussie.

"Give it to me," he said in a disguised tone, as rough as he dared make it.

"Stow that, pard, I ain't goin' to run no risk of that sort—I've got the silver, but the jewelry—"

Flash went a pistol, and the report had scarcely ceased when Gilbert's hands were pinioned, and the policeman was calling for help. The real burglar had made a dash for liberty, and escaped through the window.

"W-w-h-a-t does this mean?" demanded old man Marston, as, purple with rage and excitement, he came hurrying in with a light.

"One of 'em's gone off," said the policeman, "but here's t'other rascal safe enough," and he showed up the sickly features of Gilbert Harding, who was ready to faint, but made a bluff to meet Gussie's father.

"Ha, ha, Mr. Marston; quite a joke, taking me for a burglar; ha! ha!"

"It doesn't look very much like a joke to me, young man," said the father sternly; "what were you doing entering my house feloniously in the night?"

Sure enough it didn't look much like a joke now that he saw it on both sides. Where was Bob Kennedy, that he did not step forward to help his friend out? Where was Gussie? Where was his own vaunted courage? He dared not look Gussie's father in the face, and say: "I came to steal your daughter.

"Will you kindly explain to the policeman that you know me, sir, and that I am not a burglar?" he managed to say at last.

"I know you, certainly," croaked the old man, "but if you are not a burglar what are you doing with my family silver piled up here? You can explain the matter in court. Officer, do your duty. Take this man to the station!"

Did Gilbert hear aright? He had not time to discuss the matter, or indeed to say another word. Some philosopher has remarked quaintly that when a man begins to go down hill, it seems as if all creation was greased for the occasion. So the way for the departure of the policeman with his prisoner was made very expeditious. The other members of the family made themselves invisible, so there was no one to whom he could appeal, and doors opened and shut like magic for them to pass through. And it seemed no time at all before the unhappy lover was locked in a cell at the police station.

But he did not languish there all night. Bob Kennedy, who had been late in keeping the appointment appeared to bail him out, and after rousing several officials—each of whom was the wrong one—from their beds, he rescued his friend, and then consoled him in the early morning hours.

He took Bob's advice to leave town on a business tour, and to remain until such time as Father Marston's wrath had cooled. There was no notice of the burglars or his arrest in the newspapers, and he left it to Bob to explain away any lingering suspicion against him.

He was to say that Gilbert saw the open window, and followed the burglar to intercept him, or any other harmless untruth that seemed to fit in.

Bob did his part so well that before Gilbert returned he read in the society columns an announcement of that faithless friend's engagement to the versatile Gussie. And then it dawned upon him that there had been no burglar as well as no elopement. And he immediately wrote himself down a name of three letters.—Detroit Free Press.

Skunks Eat One Another.

A skunk farm which was started at Mexico, Me., recently has proved successful. About a month ago Henry Ladd and his son, Willis, roped off a piece of pasture 100x200 feet. They caught 85 skunks and placed them in this field. The place was fenced off with netting and boarded up two feet from the ground. A trench, or moat, two feet deep was dug around the inclosure. This was filled with stones and the posts were set in it. There are a number of kennels on the grounds, and one burrow has been made under a rock where one skunk family lives.

The whole colony is quarrelsome, and occasionally they kill one of their number in a row. When this happens they all fall to in cannibal fashion and eat the slain.

For skunk pelts good prices are obtained. Some of them are as pretty bits of "foreign sable" as are seen in Fifth avenue. The pastured skunks are fed on scrap meat and fish offal from the mountains. On this they grow fat. One that was killed this week yielded almost two quarts of oil.

Trickery must be used to catch the little animal without letting it emit the odor synonymous with its name. The men use a small steel trap and a dip net fastened on poles ten feet long When one is found in a trap one of the men attracts its attention while the other lifts it from the ground by the long pole. Once free from the ground there is no danger from the objectionable odor. The man who holds the dip-net then holds it under the prisoner, releases it from the trap, and catches it as it falls. When a wagon load has been caught thus, the animals are taken to a brook and drowned. No bad odor remains with the pelt if the animals are drowned.—New York Press.

Called the President Grover.

A lady who is now visiting friends here, says the Chicago Chronicle, recalls a very amusing experience which happened when she was in Washington several years ago and Mr.. Cleveland was serving his first term in the White House. She, with a large number of others, was at one of the tri-weekly Presidential receptions, and, like some others, when she came to shake hands with the president got a trifle rattled and forgot the nice speech she intended to deliver. Instead she shook his hand and looking earnestly in his face, said: "How do you do, Grover?" She is a pretty woman, and the President is not averse to looking at a pretty woman, and even squeezing her hand. He held on to her hand and looked in her face, which finally became scarlet, although she could not refrain from laughing, especially as the President was laughing rather heartily himself. After waiting a few seconds, which seemed an hour to the lady, said "I am very well indeed, and happy to have met you." With a courtly bow he released her hand and she passed on. "What on earth was the President saying to you, and what did you say to him?" inquired a lady who was just behind, but she never told—not for a long time.

The Queen's Credit Was Good.

Some time ago, when Queen Victoria was in the vicinity of Loch Vennachar, Scotland, Princess Louise drove into Callander. She was very anxious to match some velvet. Having found what she was in search of, she discovered she had not brought her purse. She explained and said she would send the money next day. "Dinna fash yoursel', mem," the draper answered; "yer mother has an account here."—New York Post.

Oregon with all its resources, is estimated to be worth $52.522.084.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

The largest mammoth tusk yet discovered was sixteen feet in length.

A Chicago contractor has engaged to move a large church entire without even cracking the plastering.

In the Anna Hospital, Vienna, the serum treatment has lowered the diphtheria mortality from 50.65 per cent to 25.15.

A healthy man respires sixteen or twenty times a minute, or over 20,000 a day; a child twenty-five or thirty-five times a minute.

A flowing petroleum spring was discovered in the Olympic mountains in Washington a few days ago. The oil is identical in character with what comes from the eastern wells.

An extraordinarily large number of dwarfs live in the district of Riwas, in the Eastern Pyrennes. Tradition has it that they are the descendants of a race which inhabited those mountain regions in prehistoric times.

Professor Goldburg reports that in its conception the whale is a legged mammal. He found that until the embryo reaches a length of several inches legs are plainly discernible thereon, but these disappear long before birth.

An exhibition of original lithographs by Whistler and other artists, French and English, is now open in Paris. The younger men, and some of the older as well, are testing the possibilities of lithography, just as some years ago they turned to etching.

The average size of families in Europe as follows: France, 3.03 members; Denmark, 3.61; Hungary, 3.70; Switzerland, 3.94; Austria and Belgium, 4.05; England, 4.08; Germany, 4.10; Sweden, 4.12; Holland, 4.22; Scotland, 4.46; Italy, 4.56; Spain, 4.65; Russia, 4.83; Ireland, 5.20.

Some recent investigations in France show that contrary to the general supposition, the muscular heat caused by the act of raising a burden is greater than that due to the act of lowering it. Hitherto it has been believed that the work of lifting and the work of lowering produce equal heat.

All indications agree that less than ten miles below us a red heat is attained and within twenty a white heat. Ten miles below us it is red hot. Ten miles above us we have the pitiless cold, far below zero, of interplanetary space. To what a narrow zone of delicately-balanced temperature is life confined.

Why He Wanted the Paper.

In a missionary meeting in Greenport, Long Island, Miss Holmes, a returned missionary from Syria, recently related the following interesting story: One day a native applied to the missionary for a copy of the New York Tribune. He wanted one very much, because he had been told it was a good paper. "But you cannot read it," said the missionary; "it is not printed in Arabic." The persistent native was urgent, without giving the reason for his earnest desire, and so a copy was given him. About a fortnight afterward he made his appearance at the station, his face beaming with pleasure, as he began his praises of the Tribune. "Good paper," said he. "very good paper!" "You could not read a word. What makes you think so?" said the missionary. Why, I took the paper home, tore it up into small bits, put it into a bottle, filled it with water, let them soak a few days, and all our family have been drinking of the water ever since, and it has completely cured us all of rheumatism.

Where His Mistake Was.

"I say, guv'nor!" he drawled, with his head in the door of a Liverpool grocer's shop, "do you own a hoss?"

"Yes, I own a horse," replied the grocer, as he looked up from his paper.

"And a cart?"

"Yes; what of it?"

"Nothin', 'cept you are mistaken about the cart!" drawled the boy. "Your hoss took a skate down the street about five minutes ago, and there hain't 'nuff of that there cart left to make a penholder of!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Professor Dyche, the distinguished naturalist, is entirely self-taught, and did not even know his alphabet when he was thirteen years old.

The Saw-Whet Owl.

One feels a far greater attachment for those of our birds which brave the rigors of our Northern winters than for the gay-coated songsters that flee Southward at the first coming of frost. Our owls, grim and unlovable though they may seem, are still very sturdy neighbors, and the little saw-whets particularly stay with us all the winter through. Though strictly nocturnal in habit, these little birds will not hesitate to venture on day time hunt if hunger moves them. Gunners late in the fall or winter frequently flush one from a bunch of cedars or thick bushes where they have been dining on a fat shrew or venturesome squirrel.

This is the small reddish owl whose strange note, "tee-hee! tee-hee! tee-hee!" so raspingly metallic, has earned for it the strange name of "saw-whet." When the dull low-clad landscape is so drear the flash of an occasional saw-whet's ruddy wings across the drifts is not an unwelcome sight. We cannot dislike them so strongly as the others of the tribe on the score of murdering the singing birds, because they eat but little. One mouse or a chickadee will suffice the saw-whet for a whole week. Often they do not taste bird flesh for weeks at a time. In warm weather crickets, locusts, grasshoppers and toads furnish the chief bill of fare.

The cold weather seems to render the owls more tame and sociable, so that farmers see them often nowadays sunning on the warm side of the barns or roosting in the orchard under the southern side of the hill. Usually the rusty old muzzle-loader is brought out, and the dozing saw-whet is slaughtered. In killing the helpless owl the grain and fruit grower has damaged himself far more than he knew. By proper coops he could guard against the nightly raids on his poultry, while the saw-whets would kill off the mice, rats, snakes, grasshoppers, crickets and other obnoxious vermin.—New York World.

Two Girl Tramps.

Misses Ella and Ida Nelson, sisters, aged 21 and 19, are traveling from Chicago to Jacksonville on a wager. If they reach the Florida city by February 1 and earn $250 apiece on the way by selling their photographs, clerking in stores or in any other honest way, they will get $500 more. They started without money.

They live with their father at 2311 State street, Chicago. They started on their journey on October 19. A milk wagon took them to Roby. There they boarded a passenger train, and when the conductor proposed to put them off some drummers paid their way to Hammond. With other help they reached Indianapolis, where they got a job at selling neckwear in a clothing house at $10 a day. They proved a drawing card for two days, and their employer was loth to part with them. Freight and passenger trains took them to Cincinnati. There they began to selling newspapers. At Louisville they had a two-days engagement in a dry goods store.

So it goes with the sisters Nelson. When they need new shoes, clothing or anything in that line it must be begged. In Atlanta, Ga., they have a wealthy uncle, who they expect will see them safely through. They feel confident that they will make their trip with success and reach Jacksonville Fla., before the time specified. They wear a costume composed of shirt waist, short skirt, bloomers, tan-colored leather leggings and Alpine hat, and carry each a small hand satchel, one of the articles in which is a thirty-two-calibre revolver.—New York Recorder.

A Local Custom.

Sir John Macdonald was at a reception in the west of Canada, and a bishop from Belgium was present. As the party was being escorted by a body of men in Highland costume the foreign bishop, seeing the bare legs and kilts, asked why these men were without trousers. "It's just a local custom," gravely replied Sir John. "In some places people take off their [illegible] as a mark of honor to distinguished guests; here they take off trousers."—Canadian Gazette.

[illegible]is and Amelia Darwin, of Black [illegible]Wis,, are said to be the oldest [illegible]d couple in the country.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Whatever is pure is also simple.—Wilmot.

Truth is everlasting, but our ideas of truth are not.—Beecher.

A heavy purse in a fools pocket is a heavy curse.—Cumberland.

Almost always the most indigent are the most generous.—Stanislaus.

No violent extremes endure; a sober moderation stands secure.—Aleyn.

A woman's lot is made for her by the love she accepts—George Eliot.

Good company and good discourse are the very sinews of virtue.—Izaak Walton.

The sun does not shine for a few trees and flowers, but the wide world.—Simms.

A wise neuter joins with neither, but uses both as his honest interest leads him.—Penn.

He who brings ridicule to bear against truth finds in his hand a blade without a hilt.—Landor.

There is nothing so agonizing to the fine skin of vanity as the application of a rough truth.—Bulwer.

It is easy for a man to write and talk like philosophers, but to act with wisdom, there is the rub.—Rivarol.

No persons are more frequently wrong than those who will not admit that they are wrong.—Rochefoucauld.

A Bird With a Thorn.

The rarest species of bird now extant and one which is almost extinct has its home in the jungles of South America. This ornithological curiosity is known to science as the Palamedea cornuda, and to the common people as the "horned screamer." As a rara avis nothing could excel the cornuda, unless it would be the accidental discovery of a living moa or an epiornis. But few of the birds books even let you know that such a horned paradox ever existed, let alone telling you that living specimens of the queer creature are still occasionally met with.

The only one now in captivity in North America, if the writer has not been misinformed, is that belonging to the aviary of the Philadelphia Zoological Gardens, and which arrived in this country about three years ago. The creature is about the size of a full grown turkey hen and of a blackish brown color. One of its distinguishing peculiarities is a ruffle of black and white which surround the head.

The horny appendage which caused the early South American explorers to write so many chapters on the "wonderful rhinoceros bird of the jungle" is about four inches in length and grows straight up out of the heaviest and broadest portion of the head. But the above is not the only natural offensive and defensive weapon with which the horned screamer has been provided. On each wing at the "elbow" joint he has a three-inch spur, and just back of that another an inch in length. He is said to be a match for any ten game cocks.—St. Louis Republic.

Working by the Eye.

The advance in the accuracy of workmanship in machinery is one of the remarkable features of manufactures. Formerly, if a shaft could be made right within 1-32 of an inch all was well. Indeed, under old processes this was as fine a degree of correctness as the eye could perceive. But this was altogether too far from perfect to answer many purposes, and mechanics set about devising some means to insure more absolute accuracy. One of the first suggestions that the eye was less reliable than the fingers came from the fitting of certain cylinders with plugs. It was found that a number of plugs could be made all precisely alike, so far as the eye could judge, but the veriest novice detected a difference in their size the moment they were applied to the hole for which they were intended. It is said that now the difference of 1-5000 of an inch can readily be perceived by the most inexperienced person.—New York Advertiser.

Sure Sign.

"Hush, there are visitors in the drawing-room."

"How do you know?"

"Listen! Papa is saying 'my dear' to mamma."—Chicago Tribune.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

L. N. BOWDON,
S. S. ALLEN,
F. E. DAVIS, } - - LOCAL EDITORS.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

From ono of the most important shipping and receiving centres for live stock in the United States, the Pittsburg (Penn.) Central yards are now ranked as hardly second-class. The business has gone to Buffalo, N. Y.

The Governor of Arizona says tha Territory will produce this year $10,000,000 in gold against $4,000,000 last year. If the gold resources of this country should be capitalized on the Kaffir basis, millionaires would be reckoned small men and give place to the billionaire, exclaims the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Los Angeles (Cal.) Times says: When a good mare, at a horse sale in San Bernardino last week, was sold for $2, it was thought the bottom price for horseflesh had been reached. A new record was established in Ventura County, however, a few days ago, at an administrator's sale, where a horse was knocked down to a Mexican boy for fifty cents. He bid so high because he coveted the halter which went with the animal.

Bloomers blossomed out in the city of Macon, Ga., for the first time the other day, and their appearance created something of a sensation, and a stagnation in business. The newspapers, in telling about the exciting occurrence, speak of the costume as the "long-heard-of-and-never-seen bloomers." The New York Sun thinks the incident is especially worth noting, as evidence of the ironclad conservatism of Macon, that the bloomers were worn by a visitor and not by a resident. She was a member of a theatrical company.

Wide tires must replace the narrow tires now in use on most vehicles before good roads can be kept in good condition at reasonable expense, declares the American Agriculturist. In Pennsylvania, those whose tires are not less than four inches wide for loads of a ton or more are rebated one-fourth of their assessed highway tax. In Massachusetts the State law empowers townships or cities to regulate the width of tires used within their limits, and a few towns have already fixed a date two years hence when wide tires must go into use.

Says New York Truth: For a number of years the word "fireproof," as applied to the monuments of iron and mortar that decorate all the principal thoroughfares, has conveyed such an idea of security as has insured for their owners steady tenants at fancy rentals. But a severe blow has recently been dealt to the power of this popular catch-word, and the ensuing revulsion of feeling seriously threatens to handicap the profits of such structures. The owner of each asserts as positively as ever that his building is absolutely fireproof, but the faith of his tenants has flown and, until he can succeed in coining some new phrase to win back their wavering confidence, he will find it difficult to combat the growing distrust. Of course no one doubts the sincerity of the owner's protestations, nor his firm belief in the incombustibility of his sky-scraping structure, and this being so solidly planted on the shining pedestal of his personal trust, it only needs a little invention on his part to effect the much desired return of public confidence. Let the owners join in forming a mutual guarantee association that will not only insure the tenant's personal effects, but will provide each tenant with an accident policy covering all casualties transpiring on the premises. As the buildings are so absolutely free from danger the risk thus assumed by the association will, of course, be merely a bagatelle. But it would be necessary to advertise that the policies would be inscribe in aluminum ink on asbestos paper, and that each document would be provided with a mica lined vault suspended from a platinum parachute to insure its preservation, before the public would take kindly to the scheme. As a matter of fact the only really fireproof dwellings yet devised were those occupied by the troglodytes of long ago.

GENERAL NEWS SUMMARY.

Compiled and Condensed for the Convenience of Our Readers.

SOME CHRISTMAS CASUALTIES.

Masked Highwaymen—Sad Result of Preparing Santa Claus for Children—A Centenarian Dies—Burglary and Robbery—Crew of Twenty-five Lost.

SOUTHERN.

In a fight on Christmas eve at Berea, Ky., two men, Bill Johnstone and Less Mitchell were killed. It is supposed that Mitchell's friends, after he had fallen, shot Johnstone.

On Christmas eve, at Bostwick, Fla., Mrs. John Dougherty's clothing caught fire as she was preparing her children's Christmas stockings. She was so badly burned that death resulted in a few hours.

Twenty-three federal prisoners made their escape from the United States jail at McAlister, I. T., early Thursday morning. They had been furnished with a skeleton key. Deputy marshals are in pursuit.

Saturday afternoon the plant of the Wolverine Lumber company burned, together with the stock of veneering and lumber. The mills were destroyed last summer, and the new plant had only been in operation a few months. The loss is total and exceeds $100,000; insurance, $79,000.

Henry Standfield, 9 years old, was accidentally killed at Trion, Ga., about 5 o'clock Saturday evening by an iron pipe weighing about 400 pounds falling and striking him on the neck and shoulder. Some boys were playing with the pipe, when it was pushed over and in falling struck the boy killing him instantly.

At Crossville, Tenn., Will Tanner attempted to shoot Constable Burnett and a warrant was issued for his arrest. The constable and Circuit Clerk Parham attempted to serve the warrant, when Tanner fired at the constable and was about to fire at Parham, who shot first, killing Tanner instantly. The shooting is considered justifiable.

The four-story iron-front building at 5 and 7 West Baltimore street, Baltimore, was destroyed by fire Thursday night. The adjoining buildings, Nos 3 and 5 South Charles street and Nos. 1 and 3 West Baltimore street, were badly damaged by water. Loss on stock $200,000 and on buildings $100,000, fully covered by insurance.

Sheriff R. C. Burke received a telegram from St. Louis Landing, Ark., in the lower end of Phillip county, informing him that L. B. Oliver had killed a man named Johnson. Coroner H. B. Higgins and Deputy Sheriff Kitchens left at once to hold an inquest and make arrest. The telegram announced that there were no witnesses to the killing.

EASTERN.

At Nashua, N. H., on Christmas day Mrs. Hannah Lovett died at noon, aged 106. She was born in Kilmore, county Kerry, Ireland. She was the mother of twelve children. A brother died in Merrimac, Mass., a few years ago aged 105, and of eleven brothers and sisters all but one, who was killed, lived to be over 90.

There were in all twenty-two persons on the ill-fated schooner Victoria, believed to have foundered with all on board off Cabot island, on the New foundland coast. Among them were a family named Nozworthy, husband and wife and five children. The stem of the Victoria has been picked up at Horse island.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Townsend Burden, of No. 5 Madison square, north, New York, went to the opera Friday night with their daughter, leaving their two sons and six servants to care for the house. On their return it was discovered that burglars had entered and carried off diamonds valued at $65,000, besides a sum of money and a number of certified checks. About the same hour a thief entered the apartments of Mrs. Francis N. Barnes, at 239 Central park, west, while she was at dinner and stole her diamonds and jewelry, valued at $10,000.

WESTERN.

Five felonious homicides and one accidental are reported for Christmas day in St. Louis, Mo.

At Bloomfield Tunnel, O., two negroes ended a game of craps by one winning the other's money and then shooting him dead, upon his asking the loan of a dollar.

On Christmas night three masked men held up a street car in San Francisco, Cal., and robbed Richard Clarke of $3,000, after shooting him and two other men, wounding Clarke so that he will probably lose a leg.

On Christmas eve night burglars entered the postoffice at the suburban town of Harvey, Ill., and stole $2.200 in stamps and $300 in money. Entrance was effected through the rear entrance, and the burglars made quick work of getting into the old-fashioned safe with a chisel and making off with their plunder.

At Muskegon, Mich., William Smith, a milkman, Allen N. King, a second-hand furniture dealer, and a young man named Henser were held up late Christmas eve night by a lone highwayman and robbed. From Smith he secured 46 cents; from King a gold watch and $2, and from Henser a gold watch.

I. B. Porter, of Denver, Col., who has been chosen president of the New York mining stock exchange, will be escorted to New York by a large number of business men of Colorado. A special train will be run carrying east $1,000,000 worth of ores besides millions of pure gold, under the protection of armed guards. The Colorado party will attend the first call of the New York exchange.

Early Christmas morning J. A. Smith, of Saginaw, Mich., was cremated in a fire which destroyed Mrs. Goss' boarding house at Palatka, Fla. Smith was spending the winter in Florida for his health. There were two male nurses with him when the fire broke out. They claim the flames spread so rapidly they had to desert Mr. Smith to save themselves. The coroner is investigating.

FOREIGN.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that the United States has demanded from the porte the payment of a large indemnity for the losses sustained by American missionaries in Asia Minor.

The Cuban forces, in three divisions, under Gomez, Maceo and Bandera, having entered the province of Matanzas and burned the sugar crop on a number of large plantations, besides destroying several railway stations and raising a lively alarm in Havanna, have again turned eastward, and are now threatening Cienfuegos. The skill of General Campos does not seem to be equal to forcing Gomez to fight a general battle.

The Japanese parliament was opened Saturday with the imperial speech. His majesty said he was rejoiced at the end of the war with China, that order had been established in the Island of Formosa, and that the relations between Japan and the foreign powers were more intimate than formerly. Continuing, his majesty said that the Japanese empire had already achieved striking progress in civilization, but, he added, that it had a long and arduous task before it. Measures, he said in conclusion, would be introduced to increase the defenses of the country.

COTTON ACREAGE NEXT YEAR.

The Memphis Cotton Exchange Indorses the Cotton Growers.

The movement looking to no increase of the cotton acreage next year was inaugurated by the Memphis Cotton exchange Monday afternoon at a general meeting called for the purpose, The preamble sets forth a large crop of cotton grown at heavy expense brings but little if any larger total value, contrasting the present with the past years to establish the fact and adds: Another matter for the farmers to bear in mind is that at the present time there is a possibility of war, if such should occur, the inevitable effect would be to depreciate the value of cotton and appreciate the value of all food crops. Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Memphis Cotton exchange urgently recommends to the producers that the production of home supplies be made the first consideration in planting operations for the coming year, and that the acreage of cotton be not increased over that of last year.

Resolved, That we approve and indorse the American cotton growers for bringing about the reduction in the acreage of the crop now being marketed and we respectfully urge that Hon. Hector D. Lane, the president, and his coadjutors, the presidents of the various cotton states of said association, to continue in the good work to take up the matter at the earliest practicable moment and urge it again upon the attention of the cotton producers of the south.

Resolved, That the various cotton exchanges throughout the south be and are hereby requested to co-operate with this exchange in this matter and that the southern newspapers are also requested to publish these resolutions.

PANIC IN A THEATRE.

Twenty-Three Persons Crushed to Death in the Wild Rush.

Twenty-three persons were crushed and trampled to death in a panic at Front Street theater, Baltimore, Friday night. Several others were injured, some of whom it is believed will die.

An audience of over 2,000 people was seated, and the orchestra had begun playing, when a strong odor of gas was perceived by those occupying the second gallery. An attache of the house was seen with a lighted torch searching for the leak. Suddenly a jet of flame shot from the punctured gas pipe and the cry of "Fire" was heard in the upper galleries. Then the rush began. Some one turned off the lights, which increased the panic, the stage jets, lighted from a different source, affording only a dim light. The scene that ensued is indescribable. All avenues of exit were packed with struggling masses, the strong trampling down and crushing the weak, until the great throng poured out into the street. Twenty-three bodies, bruised and crushed and dead, were taken up and carried to the morgue for identification. An awful result of a false and foolish alarm.

She Sold Herself.

A veritable union of May and December was that of 'Squire Charley Stapp, a wealthy widower, and Miss Tommie Phelps, which was solemnized at White Hall Ky.. Sunday evening. 'Squire Stapp is a friend and neighbor of Gen. Cassius M. Clay, and a few months ago, when General Clay took to himself a 15-year old bride the 'squire, who is 70 years old, began to pay his respects to Miss Phelps, who is only 20, but one of the handsomest girls in Madison county. Miss Phelps had numerous youthful admirers, but the old 'squire distanced his rivals and carried off the prize. He was a widower, and reputed to be worth $40,000, which before marrying Miss Phelps she made him make over to her. The marriage is the sensation of the year, and both bridegroom and bride belong to well known families.

THE NEW YEAR BOWS ITSELF IN.

1896	Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednes.	Thursd.	Friday	Saturd.
Jan.				1	2	3	4
	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
	12	13	14	15	16	17	18
	19	20	21	22	23	24	25
	26	27	28	29	30	31
Feb.							1
	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
	9	10	11	12	13	14	15
	16	17	18	19	20	21	22
	23	24	25	26	27	28	29
Mar.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
	8	9	10	11	12	13	14
	15	16	17	18	19	20	21
	22	23	24	25	26	27	28
	29	30	31
Apr.				1	2	3	4
	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
	12	13	14	15	16	17	18
	19	20	21	22	23	24	25
	26	27	28	29	30
May						1	2
	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
	10	11	12	13	14	15	16
	17	18	19	20	21	22	23
	24	25	26	27	28	29	30
	31
June		1	2	3	4	5	6
	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
	14	15	16	17	18	19	20
	21	22	23	24	25	26	27
	28	29	30

1896	Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednes.	Thursd.	Friday	Saturd.
July				1	2	3	4
	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
	12	13	14	15	16	17	18
	19	20	21	22	23	24	25
	26	27	28	29	30	31
Aug.							1
	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
	9	10	11	12	13	14	15
	16	17	18	19	20	21	22
	23	24	25	26	27	28	29
	30	31
Sept.			1	2	3	4	5
	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
	13	14	15	16	17	18	19
	20	21	22	23	24	25	26
	27	28	29	30
Oct.					1	2	3
	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
	11	12	13	14	15	16	17
	18	19	20	21	22	23	24
	25	26	27	28	29	30	31
Nov.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
	8	9	10	11	12	13	14
	15	16	17	18	19	20	21
	22	23	24	25	26	27	28
	29	30
Dec.			1	2	3	4	5
	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
	13	14	15	16	17	18	19
	20	21	22	23	24	25	26
	27	28	29	30	31

ECLIPSES FOR 1896.

There will be four eclipses this year—two of the sun and two of the moon—as follows:

I. An Annular eclipse of the sun, February 13th; visible on the east coast of South America, South Africa, and the southern Atlantic and Antarctic regions. The eclipse will return February 24th, 1914, when it will still be annular and visible in the Antarctic Ocean.

II. A partial eclipse of the moon, February 28th; invisible in the United States; visible in Europe, Asia and Africa. This eclipse will return March 10th, 1914, when it will be larger and visible in North and South America.

III. A total eclipse of the sun, August 9th; visible in Europe and northern Asia. The total phase will be visible in Siberia and the northern Japanese Island Ezo. This eclipse will return August 20th, 1914, being still total, but visible in more northern regions.

IV. A partial eclipse of the moon, August 23d; visible throughout North and South America. The eclipse, will be upon the southern limb of the moon, which passes from west to east through the northern limb of the earth's shadow. This will cause the eclipse to begin on the eastern limb of the moon when at 1. At 2 the first six digits, or one half of the moon, will be eclipsed; at 3 the middle or greatest eclipse occurs; at 4 the last six digits; and 5 shows the moon's position at time of last contact with the earth's shadow. This eclipse will return September 3d, 1914, when it will be larger and visible in Asia.

THE FOUR SEASONS.

		D. H. M.
Winter begins	1895, Dec. 21, and lasts.	89 0 45
Spring "	1896, Mar. 19, " "	92 20 5
Summer "	" June 20, " "	93 14 35
Autumn "	" Sept. 22, " "	89 18 26
Winter "	" Dec. 21, Trop. Year.	365 5 51

MORNING STARS.	EVENING STARS.
Mercury, from Feb. 8 to April 18; June 10 to July 31, and Oct. 8 to Nov. 28.	Mercury, until Feb. 8 and from April 18 to June 10; July 31 to Oct. 8 and after Nov. 28.
Venus, until July 9.	Venus, after July 9.
Mars, until Sept. 1.	Mars, after Sept. 1.
Jupiter, from Aug. 12 to Nov. 30.	Jupiter, until Aug. 12 and after Nov. 30.
Saturn, until Feb. 7 and after Nov. 13.	Saturn, from Feb. 7 to Nov. 13.

CHATTANOOGA'S RIVER TRAFFIC.

Building Barges to Carry Ore; One for the Mississippi.

The J. C. Warner made her first trip for Kingston and way landings last week. The Warner will make regular trips throughout the winter, leaving Chattanooga every Wednesday at 10 a. m. and Saturday at 6 p. m.

The Ocoee left Friday evening for the Hiwassee river with a cargo of freight. She will arrive in Chattanooga on her return trip next Tuesday with about 1,500 bags of grain.

The Onega will arrive from Knoxville next Thursday with a cargo of 2,000 bags of grain.

The Key City left at 4 p. m. Saturday for Loudon. She will arrive in Chattanooga on her return trip next Tuesday with a barge load of broom handles from Kingston.

The local ship yards present a very animated appearance now. A. R. Perry, of Chattanooga, has the contract for building five large barges for Roberts & Sparks, of the Eureka Iron mines, near Kingston. These barges are of 300 tons capacity and will be used in ore transportation. They will cost about $1,200 each. Three of them have been completed and the other two are in course of construction. In addition to these, Mr. Perry has the contract for building the largest transfer barge ever turned out in Chattanooga. It is to be 225 by 34 feet in size and is being built for Cairo, Ill., parties for use on the Mississippi river.

Results of the High Waters.

As the water recedes in the submerged districts the extent of damage is becoming known. The valleys of the Osage and Gasconade rivers suffered most, and it is not an exaggeration to place the aggregate loss at $5,000,000. Famine threatens in some localities. At Eldorado Springs the supply of groceries is exhausted and not a train has arrived for ten days. Great destitution prevails at Linn Creek, Camden county, and a relief fund is started there.

Homicide in Georgia.

George McDonald, son of Representative W. A. McDonald of Ware county, Ga., was shot and instantly killed at Sweats' turpentine still yesterday by a white man named T. J. McDonald. They were not related. The hands were quarreling and Mr McDonald went out to quiet them, He became involved in a dispute with T. J. McDonald, the stiller, and McDonald shot him dead and escaped.

Fight on a Train.

On the southbound train from Evansville, Ind., to Nashville, Tenn., a shooting scrape occurred near Earlington, Ky., and two men are reported to have been killed. It is impossible to get particulars, but it seems there was a general fight in one of the cars.

J. B. Lewis Co.'s WEAR RESISTER SHOES Lead All Others FOR Wear, Style, Ease, Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

A. B. CLAUGHTON.

Physician and Surgeon.

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

Office in store of H. C. & W. B. Reynolds.

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work big returns. Address Box 310 Montgomery, Ala.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time 3t

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

IF YOU ARE GOING TO THE ATLANTA EXPOSITION

And want a first-class hotel at $2.00 per day, go to the

VICTORIA HOTEL

Nos. 30-32-34 S. Pryor St

Half a Block from Car Shed.

Cars pass the door every 5 minutes for the exposition grounds

This hotel has accommodations for 1,000 guests per day. Don't forget the place,

VICTORIA HOTEL,

30 South Pryor St.,

ATLANTA, - GA.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Stage!!!

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade at his? The United States Standard and Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT. LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

MILLINERY AND NOTIONS!

I carry a full line of Fall and Winter Hats and Notions, which were bought from the largest dealers in the United States.

Satisfaction guaranteed.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY,

MONTEVALLO. ALA.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor: Services every 2nd and 4th Sundays. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. S. L. Dobbs, pastor: Services every 1st and 3rd Sundays. Prayer Meeting every Thursday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor: Services every 3rd Sunday, at 4 p. m.

Presbyterian Church—Rev. J. H. Zwingle, pastor: Services every 2nd Sunday.

Sunbeam Society meets every 1st and 3rd Sundays at Baptist church at 2:30 p. m

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Missionary Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham	7:25 p m
No. 15	South	12:37 p m
No. 16	North	3:05 p m

LOCAL LINKS.

Cadets Charles Acker, Frank Farrington, Casey and Henry Fancher and Harry Reynolds, all of Howard College, and Burr Nabors, of Auburn College, are spending the holidays at home.

Dr. McGaha, we learn, says Montevallo sends the finest set of boys to Howard College of any place in the state.

Dr. Acker and E. F. Vest took in the exposition last week.

Mr. A. J. Lee visited Atlanta last week, but got homesick and only spent one day at the exposition. No place like Montevallo, he says.

One of the enjoyable entertainments during Christmas was given by the Dora Rankin Missionary Society at the residence of Mrs. C. W. Cary. Quite a creditable programme, consisting of essays and dialogues, was gone through with and then supper was announced. The house was thronged with guests and a nice sum was realized.

Mrs. N. R. Lyde, of Birmingham, and Mrs, Sallie Brown, of Mobile, are the guests of their brother, Mr. H. C. Reynolds, this week.

Prof. J. M. Dill returned from his Christmas vacation Monday.

Quite an enjoyable dance was had at Aldrich last Wednesday night. Among those present were Misses Agee, Daisy Welch, Katie Kroell, Mary Kroell, Bettie Dill, Mary Lee Perry, May Harris, Mrs. J. L. McConaughy, Mrs. W. B. Reynolds, and Messrs. McConaughy, Hardy, Perry, West, Robbins, Carl Fuller, Jerome Fuller, W. W. Lavender, Fred Garner, James Davidson, Walter Fuller, W. B. Reynolds, J. L. McConaughy and others.

The first quarterly meeting for Montevallo charge will be held at Montevallo January 7th and 8th. Stewards' meeting, 7th, 10 a.m.

Miss Agee, of Anniston, and Miss Daisy Welch, of Plantersville, two charming young ladies, were guests of Mrs. James McConaughy during Christmas.

Quite a crowd of Centreville's handsome young men spent Wednesday last in our town. They were Messrs. W. W. Lavender, Jerome Fuller, Carl Fuller, Fred Gardner, Walton Fuller, and James Davidson. We know of no more agreeable and pleasing young men than these.

It is probable that indictments before the grand jury will follow the malicious mischief indulged about town Christmas night. Look out boys.

Among our fair Christmas visitors was Miss Alice Huff. Miss Huff is another illustration of the independent type of young ladies. She has taught school for three years and has well held her own with the world so far.

We were glad to see that Christmas was not celebrated as a season of moral looseness this year. We saw but one drunk man, and he was of the colored persuasion. That feeling of good fellowship and of quiet rejoicing is one we always hope to see in the celebration of the birth of Him who gave us freedom and liberty in this world as well as our hope of salvation in the next.

Cadets have had the town for the past week.

Miss Sue Shuford and sister, of Anniston, and Miss Cunningham, of Mississippi, spent several days in this city, the guests of Mrs. Best.

Go to Reynolds for your seed oats. He has the Burt and Texas Rust Proof for sale cheap.

Real estate is bringing fancy prices in Montevallo. Fifty feet front brought $765 last week at a public sale.

We learn Mr. French Nabors will sell large roomy lots adjoining the Industrial school grounds at $75 a lot.

We are pained to hear of the serious accident which befell Col. W. W. Wadsworth, one of the trustees of the Industrial school and chairman of its executive committee. He was thrown from his buggy and sustained a fracture of his right arm. From a private letter however, dictated by him the next day, he announced his intention to be on hand at the meeting of his committee on the 9th. He is a wonderful exhibition of strength of mind and body. He was shot almost to pieces during the war, but thirty years after he is able to accomplish more than almost any one. We wish him a speedy recovery.

THE PHANTOM PARTY.

For some time past the young people of the town have been anticipating a delightful evening at the beautiful home of Mrs. James McConaughy. Invitations had been issued for a Phantom or "Ghost Party" last Thursday evening at 8:30. At 8 o'clock many phantoms were seen flitting through the streets wending their way to the ghostly assembly. On arriving at the house a scene of brilliancy and beauty met the eye. The house was filled to overflowing with the many friends of the charming hostess, and much merriment was indulged in in spite of the spectral appearance of the guests. Judges were appointed and each "ghost" was requested to go before them and tell a "ghost story." Among those who responded we must make special mention of the one supposed to be Miss Agee, which took the prize—a beautiful copy of Samuel Minturn Peck's poems, entitled "Rhymes and Roses."

After the guests had unmasked they were ushered into the dining-room, where they were served to a supper which was beyond comparison.

At a late hour the happy throng dispersed. Mrs. McConaughy is an ideal hostess who knows how to entertain.

We have just received from the finest optitian in New York a full line of spectacles. We also have an eye tester and are prepared to sell you the best eye glass in the market for the least money. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds. 3t

A JAPANESE WEDDING.

The most unique and entertaining affair during the holidays was the Japanese wedding which took place at the Baptist church Thursday evening last. The groom was represented by Henry Latham, Jr., and the bride by Maud Reynolds. There were a great many attendants represented by the little girls and boys. It was to illustrate a wedding in high life among the Japanese. It being so entirely different from our style of weddings that it created much interest and amusement among the audience. Its success was in a great measure due to Misses Hattie Lyman and Belle Reynolds, by whom the children were trained.

THE CENTURY'S DISGRACE

And the Shame of Civilized Europe. 20,000 Christians Murdered.

A correspondent writing from Constantinople concerning the recent Turkish atrocities in Asia Minor, says that at Arabkir 2,000 Christians were killed and wounded and that out of some 2,000 houses of Christians, fully three-quarters were burned.

"Into the remaining houses," the writer states, "are huddled several thousand survivors, who are living on the refuse grain rescued from their burned houses. The scenes of the worst periods of Saracenic invasion in the seventh century have been repeated over and over. Thousands of Armenian Christians have been forced to accept Mohammedanism at the point of the sword. Christian women without number have been carried off to the harems of Kurds and Turks.

A Constantinople letter in the Times summarizes and tabulates from consular and other sources the Armenian massacres in the last two months. There are many places from which there are no details yet, but where known the total is 18,000 killed. Turkish statistics give the killed in the towns at 20,000, with 2,500 villages destroyed and the number of killed in them unknown. It is estimated that there are 425,000 starving.

Fatal to a Bystander.

At Aberdeen, Miss., Thursday night a personal encounter took place between L. L. Lann and W. C. Sykes, in which Sykes received two serious wounds from Lann't pistol. Later W A. Sykes and Kirby Lann, brothers o the two first named, took up the quarrel and and a street duel ensued. Syke received a wound in the left breast and Lann was shot twice in the shoulder. Clifton Wicks, a bystander, aged 19, was struck by a bullet from one of the revolvers and killed. All of the parties belong to the best families of the city. A woman of the town was the direct cause of the trouble.

Portrait of Pocahontas.

Henry S. Wellcome, the well-known merchant in London, has presented to the senate of the United States the portrait of Pocahontas, which occupied such a prominent place in the Woman's Building at the World's Fair. The portrait was painted in England after her conversion to Christianity and her marriage to John Rolfe. Senator Daniel, of Virginia, will act in Mr. Wellcome's behalf in making the presentation, and the portrait will ultimately be hung in the new congressional library.

In Harbor at Last.

The disabled Northern Pacific steamer Strathnevis, which has been helplessly drifting about in the North Pacific ocean for the past three months, passed up to Tacoma Christmas evening in tow of the coaler Mineola.

Have your eyes tested free of charge at Reynolds. 3t

STATE TOPICS

Late News Items of General Interest to Alabamians.

Immigrants from Ol

During the year a hundr have located in Lauderdale ar counties and thirty-eight booked to arrive January 8.

The Big Cotton Mill.

The Dwight cotton mill, the in the state having 30,000 spin gan operation Christmas day. situated near Gadsden and e 800 people, requiring 250 cotta their accommodation.

Solicitor Little Resigns.

Mr. James S. Little, solicitor Jefferson county criminal court resigned that office on account of tinued ill health. He is now in York for treatment, but his friends not hopeful of his entire recovery.

Incendiary Fire.

The residence of J. C. Miller, min superintendent of the Sheffield Co Iron and Steel company, at Gam mines, Walker county, was burne Tuesday night, about midnight, Mr. Miller being absent on business at Birmingham.

Industrial Development.

N. S. Bouton and associates, of Chicogo, on Saturday closed negotiations for the erection at Birmingham of car wheel works at a cost of $100,000. The contract was let and work begins on the plant January 1, which will be completed by May 1, and will have a capacity of 400 wheels daily, consuming sixty tons of iron.

Not Afraid of War.

Eighty-four couples celebrated Christmas in the county of Jefferson by becoming man and wife. The colored people led in this commendable movement. Forty-five couples from that class of citizenship took the vows of matrimony, while thirty-nine couples of white persons did likewise, as shown by the record in the probate judge's office.

Only One Still Free.

Deputy United States Marshal Arnold caught Allen Rutledge, colored, the sixth member of the Walker gang of moonshiners, Thursday night, and brought him to Scottsboro and placed him in jail Friday. There is only one more member of the Walker gang still at large and if the enterprising marshal catch him they will have caught an entire gang of moonshiners that have made more moonshine whisky than any gang in North Alabama. Rutledge will be tried before United States Commissioner B. Scott Parke next week.

Astonishing Verdancy.

Taylor Dearman, a wealthy farmer of Calhoun county, was beaten out of $230 near New Orleans while on his way to Texas. A stranger approached Dearman, and after telling him that he had an important shipment of goods at the next station, which the officials would not send to New Orleans unless the freight was paid in advance, asked his prospective victim to cash a certified check for $230, saying that when they reached New Orleans he would go with him to get the money. The stranger was accommodated and he then disappeared. The certified check, of course, was a forgery.

The Flames at Gurley.

Fire broke out Tuesday night at 9 o'clock at Gurley, in the store of O. L Sullivan and before it could be gotten under control a large portion of the town was burned.

The losses are estimated as follows: Sullivan's loss, $6,000 insurance $3,000.

Union Mercantile company, loss $10,000, insurance $6,000.

J, C. Brannen's barber shop, $250.

Gurley store house, $2,500.

W. T. Lawler, $800; no insurance.

W. H. Beason store house, $2,500; insurance $1,000.

W. A. Given $500 loss; insurance $400.

J. C. Flyent store house and office, loss $1,100.

W. L. Giles' total loss $3,000.

One Boy Kills Another.

At Tuskegee Thursday night there occurred a most unfortunate affair, which cast a gloom over that entire community. Pellville Temple and Magruder Abercrombie, two boys sixteen and thirteen years of age respectively, got into some dispute about going hunting and the former was shot in the groin, intentionally or accidentally it has not yet been made clear, which resulted fatally in a few hours.

The shooting was done in the northern part of town between the residences of Dr. W. L. Lane and Captain W. H. Wright, and the shot attracted quite a crowd, Arriving on the scene two guns and a knife were found lying on the ground near the wounded boy. Magruder Abercrombie was arrested, charged with murder, and his preliminary hearing was postponed until tomorrow.

Prosperity in Florence.

Christmas day brought to a close the busiest fall season that Florence has known in many years. The trade for three weeks before Christmas was unusually large, the merchants being unable at times to attend to their customers. The financial condition of the town and country is believed to be better this year than any previous fall since the war. The farmers raised their cotton on a 4-cent basis and sold it for 7½ and 8 cents, and as a result they have realized enough to pay themselves out of debt, and have a good surplus left. In town the factories are running full time, and the men are making good wages. A number of buildings are being built, and more are contemplated. The town has increased in population fully one thousand during the year, and is growing rapidly. The old year has been a satisfactory one, and the new year promises still greater prosperity.

THE FLOODS SUBSIDING.

Deplorable Condition of Farmers Where Supplies Were Swept Off.

The news from the Gasconade and Osage rivers Wednesday was more encouraging. At Bagnell a fall of twtnty-one inches in the Osage was reported, while the Gasconade is falling rapidly. The news confirms reports of farmers rendered destitute by the flood, and the condition of some is deplorable in the extreme. Many lost not only their crops and cattle, but were stripped of household goods and provisions as well. There is no way of estimating the loss, but it is very heavy. The tie and timber men have suffered severely. Along the Moreau river the bottoms were swept clean. An estimate places the corn loss in the Osage valley at about $2,000,000.

Thirty Were Drowned.

A dispatch from Algiers says that the sinking of the French steamer Emile Heloise Wednesday, through being run down by the British steamer Ballerophen, thirty of her passengers were drowned, instead of four as at first reported. Twenty-five of the persons drowned were native Algerians

THURSDA

The Wind Reached a Velocity Yet Recorded.

The storm of last night, York dispatch, this vicinity has the weather bureau At 2 o'clock the was eighty miles higher than the this city, The ten 14 degrees.

At Long Branch locity of the wind was seventy-two m Sandy Hook it blew two miles an hour along the path of the here showing 33-100

In Philadelphia, reached a velocity of hour and houses were uprooted and electric and reports of similar from various cities in state and New Jersey.

In Philadelphia the cident occurred at church on the river f Christmas celebration w The chimney of a tall b ing was blown over on t church. The bricks cru the roof, causing a panic present. Women fainte trampled under the feet o crowd, but fortunately seriously hurt.

In and around Rochester 100 buildings were unroofed non, Pa., the wind tore the the three-story building of Lebanon Match company, blew wall, and then the wreck caught fire and was completely destroyed. Loss, $25,000.

ves
ure received:
the celebrated
LLED PLOWS
ead all others.
dy Schnapps and Pound Cake
We are headquarters for it.
s for Tennessee Wagons,
McCormick Mowers and
Reapers.
Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.
Yours for the Trade,
H. C. & W. B.
REYNOLDS.

It cu
In a few of Tetter never onc claimed for for 50c. in st
nah, Ga.

It costs four tim ican cities as is sp
European cities.

A COUGH, COLD OR immediate attention.
Troches" will invariably g

Bulgaria proper has thi and square miles, about the ana.

Take Parker's Ginger Tonic Ha
you. It will exceed your expectations ing colds, and many ills and aches.

Piso's Cure is the medicine to break up
dren's Coughs and Colds.—Mrs. M. G. BLU
Sprague, Wash., March 8, '94.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflamation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

Pain is Not Conducive of Pleasure, especially when occasioned by corns. Hindercorns will please; it removes them perfectly.

Rich Red Blood is the foundation of health. The way to have Rich, Red, Healthy Blood is to take

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills. 25 cents.

THE AERMOTOR CO. does half the world's windmill business, because it has reduced the cost of wind power to 1/6 what it was. It has many branch houses, and supplies its goods and repairs at your door. It can and does furnish a better article for less money than others. It makes Pumping and Geared, Steel, Galvanized-after-Completion Windmills, Tilting and Fixed Steel Towers, Steel Buzz Saw Frames, Steel Feed Cutters and Feed Grinders. On application it will name one of these articles that it will furnish until January 1st at 1/3 the usual price. It also makes Tanks and Pumps of all kinds. Send for catalogue. Factory: 12th, Rockwell and Fillmore Streets, Chicago.

$3 A DAY SURE. SEND us your address and we will show you how to make $3 a day: absolutely sure; we furnish the work and teach you free, you work in the locality where you live; send us your address and we will explain the business fully; remember we guarantee a clear profit of $3 for every day's work; absolutely sure; write at once. ROYAL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Box 18, Detroit, Mich.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 60c. and $1.00 at Druggists

PAYING POSITIONS
GUARANTEED IN WRITING. Students' complete course in HALF the TIME at HALF the EXPENSE of other colleges. 24 placed in one week. Address at once GEORGIA BUS. COLLEGE, Macon, Ga.

SPECTACLES If you wear them, or need them, or have trouble with your eyes, apply for my Treatise on the Eye, Test Sheets and Catalog, sent free. F. B. GREENE, Optician, Boothbay Harbor, Me.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Am. N. U. No. 1, 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

NOTES & WOMEN

GOSSIP.

ı Victoria used to write verses.

Queen of Portugal is a good an.

Queen of Roumania fairly revels cature.

Princess of Wales is a fine pian- d practices regularly.

s. Robert Louis Stevenson has l from San Francisco for her e in Samoa.

he London School Board wants to oduce flogging into the industrial ools for girls.

New York City restaurant keeper posed to put his waiter girls in omers, and they struck.

The captain of the British Ladies' otball Club complains that men will t take the play of women seriously.

Elizabeth Cady Stanton, whose eightieth birthday was recently celebrated, is learning to play on the piano.

A woman lather is regularly employed at her trade in the neighborhood about Biddeford, Me., in which town she lives.

Governor Stone, of Missouri, recently commissioned as notary public a member of the Order of Sisters of Charity, in St. Louis.

It is altogether possible that the girl baby Olga born in St. Petersburg the other day may be the autocrat of all the Russias some day.

"John Oliver Hobbes," the charming young authoress who recently visited in New York City, speaks eight languages, including Latin and Greek.

Princess Maud of Wales objects to marrying Prince Christian of Denmark, as has been arranged for her, on the ground that he is her cousin.

Five waitresses in bloomers have been serving in a Los Angeles (Cal.) restaurant for several weeks, and the innovation is regarded as a success there.

The editor of a Missouri newspaper has offered a year's subscription to his journal as a prize to the young woman who will write him the best proposal of marriage.

Thirty-five young women bicyclists of Topeka, Kan., arranged to make a sensation on a certain Sunday by attending church in a body arrayed in their bloomers.

The old time Quaker half handkerchief is beruffled out of acquaintance with itself, and appears on the shoulders of the girl of to-day who is anything but Quakerish.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton thinks that the horse show, New York City's annual social function, is an immoral exhibition, on account of the costumes of the women who attend.

Fanny J. Crosby, the hymn writer, esteems her blindness a special blessing, as it led her more than anything else to hymn writing. She has composed over three thousand inspiring songs.

Mrs. Bonda, of Newark, N. J., scared away a tramp with a revolver, and then fainted away. She says that she was terribly afraid that the revolver would go off and shoot the rascal.

Miss Louise Imogene Guiney, the poetess, is described as "a light, blue-eyed girl, delicate as a wild rose, elusive as thistledown." Miss Guiney has both Irish and French blood in her veins.

Mrs. Rhoda Stearns, of Highgate, Vt., familiarly known as Aunt Rhoda, is now in her 103d year. She enjoys good health, with her mental faculties unimpared, and bids fair to live for years to come.

Ellen Terry, the actress, never travels without a collection of recent photographs of all her kith and kin. She puts them last into her baggage, and decorates her room with them wherever she stops.

M. Rousseau, the new Governor-General of the French possession in Indo-China, is so intensely opposed to evening dress for women that he has issued an order that all ladies attending Government balls shall wear high-necked gowns. He is humorously known among the colonists as "Mr. Modesty."

Mrs. Maybrick, the poisoner imprisoned for life in England, is an American woman born, bred and educated in the South. Her father was William G. Chandler, a prominent banker of Mobile. Her ancestors served in the Revolutionary War, and one of them, Samuel Phillips, was Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts.

FASHION NOTES.

Pink in every known tint is a leading favorite this winter.

Bodices are cut longer in the waist and absolutely tight fitting in the back.

Tartans appear in all classes of goods, from silks and satins to wools and poplins.

Mohair mozambique, a light quality of mohair, is one of the leading favorites in winter fabrics.

The colors of autumn foliage are reproduced in many of the new taffetas in small, brilliant figures.

Fitted bodices of seal, otter, chinchilla, Persian lamb and dark beaver are in high vogue this season.

Haircloth has had its day as a skirt lining, excepting in a band about three inches wide for a facing.

Velvet flowers are very elegantly and effectively used upon dress bonnets and hats for calling, receptions and theatre and opera wear.

The syn follows: T comes unabl great pain, mo
the pain increa becomes frantic, from side to side, so the horns, and bruisi iously. Then stupor animal lies with the head the neck being stiff and ri curs about the second day a ing, and comes on suddenly, any warning. If the third day calving passes without an attack cow will escape or recover, but de usually occurs the third day after t attack. The treatment is to apply pounded ice in bags to the head and neck, to place plenty of soft straw about the animal, especially about the head; to give a powerful purgative, as two pounds of Epsom salts, with half an ounce of carbonate of ammonia, and the same of nux vomica. The body should be covered with sheets soaked and kept wet with cold water, the water being permitted to run under the body. When there is no frenzy, the ice to the head is not needed. As soon as the bowels operate freely danger is passed. This disease is most frequent with cows either in poor or too high condition, and perfect quietness and very light feeding for a few days before the calving will generally prevent it. For this reason it is advisable for every dairy to have a retired, half dark, quiet place in which to keep the cows for a few days before and three days after calving.
With moderate feeding before this occurrence, and this quietness, this disease very rarely happens.—New York Times.

INFECTIOUS DISEASES AMONG POULTRY.

Some valuable investigations of these have been made by the United States bureau of animal industry (Dr. Theobald Smith and Dr. V. A. Moore). The importance of the poultry industry, and the heavy losses occasioned by disease among fowls, warrant a continuance of this work. The present bulletin (No. 8 of the bureau) confirms what has previously appeared in our columns concerning an infectious bowel disease among turkeys. No effective remedy has yet been found, though disinfection is urged of all quarters where any diseased birds rty-two dehe mercury his will live

e soil is rich, ance, it will one year.
or gives the
the plant:
is queer shrub young peach ws about five ach being iso-pointed leaves or projecting t nearly every nearly naked
, and you will lar-shaped tubarge, long pars-
e plant, weigh-rty pounds. The
When a field
the stems are about four inches
e planted. They es, or joints, and e ground in two or bitter kind used in tilissima) requires t a crop, while the n in Florida (mania crop in seven or he journal quoted,

, cows, hogs, etc.,
at will compare with vever, will be apt to trial, but when of-three times, when od they like is given, sh it, and no further
It should be pulled o hogs, as they waste
he patch, for it very de, in the open air.
imals, it should be and washed well. All y be left for the stock, but not man food.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Make a n te of desirable beauties for next sea n's planting.

Pot a few ore bulbs for succession of bloom in he window garden.

Cacti sh ld be watered sparingly from now n, allowing them to take their winte s rest.

It is not well to give the calla too much pot om, for foliage may thus be produ d instead of flowers.

Give th window plants as much air as possib on warm days, and make arrangem ts for protecting the outdoor pla s on cold nights.

The h ly chrysanthemums outside may be de to bloom until after several ha freezings, if the blossoms are slig ly protected at night.

Care ly inspect every plant brough into the house to discover any l king insects, and give each plant horough syringing before setting the plant shelves.

Jas nun grandiflorum is a beautiful v for the window garden, and sure give satisfaction; give it a ligh unny situation, and occasional app tions of liquid manure.

H e you laid in a supply of cabbag for the hens this winter? A cabba head hung up in the scratching pe will furnish employment for the he and will do them good. Cabbage is eap too.

SYRUP of FIGS

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50 cent bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

Made in a Minute.
A little water and all ready for the griddle.
TO MAKE Light, Dainty Cakes
USE
Heckers'
Buckwheat.
Remember, the water must be cold and the griddle hot.
19

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR
W. L. DOUGLAS $3. SHOE BEST IN THE WORLD.
If you pay $4 to $6 for shoes, examine the W. L. Douglas Shoe, and see what a good shoe you can buy for $3.
OVER 100 STYLES AND WIDTHS, CONGRESS, BUTTON, and LACE, made in all kinds of the best selected leather by skilled workmen. We make and sell more $3 Shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.

None genuine unless name and price is stamped on the bottom.
Ask your dealer for our $5, $4, $3.50, $2.50, $2.25 Shoes; $2.50, $2 and $1.75 for boys.
TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE. If your dealer cannot supply you, send to factory, enclosing price and 36 cents to pay carriage. State kind, style of toe (cap or plain), size and width. Our Custom Dept. will fill your order. Send for new Illustrated Catalogue to Box R.
W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

NATURE'S WAY:

There is no reason why the period preceding childbirth should be full of discomfort. There is no reason why childbirth itself should bring a feeling of dread to the mother. Nature does nothing wrong. It is the abuse of nature by wrong living, lack of exercise, ill-fitting clothes, that brings about the tortures of childbirth.
Perfectly healthy women go through the ordeal with comparative ease. Nature intended it that way. Women approaching motherhood have really but one thing to do—get strength generally and locally.

McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI
is the best medicine and tonic to do this. It prepares the generative organs for the coming trial, shortens labor, lessens pain and robs confinement of its danger.
One Dollar a Bottle.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

RIPANS TABULES

W. C. Lloyd, a workingman, living at No. 66 White av., in the 18th Ward, Cleveland, O., first bought Ripans Tabules of Benfield, the druggist. In an interview had with him on the 8th of May, 1895, by a reporter named A. B. Calhoun, residing at 1747 East Madison av., Cleveland, Mr. Lloyd said that he was at present out of a job, but expected to go to work next week at the Bridge Works. "Anyway, I have the promise of a job there," were his words. He had been out of employment since last fall. We will let him tell his story in his own words: "Work was a little slack, and I was feeling so bad that I concluded to lay off for a few days, and when I returned my place was filled, so I've been out ever since. I don't care much, though. I've been gaining right along by my rest and treatment. Last fall I went to a doctor who was recommended to me as a good one and with quite a reputation. He gave me medicines of all kinds for nearly six weeks, and I got no benefit that I could see. In fact, I don't believe he knows what is the matter with me. A friend of mine called one evening and told me he had been using Ripans Tabules for a short time and had never found anything that helped his stomach and liver troubles as much as they did. He handed me a circular about them, which I read, and concluded that they were just what I needed and would fit my case exactly. I dropped Dr. —— at once, went over to the drug store and got a 50-cent box of them, out of which I took two a day for awhile, and within three days noticed and felt much improvement. That was about the middle of December. Last February I got another small box of the Tabules and took part of them only, as I was feeling so much better that I didn't think I needed any more. The rest of the box I gave to John C —— the other day. If I had heard of them at the time I stopped work I could have saved my doctor bill, and, better than all, probably kept right on with my work. But I do not begrudge the time lost nor the doctor bill, as I feel I am well paid for having learned of the Tabules. I now feel no pain whatever in my stomach, liver and bowels active and regular, and eat like a well man should eat."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Successful
growers of fruits, berries, and all kinds of vegetables, know that the largest yields and best quality are produced by the liberal use of fertilizers containing at least 10% of
Actual Potash.
Without the liberal use of Potash on sandy soils, it is impossible to grow fruits, berries and vegetables of a quality that will command the best prices.
Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free for the asking.
GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

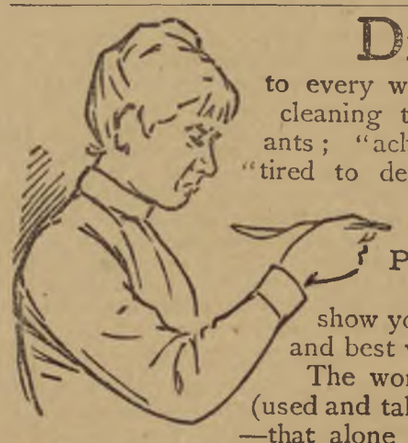
Second Hand
TUERK WATER MOTOR
For Sale.
Large size, cost $400, in use four months.
WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.
Apply at once to
Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

ATHENS FEMALE COLLEGE. Second Oldest Chartered College for Women in the World.
Enjoys national reputation. Terms reasonable.
SPRING TERM OPENS JANUARY 22.
For full particulars address
Z. A. PARKER, Ph. D., D. D. Prest.,
ATHENS, ALABAMA.

$2.42 CASH WITH ORDER buys this Automatic self-cocking, Nickel Plated, Rubber Handled, 6 Shot Revolver, 32 or 38 C. F., or send 22 cts. and we will ship C.O.D. $2.20, and allow examination. FIRE ARMS CO., Winston, N.C.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

Distasteful



to every woman—wash-day and house-cleaning time with their grim attendants; "aching back," "low spirits," "tired to death," "worn out," "out of sorts." Why don't you get rid of these things? Use Pearline. There are directions on each package that will show you the latest, safest, quickest, and best ways of washing.
The wonderful success of Pearline (used and talked of by millions of women) —that alone ought to move you to try it.
And then a trial means continued use. 472
Millions NOW USE Pearline

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. I. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1896. NO. 40.

Drifting On.

In the dark or in the dawn,
Drifting on!
In the sad and glad of life—
In the sunlight, in the strife.
Drifting on!
Hills to climb, and rivers wide.
But the starlight's on the tide—
Green banks on the other side.
Drifting on!

Where the ocean wanders far,
Drifting on!
In the stormiest skies a star—
Bells that ring across the bar,
Drifting on!
In the darkness of the nights
Faith the distant haven sights;
And, behold—the harbor lights!
Drifting on!

—F. L. Stanton.

THE CAPTAIN'S PARTY.

BY MARGARET MOORE PIGGOT.

The Captain made up his mind to give a party. He first thought of a dinner—a dinner it is called in that part of the world—but upon mature consideration decided that an evening party with a dance would be better. "You can get more people in the house that way," he reasoned, "and then, Mammy is right, it don't take so many dishes."

"Whar yer gwine ter git 'nough fer all dem folks to eat?" demanded his dictator, for the Captain like many another southerner, was still under the care of his "Mammy" and she ruled him and his house with a rod of iron. She had never even dreamed of leaving the old plantation. Freedom had no charms away from all her lifetime associations, and the comfort of her "chile" was far more important to her than personal independence. So she stayed at her post with her old husband—who would possibly have had some revolutionary ideas if Mammy had allowed him the luxury of a private opinion—and she cooked for her one lamb left in the old fold, nursed and cared for him, though he was forty as she had done when he was four.

It was the first Christmas after the war, dreary, sad and hopeless; too soon after the stunning blow of defeat for much reaction even in the healthiest nature. The terrible poverty, the desperate outlook over many fields left fallow, crushed even the most buoyant souls.

The Captain was "pretty blue," he declared, and felt that somebody must come to the front with something to cheer up the neighborhood and as he was a bachelor, with a big house untouched by the chances of war, he was convinced that he was the one to do it; but Mammy's question about supplies was pertinent and must be answered.

"Well, Mammy, I reckon there's a wild turkey or so in the hollow, and Uncle Jake can set all his hare traps and he can catch us a lot of old hares"—the Captain called them "ole hyares"—"and I can get some squirrels and partridges, and I don't think we'll starve on that."

"Huh! War yer gwine ter git no cake, an' no ice cream ner nuthin?"

"Well, everything you cook tastes so good, Mammy, the folks won't know the difference."

"I don't min' cooking things, when I got things ter cook," was Mammy's parting shot as she left the room, obviously mollified, and the captain knew his first ally was secured.

It was a different matter when he spoke to his sister-in-law of his intended hospitality. She had been widowed by the war, and she considered the captain's "frivolity," as she called it, a heartless proceeding, a want of proper respect for his dead brother.

"Is this a time to dance?" she asked.

"Well, yes, Molly, I think it is. We've had time enough to weep, the Lord knows, and we've done plenty of it, and we're going to do plenty more before we get through. And that's just the reason I took it into my head I'd like to dance a little now."

"Who'll dance with you; who will you invite?"

"Everybody, you and the children to begin with. They're young enough to dance, sure, and I'll get all the old folks to playing in the little parlor, and we'll begin early and keep it up late and forget our troubles for one night, anyway, and dance the old year out and the New Year in, as we always used to do. Tom's been dead, poor fellow, these three years, you know."

"As if I could forget Tom in three years!" but she made no further objection, and as the Captain expected, every one who was bidden was only too glad to come. It was the only party in the country side, the only break in the monotony of that dreary winter, and everybody seized upon the opportunity, and everybody made merry.

The host's request to "come early and stay late" was obeyed to the letter. Before 5 o'clock, a nondescript procession of vehicles began to file in the "big gate." Horses were very scarce, mules almost as much so; therefore, the carriage—where one survived—was out of the question, if the whole family were to come which they did in most cases, so the usual chariot was the farm wagon, drawn by the mule and horse with rope harness, or what had once been a "sure enough" harness, tied up in a multitude of places with a collection of strings; mamma and the children inside upon straw, pillows or anything that could soften the hard wooden floor; papa driving, and the whole party bent on enjoying themselves to the utmost.

A few young men rode a farm horse or mule, but many of them walked, miles and miles, and danced all night afterward. The old colonial house literally glowed with hospitality through every ruddy window, for the problem for enough light had been solved by Uncle Jake's "elbow grease" at the woodpile and countless chunks of lightwood were heaped up to brighten up the festivities. There were a few candles in the parlor and in the supper room, but the long drawing room, which had not been used for years—the war closed those doors—had a roaring wood fire in the great chimney at each end, upon which, from time to time, the fat pine knots were thrown, and the bright, flickering flame illuminating the large room with a rosy light, throwing deep shadows in the corners where sometimes a shadow came handy, if a man and a maid—we know the rest. Cupid had been very busy during these four restless years, and it was not to be expected that he would give up his old habits immediately.

"Long Mose" and "Yellow Sam" were the fiddlers, and "Mammy's" Jake "knocked the tune" on the banjo with such good will as well as good time that to keep one's feet still necessitated the loss of one of them, or a "Yankee bullet in the knee." In the "little parlor were the cards and the old folks, and in the halls, up the old stairs, peeping through the railing on the landings, on the floor among the dancers, romped the children.

From the open door a beam of rosy light fell across the lawn, the moon rose majestically over the mountains across the river, the dry leaves of the old red oak near the house soughed in the mild breeze, the Potomac silver here and there in the moonlight, glided on as peacefully as though its current had never been tinged by other red than the glow from the firelight in the lockkeeper's house under the shadow of the mountain. In the ball room "Long Mose" was calling the figures for the Virginia reel. "Honor to yer partners," "Fust couple forrard and back.

Mammy's supper was as great a triumph of the Captain's markmanship as of her cooking, for powder and ball were too scarce to be wasted in a single unprofitable shot, and every time the music of "Mars Dick's" rifle had been heard, some bird or beast regretted being within call. There were partridges stuffed with little balls of sausages and baked—"One o' old miss' ways"—there were three wild turkeys cooked to a turn, a ham—part of the one hog that was killed that year—there were squirrels and rabbits galore, and real coffee with sugar and cream.

As the night was waning the Captain saw his sister-in-law crossing the hall with her youngest boy fast asleep in her arms. He hastened to relieve her of the burden. As they entered the "chamber," the down stairs bedroom sacred to the mistress of the house and the usual family sitting room also, Molly seated herself by the fire and held out her arms for the child, but the Captain did not hand him to her immediately. He stooped to let the firelight fall on the little face lying against his breast.

"How much he looks like Tom! and yet he is like you too, Molly—like you looked when Tom and I drew straws to see which of us should speak first." She looked up quickly. "Didn't he ever tell you? Well, you see, I made him promise he wouldn't when I found he was the lucky one; but, all the same, I can't forget it; I never have."

He bent forward over the child again, kissed the sleepy little mouth, then laying him in his mother's arms, said quietly: "Molly, I will be a father to them all if you will let me, and I have loved you all my life."

"Miss Molly, Mammy says can't yer come thor jest a minit."

"Take him, Dick won't you?" she said, as she rose, giving the child to the Captain.

"For my own son?"

"Don't urge me now; let me think."

He sat with the child on his lap for a while. Then, as Molly did not return, and a burst of laughter from the ball room reminded him of his duties, he rose, laid the boy on the bed and went out to his guests again.

They were beginning to leave. Molly was saying farewell to some of them at the door as he joined her. By the time the last one had gone the streak of gray over the mountains had broadened almost to the zenith: the captain turned to her and said, as they watched the growing light:

"Well, Molly, my party wasn't so bad after all, was it?"

"It was a great success, and I think you were right to do it. I find we need mirth sometimes, almost as much as we need prayer."

"Was it a success for me? See, the New Year is breaking on the world with the new day. Shall a new and happier day dawn for me, too?"

"Yes."

"Miss Molly, little Tom's awake, and he's a crying for you."

As she caught up the child he folded both of them in his arms. A "happy New Year to you, my dear," he said. —Washington Star.

Mourning Etiquette.

Social observances attendant on the death of a relative have of late become so complicated and important that not even intensity of grief will excuse any one from observing all the niceties of mourning etiquette. When a bereavement occurs in a family, not only is the public notice published every day for a week, but to those friends who are abroad, and not likely otherwise to receive the news, large, black-bordered cards are sent out, engraved with the date of the funeral and a request to attend it. This is purely a formality of course; but it serves to acquaint one's friends with the bereavement, and often prevents ignorant home-comers from making, unintentionally, cruel mistakes. Good form requires that, on the receipt of one of these cards, a letter of condolence be forwarded at once, and written on paper delicately bordered, on one edge, with a black line. The envelope flap of such a letter is stamped with a black wax, and the expressions of sympathy must be brief, except when one has been asked to assume mourning.

The last is a compliment extended by the family of the deceased, who select twelve friends of their lost relative to wear mourning for twenty days in honor of the beloved departed. The mourning consists of a band of black crepe on the left arm, both for men and women.—Demorest's Magazine.

Custom of Saying Grace Not Falling Off

The old-fashioned habit of saying grace before meals is not dying out. In some families the custom of saying a silent grace is observed, but, to my mind, the old-fashioned method of asking God's blessing on the "food which we are to receive," while all stand reverently, is the most proper way in which to observe.—Ladies' Home Journal.

A Promising Sprig of the Law.

"What course should a lawyer pursue when called on to defend a man whom he knows to be guilty?" asked the examiner.

The examined scratched his head a moment and answered: "Charge him double, of course.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

The way to kill time is to waste it.

Stinginess costs more than liberality.

Truth is bound to have the last word.

Success counts its victims by thousands.

Man inherits few necessities and few prejudices.

Tomorrow never comes up to expectations.

The man with a high aim is too often a poor shot.

Everyone has originality, but not everyone is able to show it.

Man spends a good deal of time searching for what he hopes he won't find.

Man is convinced through his understanding; woman through her emotions.

Fun is of two kinds—the kind you pay for and the kind someone else pays for.

A philospher is a man who is able to extract consolation from a cold in the head.

The value of an education depends a good deal upon how much of it one is able to forget.

A Spider Farm.

A sirup bottler has improved upon the prison lesson of Bruce. He has taken the spider into partnership in the working of one of the most important departments. Flies, cock roaches and other insects, attracted by his sweets, and encouraged by the genial air of his bottling room, used to interfere with his work, get into his bottles, steal his goods and worry him. He has recruited the spider against his foes and he has vanquished them.

Some 6,000 spiders now make their home on the ceiling and walls of his bottling department. Their webs are everywhere and they behave themselves with great intelligence.

Said the bottler to an interviewer: "These creatures know more than a great many people. Spiders do not care for sweet things and never drop into my vats or get into my bottles. I never disturb them except to feed them occasionally.

"They shut themselves up during most of the winter months in the little nests you see stuck like daubs of mud about the ceiling. When winter comes I brush away all the webs, they prefer to weave new ones every spring.

"Each May they reappear, ready to unravel the silken fabric that is stored in their bodies. It is just about then that the flies have hatched their first young. If the spiders appeared earlier the crop of flies would soon give out. I have only been running this spider farm two years, but I find my little partners indispensable; they will not endure in the place a single fly or insect that is a plunderer of sweets and sirups."—Science.

"Findin's is Keepin's."

A few days since, a farm hand employed on a place in Ohio plowed up a pot of gold. He was surprised, upon examining the vessel in which it was contained, to find four hundred and eighty dollars. He reported the matter to his employer, who, being a just man and understanding the law, said: "As you have found it, it is yours."

It is needless to say that the man was greatly delighted over his discovery. The coins were very much corroded, but were easily identified as United States money. Among them were a number of the octagon fifty-dollar gold pieces, which have almost gone out of the knowledge of most people—indeed, many of the members of the younger generation have never seen one. There have been for years rumors that treasure was buried in this vicinity, but no one has up to the present been able to find it. The curious part of it all is that the land has continually been cultivated, and has changed hands a score or more of times within the last century.—New York Ledger.

The chapel in honor of St. Paul gave a new name to the Minnesota city. It was originally called Pig's Eye, from a nickname given to a one-eyed Frenchman, who kept a drinking shanty at the place.

When Men Weep.

It is one of the first laws of the philosophy of emotion that men shall not cry. They must find some other outlet for their pent-up feelings. The safest plan, perhaps, is to make frequent the use of the expressions, "Dear me!" and "Goodness gracious!" which are perfectly harmless.

There are, as every one must know, times when even the strongest men are overcome by their feelings, and a terribly heart-rending sight it is to see a big frame convulsed with sobs and a proud, manly face stained with tears.

As a rule, however, it is neither pain nor grief that will make a man cry. Soldiers who will bear excruciating injuries without a moan, have been known to break down when the lights are lowered and some thilling scene is portrayed on the Adelphi boards.

Orators and singers are both subject in an extraordinary degree to the sway of emotion. Tears are no uncommon sight in the pulpit. In fact, there are few preachers whose voices are not at times so full that they are choked with feeling, and their eyes bedimmed with tears. Then if you glance around the hushed assembly, who are hanging on the preacher's words, you will see many a man whose cheeks are moist with sympathy.

The great Spurgeon would often break down under stress of feeling and Cannon Liddon's utterance many a time failed him from the overwhelming pathos which his emotional voice betrayed.

Sims Reeves' "Tom Bowling" always affected the famous singer, and Mario was known to break down when the well of his gentle heart's emotion was filled until the tears could no longer be held back.

When Charles Dickens put an end to the career of little Paul Dombey, the great writer went out into the darkness of the night and found comfort in tears. Many men are overcome when reading books; even frivolous novels may contain a chapter which will make the threat husky and blur the pages till they become invisible.

John Bright was known on several occasions to give way to his feelings in delivering a public speech, while Lord Russell is often beaten by the pathos of his own impassioned language.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Potato's Genesis Unsolved.

The early naturalists differed greatly as to the origin of the potato, writes John Gilmer Speed in Ladies' Home Journal. In England it was held to be a native of Virginia, and in Spain it was said to have originated in Peru. Modern opinion holds that it is indigenous to the elevated tablelands of Chile, Peru, Bolivia, Costa Rica, Mexico and southwestern United States. It probably got to Virginia by the hands of some early Spanish explorers. It is certain, however, that it was not cultivated in Virginia till far into the eighteenth century, and then it was introduced in the American Colonies on account of the esteem in which it was held in Europe.

Illuminating Power Increased.

A French scientist has recently discovered the means of increasing the illuminating power of ordinary coal gas about fifteen times. The increase is accomplished by supplying a small but constant current of air to the flame. A tiny electric-motor is fixed in the body of the gas lamp, which is a diminutive ventilator. The motor is run by a current supplied by a couple of, small accumulators. The flame has a remarkable brilliancy, and lamps have been constructed on this pattern with an illuminating power of 800 candle power.

Trade Secrets.

Tailor—Thought I'd met some nervy people, but——

Shoemaker—What now?

Tailor—I've had to press these trousers four times, and they are not even paid for.

Shoemaker—That's nothing. I went to collect a bill for a pair of shoes yesterday and the fellow kicked me out with them.

During the recent trouble at Constantinople the British Mediterranean fleet lay at Lemnos with full steam up for four days. This cost $35,000 for extra coal.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

One thousand tons of soot settles monthly on the 110 square miles of London.

The skeletons of twelve aborigines were found in a cave near Anderson, Ind., recently.

Thomas A. Edison has won his case in the matter of incandescent lights, and will continue to get his royalties on every lamp.

Scales are now made of such nice adjustment that they will weigh anything to the smallest hair plucked from the eyebrow.

Some extraordinary specimens of primitive gigantic sculpture have been discovered on Easter island, in the Pacific ocean.

It is announced that a French naturalist has invented an instrument which he terms a "glossometer," for measuring the tongues of bees.

Tomato plants have been grafted on potato plants in England, giving a crop of tomatoes above ground and of potatoes below. Potatoes grafted on tomatoes have produced flowers and apples and a few tubers.

To make the wooden butter dishes seen in groceries, the heavy timber is cut into blocks ten or twelve inches in length and boiled in large vats until thoroughly softened. The hot blocks are placed in machines, which scoop out the butter dishes at the rate of 200 a minute.

Intense cold, as is well known, burns—if we may use the terms—like heat. If a "drop" of air at a temperature of 180 degrees, below zero were placed upon the hand it would have the same effect as would the same quantity of molten steel. Every one who has had the care of horses ought to know the intense pain caused by placing a frosted bit into a horse's mouth. It burns like hot iron.

A French naval engineer named d'Humy has invented a pressed oilcake for use as fuel on ocean steamers. It is not affected by temperature, is smokeless and odorless, cannot evaporate or cause explosions, and burns only on the surface, giving out intense heat and leaving only from two to three percent of ash. A ton of this fuel is equal to about thirty tons of coal and costs between five and ten dollars.

Luminous Animals.

Deep down in the water these peculiar zoophytes, the Umbellula, rear their tender stems, surmounted by a group of polyps, superficially resembling the lily-encrinites of a bygone age. In the middle of the eighteenth century a fine species was observed and described, but the specimens were lost, and then for a hundred years no more was heard or seen of the genus, till it was again brought to light by the Swedish frigates Ingerand and Gladan.

Soon after the Challenger raised the number of known species to half a score. One of these was fished up from a depth of more than 2,000 fathoms, between Cape St. Vincent and Madeira, and "when taken from the trawl the polyps and the membrane covering the hard axis and the stem were so brightly phosphorescent that Captain Maclear found it easy to determine the character of the light by the spectroscope.

It will, perhaps, be encouraging to those naturalists, who are too easily disheartened by failures and mistakes to learn that the celebrated Father Zecchi in the first instance decisively affirmed that the phosphorescent light of animals, viewed by the spectroscope was monochromatic, whereas in 1872 he was able to determine just the contrary. He then found, by means of improved instruments that the spectrum was sensibly continuous, not one-colored, but compound, with the red and the violet clearly distinguishable.—Blackwood's Magazine.

High Enough.

Miriam—Don't you think my new hat a poem, Ned?"

Ned (critically)—From its height, dear, I should instead compare it to a short story.—Judge.

Pure milk is insured to the inhabitants of Havana, in the Island of Cuba, by the milkman bringing his cows with him and drawing off at each house the amount required.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

L. N. BOWDON,
S. S. ALLEN,
F. E. DAVIS, } - - Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

The Prohibitionists of Flint, Mich., are about to try the scheme of setting up a counter attraction to the saloons on Saturday afternoon, when the farmers and traders come into town. For this purpose a church is to be opened and music and hot coffee furnished. The people of the church will be present to welcome visitors. Smoking will be allowed, and an attempt made to give visitors all the opportunities for enjoyment they can find in a saloon, except intoxicating liquors. The saloon-keepers are said to be considerably alarmed at the prospect of competition.

Marcus Daly tells the Anaconda Standard that the Anaconda Mining Company has paid out $72,000,000 in Montana since its organization in 1878. The original Anaconda was bought for $30,000, and yet after all this immense wealth has been taken out a quarter interest was sold in London a few weeks ago for $7,500,000, since which time the shares have advanced till the whole property is worth $37,000,000. When Daly began work it was with a hand-windlass and he supposed he had a silver property. Johannesburg will hardly have a mining story that will surpass this, thinks the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Churches on wheels are a feature of one department of the religious work of the American Baptist Publication Society. Four evangelical railroad cars are in service, and a fifth is soon to be added through the efforts of the good people of Detroit. The first car was placed in commission five years ago. Its success was so manifest, and the amount of good accomplished so great, that another was added the following year, and one has been added every year since. The cars go to towns which have no churches, and when side-tracked services are conducted by two missionaries. The cars have the right of way on all the railroads of the country, and conductors everywhere have orders to attach them to any and all trains on the request of the missionaries in charge. No charge is made, and some of the railways even supply heating and lighting.

The Florida Citizen says: Early last spring a rich man in Chicago, after earnest solicitation was induced to offer a sum of money for original songs especially suited to working people and those in the common walks of life. A first, second and third prize were offered for the best songs. A smaller prize was also offered for each song that received honorable mention by the committee of awards. Prizes were also offered for the best music to accompany these prize songs. The conditions of this award of prizes were published in most of the papers in the country. The songs were to be received and passed on by the committee on awards. Then they were to be given to the press for publication. The intention was also to publish a collection of the songs and accompanying music and to sell copies at about the cost of the paper and printing. The supposition was that besides the three prize songs, several hundred would receive honorable mention, and exert a powerful influence on the people. Some believed that a million copies of the book would be disposed of within a few months. Six months have passed since the offer of the prizes was made. The outcome of the attempt to secure a new and large stock of songs for the people is very discouraging. More than 3000 persons have competed, but the committee on awards finds but two compositions worthy of receiving prizes. The first and second prizes have been awarded, but the third has been withheld for the reason that no composition has been found to merit its bestowal. Out of more than 3000 alleged lyrical poems only two are considered of sufficient merit to publish or set to music. None of all the others is regarded as worthy of honorable mention. The two given out for publication have been declined by most newspaper editors. From this the fact is evident that the great volume of songs for the people will not appear.

MEMORIES.

As a perfume doth remain
In the folds where it hath lain,
So the thought of you remaining
Deeply folded in my brain
Will not leave me; all things leave me;
You remain.
Other thoughts may come and go,
Other moments I may know,
That shall waft me in their going,
As a breath blown to and fro.
Fragrant memories; fragrant memories
Come and go.
Only thoughts of you remain
In my heart, where they have lain,
Perfumed thoughts of you remain,
A hidden sweetness in my brain.
Others leave me; all things leave me;
You remain. Arthur Symonds.

Love That Was False

Helen Marsden's new life rose phoenix-like out of the ashes of the old.

Turning out of one of the broadest and most fashionable avenues of C——, well down in the older part of the city, where the substantial houses and spacious grounds tell of a respectability which is of more than a day's growth, you will find yourself in a quiet little street, if we dignify the place with the name of street, only two blocks in length, and coming to an abrupt termination against a garden wall. A strip of sod borders the narrow walks, old elm-trees stand sentinel at either side of the way, and the pretty cottage houses are set back in the midst of shrubbery. In one of the prettiest of these cottages Helen Marsden was born, and lived happily enough for the 19 years of her life. Her greatest joy and her greatest sorrow found her within its walls. In many a pleasant summer evening, she and Charles Belsham paced the gravel walks in the moonlight, or lingered by the little fountain that played in the middle of the grass-plot, or at the gate, while the elm-tree shadows fell over them and around them, and flickered on the pavement at their feet, and earth seemed fair enough for heaven. That was her greatest joy. The story of her sorrow will take me longer in telling.

Marsden was a rich and influential man, but he was not a happy one. His business was old and well established; his name stood high on "change;" and and his house on the broad avenue, not far from the cottage in which his niece and sister-in-law lived so pleasantly, was one of the largest and finest, but it was cold and empty, and there were no children to inherit John Marsden's name and wealth. Helen Marsden was her uncle's only heir. This was why, although her father had died poor, she and her mother were dwelling in comfort and ease; this was why she was well dressed and well instructed, and lived in every way as only a rich man's daughter has a right to live; this, too, was why Charles Belsham paced the garden walks with her in the moonlight, but how was she to know that?

Charles Belsham was an inmate of her uncle's house, and a nephew of her uncle's wife. Mrs. John Marsden was a cold, hard, fashionable woman. There was one person in the world whom she loved, and that was her nephew, Charles Belsham. There was one person in the world whom she hated, and that was her husband's niece, Helen Marsden. If John Marsden died intestate, the law gave his immense wealth to his widow, but John Marsden's will was in favor of his niece, and although Mrs. Marsden was well provided for during her life, everything reverted to Helen. Mrs. John Marsden first discovered this will in the private draw of her husband's secretary, she was inwardly raging, but outwardly as calm and cold as ever; and when she had made her plans, she gave her nephew her orders. Then had commenced those visits to the little cottage, those pacings in the moonlight, which were Helen Marsden's greatest joy.

John Marsden's home need not have been silent and empty, for he would long since have brought Helen and her mother to enliven its solemn grandeur, if Mrs. Marsden would have consented. But Mrs. Marsden would not consent; not that she was jealous of quiet Rose Marsden—she could but respect and confide in a character so opposed to her own—but that she was jealous of her husband's love for Rose Marsden's child. So Helen and her mother continued to occupy the little cottage; and night after night, when Mrs. John Marsden had rolled away in her carriage to the opera or theater, or party, with Charles Belsham for an escort, John Marsden, growing tired of loneliness, would betake himself to its quiet hearth-stone, and there find his only realization of domestic comfort.

But latterly there had crept a new pain into his life—an ever-increasing fear that this "ark of refuge" would be swept away; for gentle Rose was drawing visibly toward the end which cometh to all.

It was a dreary night in November; the rain was falling steadily; the wet, dead leaves that strewed the sidewalks glittered in the lamplight, and not a footstep broke the stillness; but in the cottage there was unusual stir. Mrs. Marsden was suddenly worse, and Helen was hanging over her in an agony of fear and hope.

Before morning she was a double orphan.

Rose Marsden was dead, and John Marsden was not there to comfort the daughter she had loved so well. When they had come to his room in the morning to tell him of his great loss, they found that it was rather a gain. Somewhere in the measureless realm two souls had met.

The servant who went to summon John Marsden to the cottage came back with a white face, and there were hushed comments and whispered consultations as to who should tell the quiet girl up-stairs.

Helen seemed to be living in a dream, a trance, out of which she would wake to find all the sorrow and pain which were so new to her gone out of her life. When she was at last told she did not even seem surprised.

It was when the funerals were over, and she came back to sit alone in the silent house, and wait for Charles Belsham, who would be with her in the evening, that her thoughts turned to the future, and she caught eagerly hold of the one comfort that was hers in the midst of her deep affliction, Belsham's love. Whatever storms might bear upon their heads, whatever sorrows might come into their lives, they two together would meet them.

Poor, foolish girl, she waited expectantly, anxiously. It was twelve o'clock and Charles Belsham had not come. She was filled with a vague prescience of calamity. What was it?

At last it was morning. The fire was dead; the servants were stirring. She rose chilled and miserable, and went up to her own room. There could be nothing serious the matter, and soon her lover must come to explain away the trifle.

But as the morning wore away, and he did not come, the doubt and uneasiness returned, and for the first time there crept into her heart a feeling of condemnation for the man she had thought could do no wrong.

It was near noon when the servant announced a gentleman.

"Who is it, Jane?"

"I don't know, Miss. He is an old gentleman."

When she entered the parlor, she recognized in the person who rose to meet her her uncle's lawyer.

"Mr. Haverly," she said, "it is kind of you to remember me."

"My dear Miss Marsden, I came upon business, and I would rather this moment be almost anywhere else. I have bad news for you—"

She sat looking at him, unable to articulate.

"Very bad news; but you must try to bear it bravely. Your uncle's will cannot be found—I mean, your uncle left no will."

She breathed more freely; her first thought had been of Belsham.

"I do not quite understand," she said.

He saw that she did not understand.

"My dear, if we do not find a will you will get nothing at all."

She sat silent for a long time, and when at last she spoke she showed that she comprehended the whole matter.

"Did my uncle know?"

"Certainly, certainly. It is an almost unpardonable piece of carelessness."

"My uncle was not a careless man."

"That is what puzzles me."

"Mr. Haverly, if my uncle knew what the law was, there is a will somewhere."

Mr. Haverly only shook his head.

"We must be careful what we say," he said.

"Did you say anything to my aunt?"

"Yes, and I found at once that she would hear nothing concerning your claim. I may as well tell you at once that you have nothing to expect from her generosity. If you want any help or advice, I will be glad to do all that I can for you."

She thought he had gone, but he was back.

"Miss Marsden, you will not be offended—but, do you need any money—immediately I mean?"

The tears came into her eyes. "No." she said. "But I thank you, thank you!"

Belsham had known this, and he had not come to her. It was all plain enough now. No mother, no uncle, no fortune, no lover! If she had not been a brave, strong nature, she would have been utterly crushed; but pride and indignation came to her support.

She engaged board in a distant part of the city, with the privilage of furnishing her room, and removed to it her own room furniture, adding her mother's work-table and many little articles of ornament; but there was not room for half the things she would have taken, for every article in the old house had its associations, and to qart with any of them was like leaving old friends. Nevertheless the red flag had been hung out, and they were gone. All debts were paid, the servants were satisfied and discharged, and there were a few hundred dollars left, with which to begin the new life she proposed.

Helen Marsden was a successful woman. After ten years, she was for the first time going back to her uncle's house. Mrs. Marsden was ill, and had sent for her. She did not hesitate a moment; all feeling of animosity had long since died out. As she ascended the well-known stairs and entered the library, she looked curiously around to note the changes, and was shocked by the dilapidated aspect of the place. There was but one change to note—that of time; the carpets, the curtains, the furniture were the same, save that they had grown old and faded and shabby.

"How long has Mrs. Marsden been ill?" she asked of the servant.

"Its years since she has been downstairs, Ma'am; but it's not very long since she took to her bed."

If there had been any enmity yet lingering in Helen's heart, it surely would have received its death blow at sight of the ghastly face that peered at her from the midst of the pillows of Mrs. Marsden's bed.

Mrs. Marsden's voice was much stronger than one would have expected from such a frail body.

"Is that Helen Marsden?" she asked.

"Yes, Aunt, it is I."

Mrs. Marsden moved uneasily. "Give me a drink," she said to the nurse; but even while she drank, she continued to gaze over the rim of her cup. "How I hate you!" she exclaimed; then suddenly to the nurse again, "Well, what are you staying for?"

Helen began to fear that she was in delirium.

"You sent for me, Aunt. Did you want me? Can I do anything for you?"

"I hate you. I cannot rest for dreaming of you. Why do you torment me? I never did you any harm."

"I never accused you of doing me harm."

"But I did. Yes, and I would do it over again."

"Mrs. Marsden, it seems to me it is time for you to put all hatred out of your heart."

A look of terror came into those immovable eyes.

"Did you come here to tell me I am going to die?"

"No."

"But I am going to die; I know it. I am afraid to go without telling you. I will tell you, and hope it will as great a curse to you as it has been to me."

"Aunt, Aunt. Do you mean my uncle's money?"

"Yes. He gave it to you."

"He gave it to me?"

"In his will. I hid it!"

"The will?"

"I hid the will. I wanted Charles to have it. At first the only way seemed for him to marry you; but he did not love you, and did not want to marry you; and when John Marsden died I knew where thewill was, and I took it. I was afaid Charles would hunt you up, and I made him go to Europe. I thought he would come back soon and stay with me, but he has never come back. They say that he is dreadfully dissipated, and I know that he is dreadfully extravagant. I have sent him money, and money, and money. He never writes but when he wants money, and he cares nothing at all about me. He thinks he will have it all after I am gone, but he is mistaken. Here, take it," and she threw a paper at Helen's feet.

Helen glanced around the cheerless room, and thought of the pitiable condition of the woman before her.

"I wish you would let me stay and take care of you," she said.

"No."

"Shall I come again to see you?"

"No."

So Helen left her. She did not, however, stay away from the house, but came daily to inquire about the sick woman. A month passed and the invalid grew steadily weaker. One morning Helen came as usual.

"How is she to-day?" she asked.

"Oh, she's most gone, ma'am. Hadn't you better go up? she won't know you."

Once more Helen stood within the forbidden chamber; the difficult breathing of the dying woman fell upon her ear.

Louder and louder, and more difficult grew the labored breathing. At times it ceased entirely, and again it went on and on; but ever the pauses grew longer, and the time between them grew shorter, till at last that long pause came—eternity.

Helen and Charles Belsham were together in the library of the old house and Belsham was pleading for the love he had lost so long ago.

"If you knew how I have suffered you could forgive," he said. "I was weak and easily led, but I have paid the penalty. I have never ceased to regret you for one moment."

"You were right," said Helen; "you were in no way fitted to work for us and your aunt would, as you say, have disinherited you if you had insisted on marrying me then. But you must not hurry me; I must have time. If you will come to-morrow, I think I will grant you all that you want."

"My darling!" He would have taken her to his arms, but she stopped him.

"Not to-day," she said, "wait."

When he came next day the servant handed him a document, upon the inner wrapping of which was written:

"All that Charles Belsham wants."

It was the will of John Marsden. The signature had been torn out and destroyed.

Helen went back to the new life and not a memory of him remained with her.

Eaten by a Lion.

A porter at Lyons, France, was going to have his photograph taken while posing near the lion cage of a menagerie. The lion being asleep just then the man patted the head to awaken it. On withdrawing the hand he touched the bolt securing the door, and the door flew open. The lion jumped out and bit off the imprudent man's head and then he dragged the corpse back into the cage, and when help arrived there wasn't much left for the burial.

Lincoln's Duel.

A monument is to be erected at Alton, Ill., on the spot where Abraham Lincoln and James Shields met to fight a duel on September 23, 1842. But both thought better of it, and the quarrel was amicably settled. The difficulty arose out of satirical articles contributed to a Springfield newspaper by Miss Mary Todd, then engaged to Lincoln.

Coal in Alaska.

It is believed that an extensive field of valuable coal has been discovered within fifty miles of Juneau, Alaska. If this proves to be so, it will, of course, mean very much for the development of that region. It is known that excellent coal exists in many parts of Alaska, but the discoveries hitherto have been remote from the settled regions.

Alum as a medicine has been in common use for nearly eight hundred years.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor: Services every 2nd and 4th Sundays. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. S. L. Dobbs, pastor: Services every 1st and 3rd Sundays. Prayer Meeting every Thursday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor: Services every 3rd Sunday, at 4 p. m.

Presbyterian Church—Rev. J. H. Zwingle, pastor: Services every 2nd Sunday.

Sunbeam Society meets every 1st and 3rd Sundays at Baptist church at 2:30 p. m

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Metbodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Missionary Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma.....	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham.....	7:25 p m
No. 15	South.....	12:37 p m
No. 16	North.....	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Remember if you want a good sewing machine with the most complete set of attachments you ever saw call on H. C. & W. B. Reynolds.

Mr. W. R. Anderson of Imogene spent Tuesday in town.

Lewis H. Reynolds of Jemison was among the visitors to Montevallo this week.

Amos Robinson, while attempting to escape from the jail at Columbiana, was shot and instantly killed by Deputy Sheriff Seale. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Mr. Steve Dill spent Christmas at home.

Miss Katie Reynolds is on a visit to friends at Benton.

Mr. E. D. Reynolds of Blocton spent Sunday in Montevallo.

Miss Geneva Vest is spending the holidays with her father's family here.

Mrs. Davis has moved to the Lawhon house and the Carleton place is now for rent.

Mr. H. Fox left us Tuesday for Columbiana where he goes to engage in the mercantile business at that place.

A most enjoyable leap year party was given to the visiting young ladies at the residence of Mrs. T. A. Best. The young gentlemen were all requested to assemble at the residence of Mr. W. B. Reynolds and the young ladies called for them there. The party was complimentary to Misses Minnie and Sue Shuford of Oxford and Miss Cunningham of Mississippi.

Messrs. W. P. McConaughy and Thomas Hardy attended the dance at Randolph last week.

Dr. J. D. Trammell and family returned to Montevallo last week. We welcome them back again.

Miss Ada Dill is on a visit to her brother at Compton.

The little children of Mr. W. H. Skaggs of Birmingham have been spending the holidays with his sister, Mrs. J. L. McConaughy.

Mrs. Fawcett of Montgomery is spending the week with Mrs. George Kroell.

The trial of the Seale, Lucas and West case failed to come off on Tuesday owing to the indisposition of Judge Nabors. It was postponed until the 15th.

Rev. Mr. Dobbs, the presiding elder, came to Montevallo Tuesday to hold quarterly meeting, but owing to the inclemency of the weather very few were able to be out.

Miss Minnie Little, a handsome young lady of Bismarck, came up to the leap year party Monday night.

Mr. S. S. Allen has gone to Blocton to take charge of H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' Smith Hill store.

The executive committee of the Girls' Industrial school will meet here Thursday, January 9, to make a settlement with the citizens as to final location of the school.

Mr. George W. Morgan has bought a lot on the square belonging to Mrs. L. H. Lyman and will soon erect a handsome residence.

Mrs. Augusta Wilson has commenced the erection of a neat five room house.

We hope soon to hear that the Southern will tear down the old barn that is now being used for a depot and put up something that the town deserves. The old building that is now there was built just after the war and is in constant danger of tumbling over on some one. The Southern has now a progressive management and we see no reason why they should allow such an eye-sore to remain on their property.

Misses Lucy and Clara Simpson of Montgomery spent Christmas with their aunt, Mrs. H. C. Reynolds.

Lost in a Mine Cave.

Ten men were caught in a cave in the Anna Lee mine at Victor, Col., Saturday morning, and it is not possible that any of them have escaped death.

CORRESPONDENCE.

FROM ASHBY.

We are sorry to learn of the continued illness of Miss Bessie Day.

Mrs. Herron of Maline spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Parks.

Mr. J. G. Oakley left for Marion last week, where he will spend a few days.

Mr. W. E. Harrison of Dogwood came down to see his best girl last week. She was away from home. He thought he would have a social chat with the old folks, when, lo and behold! while he was getting on the good side of them, what should or did happen but it should just pour down rain, and afterward the weather turned bitterly cold, so that he couldn't go home in two days! Come again, Will, when the weather warmer turns.

Mr. John Mulkey left for Arkansas last week.

Messrs. Will and John Fancher of Centerville were in town last week.

Misses Lillie and Ida Oakley visited their relatives in Chilton last week.

Miss Emma Campbell is visiting the family of Mr. W. A. Day at Gurnee this week.

If this does not find its way to the waste basket you will hear again from Ego.

ANOTHER STAR IN THE GALAXY

The President Issues His Proclamation Declaring Utah a State.

The president, at 10 o'clock a. m., Saturday, signed the proclamation admitting Utah to statehood. The proclamation reads as follows;

By the President of the United States of America.

A Proclamation—Whereas, The congress of the United States passed an act which was approved on the 16th day of July, 1894, entitled "An act to enable the people of Utah to form a constitution and state government, and to be admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states," which act provided for the election of delegates to a constitutional convention to meet at the seat of government of the territory of Utah on the first Monday in March, 1895, for the purpose of declaring the adoption of the constitution of the United States by the people of the proposed state and forming a constitution and state government for such state; and,

Whereas, Delegates were accordingly selected, who met, organized and declared on behalf of the people of said proposed state their adoption of the constitution of the United States, all as provided in said act; and,

Whereas, Said convention, so organized, did, by ordinance, irrevocable without the consent of the United States and the people of said state as required by said act, provide that perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured and that no inhabitant of said state shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship, but that polygamous or plurate marriages are forever prohibited; and did also by said ordinance make the other various stipulations recited in Section 3 of said act; and,

Whereas, said convention thereupon formed a constitution and state government for said proposed state, which constitutien, including said ordinance, was duly submitted to the people thereof at an election held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, 1895, as directed by said act: and,

Whereas, The returns of said election have been made and canvassed and the result thereof certified to me, together with a statement of the votes cast and a copy of said constitution or ordinance, all as provided in said act, showing that a majori y of the votes legally cast at such election was for the ratification and adoption of said constitution and ordinance; and,

Whereas, The constitution and government of said proposed state are republican in form, said constitution is not repugnant to the constitution of the United States and the declaration of independence; and all the provisions of said act have been complied with in the formation of said constitution and government.

Now, therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States of America, in accordance with the act of congress aforesaid and by authority thereof, announce the result of said election to be as so certified and do hereby declare and proclaim that the terms and conditions prescribed by the congress of the United States to admission into the Union have been duly complied with, and that the creation of said state and its admission into the Union on an equal footing with the original states is now accomplished.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 4th day of January, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and twentieth.

[Seal.] Grover Cleveland.

By the president:

Richard Olney, Secretary of State.

We have just received from the finest optitian in New York a full line of spectacles. We also have an eye tester and are prepared to sell you the best eye glass in the market for the least money. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds. 3t

A Sheriff Robbed and Gagged.

The Rocky Mountain News' special train on the Denver and Rio Grande railway was wrecked at Malta, Col., four miles from Leadville. The engineer and fireman were killed. The accident occurred about 7:15 Wednesday morning.

STATE TOPICS.

Late News Items of General Interest to Alabamians.

Left it There to Tempt Him.

A family in North Selma went to breakfrst Friday morning leaving $20 in cash in the front bed room. When they returned the $20 and William Robinson, who had been about the place, were missing. A warrant was sworn out and Officer Munn arrested him this afternoon.

Sheriff Kills a Prisoner.

Deputy Sheriff T. L. Seal killed Amos Robertson, a prisoner, Saturday, at Columbiana. As Seale unlocked Robertson's cell door he and another prisoner ran over the deputy, knocking him to the floor. The deputy getting on his feet opened fire on the fleeing prisoners and Robertson fell dead. The coroner's verdict was justifiable killing.

Bre'r Possum Escapes Injury.

Near Kennedy, Lamar county, Alabama Saturday night James Runyon, and Bobert Young climbed a high tree for an opossum. On the same limb, 40 feet from the ground, they quarreled. Runyon pushed Young off the limb but was pulled off with him. Both lived just long enough to tell how it happened.

Car and Cotton Burned.

Collinsville was in a whirl of excitement early Friday morning when fire was discovered in a freight box car near the depot; the car and contents was entirely destroyed. But for the timely assistance of the citizens of the town the depot and contents would have burned. It is supposed that some tramps slept in the car last night and dropped fire probably from a pipe. The car contained twelve bales of cotton.

A Good Man Stricken.

Thursday evening while Rev. A. S. Andrews, D. D., of Greenville, Ala., was conducting the funeral services of Mr. J. M. McNameel at the First Methodist church in Opelika, he was stricken with congestive paralysis, and is lying critically ill at the home of Dr. J. M. Mason. This is the second stroke Dr. Andrews has had, and grave fears are entertained as to the result. His wife was immediately telegraphed for, and is now attending his bedside.

Allowed to Make Bond.

The preliminary trial of Arna Mahoney at Athens for the killing of Redus Westmoreland, in Elkmont, on November 5, 1895, closed late Friday afternoon, after occupying three days. Almost all day was occupied with argument, and within ten minutes after the close of the last speech Justice Christens rendered his decision allowing Mahoney his liberty upon the making of a bond for $2,500.

Prosperous and Hopeful.

The reports from merchants of Ashville show that their cash trade for 1895 was far in excess of any previous year. The farmers have paid up very well for 1895 with prospects of paying more before the season closes. Considering everything, the people commence the year 1896 in better shape than they have been in many years. It is estimated by the best informed citizens that St. Clair county has more corn than it will require to supply the people, and very near enough meat to do them. There is a larger acreage planted to wheat than has been in fifteen years.

Go and Do Likewise.

Mr. C. A. Williamson has just finished killing his hogs. Out of four 15-months-old pigs he netted 1,340 pounds, and a 2-year-old yielded him 660 pounds. He thinks he has also about twenty-five gallons of lard. These porkers were raised right here in Tuskegee and at a small cost. Mr. Williamson is 73 years old, but with only the aid of a boy he raised last year seven bales of cotton, 100 bushels of sweet potatoes, thirty-six gallons of syrup and 150 bushels of corn, fifty bushels of oats, besides peas, fodder and ground peas. And all this yield was from twenty-three acres of ground. And yet able-bodied sneaks are going about begging.

Horribly Burned.

Every year women and children in Selma and vicinity are horribly burned by their clothes catching from an open grate. The first victim for this season is Sylvia Roan living on Sylvan street. The woman was standing with her back to the grate about noon today when her dress caught fire. Officer Eddy and Mr. John Briggs heard her screams and running in found the poor woman, her clothing almost burned off, running wildly and aimlessly from room to room setting everything on fire as she went. The officer grabbed a quilt and with considerable difficulty with Mr. Briggs's assistance smothered the flames, not, however, until the clothing almost up to the armpits was burned away. The woman was horribly burned, and the chances are that she will not recover.

Lieutenant Hay Acquitted.

Official notification has been received at Mobile of the acquittal of Third Lieutenant W. H. O. Hay, of the revenue cutter McLane, and formerly of the revenue cutter Forward, stationed at Mobile port, on the last court martial ordered to try charges of scandalous conduct and drunkenness, and conduct unbecoming an officer and man of integrity. He was acquitted on all three charges, and not one of the specifications was proven. This is the fourth time that Lieutenant Hay has been courtmartialed, and he has come out triumphantly every time with a single exception, when he was set back a few numbers in his rating. It is understood that he has recently passed his examination for promotion, and that he obtained 90 per cent. on that examination.

GENERAL NEWS SUMMARY.

Compiled and Condensed for the Convenience of Our Readers.

CREMATED IN THEIR RESIDENCES.

Fire From Natural Gas Flashes Through a Residence and of Ten Occupants Six Perish in the Flames—A Boiler Explodes—Diamond Thief Captured.

WESTERN.

At Creston, Ka., fire Friday destroyed a block of thirteen business houses, including the Summit house; loss $200,000; insurance $50,000.

The power house of the Arkadelphia (Ark.) Power and Light company was destroyed by fire Saturday morning. Loss, $60,000; insurance small.

At Sheboygan, Wis. on Sunday, fire caused $100,000 damage to the stocks stored in the cold storage company's warehouse, among the rest 10,000 boxes of cheese, valued at $60,000, owned by Geo. S. Bart & Co., of New York, and local firms.

Wednesday morning a Nickel Plate passenger train crashed into a sleigh at Clay Pool, Ind. The cutter and two men were hurled several yards. William Doddridge, a druggist, was instantly killed and Daniel Rhodes, a weathy farmer, had his skull crushed. He will die.

The main part of the Franklin county, O., Children's home was damaged by fire at 5 a. m, Friday to the amount of about $25,000. The east and west wings remain intact. One hundred and thirty children were safely marched out and will soon be provided for in the wings. The fire originated near the top of the building and from a cause not yet known.

Fire in the plant of the Chicago Forge and Bolt company did $75,000 damage Saturday. The plant is owned by the American Bridge company and is an auxiliary to the latter. The forge department, a building 450 by 80 feet, was practically destroyed. John Bergstrom, an employe who was asleep in the forge room, was critically burned.

At Toledo, O., fire was discovered Saturday morning in the basement of the Franklin, Hubbard & Co. leather house, in the heart of the business district. The extreme cold weather interfered with the service of the fire department as the lines of hose froze as fast as laid. The fire was still burning fiercely and the loss was estimated at the hour when this dispatch was sent to be $75,000.

Cincinnati received a New Year's gift of twelve square smiles of territory, increasing the area from 24½ square miles to 36½, and increasing the population to 355,000. It also increases the tax duplicate $11,000,000, which is about 5 per cent. increase; it also increases the bonded debt about $1,500,000, which is likewise an increase of about 5 per cent. The villages annexed are Linwood, Avondale, Clifton, Westwood and Riverside, five villages, with an aggregate population of 16,000.

On Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock a boiler in the basement of a printing office in St. Louis, Mo., exploded. A large lot of fireworks in the rear part of a building just across an alley exploded immediately afterward. The two buildings were wrecked. The loss of life is yet only partly known. Six bodies have been taken from the debris. Nineteen persons are missing, and about forty injured, some of whom are not expected to recover.

SOUTHERN.

At Waco, Tex., the wholesale and retail hardware and machinery firm of Ed Strauss was totally destroyed by fire Saturday night. Loss, $60,000; insurance, $41,000. The firm was one of the largest of its kind in central Texas.

A. K. Ward, who stands indicted for forgery of paper aggregating nearly $200,000, pleaded not guilty in the criminal court of Memphis, Tenn., Friday. Ward was remanded back to jail to await trial, the date of which has not yet been fixed.

William Conners, alias J. J. Williams, who, with a confederate, one John McGowan, is charged with a $10,000 diamond robbery at Jackson, Miss., in February last, has been captured by a Pinkerton detective in Louisville, Ky. McGowan, who was captured by the same detective in Memphis, soon after the robbery, is now in the Mississippi penitentiary.

Fire Thursday night totally destroyed two barns belonging to Mrs. Tal Morgan, one mile from Pulaski, Tenn. A. J. Chatterton, who lived on the place, lost about $300 worth of corn and hay. There was no insurance. The barns valued at $500, were insured. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. These make four barns that have been burned within a radius of a half mile during the last month, and all are supposed to have been set on fire.

EASTERN.

At Belfast, Me., Saturday night, fire destroyed Crosby Inn, the largest hotel in the city. Loss, $50,000; insured.

At Haverford, Pa., on Sunday the Marion Cricket club house, and the casino attached, were completely destroyed by fire, involving a loss of $100,000; insurance, $85,000. The origin is unknown.

At Hazelton, Pa., Pardee & Co.'s cranberry colliery was entirely destroyed by an incendiary fire Friday night, and a number of adjacent buildings were burned. The flames did not spread to the mines.

In Philadelphia, Saturday night, fire destroyed a three-story building at 518 South Third street, occupied by a number of families. Harris Levi and Max Fitzburg were burned to death, the others escaping with slight injuries.

J. B. Lewis Co.'s WEAR RESISTER SHOES Lead All Others FOR Wear, Style, Ease, Comfort. For Lowest Prices. FOR SALE BY H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

A. B. CLAUGHTON, Physician and Surgeon, MONTEVALLO, ALA. Office in store of H. C. & W. B. Reynolds.

Wanted

An Intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

J. M. REYNOLDS, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

IF YOU ARE GOING TO THE ATLANTA EXPOSITION

And want a first-class hotel at $2.00 per day, go to the

VICTORIA HOTEL

Nos. 30-32-34 S. Pryor St

Half a Block from Car Shed.

Cars pass the door every 5 minutes for the exposition grounds

This hotel has accommodations for 1,000 guests per day. Don't forget the place,

VICTORIA HOTEL, 30 South Pryor St., ATLANTA, - GA.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Store!!!

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

CAWTHON & COLEMAN, Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by.... M. BORN & CO. The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT. LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

MILLINERY AND NOTIONS!

I carry a full line of Fall and Winter Hats and Notions, which were bought from the largest dealers in the United States.

Satisfaction guaranteed.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY, MONTEVALLO, ALA.

The Most Pleasant Way

Of preventing the grippe, colds, headaches, and fevers is to use the liquid laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, whenever the system needs a gentle, yet effective cleansing. To be benefited one must get the true remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only. For sale by all druggists in 50c. and $1 bottles.

Spanish Africa comprises a territory equal in size to Colorado and Nevada.

Earliest Vegetables Always Pay.

That's so, the editor hears Mr. Market Gardner say. Well, why don't you have them? Simply because you don't plant Salzer's Northern grown seeds. His vegetables are bred to earliness and they never disappoint you. Salzer is the largest grower of vegetables, farm seeds, grasses, clovers, potatoes, etc.

IF YOU WILL CUT THIS OUT AND SEND IT TO the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., with 10c. postage, you will get sample package of Early Bird Radish (ready in 16 days) and their great catalogue. Catalogue alone, 5c. postage. (A. C.)

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

A Beautiful Complexion.

There is no person on earth but what would like to have a nice complexion. This is especially true with the ladies. There is no way to secure it by cosmetics. The trouble lies deeper. It is in the system. Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy will invigorate the system and give you a beautiful complexion. It is harmless and never fails to accomplish results. It will not only give you a beautiful complexion but perfect health. Price 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflamation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

Every Mother Should Always Have a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic. Nothing so good for pain, weakness, colds and sleeplessness

After six years' suffering, I was cured by Piso's Cure.—MARY THOMSON, 29 1-2 Ohio Ave., Allegheny, Pa., March 19, 1894.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

England has an area of 51,000 square miles, or a little smaller than Arkansas.

THE MOST SIMPLE AND SAFE REMEDY for a Cough or Throat Trouble is "Brown's Bronchial Troches." They possess real merit.

There are in Ohio about 17,500 oil wells, of which more than 3,000 were bored in 1894.

Now is the Time to Cure Your Corns with Hindercorns. It takes them out perfectly and gives comfort. Ask your druggist. 15c.

Hood's

Sarsaparilla has over and over again proved itself the best blood purifier medical science has ever produced. It cures when other medicines utterly fail. Its record is unequalled in the history of medicine. Its success is based upon its intrinsic merit. Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, mild, effective. All druggists. 25c.

World's Fair! HIGHEST AWARD.

IMPERIAL GRANUM

Is Pure and unsweetened and can be retained by the weakest stomach. A safe, easily digested FOOD for DYSPEPTICS!

Sold by DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE! John Carle & Sons, New York.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. DR. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Am. N. U. No. 2, 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

NOTES OF THE DAY.

A Malay opera troupe is on its way from Polynesia to London, where it will perform "Rishi Sha Hirzan," described as a national opera.

Prospectors are very much elated over a find of unfading green and purple slate just north of Castleton, Vt., which they say is very valuable.

On account of local opposition the monument to John Brown, which it was proposed to erect at Harper's Ferry, will not be built at present.

Pension Agent Millisen of Maine has received 2,026 applications for State pensions, an increase of about 500 over the number received last year.

Thirty years ago, it is said, England had 20,000 miles of toll roads and 1,047 turnpike roads. There are now no tolls and the roads are better than they were then.

Beerbohm's estimate of the world's wheat crop indicates a total of 2,395,000,000 bushels for 1895, compared with 2,558,000,000 in 1894 and 2,458,000,000 in 1893.

One of the meanest white men on recent record is a fellow in New York, who, after playing poker some half dozen times with four friends, had them arrested for gambling.

Bears are becoming quite numerous in the region of Gardner's Lake, Vermont. One farmer met one on the road recently, and another resident has had several sheep killed by them.

A Vermont trapper has just received an order from a Montreal party for 1,000 live skunks. Just what the party wants them alive for the trapper cannot understand, but he says that he shall fill the order.

Indiana will celebrate in 1900 the one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the government of the territory of Indiana. A commission was appointed under a concurrent resolution of the last Legislature to fix plans for a Sate exposition.

They are telling a queer tale of a man in Orono, Me., who for many months has been hoarding gold in the hope that a series of flurries in the bond and currency markets or a change in administrative methods would give it a premium, from which he could realize a fortune.

The granite pedestals for the equestrian statues of General Winfield Scott Hancock and General George G. Meade, to be erected on the Gettysburg battle field, have been shipped from the quarries at Westerly, R. I. The pedestal for the Meade statue consists of three large stones weighing in the neighborhood of seventy-nine tons.

One of the residents in Greenfield, Conn., has an antique wooden clock which is peculiar in having a very erratic method of keeping time which is all its own. The house is near a railroad and whenever a train passes the clock starts and runs for a while. Then it stops and waits for the next train to pass before taking up its work again.

Jack Grisby, of Lawrenceburg, N. Y., was engaged in storing pumpkins in the loft of his barn and his 5-year-old girl was standing near by watching him. A large pumpkin, weighing about thirty pounds, rolled from the loft, and, falling, struck the girl in her upturned face, bending her head suddenly backward, breaking her neck and causing instant death.

There are 434 Federal licenses permitting the sale of liquor in Vermont, or about one for every 784 inhabitants. Burlington has sixty-three, Brattleboro ten, or one for every 686 people. Barre has one for every 223 and Montpelier one for every 244. Rutland has one for every 405. All this in a State where the prohibitory law is supposed to be impartially enforced.

There is complaint in the small towns and in the rural districts of England that it is difficult and frequently impossible to get a glass of cider at the public houses. The reason is that many of these public houses have fallen into the hands of the big brewers through mortgages, and the new owners allow their tenants to sell no drinks that will decrease the sale of beer.

The city of Manchester, England, already owns the tracks of the street railways within its boundaries, and is about to petition parliament for authority to operate the railways themselves, on the expiration of the lease to the companies now operating them, which will be within a few months. Glasgow and Birmingham already operate municipal street railways with success.

The Supreme Court at Washington has decided, in a Custom House case that beans are a vegetable, not seed.

Sarsaparilla Sense.

Any sarsaparilla is sarsaparilla. True. So any tea is tea. So any flour is flour. But grades differ. You want the best. It's so with sarsaparilla. There are grades. You want the best. If you understood sarsaparilla as well as you do tea and flour it would be easy to determine. But you don't. How should you ?

When you are going to buy a commodity whose value you don't know, you pick out an old established house to trade with, and trust their experience and reputation. Do so when buying sarsaparilla.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been on the market fifty years. Your grandfather used Ayer's. It is a reputable medicine. There are many sarsaparillas. But only one Ayer's. IT CURES.

THE ARTICHOKE.

The artichoke is not the real plant of this name, but a species of the sunflower family, having flowers of the same kind, but smaller. It grows from a tuberous root, much like a potato in shape and character when cooked and eaten. There are two varieties, one having a red-skinned tuber, and the other a white-skinned one. There is no difference otherwise. The variation in color is believed to be due to the soil, and possibly climate. It is a very much overrated plant; it affords some hardly earned food for pigs, who dig out the roots and feed on the tubers, but when left to nature or to grow wild, the product is quite insignificant, and a crop of potatoes well cultivated or one of corn will be much more profitable.—New York Times.

ROOFING WITH STRAW.

Shingles make the best roof, and when durability is required they are the cheapest material. But there are often times when temporary sheds have to be put up for the shelter of stock, and as the building is not designed as a permanent structure a cheaper covering is desirable. Straw piled over a frame work considerably higher in the middle than at either side will shed or absorb all the rain that falls in fall or winter. It will do this more perfectly if the straw is laid in straight rows up to the center of the roof and bound together by small strings. This is the European method of thatching, which protect not only hay and grain in the stack, but many buildings used as dwellings, A thatch of straw will make good protection for eight or ten years, before which time it will have paid for itself and for the labor in making a new one.—Boston Cultivator.

RECOVERED FROM TUBERCULOSIS.

We have just heard of the following facts in connection with the use of tuberculine: Three cows were tested several years ago and gave the usual reaction. They were taken out of the regular stable and put into sunny box stalls and given the best sanitary conditions. The following year they were tested again and again reacted; the next year they were again tested, but failed to react. After they were slaughtered an examination of the lungs showed that the disease had been stopped—the scars or marks showing how far it had gone. This suggests two things: Sunshine and a perfect sanitary condition is the best "consumption cure." Many herds are undoubtedly weakened and made more liable to the disease by being kept in dark, filthy and poorly ventilated stables. Another thought is that while tuberculin may prove an accurate test for the presence of the disease, it does not follow that every cow that shows the reaction should be killed at once. A cow may have the germs of the disease in her system and yet be so well cared for that she will entirely recover.—Rural New Yorker.

COLD STORAGE FOR APPLES.

Anent the recent progress in the matter of prolonging the season of fruits by means of cold storage, Professor Craig, of the experiment farm at Ottawa, Canada, thinks that the time may soon come when winter apples may not be a necessity, as fall apples can be kept in perfect condition until the next summer. This is entirely practicable, but as winter apples are quite as easily grown as summer or autumn apples, there seems no need of dispensing with either. At the Columbian Exposition, in the New York fruit exhibit, there were shown at the opening of the exhibition, and for some weeks after, perfect specimens of the sweet bough, sour bough, fall pippin, pound sweet and others, and they kept as long after being removed from the cold storage as they would have kept in the summer or fall without having been thus stored. In other words, contrary to the generally accepted idea, the cold storage in no way impaired their keeping qualities. It would certainly be very pleasant to be able to have a supply of primate, Chenango strawberry, gravenstein and fall pippin through the winter. The problem to solve is to make central cold storage plants in fruit-growing neighborhoods, where business enough can be secured to make them profitable, operated by the ammonia process. Ice methods will not answer. To fill the modern demand, they must be able to freeze fresh meats, fish and poultry in one room, while keeping fruit at thirty degrees Fahrenheit in another.—American Agriculturist.

DEMAND FOR FIVE-WEEKS-OLD CHICKENS.

At a large stock farm in Maryland, where a specialty is made of poultry, it is stated that 20,000 young chickens have been marketed in the year past, and that a single hotel in New York City would be glad to make a contract for the entire production. A "baby white" Plymouth Rock "broiler" is said to be the especial favorite, and one explanation of the manner in which they have come to be so popular is thus given by the Rural New Yorker: "A few years ago the family of one of our American millionaires went to Paris and ate a dinner at which little birds were served—one for each guest. They were smaller than ordinary broilers, one whole one providing about meat enough for each person. This seemed like an agreeable fad, and when they returned to America this family demanded these little birds in place of broilers. This fashion has spread among the rich until a plump chicken five weeks old will often sell for as much as a large broiler. Of course this means a gain to the feeder of at least a month's feeding. It just illustrates how changes in fashion strike below the surface into the production of articles of food. The rich and fastidious demand delicacies—fruits, vegetables and meats out of their natural season. This demand stimulates inventive genius, and men are found who invent the appliances needed to produce the artificial conditions required to grow plants and animals out of their seasons. These appliances are improved and extended until what was once a luxury becomes cheapened to a necessity, and rich and poor alike enjoy it. That is the history of forced fruits and vegetables, broilers, hothouse lambs, etc."

BLINDERS FOR HORSES.

When blind bridles were first introduced as part of the furnishings with which to guide and control the horse's movements, a valid reason no doubt existed for their use and adoption, but why, in the light of long experience, for the best interests of the horse and often for the safety of his driver, they have not long ago been discarded is a problem not easy of solution. If their continued use is because of a supposed attractiveness to the headgear or as a matter of fancy, the preference is entitled to some degree of respect, for there is no law, moral or statutory, in this or any other civilized country, that prohibits the gratification of one's desires, provided his neighbor's rights are respected. But this circumstance, important as it may seem, falls far short of overbalancing the dangers incurred and the injuries inflicted upon the eyes of the horse by the use of blinds.

High-strung and fractious horses, accustomed to blinds, nearly always become unmanageable if an open bridle be put upon them or by accident the blinds get misplaced while being driven, and serious ailments to the eyes have been traced to misfitting and badly adjusted blinds. The horse's comfort in a great many cases is sadly interfered with by carelessness in fitting the blinds to the head, they being often so close as to shut out his vision almost entirely. A partial glimpse of an object in the road that in full view would seem harmless to him frequently causes a fright to the horse that ends in a runaway. Open bridles afford an unobstructed view of surroundings, and horses accustomed to wear them rarely shy while being driven unless, indeed, the eyes are impaired, which would constitute a sufficient demand for their use.

The time to begin the discontinuance of the use of blinds is when the horse is young and is being first trained to work. They should never be put on him. It would probably be unsafe in many cases to make the change with a high-spirited horse or one that is nervous and that has always been accustomed to them. With many, however, it would make no difference. Unfamiliar sights and a full view of surrounding objects would cause some horses to become unmanageable, while to one that has always been accustomed to the free use of his eyes such things as are unusual and would otherwise startle him would not be noticed. This of itself is an imperative reason for abolishing the blinds. Upon young horses, intended for the road and family driving, the farm or the team, they should never be used at all. Between the two evils—the checkrein and the blind bridle—undesirable consequences in view, the latter is far the worst in its results, for while the abuse of the much-talked-about checkrein is greatly to be deplored, and its use is often linked with cruelty and want of judgment, some such arrangement is absolutely required in driving horses that are liable to stumble and for keeping them out of mischief while standing. The humane use of the checkrein is indispensable in many cases, but for blind bridles there is no earthly need or excuse.—National Harness Review.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

A careless person cannot make good butter.

The study of the farmer should be his farm.

The best butter ever made will not sell well in an unattractive package.

The best milk cows come into the world as calves between October 1 and February 1.

Feed the skim milk to the calves and pigs when it is fresh from the separator, warm and sweet.

It has been found that cows with daily access to salt give fourteen per cent. more milk than when deprived of it.

Clean up and burn all rubbish in the orchard as soon as possible; by so doing great numbers of insects will be destroyed.

Never select a cow for her beauty of form or color. The quality and quantity of the milk she yields measure her value.

It makes no difference where a tree originated. If it is adapted to any given locality, it can be grown there with profit.

DIDN'T NEED A DEED.

The Native Could Prove His Right to the Claim.

Within a few miles of the North Carolina State line I stopped at a poverty-stricken cabin to smoke a pipe and chat for a few minutes with the tallest and raggedest native I ever saw in the South, says a writer. It was evident from the looks of things that he was at hard-pan and below, and after some general talk I queried:

"Why don't you go at it and fix up your cabin so as to make it comfortable?"

"It does dook shaklety, and that's a fact," he replied, "but I'm trying to sell out, yo' see."

"Is that the reason you have no crops?"

"Yes, that's the reason."

"And how much land do you own here?"

"Wall, sah, I can't 'zactly say how much, but a powerful lot, I reckon."

"But don't you know where your boundary lines begin and end?"

"They might begin down thar' by the creek and eand up thar' by that big tree," he replied in doubtful tones.

"Your deed ought to show," I said.

"Yes, but I hain't got any deed."

"Didn't you get a deed when you bought this property?"

"No, sah—no deed."

"Then how can you say you own it?"

"How kin I say, sah—how kin I say?" he repeated. "Why, sah, I cum 'long yere arter the wah and liked the looks of the place and squatted on it. Since that time three different critters hev cum up from Maisonville to hist me off, and I hev killed two and wounded the t'other and held right on. If that hain't ownin' the property then I'd like to know! No, sah, I hain't got no deed, but I hev got a double-barreled shotgun, and I reckon thar' won't be any disputes about ownership when I find a critter who wants to buy!"

Comes to stay.

There is more than one food which will cause the body to increase in weight. A free supply of sugar will do this; so will the starchy foods; cream, and some other fats. But to become fleshy, and yet remain in poor health, is not what you want. Cod-liver oil increases the weight because it is a fat-producing food. But it does far more than this. It alters, or changes, the processes of nutrition, restoring the normal functions of the various organs and tissues.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil, with hypophosphites, is pure cod-liver in a digested condition. So that, when a person gains in weight from taking Scott's Emulsion, it is because of two things: First, the oil has acted as a fat-producing food; and, second, it has restored to the body a healthy condition. Such an improvement is permanent: it comes to stay.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been endorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Put up in 50-cent and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby.

DROPSY Treated free. Positively CURED with Vegetable Remedies. Have cured many thousand cases pronounced hopeless. From first dose symptoms rapidly disappear, and in ten days at least two-thirds of all symptoms are removed. BOOK of testimonials of miraculous cures sent FREE. TEN DAYS TREATMENT FURNISHED FREE by mail DR. H. H. GREEN & SONS, Specialists, Atlanta, Ga.

ASTHMA

POPHAM'S ASTHMA SPECIFIC

Gives relief in FIVE minutes. Send for a FREE trial package. Sold by Druggists. One Box sent postpaid on receipt of $1.00. Six boxes $5.00. Address THOS. POPHAM, PHILA., PA.

RIPANS TABULES

Because he had palpitation of the heart, Mr. A. J. Allen determined to quit smoking. He thought the tobacco habit was the cause of his trouble, but when he ceased smoking the pulsations of the heart were more violent than ever. Mr. Allen is a registered chemist of Lynn, Mass., and at second thought he concluded that, if tobacco wasn't the cause, it must be acute dyspepsia. His knowledge of chemistry naturally prompted him to take Ripans Tabules, well knowing their efficacy in disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. Quick relief followed, and now there is no more distress in the region of his heart. But the remarkable part of Mr. Allen's experience follows: He decided to forego smoking anyhow, and discovered that Ripans Tabules not only satisfied the longing for tobacco, which all smokers are familiar with, but at first he actually looked forward with pleasure to the three periods each day when he took the Tabules. Mr. Allen no longer smokes, and has no desire to, nor does he take the Tabules. He is a well man, and does not need medicine of any kind. Mr. Allen believes Ripans Tabules will prove a powerful aid to any man who desires to abandon the tobacco habit.

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (5 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

"Blight"

costs cotton planters more than five million dollars annually. This is an enormous waste, and can be prevented. Practical experiments at Alabama Experiment Station show conclusively that the use of will prevent that dreaded plant disease.

"Kainit"

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing the results of latest experiments in this line. Every cotton farmer should have a copy. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS, 93 Nassau St., New York.

Second Hand

TUERK WATER MOTOR

For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to

Atlanta Newspaper Union, ATLANTA, GA.

DON'T SCRATCH

TO AVOID THIS USE TETTERINE

The ONLY painless and harmless CURE for the worst type of Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, ugly rough patches on the face, crusted scalp. Ground itch, chafes, chaps, pimples. Poison from ivy or poison oak. In short ALL ITCHES. Send 50c. in stamps or cash to J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga., for one box, if your druggist don't keep it.

THE AERMOTOR CO. does half the world's windmill business, because it has reduced the cost of wind power to 1/3 what it was. It has many branch houses, and supplies its goods and repairs at your door. It can and does furnish a better article for less money than others. It makes Pumping and Geared, Steel, Galvanized-after-Completion Windmills, Tilting and Fixed Steel Towers, Steel Buzz Saw Frames, Steel Feed Cutters and Feed Grinders. On application it will name one of these articles that it will furnish until January 1st at 1/3 the usual price. It also makes Tanks and Pumps of all kinds. Send for catalogue. Factory: 12th, Rockwell and Fillmore Streets, Chicago.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Grey Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

SPECTACLES. If you wear them, or need them, or have trouble with your eyes, apply for my Treatise on the Eye, Test Sheets and Catalog, sent free. F. B. GREENE, Optician, Boothbay Harbor, Me.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

·Absolutely Pure-Delicious-Nutritious·

The Breakfast Cocoa MADE BY WALTER BAKER & CO. LIMITED DORCHESTER, MASS.

COSTS LESS THAN ONE CENT A CUP. NO CHEMICALS.

ALWAYS ASK YOUR GROCER FOR WALTER BAKER & CO'S. BREAKFAST COCOA MADE AT DORCHESTER, MASS. IT BEARS THEIR TRADE MARK LA BELLE CHOCOLATIÈRE ON EVERY CAN.

·AVOID IMITATIONS·

To Health

A POINTER:

Use BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.

GUARANTEE

Purchase Money refunded should Brown's Iron Bitters taken as directed fail to benefit any person suffering with Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fever, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Biliousness, Female Infirmities, Impure Blood, Weakness, Nervous Troubles, Chronic Headache or Neuralgia. More than 4,000,000 bottles sold—and only $2.00 asked for and refunded.

[SEAL.] BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. I. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1896. NO. 43.

Good Night.

Good night, dear; under the moon
The lovely nightingale sings her tune
And the rose-trees, reft of the flowers of June,
Sigh that the twilight falls so soon.
Good night.

Good morning, dear; the sunlight glows
O'er waking lily and lingering rose,
And every woodland walk one knows
Gleams in the glory the dewdrop throws.
Good morning.

Goodby, dear; low in the sky
Green and daffodil colors lies.
Are there more lovers, who silently
Say, hand in hand, and eye to eye.
Goodby?

—Household Words.

The Lesson He Learned.

BY HELEN FORREST GRAVES.

"I'm going to put a stop to this sort of thing!" said Mr. McElroy. "If I don't, I shall certainly come to the poorhouse. I have't saved money all these years to rain it down on people's heads as if it was hailstones. No, Delinda, I haven't got five dollars to spare. Your bonnet is quite good enough to wear for a month longer. Everybody else has got theirs? Well, if everybody else is fools, that ain't no reason that you should be. Six dollars for a subscription to help buy the new minister's furniture? Not if I know it, James. When I came to Bloodville I bought my own furniture, and there's no reason that new minister shouldn't do the same thing. The grocer's book? I never saw anything like the way our housekeeping bills runs up! It 'ud be a deal cheaper, so far as I can see, to go to New York and board at the Windsor Hotel than to live here, unless you and Sarah can manage a little more economically, Matthew. And as for those singing lessons that Lucy wants to take, you may tell her no!"

"Lucy thought—" meekly began Matthew Starling.

But his uncle interrupted him curtly:

"You may tell her no! And that ends the question!"

John McElroy was a man who had in the local dialect, "saved a lot of money." Being a great deal too economical to marry, he had invited a lame nephew, Matthew Starling, to come with his family and keep house in the old red homestead, and thereafter took credit to himself for supporting all the Starlings, although Matthew toiled diligently at his trade of shoemaking, and James the eldest son, managed the farm with skill and success, while Mrs. Starling and her two daughters, Lucy and Delinda, were the model dairy-women and best managers of the vicinity.

In an evil hour Matthew Starling had borrowed a thousand dollars from Uncle John, to pay off an old debt.

He had kept up the interest pretty regularly, but it would have been about as easy for him to pay off the national debt as to discharge on obligation of a thousand dollars; and in this way Uncle McElroy contrived to keep him ground down into the very dust.

Had it not been for this thousand-dollar debt, the Starling family would have crept out from under the harrow of Uncle John's tongue and temper long ago.

"It don't seem as if we could stand it," said Mrs. Starling, plaintively.

"I don't care how much he scolds me," said Delinda, "but he has no business to tyrannize so dreadfully over poor mother."

"If I could only raise money enough to take a quarter's singing lessons, I could earn a hundred dollars a year in the church choir," said Lucy.

"If!" said James, laughing. "That's a big word, Loo, for such a little one. If Uncle John would only let me plant a crop of tobacco up in the south field, I am sure I could raise twice as much money as the turnips will bring us. But Uncle John sticks to old traditions, and that little if stands in the way. I only wish that the farm were mine!"

The housekeeping book was particularly aggrevating that morning, and Mrs. Starling had shed a few quiet tears before the interview was over.

"I hate whining women," said Mr. McElroy, "and I hate extravagant ones?"

"I try to do the best I can," said poor Mrs. Starling.

And when the book was flung wrathfully on the table, and when Mr. McElroy had dismissed his nephew's wife, he sat thinking.

"I'll do it!" he said, aloud. "I've had it in my mind for some time. I'll send these Starlings about their business. I'll put an end to these everlasting impositions of theirs. They only care for me just the length of my purse. They hate me, every one of 'em. I can see through 'em, dull as they think me!"

As he sat there, a lad came to the door, with a yellow envelope in his hand.

"A telegram for you," said he. "Twenty-five cents, please."

Mechanically, Mr. McElroy paid the money, and put on his round silver-mounted spectacles, as the lad sped away.

"I wonder who it can be from," said he.

It was very brief. It said:

"Stocks have fallen. Your money is all gone. Sorry, but could not stand against market.

"H. RAVEN & Co."

H. Raven & Co. Yes, that was the name of the Nashua Street firm to whose care his diligently-hoarded fortune had been consigned. He read the brief dispatch over and over again, as if it were impossible to comprehend its full meaning.

"I don't understand," he repeated to himsel—"I don't understand. I thought those stocks were safe enough. I only believed what those scoundrels told me themselves. Stocks fallen! My money all gone! What will become of me now?"

His head fell forward on his folded arms on the window-sill; he uttered a groan which seemed to come from the very depths of his heart.

"I am a poor man!" he faltered. "As poor as old Jim Watson, the clock-mender; as poor as Matthew Starling himself. The saving of years have all gone at once; and I am a poor man!"

"Uncle McElroy, don't mind it," said the cheerful voice of Matthew Starling, when at last he had mustered courage to tell his trouble, and sat with his head supported on his head at the table, with a face drawn and pinched as if he had just recovered from a long sickness. "I'm doing well at my trade just now. Herbert Long has promised to take me into partnership at his new shoe store, at Bloodville Corners, and you shall never feel the loss of your money while I can handle an axe or draw a thread."

"Never feel the loss of my money!" vaguely repeated McElroy. "The man talks like a fool."

But neverthelss, there was a grain of comfort in the words.

"And, after all, Uncle John," consolingly whispered Mrs. Starling, "money isn't everything. You'll see how nicely we shall contrive to live. I'll take a boarder two, if you don't object. Your comfort shall not be interfered with in the least degree; and we may even manage to save a little at the year's end."

Tears came into Mr. McElroy's dim, blue eyes.

"You always did have a good heart. Sarah," said he; "but I wonder how you can have any patience left with me, after the times I've scolded you for half a pound extra of coffee, or a nutmeg!"

"And I am going to take in dress-making!" declared Delinda. "Oh, you'll see, Uncle John—you will live like a gentleman. You needn't think that we have lived on your generosity all these years, not to try and repay it now."

"I! Generosity!" said Uncle John hardly certain whether the words were in serious earnest.

But no, there was no covert light of sarcasm in Delinda's bright, brown eyes as she bent caressingly over him. It was real love, real gratitude that sparkled there.

"It's just as they all say," declared James, the stalwart young farmer. "We owe everything to you, uncle John, and we don't forget it. And if you don't want tobacco crops raised on the place, I'm blessed if you shan't have your own way. Not a leaf shall be grown. But I really think we can do pretty well with a vineyard on the side hill, now that grapes are bringing such a profit, instead of using it as a sheep-pasture."

And Lucy brought him a letter.

"It is from Mr. Grover, uncle," said she. "He offers to give me singing-lessons for nothing, if I will help with the Sunday-school music; and then, pretty soon I shall be able to earn money for you, too. Dear uncle" with tears in her eyes "we have all loved you, only we didn't dare to tell you how much. If—if you would only let me kiss you, Uncle John!"

The old man clasped her in his arms with tears streaming down his wrinkled cheeks.

"I don't care for the money," he faltered. "Let the money go, if you will only love me like this. I never was happier in my life! I know now what that feeling is that has been chilling and freezing me all my life. It was my heart starving to death! Yes, yes, we'll begin the world over again, children—you and I. We'll begin to enjoy ourselves at last."

They were sitting talking in the dusk of the evening, when there came a knock at the door. It was the telegraph lad, breathless with haste.

"I've made a mistake," said he. "I've left the dispatch at the wrong place. It was for Mr. McAlbin, at the hotel down the street. There wasn't no dispatch come for Mr. McElroy, at all. Please to give me back the envelope!"

The family all looked at each other as the boy rushed down the road with his freight of evil tidings for some one else.

"And my money is all safe!" said Mr. McElroy, with a long breath—"all safe! It seems like a miracle, don't it? or a lesson sent direct from the Lord to try us. Well, it won't be thrown away on me. Jim, here is ten dollars to subscribe to the furniture fund.

"It's too much, sir," said James.

"No, it ain't," shouted Uncle McElroy. "Matthew, her's your note to me for $1,000. I make you a present of it."

He tore it in two as he spoke.

"Delinda shall have her new suit as quick as she and the milliner can settle matters between them," he continued. "Lucy shall take singing lessons and I'll buy an organ for her. And Sarah shall have a hired girl to lighten up the farm work a little. Hush don't say a word, one of you. That money has come back to me as if through a miracle, and I mean to enjoy it."

The next he went to the city and took his money out of the hands of Raven & Co.

"Allow us to advise you not to disturb it," said the senior partner. "We are just about to put it in some excellent mining stocks."

"Hang your mining stocks," said Mr. McElroy, "Government securities are the articles for me. Or else good, straight bonds and mortgages at six per cent."

For Mr. McElroy had learned more lessons than one in the course of the last 24 hours.—Saturday Night.

The Age of Deer.

It is difficult (writes our supposed Highland forester) to speak with certainty as to the age of deer; but we have undeniable testimony that there were in the old Glengarry forest stags upward of eighty years of age. Some maintain that deer attain the age of six and seven score years. In 1829 while Macdonnell of Glengarry and Lord Dunmore were hunting at Terrnacorra, a huge stage with gigantic antlers darted out of the wood. Glengarry shot him. Finding that it had a certain ear mark, he asked his forester to explain whose it was. "That," replied the forester, "is the ear mark of Eoghain MacIain-Oig." (Ewen-son-of-John-the-young.) Ewen was a noted forester, who had died 150 years previously! The antlers of the stag (we are told) were preserved in the old Glengarry family ever afterwards. —Scottish American.

A Dog for Mrs. Cleveland.

A black Japanese poodle, nine months old, and weighing but one and one-half pounds, has been presented to Mrs. Cleveland by August C. Kavel, an enthusiastic democratic admirer residing at Milwaukee. It is said to be the smallest pug dog in the United States, and is intended as a playmate for the children.—Washington Star.

Wail of the Defeated.

"Yes, sir, our town has turned out some great men in its day.

"Indeed?"

"Yes, sir; it turned me out."—Detroit Free Press.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

The tea plant is said to be a variety of the camelia.

A Frenchman declares he has discovered a process by which wood can be made palatable.

Ammoniated tincture of quinine is a more effectual antidote to bee stings than ammonia alone.

The leg bones of animals like the elephant are very heavy, indeed almost solid, being designed to support great weight.

The earthworm propels himself along the ground or through the earth by means of bristles projecting from each ring of his body.

Twenty-five per cent of all the babies born in Russia die before they are a year old, and forty-two per cent do not reach the age of four.

Japan will hereafter manufacture her own torpedoes; she is said to have one of Japanese invention that is far superior to the Whitehead.

New York physicians are experimenting with pure oxygen mixed with pure ether as an anæsthetic. It is said to be absolutely free from danger, but it is an explosive mixture.

Dr. Donaldson Smith, the explorer, has reached London after an extended exploration of the interior of Africa. He reports having found a tribe who are not over five feet high.

The smallest clock in the world, with a dial less than the third of an inch in diameter, and a driving weight suspended from a single human hair, has been exhibited by a jeweler in Gottingen.

All the copper tubes in the English torpedo boat destroyers of the reserve fleet at Portsmouth are to be taken out and galvanized steel tubes substituted. The copper fittings have broken down in a number of the boats that have been tested.

A long series of experiments, in which dogs were fed alternately with each substance during four consecutive periods, has shown, it is stated, that natural butter and manufactured oleomorgarine are practicably equal in digestibility and nutritive value.

Better Roads and Fewer Tramps.

There is special merit in the recommendation of the utilization of tramps for road-building. This would benefit the country in two ways. It would improve the roads and diminish the number of tramps. The latter now live on the country for nothing. They are our only leisure class, and they are supported in idleness by direct taxation. That taxation is levied upon the country farmers who feed the tramps and the city people who are held up on the street for the price of a night's lodging or of a cup of coffee. As a rule tramps are simply lazy frauds, many of them dangerous ones. Imprisonment without labor is no punishment for them, and for this reason most of the tramp laws are without terror for the tramp. Let them be arrested wherever they appear and put to road-making. Under this rule we would soon have either good roads or no tramps, and either consummation would be an unmixed blessing to the state.—Philadelphia Press.

Whale Skeleton Far Above Sea Level

The Rutland division of the Central Vermont Railroad crosses the mountains at Mount Holy, Summit Station, being 1,440 feet above sea level. Near that station, when the railroad was building, the tusks of a large American elephant were dug up. These are considered the greatest curiosities ever found in Vermont, and are today, or were very recently, reserved in the State capitol building. In the same collection of wonders may be seen the skeleton of an immense prehistoric whale which was found in the town of Charlotte in 1879, while some excavations were being made. The skeleton is that of a whale at least 150 feet in length. The place where it was found is exactly 150 feet above the present level of the sea.—San Francisco Examiner.

Not Uncommon.

Yeast—Men turn somersaults on horseback; I suppose long before we'll see them doing it on the bicycle.

Crimsonbeak—Why, man alive! that was the first thing I did on a wheel.—Yonkers Statesman.

Menagerie in the Ranks.

"There were some amusing sights at Vera Cruz when the French and Belgian troops were evacuating that city and leaving Mexico for their foreign home after the collapse of the attempt to place Maximilian on the throne," said General Joe Shelby the ex-cenfederate. "During their campaigns in Mexico these troops had been pretty nearly all over the interesting portions of that wonderful country, and as they continually saw new wonders they were continually selecting novelties to carry back home with them. They had collected specimens of pretty nearly everything animate and inanimate that was in the country and every company was loaded with them. They had young mountain lions, ant eaters, armadilloes, birds of rare plumage, little animals, and big ones and curios galore. quite enough to load many wagons. The officers never intended that the specimens should be carried away by the men, but they had hesitated to order them to dispose of their collections during their marching for fear there would be trouble.

"But when they were ready to embark and leave Mexican shores the brigades were marched down to the wharf. They were lined up and ordered to ground arms. Then came the second order to release all animals held captive by the men. They were lined up under the muzzles of the frowning cannon from the fort, and were unarmed, and there was nothing to be done but to obey the order, and the animals were released, and such a collection as went skipping off was a surprise to the officers who were in command.

"The men had the smaller animals concealed beneath their capes and coats, perched on their shoulders and hidden in every other manner imaginable, and the whole collection resembled the march of Noah's collection in the ark. The men grumbled at the order, which they declared was useless and unreasonable, but they obeyed and went away without their pets. There were loads of curiosities left lying in a promiscuous heap on the wharf after the men left it. It was one of the most novel sights I ever saw.—Kansas City Journal.

Keeping an Old Contract.

Many people wonder why the mail is taken from the general postoffice in this capital to the various railroad station in an ancient diligence. The Laredo Times, in a recent issue, gives the following reason:

"Before railroads were thought of a certain man made a perpetual contract with the government to carry the mails between Mexico City and El Paso. For many years his stage faithfully made the long journey until one day the Central railway between these two points was finished and the mails ordered sent by train. But the old contract was still in force, and the owner of the business, a son or grandson of the original contractor, firmly refused to relinquish his rights, and stated that he would carry the mails by stage, as usual. He held out until it was finally agreed that he should indeed take the mails from the general post but deliver them at the railway station a mile or so distant, for which he was to receive the same compensation called for in his contract for making the thousand mile trip to El Paso. And this is why the old stage coach carries the northern mails through the city from the post office to the railway station and back again. It may be old and out of date, but that contract is as fresh and vigorous as ever and cannot be set aside."—Mexican Herald.

An Aged Couple Parted.

Mrs. Amelia Darwin, aged 103 years, died at Black River Falls, Wis., recently. She had lived in that vicinity for about fifty years, and her age appears to be well authenticated. Her husband, who survives her, is reputed to be 107 years old. They were very generally known as the oldest couple in the West. Mrs. Darwin was born in Montreal in 1782, and was married to Lewis Darwin in 1807. Mr. Darwin is very feeble now, and it is not expected he will long survive his wife. —New York Sun.

Mr. Gladstone is editing a collection of 200,000 letters which he has received from all sorts of people during his long career.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Folly is simply pleasure which hurts.

Laughter's wrinkles mock those of time.

You can't be happy if you expect too much.

Theory makes laws for necessity to break.

Every man either has a hobby or the catarrh.

Fate means anything which gets the best of us.

Charity is something everybody else should have.

Egotism is harder to endure than tyranny or falsehood.

We are born crying, live complaining, and die disappointing.

A good character is in all cases the fruit of personal exertion.

Education is a better safe-guard to liberty than a standing army.

In forming a bad habit remember that it will be very hard to quit.

Every difficulty slurred over will be a ghost to disturb your repose later on.

The best education in the world is that got by struggling to get a living.

He that would be angry and sin not, must not be angry with anything but sin.

Learning without thought is labor lost; thought without learning is perilous.

Ambition thinks no face so beautiful as that which looks from under a crown.

Spare the ad and spoil the business is the new way of putting an old maxim.

Life, like the waters of the seas, freshens only when it ascends toward heaven.

The most violent passions have their intermissions; vanity alone gives us no respite.

A propensity to hope and joy is real riches, one to fear and sorrow real poverty.

He who always prefaces his tale with laughter is poised between impertinence and folly.—The Southwest.

Pottery 13,000 Years Old.

In digging out the colossal statue of Rameses II., nine feet and four inches of Nile mud had to be removed before the platform was reached. It is known that this platform was laid in the year 1361 B. C., when Rameses was still living. Therefore three and one-half inches of accumulated Nile mud represents the lapse of a century, it being known that 3,200 years have passed since the platform was put down. Under that platform was found thirty feet more of Nile mud, before the original sandy soil was reached; hence 10,000 years must have elapsed from the time of the Nile's first overflow down to the time of Rameses II. The curious part of the story is this: Pottery and fragments of the same were found on the original sandy soil thirty feet under the base of the statue, which shows that the Egyptians understood the potter's art not less than 13,000 years ago.—New York Advertiser.

Why There Are No Blue Roses.

A knowledge of one simple law in nature may save the flower-grower days and weeks of hard and unavailing labor in attempting to produce that famous chimera of the botanist—the blue rose. The law is simply this: The three colors, red, blue and yellow, never all appear in the same species of flowers; any two may exist, but never the third. Thus we have red and yellow roses, but no blue; red and blue verbenas, but no yellow; yellow and blue in the various members of the violet family, but no red. Other exples of this rigid law could be cited, but the above are sufficient. The botanist or floriculurist who really understands his business, never attempts to produce a blue rose or a red violet.—St. Louis Republic.

A Popular Demand for It.

"We ought to have a bicycle club," said Jinx.

"I think so myself," said Harkaway. "I wanted one the other day to smash my machine for keeps."—Puck.

The cost value of the paper annually made in all of the countries of the world exceeds $150,000,000.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, / L. N. BOWDON, \ Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

To the Trustees of the Industrial School.

The question of location of the Girl's Industrial school has been forever settled. Montevallo has come up to the requirements of the board of trustees and with that our work is ended. It is now a state institution controlled by its president and board of trustees. On them lies the responsibility for its success or failure. The burden has been shifted and we will wait to see if they will carry it through successfully. While we realize as private citizens we have little voice in its management we feel constrained to offer some suggestions be they worth much or little. In the first place suitable buildings must be erected. Only today we read of the Industrial school for negroes which is being erected near Anniston. Buildings for that school are to cost not less than $40,000. This money has been donated by a lady from Philadelphia. Can the great state of Alabama afford to start such a grand institution as an Industrial school for their daughters in cheap and inferior buildings. Is it possible that a Philanthropist from the north shall come in and without the aid of a dollar from the state inaugurate a more successful Industrial school for the negro race than we can with the state to aid us. We do not contend for fine buildings merely because they are ornimental to Montevallo. They are essential for the welfare and success of the school. From all over the state we have had enquiries as to when the school will open. It will be well patronized. To erect small insignificant buildings means to dwarf it from the start.

Twenty-five thousand dollars put in buildings at the start is little enough. We know the state is in debt but what of that. Look at the state of New York with a bonded debt of $200,000,000. Shall we stand back from the education of the daughters of our fair land for the paltry sum of a few thousand dollars. Alabama is too great a state to have such small ideas. This school means a power for good. To accomplish its aims it must be properly started. A proper start cannot be had in dwarfed and crowded buildings. Let the trustees consider this matter carefully.

How far can the human voice be heard, asks the Washington Pathfinder? It all depends on the conditions. If we had a pneumatic tube from here to London, perfectly smooth inside, it is probable our "smart set" could acquire the correct Bow Bells cockney dialect at first hands without ever going abroad for it. A man's voice calling "Bob" was recently heard for a distance of eighteen miles, through the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. The walls of the deep gorge confine the sound waves like a closed tube. Lieutenant Foster reports that, when in the Arctic regions, he conversed with a man at the distance of 6696 feet, or about a mile and a quarter. It is recorded that at Gibraltar the human voice has been heard ten miles. When there are no trees, hills or other obstructions to diffuse the sound, as in the Arctic regions or on the water, the voice, of course, has a good opportunity to be transmitted afar. In water it is probable sounds might be still farther heard. Colladon, by experiments in Lake Geneva, estimated that a bell rung under water at sea could be heard sixty miles. Every boy knows that when his head is under water, two stones cracked together by another boy make a sound that is painfully acute. Franklin found that he could hear this sound under water for a distance of half a mile, whereas in open air it would have been lost at a distance of a few rods.

About twenty-five years ago an English syndicate offered the Transvaal Government $800,000 for the exclusive right of all the mineral resources of that country, and the Government came very near selling it. It is estimated that the gold product of the region this year will be $50,000,000, but the Transvaal Government isn't getting it.

LIVE WASHINGTON NOTES.

The Coinage of Standard Silver Dollars to be Resumed.

COINAGE OF SUBSIDIARY SILVER

Must Await the Action of Congress. Organization of Naval Militia. Another Bank for Atlanta—Aransas Pass Appropriation Approved. Excluded from the Mails.

Aransas Pass Act Signed.

The president has signed the act providing for the improvement of Aransas Pass, Tex.

***

Fourth National for Atlanta.

Authority has been granted for the organization of the Fourth National bank of Atlanta, capital $400,000.

***

Approved by the President.

The president has approved the act extending to January 1, 1897, the time within which persons are entitled to purchase lands forfeited by statute.

***

Postoffice Robbers Arrested.

Col. D. M. Wheeler, chief postoffice inspector, has received a telegram from St. Louis anouncing the arrest there of Andrew Webb and Henry Irving, who were wanted for robbing the postoffice at Tahoma, O. T.

***

Denied the Use of Mails.

The postmaster-general has denied the privileges of the mails to Frank S. Thomas, alias the Southern Supply Company, alias Chattanooga Manufac. turing Company, alias Cowart Preserving Company, alias Mrs. Rachael V. Thomas, of Cowarts, Ala.

***

Coppinger to be Confirmed.

The senate committee on military affairs Thursday morning ordered a favorable report on the nomination of Colonel Coppinger to be brigadier-general. The action was taken by the unanimous vote of the committee.

***

Executive Clemency.

The president has granted a pardon to George McNabney, convicted in Missouri of counterfeiting and sentenced May 4, 1895, to eighteen months' imprisonment, and the sentence of eighteen months imposed on Eli Blackwell, convicted in Arkansas of counterfeiting, was commuted to one year.

***

Orders to Resume Silver Coinage.

Orders were sent by Mint Director Preston, by direction of Secretary Carlisle, to the mint superintendents at Philadelphia, New Orleans and San Francisco, to resume the coinage of silver dollars from the bullion purchased under the act of July 14, 1890. The amount of silver bullion to be coined monthly until further orders is $1,500,000, divided between the three mints as follows: Philadelphia, $900,000; New Orleans, $500,000; and San Francisco, $100,000. Under the act of 1890, the treasury had on hand $177,000,000 of silver bullion, against which there are $137,000,000 of notes outstanding. Of the bullion purchased under this act, $40,000,000 has been coined.

***

Naval Militia Organization.

The naval militia movement is growing steadily, according to information received at the navy department. The department has been advised that the Louisiana naval battalion has been organized with sixteen commissioned officers, twenty-one non-commissioned officers and 155 seamen, and that despite their disbandment by order of Governor Altgeld, the Chicago battalion has attained an unofficial organization of 300 men.

The department has also been informed that the governor of North Carolina has revoked the commission of Commander Frances Winslow, United States navy (retired), as commanding officer of the North Carolina naval battalion. Some dispute over the manner of rendering accounts was the basis for the governor's action.

***

The Venezuelan Commission.

In view of the pending request of the Venezuelan commission to the British government, Sir Julian's call at the state department on the Behring sea matter led to some comment as to Great Britain's probable answer to the letter of Justice Brewer, transmitted through Secretary Olney, but it is understood that the ambassador had no information to impart on this subject, and that the British foreign office has not given any intimation as yet as to its purpose. There is reason to believe, however, that there will be action on the Brewer letter within a month or more, as the request will go through the usual slow channels of diplomacy. The answer of Venezuela is expected to be delayed until about February 14, as the mail transmission of the request and answer will take until then.

***

As to Ships Foreign Built.

The sub-committee on shipping of the senate committee decided to report adversely the free shipping bill providing for the admission of foreign built ships to American registry. This bill had been recommended by the secretary of the treasury and the commissioner of navigation. The vote was unanimous, including the democratic members of the committee—Gorman, Murphy and White. The sub-committee authorized a favorable report on Senator Frye's bill to repeal the provision in the existing tonnage tax law which relieves the vessels of other countries from paying this tax when the governments of the countries to which the vessels belong similarly relieve our vessels. It is understood that the administration is favorable to this bill. It is regarded by some as an effort at retalliation against Germany for her exclusion of American products. Major Quinn, of the engineer corpse of the army, and J. W. Bryant were given a hearing upon the importance of Mississippi river improvement.

***

Silver to be Coined.

Secretary Carlisle has directed Mint Director Preston to prepare to coin standard silver dollars at the Philadelphia and New Orleans mints. The amount of coinage to be executed has not yet been determined, but probably not more than 7,000,000 standard silver dollars will be coined.

The seigniorage will also be declared and coined, and this will not make all told more than $10,000,000.

Two things will happen as the result of this decision to coin standard silver dollars, viz: the reopening of the New Orleans mint on a small scale and the continuance of coinage operations at the Philadelphia mint. Mr. Preston says that by Tuesday night next all the gold bullion at the Philadelphia mint will have been coined, and he does not think that any gold bullion will be transferred from the sub-treasuries or mints elsewhere to Philadelphia at present. As the appropriation for coining is well nigh exhausted, the force at Philadelphia would have been furloughed without pay unless the coinage of standard silver dollars, for which he had a sufficient appropriation, had been decided upon. There was, he said, pressing need for the coinage of subsidiary silver, and as soon as the necessary money was provided by congress this class of coinage would be resumed.

***

Behring Sea Commission.

Secretary Olney was called on Saturday by Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador, who submitted the final acceptance of the British government of the plan of a Behring sea commission to pass upon the claims of Canadian sealers seized prior to the Paris award. It remains only for the president to submit the plan to congress, and as the legislative branch has refused to pay a lump sum for the seizures, it is considered certain that the commission arrangement will be approved.

It is quite likely that the president, in submitting the plan to congress, may suggest once more the desirability of a lump payment as the most expeditious means of settlement, for the commission of arbitration, if agreed upon, may far exceed the lump sum proposed.

The commission is to be composed of one American commissioner, one British commissioner, and an umpire to be chosen by the two. The personnel of the commission has not been suggested, but there is a belief that the president of Switzerland will be asked to act as umpire, or some one designated by the Swiss president, if the sessions of the commission necessitate the presence of the umpire in this country.

OIL FLOWING FREELY.

Rich Strikes in the Cumberland Field—A Burning Well.

The excitement in the Tennessee oil fields is on the increase, and prospectors are at work in Scott, Putnam, Overton, Fentress, Pickett and Morgan counties. Wells are being drilled in all directions and there have hitherto been very few failures. Those wells which have proved to be "dusters" are being sunk deeper and with excellent prospects. Oil has been found at depths varying from 275 feet to 2,500 feet, in a strata of white sand in the limestone.

The Wiser Bros. drilled a 1,200 barrel gusher for the Southern Oil Company of Pennsylvania last Saturday morning. The gas pressure was so great that they could not screw the casing head down tight, as the great force would shoot the casing out of the well. With the casing head only half way down they filled a fifty barrel tank in one hour. At this juncture the gas caught fire and rig, tank and engine house were quickly reduced to ashes. The oil and flame shot up over the tree tops and at night illuminated the country for miles around. The oil flowed away from the well in a broad stream of liquid fire. Conservative estimates put the production at 1,200 barrels every twenty-four hours. The well is on the East Fork of Obey river, near Little Crab postoffice, which can be located on almost any map.

There are four other producing wells within a radius of four miles. There was no diminution of the oil and gas flow at the latest advices. This is the largest producing well ever drilled in Tennessee. The oil and gas flow was obtained at 275 feet.

IN AN ILLINOIS COURT

A Prisoner Brought in Armed, Commits an Atrocious Murder.

Daniel Gore shot and killed John Dillon in court at Waukegan, Ill., Thursday. Gore had intended to kill his enemy, a man named Backer, but as he fired the shot Dillon jumped between them and received the fatal bullet in his breast. All three men were farmers, living near Half-Day. Gore and Backer owned land adjoining, and had long had trouble about the fences. On Monday Backer decided to have Gore arrested for threatening to kill him. He drove to Waukegan and swore out a warrant for Gore's arrest for threatening to kill him.

Constable Rice arrested Gore and brought him to jail, but neglected to search him. It seems that Gore had a revolver in his pocket when brought into court for a hearing. The occurrence was so unusual that it caused a great excitement, and at first there was talk of lynching.

THEODORE RUNYON DEAD.

Our Ambassador to Germany Expires Suddenly of Heart Failure.

WAS A FAVORITE IN BERLIN.

Born in New Jersey in 1822, Graduated From Yale, Entered the Law Profession and Commanded a Brigade of Volunteers During Late War.

Hon. Theodore Runyon, United States ambassador to Germany, expired suddenly and unexpectedly at 1 a. m. Monday morning of heart failure. Mr. Runyon had been in somewhat feeble health for some time past, but no immediately fatal results were anticipated. No longer ago than last Tuesday evening he was present at a dinner given in his honor by ex-Empress Frederick, mother of Emperor William.

Mr. Runyon has manifested great activity in the discharge of the duties of his office, which have been more than usually onerous on account of the complications in European affairs, which have more or less demanded the attention and care of the diplomatic representatives of all nations. His death came as a great shock to official and social circles in Berlin, where he was a great favorite.

Theodore Runyon was born at Somerville, N. J., October 25, 1822. He graduated from Yale college in 1842, and in 1846 was admitted to the bar. In 1853 he was made city attorney and in 1856 city councillor of Newark, N. J., a position he retained until in 1864, when he became mayor of the city. He was appointed in 1856 a commissioner to revise and codify the military laws of New Jersey, and in 1857 was made brigadier-general and subsequently major-general of the New Jersey national guard. At the outbreak of the civil war he was placed in command of a New Jersey brigade of volunteers. In 1865 he was democratic candidate for governor of his state, but was not elected. In 1873 to 1887 he was chancellor of New Jersey.

In March, 1893, he was appointed by President Cleveland United States minister to Germany, and shortly afterwards was made ambassador in accordance with a law of congress that the United States representative in Germany should be raised to the rank of an ambassador, reciprocically with similar action on the part of the German government concerning its representative in the United States. The degree of L. L. D. was confered upon him by Yale, Rutgers and Wesleyan colleges.

Mr. Runyon was the suceessor of William Walter Phelps, who had held the place of German minister for four years. He was a gallant soldier, and Fort Runyon, on the Alexandria railroad at the south end of the long bridge near Washington, D. C., is a perpetuation of his name.

He was a man of unquestioned ability and high social attainments.

During his service in Berlin the most important matter that has been pending between the United States and Germany has been that in regard to the removal of the restrictions imposed on the importations of American pork and beef products into that country.

He moved with his family in the best society in the state. He had three daughters and two sons. The daughters were all noted for their beauty, and there was much regret in Newark society when they followed their father and mother to the German courts. The sons are Chauncey Runyon, 22 years old, and Frederick, 29 years old.

The first known of the death of Mr. Runyon by his friends in Newark came in the form of a cablegram to Chauncey Runyon, saying his father had died from heart failure.

One of Mr. Runyon's daughters is a gifted writer and is credited with the authorship of a book recently published in which some well known Newark people are rather freely treated.

Explosion of Nitroglycerine.

A wagon load of 120 quarts of nitroglycerine exploded at St. Mary's, O., Saturday killing the driver, Samuel Engles, and two horses. The shock was distinctly felt at Lima, Wapokoneta and other points equally distant. In St. Mary's thousands of dollars of damage was done by broken windows and otherwise.

The Cumberland Oil Fields.

The extent of the Cumberland or Tennessee oil field is at present unknown but embraces portions of at least six counties in Tennessee and three in Kentucky. Capt. R. A. Rowie, of Chattanooga, an eminent authority, places the area at thirty miles wider than the Pennsylvania fields.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor: Services every 2nd and 4th Sundays. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. S. L. Dobbs, pastor: Services every 1st and 3rd Sundays. Prayer Meeting every Thursday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor: Services every 3rd Sunday, at 4 p. m.

Presbyterian Church—Rev. J. H. Zwingle, pastor: Services every 2nd Sunday.

Sunbeam Society meets every 1st and 3rd Sundays at Baptist church at 2:30 p. m

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Missionary Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham	7:25 p m
No. 15	South	12:37 p m
No. 16	North	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The new market, at the corner of Broad and Church streets, is doing a rushing business.

Miss Mary Nichols left last week for Childersburg. Miss Mary will probably return to Montevallo before going home.

W. B. Reynolds spent Friday and Saturday in Blocton.

Mr. Rossean, architect, was in Montevallo last week looking over the G. I. S. grounds with a view to bidding for the erection of buildings on the same. Mr. Rosseau is a second cousin of our own Gen. Robert E. Lee. The family resemblance is quite noticeable, as is also the more important resemblance in simplicity and true nobility of character. Mr. Rosseau's home is in Manchester, Ga.

Among the names handed in Tuesday by our large staff of reporters we notice the following visitors: F. M. Arnold, J D. McElroy, Whit Thompson, Will Brown, William Langston, James Belcher, all of Six Mile; Buck Pilgreen, of Calera; J. O. Johnson, of Ashby; J. H. Holdridge, of British, Ala.

Mrs. Wm. Weaver, of Aldrich, was in town Tuesday.

George Holcomb, of Calera, passed through the city Sunday en route to Plantersville to see his "Johanna,"

Among other unique features, Montevallo now boasts of the ugliest and most accommodating barber in the State.

John Davis, of Centreville, accompanied by his aunt, Mrs. S. H. Henry, who came up from Centreville at the same time, will spend some time with her sister, Mrs. Davis.

Mr. French Nabors went to Birmingham Monday.

Mr. Born's splendid line of new samples have arrived at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds'. Call and have L. N. Bowdon measure you for a comfortable, well-fitting suit.

Drummers Leonard and Graves were in town Tuesday.

H. C. Reynolds, accompanied Col. W. W. Wadsworth to Montgomery Tuesday. The good of the G. I. S. was the object of their visit

George Allen, younger son of Mr. The. Allen, cut his foot badly with an axe last week. He is not able to get out yet.

Right Hon. Reuben L. Rice was in the city on the 28th inst.

Mr. Hutchins, of Bismarck, made us a pleasant call one day last week.

We miss our friend, George Moore, these days. George, like the thrifty young man he is, betook himself immediately to other employment as soon as his engagement with Morgan & Meroney expired.

The NEWS is glad to report the convalescense of Mrs. H. C. Reynolds. Mrs. Reynolds was quite ill for a few days.

Editor Bowdon was with the homefolks in Calera Sunday.

Garrison of Makalle Not Captured.

General Barateira, Governor of Erythrea and commander-in-chief of the Italian forces in Abyssinia, has informed the government that the Italian garrison of Makalle, commanded by Colonel Galliano, evacuated that place, taking with him all the arms, ammunition, equipments and other contents of the fortress. It is reported, General Barateria says, that the evacuation of the fortress by the beleaguered garrison was accomplished by permission of Ras Makonnen, the commander of the Abyssinian forces, which besieged Makalle, who desired not only to pay tribute to the heroism of Colonel Galliano and his command, but also to obtain peace. It is further reported that King Menelek has ordered that the Italian prisoners be delivered up to the Italians at Ambalagi.

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.

H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.

CORRESPONDENCE.

SAYINGS FROM ASHBY.

Msss Fannie Oakley has been very sick, but we are glad to learn she is improving.

Mr. Page Sims and family, of Mississippi, have moved back to their old home.

Miss Alma Burk, one of Ashley's most charming young ladies, leaves tomorrow evening for Horse Creek, where she will spend several months.

We are glad to know Mr. Charles Oakley, formerly of Birmingham, has returned home, to the delight of his many friends.

Died, at the home of her father, Mr. John Parks, Mrs. C. S. Clay, aged 20 years. She was the idolized darling of her husband and loved by all who knew her. For several months she has been a sufferer of that dread disease, consumption. She bore her long and trying illness with fortitude and resignation. To the bereaved household we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

Reporter.

DRY VALLEY LOCALS.

We have been told that Mr. James Ely, who was scalded in the explosion at the Hand Bros. mill, died from the effects last week. We sympathize with the bereaved family.

James Garner and Will Seale made a business trip to Clanton last week.

There has been a great deal of sickness in our community the past month but the skillful treatment of Dr. Givhan has alleviated the pain of some and made faint hearts glad. We are much indebted to the doctor for his courtesy and knowledge.

We sympathize with our friend, Thomas E——, in his disappointment last Sunday. Tom, did she "April fool" you?

Pleas, West and Kirke Sessions attended the oyster supper at Calera last Thursday evening. The Ladies' Aid Society raised $22.60 on the indebtedness of the parsonage at Calera. "Post office" said that every young man for ten miles square was loving his girl. I think so myself, Pleas.

Rev. C. L. Herring preached an able sermon to a large congregation at Sessions Church last Sunday.

The Hand Bros., we learn, have ordered new boilers for their mills, and will soon be ready for making lumber again.

They say that Chilton county is full of "moonshine distilleries." We have been under the impression that we were in a law-abiding county, but if this is true we have been under a wrong impression.

The girls are now parting their hair on the side. Their reason for doing so will be given later,

Miss Mary Harris is visiting relatives here this week. Miss Mary has many friends and admirers that always welcome her.

Mr. Charley Meroney, one of Montevallo's most popular business men, passed through here last week.

G. B. Armstrong's little girl is very low—not expected to live.

Bill Crow.

Centreville, Ala., Jan., 24, 1896.

Editor News—I have been impressed with the determined stand your little city has made in the location of the Girls Industrial School, and wish you God-speed in your efforts, not only in locating at the right point (which any unprejudiced discerning man must admit has been done), but in your future efforts in giving to our girls the grand opportunity they have so long deserved. We shall watch now the movements of the Board of Trustees to see if they realize the responsibility that now rests on their, I hope, "broad shoulders." I am convinced that unless they are men of mind as well as matter when a few years shall drop away they will realize they did see their opportunity as clearly as they should. In other words, more depends on their nerve and resolution in this, the initial movement, than appears on the surface. A good start, or send off means everything. Cripple this school by a small, insignificant beginning, and you will hardly, if ever, recover from it. This school, if the directors and controllers are equal to the occasion, will do more for the future of our state than almost all other institutions combined. So far as they have gone all's well. We shall watch their future movements with anxious hopes.

Bibb.

TOWN NEWS.

The latest improvement is a first-class barber shop. Place of business opposite Kroell's store.

Come, all ye that love good society, good health and pure water. It all can be enjoyed in Montevallo.

F. T. Corbett, who has been visiting his wife's parents here, left for Cincinnati last Sunday, where it is his intention to enter business.

"Post-office" dashed through town last Tuesday in a buggy with his best girl.

"Old Bouley" has been wearing a long face several days. Cause unknown; probably absence of a sweetheart.

If you want to keep on the good side of the girls say nothing at all about their best fellows.

J. H. Mc. invaded another territory last week.

"Floats" of Centreville came up last Sunday to investigate the rumor that some fellow had taken his claim on the hill.

The non-arrival of an expected visitor from Birmingham caused one of our "angels" to feel sadly left last Sunday.

Ha! Ha! Say, girls, how about that trade you made last Tuesday in Montevalo. "P. K." and "J. W."

Think our young friend E. T. D. must be hibernating somewhere.

P. W. M. don't look solemn all the time for nothing.

We were glad to see our esteemed friend and former citizen, J. C. Davis, in town last week.

Your correspondent received a letter from Mr. John Dill, in which he stated that he would not fail to inform him how many animals he kills on his next hunt in Lacey, Miss.

Wishing you success, I am, your friend, Estill.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

Rev. W. T. Berry delivered quite an able and enjoyable sermon at the M. E. church Sunday evening.

Mr. Lonzo Cross, of Highland, has located at Dogwood. He will oversee Mr. Shelby Allen's farm, and he comes in the interest of the industrial school.

Mr. Oscar and Walter Harrison paid Calera a flying visit Sunday. Now boys, you don't know, do you, or you would court nearer home.

We regret very much to chronicle the illness of Dr. H. W. Harrison and we wish him a speedy recovery.

We regret very much to announce that Mr. Frank Harper's family are all sick with the measles.

Miss Leila Fulton, one of Saginaw's affable young ladies, has been visiting Mr. W. R. Reneau's family near here.

Quite a crowd of girls and boys were out riding Sunday evening, and discovered an opossum.

It seems that some of our boys can't have their way, as to the girls at parties, and they resort to persuading the fiddler off.

Mr. Shelby Allen will very soon commence work on three residences, at this place. One for himself, which will be a ten room residence and the others five room. T. O. W.

CUPID CONSUMATES A BARGAIN,

In Pursuance of Which Senility and Cupidity Exchange Vows.

A dispatch from Pomona, Kan., says children and grandchildren of James Rogers have been amazed by the information that he married on Sunday last, Miss Ida Nelson, at the home of the bride's parents, near Prescott, Ariz.

The groom is 77 years old, and the bride will be 15 next May. Mr. Rogers has been married twice, his second wife dying three years ago. He has six children, many grandchildren and several great-grandchildren. He is still well-preserved, genial and level-headed, and has a fortune of about $100,000 invested in farm lands and bank stocks in Iowa, lots in Des Moines, Ia., and about $100,000 in property at Los Angeles. He has been an active business man and was a member of the Iowa legislature for several years. He came to visit his children in Los Angeles county last summer. The first signs that the marriage was soon to take place was last week, when all of Rogers' Los Angeles property was transferred to Ida Nelson. Mrs. Rogers left school only a few weeks ago. She is a pretty girl of brunette type.

RESORTING TO PRIMITIVE PLANS.

A Vigilant Committee Gives Offenders a Gentle Hint.

Burglaries and other crimes more horrible have become so frequent in Fayetteville of late that a vigilant committee has been organized to look after the offenders. Wednesday night Lewis Bona, Frank Moore and Het Greer, all colored, were taken by men supposed to be the members of the committee, soundly thrashed and warned to leave the town. The two men are worthless, idle characters and strongly suspected of crime. The Greer woman is a very disreputable character, who has made herself very obnoxious to decent people, and is also suspected of having some connection with the various burglaries.

The Fayetteville Observer prints a notice signed by the vigilance committee, in which is set forth the purpose of putting a stop to house breaking. All men and boys are notified to leave the public square at 10 o'clock at night, and if they are caught away from home after 11 o'clock they will be dealt with.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, }
Shelby County. }

Under and by virture of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will proceed to sell on Monday, the 24th day of February, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corner of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff,
tf Shelby County, Alabama.

STATE TOPICS.

Late News Items of General Interest to Alabamians.

New Postoffice.

Oakley is a new postoffice in Jackson county, J. C. Hughes postmaster.

Real Estate in Cullman.

First avenue property in Cullman brought $30 a front foot recently.

Safe Burglarized.

The safe of the Alabama Cotton Oil company was burglarized on Saturday night and robbed of $53. It was evidently done by some one who knew the place.

Populist Conevntion.

The executive committee of the people's party met in Birmingham Thursday and appointed April 28 for the meeting of a state convention of the party at Montgomery.

Republican Convention.

The republican executive committee in session in Birmingham Thursday agreed on a resolution calling a state convention to meet in Montgomery on the 28th of April.

Better Raise Stock at Home.

There has been delivered at the depot in Eufaula, since the middle of September, thirty-two car loads of stock and the number sold is estimated at from 825 to 850 head.

Good Price for Land.

Eighty acres of land belonging to the Mann estate was sold Monday for over $1,200 cash. This land lies near Nanafalia in this county, and was bought by E. C. Dozier and James Pritchett, two of Marengo county's best citizens.

Democratic Convention.

The state executive committee of the democratic party met in Montgomery on Tuesday and appointed April 21, for the day and the city of Montgomery the place for the meeting of the convention to nominate candidates for governor and other state officers.

Accident at Bozeman.

The log train at Mobley's mill ran off the track Thursday and several casualties were the result. The engineer had his arm broken and was badly hurt, one negro was killed outright and a white man was fatally hurt. It was a deplorable accident.

Heavy Rains in Marengo.

It has rained for several days and the Chickasabogue creek is higher than it has been in ten years. The mails south and west failed to get more than a mile from town, and the mails to Demopolis failed this morning, the first time since the present contractor took the route, nearly four years ago.

Athens Female College.

Dr. Z. A. Parker took charge of the Athens Female College about November 1st, 1895, with thirteen day pupils in attendance and not a boarder in the college. Now he has ninety-five pupils in attendance and enough have made arrangements to come to run the membership up to one hundred.

Cyclone. Rain and Hail.

Quite a cyclone passed over Dixon's Mill neighborhood last Wednesday, blowing trees and fences down, but no lives were lost. The rain and a severe hail storm passed over after the storm. The hail stones that fell in Linden were as large as a partridge egg. Many fell about Octagon, as large as a guinea egg.

Question of Location Settled.

The location of the State Industrial School for White Girls is at last settled. Montevallo, through her executive committee—H. C. Reynolds, W. S. Cary and E. S. Lyman—has paid over to the state board of trustees the sum of $9,000 and delivered the deeds to the magnificent property which was donated by the citizens to the school.

Uxorcide and Suicide.

On Friday night last, about 9 o'clock, John H. Goodwin, a farmer, of Shelby county, in a fit of mental derangement, shot his wife. She fell and instantly expired. He then put the muzzle of the gun against his own abdomen and, pushing the trigger with a stick, shot himself, and, falling across his wife's body, expired. Two children, aged 5 and 8, witnessed the terrible tragedy.

Big Grain Elevator.

Mobile is to have a 250,000 bushel elevator within the next 100 days, the contract for which was awarded Saturday evening. The bonus of $15,000 was raised Friday night and is now in bank on deposit to be paid over upon the completion of the elevator. It will be located opposite the new slip of the Mobile and Ohio road, and will be accessible to all railroads entering Mobile.

Long Distance Telephone.

The long distance telephone line between Oakman, Jasper, Corona, Patton, Coal Valley, Blossburg, Horse Creek and Birmingham, has been completed and is now ready for use. The line belongs to the Oakman Long Distance Telephone company, and they have made arrangements with the Bell Telephone company in Birmingham so that subscribers of the latter can get connection with the places named above at any time.

A Question of Veracity.

Judge Robinson, of Lee county, contesting the seat of Congresman Harrison from the Third Alabama district, in an affidavit, states that Governor Oates made a proposition to him that if he would abandon the contest against Harrison the impeachment proceedings against him (Robinson) as probate judge of Lee county would be withdrawn. Governor Oates pronounces this statement as absolutely untrue, and today forwarded an affidavit to that effect, for use before the committee on elections of the house of representatives.

WRECK ON THE SHENANDOAH.

Cars Burned, Porter Killed, Engineer and Fireman Injured.

A section of Raymond and Whitcomb's excursion train, coming south on the Shenandoah Valley, was wrecked at 10 o'clock last Friday night, near Riverton, Va. Two Pullman cars and a baggage car were burned. A colored porter, named Phillips, was instantly killed. Engineer Long and Fireman Propper were severely injured. The passengers escaped without injury. The wreck was caused by the fall of a mass of rock across the track.

Cotton Mill Burned.

The Stevens Cotton mill, belonging to the assigned estate of H. S. Shirk & Sons, of Lancaster, Pa., was completely destroyed by fire Saturday morning. Loss $60,000; insurance $37,000.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Store!!!

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

J. B. Lewis Co. WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear,
Style,
Ease,
Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

A. B. CLAUGHTON,

Physician and Surgeon.

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

Office in store of H. C. & W. B Reynolds.

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO. The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.

LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

Earliest Radishes and Peas.

The editor urges all readers to grow the earliest vegetables. They pay. Well, Salzer's Seeds are bred to earliness, they grow and produce every time. None so early, so fine as Salzer's. Try his radishes, cabbage, peas, beets, cucumbers, lettuce, corn, etc.! Money in it for you. Salzer is the largest grower of vegetables, farm seeds, grasses, clovers, potatoes, etc.

IF YOU WILL CUT THIS OUT AND SEND to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., with 10c. postage, you will get sample package of Early Bird Radish (ready in 16 days) and their great catalogue. Catalogue alone 5c. postage. (A. C.)

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

In the Police Court—Tried and Judgment in its Favor.

Some time ago Judge Andy E. Calhoun, judge of the police court of Atlanta, had occasion to pass a sentence that was gratifying to him, and if people will take his advice much suffering will be alleviated. The judge is subject to nervous sick headaches and dyspepsia. Here is his sentence:

"I am a great sufferer from nervous sick headache and have found no remedy so effective as Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy. If taken when the headache first begins it invariably cures."

Price 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

A Good Dog is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

Sapolio, Ga.

Tetterine cures the Itch in its worse form. Our hands have been troubled with Camp Itch, and where it was properly applied, has not failed to give relief. Brown & Davis. Sent by mail for 50c. in stamps. J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

Life is full of trials—and we know some Lawyers who are glad of it.

Five cents saved on soap; five dollars lost on rotted clothes. Is that economy? There is not 5 cents difference between the cost of a bar of the poorest soap made and the best, which is as all know, Dobbins' Electric.

Conscience is not always a safe guide of conduct. If the conscience be falsely educated its suggestions will falsely lead.

FOR IRRITATION OF THE THROAT caused by Cold or use of the voice, "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are exceedingly beneficial.

It is not hard for one to find reasons sufficient to himself for doing that which accords with his inclinations.

Just How it Does it is Not the Question.

It is enough to know that Hindercorns takes out corns, and a great relief it is. 15c. druggists.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has no equal as a Cough medicine.—F. M. ABBOTT, Seneca St., Buffalo, N. Y., May 9, 1894.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

"I Have Tried Parker's Ginger Tonic and believe in it," says a mother, and so will you when you know its revitalizing properties.

Scrofula

Manifests itself in many different ways, like goitre, swellings, running sores, boils, salt rheum and pimples and other eruptions. Scarcely a man is wholly free from it in some form. It clings tenaciously until the last vestige of scrofulous poison is eradicated from the blood by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Thousands of voluntary testimonials tell of suffering from scrofula, often inherited and most tenacious, positively, perfectly and permanently cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 25c.

"Autocrat of the Breakfast Table"

Heckers'

Buckwheat.

Makes Light, Dainty Buckwheat Cakes.

GIRLS, GET MARRIED! Send 10c. for 1-1 doz. Leap Year Proposal Cards; latest out; lots of fun. Novelty Printing Co., 19 Shepherd Av., Brooklyn, N.Y.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

WE PAY you to sell fruit trees. STARK NURSERIES, Louisiana, Mo.; Rockport, Ill.

Am. N. U. No. 5, 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

SECOND GROWTH TIMBER.

The scattering trees that grow up by roadsides and in fence corners are usually much tougher wood than trees of the same variety that grow up in the original forest. Exposure to sunlight and severe winds is what toughens the fibres of such trees. Oaks and hickories that have grown up in this way are especially valuable, as they are mostly valued for their toughness. It will pay farmers who have such timber to make inquiries, and with a little trouble they can probably find a good market for it.—Boston Cultivator.

SALT AS A FERTILIZER.

As every plant contains more or less salt, and salt is indispensable to the life of an animal, it would seem reasonable that it should be needed by plants. This is true, but the soil contains some of it, and in some places much of it, and where there is naturally a sufficient supply of it there is no necessity to use it as a fertilizer. But in some places it is needed, because there is none of it in the soil, and this explains why it has been found so useful to all kinds of crops. It can do no harm anyway, and thus it is advisable to apply it occasionally, especially for grass, cabbages, all kinds of roots, oats and wheat. Clover is also benefited by it. The usual quantity applied is from 200 to 600 pounds an acre, in the spring, as soon as the growth starts.—New York Times.

PROPER CARE OF FOWLS.

Regularity in feeding procures rapid growth in chicks. More food of the same kind given at long but irregular intervals will not give them the same vigor of size. The man who follows haphazard ways in anything these times will get behind the procession.

As a health measure, when large numbers of fowls are compelled to range on a limited enclosure, air slacked lime should be liberally used. Let it be scattered late in the evening, after the chickens have gone to roost. It will greatly counteract the decomposing matter which is so deleterious.

Fowls need lime, but it is the better way to give them food rich in this material. Chopped clover contains lime and nitrogenous matter. Peas are also rich with it, and wheat is a lime food. The wheat should be given after clover, lest it be too concentrated, and fatten the fowls instead of making them lay.

There is a surplus of small potatoes this year, and they can be utilized as poultry food. Boil, mash and mix with meal and bran; feed while warm. Feed moderately and not every day, remembering that hens need a variety. Too many potatoes will make light colored yolks.—Wisconsin Agriculturist.

CUT AND UNCUT FODDER.

It is reported that the Wisconsin Station took two lots of cows and divided them as nearly as possible as to milking qualities, and fed one whole corn fodder and the other the same kind of fodder, but cut up into half-inch lengths, with the result that 721 pounds of the cut fodder produced as much milk as 1100 pounds fed whole. Here is an important matter if the reported figures will come out practically the same on a repeated experiment. Here is an economy in feeding cut fodder that amounts to over fifty per cent., and yet we are told that cutting feed adds nothing to it, only induces the cattle to eat more of it, and with less waste; but this is a case that seems to totally disprove it, and it is a little like buying two stoves to save fuel. Then we are told that shredded fodder gave yet a better result than where the fodder was cut. The only explanation that we are able to give is that there was less nerve and muscle force used in the mastication of the cut fodder. Just now we have a curious little experience in feeding stalks. We had a few more than could be got into the silos and cured them out nicely, also a small lot of field corn fodder, of course much finer than the silage. When the silage fodder was gone the cows were fed the field corn stalks, not closely husked. Seemingly more of the latter were eaten, and much more cleanly, yet there was an almost instant shrinkage of milk, necessitating the opening of the silos to regain the shrinkage. It would be a good experiment for some of our farmer readers to take a few cows, and try the experiment of cut and uncut fodder and its effect on the milk flow. —Practical Farmer.

THE SECRET OF RAISING EARLY LAMBS.

Raising early lambs is proving a profitable industry to those who understand it. The earlier lambs can be sold in the large city markets, the higher the price. The Cornell Experiment Station has made a test of various breeds for early lamb raising, extending over several years. It finds that the Dorset Horned sheep breed earlier, and fatten better lambs, than the Shropshires. Other things being equal, the Dorset ewes give the most milk and breed earliest in the season. There is practically no difference between beets and ensilage as a succulent food for ewes rearing early lambs. As a coarse fodder for the ewes and also for the lambs, there is nothing better than good clover hay. In fact, this is one of the essentials to success in early lamb raising. As a rule, ewes respond more liberally to forced feed for milk production the second year than they do the first, but should not be forced to milk production until the lambs are a few days old. The market early in the season does not require so large lambs as the late market. The best early market commences as soon as the holiday poultry is out of the way, usually about the middle of January in New York City. Dorsets may be slaughtered at a somewhat younger age than Shropshires and yet will dress a little heavier. There is no particular difference between these two breeds in loss of weight by dressing, the shrinkage being twelve or thirteen per cent. The price paid in the New York market for fancy lambs varies from thirty cents down to ten cents per pound, according to the quality and appearance. Early lambs are usually sold by the head, at $10 down to $5 or less for carcasses weighing thirty to forty pounds until Southern or Tennessee lambs come to market, when the lambs are sold by the pound. The exact time at which this occurs varies from year to year. Sometimes the early lamb market continues up to the last of April or even the first part of May.—American Agriculturist.

WINTER SHELTER OF LIVE STOCK.

It should be apparent to every thinking man that food serves as fuel in the animal body, just as much as wood or coal serves as fuel beneath the boiler of the engine. Each is an agent creating force, writes a professor at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. If the boiler is surrounded by a thick layer of ice, it will require much more fuel to create a certain number of pounds of steam, than it will if it is situated in a temperate atmosphere. By the same logic, if an animal is turned out into the intense cold of winter, it will require more food to keep up animal warmth and energy, than it would if the body were kept in a warm stable.

Any person who has carefully studied the care of live stock realizes the truth of this. Consequently, the best stockmen give their animals suitable protection from winter cold. It is, however, to be greatly regretted that many owners of live stock turn their animals out in all sorts of weather. I have seen milch cows on bleak hillsides when the thermometer registered below zero, and the air was especially cutting. A ride of 250 miles across country, on a bleak winter's day, will show hundreds of cattle in cornfields or pastures when they ought to be in the stable. It is to be regretted that so few persons realize the real loss incurred by such exposure.

One winter I purchased for the Indiana Experiment Station six milch cows for experimental work. They were divided into two lots of three each. On lot was given the shelter of the stable, while the other was kept out of doors during the day, in all kinds of weather, although sheltered in the stable at night. For seven weeks this treatment was maintained. At the end of this period it was found that the sheltered lot had given 161 pounds more of milk than the unsheltered, had eaten less grain food to produce this milk, and had gained in weight over 200 pounds, while the unsheltered ones had lost in weight. As the sheltered cows had shown a financial gain of about $12 in the aggregate, over the others, in increased flow of milk, cost of keep and increase in weight, it certainly paid to shelter them.

Other experiments, especially with pigs, have shown the wisdom of giving reasonable shelter during the winter. In every case that comes to my memory, pork was produced at a less cost per pound where the pigs were sheltered than where unsheltered.

The question of shelter, however, should not be taken to an extreme. It is essential for good health that stables have proper ventilation and sanitary conveniences. A stable filled with cattle soon becomes contaminated with impure air unless proper ventilation is provided. This should be secured so as to produce no direct draft upon the animal body. Plenty of sweet, pure air is most important. The writer has been in stables where the air was warm in winter, but it was also foul to an injurious extent. Had the air been a little cooler and sweeter it would have been all the better for the cattle.

A winter temperature of fifty degrees in the stable may be safely recommended. It is not desirable to go above or much below this.

Owners of live stock can give fairly good protection to their stock at small expense by the use of straw, old boards or leaves, for warding off the cold winds and rain. It is to be hoped our stockmen will gradually see the folly of turning their stock out into the fields in winter, excepting for a brief airing, and will improve in their methods of winter keeping. It certainly will pay to give proper attention to this subject, if it will pay to keep the stock at all.—New York Independent.

The strike of omnibus drivers has elicited the curious fact that French judges and judicial officers are forbidden by the etiquette of the profession to ride in an omnibus. They must take a cab or walk, if they do not own a carriage.

Malaria on the Mississippi Bottoms.

From the Banner-Democrat, Lake Providence, La.

The swamp lands along the banks of the Mississippi river in Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana are generally considered very unhealthy in contrast with the hilly country adjoining them. It is here the germs of malaria are formed, and from which originate those terrible malaria chills and fevers which the people of the low countries dread. In addition to these are intermittent and remittent fevers, dyspepsia, indigestion and rheumatism, all caused from malaria germs and the dampness of the atmosphere.

Medical science has been put to its utmost capacity to devise some mode of treatment by which these physical ailments can be moderated, if not eradicated, but so far it has failed. Nor does it seem that there can be found any cure for these symptoms. Such has been the general opinion until recently, when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills found their way here, and came to stay. To-day those who have used them say they would not do without them for all the medicines in the drug stores.

Mr. Dan O'Sullivan, Sr., is a prominent citizen of this city, Lake Providence, La., and has been identified with its interests for years. At present he occupies an important position on the City Council and is also Secretary of that body. He was once a strong, robust, healthy man, full of vigor and always on the go. Within the last year, however, his health has been very bad, his appetite poor, his digestion poor, in fact, his entire system was completely out of order. He began to use various medicines, but to no purpose. At length he decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In a few days the change for the better could be noticed. He continued to improve so fast that the proprietor of the Lake Providence Banner-Democrat interviewed him and asked him what he had been taking to put him in such good shape again. His reply was in substance as follows:

"My liver was all out of order, my digestion was very bad, I felt sluggish and did not want to do a thing but lay around the house. My blood began to get thin, and I felt sick all over. I concluded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as I had heard so much about them. After taking them a few days I could feel that they were doing me a great deal of good. I continued the use of them, and in a week or so I felt like a new man. They toned up my stomach, put my blood in good condition, gave me a good color, a good appetite, in fact, put me in first-class shape again. My friends congratulated my return of health, and I smiled when I told them that Pink Pills did the work."

Mr. O'Sullivan takes every opportunity to recommend them to others, who are being likewise benefited.

Mrs. D. H. Parker, who was raised in the city of Lake Providence, but who now resides in Greenville, Mississippi, also uses Pink Pills. Her husband, Mr. D. H. Parker, a popular traveling salesman of the Drummond Tobacco Company, of St. Louis, says that for years his wife had been suffering from dyspepsia and indigestion, that she had to be very careful what she ate, and would frequently have severe spells from being a little imprudent in her diet. She sent for some Pink Pills, took them and is now well and strong, and can eat any and every thing without being effected in the slightest manner. She is loud in her praises of Dr. Williams' great remedy. She also suffered from rheumatism, and that, too, has left her. These are only two cases where the Pink Pills have done so much good. Others of a like nature in this locality could be mentioned, if necessary; but the experience of this gentleman and this lady are enough to warrant the assertion that for restorative qualities, and general recuperative properties, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best on the market.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Bonbons.

A bonbon is simply a solid sweet and was made as soon as sugar was introduced into the country. The word "bonbon" comes from the French, signifying very good, and is a kind of superlative by reduplication, like a child's "papa," "by-by," and similar expressions.

The Penalty of Bachelorhood.

In Corea every unmarried man is considered a boy, though he should live to be a hundred years old. No matter what his age, he ranks below the youngest of the unmarried men, despite the fact, perhaps, of having lived long enough to be his father.

Jonah's Gourd Grew Fast.

In one night twenty feet long! That was a miracle! But Salzer's Sand Vetch, the coming hay plant, grew ten inches in seven days on fine, dry soil, without a drop of moisture. That's something for drouth tried soil; so is Giant Spurry, Teosinte and lots of things you'll find in our mammoth catalogue. (A. C.)

IF YOU WILL CUT THIS OUT AND SEND it with 10c. postage to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., you will receive their mammoth catalogue and ten packages grasses and grains, including Sand Vetch, free.

Second Hand

TUERK WATER MOTOR

For Sale.

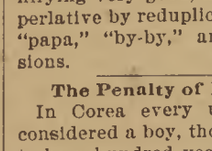
Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to

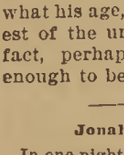
Atlanta Newspaper Union, ATLANTA, GA.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS. but sell direct to the consumer at wholesale prices. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Write for catalogue.

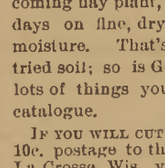


ELKHART Carriage & Harness Mfg Co. Elkhart, Ind.

W. B. PRATT, Secy.



$3 A DAY SURE, send us your address and we will show you how to make $3 a day; absolutely sure; we furnish the work and teach you free you work in the locality where you live; send us your address and we will explain the business fully; remember we guarantee a clear profit of $3 for every day's work; absolutely sure, write at once. ROYAL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Box LB, Detroit, Mich.



THE AERMOTOR CO. does half the world's windmill business, because it has reduced the cost of wind power to 1/3 what it was. It has many branch houses, and supplies its goods and repairs at your door. It can and does furnish a better article for less money than others. It makes Pumping and Geared, Steel, Galvanized-after-Completion Windmills, Tilting and Fixed Steel Towers, Steel Buzz Saw Frames, Steel Feed Cutters and Feed Grinders. On application it will name one of these articles that it will furnish until January 1st at 1/3 the usual price. It also makes Tanks and Pumps of all kinds. Send for catalogue. Factory: 12th, Rockwell and Fillmore Streets, Chicago.

SYRUP of FIGS

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

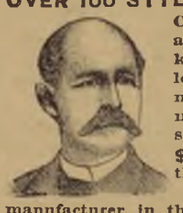
Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50 cent bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR

W. L. DOUGLAS $3. SHOE BEST IN THE WORLD.

If you pay $4 to $6 for shoes, examine the W. L. Douglas Shoe, and see what a good shoe you can buy for $3.



OVER 100 STYLES AND WIDTHS, CONGRESS, BUTTON, and LACE, made in all kinds of the best selected leather by skilled workmen. We make and sell more $3 Shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.

None genuine unless name and price is stamped on the bottom.

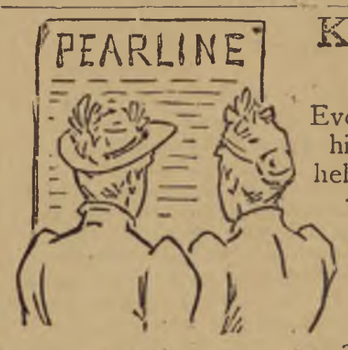
Ask your dealer for our $5, $4, $3.50, $2.50, $2.25 Shoes; $2.50, $2 and $1.75 for boys.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE. If your dealer cannot supply you, send to factory, enclosing price and 36 cents to pay carriage. State kind, style of toe (cap or plain), size and width. Our Custom Dept. will fill your order. Send for new Illustrated Catalogue to Box R.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.



Keep your eye on Pearline "ads."

Even if you use it already, you'll find hints here and there that will greatly help you. And there isn't a man, woman, or child but can be helped by Pearline.

All these advertisements are meant for the good of Pearline, of course—to show you the best and easiest and cheapest way of washing and cleaning, and to lead you to use it. But if they do, they will have helped you far more than they will have helped Pearline. You have more at stake. All the money you could bring to Pearline, by using it, wouldn't be a drop in the bucket to the money you'd save by it.

Send it Back. Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 470 JAMES PYLE, New York.

Waste on the Farm.

Around the farm there is at least a ton or two of materials, such as Ashes, Hen Droppings, Wood's Earth, Marl and other things, which, if mixed with

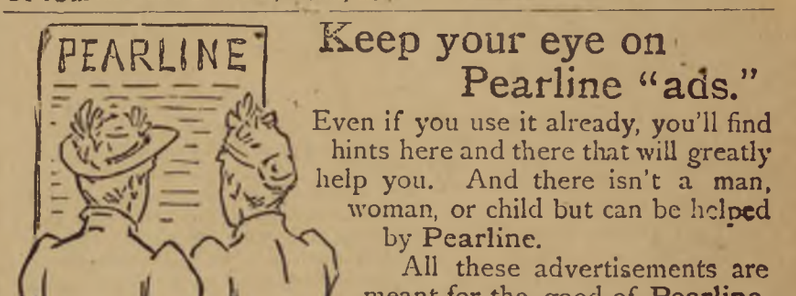
Powell's Prepared Chemicals,

make fertilizers rich in Ammonia, Potash and Phosphoric Acid, which will be quick acting, producing large crops and at the same time permanently improve the soil. A fertilizer made in this way is certain, but costs very little—only about $12 per ton.

Many thousand farmers have saved fully half their fertilizer bills by the use of Powell's Prepared Chemicals. Circular giving instructions for mixing, with testimonials from every section sent free.

POWELL FERTILIZER & CHEMICAL CO., Baltimore, Md.



BUY SALZER'S NORTHERN GROWN
HURRAH, FARMERS—SHOUT FOR JOY!
The millennium is coming for the farmer, for with our new creations in Wheat (60 bu.), Oats (209 bu.), Barley (116 bu.), Corn (207 bu.), Rye (70 bu.), Potatoes (1,200 bu.), Hay (6 tons), and Green Fodder (100 tons per acre)—we say with such yields the millennium is here for the farmer! SILVER MINE OATS—$200 IN GOLD!
This Oat yielded in Pennsylvania (sworn statement) 208 bu. from one measured acre, and hundreds of farmers who tested same are sure 250 bu. is possible in 1896.
SILVER KING BARLEY—$100 IN GOLD!
That is the wonder! 116 bu. per acre in 1895 and 150 bu. is possible in 1896. So one thousand growers say. It is marvelous, wonderful. Oh, the millennium is here!
Catalogue tells all about it. It is mailed you with 10 grain and grass samples, including Corn and Barley, upon receipt of 10c. postage, or Catalogue alone for 5c. postage.
GRASS AND CLOVER SEEDS
JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LA CROSSE, WIS.

Unlucky in health?
Here are emblems of good luck;
a a and
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.

GUARANTEE

Purchase Money refunded should Browns's Iron Bitters taken as directed fail to benefit any person suffering with Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fever, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Biliousness, Female Infirmities, Impure Blood, Weakness, Nervous Troubles, Chronic Headache or Neuralgia. More than 4,000,000 bottles sold—and only $2.00 asked for and refunded.

[SEAL.] BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. W. C. Lewis, who is connected with the artistic advertising department of the Youth's Companion, and resides at 33 Dwight Street, Boston, relates that he had his attention called to Ripans Tabules by a business acquaintance who expressed a high opinion of them. Mr. Lewis was a good deal troubled with what he describes as a nervous, bilious condition that appeared to be brought on from time to time by high pressure work or special mental activity or excitement, such as would be common at periods of unusual nervous tension. It has become his practice at such times to take a Tabule—just one—at the moment that he observes the difficulty approaching. It makes no difference when it is. A favorable result is invariably apparent within twenty minutes. The only noticeable effect is that he feels all right in twenty minutes if he takes the Tabule; while if he does not the nervous, uncomfortable feeling intensifies and leads to a bad afternoon and tired evening. He carries one of the little vials with him all the time now, but doesn't have occasion to apply to it anything like as often as he did at first. Nowadays there are frequent periods of from a week to ten days or even two weeks during which he finds that he has no occasion whatever to make use of the Tabules, but still carries them in his pocket, just the same, so that they may be ready if an occasion occurs.

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (60 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Corn

is a vigorous feeder and responds well to liberal fertilization. On corn lands the yield increases and the soil improves if properly treated with fertilizers containing not under 7% actual

Potash.

A trial of this plan costs but little and is sure to lead to profitable culture.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS, 93 Nassau St., New York.

PAYING POSITIONS GUARANTEED IN WRITING. Students' complete course in HALF the TIME at HALF the EXPENSE of other colleges. 24 placed last month. Address at once GEORGIA BUS. COLLEGE, Macon, Ga.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. I. MONTEVALLO, ALA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1896. NO. 44.

Bridge Builders.

We build a bridge of trust
From night to morn,
A mystic arch of dreams
Till day is born.

We build a bridge of trust
From friend to friend,
And often break the span
We cannot mend.

We build a bridge of trust
From shore to shore,
And shadow figures steal across
At peace forevermore.

—Florence A. Munroe in Detroit Free Press.

The Old Cherry Farm.

BY HELEN WHITNEY CLARK.

"Sech a reediklis thing to do!" declared Aunt Lurainey Mulford. "I sh'u'd say Hazel wasn't in her sane senses."

The Mulford connection, far and near, were terribly exercised over the fact that Hazel Heatherton had invested six hundred dollars for the old Cherry Farm.

"An old place that ain't wurth shucks," they asserted.

When Uncle Hezekiah Mulford died, leaving a thousand dollars to each of his two unmarried nieces, the two girls were looked upon as heiresses by the numerous kin-folk living in and around the little village of Dripping Springs.

But when Hazel, in spite of all opposition, insisted on investing six hundred dollars of her legacy in the farm, as already stated, and invited Aunt Comfort Mulford to live with her, their discontent knew no bounds.

"She might of invested her legacy safe with me," complained Uncle Zeke, "an' I'd of give her five per cent intrust on it. She could o' lived good on that; but no, she must go an' spend her money fust thing 'fore Uncle Hezekiah was fairly cold in his grave."

"That ole place won't grow nothin' but pusley an' cockle-burs," groaned Aunt Lurainey. "She'll starve to death on it, shore."

It'll be a jedgement on her, if she does," declared Uncle Zeke, grimly shaking his head as he lighted his cob-pipe with a coal from the fireplace.

And the rest of the kin-folks agreed with him, and prophesied all manner of ill-fortune for Hazel. All, that is, with the exception of Cousin John Mulford and his wife, Arvilla.

They pushed her in her unpopular proceeding. Cousin John even went and mended the roof of the leaky but picturesque little cottage, which stood on a grassy hillside, sheltered by the sweeping branches of half a dozen or more black-heart cherry-trees which had given the place its name.

"It's a pretty place," averred Cousin John. "An' Hazel will have a home there if she ain't got nothin' else. Her an' Aunt Comfort 'll live as happy as cows in a clover-field."

But the other relatives shook their heads and drew long faces over Hazel's future prospects.

"She might of bought a lot in town if she must have property," they grumbled.

But Hazel only laughed at their forebodings.

"I never had a home of my own," she said, "and I guess the old place will support me and Aunt Comfort as well as the robins that live up in the cherry trees."

And when the three rooms of the cottage were scoured as clean as soap and water could make them, the walls newly whitened, and the rooms filled with pretty household furniture Hazel had bought, and which Cousin John brought out with his oxteam, the young mistress of Cherry Farm felt a serene content in her possessions that all the ill-natured forebodings of the Mulford clan failed to disturb.

"Thar you air, Hazel—snug as a bug in a rug!" said Cousin John, mopping his face with his red cotton handkerchief, as he started the lumbering oxen on their homeward way. 'An' when you git yer plunder all put to rights, me an' Arvilly'll come an' make you a visit."

"Be sure you do," cried Hazel brightly. "And when the cherries are ripe, Arvilla can have all she wants to put up."

Melzena Mulford, Uncle Hezekiah's other legatee, was no less loud in her denunciation of Hazel's investment

"How does she ever expect to git married I'd like to know," she commented, "away off in that lonely old place, with nobody but poky Aunt Comfort for company? But I don't care, I'm sure, if she wants to make an old maid of herself. I'm a-goin' to have the good of my money while I'm young."

She accordingly indulged herself in the purchase of numerous and expensive dresses and gewgaws, banged and frizzed her hair in the latest style, carried a scarlet parasol in her village walks, and after enjoying the triumph of exhibiting herself and her new possessions to the inhabitants of Dripping Springs, she announced her intention of going to the seashore for the summer.

"Going a-husband hunting," declared the gossips. "There ain't nobody good enough for her in Dripping Springs."

But if Melzena heard them she paid no heed to their gossip, but packed her new big Saratoga trunk with her new finery and set out on her long journey.

As the weeks passed on, Hazel and Aunt Comfort enjoyed themselves in their new home, in spite of the evil prognostications.

And indeed, though the dissatisfied kinfolk shook their head over Hazel and her doings, they were very well pleased to ride out to the farm on summer afternoons and eat their fill of the ripe, black heart cherries, or drink tea from Hazel's flowered china tea cups; or to spend the day and dine on fried chicken, green peas, new potatoes and other early vegetables, raised by the industry of Hazel and Aunt Comfort.

"Married? No; nor I don't never expect to be," solemnly asserted Mr. Nicholas Bycroft, as he fastened the hasp of his trunk, and took down his breech-loading rifle to see that it was in order.

For Mr. Nicholas was making final preparations for his journey to Texas, where he was going into stock-raising on a cattle ranch of several hundred acres.

"Get married, indeed!" he continued, muttering to himself. "There ain't more'n one girl in a hundred I'd have, an' like as not that one wouldn't have me. If there was a girl now that thought of anything besides a-curling her hair an' dressing herself up in silks an' furbelows, an' had any idee of what a home ought to be, I dun know but I might—But pshaw! if there's any sich girls, I've never come across 'em, an' never expect to. I'll be an old bachelor an' live by myself, like Uncle Tom."

"Bless me, Hazel!" cried Aunt Comfort, one bright summer morning, "here's your Cousin John an' Arvilly a-comin' out in the spring wagon, an' a man with 'em. Who kin it be? 'Taint the minister, I know, fur he's more grizzled lookin' an' hain't got a p'inted moustache like this one."

It was baking-day and Hazel was in the kitchen, her sleeves rolled up and her cheeks flushed to a bright damask red.

"I hope the best tablecloth is clean, whoever it is," she returned, peeping into the oven at a pan of cherry tarts that were almost swimming in their own crimson juice.

The stranger with the "p'inted moustache" proved to be Mr. Nicholas Bycroft, who had stopped on his journey to spend a week with his Cousin Arvilla, John Mulford's wife.

Mr. Bycroft's first visit to Cherry Farm was by no means his last one, and, for some reason or other, his week's visit stretched to a month, and the month had almost doubled itself, and still he lingered at his cousin's, near Dripping Springs.

One summer night he stood with Hazel on the latticed porch at Cherry Cottage, the soft moonbeams filtering down through the scarlet bean-vines overhead.

"There ain't another woman in the world I ever wanted to marry, Hazel—only you," whispered Nicholas earnestly. "I want a wife that can help me to make a home and to enjoy it after it is made. Think of my big ranch out in Texas, now. I shall live there a lonely old bachelor all my days, unless you go with me. Say, Hazel, will you go?"

And so, much to the delight of Cousin John's folks, and the surprise of other relations, the wealthy cattle rancher carried Hazel off, to be mistress of his Texas home.

Aunt Comfort was left in possession of Cherry Farm, rent free, for the rest of her days, and here Melzena Mulford was glad to seek an asylum when she returned from the seashore, with only a remnant of her legacy left and with no prospects of marriage settlements on hand.—Saturday Night.

The Girl Got The Roses.

Standing in a florist's store, vainly striving to come to some adjustment between capital and roses, one of Cincinnati's belles glanced out of the window to see a hack dashing up the street.

A young man looked out of the carriage door, the coachman reined in his horses, and two country fellows jumped out, and rushed into the store, one exclaiming to the clerk:

"I want to give you a carte blanche order for some flowers."

The clerk looked at him and continued talking to the young woman.

"I am in a deperate hurry; must catch a train—no time to lose—and will give you carte blanche," the youth interrupted.

The young woman consented to wait, and the clerk replied:

"What kind would you like?"

"No matter what they are, so they are handsome—some roses and other things—something pretty for her to wear," he answered, as the blood mounted to his face, "and I give you carte blanche."

So much stress was laid on the carte blanche that the salesman seemed encouraged, and asked the address.

"No, — West Seventh street, and have them there by 8 o'clock—see is going out. Something handsome, carte blanche, and here is $2." With these words he put down the cash, slammed the door, and was off.

The clerk looked at the young woman and said:

"American beauties are $1.50 apiece, and roses $4 a dozen."

"Never mind," she laughed, "make it right for the girl, and send the bill to me."

Doubtless that youth thinks that city prices are not so bad after all.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Banking Underground.

A Cleveland architect thinks that the occupancy underground quarters by a large bank in that city is going to mark a revolution in building. He says: "The idea is not new, but in this case it has been greatly developed and I look for startling results. It has been shown that with the aid of air shafts and other appliances quarters a story below ground may be rendered far more comfortable than those above and with care exercised in the ventilation these quarters will doubtless prove perfect from a sanitary standpoint. If this is so one story below ground, why not three or four, and if two, three or four, why not ten or twelve if necessary? This may solve the problem of economy in building space and do away with the sky-scraping buildings that in other cities are already causing unfavorable comment. It may be a long time hence, but I believe the time will come when there are as many buildings ten stories underground as there are that number above the surface of the ground." This sounds chimerical, but perhaps it is not.—Banker's Encyclopedia Monthly.

A Mystery of the Law.

In a case not a thousand miles from Fort Worth, after a killer was acquitted, the wife of his victim brought suit against him and was promptly awarded a considerable sum by way of damages. The verdict was upheld by the Supreme Court. The criminal law said the slayer was innocent. The civil law said he was guilty. If the latter was wrong, he was robbed of his sustenance by the law, with the connivance of the Supreme Court.—Fort Worth (Texas) Gazette.

His Bluff Called.

He—I was going to ask you to go sleighing with me today, but there's no snow on the ground.

She—Then, I am afraid, you will have to get a carriage.—Puck.

The mouth of the lobster is small, and he must tear his food to pieces with his claws before he can devour it.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

It is impossible for a human being to breathe at a height greater than seven miles above the earth.

Professor d'Arsonval of the College of France has been making a series of experiments with the torpedo fish.

A fabric made of pine and spruce wood pulp is made into overcoats in Leeds, England. It looks like frieze.

The highest inhabited building in Europe is the Alpine clubhouse, on Mt. Rosa—twelve thousand feet above sea level.

A man is as old as his arteries. If they are soft and compressible, the deteriorating effects of old age have not yet appeared.

Twenty millions of meteors are said to fall upon the earth every day, their aggregate weight amounting to something like two tons.

If a man ate in the spider's proportion he would consume the equivalent of four barrels of fish, a dozen hogs, three sheep and two oxen in a single day.

Penn's Cave, Penn., near Bellefonte, is to be illuminated by electricity and electric railways are to be built between the railroad station and the cave.

A street car in Glasgow, Scotland, with a new oil motor in place of horses was exhibited recently. While on the trial trip the oil tank took fire and burned the whole exhibit.

An exhaust pipe from the powerhouse of the railway company at Chester, Penn., pours out hot water all day. Scores of economical housewives regularly visit the place and fill their buckets with the boiling water, saving themselves the expense and trouble of heating it.

Professor Proctor, the astronomer, while on a visit to Florida, studied the flight of turkey buzzards. He observed that they were able to soar quite independent of any motion of their wings. They seemed to balance themselves on the air and move forward, and sometimes upward, without the expenditure of any force at all. He attempted to account for this on the hypothesis that as they were moving forward at a very high velocity they did not rest on the same air long enough for the air to be set in motion.

A Battle With a Mountain Lion.

Hunting the mountain lion with dogs is lively sport, according to an article in Outing. The dogs have treed the lion, he is dislodged by a shot and the battle rages as follows:

"There he goes!" and, as he spoke, the long, yellow mass shot out from the green branches, and landed fully twenty yards down the gulch side.

"No sooner had he touched the ground than the dogs closed in on him and then began a battle royal. With indescribable rage the lion struck right and left, his claws wide extended and his jaws set in a bloodly grin.

"The gulch side was very steep at this point, and as the fight raged, the combatants rolled and slid, amid a perfect cloud of flying snow, while the bloody trail behind him gave evidence that harm was being done to, at least to our side.

"When we reached the bottom the dogs were still at him. The shepherd, 'Tuck,' had a hold on one ear, and, shake and strike as he would, the lion could not free himself. The hounds, taking advantage of this fact, attacked him from every side in spite of the ugly cuts the claws on his one good fore-paw were making.

"Finally, with a last effort, the lion shook his head free from Tuck's grip, and catching a dog with his claws, drew him down to him and buried his teeth in his neck.

"'Shoot him, H——,' yelled Patterson to me, as I stood on the outskirts of the fight, awaiting vainly a chance for a shot. 'Shoot him, quick, or he'll kill Mike?' Scattering the hounds as I ran in, I drew my six shooter and fired two shots through the lion's shoulders. With a gasp he dropped the dog and staggered to his feet, but a third shot finished him, and he rolled over dead.

"The dogs, much to my surprise, were not seriously hurt, with the exception of Mike, who had a badly chewed shoulder and a severe rip across his nose.

Romance of a Wig.

A tragic ending of a comic scene has resulted in the heroine of the adventure being conveyed to the hospital in a very precarious state, while the hero is securely under lock and key at the depot of the Perfecture of Police in Paris. The whole affair turned on some silly fun and stupid horseplay about a wig. A young man had been facinated by the attractions of a girl a few years his junior and had asked to be permitted to pay his attentions to her, but she was by no means disposed to return the compliment, as he had become very bald through illness, and, as the object of his affections concisely put it, she would never dream of marrying any one with no hair on his head.

The youth meditated over his discomfiture, and then a happy thought flashed upon him. He would repair the ravages of unkind nature by a recourse to art, and forthwith he wended his way to a hairdresser's shop and became the delighted possessor of a wig with curls and love-locks and elaborate parting in front and behind, which as he fondly hoped, would produce the desired impression on the heart of the obdurate young woman.

Thus adorned, he proceeded that evening to a restaurant, where she was dining with some friends, but to his horror, she not only burst out laughing when he appeared on the scene, but presently made a dash at his wig, which she tore off, revealing his denuded head to the astonished gaze of the party. The youth endeavored to wrest the wig from her grasp, and so, finding herself hard pressed, the fair maiden passed it over to the other side of the room, and then, as ignorant of the fact, he still struggled, she dealt him a slap in the face.

Beside himself with disappointment and wrath, the young man snatched a knife from the table, and ere the spectators of the scene could interfere, he stabbed the girl in the neck. Cries of dismay now resounded instead of peals of laughter which had hitherto rent the air as the young woman fell fainting to the floor. The police were summoned, and while the youth was led off in custody, the girl was taken to the shop of a neigboring druggist pending her removal to the hospital. It is feared that she will not recover. —London Telegraph.

The Equality of the Bike.

While walking in the new park near Huntington avenue I witnessed an incident showing that humanity in general has much the same capacity for enjoyment. A young woman in a bicycling costume—not bloomers—was speeding around a curve in the park when she collided with a colored girl, who was also having her outing on the wheel. Both fell to the ground. The white girl was severely bruised, while her colored sister was unhurt. just then a Chinaman, who was also on a bike, came and with the grace of a Chesterfield alighted from his wheel and kindly proffered any assistance that might be required. It was a curious potpourri of color and circumstance.—Boston Globe.

Remarkable Missionary Expedition.

About a year ago a party of Seventh-day Adventists chartered the brigantine Pitcairn and started out with her from San Francisco on a missionary expedition in the South Seas. Word of the vessel has just been received from Nukualofa, Aonga. The party has visited Tahiti, Raratonga, Rurutu, Pitcairn, and many other islands, stopping long enough at each one to distribute tracts and pamphlets and Bibles, and to do missionary work in various ways. The vessel took to Pitcairn a number of the islanders who had been visiting San Francisco.—New York Sun.

Man and Dog Disfigured by an Eagle.

E. M. Baldwin of Martinsville, Ind., captured a very large gray eagle recently near that place. Baldwin, while out hunting, crippled the eagle, and, after a long and severe fight, succeeded in capturing it, but not until his dog had been almost torn to pieces and he himself somewhat disfigured. It measures seven feet five inches across outspread wings.

The Navy Department has established in compact form all of the laws, state and national, relating to the naval militia.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

If you want to please a man, tell him he looks like an actor.

Man's idea of economy is in telling his wife how to save money.

To make a successful partnership a wife must be one of the firm.

There are some things which even the young people do not know.

The man who advertises his business can't be scared out by competition.

Some women think more of a sealskin sacque than they think of their souls.

A sure cure for the hiccoughs is to ask the victim for the loan of five dollars.

People get wisdom by experience. A man never wakes up his second baby to see it langh.

It is the man who has to live on corn bread at home, who finds fault with the pie when he travels.

Adversity is the trial of principle. Without it a man hardly knows whether he is honest or not.

Those men who are seeking ideal wives seldom stop to think if they would make ideal husbands.

It is a wise woman that knows how to avoid lending her copper-bottomed preserve-kettle to a neighbor.

We find that the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand as in what direction we are moving.

High breeding gracefully insists on its own rights. Good breeding gracefully remembers the rights of others.

An inquiring man thrust his fingers into a horse's mouth to see how many teeth he had. The horse closed his mouth to see how many fingers the man had. The curiosity of each was satisfied.

We often hear of a man who began life with nothing, dying worth a million. Poor fellow! And he has got to begin all over in the next world, just the same as the man who began life here with a million and ended with nothing.—The South-West.

A Lost Keepsake.

A very singular incident, which occurred in connection with one of Rochester's recent weddings, is going the rounds of the polite society of the city. One of Rochester's prominent young men wooed and won a maiden living in a small country town not far from the city. The young lady has numerous friends in town, and special arrangements were made by them to attend the festivities, a special car being chartered for the occasion.

On the afternoon of the joyful day the bridegroom went into the rooms of a well-known manicure, and, after receiving the necessary attention, tendered in payment two silver dollars as he supposed. The manicure accepted the money without question, and the gentleman left the establishment. Hardly had he gone away when one of Rochester's society leaders, a handsome woman, who was also a wedding guest, came in search of the manicure's services. After they were completed she offered a ten-dollar bill, received the requisite amount of change, and took her departure.

The wedding party embarked on their special car at the appointed hour, and in course of time the conductor appeared for his fares. The society lady when asked for her fare, gave the conductor two silver dollars, which was part of the change received from the manicure an hour or so before. The conductor took one of the coins, bit it, rang it, examined it closely and then returned it to the lady, saying:

"Madam, that is not a dollar."

On examination the supposed dollar turned out to be one of those clever imitations which are made to open with a concealed spring, disclosing a place for a small photograph. Imagine the lady's surprise on opening the imitation dollar to find herself looking at the face of the young lady whom she expected to see married a few hours later. The bridegroom, hearing the exclamations of the ladies, came up, and, after some explanation, the prospective Benedict regained his pocket piece, which he had unwittingly left at the manicure's establishment during the afternoon, and which had been given to the lady in change for her ten-dollar bill by the unsuspecting manicure.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

There is a genuine revival in matters of public instruction in Salvador, the Central American Republic. Mixed schools on the American plan have been established in many places.

About twenty-five years ago an English syndicate offered the Transvaal Government $800,000 for the exclusive right of all the mineral resources of that country, and the Government came very near selling it. It is estimated that the gold product of the region this year will be $50,000,000, but the Transvaal Government isn't getting it.

The Louisville Courier-Journal states that the question of keeping down the cotton acreage for 1896 is attracting a great deal of attention in the South. The cotton exchanges are urging planters to diversify their crops and plant no more than they did in 1895.

The Statemen's Yearbook for 1895, an acknowledged authority on statistics, gives the area of British Guiana as 76,000 square miles, while in the issue of 1895 the same country is credited with an area of 109,000. No treaty is cited to account for this increase of 33,000 square miles. This seems to the Pathfinder a matter for scientific investigation. Of the increase of species there is definite knowledge, but the matter of territorial multiplication is anomalous, in fact without explanation, unless it be due to alliuvial deposits along the coast.

The New York Herald says that "the cable despatch of congratulation addressed by the Emperor William to President Krueger, of the Transvaal Republic, which is worded in the customary phraseology of messages from one Chief of State to another, is an historic document of far greater importance than it appears at the first glance. It is the recognition of the absolute independence of the Transvaal Republic and a repudiation of the rights of suzerainty which England claims to exercise over the South African Republic by virtue of the convention of 1884, which provides that the South African Republic shall conclude no treaty or engagement with any State or Nation other than the Orange Free State, nor with any native tribe to the eastword or westward of the Republic, unless the same has been approved by Her Majesty the Queen. This passage is the sole foundation for England's claim to suzerain rights over the Boers, which is now denied in the German Emperor's message, issued after calm deliberation in council with his Imperial Chancelor and with his Ministers of Foreign Affairs and of the Navy."

The Atlanta Journal says that "Georgia is to have another immense colony of Northern and Western settlers, if the plans of four gentlemen who are now in this State materialize. The names of the members of the party are: Messrs. W. W. Taggart, of Breckinridge, Minn., who was in the last Legislature; C. H. Fairall, of West Branch, Iowa, and a brother of Judge Fairall, of that State; John J. Gamble, of West Branch, Iowa, and A. E. Sansburn, of Breckinridge, Minn. These gentlemen, who are all well known in their localities as business and professional men of high rank, have been in nearly all of the States of the South prospecting for suitable lands on which to establish the colony which they have in mind. They have about concluded to negotiate for a tract of 80,000 acres in the southern part of this State, having been more impressed with Georgia than with any other State in this section. It is their purpose to secure this land and divide it into lots of farms, which will be sold or rented, at the choice of the settler. The movement which started some time ago and culminated in the great Fitzgerald colony in Irwin County, has caused a deep current of interest in the South to be awakened throughout the Northwest, and in Minnesota especially there is a strong desire on the part of people to come to this section. The winters are so severe in the Northwest that the people are growing tired of the country."

STATE TOPICS.

Late News Items of General Interest to Alabamians.

New Library.

The district school at Georgiana has recently fitted up a handsome new library.

Lively Demand for Mules.

It is reported that nine car loads of mules have been sold in Greensboro this season.

Dropped Dead.

Nathaniel Thompson dropped dead at Pheonix City Thursday. He was one of the oldest citizens in the town.

A Good Work.

The contract for grading the new road from Anniston to White Plain has been let. This will make a route six miles shorter between the two towns.

They Want the Prison.

A party of Anniston citizens will go to Washington and ask that the new prison to be located in the south be placed in that city.

State Bar Association.

The executive committee of the Alabama Bar association has fixed August 5 and 6 as the time for the next meeting of the association. The committee will determine the place of the meeting at an early day.

At Half Rates.

The Alabama Great Southern will grant rates on their entire division for the Mardi Gras in Birmingham of one fair for the round trip. This will attract people all the way from Chattanooga and Meridian.

A Perpetual Home.

The Grand Lodge of Masons of Alabama have purchased the lot and building on the corner of Perry and Washington streets, in Montgomery, for $9,750, and on the lot will build a perpetual home for the Grand Lodge of Alabama.

New Cotton Mill.

Parties from Lawrence, Mass., a cotton mill town not far from Boston, are considering locating a cotton mill in Walker county, on the Kansas City, Memphis & Birmingham road, not over forty miles from Birmingham. The land has been thoroughly inspected and the various qualifications of the property looked at, and, it is said, all that is lacking is the signing of the deeds conveying the property.

Big Purchase of Pig Iron.

A sale of 19,000 tons of pig iron in a lump was made in Birmingham Friday by several furnaces to an agent who represented industries in the Anniston district. The iron was bought especially for the pipe works and rolling mills and for immediate consumption. The sales indicate a general revival among the Anniston industries, and leads to the belief that consumers expect another rise in the iron market soon and are accordingly purchasing now.

Fatal Dynamite Explosion.

By a premature explosion of dynamite at the Henry Ellen mines of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway company, in the Birmingham district, Friday morning about 11 o'clock, two men were killed. George Beard, a colored miner, was tamping a charge, packing it in a hole, when the explosion occurred. He was blown to pieces and instantly killed. Evan Morgan, a white miner, who was standing near by, received injuries which caused his death an hour later. Morgan's home was in Ohio.

Alleged Gold Brick Man.

Steve Pratt, who it is alleged is the artist who sold gardener Dobbins, of Birmingham, the "gold brick" for $6,000 was registered at the Jefferson county jail Saturday morning. Steve was arrested in Houston, Tex., a short time since; his description as reported tallied closely with that of the man who victimized Mr. Dobbins. The Birmingham chief of police, accompanied by gardener Dobbins, went to Houston, upon hearing of Pratt's arrest, and there a number of prisoners were lined up before them to see if Mr. Dobbins could pick out "cousin" Steve. It is said that gardener Dobbins looked dangerous when he brought his big right fist down on his left palm as he said, "That's him. He's shaved off his beard, but I'd know his hide in a tan vat."

A River of Rye.

One of the most complete and wonderfully appointed illicit stills ever discovered was captured on Gunter's mountain, near Scottsboro, Friday, by Deputy United States Marshal Arnold. The still was in a cave in the mountain, in which was a stream that did not show itself at all on the face of the mountain. The moonshiners had rigged up a water wheel and had everything very complete. The entrance was under some bushes, into which they crawled on their hands and knees. The officers noticed smoke on some stones, and found a hole which served as a chimney, down which he climbed for forty feet. He found a valuable still, with worm and everything in operation, and a spare still of 150 gallons capacity. He destroyed about 1,000 gallons of liquor. The capture is considered a remarkably clever one. The moonshiners escaped

Convict Inspectors Report.

The state board of convict inspectors has filed its quarterly report with the governor. Among other things they report that on September 1 there were 1,610 state convicts on hand; that since that time 198 have been added, 110 discharged, 5 escaped and 32 have died, leaving on hand January 1, 1,663 There are 900 county convicts on hand. Prosperity is reported at the convict farms this year. At Fort Jackson 161 bales of cotton were gathered from the 225 acres planted, and 18,000 bushels of corn were made on the 300 acres planted. At Speigner's about 400 bales of cotton were made and about 500 bushels of corn. About 10,000 bushels of potatoes and a large quantity of peas, forage, fodder, hay and pea vines were made on each place. Hogs and vegetables were raised at both the farms in sufficient quantity to furnish food for the prisoners. Improvement in the health of the convicts in the prisons and in the mines is reported. The bad condition in which the jailers of the different counties of the state deliver the prisoners to the mining companies is greatly deplored in the report.

THE RECORD OF BLOOD.

It Appears That the Kurds Have No Monopoly in Inhumanity.

The following record is culled from the dispatches appearing in three Southern dailies last week:

Saturday—Eliza Cross killed by a pistol shot through the head and his body thrown into a well, near Knoxville, Tenn. One Will Derby is charged with the crime, with strong circumstantial evidence against him.

Sunday—Mary James, at Birmingham, Ala., by Eugene Mosely, both negroes. Cause, jealousy.

Monday—John Flora, shot at Sulphur Springs, Ky., by his wife, from whom he was separated, and supposed to be mortally wounded. He attempted to kidnap their child.—Mrs. Lizzie Savage, of Kyle, West Va., shot and killed by her stepson, Thos. Burns who also took his own life.—Mrs. George Baxter, of Minneapolis, Minn., was killed by her husband, who afterwards cut his own throat, but is yet alive. No cause, other than innate depravity, is apparent.—Two children of Mrs. Ida Hock, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was killed by their mother, who after the murder of her children, took poison and died.—Mrs. Edward Tucker, of Yonkers, N. Y., was killed by a burglar.—Crick Atmore and Will Mason, at Shoften's Lake, Andrews county, Texas, quarreled over a section of school land, which both wanted, and killed each other.—Alexander Jones, a negro, boarded a train at Keystone, West Va., refused to pay his fare, became angry and boisterous, and when an attempt was made to eject him, drew two pistols and fired promiscously until they were empty, killing W. H. Strother, postmaster at Elkhorn, mortally wounding a negro miner, and slightly wounding the conductor. Jones was overpowered, and in the evening, when officers were taking him on another train to Huntington, was taken from them by a mob and hung.—John Brown and John Fleck were killed in a free fight at Jefferson, La. John Brown, Sr., and George Fleck were shot in the back, and Miss Tillie Brown was beat with a club. It was the result of an old feud.

Tuesday—Tom Edwards, an aged negro, was shot and killed by C. P. Williams, in Lee county, Ark. The crime, as the matter was reported, appears to have been caused by wantonness.

Wednesday—William Meadows shot and killed Mag Denver and himself at Richmond, Va. Cause, degraded life.—William Lingo was killed at Morgan, Ga., by one Keaton, said to be of Dothan, Ala. Keaton is held for murder.—Ernest Troy was killed by George Porter, at Hot Springs, Ark. Porter found Troy in a bedroom occupied by his step-daughter and another young lady at 4 o'clock in the morning, and shot him as he ran out of the house.—Thos. Dwyer, a millionaire, of Bonham, Texas, was murdered at night in his office, by robbers, and his body thrown into a cistern. He was 76 years of age.

MEXICO'S POPULATION.

According to the Federal Census it is 12,542,057.

The federal census, which is now completed, shows a population of 12,542,057. The City of Mexico has 339,935, Guadalajara 83,870, Pueblo 91,917, San Luis Potosi 69,676, Pachuca 52,076, Durango 42,165.

The postoffice authorities propose to employ women in minor positions in the postal service.

The federal telegraph lines were substantially completed by the opening of a new line from Tehauntepec to Acapulco. Every important point in the republic is now comprised in the federal net work, and large places can be communicated with by four or five routes. The federal telegraphs are absolutely divorced from politics, civil service rules being strictly applied in their management.

HOME AGAIN.

Liberty Bell Given an Ovation on Its Arrival in Philadelphia.

The special train bearing old liberty bell from Atlanta arrived at Philadelphia Saturday morning. When the train reached the city limits Battery A, of the Pennsylvania National Guards, fired a salute of forty-five guns in honor of the bell's return. In the afternoon the bell was taken to its resting place in Independence Hall and a parade was given. The procession was composed largely of the State and National Guard. Mayor King, of Atlanta, and Mayor Warwick, of Philadelphia, reviewed the troops.

Dwyer's Murderers Arrested.

John and Brady Rutherford, Jos. Goodwin and Ed Prosper, negroes, were arrested at Brenham, Texas, Thursday and Prosper confessed, implicating the others in the murder of Thomas Dwyer, the millionaire. They assaulted him with a gas pipe, and while he was still alive threw him into a cistern. They secured a large sum of money from the safe. To prevent lynching, which was threatened, Sheriff Teague took the prisoners to Galveston for safe keeping.

GENERAL NEWS SUMMARY.

Compiled and Condensed for the Convenience of Our Readers.

KING OF PORTUGAL ASSAULTED.

Five Bold Burglars Bagged in Boston. Fire in Toronto—Killed in a Wreck on the Rails—Rosenthal in a New Role—Additions to the Navy and Merchant Marine.

SOUTHERN.

South Carolina's tobacco crop for 1895 brought $1,000,000.

George C. Todd, has been elected mayor of Louisville, Ky. Todd is a republican.

Mrs. Montgomery, who has been on trial at Rome, Ga., for the murder of her husband, was acquitted last week.

At New Orleans Jerry Duggan, the deputy sheriff who was murderously assaulted by a prisoner on January 22, died last Friday.

Senator Gorman refused to serve on the sub-committee to make arrangements for the Chicago convention. He says he will not attend the convention.

Richmond is making preparations for the Confederate veterans' meeting. The city council has been requested to appropriate $12,000 for improvements.

A. J. Rosenthal, who has been figuring as contestant for Crowley's seat in congress, is now posing as defendant in a charge of embezzlement made by W. B. Witte, at LaGrange, Texas.

Two ships were launched at the Newport News yards Thursday. One of them a United States gun boat, the Helena; the other a Plant Line steamer, the Duchess, constructed so as to be convertible into a war ship if there should be occasion for it.

The authorities at Bluefields, W. Va., will look into the lynching of Alex Jones, which occurred some days ago. The Norfolk & Western railroad will also prosecute them for stopping the train and delaying the United States mail.

In the superior court, Atlanta, Friday, Alex Carr, who murdered Captain King on the street of Atlanta a year ago, and Adolphus Duncan, who ravished Mrs. Sener, a respectable white woman, a few months since, were sentenced to be hanged on the 13th of March.

A freight train on the Houston & Texas Central struck a cow at 8 p. m. Thursday, six miles south af Hempstead, and was wrecked. Engineer James Quill is missing and is thought to be under the overturned engine. Fireman Charles Cash and Brakeman Sam Colville are perhaps fatally injured.

EASTERN

Dr. Alfred L. Kennedy, the distinguished chemist, was burned to death Thursday night in his office in Philadelphia, Pa. It is believed he was experimenting with chemicals when the fire occurred.

Clarence Murphy, wanted in Salem Mass., for embezzling $6,000 from the Salem Savings bank two years ago, was the other day arrested in San Francisco, Cal. Murphy attempted to escape after being captured, but was frustrated.

Paul Brigham, who pleaded guilty to having forged the certificate of a check on the Columbia National bank of Washington, by which the Lincoln National bank of New York city was swindled out of $6,500, was sentenced to seven years in state prison by Judge Cowing.

Five burglars were cribbed in Boston last Wednesday night. In the chief's office are the tools found on the men, comprising sticks of dynamite dynamite cartridges, five thirty-eight calibre revolvers, fully loaded, and an assortment of jimmies, drills and other safe-breaking instruments.

It is reported that the Standard Oil company is to be organized as a corporation with a capital of $200,000,000. This is just twice the capitalization of the original trust. Having been declared an illegal combination as at present organized, it has been decided to form a corporation into which will be more firmly combined its field production, pipe lines and refineries.

FOREIGN.

The London Standard publishes a dispatch from Madrid saying that the bank of Spain has advanced 50,000,000 pesetas to the Spanish government for the campaign in Cuba.

Emperor Menelik, of Abyssinia, has sent letters to King Humbert, of Italy, and to General Barratieri by an Italian trader asking that Italy appoint a plenipotentiary to arrange terms of peace between Italy and Abyssinia.

On Thursday, as King Charles, of Portugal, was driving along the street, an anarchist threw a rock at him and hit the aide-de-camp, who sat by him. The aide sprang from the carriage, seized the anarchist and held him until policemen came and took him in charge.

Fire in a planing mill on Ontario street, Toronto, Canada, Thursday morning, quickly spread to adjoining buildings. One of the firemen was severely injured, and many occupants of the burning dwellings had narrow escapes. Loss, about $30,000; insurance small.

The London Daily News states that when Sir Philip Currie, British ambassador at Constantinople, presented the queen's letter to the sultan he and his dragoman were kept waiting in a cold room without overcoats for nearly an hour. As a result, both caught violent colds. It is rumored that Sir Philip Currie was dissatisfied with the interview.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.

Tennessee Burt Oats.

United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor: Services every 2nd and 4th Sundays. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. S. L. Dobbs, pastor: Services every 1st and 3rd Sundays. Prayer Meeting every Thursday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor: Services every 3rd Sunday, at 4 p. m.

Presbyterian Church—Rev. J. H. Zwingle, pastor: Services every 2nd Sunday.

Sunbeam Society meets every 1st and 3rd Sundays at Baptist church at 2:30 p. m

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Metbodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Missionary Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma.....	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham.....	7:25 p m
No. 15	South.....	12:37 p m
No. 16	North.....	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

An Anniston man says, "we are really glad now that we failed to get the white girls Industrial school located there." Because the negro girls Industrial school now located there is to be such a magnificent affair. We would have been ashamed of the contract. It is to be built entirely of stone and covered with slate. The first building will cost $40,00 and be well equipped. "And its all to be done by one woman a lady who resides in Philadelphia." Certainly our board of trustees must do their best for the white girls. Let's put up a handsome brick building capable of accommodating at least 250 girls. Don't be afraid gentlemen, our members of the legislature will sustain your efforts to do the right thing by the long neglected girls of Alabama. Day after day we have enquiries as to when the school will begin. It will be the best patronized school in the state. The trustees should look well to the interests of the school and proceed at once to confer with architects and builders for at least a $25,000 building.

Mr. L. P. Sims, who twenty-two years ago was a citizen of Alabama, returned last week from Neshoba county, Mississippi, to again make his home with us. The NEWS welcomes all such good men back to our borders.

Mr. F. E. Davis, Montevallo's bright representative at the Medical college, of Birmingham, came down Saturday for the purpose of returning Sunday with his mother.

Miss Willie McGuire, of Glendon, Ala., stopped over Saturday and Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Dr. Claughton. Miss McGuire, in company with Mrs. J. B. Brooks, was en route to Atlanta, Ga., which city is Mrs. Brook's home.

Miss Ella Green, of Imogene, is visiting the family of Mr. Peacock.

The editor caught a glimpse of the pretty face of Miss Daisy Welch Sunday at the depot. Miss Welch was on her way to Calera.

For the complexion Tar Toilet Soap is unexcelled. For sale at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds.

Charles Ozley, of Dogwood, was in town Tuesday. Charlie is a handsome and agreeable young man, and we are always glad to have him come to see us.

O. O. Onderdonk, of Calera, visited Montevallo Monday.

E. L. Greene, contractor and house builder, was looking around town Monday.

We learn revenue officers raided a still at the house of P. W. Grubbs, in Chilton county last week. It was being run in his kitchen over a cooking stove. It was promptly destroyed by the officer but Mr. Grubbs at last accounts had not been arrested.

The editors of the NEWS, both for themselves and for their staff of correspondents, take this means to bow their acknowledgments for the compliments which in various ways they have received in behalf of their paper. Some of them have been enough to turn any editor's head, and we earnestly hope they will turn ours to the writing of something worthy of said compliments.

Frank Kroell visited Oxford on the 28th of January.

Messrs. McConaughy and Hardy attended last Thursday a reception given by the new social club of Columbiana. They report a very enjoyable time.

P. O. West plowed twe days last week.

Miss Mary Nicholls returned Saturday, after a week's visit to friends in Childersburg.

Mr. W. E. Brinkerhoff, the lumber dealer of Newala, spent a few hours in our town Saturday.

Harvey Cottingham, of Six-Mile, showed us his good-natured face Saturday.

Mr. Henry Burk, one of Ashby's most enterprising men and leading citizens, was in Montevallo Monday.

Mr. Peddy Fancher made us a pleasant call Tuesday.

The shrill cry of "Fire!" struck terror to many hearts in our town Monday night. Our efficient fire force of ablebodied men, white and colored, soon turned out and filled the streets, to find fortunately and thankfully that the town was in no danger. The fire, and it was quite a large one, was consuming the old Glass house, and was already too far advanced to be controlled. The tenants were Mack Cushatt and J. H. Lee. Mr. Cushatt lost about all his household effects. The "Glass" house stood about one mile from Montevallo and was the property of Major Hardy, of Birmingham. It was probably insured. The fire started in the kitchen.

Mr. H. C. Reynolds, of Montevallo, was selected as president of the Cotton Growers' Association for this state at the recent meeting of the American Cotton Growers' Protective Association held on the 21st inst. at Memphis, Tenn. This is an honor worthily bestowed, and the Sentinel congratulates Mr. Reynolds upon the distinction conferred upon him.—Shelby Sentinel.

Montevallo church-goers are indebted to the society of the Christian Endeavor for an hour's most pleasant instruction on Sunday evening. While the whole of the exercises were enjoyable, we would make special mention of a duet, but too short indeed, by Misses Acker and Canterberry, soprano and alto respectively. Bro. Dobbs lead the service in his usual clear and forcible style. During the exercises opportunity was allowed the audience to make a contribution for the benefit of the persecuted Armenians, tales of whose suffering filled the columns of the NEWS a few weeks ago. The S. C. E. is to be congratulated on the interesting and agreeable programme and its smooth execution.

We would like to direct the attention of our readers to the right hand upper corner of the first page of the NEWS. Whenever there seems to you to be a dearth of news, just look under the heading "Pearls of Thought," and you will find more sound wisdom than the editor's cranium can digest in a month of Sundays.

Thinking it might interest some of our wide circle of readers, we print this week under the heading "Evening Pictures" a specimen of the communications with which we editors of great metropolitan sheets are constantly beseiged.

ASHBY LOCALS.

The many friends of Mr. B. J. Large are sorry to learn of his sudden illness, and wish for him a speedy convalescence.

Mr. W. H. Milam, of Blocton, visited relatives here last week.

Mrs. R. E. Alvis, of Selma, visited home folks last week. Come often, "Bob;" we are always glad to see you.

Mr. B. J. Large spent last week with her brother, Mr. O. O. Bragg, of Spring Creek, who is very low with slow fever.

The entertainment given at the hospitable home of Mr. Milfred Battle Friday night was largely attended and enjoyed by all.

Mr. H. B——, of Briarfield, seems to be very badly smitten on one of Ashby's little brunettes, as he walked home with her Friday night on the wrong side and thinks it all O. K. until yet.

Miss Becca Oakly's school closed at Campbell's school house Friday last. The patrons are highly pleased with her work—think she did her utmost to advance the pupils, both morally and intellectually.

Mr. F. Fitts called to see his girl Sunday evening and she was out riding. You live too far, Felix, to come on uncertainties.

Mr. W. E. Harrison, of Dogwood, was in the "city" Monday evening. He passes through frequently headed west. He means business, no doubt.

Success to the NEWS and Industrial school. Reporter.

IMPROVEMENTS.

The building fever has taken hold—Mrs. Henry Wilson's nice cottage broke the spell.

Mr. George Morgan, we hear, has let the contract for his handsome two-story residence on the lot lately bought on the southerst corner of Lyman square. Mr. Ouderdonk takes the contract.

Walter S. Carey, Esq., will soon begin a lovely cottage on his lot northeast of the Industrial school grounds.

Mrs. Drucilla McMather is to begin a nice modern cottage southwest of the Industrial school grounds and next to the residence of her brother, Mr. Chas. Maroney.

Captain John B. Randall contemplates building a splendid residence near the Episcopal church, close to if not on the spot where Mrs. Randall and her mother were born. This is also Captain Randall's old home, and they are very much attached to the place.

Improvements are to be made on the Methodist church at a very early day, which will add much to its comfort and beauty.

Shingles and lumber are now on the depot grounds, from which we learn we are to have practically a new depot. We hope it will be finished up in nice style.

Postmaster in Trouble.

Field Inspector Rosson, of the post-office inspectors department, has notified Inspector Glenn Whiteside that he has caused the arrest of S. L. Rogers, postmaster at Mountainboro, Ala. The message did not state the cause of the arrest, nor the disposition made of the criminal. The local office is at a regarding the matter.

THE GIRLS SAY,

The "Fatty" visited Oxford last week to see his best girl. Expenses, $25.

That "Grandpa" is wishing for his girl to visit Miss Lucy.

That "Potts" was smiling from ear to ear Sunday afternoon as he crossed the steel bridge for a walk.

That "Bishop" walked all the way from Birmingham Saturday night to see his girl Sunday.

That they give Major candy.

That Pat is a very love-sick boy.

That "Kitty" says he is tired of a single life.

That Nat is a very kind and accommodating boy, as he always takes two to walk on Sunday.

That Ed says there is only one girl in it with him. Guess which one.

That "Foots" came up from Centreville to see his best girl, and then she declined to see him.

That the "Devil" or some other imp sometimes plays thunder with the "copy" of the editor of THE MONTEVALLO NEWS.

That the "Moon-fixer" has broke out in a new place.

That "Billie" is slow but sure.

That "Shorty" had the gate wired on him one night last week while calling on his best girl.

That the long counter jumper has carried out a hen two Sundays in succession.

That Louisa went to Columbiana last Thursday. Oh, mama!

That Montevallo is the "proper" place and her folks the "proper stuff."

That Dr. Givhan has a very interesting case in Jemison.

That Tommie is always nice to the ladies when at a ball. He wants to visit Shelby Springs now.

That "Buddie" doesn't love the girls any more since she kicked him.

EVENING PICTURES.

Now the sun is shining low,
Behind yonder pine topped hill.
Half hid in its crimson disk,
But gives a bright light still.

It sends it's beams through the pines,
Lights up ther gloomy shadows.
And through the clouds that are edged with gold,
It makes long shining ladders.

The eastern hill across the valley,
Is gilded with its dying gleam.
In the white trunked poplars by the creek,
Flashes one long silver beam,

Soon the sun, out of sight will have sunken,
And all its light faded away.
Then we will turn and say softly,
"This is the close of the day."

C. M.

CRUMBS

Of Medical Wisdom That Fall From Our Doctors' Lips.

a. Be temperate in all things.

b. One-half the medicine prescribed is a substitute for temperance and exercise.

c. Keep the liver and kidneys straight and the rest of the system will care for itself. [Which leaves us about as much in the dark as ever. How in the world are we to keep them straight? —Editor.]

d. Avoid medicine unless prescribed by your physician,

e. Have all the sunlight possible in your room, and seek it often yourself.

f. Ignorance is the greatest source of disease, as well as of the other evils with which mankind is afflicted.

Corbett's Mouth Murphy Mashed.

It was at the National theatre in Philadelphia, where the pugilist is playing. Murphy, who is a small man, was the fireman on duty. He smelled cigarette smoke and entered Corbett's room to tell him that smoking is against the rules. "No one is smoking here," Corbett said. "Why," said Murphy, "You are smoking yourself." He had seen the smoke from the cigarette hidden under Corbett's coat. Thereupon the big pugilist shoved Murphy out and slammed the door. The little man threw himself against the door, it opened so easily that he staggered half across the room. So Corbett took him at a disadvantage and struck him twice. But Murphy came back with a blow on the big fellow's mouth that brought the blood profusely. Having no further business there Murphy started down stairs when Corbett seized him, threw him down and kicked him. The little man started down again. As Corbett followed him he turned suddenly, caught the big fellow around his legs, jerked them from under him and sent him bumpity bump down the stairs. Corbett upon getting on his feet attacked Murphy furiously, but others now interfered and the fight was off. So the story goes, but Corbett says it is all made up, and that he only had some words with the fireman about smoking a cigarette.

ACCEPTED IT AS A LOAN.

Money Sent to Nebraska Drouth Sufferers Returned With Interest.

The secretary of the St. Joseph Commercial club has received a draft for $103 from Grand Island. Neb,, the same being money, with interest, donated by the jobbers of that city to drouth sufferers in 1894. A letter accompanying the draft says the farmers who were helped in 1894 raised good crops last year and intended to discharge their obligation. The money was sent as a gift, not as a loan and its return was a surprise and is something unprecedented.

THE TREND OF TRADE.

As Observed and Reported by Dun's Weekly Review.

BAD EFFECTS OF SPECULATION.

Increase in November of Failures and Amount of Liabilities—The Evil of Overtrading—Signs of Improvement Apparent in Actual Contract for Iron and Steel.

Failures in three weeks of January show liabilities of $17,836,511, against $10,685,060 last year; in manufacturing, $6,661,129 this year, against $1,489,193 last year; in trading, $10,317,360, against $3,165,267 last year. Failures this week have been 404 in the United States, against 354 last year, and 70 in Canada, against 54 last year.

Though business is still waiting, there are some signs of definite improvement. It is nsw believed that the first payment for bonds will cause no further pressure, and the money markets are easier as respects loans on collateral, though the difficulty of making commercial loans still checks operations. But large maturities at the end of January have been met more satisfactorily than was expected, and merchants and bankers report that the signs promise a good spring trade. No increase appears as yet in the demand for the principal products, unless for some forms of iron and steel, in which good contracts have been made this week. Domestic trade recorded through clearing house is 6.5 per cent smaller than a year ago. Signs of improvement in the iron and steel business are gratifying, even though they spring from combinations which have raised the price of coke and allotted the output of lake iron ore. A contract for 20,000 tons of rails, Pacific delivery, taken by an eastern concern in competition with foreign makers; a contract for 8,000 tons of plates for the East Jersey Water works; contracts for 4,100 tons of cast iron pipe, at $19.20, taken by Alabama works, with contracts for the Commercial cable and other buildings here, covering 3,500 tons, are the main features; but there is also a better demand for wire nails, after a long stagnation, and also for sheets. Pig iron is rather weaker. Southern works competing sharply with speculative buyers of some months ago are selling below present furnace prices, but the average for all products is unchanged and 11.4 per cent below the highest last year. The coke production has again been cut down 1,975 tons in a single week. The cotton mills are in the curtailment of production, as goods continue weak, with an output largely exceeding distribution, though the week has brought considerable more inquiries, and a larger spring trade is still hoped for Woolens are practically unchanged. Cotton is a shade lower than a week ago, notwithstanaing strong arguments by Neill and others, but receipts from planters go on at nearly the same rate, spinners taking a fall behind last year as before, and the marketing of goods does not support the brilliant estimates of increased consumption this year. Exports in January have been 50 per cent less and receipts from plantations 39 per cent less than last year, and receipts have been, larger, but spinners' takings and exports are both smaller than in 1592-93 from a crop of 6,700,000 bales.

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.

H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, }
Shelby County. }

Under and by virtue of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will proceed to sell on Monday, the 24th day of Febrnary, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corner of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly dieection one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff,
tf Shelby County, Alabama.

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE.

The State of Alabama, }
Shelby County. }

Probate Court for Shelby County, Alabama.—Letters of administration upon the estate of J. S. Davis, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 3d day of February, 1896, by the Hon. D. R. McMillan, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

F. S. Davis and
A. E. Davis,
feb 6 3t Administrators.

THE TURKISH GOVERNMENT

Has Forbidden the Circulation of Our Senate Resolutions.

A telegram from Constantinople says: The government has forbidden the circulation in Turkey of English newspapers of January 27, which contain dispatches from Washington giving the United States senate resolutions regarding the conditions of affairs in Armenia, and also the report of a speech delivered at Birmingham, Eng., on the night of January 27 by Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, in which Mr. Chamberlain declared that the condition of Armenia was a danger and a disgrace to Europe. The Russian consul, who has reached Zeitoun, has reported that hundreds of Armenians, who are holding that town, are dying from disease and exposure to intense cold.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Store!!!

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

J. B. Lewis Co. WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear,
Style,
Ease,
Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

A. B. CLAUGHTON,

Physician and Surgeon,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

Office in store of H. C. & W. B Reynolds.

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT. LOWEST PRIGES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY.

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

The Modern Way

Commends itself to the well-informed, to do pleasantly and effectually what was formerly done in the crudest manner and disagreeably as well. To cleanse the system and break up colds, headaches and fevers without unpleasant after effects, use the delightful liquid laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by California Fig Syrup Company.

Purity of motive and nobility of mind will rarely condescend to prate of wrongs and evidence its worth to others.

The World's Earliest Potato.

That's Salzer's Earliest, fit for use in 28 days. Salzer's new late potato. Champion of the World, is pronounced the heaviest yielder in the world, and we challenge you to produce its equal! 10 acres to Salzer's Earliest Potatoes yield 4000 bushels, sold in June at $1 a bushel—$4000. That pays. A word to the wise, etc.

NOW IF YOU WILL CUT THIS OUT AND SEND it with 10c. postage you will get, free, 10 packages grains and grasses, including Teosinte, Latbyrus, Sand Vetch, Giant Spurry, Giant Clover, etc., and our mammoth seed catalogue. (A. C.)

$100 Reward. $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

☞ Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Worthy of Trial—That is the Opinion of Mr. A. E. Thornton.

"I think it is best not to hide a light under bushels, and when a good remedy is discovered it is our duty to let it be known in the interest of suffering humanity.

"I have been suffering with indigestion and dyspepsia. I tried all the various remedies as well as several eminent physicians, but without avail. I was induced by a friend to try Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy and the first dose relieved me. Yours is a grand remedy for indigestion and dyspepsia. It builds up, and I recommend it as worthy of trial by all who wish to be cured." For sale by all druggists.

The obscure demagogue may easily point out the errors of statesmen whose power and patriotism is known the world over.

The only floating soap now made that is 100 per cent. pure and contains Borax is Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap. Why buy an adulterated soap when you can get the genuine? Put up only in red wrappers.

If you would serve mankind expect your motives to be assailed and your character besmirched by people who imagine that all honesty is locked within their own breast.

"BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" are of great service in subduing Hoarseness and Coughs. Sold only in boxes. Avoid imitations.

Many people foolishly expect him who has been put into office on the cry of "reform" to be more honest than others.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

The More One Uses Parker's Ginger Tonic the more its virtues are revealed in dispelling colds, indigestion, pain and every weakness.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is an A No. 1 Asthma medicine.—W. R. WILLIAMS, Antioch, Ills., April 11, 1894.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflamation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

Walking Would Often be a Pleasure were it not for corns. These pests are removed with Hindercorns. 15c. at druggists.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

Nervous

People wonder why their nerves are so weak; why they get tired so easily; why they do not sleep naturally; why they have frequent headaches, indigestion and Nervous Dyspepsia. The explanation is simple. It is found in that impure blood feeding the nerves on refuse instead of the elements of strength and vigor. Opiate and nerve compounds simply deaden and do not cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla feeds the nerves pure, rich blood, gives natural sleep, perfect digestion, is the true remedy for nervousness.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

ITCHING PILES MYERS' Solid Extract Witch Hazel cures them. 25c. and 50c. pots at druggists, or sample mailed FREE. J. J. FLECK, Tiffin, O.

Am. N. U. No. 6, 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS

TRUMPET CALLS.

Ram's Horn Sounds a Warning Note to the Unredeemed.

LOAFING is not rest.

Envy is a dog that bites before barking.

The man who loafs is least satisfied with his pay.

Good fortune does not always travel in a carriage.

Fill man with whisky and he can give the pig points.

Whoever makes God his strength will not long be weak.

Christ wept over Jerusalem, but had no pity on himself.

On the day we have done no good we have done much evil.

If all our wishes were gratified, how poor we would all be.

The Christian is in great danger when he trusts in his own strength.

The man who takes God for his guide will always travel in the right path.

The devil sees to it that a grumbler always has something to grumble about.

The man who denies Christ in his politics, will not be true to him in anything else.

Whoever sneers at religion makes it that much harder for somebody to be a Christian.

Religion pure and undefiled never has to carry a banner to let the world know its name.

There is no authority in the Bible for measuring a man's religion by the length of his face.

When the devil comes to an empty mind, he walks in and takes possession of the whole house.

We must never conclude that the devil has left us for good, when he leaves us for a season.

Piety is on the decline in any community where nobody is being persecuted for righteousness' sake.

To undertake to be a Christian with no expectation of bearing the cross is to fail before making the start.

The man who loves his neighbor as himself will be slow about going to law to get wrong things made right.

If the troops are not trained when there is no enemy in sight they will not behave well in the day of battle.

God's grace is great, but it cannot do much for the man who is only trying to be religious an hour or two a week.

It is an evidence that we are getting closer to God, when we begin to pray a good deal for people we don't like.

Believe that God is with you in your present trouble, because he has promised that he will never forsake you in any trouble.

No argument is required to convince a man with eyes that the sun gives light, and whoever is born of the Spirit knows that Jesus is the Christ.

The Daughter of Jenny Lind.

Mrs. Raymond Maude, who is married to a nephew of the present head of the Maude family, Lord Dovercourt, is the daughter of Jenny Lind (Mme. Goldschmidt). Her father, Otto Goldschmidt, who is still living, is the well-known orchestral conductor and composer. Mrs. Raymond Maude is very musical, and her children also promise to develop lovely voices. Mrs. Raymond Maude is well known as a composer, and her delightful and sympathetic setting of those exquisite little lyrics, "Rhymes About a Little Woman," show promise of attaining an immense and well-deserved popularity. Mrs. Maude is thoroughly British in character and manner, having been brought up in England, and only shows traces of her Scandinavian origin in her fair hair and complexion.—The Woman at Home Teeth Reading.

Teeth reading is the latest fad in England. The "science" is only in its infancy yet, but the following are two or three of the items which its professors assert to be incontrovertible: "Teeth that are long and narrow denote vanity; projectors indicate a grasping disposition; treachery is best known by small, white, separated molars; inconstancy by overlapping teeth; and the possessor of wide separated ivories is sure to tell all he knows. Those who wear false ones possess a character that the science cannot read."

A Simile in Smoke.

There's all sorts of grades of tobacco plant. The best comes from Havana. There's all sorts of grades of sarsaparilla plant. The best comes from Honduras. If you want cheap tobacco, all right—provided you get value for your money. Cheap tobacco's not as good to smoke—but it don't cost as much.

If you want cheap sarsaparilla . . . But you don't want it. Of course you don't. You are paying for the best. To pay for the best and get anything but Honduras sarsaparilla is like paying for Havana cigars and getting Pittsburg "Stogies." There's only one sarsaparilla made exclusively from the imported Honduras plant. That's Ayer's. Just keep it in mind that you are paying for Honduras sarsaparilla when you are paying for the best; but you don't get what you pay for unless you get Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Any doubt about it? Send for the "Curebook."
It kills doubts but cures doubters.
Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

SOFTENING BONES WITH LIME.

It is not the lime that softens the bones when they are mixed with fresh wood ashes and lime, and the whole kept moistened with water, but the potash. The potash in the water is in a mild condition, in the form of a carbonate of potash, but the lime takes the carbonic acid from the ashes and makes the potash caustic. The caustic potash is very acrid, and eats the lime in the bones and so softens them that they may be crumbled with ease after a month's exposure to the mixed ashes and lime in a pit; so that without the ashes it is not possible to soften the bones; the wood ashes are indispensible. When bones are burned the gelatine—which has fifteen per cent. of nitrogen in it—is destroyed, and thus the greater part of the fertilizing value of the bones is lost.—New York Times.

TREATMENT OF FROZEN PLANTS.

"When the days begin to lengthen, the cold begins to strengthen," is an old weatherwise saying which is so true that often the window plants which have come through December unscathed will be frozen in January, writes "S. C." When one rises in the morning to find them in such plight making up the fire and warming the room as soon as possible will be fatal to all but the most hardy. On the other hand, if they are removed to a closet or the cellar and allowed to thaw gradually in the dark, many of them will be injured very little. I have frequently had geraniums come through the ordeal none the worse for it. Many persons cut the plants down at once, when they have been frosted, but this is not necessary with geraniums or shrubby plants, as they will usually put forth new leaves in a short time.

Begonias thrive better than most plants in the warm air of the sitting room, and hence are favorite plants for the window garden, but they are very susceptible to frost. A few varieties, the Vernon and Weltoniensis among them, will sprout up from the roots after being frozen down, but my experience with other kinds has been that it is useless to try to save them in such a case.

Last winter I had hyacinths in full bloom frozen one very cold night. The hyacinth before it flowers will bear considerable freezing, but it seemed scarcely possible to save the waxen bells of the flower spike. However, they went into the woodbox as soon as its contents had been emptied into the stove. A covering thick enough to exclude the light, and also the air for some time, was thrown over it. After some hours I peeped in. They had thawed, but the spikes were drooping sadly. They were allowed to remain in the dark all day, and by the next morning scarcely showed the effects of the cold. As a precaution against freezing it is well to water sparingly in very cold weather. The few "green things growing" kept in the windows brighten the home so much in winter that it is always a pity to lose them.—New York Tribune.

CARE OF THE COWS.

Have you ever watched your cows on a bitter cold day sneak slowly up to the water trough where you have broken the ice and stick her tongue in the cold water several times until she got used to it, then take a little sip and a little more until she could stand no more of it. Then she will walk slowly over the frozen ground until she gets in the shelter of an old wagon, and there with her back humped up she will stand for two or three hours shivering until what feed she has eaten has had time to warm that water up to a living temperature?

How long ought it to take a sensible man to find out where all of his feed is going, no matter whether it is a milk cow or a dry one. Nearly every pound she eats is needed to warm that water, and little is left to repair the body, much less to make milk or fat of. The simplest kind of a heating apparatus will cost not over ten cents a day to heat the water for a small herd twice a day. It will pay for itself twice over during the winter in food it will save and the milk it will allow the cows to make, and it will do the same in adding flesh to the other cattle, especially the young ones.

Then go a step further and buy some boards to build a shed with that the poor things may have a dry place to stand and lie down under with a wind break against the cold piercing storms. These are not only acts of humanity, but they appeal directly to the pocketbook. They make the stacks of hay, the corn fodder and the meal bin go nearly twice as far, to say nothing of increasing the profits of the milch cows.

If a liberal allowance of straw, leaves or other trash is scattered under the shed the amount of manure saved will far more than repay the cost and trouble of collecting it, while it greatly adds to the comfort of the animals. If you are not too tired by this time, then get you a sharp butcher's saw and take the horns off first from the boss cows and steers, and then the younger ones. This is the best time of year to do it, when there are no flies to bother. —Home and Farm.

IRRIGATION OF GARDENS.

The importance of irrigation of gardens and farm lands is a matter of rapidly increasing interest to those concerned. Irrigation has been somewhat of a bugbear to farmers always, the idea being that it required costly works and much labor to accomplish it, and it has always been associated with the utmost aridity of climate and toilsome cultivation of the soil. But if there are in existence any districts where more than in others the profits of the farm are greater, and the ease of cultivation greater, too, with the certainty of maximum crops also greater, they are the irrigated districts of the far East. Indeed, some of the causes of the depression in Eastern farming is due to the less cost of growing crops under irrigation, and the ability of the farmers to sell the products of their farms at a low price, such as other farmers cannot afford to take. In fact, the time has come when irrigation must be made a practice wherever the water is available for it. For it is one of the laws of vegetable growth that this is in proportion to the quantity of water in the soil.

But it is in the growth of grass that the application of water to the land may be made the more profitable with the least trouble. The myriads of rivers and streams that flow through this broad land down to the ocean may all be impounded and made to work for the farmer without cost, except for the permanent works required; and some of these need only be of the simplest kind. Here low banks thrown up by the plow, or otherwise by the horse scraper, will retain the water of a stream when it is high, while it deposits its load of dissolved or suspended matters to add to the bulk of the low lands along its banks, and to increase the stock of plant food in it. The water thus flows in at the higher end of the embankment and, slowly moving down to the lower part of the stream, gives up its load to the greedy soil, and hastens on to the next farm, where it takes with it its newly gathered spoils, leaving them behind as it goes on and on toward its final goal, the great ocean.

Lands thus embanked are quite common all over Europe, and are so productive of grass and the related crops—all used for feeding—as to pay the interest on a value of $1000 or $2000 an acre. If the irrigated lands of the great West have lowered the value of the Eastern farms, why should not these take the same method of cheapening their products, while the quantity is increased, and so restore the old values to them? Irrigation, wherever it is possible, is one way to effect this improvement.—New York Times.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Dairymen should always remember it is dangerous to use the milk from a sick cow.

Get a good churn. They are plenty and cheap. Time is too precious to waste over a poor churn.

If milk is properly pasteurized there is no cooked flavor present such as is noted in sterilized milk.

In manipulating butter, never allow the hands to come in contact with it as their warmth melts and injures the grain.

As the conclusion of various experiments, the cost of keeping a dairy cow, without roots or silage, is put at $35 a year.

Young trees should be cultivated for some years after planting, as this is an essential condition of their making a vigorous growth.

Now is a good time to cut out all useless, weak, or spindling wood in the orchard. A twig that can be cut with a knife now may require a saw next year.

It is important that the cow should be given a smooth surface for lying down. Dry bedding should be provided and cold drafts of air excluded from the table.

When packing apples for market preserve uniformity in size as much as possible. Select the largest and finest to form an extra fine quality to sell at a fancy price.

Trees which are heeled in during the winter should not be covered with hay or straw, as such material draws mice and other rodents, which gnaw the young trees and destroy them.

The colder apples are kept without freezing the better. They will endure a much lower temperature than will potatoes, but when stored in a cellar, good ventilation is necessary and as even a temperature as possible.

All young hogs in the orchard should be left unringed and free to root the soil as much as they like. Ringing older hogs is sometimes necessary, as in a dry time old sows will get in the habit, if unringed, of gnawing the bark of the trees and thus causing irreparable injury.

The appearance of moss on apple trees shows that there is an excess of water in the soil. The land should be drained for orchards as for other crops. Stagnant water is of no benefit. A system of underdraining should be employed, so that the subsoil will hold more moisture for the use of the roots.

Every farmer should teach his boys the art of budding and grafting. Variety and quality of fruits in a small orchard may be greatly improved by judicious budding, and such work may be made a pastime which will add interest to farm life and also increase the satisfaction from the family orchard.

Powers Are Well Balanced.

A late estimate gives Russia a peace effective of 858,000 men and France one of 512,000, making an aggregate for what is sometimes called the dual alliance of 1,370,000. On the other hand, Germany is credited with 580,000 men on a peace footing, Austria with 380,000, and Italy with 300,000, making an aggregate of 1,260,000. Thus the opposing forces are pretty nearly equal, with the advantage of position and facility of concentration in favor of the triple alliance, as they are in perfect communication, while France and Russia are separated. The war footings also show some preponderance for the dual over the triple alliance, but there, too, the elements of junction and separation are to be kept in mind.

A Good Dog is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

Second Hand
TUERK WATER MOTOR
For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to

Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

THE AERMOTOR CO. does half the world's windmill business, because it has reduced the cost of wind power to 1/6 what it was. It has many branch houses, and supplies its goods and repairs at your door. It can and does furnish a better article for less money than others. It makes Pumping and Geared, Steel, Galvanized-after-Completion Windmills, Tilting and Fixed Steel Towers, Steel Buzz Saw Frames, Steel Feed Cutters and Feed Grinders. On application it will name one of these articles that it will furnish until January 1st at 1/3 the usual price. It also makes Tanks and Pumps of all kinds. Send for catalogue. Factory: 12th, Rockwell and Fillmore Streets, Chicago

DON'T SCRATCH TO AVOID THIS USE TETTERINE The ONLY painless and harmless CURE for the worst type of Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, ugly rough patches on the face, crusted scalp, Ground itch, chafes, chaps, pimples, Poison from ivy or poison oak. In short ALL ITCHES. Send 50c. in stamps or cash to J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga., for one box. If your druggist don't keep it.

Agents—Ladies or Gents, $75 a week at home, using or selling Gray Platers, or taking orders for us to plate. Plate gold, silver, nickel, copper, white metal, manufacture the materials and outfits, teach the art, only complete outfit, including trade secrets and formulas, lathe, wheels, tools, all materials for preparing, polishing, plating and finishing, no toys, small in traveling case, large for shops, description, prices, testimonials, samples free. Gray & Co., Plating Works, Dep't 17, Columbus, O.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

WE PAY you to sell fruit trees. STARK NURSERIES, Louisiana, Mo.; Rockport, Ill.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. R. L. Johns, of Selma, Ala., is in the habit of buying Ripans Tabules at White's Pharmacy at Selma. When interviewed at the time of a recent purchase, Mr. Johns said: "Ever since I was in the army, where I contracted indigestion and dyspepsia from eating "hard tack and sow belly," I have suffered much from those and kindred ailments. A son of mine who clerks for J. N. Harter in a drug store at Winfield, Kansas, told me while home on a visit, over year ago, to get a box of Ripans Tabules and take them. I did, and in a very short time I was benefited, and by the time they were half gone I was well, and since then I have felt better, ate more and relished it better than at any time since the war, and am doing more work now than I ever expected to do again. I tell you, they are the greatest medicine for a fellow's stomach I ever saw. This box is for a neighbor of mine out by me in the country. We always have them at home, and I never hesitate to recommend them when a fellow complains about his stomach hurting him. (Signed), R. L. JOHNS."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Successful

growers of fruits, berries, and all kinds of vegetables, know that the largest yields and best quality are produced by the liberal use of fertilizers containing at least 10% of

Actual Potash.

Without the liberal use of Potash on sandy soils, it is impossible to grow fruits, berries and vegetables of a quality that will command the best prices.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

ASTHMA
POPHAM'S ASTHMA SPECIFIC
Gives relief in FIVE minutes. Send for a FREE trial package. Sold by Druggists. One Box sent postpaid on receipt of $1.00. Six boxes $5.00. Address THOS. POPHAM, PHILA., PA.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. DR. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Waste on the Farm.

Around the farm there is at least a ton or two of materials, such as Ashes, Hen Droppings, Wood's Earth, Marl and other things, which, if mixed with

Powell's Prepared Chemicals,

make fertilizers rich in Ammonia, Potash and Phosphoric Acid, which will be quick acting, producing large crops and at the same time permanently improve the soil. A fertilizer made in this way is certain, but costs very little—only about $12 per ton.

Many thousand farmers have saved fully half their fertilizer bills by the use of Powell's Prepared Chemicals. Circular giving instructions for mixing, with testimonials from every section sent free.

POWELL FERTILIZER & CHEMICAL CO., Baltimore, Md.

LOOK AT THE BOX

This is Walter Baker & Co.'s Cocoa box—be sure that you don't get an imitation of it.

Sold by Grocers Everywhere.

WALTER BAKER & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

A Good Digestion follows the use of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. Indigestion is caused by the stomach's lack of tone. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS supplies the tone. Not a beverage—an alterative tonic—simple, curative, certain, pure.

GUARANTEE.

Purchase money refunded should Brown's Iron Bitters taken as directed fail to benefit any person suffering with Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fever, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Biliousness, Female Infirmities, Impure Blood, Weakness, Nervous Troubles, Chronic Headache, or Neuralgia. BROWN CHEMICAL CO., Baltimore, Md.

SALZER'S VEGETABLE SEEDS

Are recognized as the best for all soils and climes, whether East or West, North or South, because they Sprout Quickly, Grow Vigorously, Produce Enormously!

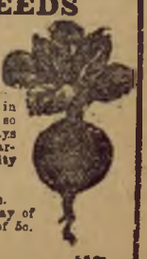
That is their record the world over. Being Northern-grown, they are bred to earliness. There is lots of money made in early vegetables, and we are going to make a bold statement here that the earliest, choicest vegetables in the world are produced from Salzer's Seeds. Our Catalogue tells you why, so if you wish to make money—that is, have vegetables in the market 10 to 20 days ahead of your neighbors—plant Salzer's Seeds. Send 4c. for market gardeners' wholesale list. ☞ Lightning Cabbage is the earliest Cabbage novelty of the world, fit for market in 60 days! Pkg., 15c.; oz., 60c.; ¼ lb., $2.00.

We make a specialty of choice pedigree Onion Seed: 90c. per pound!

Salzer's Earliest Cucumber cannot be beat. Pkg., 10c.; oz., 20c.; ¼ lb., 50c.

Our mammoth Plant and Seed Catalogue, containing a magnificent array of the choicest vegetables, with prices dirt cheap, is mailed to you upon receipt of 5c. postage, or Catalogue and Package of Early Bird Radish upon receipt of 8c.



JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., La Crosse, Wis.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. I. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1896. NO. 45.

A Quarrel Ended.

She looked at him with quick surprise,
She looked at him with tear-brimmed eyes,
Her tight-closed hand no motion shaped,
No word her curling lips escaped;
His eyes were bright, his voice was clear;
He only said: "I love you, dear!"

Her eyes were deep with anger's hue,
They softened into tender blue;
The haughty curve her lip forsook;
Her hand lay open on her book:
Then as he spoke he drew more near,
And said again: "I love you, dear!"

Where sweet love dwells wrath cannot stay;
Her smile chased all the tears away.
She looked at him: "Ah, do not fear,
I, too can say, "I love you, dear!"
His smile replied: "Our hearts are near."
His words were still: "I love you, dear!"

Ah! when the fire of anger burns,
And all life's sweet to bitter turns;
When eyes are flashing, lips close set,
Prepared to storm and to regret;
Then, happy we if Greatheart near,
Have strength to say: "I love you dear!"
—The American.

"Bid Me Good-by and Go."

Characters—Mrs. Lidyard (28), Ted Clayton (35).

Time—5.30 p. m. Scene Mrs. Lidyard's drawing-room—curtins drawn—dimly lighted. Mrs. Lidyard seated before the fire gazing into it with a paper open on her lap. She starts violently as the clock strikes the half-hour, and a ring is heard at the door bell. She hastily picks up the paper, and is absorbed in it as a maid announces Mr. Clayton.

Mrs. Lidyard (rising politely)—I cannot help thinking you have given yourself unnecessary trouble.

Clayton (stiffly)—I preferred being quite sure no mistake was possible.

Mrs. Lidyard (with raised eyebrows)—No mistake?

Clayton (hastily)—As to the safe return of this packet I mean!

Mrs. Lidyard—O!

Clayton (coldly)—Did you manage that—O, I assure you, your letter left me no chance of misapprehension. It was painfully clear——

Mrs. Lidyard—I am glad; in that case, I suppose——.

Clayton—Precisely; there is nothing to be done but to return these letters (handing parcel).

Mrs. Lidyard (holding out her hand)—Thank you.

Clayton (frigidly)—Hadn't you better see that you have the full complement?

Mrs. Lidyard (deliberately untying the string)—If you prefer it——

Clayton (angrily)—Eve!

Mrs. Lidyard (stops)—You suggested it.

Clayton (still angry)—I have never given you cause to insult me.

Mrs. Lidyard, (with a shrug)—Please don't let us have a scene.

Clayton (furiously)—I have not the slightest wish for anything of the sort. Naturally it is your woman's privilege to break your word as often as you choose.

Mrs. Lidyard (indignantly)—Ted! (Calming herself.) I break my word? Excuse me, in this case is that quite correct?

Clayton (doggedly)—Absolutely—

Mrs. Lidyard—But—

Clayton—Oh, you mean I have taken the initiative?

Mrs. Lidyard—I rather fancy——

Clayton—You made it impossible for me to do anything else.

Mrs. Lidyard (quickly)—What do you mean?

Clayton (calmly)—For pity's sake, as you said just now, don't let us have a scene——

Mrs. Lidyard (turning away)—You are quite right. I don't think there is anything left but to say good-by!

Clayton—I think not, unless it is for me to wish you happiness, and as an old friend, I may, perhaps, be allowed to be a little beforehand with my congratulations.

Mrs. Lidyard (looking at him in surprise)—Your congratulations.

Clayton (in a studiously amiable voice)—I could not well attend the wedding even if I wished; I start for Paris tonight—

Mrs. Lidyard (biting her lips and dropping her eyes)—Are you not rather—

Clayton (still with a forced smile)—Does it matter between us?

Mrs. Lidyard (still keeping her position—Yes, as you say we are old friends. I hardly care to remember how long we have known each other. It makes one feel quite archaic. (Laughs.)

Clayton (laughs too, savagely)—You had just come out of the school room when I first went to Graymoors with your brother.

Mrs. Lidyard (protesting)—Don't remind me of it. I was the ugly duckling—

Clayton (warmly)—You were one of the sweetest, most girlish—

Mrs. Lidyard—I realize my former shortcomings. I had too much complexion too little style.

Clayton (bitterly)—London quickly supplied the one, if it could not destroy the other. At nineteen you made the match of the season.

Mrs. Lidyard (quietly)—Yes.

Clayton (hotly)—A man old enough to be your father and rich enough to wipe out more things than that—

Mrs. Lidyard (quickly)—Ted! don't speak like that. You know he was good to me always.

Clayton—I beg your pardon.

Mrs. Lidyard (quietly)—And after all if I did marry him wasn't it your fault? Did you expect me to propose to you myself?

Clayton (laughs—Of course, I had forgotten. It was a marriage of pique with the additional penance of fifteen thousand a year.

Mrs. Lidyard (rising quickly—We had better say good-by—

Clayton—Yes—(not moving) and this time it will be good-by; the moth won't flutter round the candle again. I thought when you were free, you wanted me to stay; and we drifted into an engagement which—

Mrs. Lidyard (quietly)—Which you have broken.

Clayton (angrily)—Is there a man alive who could stand it? Do you suppose I wanted to become a public laughing-stock by waiting for you to ask me to your wedding?

Mrs. Lidyard (demurely)—I don't think it would have occurred to me to do that.

Clayton (not heeding her)—Naturally, you are perfectly free to choose, only it's a pity that you did not make up your mind a little sooner as to Captain Vereker!

Mrs. Lidyard (smiling)—And you are so polite—to me.

Clayton—Well, at any rate, there is an end; you have chosen—

Mrs. Lidyard—That is to say, you ordered me to close my doors to Captain Vereker and I—

Clayton (excitedly)—You wrote to tell me there were circumstances that made it impossible——

Mrs. Lidyard (excitedly also)—And without further explanation you replied that our engagement was over.

Clayton (more excited)—Explanation! Women think they can explain everything, and that men will believe them. What explanation could there be?

Mrs. Lidyard (passionately)—Only this—that I don't live here alone——

Clayton—Eve? What do you mean?

Mrs. Lidyard (catching up paper,)—Read that.

Clayton (bewildered)—Why? (Glances at paper.) I don't under—(Stops.) What? (Reads aloud.) "A marriage will shortly take place between Miss Gladys Lidyard, niece of the late Thomas Lidyard, of Wiltshire and Grosvenor Place, and Captain George Vereker of the Life Guards. Miss Lidyard has been spending the season with her uncle's widow in Grosvenor Place, and—" (Stops.) O, Eve, what a fool I've been!

Mrs. Lidyard (between a laugh and a sob)—I never contradict.

Clayton (goes to her)—Darling, will you forgive me?

Mrs. Lidyard (demurely)—What about your trip to Paris?

Clayton (holding her in his arms)—And to think that if I had not come—

Mrs. Lidyard (with calm superiority)—O, but I knew you would, and—and—Ted, shall I have to ask you to my wedding?—Black and White.

A King's Tact.

Alphonso, King of Aragon, was one day examining the different articles in his jeweler's shop, in company with many ladies of his court. He had scarcely left the house when the jeweler missed a diamond of great value, and ran after him, complaining of the theft. The King, not willing publicly to disgrace any of his attendants, commanded a large basin full of sand to be brought him, into which he directed each person to put in the hand clenched and to draw it out flat. By this means the diamond was left in the sand, unknown by whom.—Household Words.

Bicycle Knees and Toes.

To the "bicycle face" have been added the "bicycle neck," the "bicycle back," the "bicycle knee" and the "bicycle toes."

Bicycling is as yet in its infancy, and, although the existence of the strained, overwrought, nervous bicycle face has become so common that it cannot be denied, and the ostrich-like neck of the youthful scorcher is so frequent on the boulevard, the bowed back, the knock knees and pigeon toes are matters of development in the generations that are to come.

Physical development in any direction is but a matter of use and constant exercise of certain muscles. Read your Darwin and see how your ancestor scampered about on all fours, gradually abandoning the use of his fore legs as a means of locomotion until he walked erect on his hind legs.

Mlle. Eugenie Petrusco, the contortionist, now in this country, shows what training will do. From infancy her father taught her to walk on her hands, with her feet in the air. She was brought up upside down. Today she is more at home on her hands than on her feet, and her thumbs have grown long and her hands are shaped like those of an ape.

The development of special physical characteristics in cyclists of long experience must be accepted as a fact, not as strongly marked now as they will be, but still present.—New York World.

Told by a Detective.

"I was disgusted a few days ago at a case I worked up," remarked a detective.

"A young lady who was possessed of considerable money and a number of jewels sent for me. She had been robbed of some diamonds valued at several hundred dollars. I finally found all but one pin, they having been pawned. I obtained a description of the man who borrowed money upon them, but for several weeks could not locate him. When I did his landlady said that he had left that morning and was going to Baltimore. I watched the depot and was soon rewarded by seeing the man step out of a hack. I seized his arm and said, 'You are arrested.' 'What for?' he asked in a tone that showed he was not much surprised, but greatly frightened. 'That will be explained at the station,' I replied. There was a feminine shriek from the hack, and, glancing into the hack I saw it was my fair client. They had just been married and were starting on their wedding trip. I took in the situation at a glance, and then realizing that I was powerless under the new order of affairs, I said: 'I see now that you are not the man I want, and let him go. Then he began to bluster, and taking him aside, I gave him to understand I knew of his robbing the girl to pay the expenses of his courtship, and he quieted down very suddenly."—Washington Star.

Plants From Egyptian Graves.

Probably there are no botanical specimens that can vie with the old herbarium in the Cairo Museum in the matter of age, says the "British and Colonial Druggis" It contains a quantity of plants found in the old Egyptian graves, and in spite of their age and delicacy, the protection afforded to them by their covering has kept them in perfect state of preservation. Even the color is, in most cases preserved. The watermelon found in one of the graves becomes a bright green when dipped into water. Most of the plants are at least 4,000 years old. The clover from the pyramid in Dalschur and the barley and juniper berries found in a grave at Sahkara are as old as this, as are the flowers found in a mummy in Deir el Bahara, and those found in the graves of Ahmes I. and Rameses II. Among the plants are found blue and white lotus, red poppy, oriental larkspur, palms, various kinds of chrysanthemums, safflower, willow, and the various grasses, and even celery.—Trenton (N. J.) American.

The Poet of Purity.

Crummer—That is the poet Latherbrush. He is a great advocate of purity!

Gilleland—Indeed! I don't remember seeing any of his work.

Crummer—You certainly must. He writes soap advertisements.—Chicago Record.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Certain thoughts are prayers. There are moments when, whatever be the attitude of the body, the soul is on its knees.—Hugo.

Those whose whole minds feed upon riches recede in general from real happiness in proportion as their stores increase.—Burton.

Honest instinct comes a volunteer, sure never to overshoot, but just to hit, while still too wide or short of human wit.—Pope.

It is by studying little things that we attain the great art of having as little misery and as much happiness as possible.—Johnson.

No earnest thinker will borrow from others that which he has not already, more or less, thought out for himself.—Charles Kingsley.

True politeness is perfect ease and freedom. It simply consists in treating others just as you love to be treated yourself.—Chesterfield.

Despair is the offspring of fear, of laziness and impatience; it argues a defect of spirit and resolution, and often of honesty, too.—Collier.

There are braying men in the world as well as braying asses; for what is loud and senseless talking and swearing any other than braying?—L'Estrange.

Consid[illegible] how much more you often suffer from your anger and grief than from those very things for which you are angry and grieved.—Marcus Antonius.

A Strange Story.

Good material for a novel may be found in a tale which comes from Hope, Stelle county, this state. Miss Ellen Norman, living near there, was engaged to be married to George Thompson, a prosperous young farmer, but her parents were strongly opposed to the match. In October, 1894, the girl was taken ill: October 24 she died, at least the doctors pronounced her dead, after subjecting her to numerous tests. The funeral was set for October 25. The body was kept over night in the Norman house. The only watcher was Mr. Thompson, who declared that he was not afraid of the disease, whatever it was. It was due to his watching that the young woman is alive today.

Thompson removed the lid of the coffin in order to gaze once more upon the face of his fiancee. He was surprised to see the chest of the body rise in the casket rise and fall in a spasmodic way, as though the girl was gasping for breath. He wrapped the rigid form in a blanket, carried it to his house, returned to the Norman house, made up a dummy and closed the coffin. This was buried.

After Miss Norman had been carried to the Thompson residence and a doctor summoned who worked over her for several hours, it became evident that she was simply in a trance. She remained delirious for several days. As she became stronger all was explained to her. About the middle of December Miss Norman was spirited away from Hope by Dr. Mulian and Mr. Thompson and since that time she has been traveling in the south and west, where she has fully regained her health.

The other day she returned to Hope as the bride of Thompson, the old folks were apprised of her being alive and well, the fatted calf and several other farm animals were killed, and they will doubtless live happily ever afterward.—Bismarck, North Dakota, Tribune.

Brigands' Treasure Found in a Cave.

About forty years ago a wagon train loaded with valuable goods and about $80,000 in gold and silver coin, enroute from the City of Mexico to the United States, was attacked near Rincon, Mexico, by a band of brigands and all the members of the wagon train were killed and the booty seized. The robbers were over overtaken a few days later by a detachment of soldiers and all were killed. The money and stores had been secreted by the outlaws and could not be found. Rafael Villegas was prospecting for mineral ten miles south of Rincon, when he came upon the entrance to a cave. He explored the cave, and found several sacks filled with the money taken by the exterminated band of robbers.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat

A Remarkable Horse.

"I had a horse," said an old army man, "that belonged once to the Seventh Cavalry, but he had the 'I. C.' brand under his mane, so he was out of service. Inspected and condemned. He was a regular old plug, but he was all I could get to go hunting on, so I took him. I rode away out into the plains from the fort, and I saw a bunch of antelope. Finally, I got off the horse and dropped the reins on the ground, expecting the horse to stand there until I came back. I started off toward the antelope, and was sneaking along to get a shot, when I looked around, and I'll be blamed if that brute of a horse hadn't started off as tight as he could lope.

"'Well,' says I, 'I guess I'm in for a six-mile tramp home. I cursed that horse to myself for a while and then I went on. Pretty soon I looked up, and I'm blessed if there wasn't that horse over on the other side of that bunch of antelope. 'Well, now,' says I, 'I'd like to know what he thinks he's up to, anyhow.' Pretty soon he began to circle around on the other side, and the antelope saw him and started toward me. I caught on at once, and I lay down and waited. The old horse cut up the most surprising antics out there, and all the time he kept working those antelope toward me. By and by they got in range, and I got two—good luck it was, too. You see that horse was an old Indian hunting pony and he had been trained to do that way. Well, I went back to the post, and everybody wanted to know how it happened I had such good luck, but I didn't tell them.

A few days days after I took that same horse out after prairie chickens. It was the time of the year when the chickens were flying, and I was riding along when all of a sudden the critter stopped short, braced himself up and waited—for what I didn't know. But in a second a couple of chickens flew up ahead of me, and I was so surprised I didn't shoot. 'Well,' says I, 'I'll be switched. Here's a horse that's not only a hunting horse, but is a regular pointer dog, too.' And he was. I got my gun ready, and the next time he stopped I was right on hand and dropped a bird. Well, no sooner did he see the bird fall than he gallopped right off to where it fell, and all I had to do was to reach off and pick it up. He was a great horse, I tell you, and I got lots of good hunting with him.—Field and Farm.

Corn Belt Moving North.

A press dispatch from St. Paul quotes Mr. S. S. Russell of North Dakota as saying, at the immigration convention, that the corn belt was moving northward, following the civilization of the soil by wheat. Wheat was a great civilizer of the soil, and its effect was to prepare the soil for corn which accounted for the steady advance of the corn belt toward the north.

We suppose Mr. Russell uses the word "civilize" in an adapted sense, though here at the east we look upon corn, potatoes, roots, etc., as preparers of the soil for wheat and other grains, the finer product availing itself of the previously long-continued working of the soil. It may be, however, that at the west, in lack of regular rotation, the wheat roots furnish that mass of vegetable fiber on which the corn delights to feed, and so the latter follows instead of precedes.—Country Gentleman.

Earthquake Shocks.

Scientists are puzzled at the number of earthquakes that have visited this continent within the past year.

The latest one affected a portion of Mexico, throwing down houses and bursting water-pipes. The duration of the earthquake was about twelve seconds, with a direction of northeast and west-southwest. Subterranean fires that my be consuming coal mines at a very great depth are given as a possible cause of some of this demonstration. Water breaking into these intensely heated fire-pits would readily generate sufficient steam to produce such shocks. The origin of earthquakes has for many years been involved in mystery, but investigators are looking to explosions of gas and the rapid generation of steam as an inciting cause for the minor shocks that we so frequently experience.—New York Ledger.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

Aluminum is being used in making the bodies of cabs.

Gun springs are now tempered by electricity in France. The process is satisfactory.

The Mississippi, at the point where it flows out of Lake Itaska, is ten feet wide and eighteen inches deep.

The total run of the wind in Kansas last November was 8,711 miles, the highest November run now on record.

The total pressure brought to bear on the keys of a piano in playing a certain passage in Chopin's study in C minor is equal to three tons.

An oil-burning locomotive is running in regular service between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara, Cal., and works perfectly and very economically.

Coal dust is successfully used as fuel for boilers by a process invented by a German named Wegener. It is fed to the furnace automatically, and only ordinary chimney draft is needed.

The power of taste is believed to be due to the fungi-form papillae of the tongue. These are from a twentieth to a fiftieth of an inch in diameter, and are found on every part of the tongue, but most thickly towards the tip.

The officials of the various "homes" for domestic animals in London report that the mortality in cases of influenza among dogs amounts to six per cent: among cats, to 24 per cent, and the percentage is said to be even still larger among horses.

The town of Deseronto, in Canada, where there are several large lumber mills, is partially lighted by gas made from sawdust. The sawdust is charged in retorts which are heated by a wood fire, the gas from the retorts passing into a series of coils, and thence into the purifiers, which are similar to those used for coal gas. Lime is the principal purifying agent employed.

The Sokol, Russia's new English built torpedo boat, is a long, narrow craft, lying low in the water, and possesses four funnels. The hull is of nickel steel, which has thirty per cent more strength than ordinary steel, and this permits of a considerable reduction of weight. There are eight boilboilers. Improvements have been introduced for safeguarding the stokers. and also to enable to boat to run, even if some of the boilers should be injured.

Gives Warning of a Storm.

A well on a hill overlooking the surrounding country known as the Wheat Hill, eighty feet deep, twenty feet sand, forty feet solid blue clay, twenty feet quicksand and ground, has a good supply of officers, not affected by the dry weather of this season. Storms are indicated in advance by a discoloration of the water, it having the appearance of milk being dropped into it, and is quite agitated in appearance when pumped from the well. This condition of the water usually continues but a short time, generally becoming clear before the storm commences. With an approaching storm these conditions of the water are more or less extreme, as the storm will be more or less severe.

As to its reliability and accuracy as a weather forecaster for Western New York, a correspondent says: "I consider it correct from observations of the past summer and fall, while the weather prophets have made mistakes on account of unexpected counter winds and highs and lows. The well has made no mistakes.—Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat.

Cotton Out of Wood Pulp.

A process has been discovered for making artificial cotton out of wood pulp. The process consists in subjecting wood pulp to a chemical treatment which changes it into pure cellulose, from which it is spun into threads that can be woven as ordinary cotton threads. As celluloid material, which is made from cellulose, may be colored by chemical additions, it is quite likely that such artificial cotton can be produced in time in an infinite variety of bright colors. And if it is true, as reported, that thread can be made from pulp as cheap as from the natural fiber of the cotton plant, the importence and value of the discovery is almost beyond calculation.—Minneapolis Times.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, }
L. N. BOWDON, } Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

Inventive doctors the world over are busy discovering serum cures for all the ills that flesh is heir to.

The Chicago Physicians'Club has decided that "organized charity means a wild desire on the part of some people that other people should help the poor," and that the doctors generally get the heavy end of the stick.

It is claimed that the large gold fields, covering several thousands of acres in Buckingham County, Virginia, have recently been investigated by experts and that the average of the ores gives a much better percentage of gold than either the South African or Cripple Creek districts.

According to William E. Curtis, New York City is alarmed at the possibility that Chicago may capture most of the trade with the South if the proposed Chicago and Southern States exposition is held next fall. A counter demonstration is therefore being planned in Gotham. This will take the form of a monster parade of the blue and the gray. Negotiations to secure cheap excursion rates over all railroads for the masses and passes for merchants, producers, shippers, bankers and leading Grand Army of the Republic men in the South and West are being made. By these means it is expected that a big crowd can be secured and the Chicago project nullified or at least prevented from accomplishing all its promoters anticape.

In a recent address before the Liberal Club, of Buffalo, Hon. Carroll D. Wright, United States Labor Commissioner, made some interesting statements regarding the wealth and progress of the South. The strip of territory stretching from Pennsylvania to Alabama, Mr. Wright said, contained forty times the coal accessible to economic production and distribution that was contained in Great Britain before a pick was struck. He estimated that the production of cotton in the South is double what it was before the war; in twenty years the manufacture of pig iron has increased 1000 per cent., the railroad mileage is 150 per cent. greater now than in 1880, and the passenger traffic 500 per cent. greater, and the freight tons moved 400 per cent. larger. He says that since 1880 the Southern railroads have more than doubled their earnings, the banking capital has increased in like proportion, and the money spent in the support of schools has also been doubled.

In 1894 there were in the United States 12,731 mercantile failures. The number increased last year to 13,013, 2.2 per cent. more than the number for the previous year. The per cent. of failures during 1895 was 1.23 as compared with 1.21 for 1894 and 1.50 for 1893. The percentage of assets was fifty-five in 1895, as against fifty-three per cent. in 1894 and sixty-five in 1893. Bradstreet's, commenting on these figures, says that the "increase in business failures in 1895 contrasted with 1894 amounts to only 292, for which gains the Western, Northwestern and Middle States are responsible, they having been respectively 333, seventy-seven and sixty-four. While the increase in the total number of business failures in the Western States was apparently large —about eleven per cent.—the increase in total liabilities of failing traders did not amount to more than seven per cent., from which it may be perceived that commercial and industrial embarrassments in that region were largely among smaller concerns. It will be seen from the figures given above, observes the Atlanta Journal, that the number of failures in the South last year was much less than the number for 1894. The increase in the number for the whole country was 292, but the increase in the Northern and Western States was 472. Therefore, the South shows a decrease of 182 in the number of mercantile failures last year. This speaks remarkably well for our part of the country and is another proof that the South endured the panic better and came out from it with less injury than any other section.

Bismarck, Shelby Co., Ala., Feb. 8.

My Dear Mr. Editor: As you requested, I will try and give you a brief account of my journey down from Wisconsin, which was nearly a month ago.

First, I must tell you a year ago last December I made a visit to Brierfield and vicinity and became so delighted with the weather and this part of the country I returned home with a regular southern fever, because I was so infatuated with the country that when I returned I could talk nothing but the advantage the southern farmer had over a farmer in the north and northwest, with what knowledge I gained while here on my visit and what I learned from the pile of advertising matter and other information I would daily receive by mail from all parts of the south, showing up various localities and their advantages, the prices of land, etc. My name appeared in several papers published in the south as a westerner likely to come south—one I remember was published at Harriman, Tenn.—after which I was besieged with all kinds of reading matter from all over the south begging me, before locating, to visit their respective localities and see their advantages. But, no; I was satisfied with what I saw here and was bound to return to this part of the country. So, after very careful consideration, I finally decided to sell out my store and resign my position as postmaster and cast my lot among the genial people of the south—give up my home in the cold north and try the balmy south. So, on January 3, I packed my car with all the necessaries of life —my farm tools, horses, pigs, dogs, chickens, ducks, turkeys and cats—and started about 6 o'clock in the evening, with the thermometer registering 12 below zero and a terrific wind blowing, which made it feel as cold as though it was 25 below. The first night, being green at traveling by freight trains, I stayed all night in the box car without any fire, for fear my horses might become restless and want to lay down, or that some other harm might happen to my stock; but I learned that the next night I would not stay in the box car. I was glad to get in the warmer car, for I had all the ends of my fingers frozen. The cold, frost and the snow seemed to follow me along my journey till away down in Kentucky, though moderated quite a little from where I started. I reached Birmingham Junction on the morning of Wednesday, January 8. I think I made quite a quick trip by freight train, for the distance was some 950 miles. I am now staying with our hospitable friend, Ed Peters, where I expect to stay this year and try my hand at tilling the soil.

I have brought with me seed of most every kind we grow north, from Irish potatoes to navy beans. I had when I started about fifty bushels of Irish potatoes. I can tell you I had them packed for keeps, but in spite of all my efforts I got about fifteen bushels frozen on my way down. Among my collection I have brought about 100 ears of our famous Golden Queen flint corn, a sample of which I send you. I intend to try what can be done with it here. Sixty to seventy bushels has been raised per acre in Wisconsin. I was glad and very much surprised to see the advertisement of our Wisconsin seedsman in your paper this week. Now, I may say, if any of your patrons give him an order they can depend upon him, for whatever Saltzer sends out is true to name and is as he represents. They are a good firm to deal with.

One thing I would like to see in the south is a monthly stock fair, at which farmers and others who have stock to sell or trade would bring them in, and farmers who would want to buy would congregate together. It would not only afford a good market for stock, but for everything a man had to dispose of, and thus make a market for things farmers have on hand and have no sale for now, and Montevallo is a good central location for such a fair to be held. The people of Montevallo have shown their enterprise and vim in the manner they have so ably worked to get the Industrial school. See what can be done in this direction. It would increase the trade of your merchants beyond your expectation, as people who would never think of coming to Montevallo would come in on fair day, and each and every one would leave a little money in town. Surely some one would reap a benefit. I know of one town (Watertown, Wis.) where it's a common thing to meet men at that fair from towns sixty miles away.

I am afraid I am taking up too much of your valuable space. At some later edition I will give you my reasons why I consider the farmer of the south as to the advantage over the farmer of the north.

I am yours truly,

Arthur F. Hutchings.

Schooner and Crew Lost.

The schooner Florida, from Belfast, Me., on Sunday struck a sand bar off shore at Saullsbury, Mass., near where the Jennie M. Carter was wrecked a year ago. Seven men were seen in the rigging, but the life boat could not reach the vessel in the high seas prevailing. Bombs, with line attached were thrown, but the men in the rigging failed to catch the line, and at 10 o'clock went down with the masts into the sea, the vessel going to pieces.

Still Opposed to Betting.

The Mississippi legislature has had a big fight over a bill introduced by Mr. Lipscomb, of Madison, to repeal the section of the code which outlaws betting on horse races. The bill provoked a debate, lasting several hours, during which fourteen set speeches were made, but betting on horse races remains a serious offense by a vote of 65 to 30.

LIVE WASHINGTON NOTES.

Treasury Statement and Money Coined for January.

UHL, AMBASSADOR TO GERMANY.

Admiral Walker on Coast Defenses. Extension of Interstate Commerce Laws—Smuggling, a Result of Excessive Tariff—Uncle Sam's Loan.

Embassador to Germany.

Edwin F. Uhl, of Michigan, now assistant secretary of state, has been tendered the post of embassador to Germany to succeed the late Ambassador Runyon. Mr. Uhl has accepted the tender, and his nomination will go to the senate this week, probably tomorrow.

***

Eminent Naval Authority.

Admiral Walker appeared before the senate committee on coast defenses February 3 and presented many arguments in favor of the immediate carrying out of the plans for efficient coast defenses. He urged that the work of building up an invincible navy go hand in hand with the construction of great defenses on land, for by such a combination only could this country, with its enormous coast line, successfully withstand an attack by any great maritime power.

***

Extension of the Inter-State Commerce Law.

A sub-committee of the house committee on commerce considered the bill introduced by Mr. Corliss, of Michigan, regulating sleepidg car rates. It was decided to strike out all after the first section of the bill and report that section to the full committee for consideration. The first section proposes to extend the inter-state commerce law so as to include sleeping or public cars operated by common carriers engaged in inter-state commerce.

***

High Tariff Causes Smuggling.

A report has been received at the treasury department from the appraiser of customs at New York in which he estimates the loss to the government in revenues during the last year amounted to $100,000 by reason of the increased duty on diamonds. Cut diamonds under the law, as interpreted by the department now, paid an ad valorem duty of 25 per cent and this increased rate of 15 per cent has resulted, it is said, in vast numbers of diamonds being smuggled from Europe and Canada.

***

Money Coined in January.

The monthly report of the director of the mint shows the total coinage during January to have been $13,033,560, classified as follows: Gold, $12,914,600; silver, $35,000; minor coin, $53,960. Beginning Saturday the mints at Philadelphia, San Francisco and New Orleans begin the coinage of silver dollars at the rate of $1,500,000 a month, The Philadelphia mint will coin $900,000 a month, San Francisco $500,000 and New Orleans $100,000. It is expected that the work will continue until from $18,000,000 to $20,000,000 have been coined.

***

The Bonds Awarded.

Late Friday afternoon Assistant Secretary Curtis announced that he was able to state that from a complete analysis of the bids for bonds that they showed that bids aggregating $66,788,550 above 110.6877 had been received and the 780 persons making those bids would be awarded bonds. The Morgan syndicate's bid of 110.6877 for $100,000,000 bonds, or any part thereof, would be accepted for the balance of the $100,000,000, or for $33,211,350. All bids below the figure 110.6877 are therefore rejected.

The gold reserve at the close of business today stood at $44,483,186.

The withdrawals for the day at New York amounted to $730,000.

***

Uncle Sam's Popular Loan.

Bids for $100,000,000 thirty year, 4 per cent United States bonds were opened at the treasury department at noon today, under the conditions prescribed in the circular issued January 6, last, by Secretary Carlisle. The principal condition is that the bonds must be paid for in gold. For the convenience of purchasers, the bonds may be paid for in installments as follows: Twenty per cent at the time of the notice of acceptance, and 10 per cent at the end of each fifteen days thereafter. The total number of bona fide bids was 4,638, aggregating $558,239,850. The bids ranged from par to a fraction over 119. There were enough bids at 110.6887, and above that, to take much more than the entire amount of bonds offered.

The monthly statement of the public debt by the treasury department shows the public debt on January 31, 1896, less cash in the treasury, to have been $953,046,237, an increase over last month of $5,747,975, which is accounted for by a decrease during the month of $6,435,422 in the cash in the treasury. The debt is classified as follows: Interest-bearing debt, $747,362,820; debt on which interest has ceased since maturity, $1,673,190; debt bearing no interest, $375,602,005; total debt, $1,124,638,015, which does not include certificates and treasury notes outstanding amounting to $562,542,773, which is offset by an equal amount of cash in the treasury. The cash in the treasury is recapitulated as follows: Gold, $99,693,356; silver, $505,621,818; paper, $153,279,225; bonds, disbursing officers' balances, etc., $16,169,324, making an aggregate of $774,553,725, against which there are demand liabilities smounting to $602,961,947, leaving a cash balance of $171,591,778.

STATE TOPICS.

Late News Items of General Interest to Alabamians.

Not Shut Down.

The stave works at Bridgeport, which have been reported shut down, are running daily.

Plenty and to Spare.

The good people of Gadsden sent last week to the Presbyterian Orphans' Home in Talladega $30 in provisions, and $65 cash.

Body of an Unknown Man.

The body of a man, not identified, was found in a pit near Benton by two hunters. It was wrapped in cotton bagging and bore marks of violence.

Alabama Ships Hogs.

A Scottsboro dispatch says: "Ashmore and Robinson ship 1,000 hogs from here to western markets next week." It is predicted that more than 5,000 will be shipped.

Store and Safe Robbery.

The storehouse of J. W. Moore, of Steels, Ala., was broken into last Wednesday night by unknown parties. The iron safe was broken open and robbed of $80 in cash, and a quantity of merchandise.

Killed a Fellow Convict.

On Thursday last, at Coalburg, John Waldrop, a negro convict who was sent up from Jefferson county for grand larceny, drove a pick into the brain of Jasper Thornton, colored, also a convict, causing his death in a short time.

The Rains Last Week.

Unusually heavy rains were reported from several points in the state last week, beginning on Wednesday night, swelling streams to the great danger of bridges, tearing up roads, destroying fences and suspending farm work.

Coming Back Home.

A dispatch from Florence mentions the return to that city and vicinity of a number of families who emigrated to Texas and have come back satisfied that Alabama possesses the elements of prosperity and happiness in as high a degree as any state in the Union.

With His Little Pistol.

In an altercation between Mr. Pau Freeman and Mr. Robert Broadnax last Wednesday night at Hayneville, the latter shot the former, wounding him slightly, the ball having passed through Broadnax's hand before it struck Freeman.

Train Load of Bananas.

A train of eighteen cars of bananas from the steamer Condor left Mobile at 4:47 p. m. on January 29, and arrived at St. Louis at 3:55 p. m. January 30, making the time between the points on this train 22 hours and 8 minutes, a very fast run.

Tennessee River Trade.

The rise in the Tennessee river, which threatens to submerge all the islands and main shores along its course, has boomed business at Decatur and other north Alabama towns, and every serviceable boat now finds employment.

From Tuscaloosa to Liverpool.

The steamer Hatttie B. Moore was at the Tuscaloosa wharf Friday night and on her down trip to Mobile carried a considerable lot of compressed cotton on through bills of lading to Liverpool. The all water route from Tuscaloosa to foreign ports is being utilized this season as never before.

Rebuilding Burned Mills.

Andrews and Stevens large planing mills which were burned at Opelika during first part of January are being rebuilt, and will soon be ready for the new and improved machinery. This enterprise is a very important one to Opelika, as a large number of workmen are dependent upon it for labor.

The Tennessee Booming.

The Tennessee river was rising rapidly Saturday night and it was thought the islands and bottom lands would be flooded. All cattle were being driven from the bottoms. It is the first big rise in eighteen months, the river having been too low for navigation above Florence the greater portion of last year.

Mr. J. D. Mosely Loses a Hand.

On Monday morning Mr. J. D. Mosely, of Selma, while getting out of his buggy in front of Farrel's store near that city put his right hand on the muzzle of a gun, moving it so that the hammer was thrown and the gun fired, shattering his wrist and hand so that amputation was necessary.

High Waters at Brewton.

Another heavy rainfall visited Brewton Friday night, causing the streams to take another rise, though they had hardly gone down from the rise the day before. Several commercial men had to stay over two or three days last week, on account of the high water. All the mills were closed down water being up in them so they could not operate.

Prospective Cotton Mill.

Oxford is to have a cotton mill. The company starts with a paid-up capital of $50,000. The stockholders met Friday night and elected the following directors: O. W. Cooper, T. A. Howle, D. C. Cooper, J. R. Draper and L. B. Miller. Officers will be elected this week. Other industries are on foot and soon Oxford will be a thriving manufacturing city.

Indicted and Bailed.

Steve Pratt was indicted by the grand jury of Jefferson county last Monday for false pretense and, in another court, grand larceny, in obtaining $6,000 from old man Dobbins by the gold brick scheme. Under habeas corpus proceedings Friday his bond was fixed at $6,000 and was made, with Dr. R. M. Green, of Opelika, and M. T. Stratford as sureties, secured by cash deposited with the sheriff.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor: Services every 2nd and 4th Sundays. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. S. L. Dobbs, pastor: Services every 1st and 3rd Sundays. Prayer Meeting every Thursday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor: Services every 3rd Sunday, at 4 p. m.

Presbyterian Church—Rev. J. H. Zwingle, pastor: Services every 2nd Sunday.

Sunbeam Society meets every 1st and 3rd Sundays at Baptist church at 2:30 p. m

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Metbodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Missionary Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham	7:25 p m
No. 15	South	12:37 p m
No. 16	North	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. J. D. Draper and wife were in Montevallo on the 6th.

Mr. William Marchant, of Six Mile, accompanied by Mr. Lee Spinks, made us a pleasant call last week.

Notice the announcement in this issue for February 22d of Sam Jones' presence in Blocton. We certainly advise all who are able to do so to attend. You will be sure to hear something.

Mr. Wm. Langston, of Six Mile, visited Montevallo last week. It is always with a feeling of genuine pleasure that we welcome Will to town.

Messrs. M. D. and J. D. Langston called round to see us last week.

Miss Nettie Leonard and Miss Pardue, two very pretty and agreeable young ladies of Longview, brightened the town with their presence Wednesday. One of our young men was especially glad to see Miss Nettie, who is an old friend of his.

Died, on the night of the 7th, Mrs. Louisa L. Harrison, widow of Thos. Harrison. Mrs. Harrison's maiden name was Houser. She was at the ripe old age of seventy years. Thos. Harrison, her husband, was a prominent man in the county and once held the office of sheriff.

Mr. Yeatman, the tank man for this section of the Southern railroad, received a serious accidental injury in the hand Monday.

Mr. Ernest McIver, of East Lake, visited Prof. Dill's family Sunday.

It seems that the champions have been out-championed. Geo. Morgan and French Nabors, 39 birds; Dr. Acker and Mr. Vest, 15.

They may make better sermons than our preacher gave us last Sunday, but we doubt it.

We are just in receipt of a private letter from Mr. H. C. Reynolds who is now in Washington. He writes that he is greatly encouraged in regard to the bill introduced in congress for the appropriation of the twenty-five thousand acres of mineral land for the Industrial school. He has seen a great many of the prominent senators and congressmen and they assure him that the bill will undoubtedly pass. This means much for the success of the school. Should it pass it would bring in at least $100,000 and perhaps more. Captain E. W. Booker, of Shelby Springs, who has been an untiring friend to Montevallo in her efforts to get the school, is with Mr. Reynolds and they will no doubt get the bill under good headway before they leave.

We learn that Mr. George R. Boyd, of Montgomery, will be a candidate for the office of state treasurer. Mr. Boyd formerly lived n our town and has many warm friends who wish him success in his efforts. No purer nor more competent man could offer for the place.

In another column will be found a very interesting communication from Mr. Arthur Hutchings, who has lately moved here from Wisconsin. Mr. Hutchings seems to be a hustler and a clever gentleman. We welcome him to our midst. He and his wife were originally from England. Mrs. Hutchings was reared on Stratford on Aron, near where the immortal Shakespeare was born. Her description of English life is very interesting.

A School Girl's Unhappy Fate.

C. T. Nelson, an employe of the Williams carriage works, has received several messages from Huntington, W. Va., stating that his daughter, Bessie, who is at school there, had been drugged and outraged by a man named Billups, and that she was at the point of death. Mr. Nelson started from Huntington. A dispatch from that city says that while returning home from a wake three weeks ago, late at night, William Billups gave her a drug and committed a criminal assault on her. Since then she has been dangerously ill and is suffering from monomania. She is a very pretty girl and bore a good reputation. Billups has left for parts unknown. The girl is only 14 years of age.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

ASHBY LOCALS.

Mr. J. G. Oakley's new residence is quite an addition to our town. Who knows but Ashby will be a thriving littly "city" yet.

Our gallant depot agent has a lovely horse and buggy, but to the dismay of all the girls he always takes some boy out riding with him. Now, Ed, don't be so selfish because it's Leap year.

It is rumored that we are to have a marriage close by soon. How about it Mr. M., if you are not asleep.

Mr. John Parks and family left for Carrollton Hill last week. Their many friends wish for them a bright future.

Messrs. King, Bell and Davenport went on quite a successful hunt one day last week. Killed seven rabbits, twelve partridges and a large hawk. Henry must have a pie, if it's a rat pie.

We were glad to see our friend John Brock, able to be out calling Sunday afternoon.

Boys, think nothing strange of the way you were treated down the hollow one night not long since. We must excuse ignorance.

Mr. John Hatcher, of Chilton, was in town Sunday eve.

Why do we never hear of the Concord marriage now. She hasn't given him the G. B. for his horse still knows the "old cedar by the gate." If they don't make haste he will have to rear the "Little log cabin in the Lane."

A sad accident occurred near British Wednesday last. A 7-year-old girl of Mr. Williams was lightning struck and instantly killed. The house was struck and badly splintered. They have our sincere sympathy.

Reporter.

DOGWOOD BREVITIES.

Rev. J. D. Martin, of Pelham, Ala., filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church Saturday and Sunday.

We, as sisters and children of Mrs. Louisa Harrison, extend many, many thanks to the people of this community for the kindness to us during her sickness, and also for kindness extended to us in the past, during our trouble.

Very respectfully,
Miss Mollie Houser.
Mrs. G. T. Harrison.

Mrs. H. C. Allen, of Birmingham, has come down to spend several weeks in town. She came down with the intention of drinking sulphur water for her health.

Mr. C. W. Cary, of Montevallo, was in town one day last week on professional business.

Miss Donie Curtis, of Elliottsville, spent a few days in the city last week.

Mr. Wane Ozley, of Ganadarge, spent Sunday here with relatives.

Mr. T. T. Dison and his sister, Miss Callie, of Blocton, have been spending several days with relatives near this place.

Mr. John M. Lacey, of Maylene, visited relatives here last week.

Dr. H. W. Harrison contemplates opening his coal mine at an early date.

Mr. G. J. Jinks filled his regular appointment here Sunday.

Frank Cunningham, Esq., contemplates going over to see his best girl. He says she is well of measles at last.

Rev. N. J. Jarvis went up to Jonesboro Sunday to fill his regular appointment.

Mr. Oscar Harrison, of Imogene, spent last week with relatives and friends here.

Mr. Sam Vest, of Imogene, came down Sunday to attend the burial services of his aunt, Mrs. Louisa Harrison. "Vivin."

BISMARCK.

The farmers are repairing fences, sowing oats and getting ready in earnest for a crop.

There will be preaching at the Bismarck Baptist church next Sunday by Rev. T. B. Dison.

Mr. John Rice is much improved.

N. Eddings was in the town yesterday looking after his interest in the order of Never Sweats.

C. B. B. did not get to take his fourteen mile trip yesterday. The boys looked pale.

W. L. N. called on his best girl yesterday. We think he means business.

We learn that the plans for a new depot at Bismarck have been sent in to headquarters.

Hon. R. L. Rice spent last week in Blocton in the interest of the Weekly Advertiser, of Montgomery.

L. A. Groves of Blocton was in Bismarck a few days since.

The postmaster-general has appointed R. Lee Rice postmaster at Gurnee, Ala. Lee is a good business man and will, we trust, make an efficient postmaster.

The Glass house was insured for about $800.

Success to the NEWS.

Patsy.

CONCORD LOCALS.

Miss Viola Woolley who has been very low with disease for some time is improving. We wish Miss Viola a speedy recovery.

D. S. Sessions, one of our most popular society young men, visited his best girl at Jemison last Sunday.

Dr. J. H. Gunn, of Calera, was called to the bedside of Miss Sue Daniel who is very low with slow fever.

Rev. Mr. Dobbs failed to fill his regular appointment here last Sunday. We learn he attended a burial service at Salem.

Mr. J. B. Wiggins was dangerously ill the latter part of last week.

Drs. Gihavan and Gunn have been very busy in practicing their profession in this county this week.

Miss Maggie Woolley who has been attending school at Clanton was called home to the bedside of her sister, Miss Viola.

Mr. John Garner, of Clanton, spent two days with us last week.

Mr. Walter Mulkey passed through here last week en route to Calera.

We regret to learn that Miss Lula Eddings has been unwell for the past week.

Bill Crow.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

A year ago the Bullock county commissioners bought sixteen mules, two great scrapers, two immense plows and employed an overseer and six hands and began a systematic laying out of roads. The first thing the overseer would do on a given road would be to straighten it. No winding elbows or circus tracks for the big, main roads in Bullock. Then he would call out the hands along the route to work their quota, and they were made to put in ten full days. The big hills were blasted down by dynamite and made of easier grade and a thirty-foot wide roadway built with terra cotta pipe for small drains and substantial bridges on the water courses. This work has been going on now for a year, and great progress has been made. Miles and miles of beautiful roads have been built over ground which was before in the rainy season impassable. No work is or can be done on sandy stretches. —Eufaula Times.

Nothing enhances the value of property in a county, nor attracts the attention of the home seeker more certainly than education and good roads. Shelby county is blessed with railroads, but few counties have more facilities for reaching the outer world, and but few counties have poorer public roads. The railroads pay very nearly three-fourths of our county taxes. The railroad officials know that as you educate a people and improve a county it will produce more to ship and the people will travel more.

Why not have a system of public schools for our county that will costs the citizens far less and give them good teachers and longer terms in place of the three months schools now so often to be seen all over the county?

Then why not adopt the Bullock county plan of road working, and where it can be done gravel or chert the roads so we can travel over our roads instead of the miserable makeshifts we now have?

THEY SAY

That life is sweet to those that do their duty.

That there are few who cannot have what they desire and strive for—good health, for example.

That what is wrong is injurious to to the health.

That the Bible only forbids the things that are injurious, and that because they are injurious.

That the local editors got behind this week.

On Friday night, February 21, the young men will have a grand ball at the Aldrich hall. Montano's Italian band has been engaged for the occasion and a great time is expected.

Sam Jones will lecture in Blocton at the Tabernacle on the evening of February 22.

ENOUGH OF THE WHITE HOUSE.

Gen. Harrison Writes a Graceful Letter Declining to Be a Candidate.

Captain John K. Gowdy, chairman of the republican state central committee, of Illinois, has received the following letter:

"Hon. John K. Gowdy, Indianapolis:

"In view of the resolutions passed by the state central committee at its recent meeting and of the fact that delegates to the national republican convention are soon to be chosen in this state, I have concluded that some statement from me as to my wishes and purposes should now be made to my Indiana friends.

"Hitherto I have declined to speak to the public upon this matter, but scores of friends to whom I have talked, and many scores more to whom I have written, will recognize in this expression the substance of what I have said to them. To every one who has proposed to promote my nomination I have said: "No; there never has been an hour since I left the White House that I have felt a wish to return to it.

"My Indiana friends have been most devoted and faithful, and I am their grateful debtor. The republican party has twice in convention given me indorsement, and that is enough. I think the voters of our party are now entitled to have a new name.

"For the sentiment, great or small, that has been manifested for my renomination I am grateful, and of that wider respect and kindness—breaking party lines—which have been shown me in so many ways I am profoundly appreciative.

"I cannot consent that my name be presented to or used in the St. Louis convention, and must kindly ask my friends to accept this as a sincere and final expression upon the subject.

"Benjamin Harrison.

"Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 3, 1896."

A Train Blown Over.

The regular train, leaving Denver at 8 a. m., was blown over half mile from Georgetown, Col., at 12:10 p. m. Several passengers were severely hurt, but none fatally. It is said that similar accidents have occurred within 1,500 feet of same spot thrice before.

SOUTHSIDE DOTS.

Mr. W. S. Cary is making preparations to build a beautiful two story residence near the industrial school grounds. The contractor is here already to begin work.

Madam Rumor says G. W. Morgan has engaged a contractor to build him a small "cottage" on Lyman lot.

Mr. McEver of Birmingham visited his cousin, Prof. Dill, Sunday, and, if our eyes do not deceive us, there are other attractions beside "kinfolks" that brought him here.

Mr. Corbett paid his wife and relatives a flying visit Sunday last. Mr. Corbett is making an extended tour through the south in the interest of his business. His wife will join him soon in Montgomery, from which place they will proceed to Mobile to take in Mardi Gras.

Shorty says he wishes the rain would stop as it interferes with his drives across the creek.

The Orphans' Home needs an assistant, so "Major" says.

Say, Boys, don't you think Bowdon ought to jump the broom, or stop visiting every other fellow's girl in town?

Mrs. C. C. Vandegrift contemplates visiting Mobile and Atlanta to select her future home. We hope she will decide to reside in Montevallo, for we would regret exceedingly to lose her.

The "dentist" must intend starting a "beauty show," for he has taken all the little darlings in town.

Sam Vest of Imogene visited relatives and his second best girl Sunday.

We we glad to receive a call from our young friend, Will Harrison, last Tuesday.

Who gave John Kroell his black eye? Somebody said a girl did. How 'bout it, John. Own up.

Miss Lucile Fancher, who left last Friday to visit relatives in British, returned Sunday eve.

We understand that some of the boys are going to make valentines of themselves on the 14th.

Patts says he wishes some more girls would come to Montevallo, as some other fellows seem to have mortgages on all in town.

A. J. Lee has been knocked out several times lately, but wishes it announced that he is still in the ring.

Ask John Mc. the name of that tin concern in front of Kroell's store.

Hoping to see this in print and wishing you unlimited success, I am

Solomon.

Destructive Flood in Texas.

During Friday and Saturday another rise of 6 feet has come down the Brazos river, playing havoc. At Hempstead two ferry boats were swept away and the heavy iron pillows of the new bridge are gone. Hundreds of dead horses and cattle are floating down stream, and the loss is heavy all along the river. At Velasco, the Brazos is higher than ever known before and the town is now an island. Two whites and one negro were drowned. The Sabine river, in east Texas, is out of its banks and doing much damage to saw mills and live stock.

Gone Before a Higher Court.

Simpson Cummiugs was shot and killed at Coal Creek, Tenn., Friday. He was under sentence of ten years in the penitentiary for the murder of James Perry last year. He had been granted a new trial, however, and when shot made a dying statement that he was the murderer of Perry.

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.

H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA,
Shelby County,

Under and by virture of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will proceed to sell on Monday, the 24th day of February, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corner of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff,
tf Shelby County, Alabama.

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE.

The State of Alabama,
Shelby County.

Probate Court for Shelby County, Alabama.—Letters of administration upon the estate of J. S. Davis, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 3d day of February, 1896, by the Hon. D. R. McMillan, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

F. E. Davis and
A. E. Davis,
feb 6 3t Administrators.

Bank Robbery in Missouri.

Bank robbers made a bold raid on the State National bank at Savannah, Mo., Friday night. They beat the night watchman into insensibility and then gained entrance to the vault. Here they secured about $300 worth of stamps belonging to the postoffice, but were unable to open the safe containing the funds of the bank. Three characters who have been hanging around the town are suspected. In the private boxes connected with the vault the robbers found $14,000 in bonds, which they carried away with them. The bonds were numbered from 120,733 to 120,744, inclusive, and numbers 114,-192. The coupons on the bonds, due January 1, 1896, had not been detached from the bonds.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!
The Fireside!!
The Store!!!

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

J. B. Lewis Co. WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear,
Style,
Ease,
Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

A. B. CLAUGHTON,

Physician and Surgeon.

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

Office in store of H. C. & W. B Reynolds.

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT. LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY.

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

$400 in Prizes on Oats and Corn.

Last year we offered $200 for the biggest yield on oats. 209 bushels Silver Mine Oats won. This year we offer $200 more on oats, $100 on Silver King Barley, a Barley yielding in 1895 116 bushels per acre, and $100 on Golden Triumph, Yellow Dent Corn, the corn of your dreams!

What's Teosinte and Sand Vetch and Sacaline and Lathyrus and Giant Spurry and Giant Incarnate Clover and lots of such things? They'll make you rich if you plant a plenty. Catalogue tells you.

IF YOU WILL CUT THIS OUT AND SEND it with 10c. postage to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., you will get, free, 10 grasses and grains, including above oats, barley, corn and their mammoth catalogue. Catalogue alone 5c. (A. C.)

Of nineteen generals on the active list of the British army, two hold the Victoria cross, viz: Sir H. Prendergrast and Lord Roberts.

When Dobbins' Electric Soap was first made in 1865 it cost 20 cents a bar. It is precisely the same ingredients and quality now and doesn't cost half. Buy it of your grocer and preserve your clothes. If he hasn't it, he will get it.

London trained nurses have now a club of their own, just off the Strand, and it has already 500 members.

THROAT TROUBLES. To allay the irritation that induces coughing, use "Brown's Bronchial Troches." A simple and safe remedy.

Five new works of fiction were offered to the British every working day last year.

What a Sense of Relief it is to Know that you have no corns. Hindercorns removes them, and is comforting. 15c. at druggists.

I have found Piso's Cure for Consumption an unfailing medicine.—F. R. LORA, 1305 Scott St., Covington, Ky., Oct. 1, 1894.

Parker's Ginger Tonic is Popular for good work. Suffering, sleepless, nervous women find nothing so soothing and reviving.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

Pure

Blood means sound health. With pure, rich, healthy blood, the stomach and digestive organs will be vigorous, and there will be no dyspepsia. Rheumatism and neuralgia will be unknown. Scrofula and salt rheum will disappear. Your nerves will be strong, your sleep sound, sweet and refreshing. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. That is why it cures so many diseases. That is why thousands take it to cure disease, retain good health. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR

W. L. DOUGLAS $3. SHOE BEST IN THE WORLD.

If you pay $4 to $6 for shoes, examine the W. L. Douglas Shoe, and see what a good shoe you can buy for $3.

OVER 100 STYLES AND WIDTHS,

CONGRESS, BUTTON, and LACE, made in all kinds of the best selected leather by skilled workmen. We make and sell more $3 Shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.

None genuine unless name and price is stamped on the bottom.

Ask your dealer for our $5, $4, $3.50, $2.50, $2.25 Shoes; $2.50, $2 and $1.75 for boys.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE. If your dealer cannot supply you, send to factory, enclosing price and 36 cents to pay carriage. State kind, style of toe (cap or plain), size and width. Our Custom Dept. will fill your order. Send for new Illustrated Catalogue to Box R.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

THE AERMOTOR CO. does half the world's windmill business, because it has reduced the cost of wind power to 1/6 what it was. It has many branch houses, and supplies its goods and repairs at your door. It can and does furnish a better article for less money than others. It makes Pumping and Geared, Steel, Galvanized-after-Completion Windmills, Tilting and Fixed Steel Towers, Steel Buzz Saw Frames, Steel Feed Cutters and Feed Grinders. On application it will name one of these articles that it will furnish until January 1st at 1/3 the usual price. It also makes Tanks and Pumps of all kinds. Send for catalogue. Factory: 12th, Rockwell and Fillmore Streets, Chicago.

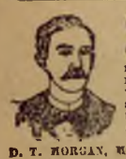
WE HAVE NO AGENTS. but sell direct to the consumer at wholesale prices. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Write for catalogue.

ELKHART Carriage & Harness Mfg Co. Elkhart, Ind.

W. B. PRATT, Secy.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists



$3 A DAY SURE. SEND us your address and we will show you how to make $3 a day; absolutely sure; we furnish the work and teach you free you work in the locality where you live; send us your address and we will explain the business fully; remember we guarantee a clear profit of $3 for every day's work; absolutely sure; write at once.

D. T. MORGAN, Manager, Box LF, DETROIT, MICHIGAN.

PAYING POSITIONS

GUARANTEED IN WRITING. Students' complete course in HALF the TIME at HALF the EXPENSE of other colleges. 24 placed last month. Address at once GEORGIA BUS. COLLEGE, Macon, Ga.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

Am. N. U. No. 7, 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

NEWS AND NOTES FOR WOMEN.

NO DIVORCES FROM VASSAR.

Vassar College puts forth new claims to distinction. It has been in existence now a quarter of a century, and, overhauling its matrimonial record, it appears that while Vassar girls have enjoyed excellent opportunities for marrying, there is no record of any divorce. This seems to prove either that the educational advantages at that college render Vassar girls exceptionally good judges of men, or it teaches them to make the best of circumstances.—Detroit Free Press.

DAUGHTER OF A REGIMENT DEAD.

There died recently at the city infirmary, Cincinnati, Ohio, Mme. Sophie Hebrigel, who was born in France but came to America in 1850. At the opening of the war she enlisted and followed the Ninth Ohio to the battlefields, where she attended the wounded and devoted the greater part of her fortune to the establishment of field hospitals. Through three years' service she carried an ordinary soldier's canteen, and this, with a flag she in some way obtained, was one of the treasures of her declining years. So great was her veneration for the flag that her will directs that her remains be wrapped in it before incineration, which she chose for the disposition of her body. Of late she has been an object of charity. She was eighty-three years of age. Defeated in her claim before Congress for a pension, her will asks that God may have mercy on those who have so slightingly treated her. — Chicago Times-Herald.

EFFIGIES OF WOMEN.

Solitary effigies of females are not so general as those of knights, nevertheless they are not rare. In Haversham church there is a monument of Elizabeth Lady Clinton, on which a life-size effigy is placed, says a writer in the Cornhill Magazine. A cherub supports the pillow on which the head of the figure reposes, and an animal is placed at its feet. A veil of drapery is disposed over the head without covering the features, some of which have, unfortunately, had rough treatment. The hands are raised and folded; the robes are arranged in compact continuous lines. The sides of the monument are paneled, and in each panel are figures, chiefly angels bearing shields. In St. Ausfen's Church there is an instance in which a female is sculptured with a child by her side.

In Alnwick Church there is an effigy of a female, wrought in the sandstone of the district, that has been detached from all association in its original position, but which from its costume is thought likely to represent the widow of the last of the De Vercies, the lords of Alnwick before the reign of the Percies. Moved about by energetic custodians, perhaps with a view to obtain more room for sittings, this figure, with two others, was placed on end for some time, but has more recently been restored to its recumbent position. Effigies of wives associated with their husbands are, however, much more numerous. In Kings Carswell Church may be seen a memorial representing an individual of the Dinham family and his wife. The legs of this knight are not crossed nor does he bear either sword or shield, though he has a hemlet on his head and a gorget of mail around his neck. In both these figures the hands have been destroyed. The dame wears a headdress of a coronet form, a bead necklace with a pendant and closely-fitting robes, which fall in many folds about her feet. The heads of both personages rest on pillows that are smoothed or held by angels, of whom little more than the compassionate hands can now be made out.

Of similar typical interest is a monument of a knight of the Fitz-Herbert family and his wife in Norbury Church, Derbyshire. The sides of this tomb are divided into six panels, in each of which are figures. On the flat top are two life-size effigies. In this example the knight is bare-headed and his hands are in an attitude of prayer. His wife wears a high and pointed headdress and a mantle kept in position over her robes by an ornamental pin. Two angels are shown at the heads of these figures and two animals at their feet.—Chicago Record.

GOSSIP.

Women are advised by Mrs. M. Louise Thomas to raise bees.

Henry Irving is to unveil the statue of Mrs. Siddons on Paddington green, London, in the spring.

Finland has several volunteer fire brigades composed of women, and they are said to do good work at fires.

Ellen Spencer Mussey, one of the cleverest lawyers in Washington, D. C., is the widow of the late General Mussey.

The latest society fad in England, which is winning its way in Paris, is smoking cigarettes made of tea leaves after dinner.

The Emperor of Austria has issued a decree admitting women to the medical and philosophical schools of the Hungarian universities.

Kate Field has been singing at a concert in Honolulu, Hawaii, for the benefit of the lepers. She is said to have scored a great hit.

Miss Anna Laurens Dawes is making an enviable reputation as a magazine and newspaper writer. She is a daughter of ex-Senator Dawes, of Massachusetts.

A Congregational church in Sedalia, Mo., elected four young ladies to act as ushers during the coming year, but the girls decline, without thanks, and very positively.

Mrs. George Augustus Sala announces that she intends to write a biography of her famous husband, and asks the public not to buy "unauthorized" biographies.

Mrs. Langtry's daughter attracts much attention in London. Her beauty rivals that possessed by her mother in the days when she was first called the "Jersey Lily."

The Empress of Austria is suffering from prolonged spells of melancholy and religious excitement, bordering on mania, and her physicians have ordered for her repeated changes of scene.

One of the inconveniences connected with Queen Victoria's lofty station is that she may not read any document or letter, except from members of her own family, until they have been scrutinized by the proper official.

Mrs. Josephine Benjamin, a Bayport (L. I.) bicycle girl, rode two miles to Sayville, and summoned the fire department to assist at a big Bayport fire, and so was instrumental in saving a great deal of property.

Sixty-seven American women have been granted permission to attend the winter lectures of the Berlin University. This is a matter for remark since the German professors have been opposed to the attendance of women at the lectures, but when the Minister of Education gives the privilege, as in this case, the women may go.

Mrs. T. K. W. Shimer, owner and principal of the Mount Carroll Female Seminary of Mount Carroll, Ill., has offered to the University of Chicago the seminary buildings and twenty-five acres of ground, with an endowment of from $150,000 to $200,000, to be run as a girls training school in connection with the university.

The Queen of Italy, during her autumn sojourn at Monza, has been assiduously practicing as a cyclist under the guidance of a Milanese professor, and she is now able to cover long distances with ease and safety. Many Italian ladies, not much given hitherto to athletic pastimes, are said to be following her Majesty's example.

FASHION NOTES.

A plain blue serge dress, with cuffs and collar of plaid, either silk or wool, is pretty.

A mignonette green crepon had the collar and cuffs of batiste made separate for laundering.

Violet velvet hats and bonnets trimmed with violet pansies and violets are in high vogue.

A blue and black mixture had black velvet cuffs and collar, with a tiny band of heavy creamy lace laid flat on the edges.

An electric blue, with collar and cuffs of a lighter shade, with an edge of gold braiding, had a frill of heavy lace around the former.

A pretty bodice for informal dinners and card parties is made of black silk velvet cut plain in the back in French style, and square in front.

A dark green dress, with collar and cuffs of white cloth, edged with mink fur, makes a very rich looking and stylish dress for best wear.

A brown cheviot, showing pink and red threads in the weave, had a collar of pink cloth covered with red braiding done in a simple design.

Forget-me-nots and good luck horse shoes and such like simple things are not even spoken of this season. Everything is literary, historic and symbolic.

Two-button cutaway coats of rough cheviot made with a deeply notched collar and medium sized melon sleeves, are neat, inexpensive wraps for every day wear.

Among the waists for dressy afternoon wear with black or dark skirts are those of chine, taffeta or faille silk with dark grounds well covered with shadowy Pompadour figures.

Very stylish and English-looking suits for boys from four to ten years old have knickerbockers and the yoke Norfolk jacket introduced in the spring, much like those worn by men when golfing.

Empire capes with picturesque collars and jaunty coats of boucle cloth are everywhere seen, the latter lined with a richly plaided silk, sufficiently pretty to make one feel inclined to turn the wrap inside out.

Sailor suits for boys of two or three years are of blue or tan or white serge, made in the simplest fashion, with a full drooping sailor blouse, large sailor collar, and either a kilt or gathered skirt. Rows of narrow braid trim the collar and cuffs.

A dress designed for a girl's best frock was of sage crepon, with the top of brown velvet, all the edges being trimmed with a narrow fringe of sable set under. Two sable tails hung from each strap at the waist line, over the skirt, both back and front.

Medium sized tortoise shell combs, ornamented with applied silver, are more popular than anything else just now, but they really show up better in light hair than in any other. Black garnet and mat jet combs and hair pins are being imported from Paris.

THE DRUG CLERK'S STORY.

He Talks of Headaches and Nervousness and Gives a Cure for Both.

From the Evening News, Newark, N. J.

It was the drug clerk's turn to tell a story of one of his experiences, and the reporter, expecting something good, as usual, settled himself comfortably in a chair prepared to give his undivided attention to the speaker. The latter was Henry Maier, who resides with his parents on Acqueduct Street, Newark, N. J., and who hands out medicine over the counter of Dr. Andrew F. Burkhardt's drug store at 271 Orange Street, this city.

"Perhaps I can do nothing better," he began, "than to tell you the secret of my good health. It is a story that I have told to many, recently, and as it resulted in good in each case, it may be worth your while to listen to it. To begin with, I was not always strong and robust, as I am now. Long hours of work and hard study had left me in a wretched condition. Frightful, lingering headaches found me a ready victim, and at times I was so nervous that the dropping of a pin would cause me to give a violent start, and then I would be seized with a fit of trembling that was, to put it mildly, exceedingly bothersome. Well, I began to doctor myself. Now I flatter myself that I know something of medicine; but with all my knowledge, I could find nothing that would cure those terrible headaches or put an end to my extreme nervousness. When I picked up a bottle my hand would shake as though I had the chills, and if it was a powder that I was handling I stood a good chance of sprinkling it all over these black trousers. Things went from bad to worse, and I soon realized that a man of my physical condition had better not attempt to mix any medicine.

"'Try a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills,' said Dr. Burkhardt, one day; and as you know the doctor's advice is always worth following, I got the Pink Pills and began to take them. Aladdin's lamp never performed the wonders of these pills. Would you believe it? Before I had taken the contents of one box my headache began to give me a day off occasionally, and soon it left me entirely. How about my nervousness? Well, the pills put an end to that with almost startling abruptness. You see I know enough about the business to appreciate the importance of following the prescribing physicians' directions, and by paying strict attention to those given by Dr. Williams with each box of his Pink Pills, I was soon another fellow. Look at me now! A picture of health, eh? Well, that is what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do for a man, or a woman either. See, I can hold this glass of water out now without spilling a drop, but I couldn't do that two months ago and—

"What is it, ma'm?" he asked as a neatly dressed woman came up to the counter. "A box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." "Yes, ma'm, fifty cents, please. Thank you."

"These Pink Pills are great things," said Mr. Maier as he turned to the reporter again, and the latter, after all he had heard, thought so too.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

WALTER BAKER & CO., LIMITED, DORCHESTER, MASS., the well-known manufacturers of Breakfast Cocoa and other Cocoa and Chocolate preparations, have an extraordinary collection of medals and diplomas awarded at the great international and other exhibitions in Europe and America. The house has had uninterrupted prosperity for nearly a century and a quarter, and is now not only the oldest but the largest establishment of the kind on this continent. The high degree of perfection which the Company has attained in its manufactured products is the result of long experience combined with an intelligent use of the new forces which are constantly being introduced to increase the power and improve the quality of production, and cheapen the cost to the consumer.

The full strength and the exquisite natural flavor of the raw material are preserved unimpaired in all of WALTER BAKER & COMPANY'S preparations; so that their products may truly be said to form the standard for purity and excellence.

In view of the many imitations of the name, labels and wrappers on their goods consumers should ask for and be sure that they get the genuine articles made at DORCHESTER, MASS.

Come West For Your Seed.

That's what we say, because it's the best. Salzer's Wisconsin grown seeds are bred to earliness and produce the earliest vegetables in the world. Right alongside of other seedmen's earliest, his are twenty days ahead! Just try his earliest peas, radishes, lettuce, cabbage, etc. He is the largest grower of farm and vegetable seeds, potatoes, grasses, clovers, etc.

IF YOU WILL CUT THIS OUT AND SEND IT to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., with 10c. postage, you will get sample package of Early Bird Radish (ready in 16 days) and their great catalogue. Catalogue alone 5c. postage. (A. C.)

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. GLEASON, SEAL, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Chicago, Ill.

From personal knowledge, having used it myself and in my family, and from the enthusiastic commendation of numerous customers, I have no hesitancy in pronouncing Tetterine to be unmeasurably superior to any remedy known to me for skin diseases, and I have tried all the well known ones. I write this, the only testimonial I have ever given to a remedy, because I am deeply impressed with the extraordinary merits of Tetterine. C. H. McConnell, Mngr. Economical Drug Co., 126 Clark St. Sent by mail for 50c. in stamps. J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

The Words of a Famous Mission Worker.

Perhaps no man in Atlanta is better and more favorably known than Mr. John W. Barclay. He for a long time has been a sufferer from indigestion and dyspepsia. This is what he says:

"Atlanta, Ga., January 23, 1895.—Dr. C. O. Tyner: Having used Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy for several years in my family I gladly add my testimony to what has already been said in its praise. Without any exception I think it is the finest remedy on the market and nothing would induce me to do without it. "JNO. F. BARCLAY."

A Good Dog is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

Character Reading.

An observing dentist says that long, narrow teeth denote vanity; those that are long and projecting indicate a grasping disposition. Treachery is shown by the possession of small, white, separated teeth, and inconstancy is revealed by overlapping teeth.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

"Blight"

costs cotton planters more than five million dollars annually. This is an enormous waste, and can be prevented. Practical experiments at Alabama Experiment Station show conclusively that the use of

"Kainit"

will prevent that dreaded plant disease.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing the results of latest experiments in this line. Every cotton farmer should have a copy. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS, 93 Nassau St., New York.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. Bert M. Moses, the advertisment and business writer of 502 Third street, Brooklyn, relates that he recently had occasion to consult Dr. J. S. Carreau, a well-known physician of 18 West Twenty-first street, New York City, for a stomach trouble which was pronounced a type of dyspepsia. "After consultation," writes Mr. Moses, "the Doctor gave me a prescription, and I was somewhat surprised to note that the formula was nearly identical with that of Ripans Tabules, for which I had, on more than one occasion prepared advertising matter. I had Dr. Carreau's prescription filled, and it proved satisfactory, giving quick relief. A week later, when I had taken all the medicine, I again called on the Doctor and mentioned the similarity of his prescription and the proprietary remedy spoken of, showing him both the remedy itself and the formula. The Doctor was at first somewhat inclined to criticise what he called patent medicines, but appeared to be surprised when he noted to what extent his own prescription conformed to the formula I showed him. It was practically the same. After a short time devoted to noting the careful manner in which the proprietary medicine was prepared, he wound up by prescribing it for my case. Of course I had to pay him for telling me to do this, but it was worth the cost to have such high professional assurance that the advertised article was, in fact, the scientific formula that it purported to be. I might have taken the proprietary medicine in the beginning and saved the Doctor's fee, but I think the confidence I have acquired in the efficacy of the remedy, through the Doctor's indorsement of it, is well worth the fee."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Second Hand

TUERK WATER MOTOR

For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to

Atlanta Newspaper Union, ATLANTA, GA.

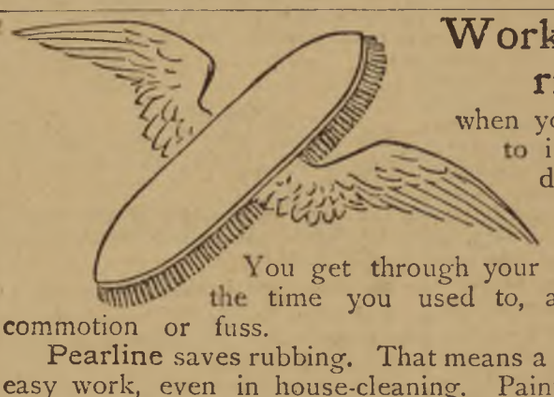
OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. DR. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Mc ELREE'S Wine of Cardui

(PURE VEGETABLE EXTRACT.—NOT INTOXICATING.)

CURES FEMALE DISEASES!

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.



Work flies right along when you take Pearline to it. So does the dirt. Every scrubbing brush seems to have wings. You get through your cleaning in half the time you used to, and without any commotion or fuss.

Pearline saves rubbing. That means a good deal besides easy work, even in house-cleaning. Paint and wood-work and oil-cloth, etc., are worn out by rubbing.

Pearline cleans, with the least labor, and without the least harm, anything in the world that water doesn't hurt.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 465 JAMES PYLE, New York.

BUY SALZER'S NORTHERN GROWN
HURRAH, FARMERS—SHOUT FOR JOY!
The millennium is coming for the farmer, for with our new creations in Wheat (60 bu.), Oats (209 bu.), Barley (116 bu.), Corn (207 bu.), Rye (70 bu.), Potatoes (1,200 bu.), Hay (6 tons), and Green Fodder (100 tons per acre)—we say with such yields the millennium is here for the farmer! SILVER MINE OATS—$200 IN GOLD!
This Oat yielded in Pennsylvania (sworn statement) 208 bu. from one measured acre, and hundreds of farmers who tested same are sure 200 bu. is possible in 1896.
SILVER KING BARLEY—$100 IN GOLD!
That is the world'd 116 bu. per acre in 1895 and 150 bu. is possible in 1896. So one thousand growers say. It is marvelous, wonderful. Oh, the millennium is here!
Catalogue tells all about it. It is mailed you with 10 grain and grass samples, including Corn and Barley, upon receipt of 10c. postage, or Catalogue alone for 5c. postage.
GRASS AND CLOVER SEEDS
JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LA CROSSE, WIS.

Is there a blot on your health?

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS will remove it.

GUARANTEE.

We will refund the purchase money to any person who takes Brown's Iron Bitters as directed and fails to be benefited if suffering from any of the following diseases: Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Biliousness, Female Infirmities, Impure Blood, Weakness, Nervous Troubles, Headache and Neuralgia.

[SEAL.] BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. I MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1896. NO. 46.

One at a Time.

One step at a time, and that well placed,
We reach the grandest height;
One stroke at a time, earth's hidden stores
Will slowly come to light:
One seed at a time, and the forest grows,
One drop at a time and the river flows
Into the boundless sea.

One word at a time, and the greatest book
Is written and is read:
One stone at a time, and the palace rears
Aloft its stately head:
One blow at a time, the tree's cleft through,
And a city will stand where a forest grew
A few short years before.

One foe at a time and he subdued,
And the conflict will be won;
One grain at a time, and the sand of life
Will slowly all be run;
One minute, another, the hours fly;
One day at a time our lives speed by
Into eternity.

One grain of knowledge, and that well stored,
Another, and more on them;
And as time rolls on, your mind will shine
With many a garnered gem;
Of thought and wisdom. And time will tell
"One thing at a time, and that done well,"
Is wisdom's proven rule.

—Christian Union.

A BRIDAL PRESENT.

"Another ring at the bell—and another present! Nannie, it is very nice to be a bride!"

Alice Dupre spoke a little repiningly, she was Nannie's "first bridesmaid, and was treading the borders of that Debateable Land where girlhood has died out and sage middle age has hardly yet commenced.

Nannie was very pretty, and Mary Belton, the other bridesmaid, was a handsome brunette of twenty "Nannie, you are doing remarkably well," said Mrs. Creswick, complacently surveying the table spread with wedding gifts. "That silver tea-service of your Cousin Dudley's is really splendid."

"Yes, and the pearls that Miss Aubrey sent," added Alice.

"Your present is very neat, too, my dear," said the old lady kindly; "but I wonder your Uncle Jared's has not come. He asked me about the wedding a week ago, and he said he should send some remembrance."

Again and again in the course of the rapidly darkening winter afternoon, the bell pealed, and fresh presents were brought in.

"But where is Uncle Jared's present?" Nannie kept repeating; and nobody could tell.

Not until nine o'clock at night did the much looked-for testimonial arrive, when Frank Vavasor, the young bridegroom that was to be, was in the drawing-room admiring the various presents.

"From Uncle Jared! I know his cramped handwriting," exclaimed Nannie, as the servant brought in a square, solid-looking package, wrapped in brown paper and directed to "Miss Anna Creswick." "What can it be?"

"A set of gold spoons perhaps," suggested Alice.

The girls held their breath as Frank removed the brown paper wrappings. Alas for the vanity of human expectations, it was no spice-breathing casket—no velvet or morocco case, satin lined and filled with gold or silver—It was only a quarto volume bound in sober brown, and apparently well used.

"A Bible!" ejaculated Alice, disdainfully.

"Yes, and an old one at that," said Mary.

"Here is a note," said Faank, "let us see what he says."

"My Dear Niece:

At this important junction of your life, I cannot give you a more fitting offering than the Bible which was you grandmother's. You will probably have trinkets and jewelry in abundance, but this book will be more precious than all. Your affectionate uncle, JARED LEE.

Nannie had burst into tears of mortification.

"Oh, Frank, a rusty old second-hand Bible."

"We can never put that on the table," said Alice, scornfully. "What an idea."

And Uncle Jared's present, long looked for and loudly heralded, was put in an obscure corner, where a pair of statuettes concealed it from view.

"The mean old miser," was Mrs Creswick's indignant comment, while Nannie, who was really fond of her old uncle, cried:

And here we close the volume of Nannie's life, to be opened ten years afterwards.

There are few homes in which the lapse of ten years does not make a wide difference—and in that of Mr. and Mrs Vavasor the charge was perhaps greater than the average. They had lived too fast—a common mistake—and when once they began to retrench, ill-luck seemed to follow them. Nannie! the spoiled daughter of a luxurious home, was learning all the bitterness of poverty now! And Frank—nobody exactly knew how—hadretrograded in the world until the humble situation of a bank clerk at a salary pitifully small, was all the dread winter left to him.

And when they brought him home one night with his arm fractured from a fall on the icy pavement. Nannie felt that her cup of bitterness was indeed full.

"I don't mind the pain for myself," Frank had said, "but to lie still for nobody knows how long, and my wife and the little ones with not a cent ahead! The rent must be paid, and the grocer's bill, and the children must wear clothes—God help us! I don't know what the end of all this is to be!"

But Nanuie knew—and towards twilight, when Frank had fallen into a troubled slumber, and little Annie sat watching beside his pillow she put on her bonnet and stole unseen to an employment bureau.

When she returned, it was with a bundle under her arm—sewing which she had obtained.

"Oh, Nannie, have we come to this?" her husband asked, sadly, as she sat down by his bedside to commence her task.

"We cannot starve, dear—and there is just a dollar and a half in your purse!"

"I know it—but--"

He stopped abruptly and turned his face to the wall with a groan.

Little Rose came to her mother, with pleading eyes, at this moment.

"Mamma, can Harry and I have Uncle Jared's Bible to look at the funny pictures!"

Nannie rose, reached down the dusty book from its obscure resting-place and placed it on a chair, where the children could turn over the leaves at their leisure.

"Be careful not to tear it dear," she said, thinking sadly how all the other gay wedding gifts had vanished, and how this alone remained a relic of the days of prosperity. Uncle Jared was dead long ago, and his money had gone to a hospital.

She was thinking of all the sorrowfull change ten years had wrought, as she stitched away.

"Mamma," cried Rose, from the chair, here are two leaves stuck together!"

Nannie leaned over to see. The child was right. Two leaves in the Book of Psalms were pasted together by the edges on all their sides. She took up the scissors to separate them, with a vague, indifferent sensation of curiosity. To her astonishment, two thin slips of paper dropped out.

"What are these?" said inquisitive Rose, stopping to pick them up.

And Nannie, scrutinizing them more clesely, saw that they were bank notes for five hundred dollars each!

She sat a moment in a sort of bewilderment—and then like a sudden inspiration, came back to her the stories she had always heard of Uncle Jared's strange eccentricities. This was one of them—the bridal gift he had intended to bestow upon her, had been hidden away in this strange casket. And now, like a special Providence, it came to supply her utmost needs!

She leaned over and placed her hand upon her sleeping husband's brow—he awoke with a start.

"I have been asleep," he said, looking confusedly at her with that strange mingling of reality and fancy which sometimes follow us out of slumber. "I have been dreaming that we were rich!"

"We are rich, Frank," she said in a voice that trembled. And she told her tale.

"A thousand dollars! We are rich indeed!" he exclaimed. "It will support us until my arm gets all well again."

"It will do that, and have a little to begin the world anew with," said Nannie, with tears in her eyes. Poor dear Uncle Jared—if he could only see how very happy he has made us both."

When Vavasor's tedious recovery was complete, there were four hundred dollars left out of Nannie's carefully hoarded funds—and that four hundred dollars fortunately invested, was the germ from which sprung first a modest little competence, then a fortune.

Vavasor is a rich man now, but he dates his prosperity back to Uncle Jared's bridal present.—New York York Times.

The Geese Struck.

"I have been having a good deal of trouble lately with the birds on my geese ranch," said Col. Stitt-Floyd of Wharton, Tex., to a Star reporter.

"I had an order for a thousand dozen goose eggs, and my trouble all arose in trying to fill that order. It is the first time I ever attempted to market any eggs, always heretofore relying on the sale of feathers and live birds for my profit.

"This is the laying and hatching season with us, and I thought I would have no trouble so get eggs enough to fill the orders. Now, a hen, you know, will let you rob her nest right along, just so you leave one egg. It is supposed that a hen has no idea whatever of numbers. But this is not true of Madame Goose, as I found out to my sorrow.

"She first two or three days we secured a big batch of fresh eggs, but after that the 'find' began to dwindle down so fast that I determined to make a personal investigation. I went down to the river bottom next day and found that instead of being off attending to business all the geese which were not sitting had 'flocked' and were roving about feeding, just as if they never expected to lay another egg. When I approached them, instead of running away they all sat down and began to hiss at me.

"It was a clear case of strike, and I was at a loss to know how to settle the trouble. I tried putting half a dozen porcelain eggs in each nest, but it would not work. The geese came up, eyed them solemnly, and walked off. Then, in despair, I told the boys to put the eggs we had gathered back and see if that would break the strike. Well, sir, inside of two hours after the eggs were returned every goose was back on her nest, and for the next four or five days there were more eggs laid on the Floyd's ranch than there had been before in years; but I dare not undertake to fill that egg order."—Washington Star.

An Electric Palace.

The palatial New York home of Charles T. Yerkes, the Chicago millionaire, at Sixty-eighth street and Fifth avenue, has not only the most complete electric lighting, heating, and ventilating plant of any of the several electrically equipped mansions in the city, but it has the largest storage battery plant ever installed in a private residence. A gas engine of thirty-five horse power in the basement is belted to a dynamo. The storage battery consists of sixty cells, having a capacity of 2,500 hours at a ten-hour discharge rate, the maximum discharge rate being 500 amperes for four hours.

The house is wired for about 1,200 sixteen-candle-power lamps, and has besides a electric passenger elevator and several electric motors for ventilating, pumping and other purposes.

The arrangement of the lights is very artistic. The vestibule or reception hall is lighted from above through cathedral glass in the base of a dome by 300 lights. Lamps are concealed within the carving of the principal salon, or in rosettes of colored glass cunningly placed in the ceilings. In the library, an apparent framed oil painting, which is really a wonderful piece of cathedral glass work, is made the vehicle of the flood of light, which illuminates the room with the soft radiance of day.

The Archer Fish.

The archer fish has a natural blow gun. This animal possesses the curious property of being able to shoot drops of water from its mouth with extraordinary accuracy to considerable distance. A fly or small insect passing over the water has very little chance of escape from the deadly aim of the archer fish.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

There are said to be 6,003 pieces in the modern high grade locomotive.

A French scientist says that girls who play on the piano suffer from a great many nervous maladies.

The teeth of fish, like the teeth of most animals, are not fastened to the bone, but are held in sockets.

The tongues of the toad and frog is prehensile. By means of it these animals seize and hold their prey.

The treatise of John Hunter in 1771 is considered the foundation of the science of dentistry in England.

The value of the Australian salt bush upon the alkali lands of California, as food for sheep and cattle, at least, has been denomstrated.

The city of San Leandro, Cal., is going to establish and operate a municipal electric lighting plant, to supply both arc and incandescent lights, for public and private use.

Foreigners who are not bachelors of arts or science are to be excluded from the Paris medical schools, as the laboratories are overcrowded, and even enough subjects for dissecting cannot be obtained.

During 1894, 3,315 patents relating to electricity were granted in Great Britain, United States and Germany. Of these 1,130 were British, being one-twentieth of all British patents, 1,704 were American, and 481 were German.

Two or three months ago, Professor W. H. Hale suggested that the British American and Australasian Associations for the Advancement of Science hold a joint meeting at San Francisco in 1896, and the plan has been favorably received.

We speak of seasoning wood by exposing it to the air and drying out the water. But we never think of seasoning stone, and yet this is as necessary almost as seasoning wood. Every good architect, in making his calculations, takes this into consideration.

The study of earth worms is of recent date, yet at least seventy-five genera are now known, some containing 1000 species. They range in length from one inch to four feet. Their colors are mostly unattractive, but one species is a fine peacock hue, and one is green and pink.

Coffin Bath Tub.

"I wanted a bath in a North Carolina hotel," said a traveling man to a Star writer.

"I rang for the bell boy—there was but one—and when he arrived I asked him if they had a bath tub about the house.

"'Yes, sah; nice ones, sah,' he said.

"'Bring me one.'

"In a few minutes the boy returned, bringing on his shoulder a coffin, with silver-plated handles and a lid all complete.

"'What does that mean?' I asked indignantly.

"'Dat's de bath tub, sah. De landlord used to be in de undertakin' business, sah, and had some coffins when he took dis hotel. His son is a tinner, sah, an' jess lined de coffins with tin. Try it, boss. You'll fin' it berry nice.'

"Conquering my scruples, I opened the lid and found the coffin lined with tin, as stated, and I took the bath, but I didn't feel just right about it."—Washington Star.

Drilling With Life-Saving Apparatus.

Thursday is the day for drilling with beach apparatus. A pole planted in the sand represents the mast of the wrecked ship. The beach apparatus, beach-cart, hawsers, guns, lines, blocks, and buoy are all run out in short time and all the manœuvers gone through with, as if in actually rescuing a crew; from the time the word "action" is spoken by the keeper till the supposed rescued man is brought to the supposed beach, only six minutes have passed! It seems almost incredible, but their training has made all the men models of promptness and obedience. After this drill the crew returns the beach apparatus to the station, leaving everything, as usual, in order.—St. Nicholas.

Gently Put.

She—Don't you think that photograph flatters me?

He—Well, its a speaking likeness, but then we can't believe everything we hear.

Model Training Stable.

I hear that Robert Bonner, the veteran, will soon erect a large training stable on his stock farm, near Tarrytown, N. Y. In Mr. Bonner's well-kept stables this winter there is sheltered horseflesh to the value of $300,000. In one row of six stalls there are six horses worth at any time at least $125,000. Everything about the Bonner Stock Farm denotes simplicity cleanliness and quiet. The training stables are a model of their kind. The blacksmith shop, kennels and breeding stables are each perfectly designed for the purpose. Though the interior of the building is plain, no money has been spared to make the quarters of the thoroughbreds as comfortable as possible. The box stalls are 10 by 12 feet, and the floors are of clay and plank. The appliances about the barn are of the simplest kind. It is at this farm that Mr. Bonner spends much of his time. He is his own driver and trainer, and he is the peer of many of the so-called professionals of the day. A feature of the farm is the blacksmith shop. Here all the effects of the horses' gaits are looked after. Mr. Bonner discovered that the secret of keeping a horse sound lay chiefly in keeping the bearing of the foot level. With this in view he has one of the best equipped blacksmith shops, and hoof-curing establishments in the world. Mr. Bonner's mile track is the finest of its kind in Westchester County. Here the great speed of Maud S. was increased. In Mr. Bonner's stables at the present time are Maud S., Sunol, Rarus and Elfrida, and other familiar horses.—New York Advertiser.

Kittens.

Kittens differ as much as children in their capacity for amusing themselves and in their demands for amusements. One of Princess's kittens, the White Squall, so named from his practice of standing on the stairs and howling when left alone, was so dependent on others and so exacting that he became a pest. His mother did not care for him particularly and none of his seniors took a fancy to him. He then fell back upon human beings, and made my life a burden by yelling on the stairs when he could not find me, and tormenting me to play with him when he did. No ball, bell, or string and spool was of the least value to him unless somebody played with him.

He would climb into my lap, scramble across my book or portfolio, twitch the pen out of my hands, lay himself flat on the keys of the piano, pull the piece of sewing I was at work on, claw my hair down, bite my fingers, worry at my dress and tear it, in short, bother me out of my life. At the same time he was so gentle and affectionate, and so beautiful, with deep blue eyes, and a superhuman expression of innocence, that I could not give him away. He needed a lively child of ten to keep up with him, but not having one at hand, I brought one of the stable kittens, they were always inferior white ones there, to the house for a playmate. She was a few months younger than himself, and at first I thought he would kill her in his violent sport, but finding her unfit for roughness, he moderated it until they played on even terms.—Temple Bar.

Ear Developed By The Telephone.

"A peculiar effect of the use of the telephone," said a telephone company official the other day, "is the increased acuteness of the left ear. The sensitiveness of the left ear is abnormally developed by frequent telephone practice, and the right ear, not generally used, shows a marked deterioration in the ability to discern sound. Put the transmitter to your right ear, and then you will realize how much the sense of hearing has been sharpened in the other organ."—New York Herald.

On the Steamboat.

A.—What are you reading?

B.—It is a very useful book for those who don't know how to swim.

"How so?"

"If you fall overboard all you have to do is to turn to page fifty-seven and read the directions and you are safe."—Texas Siftings.

Joseph Chamberlain now bears the title conferred on him by King Khama and the other Bechuana chiefs of Moatlhodi, "he who writes things."

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

We always have time enough, if we will but use it aright.—Goethe.

Chiefly, the mold of a man's fortune is in his own hands.—Bacon.

A tyrant never tasteth of true friendship nor of perfect liberty.—Diogenes.

Superstitions are, for the most part, but the shadows of great truths.—Tryon Edwards.

This is the course of every evil deed, that, propagating, still it brings forth evil.—Coleridge.

There is no courage but in innocence; no constancy but in an honest cause.—Southern.

How calmly we may submit ourselves to the hands of him who bears up the world.—Richter.

Of all our infirmities, vanity is the dearest to us; a man will starve his other vices to keep that alive.—Franklin.

That extremes beget extremes is an apothegm built on the most profound observation of the human mind.—Colton.

Theologies are well in their place, but repentance and love must come before all other experience.—Beecher.

The saddest failures in life are those that come from not putting forth the power and will to succeed.—E. P. Whipple.

The great men of the earth are but marking stones on the road of humanity; they are the priests of its religion.—Mazzini.

Before we passionately desire anything which another enjoys, we should examine as to the happiness of its possessor.—Rochefoucauld.

The present, the present, is all thou hast for thy sure possessing; like the patriarch's angel, hold it fast till it gives its blessing.—Whittier.

It is wonderful what strength and boldness of purpose and energy will come from the feeling that we are in the way of duty.—John Foster.

The classic literature is always modern. New books revive and redecorate old ideas: old books suggest and invigorate new ideas.—Bulwer.

A Discovery of Importance.

It is announced that a German scientist has patented a process by which a tissue is made that will take the place of the natural skin and be absorbed as the injury heals. He takes the muscular portion of the intestines of animals. Both the inner and outer layers of membrane are removed. The middle portion is then permitted to remain for a suitable time in a solution of pepsin, when the fibers are found to be semi-digested. The substance is then treated with gallic acid and tannin. Large surfaces from which the skin has been removed by disease or accident may be healed in a short time by means of this tissue. It is prepared and laid upon the raw surface, which has previously been sterilized, and is very lightly bandaged in place. The union of the tissue and the surface takes place in a little while, and the tissue forms a coating that answers the purpose of the skin to a degree better than any known substance, and is likely, when still further perfected, entirely to remove the necessity for skin grafting.—The Ledger.

A Coin That Weighs a Pound.

A. O. Lindstrom, a San Francisco coin-collector is the owner of a rectangular bit of copper, 5 1-2 by 4 1-2 inches in size, which the numismatics reckon as being worth about $1,000. This peculiar-shaped piece of copper plate is a half dollar (daler) Swedish piece of the year 1717, and has been in the possession of the Lindstrom family for about 185 years. To the dimensions as given should be added the statement that the "coin" is between 1-18 and 1-16 of an inch in thickness, and it weighs exactly 20 ounces. The centre and each of the four corners of this spurious coin bear the impress of a silver half-dollar stamp.

The night police of Girardville, Penn., are instructed to arrest all boys and girls under eighteen years of age who are found on the streets without proper escorts after 8 o'clock in the evening.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

The All Russian Exhibition to be opened this spring at Nizhni-Novgorod by the Emperor Nicholas in person—probably immediately after the coronation—will be one of the most imposing, comprehensive and instructive affairs of the kind ever held within the Czar's dominions.

The following extract from a letter received by Spencer Trask, of the National Armenian Relief Committee, from Dr. Grace M. Kimball, formerly of New York City, and now a missionary physician at Van, Armenia, is an authentic statement of the existing situation of the plundered Armenians and of the urgent need of prompt measures for their relief: "All business has been absolutely suspended here, and all places of business and industry closed for two months. You who are business men can understand the ruin and misery that this involves, particularly to a people already reduced to the most abject poverty. This in respect of the city. But in this province of Van the deeds that have been done in Harput, Bitlis and other provinces have been in no wise neglected here. There are approximately 550 Christian towns and villages in this province. Of these not more than fifty have escaped the wave of destruction that has swept over this entire country. Whole regions have been forced to turn Moslem, and are so thrice unhappy as to need no help of ours. Some others cannot get to Van by reason of the snow on the mountains, and so are in danger of perishing in their villages. The inhabitants of thirty-seven villages who fled here, driven naked from their homes across the lake, have been cared for in so far as it was possible, and have been sent for the most part back to try to live in their own region. Since then we have given and are giving help (bread and clothing) to refugees from seventy villages to the number of some 4500, chosen out of crowds of applicants by a native committee to help us. Our endeavor is to send them back to their villages wherever it seems safe to do so, and wherever they have means of living through the winter. With the coming of spring, if, indeed, the Powers succeed in securing the right of liberty and life of these miserable people, they will need very considerable help in the way of a new start in life, or else sink to the ranks of common beggars."

Germany is England's most formidable commercial rival. She has steam vessels running to ports on both sides of South America and North America, with a strong line of fast steamers from Hamburg to New York. Her mercantile flag is seen on all the Mediterranean and Black Sea ports. Her trading ships are found in Turkish, Chinese, Japanese, and Indian waters. She has largely extended her trade with the British colonies. She is the second greatest exporter in Europe, much greater than France, who expects the foreigners to come to Paris and purchase their goods. Germany, like England, seeks her customers. The Atlanta Constitution maintains that the English have been growing sorer and sorer over this year after year. Germany has poured in tens of millions of dollars' worth of her products right under the nose of the British Government. She is selling her goods in London and in English manufacturing cities like Glasgow, Birmingham, Leeds, Sheffield, Manchester, Bradford, Belfast and Liverpool, and England has exported them. She has sold the same goods to English merchants cheaper than the English manufacturers can afford to do. The English dealers and the English trades unions have at last become exasperated. Britain, therefore, would go to war, if sufficiently provoked, for the purpose of crippling as far as possible these inroads of German artisans, who are now dangerous competitors with her in all kinds of goods in all parts of the world. How dangerous they are was sufficiently demonstrated by the respective displays of the two Nations at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago in which, according to the Tribune of that city, the German exhibit was far and away in advance of that of England.

ALABAMA IN BRIEF.

County Presidents of Cotton Growers' Association Appointed.

A COAL MINE BOSS MURDERED.

Regemental Encampments--Appointments by the Governor—An Important Prisoner Captured—Large Deal in Land—Other Interesting Matters Briefly Chronicled.

The Seventh district republican convention will meet in Gadsden April 7.

Disturbing Graves.

Three suits for $10,000 each have been filed in Lamar county against the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroad for disturbing graves near Sulligent.

The Cotton Acreage.

The Eufaula Times has been interviewing farmers from both sides of the river on the cotton acreage, and they all say there will be no increase this year.

Stevenson's Election.

The town election of Stevenson resulted in the selection of the following ticket: Mayor—W. J. Jackson; aldermen—A. H. Moody, Guf Arn, W. A. Gould and W. B. Hunt.

Large Tract of Land Sold.

At Cullman City last week a sale of a 150,000-acre tract of land, including part of the city, was made under a decree by the chancellor, Mr. S. Roman, of the firm of Lehman, Durr & Co., becoming the purchaser at a sum in the neighborhood of $200,000.

The State Bar Association.

The executive committee of the Alabama State Bar association have accepted the invitation of the Birmingham bar to hold the next annual meeting of the association in Birmingham. The meeting has been fixed for August 5th and 6th, and will no doubt be the most generally attended of any meeting yet held by the members of the bar throughout the state.

A Mine Boss Murdered.

I. I. Cook, an assistant mine boss at Pratt mines, was murdered by a convict last Friday. Two negroes were engaged in a quarrel and Cook was endeavoring to separate them, when one of them turned upon him like a maniac, knocked him down and drove his pick into poor Cook's back, inflicting a death blow. He died immediately.

Telephone Rate War.

A lively telephone rate war is on in Florence. The Southern Bell company, which has had a monopoly of the business here for five years, now has an energetic competitor in the Citizens' Telephone company, a local concern that has recently commenced operations. The new company has rates a little under the Bell company. The situation promises to become very interesting.

New Appointments.

The governor has made the following appointments: T. S. White, justice of the peace, beat 13, Perry county; W. B. Thomas, justice of the peace, beat 20, Coffee county; T. J. Stephens, beat 26, Jefferson county; W. J. Nelson, beat 8, Lauderdale county; W. H. Knight, notary public and justice of the peace, beat 15, Hale county; James E. Chambers, beat 14, Jefferson county; John Harrison, constable, beat 26, Coffee county.

Briefly Mentioned.

A large saw mill is to be erected at Calera.

J. A. Owen is building a handsome brick store at Greenville.

It is said that Lee county farmers are hustling for next year's crop and are discussing politics very little.

Four fruit steamers unloaded 50,000 bunches of bananas at the Mobile wharf one day last week.

Ozark Methodists will build a new church.

Preparations are being made to erect a new Baptist church at Coats' Bend.

Seeks an Appropriation.

J. A. Van Hoose, mayor of Birmingham, is in Washington to ask of the river and harbor committee an appropriation for the long-talked-of canal uniting the Tennessee, Coosa and Warrior rivers, which will give Birmingham an outlet to deep water and the markets of the world, and will be of incalculable benefit to the people of Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee. Mr. Van Hoose will have the cordial cooperation of the Alabama delegation in Congress, and as he only asks for enough money to make the initial survey, he has strong hopes of success.

A Father Sues His Sons.

A remarkable suit was filed in the United States court at Birmingham last Thursday by John Klein against Henry Klein, Charles W. Klein and William L Klein, his sons, for $50,000 damages for alleged trespass committed by defendants against the personal property of plaintiff, causing his arrest and imprisonment unlawfully, as he alleges. The suit grows out of an old family quarrel over possession of half a block of valuable property in Birmingham, occupied by Klein's sons, who are prosperous merchants. Klein is a very old man. The arrest of Klein occurred three years ago, and was for an alleged interference with them.

Regimental Encampments.

The Alabama State troops will go into camp in regiments this year, instead of battalions, as during the past two or three years. The troops are divided into three regiments and the colonel commanding each will probably be accorded the privilege of selecting the place at which the encampment of his forces will be held. Mobile will certainly entertain one regiment, Montgomery or Birmingham another and Anniston appears to have a good chance at the third. It is intended that the encampments this year shall be administered in as economical a way as possible, in order that the troops shall be enabled to save out of their appropriation sufficient to purchase arms and equipments for 100 additional men, three new five-mile rifles for the artillery battery and a Hotchkis mounted, rapid-firing rifle, with a range of three and a half miles. All of these proposed purchases are intended to be kept at the capital.

An Important Prisoner.

Robert Charlson, ex-United States commissioner at Attalla, and a fugitive from justice, was captured last week at Paso del Norte, Mexico, just across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex., whe he was engaged in the cattle business. Charlson is now under arrest, and in the course of time will be taken to Birmingham and surrendered to the local United States authorities by his bondsmen. Robert Charlson is about 40 years of age. His early manhood was spent in the northwest, where he acted as an Indian scout. He also visited Mexico, where he picked up the Spanish language. He could converse readily in that tongue, as well as German, Swedish and several other languages. About the year 1892 he was appointed commissioner by Judge Bruce, and established his office at Attalla. In 1893 the federal court grand jury here sent a memorial to the government complaining of vast frauds committed in North Alabama by commissioners and deputy marshals. As the result the government sent a special examiner, Lee Chalmers, to the scene, and Chalmers got the government to appoint Lee Cowart as his aid. The two made a thorough investigation, the upshot of which was the indictment of Charlson and several other commissioners and about ten to twelve deputy marshals on the charge of extorting from the government by presenting false accounts. The investigation disclosed that the government had been robbed of about $100,000 in the space of two or three years. Charlson and others were removed from office and Charlson was tried and convicted of presenting fictitious pay rolls to the government and getting pay for alleged trials that never took place. He received a sentence of a year and a day in the government penitentiary. Pending an appeal he fled the country. Ten other cases against him had not been tried.

Cotton Growers' Association.

H. C. Reynolds, president of the Alabama Cotton Growers' Association, has issued the following from Montevallo

The following named gentlemen are appointed county presidents of the Cotton Growers' Association. From advices received from various portions of the state, I believe by prompt and energetic action we can yet avert the calamity that a ten-million-bale crop will bring. I earnestly request the county presidents to organize their respective counties and insist on a reduction in the acreage of cotton.

Conecuh, H. Stallworth, Evergreen.
Colbert, G. W. McWhorter, Riverton.
Coosa, W. W. Walden, Kelleyton.
Covington, W. G. Williams, Urbanity.
Crenshaw, J. F. Bryan, Salsoda.
Cullman, M. A. Johnson, Cullman.
Dale, L. Wilkerson, Ozark.
Dallas, Dr. McKinnon, Pleasant Hill
DeKalb, Reuben Davis, Lathamville.
Elmore, Albert Elmore, Elmore.
Escambia, E. P. Lovelace. Brewton.
Etowah, W. H. Lovejoy, Gadsden.
Fayette, George Hassell, Fayette.
Franklin, W. M. Smith, Newburg.
Greene, Ames Horton, Pleasant Ridge.
Geneva, J. J. Johnston, Geneva.
Hale, Alex Sledge, Whitsey.
Henry, R. T. Reynolds, Abbeville.
Jackson, R. A. Coffee, Scottsboro.
Jefferson, W. J. Prowell, East Lake.
Lamar, J. P. Young, Vernon.
Lawrence, M. B. Hampton, Leighton.
Lee, B. H. McCullough, Beulah.
Lauderdale, M. B. Shelton, Florence.
Limestone, R. B. Mason, Athens.
Lowndes, A. D. Lawhorn, Benton.
Macon, C. J. Bryan, Tuskegee.
Madison, G. P. Turner, Huntsville.
Marengo, Locke McCorkle, Dayton.
Marion, A. J. Hamilton, Hamilton.
Marshall, Sam Henry, Guntersville.
Mobile, Daniel Smith, Mobile.
Monroe, W. B. Kemp, Kempville.
Montgomery, James D. Dickson, Pine Level.
Morgan, W. V. Nevill, Trinity.
Perry, D. W. Pitts, Uniontown.
Pickens, S. W. Hood, Gordo.
Pike, W. H. Barrett, Ansley.
Randolph, J. W. Radney, Roanoke.
Russell, J. M. Brown. Seale.
Shelby, J. W. Pitts, Columbiana.
St. Clair, W. S. Forman, Springville.
Sumpter, J. M. Winston, Ramsey.
Talladega, S. W. Welch, Alpine.
Tallapoosa, Charles B. Verner.
Washington, W. A. Moseley, St. Stephens.
Walker, James Watts, Oakman.
Wilcox, John Standiford, Pineapple.
Winston, W. S McCullow, Motes.

Respectfully yours,
H. C. Reynolds,
President Cotton Growers' Association for Alabama.

GENERAL NEWS SUMMARY.

Compiled and Condensed for the Convenience of Our Readers.

REVOLT IN THE COREAN CAPITAL.

Whitecaps at Work—Deaths at Sea. Prominent Cubans Joining the Insurgents—Union Men Refuse to Work With Non-Union Men. Other News in Condensed Form.

Eugene V. Debs spoke in Atlanta last week.

The new 4 per cent government bonds are listed at 116 to 116¼

President Cleveland has been chosen arbitrator to settle the dispute between Italy and Brazil.

Captain Cradmore and wife, of the American bark Fred. P. Litchfield, from Hong Kong, both died at sea.

John R. Gentry, the great pacing stallion, was sold at New York last Friday to William Simpson for $7,000.

Seymour Keener was hanged at Clayton, Rayburn county, Ga., last week, for the murder of his two girl cousins last summer.

The English blue book says Russia refused to co-operate in securing reforms in Armenia.

It is reported that President Kruger, of Transvaal, wants to visit England to discuss political conditions.

The Progressive Farmer, a newspaper published at Raleigh, N. C., will become the organ of the National Farmers' Alliance.

Judge Hugh L. Whiteside died in Chattanooga last Friday from blood poisoning, which attacked the system through an amputated leg.

Debs has challenged any conductor or engineer to meet him in open debate on the relative merit of the organizations they represent.

A dispatch from Havana states that the mayor of Managua, Cuba, and other residents of that place, have joined the insurgents.

There is trouble in the French government over the Southern railway scandals in that country, and a parliamentary revolution is feared.

Judge Richard H. Clark died at Atlanta Friday last. Judge Clark was one of the framers of Georgia's Code, and about the oldest lawyer in the state.

Will and Jesse Stewart, brothers, got into a dispute near Winston, N. C., the other day over a game of cards. The latter stabbed the former to death with a knife.

The citizens of Nashville contemplate presenting the United States gunboat "Nashville" with a silver service. One thousand dollars will be subscribed for the purpose.

The London Observer is authority for the statement that there has not been such a spirit of unrest in France for years, caused by the Southern railway scandals.

Dr. L. W. Perkins, of Beaufort, S. C., has been arrested on a charge of perjury in connection with the recent graveyard insurance cases.

At Augusta, Ky., Robert Henry Laughlin has confessed that he brutally and in cold blood murdered his wife and niece, Mary Jones, Saturday morning.

A dispatch from Cedar Keys, Fla., says a capsized schooner off Anclote Island, is bottom side up in 18 feet of water. There is no trace of her crew, and many fear they were drowned.

Lucket & Co.'s tobacco factory and stemery in Clarksville, Tenn., was destroyed by fire, consuming 1,500,000 pounds of tobacco and causing a loss of $75,000, fully covered by insurance.

Advices received at the German foreign office from Africa are of a character that tend to increase the strain upon the relations between that country and England.

Preliminary work on a new joint freight depot for the Seaboard Air Line and the Western and Atlantic railroads at Atlanta, Ga., will be begun in a few days. The contract has been let for structure, which will cover a lot 900 by 200 feet, and it is expected to cost $1,000,000.

Mr. Pioda, the Swiss minister to the United States, writes that he will visit Newberne, N. C., the last of this month to present a flag, which is the gift of the city of Berne, Switzerland, after which Newberne is named.

Whitecaps visited the home of Rufus Woodruff, in Wilkes county, N. C., and after breaking the door down they fired their pistols in the house, carried Woodruff out, beat him unmercifully with switches, and then made him run, firing at him as he went.

When Judge W. T. Morrow arrived at Shepherdsville, Ky., from Frankfort he found that thieves had entered his house in his absence and stolen a tin box containing notes, bonds and other valuable papers to the value of between $20,000 and $30,000.

A receiver has been appointed for the Baltimore Condensed Milk Company, at York, Pa. Liabilities, $102,000; assets, $20,000. Cashier Barnard, of the Fort Stanwix bank, who defaulted for $400,000 and committed suicide, held $102,000 worth of the stock.

The Gulf Coast Lumber company, a union of expert lumber manufacturers of Alabama, Mississippi and Florida, in meeting in Mobile recently, increased prices of all grades from 50 cents to $3 per thousand. Cuban schedules were slightly advanced, according to lengths.

Detachments of American, British and French marines have been sent to Seoul, the Capital of Corea, to guard the interests of their respective countries. News has been received that the new cabinet which has been formed in Seoul has decreed the execution of a number of former ministers.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor: Services every 2nd and 4th Sundays. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. S. L. Dobbs, pastor: Services every 1st and 3rd Sundays. Prayer Meeting every Thursday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor: Services every 3rd Sunday, at 4 p. m.

Presbyterian Church—Rev. J. H. Zwingle, pastor: Services every 2nd Sunday.

Sunbeam Society meets every 1st and 3rd Sundays at Baptist church at 2:30 p. m

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Missionary Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma.....	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham.....	7:25 p m
No. 15	South.....	12:37 p m
No. 16	North.....	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Misses Maudie and Claudie Aldridge, of South Calera, visited their aunt, Mrs. D. A. Seale, last week, to the delight of their many friends.

The family of Mrs. Seale desire to extend many thanks to the people of Dry Valley for their kindness and sympathy during her severe illness; and we are proud to say that through the good treatment of Drs. Givhan and Gunn she is rapidly improving.

Rev. C. L. Dobbs is quite ill, of pneumonia.

Mr. Henry Oliver, of Calera, was in Montevallo on the 14th.

Mrs. P. W. Hoskins, Mrs. Cobb and Mrs. T. J. Hoskins, all of Aldrich, Ala., visited our town Monday.

Mr. Frank Fallon, of Birmingham, spent Sunday in Montevallo.

A small crowd visited Selma Sunday to see and hear the renowned evangelist, Moody.

Onion sets at the same old price at Reynolds'.

Mr. S. A. Latham and wife left Saturday for a visit to their son, Dr. L. M. Latham, of Ensley City.

Mrs. Corbett left Monday evening for Calera, where she and her husband took the train for Mobile, to see the sights of mardi gras there.

Quite a number of our citizens went up to witness the festivities of the carnival in Birmingham. Among those who left Sunday evening were F. W. Rogan, J. M. Reynolds, Clyde Reynolds and P. J. Kroell; Monday evening: Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McConaughy, Joe Dill, Jr., and Jno. Kroell.

I have a fine mare coming 4 for sale and a good mare 9 years old to trade for a mule. For particulars apply A. F. Hutchings, Bismarck, Ala.

Mr. E. L. Davis accompanied his sisters, Ella May and Pearl, to Birmingham Monday evening. Ed missed his train at Montevallo, but calling into requisition his well-known powers in horsemanship, caught it at the Aldrich depot.

Miss Belle Reynolds is visiting relatives in Mobile.

New York seed potatoes at 25 cents a peck at Reynolds'.

One of ye editors was much flattered by the receipt on the 14th of a valentine which mildly insinuated that he was a dude. We have heard of no other editors who have been accused of a superabundance of fine clothing.

Mrs. Mollie Nelson, of Bessemer, visited Bismarck last week.

Mr. French Nabors was in Birmingham Tuesday taking in the sights.

Misses Laura and Lena Thompson, two agreeable young ladies of Bismarck, passed through town Tuesday.

The C. F. Donaldson Variety Co. played to a respectable house Monday night. The general expression was that "they did pretty well."

The notorious Jno. Ingram, otherwise known as "Smut," was in town Friday.

Reynolds is closing out his odds and ends of old stock shoes. They will be sold below cost. Some of these shoes, at $1 a pair, will cost you $2 anywhere else.

Onion sets at 25 cents a gallon at Reynolds'.

Mr. H. C. Reynolds, who is now in Washington, wired us last Friday that the committee on public land had made a unanimous report in favor of the grant of 25,000 acres of public land to the industrial school. The Southern railway agreed to give the school free transportation on all material used in the construction of the buildings. This is a big stride towards a successful inauguration of the school. A grant of land of this size means at least $100,000. Let us hope the bill will pass. Mr. Reynolds and Captain Booker are still hanging on and will leave no stone unturned to secure its passage.

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

CORRESPONDENCE.

CONCORD LOCALS,

A Quiet Marriage—On the evening of the 13th at the Methodist church of this place. Mr. Albert J. Ware led to the altar Mrs. Lizzie Thomas, nee Bird, and were united by bonds of holy matrimony, Rev. C. L. Dobbs officiating.

Mr. Ware is one of Chilton counties most successful farmers, and a gentleman in every respect.

Mrs. Thomas who is known to most of the readers of this paper, is of one of the first families of this society. She is a consistent member of the church, and will no doubt make a helpmate here; and her godly examples will lead her companions and loved ones to a higher clime.

They left at 2:30 for their home in the southern portion of the county. We bestow upon them many nice wishes.

The farmers seem to be taking advantage of this beautiful weather. We noticed six plows running in West and Wiggins fields last week. The farmers out here are sowing a great many oats this spring.

Mr. W. F. Eddings came very near losing his baby with measles last week. We are glad to say he is improving for Pat is an affectionate child and loved by all his neighbors.

Messrs. Louis H. Reynolds and B. M. Gentry, of Jemison, was present at the marriage last Thursday.

Mrs. Ida West, of Montevallo, spent a part of last week with the family of S. A. Curry.

Miss Nannie says that she thinks that the word "obey" should be left out of the marriage ceremony.

P. O. says if Brother Dobbs has not a shorter ceremony than he used last Thursday that he has lost one "job" sure.

Miss Dulsy Champion has re-entered school here. We predict for her a bright future.

There has been an epidemic of measles in our community the past month.

Mr. Henry Woolley left last week for Montgomery to accept a position.

Mrs. William Moore, of Bessemer, is visiting her father, Mr. Job W. Reynolds, of this place.

Pleas West visited Jemison last Sunday. We suppose he went down to take in the locality of the town. We know of no other reason.

ASHBY LOCALS.

Mrs. B. J. Large visited her brother of Spring Creek, last week. There is yet little hope of his recovery.

Mr. Charles Gentry, of Six Mile, spent Saturday and Sunday last with his uncle, Mr. R. L. Campbell.

Hutton B——— is still wearing out sole leather going down the hollow.

Our little city was well supplied with valentines the 14th. Some of the girls say that "all fools are not dead yet."

Miss Byrd Ward, one of Six Mile's most charming young ladies, passed through the city Friday last en route to Birmingham.

Mr. A. L. Arnold and family, of Centreville, spent Sunday here en route to Montgomery, where they will spend some time with their parents.

Mr. Marvin Large spent Sunday last with his little Chilton girl. What is the matter with near home M?

Miss Claudie Murphy, one of Huckabee's affable young ladies, spent last week here the guest of Miss Emma Campbell. Miss Claud was formerly of this place and her many friends are always glad to see her. Reporter.

DOGWOOD LOCALS.

Our sympathies are extended to Mr. Marion Wooten's family in their sickness.

Rev. H. P. Berry filled his regular appointment at the Methodist church last Sunday.

Mr. Lee Jones, clerk of Dr. Jones, has left town to resume work at his home in Elliottsville.

Miss Dona Curtis, of Elliottsville, is in town teaching music.

Mr. Robert Cunningham has returned after a stay of a few weeks.

Mr. Robertson, of Bessemer, is in town on business.

Mr. Allen, of Birmingham, is erecting a dwelling for himself in Dogwood.

W. E. and Walter Harrison took a trip to Ashbey last Sunday to see their best girls.

Success to the NEWS.

T. A. T. E.

BISMARCK DOTS.

Mrs. S. V. McCauley, of Montevallo, was in the city last week visiting friends.

Misses Alice Alexander and Sallie Moreland, of Brierfield, were visiting friends in the city last week.

Your correspondent had the pleasure of visiting the Braddock poultry farm of Messrs. E. T. Peter and A. F. Hutchings near here a day or two since and finer birds were never seen by him. They breed the Light Brahmas, Indian game, Plymouth Rock, Silver Wyndottes, Golden Wyndottes, Houdans, and Brown Leghorn chickens, Bronze and Buff turkeys and Pekin ducks. Some of these birds have taken first and second prizes at several fairs both here in the south and in Wisconsin. A visit to this farm would well repay anyone and I am quite sure Mr. Peter would take great pleasure in showing them through their poultry yards.

Mr. W. B. Reynolds, of Montevallo, passed through the city on the 14th en route to Blocton.

Two or three of our young men invariably take a Sunday afternoon stroll in the direction of Brierfield. We understand there are some attractions in Brierfield but the boys don't stay long at a time. What's the trouble boys?

The Central gun club which was recently organized in this vicinity had their first meeting last Saturday afternoon and hugely enjoyed by its members. Some good shooting was done.

One of our young men is very much smitten with one of Petersburg's fair sex. Luck to you Will, Jr.

Mr. T. P. Ellis, our popular night operator, spent last Sunday in Montevallo and says he is going back just to see more of the beautiful city's fair sex which are abundant.

Rev. T. B. Dison, of Blocton, filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church last Sunday and preached an interesting sermon.

Success to the NEWS.

Twist.

We regret very much the necessity of chronicling this week the death of William Prentice, the colored blacksmith of Montevallo. There is no necessity for flattering the memory of Bill Prentice and no reward in so doing; therefore what we say of him may be taken as our idea of the truth. The best thing that we can say of him is that he was a Christian man. He showed it clearly by his actions and aspirations. That he was a man of considerable will and brain power was shown by his abruptly leaving off the liquor habit about ten years ago. He has since been a consistent member of his church and has always done what he could to encourage his own race and others in their efforts to do good and to better themselves. Montevallo has lost a well-wisher and a good citizen.

We are pained to learn of the death of Miss Viola Wooley, daughter of our esteemed friend, Mr. R. L. Wooley, of Dry Valley. She was a lovely young character, just budding into womanhood, and was the pride and flower of the family. She bore her long illness with a Christian fortitude and sank peacefully to rest on Tuesday evening. Our sympathies go out to the family in their terrible bereavement.

We are just in receipt of a private letter from Rev. L. M. Wilson, of Agricoba, who is a candidate for commissioner of agriculture. Mr. Wilson needs no introduction at our hands. No man is better nor more favorably known to our people. He is honest and competent, which is enough to say for any man seeking office. His name would add great strength to any ticket.

HELLO, GIRLS!

Nice young business man, 25, wishes to correspond with girls between 18 and 25. Object, matrimony. All letters answered and photo exchanged. Address, J. E. C., box 70, Montevallo, Ala.

A SHOCKING STORY

Received by a Young Armenian, a Resident of Milwaukee.

Giragos Tomauian, a young Armenian of Milwaukee, Wis., is almost prostrated by a letter which he received from his uncle, Khiatjian Tomauian, written December 31, 1895, in the village of Ouzounaba, Pelau, province of Diarbekir, Armenia. This place is twenty days distant from Constantinople by horse. The letter says:

"I wrote you of the horrible happenings, which are unequaled in the history of our village. Brother, they have struck our quiet village; they have burned our church and our home and robbed us of everything. They have killed nearly everyone. Those who are left have changed their religion and become Mohammedans. But this is not all; let me write and relate about your home.

"Your brother's wife and your little boy are killed. Your wife and mother have thrown themselves into the Euphrates in order to save themselves from Turkish outrages. Your sister is living yet, but I wish she might have been killed with the rest, for they have taken her and married her to a Kurd and have changed her religion to Mohammedanism. The massacre continued for three days. Very few of us are left in the village."

AFTER MONTEZUMA'S GOLD.

An American Exploring an Island in the Gulf of California.

Col. John Bradbury, who is at present in Mexico, has written to some friends in Los Angeles, Cal., outlining his plans for exploring Tiburon island, situated in the Gulf of California. The advices state that he has purchased the schooner Lily Light and has armed her with a Maxim gun and a five-inch rifle. From his mine in Mexico he has recruited 125 men who are experienced fighters and accustomed to Indian warfare.

The letter further stated the real object of the expedition. It seems that a well-authenticated legend has it that when Montezuma, emperor of Mexico, saw that his dynasty was doomed he determined to prevent the bloody-handed Cortez from securing the treasures of the Incas, so he sent all his gold to Tiburon and had it buried there in a mountain cave. When the men who had charge of this task returned, he had them all offered up as sacrifices, and the secret was lost until through a curious series of events it was disclosed to Col. Bradbury.

WITH RAPIDITY AND VIGOR

Will Spain Attempt to Conduct Operations Against Insurgents.

ANGRY AGAINST AMERICANS

A Madrid Paper Says the United States Must Put Down Lynching Before Attempting to Read Spain a Lesson—Will Make Desperate Efforts to Hold Cuba.

A special from London says: Advices from Madrid do not indicate any great excitement in Spain's capital over the Cuban resolutions before the United States congress. The Heraldo, the leading newspaper in Madrid, says:

"It is not for the United States government to give Spain lessons in humanity. Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones. Let the United States government put down lynching before it reads us homilies on our duty to the Cuban insurgents."

It is an open secret that the Madrid government and its new representative in Cuba are determined, if possible, to conduct operations against the insurgents with a view to stamping out disaffection with a rapidity and vigor calculated, in their opinion, to crush the present rising ere foreign sympathies can take tangible form. The government is aware that this new policy embodies the inclinations of the Cuban constitutional party and of all Spaniards outside the liberals and republicans, who are beginning to regret that Marshal Campos did not succeed in reconciling Cubans and Spaniards by a policy of reforms and home rule.

It is the irreconcilable tone of public opinion in Spain and the angry feelings of all classes against American interference that strengthen the hands of Gen. Weyler in Cuba and of the Canovas cabinet in Spain. Unless the insurrection is very effectively subdued, no government could make public opinion in Spain assent even to the concession of home rule for Cuba.

It is useless to conceal the fact that the Spaniards would be unanimous in resenting and resisting foreign interference, whatever the consequences might be. They look upon the preservation of the last shreds of the colonial empire in America as not only a sentiment and patriotic matter, but as a question of vital importance for their trade, their industries, their agriculture, their capitalists and their financial and political prosperity in the Old World.

That they will make a desperate stand to retain their hold upon Cuba there can be no doubt. The whole tone of their press, of their political, financial and military circles and even of popular demonstrations, shows that neither the government nor the regency and monarchy can recede from the attitude taken without risk to their prestige—nay, very existence.

Young Winston Churchill, writing in this week's Saturday Review of his experiences with the Spanish army in Cuba, maintains that the success of the revolution would be unfortunate for the rest of the world.

TARRED AND FEATHERED.

Was Rev. William Bailey, a Christian Scientist.

At North Platte, Neb., Rev. William Bailey, a Christian scientist preacher, was tarred by a mob Saturday night.

A husband at whose house he had been staying had to secure assistance in ejecting him from his house. It was rumored that his relations with the woman of the house were not what they should have been.

Shortly after 10 o'clock he was pulled out of bed by a mob, taken to the railroad yards and treated to a coat of tar and asbestos. He was nearly scared to death, and prayed, begged and trembled. After being tarred he was released on a promise to leave town at sunrise.

Benjamin R. Tillman, United States senator from South Carolina, addressed the Commercial club at Providence, R. I., last week, on the liquor laws of South Carolina.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA,
Shelby County.

Under and by virtue of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will proceed to sell on Monday, the 24th day of February, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corner of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff,
tf Shelby County, Alabama.

Continued to March 23, 1896.

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.

H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Store!!!

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE.

The State of Alabama,
Shelby County.

Probate Court for Shelby County, Alabama.—Letters of administration upon the estate of J. S. Davis, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 3d day of February, 1896, by the Hon. D. R. McMillan, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

F. E. Davis and
A. E. Davis,
feb 6 3t Administrators.

J. B. Lewis Co. WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear,
Style,
Ease,
Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

A. B. CLAUGHTON,

Physician and Surgeon.

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

Office in store of H. C. & W. B. Reynolds.

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.

LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

The Modern Way

Commends itself to the well-informed, to do pleasantly and effectually what was formerly done in the crudest manner and disagreeably as well. To cleanse the system and break up colds, headaches and fevers without unpleasant after effects, use the delightful liquid laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by California Fig Syrup Company.

William J. Murray, aged 80, determined to give up eating. His fast continued forty-seven days and then he died.

High Price for Potatoes.

The John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., pay high prices for new things. They recently paid $300 for a yellow rind watermelon, $1000 for 30 bu. new oats, $300 for 100 lbs. of potatoes, etc., etc.! Well, prices for potatoes will be high next fall. Plant a plenty, Mr. Wideawake! You'll make money. Salzer's Earliest are fit to eat in 23 days after planting. His Champion of the World is the greatest yielder on earth and we challenge you to produce its equal (A.C.)

If you will send us 10c. in stamps to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., you will get, free, ten packages grains and grasses, including Teosinte, Spurry, Giant Incarnate Clover, etc., and our mammoth catalogue. Catalogue alone 5c. for mailing.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure to get the genuine. It is taken internally, and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle.

Are You Troubled? And do You Want Your Troubles to Fly Away?

You have suffered worlds of trouble, anxiety and pain, and you hardly know what ails you. Sometime your business goes wrong, and for a long time you have been feeling physically very badly. Don't know what is the matter? Of course you don't, else you would get some medicine. The trouble is with your stomach and liver. Tyner's Dyspensia Remedy will do a vast amount of good in helping this trouble if you will use it. Price 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

The little goat from which the cashmere wool comes is found in the Himalaya mountains.

Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap is 100 per cent. pure. Made of Borax. It floats. Costs you same as poorer floating soap. Worth more. If all this is true you need it. Order one cake of your grocer, you'll want a box next.

The total of a Japanese bill is put at the top, and the items below.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are unequaled for clearing the voice. Public speakers and singers the world over use them.

The only dumb animal is the giraffe. It is unable to express itself by any sound.

Mothers Appreciate the Good Work of Parker's Ginger Tonic, with its reviving qualities—a boon to the pain-stricken and nervous.

We think Piso's Cure for Consumption is the only medicine for Coughs. — Jennie Pinckrd, Springfield, Ills., Oct. 1, 1895.

FITS stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

When You Come to Realize that your corns are gone, and no pain, how grateful you feel. The work of Hindercorns. 15c

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

Merit

Is what gives Hood's Sarsaparilla its great popularity, increasing sales and wonderful cures. The combination, proportion and process in preparing Hood's Sarsaparilla are unknown to other medicines, and make it peculiar to itself. It acts directly and positively upon the blood, and as the blood reaches every nook and corner of the human system, all the nerves, muscles, bones and tissues come under the beneficient influence of

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

Second Hand
TUERK WATER MOTOR
For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to

Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

THE AERMOTOR CO. does half the world's windmill business, because it has reduced the cost of wind power to 1/3 what it was. It has many branch houses, and supplies its goods and repairs at your door. It can and does furnish a better article for less money than others. It makes Pumping and Geared, Steel, Galvanized-after-Completion Windmills, Tilting and Fixed Steel Towers, Steel Buzz Saw Frames, Steel Feed Cutters and Feed Grinders. On application it will name one of these articles that it will furnish until January 1st at 1/3 the usual price. It also makes Tanks and Pumps of all kinds. Send for catalogue. Factory: 12th, Rockwell and Fillmore Streets, Chicago.

ASTHMA
POPHAM'S ASTHMA SPECIFIC
Gives relief in FIVE minutes. Send for a FREE trial package. Sold by Druggists. One Box sent postpaid on receipt of $1.60. Six boxes $5.00. Address THOS. POPHAM, PHILA., PA.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. E. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

LAND OF GOLD.

ABYSSINIA THE CRADLE OF EGYPTIAN CIVILIZATION.

History and Habits of the People Who Are Opposed to King Humbert's Army.

The war between King Humbert of Italy and King Menelek of Abyssinia, will, in time, prove a political shibboleth in spite of the fact that diplomats' minds are too busy with other matters now to give it the attention it deserves. There will come a time when European diplomats will find themselves confronted with this most serious question, which may threaten to shake European diplomacy to its foundation.

Abyssinia has an area of more than 129,000 square miles, with more than 3,000 population. Its coast runs parallel with that of Arabia, along the Red Sea. Its capital is Gondar. The present ruler is King Menelek, formerly King of Shoa, who, after the death of King John, united the two kingdoms under one sceptre. The country is very rich. The plain is especially fertile, and cotton, coffee and tobacco can be produced at a more profitable rate than in almost any other country. There are many tracts of virgin land, as well as virgin forest, which have neither seen the plow nor the axe. The mountains, which run like a chain between Abyssinia proper and the former kingdom of Shoa, are rich in minerals, and some Bible students are inclined to the belief that Abyssinia is the Ophir of Scripture.

The country has a glorious past, and is rich in song and folklore. In the Scripture the land is called Kush or Saba, the latter term meaning seven, as the people were star-worshippers and venerated the seven planets. The Abyssinians are mentioned in the book of Kings as having invaded Palestine with an army of 100,000 soldiers and 300 fighting chariots, under their king, Sorach, during the reign of Asa, King of Judea.

General Gordon, whose acquaintance I made at the home of the late Lawrence Oliphant, told me, writes a contributor to The Chicago Record, that in his opinion Abyssinia was the cradle of Egyptian civilization, as Abyssinia had, by virtue of its religion, a better knowledge of the Cosmos than had Egypt. Taking into account the fact that the whole Soudan, including Chartum, where the same famous General fell, was under the Abyssinian rule it is understood how Abyssinian culture marched into the hermit kingdom of the Nile.

In the middle ages the King of Abyssinia was appealed to by the Patriarchs of Constantinople to make war with the Jewish kingdom of Jemen, and the Abyssinians crossed the Red Sea, wiping Jemen out of existence. The decline of the country began when it was divided into two kingdoms governed by two chiefs under a feudal system.

The people of Abyssinia are of a brownish color, stout and warlike. They may be regarded as the missing link between the negro and the Caucasian. They have the physical strength of the black and the common sense of the white. Their women might be called the beauties of Africa, but should they cease their habit of besmearing their bodies with butter they would be regarded as the "new women" of Africa. Their religion is, in outside appearance, Oriental Christianity as it was before the schism; in fact, it is a mixture of paganism, Judaism and Christianity. They possess a very rich literature, a remnant of their ancient civilization, written in the Amaharit language. The King's family and some of the chiefs assert that they are the descendants of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba. Strange as this may sound, it finds a confirmation in the Talmud, which so interprets a passage in the Kings.

The King of Abyssinia boasts of the great title negus negista, which means King of Kings. The King is said to possess the royal seal of King Solomon, with which he seals his decrees. The King, although he has a fine capital, is always on the move, holding his court and executing justice while travelling from place to place. It reminds one of the manner in which Alfred the Great conducted his affairs, with the distinction that Britain's King surrounded himself with the learned of his age, while the Abyssinian King has always forty thousand soldiers who march with him through the country. The payment to the soldiery is in rice and other cereals. The coin in use is the old Maria Theresa dollar.

There are two peculiar tribes of Jews living in the mountain regions who are collectively called Palashes, which means "people from Palestine." These Jews are divided into two bodies—the laity and the priests. They are the descendants of those Jews whom King Solomon designated as a guard of honor of the Queen of Sheba when she returned to her native land of Abyssinia. The only books which they have consist of the five books of Moses and the first book of Joshua, all of which are in the Amaharit tongue. It is possible that there might be found among them the original Scripture text as it existed in the time of King Solomon. They have no idea of the prophets, nor have they any rabbinical law.

The Jews who dwell there are much respected by the natives, and they were the indirect cause of the war between England and Abyssinia. It happened that the English Society for the Conversion of the Jews sent some missionaries under the head of Dr. Stern to convert those Jews. The latter complained to the Negus, the famous Theodore. The King summoned the missionaries and asked them what they were doing in his land. They appealed to him as a Christian king to allow them to convert the Jews to their faith, which they said was also the faith of the King. The Negus asked, "Are there many Jews in England?" "Yes," they replied. "Well," said he, "go back, and after you have converted the English Jews come back and convert mine." The missionaries did not heed the Negus' advice, and they were chained and thrown into prison. England, of course, declared war. When the Negus saw that he had lost the last battle he shot himself, dying like a hero whom anyone might admire.

When Theodore died England established his son John as Negus. The country was then ruled by John, and the Kingdom of Shoa was governed by the rival Negus, Menelik. The only nation they hate is the Arab, and the recent war between them, with the hordes of dervishes on the one side, and the disciplined Egyptian troops on the other, has shown the vital power of the Abyssinian nation. They were victorious over both foes.

A Russian prospector once said to me: "The country can produce more gold and silver than all of England's other colonies combined." Perhaps it is this gold, which Russia believes to be in the Rocky Mountains, that forms the bond of friendship between the countries.

The Italians will never be able to penetrate the interior. Their colony on the coast of Massowa is a failure from the beginning. It serves as a good raiding place for the Negus, who from time to time makes a raid upon it.

The future will probably bring the Negus more into prominence than he has ever been. Dr. Cyrus Adler, of the Smithsonian Institution, is preparing to make an exploration of Abyssinia, and, as he understands the language, rich discoveries are expected.

RETURNED WITH THE BARK.

It Took Bill Bassett Several Years to do His Wife's Errand.

"Speaking of eccentric characters," said Representative Anderson, of Tennessee, "the most eccentric character I ever heard of was Bill Bassett, a mountaineer who lived several years ago down in my district.

"Bill lived with his wife and two small children—a boy and a girl—in a cabin in one of the mountain coves of Green County. His domestic relations, while not what might be called strained, were not marked with any degree of felicity. Bill's wife was a strong-minded, hard-working woman, and did not like his tendency to stop work for three or four days out of the week to hunt and fish. He never quarreled, and went about silently, doing his wife's bidding, thus preventing any chance of a row. They were very poor, and Bill had to carry most of the wood on his shoulder, as he was not able to have a horse and wagon.

"Bill was pouting in the chimney corner one day, and his wife asked him to to the woods for an armful of bark to make coals for baking bread. The pater familias without a word left the house in the direction of the woods.

"He didn't come back that night, and the next day parties of men hunted the country over for him, but he could not be found. Time passed on, the wife and children gave him up for dead, and the days lengthened into months, and months into years, but Bill did not come back. No trace of him could be found or any evidence of his fate. His wife believed him dead, but she never married again, and was sorryt she had been so strict with him.

"The boy grew up and was married, and the girl was engaged to a neighbor boy. The wedding was to occur the next day. The old mother had her baker in full blast, and needed some bark to make coals. The daughter was sent to the woods for it. She had scarcely left the door before Bill, her father, entered with his arms full of bark. This he dumped upon the hearth in the old place with as little emotion as if he had been gone only an hour instead of sixteen years. His wife turned and saw him; he smiled, but said not a word. She thought he was a ghost and fainted. Bill caught her in his arms and revived her. She soon found that he was the same flesh and blood that had left her years before, and covered him with welcome kisses.

"Bill had gone off mad and foolishly sworn that he would not return until he had made $2,000. He had drifted over several States, and finally settled down in the lumber business in Arkansas, where he had at last reached the limit of his oath and returned.

"His escapade was almost equal to the story of Rip Van Winkle, and has given him a name over the country. He lived happily with his wife after that, and when she wanted any wood he told the hired man to hook up the horses and haul it.

"As long as he lived, however, he would go on the aniversay of his departure and return and carry an armful of bark from the woods for his wife to bake a cake with."

An Unfortunate Gift.

"I was born under an unlucky star," said C. E. Jameson, a Baltimore knight of the gripsack, to a Washington reporter. "Over in Maryland there are two men doing business in adjoining towns. One of them has been a customer of mine, while I could never sell much to the other one. I was told that the one whose trade I wanted and could not get had been presented by his wife with twins. A bright idea came to me. I would seal his trade forever. I sent him the best baby carriage I could buy. Then in a few days I went over there. He was the maddest man I ever saw. It seems that he is a bachelor, and everybody in town had guyed him. Then I went to the other town to see my customer, and he was mad. It was he who was the father of twins, and a rival had given him a carriage, with the information that he had seen me buy one for another customer who had a baby. I haven't straightened it out yet, and I'm doubtful if I ever can."

AFRICAN MISSIONARIES.

Stanley Pays a Tribute to the Great Work They Have Done.

I was the only man during 1876 in Equatorial Africa, but in 1877, when only a short distance from the Atlantic, the first missionaries landed on the east coast in response to an appeal that I had written in 1875 from Uganda. During the years from 1879 to 1884 missionaries followed closely my tracks up the Congo, and as a few hundred influences were in the course of a few years enlisted in the cause of Africa. Nyassa Land and the eastern and southern part of Central Africa began to be studded with Christian missions, and missionaries have continued to enter Africa ever since, until now there must be about 300 of them, and the number is still increasing. They are not all reputed to be first-class men, but it is wonderful what earnestness and perseverance will do. We have only to think of Uganda, with its 200 churches and cathedral and its 50,000 native Christians, read the latest official reports from Nyassa Land, and glance at the latest map of Africa, to be convinced the zeal, devotion and industry of the missionaries.

Mission-houses do not grow out of themselves. Gospels are not translated into African tongues, nor or converts spontaneous products of human nature. I am somewhat familiar with African facts, and to me these things represent immense labor, patience and self-sacrifice; but others expect the Africans to fall in love with the missionary's eyes.

It is true, though strange, that for the first six years or so very little visible effect is produced by missionary teaching and influence. The mind of a pagan descendant of innumerable centuries of pagans appears to be for some time impenetrable to the Chirstian doctrine, and no matter how zealously a missionary may strive with him, he continues to present a wooden dullness, until by and by there is a gleam of interest; he catches the idea, as it were; and the interest becomes infectious and spread sfrom family to family, and converts multiply rapidly. "Cast thy bread upon the waters: for thou shalt find it after many days."

I have in my mind, as I wrie, the examples furnished by the Wyganda, Wanyassa and Bakongo. At the town of Banza Manteka, for instance, one day 900 natives came to Mr. Richards, the missionary, and requested to be baptized by him. He had labored among them many years, bu thitherto converts had been few. The missionary imposed conditions on them. He said they must first assemble their fetisches, idols and stores of gin, and destroy all in the market-place. And they went forthwith and did it.—Century.

Fabrics of Spun Glass.

Articles of dress are now being extensively made of glass. A Venetian manufacturer is turning out bonnets by the thousand, the glass cloth of which they are composed having the same shimmer and brilliancy of color as silk, and, what is a great advantage, being impervious to water. In Russia there has for a long time existed a tissue, manufactured from the fibre of a peculiar filamentous stone from the Siberian mines, which by some secret process is shredded and spun into a fabric which, although soft to the touch and pliable in the extreme, is of so durable a nature that it never wears out. This is probably what has given an enterprising firm the idea of producing spun glass dress lengths.

The muscovite stuff is thrown into the fire when dirty, like asbestos, by which it is made absolutely clean again; but the spun glass silk is simply brushed with a hard brush and soap and water, and is none the worse for being either stained or soiled. The material is to be had in white, green, lilac, pink and yellow, and bids fair to become very fashionable for evening dresses. An Austrian is the inventor of this novel fabric, which is rather costly. Table cloths, napkins, and window curtains are also made of it. It has also been discovered that glass is capable of being turned into a fine cloth, which can be worn next to the skin without the slightest discomfort.

A Sea Captain's Story.

When Captain Stewart, of the Vortigern, was in port, he told a story of a chum's experience. His chum is Captain Peters, of the Blackheath. The incident happened when Peters was second mate of the Strathmore, a sailing vessel. The ship was wrecked on one of the Crozet Islands, in the South Atlantic Ocean. He was the only one of the officers saved, and among the passengers there was only one lady saved. The island is barren, but there was sufficient vegetation to sustain life for five months, and then for three months more they sustained themselves upon birds' eggs. They were eight months on the island, and were picked up by a passing vessel and taken to England.

The lady organized a sort of society. She said: "If we ever leave this island alive let us make a compact that we shall write to one another at least once a year." This was agreed to by all the cabin passengers, and it is a compact that has been faithfully kept. The lady is growing old now, but she still keeps up her annual correspondence. She resides in England, just where Captain Stewart did not know; neither does he know her name.

Cloth Made From Peat.

Peat fiber can be bleached to snowy whiteness and will dye any color. One of the great advantages of cloth made from peat fiber is that it is entirely antiseptic, and possesses qualities which render it inimical to parasitical organism. In appearance the finer meshes are quite equal to the best tweeds, and closely resemble camel's-hair cloth.

Rattlesnakes, Butterflies, and . . . ?

Washington Irving said, he supposed a certain hill was called "Rattlesnake Hill" because it abounded in—butterflies. The "rule of contrary" governs other names. Some bottles are, supposedly, labeled "Sarsaparilla" because they are full of . . . well, we don't know what they are full of, but we know it's not sarsaparilla; except, perhaps, enough for a flavor. There's only one make of sarsaparilla that can be relied on to be all it claims. It's Ayer's. It has no secret to keep. Its formula is open to all physicians. This formula was examined by the Medical Committee at the World's Fair with the result that while every other make of sarsaparilla was excluded from the Fair, Ayer's Sarsaparilla was admitted and honored by awards. It was admitted because it was the best sarsaparilla. It received the medal as the best. No other sarsaparilla has been so tested or so honored. Good motto for the family as well as the Fair: Admit the best, exclude the rest.

Any doubt about it? Send for the "Curebook."
It kills doubts and cures doubters.
Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Where Did You Get This Coffee?

Had the Ladies' Aid Society of our Church out for tea, forty of them, and all pronounced the Germau Coffeeberry equal to Rio! Salzer's catalogue tells you all about it! 35 packages Earliest vegetable seeds $1.00 post paid.

If you will cut this out and send with 15c. stamps to John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., you will get free a package of above great coffee seed and our 148 page catalogue! Catalogue alone 5c. (A. C.)

Seed Time

The successful farmer has learned by experience that some grains require far different soil than others. He knows that a great deal depends on right planting at the right time. No use complaining in summer that a mistake was made in spring. Decide before seed-time. The best time to treat coughs and colds is before the seeds, or germs, of consumption have begun their destructive work.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, promptly cures lung and throat troubles. Do not neglect your cold.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been endorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Insist on Scott's Emulsion, with trade-mark of man and fish.

Put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby.

Manufacturers
—OF—
Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting
—AND—
Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.
OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.
Write for Prices. Address,
Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
In writing please mention this paper.

RIPANS TABULES

Mrs. James Taylor, who resides at No. 82 Bailey avenue, Kingsbridge, New York, on the 14th of December, 1894, said: "My age is 65 years. For the past two years I have had liver trouble and indigestion. I always employed a physician, which I did in this case, but obtained no beneficial results. I never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald, I concluded to give them a trial. After using them for a short time, I found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, which means $2 a call and $1 for medicine. One dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them if it were my last dollar. They are the only thing that ever gave me any permanent relief. I take great pleasure in recommending them to any one similarly affected.
(Signed), Mrs. J. Taylor."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Poor soil

and exhausted fields which were once productive can again be made profitably fertile by a proper rotation of crops and by the intelligent use of fertilizers containing high percentages of

Potash

Strikingly profitable results have been obtained by following this plan.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

Am. N. U. No. 8, 1896.

A Perfect Food

That is what Baron von Liebig said of good chocolate. All of Walter Baker & Co.'s Cocoas and Chocolates are good,—the best, in fact.

Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

Tell It To Everyone

that Brown's Iron Bitters is the symbol for health, strength and happiness. It cures all diseases arising from impure blood, and is a boon to poor Suffering Woman in her daily cares and troubles. It eliminates the impure blood from the system. Cures stomach, kidney and liver complaints. Are you afflicted?

Brown Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

SALZER'S VEGETABLE SEEDS

Are recognized as the best for all soils and climes, whether East or West, North or South, because they Sprout Quickly, Grow Vigorously, Produce Enormously!

That is their record the world over. Being Northern-grown, they are bred to earliness. There is lots of money made in early vegetables, and we are going to make a bold statement here that the earliest, choicest vegetables in the world are produced from Salzer's Seeds. Our Catalogue tells you why, so if you wish to make money—that is, have vegetables in the market 10 to 20 days ahead of your neighbors—plant Salzer's Seeds. Send 4c. for market gardeners' wholesale list. ☞ Lightning Cabbage is the earliest Cabbage novelty of the world, fit for market in 60 days! Pkg., 15c.; oz., 60c.; ¼ lb., $2.00.

We make a specialty of choice pedigree Onion Seed: 90c. per pound!

Salzer's Earliest Cucumber cannot be beat. Pkg., 10c.; oz., 20c.; ¼ lb., 60c.

Our mammoth Plant and Seed Catalogue, containing a magnificent array of the choicest vegetables, with prices dirt cheap, is mailed to you upon receipt of 5c. postage, or Catalogue and Package of Early Bird Radish upon receipt of 5c

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., La Crosse, Wis.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. I. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1896. NO. 47.

Little Kisses.

Little Kisses at the gate
Meets me in the twilight late;
Where the rarest roses be
Waits she with a kiss for me
Round my neck her ringlets fall;
She's the sweetest rose of all!

"How much do you love me, Kisses—
Little Kisses, crowned and curled?"
Then, with arms world-wide, she answered:
"I love you—love you—all the world!"

Little Kisses at the gate
Whispers to the white rose: "Wait!
To the restless red rose she Whispers: "Keep me company!"
And the red rose petals fall
On the sweetest rose of all!

"How much do you love me, Kisses—
Little Kisses, crowned and curled?"
Then, with arms world-wide, she answerd:
"Love you—love you—all the world!

Little Kisses, at the gate
Linger not too late—too late,
Lest some lonely angel far
Wandering from a loveless star
Where the earthless angels be,
Steal your face away from me!

"How much do you love me, Kisses—
Little Kisses, crowned and curled?"
Shall I ever miss the answer?—
Love you—love you—all the world!"
—F. L. Stanton, in Atlanta Constitution.

Saved By a Phonograph.

Edwin Walters, geologist, botanist, and explorer—at present engaged in the discovery of the resources of the Ozark region for the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf Railroad, is a storehouse of information about the Southwest, Mexico, and Central America. Some of his stories of the Southwestern Indians are romantic. His familiarity with the country and the natives, particularly the Pueblos, the sun worshippers, and his knowledge of Indian tongues and customs, give his stories an ethnological interest.

He tells a story of how he escaped interference, if nothing worse, from a band of Jicarilla Apaches in the Taos Valley, in New Mexico, about two years ago. He was on his way to Tres Pedras—three rocks—which lies between Tierra Amarilla and the Four Corners, that is where Colorado, Utah and New Mexico come together. He had with him a photographer, and they carried their instruments in a wagon. Among their impediments was a phonograph. They were taking impressions, both by light and sound, with their camera and the phonograph.

When they came to the Taos range which arose out of the Moreno Valley and which lies north of Santa Fe about 100 miles and is north and east of the Rio Grande River, he determined to go over the range on foot into the Taos Valley. The photographer he sent with the team around by the wagon road, a journey of two days longer. The crest of the range was 14,000 feet above the sea level and the month was August. When he started out he was lightly clad and unencumbered. He arrived almost at the summit by night and there encountered a terrific snow storm and was obliged to retreat down the mountain. Ordinarily the trip over the crest would have taken him only a few hours. Under the circumstances he was more than a day on the journey and suffered from the cold until he got down into the Taos Valley.

In the Taos Valley are three settlements. Fernando de Taos, a town of about 2,500 Mexicans and Americans; the Ranchero de Taos, where a German with a Mexican wife has a ranch and flouring mill, and the Pueblo de Taos, a settlement of Pueblo Indians. It was to the Pueblo that Mr. Walters was bound.

Mr. Walters arrived at Pueblo de Taos, became the guest of San Juan, the young chief, a fine young fellow of 28 years, whose wife was a beautiful girl of 18 years. He had had previous acquaintance with San Juan, and was hospitably received and made himself comfortable to await the arrival of the photographer. He was given a room in San Juan's house, in the second tier of the Pueblo. The floor was spread with tanned ox hides. In the centre was the hide of a pinto, or piebald ox, and sewed around it were black, white, and red hides, and over these, in front of a bed, was a bearskin. The bed was covered with a sheet, woven by the women of the house, and a pair of Navajo blankets, so closely woven that they would hold water. For food he was given venison and bear meat, black beans, corn bread, baked in the ashes, coffee, and jam of wild plums and wild mountain raspberries.

By means of a round piece of wood, covered with beeswax, for a cylinder, and a card with a kneedle through it for a diaphragm, he explained in a measure to San Juan the purpose of the phonograph, and this he did to lessen the superstition of the Indians. Pueblos abhor phonography, because it implies the use of light, which to them is sacred, being sun worshippers. And they are equally suspicious of all the inventions of the white man.

When the photographer arrived with the phonograph it was put in working order, and San Juan and his wife were delighted with the music and the speeches they could not understand. But most of all they enjoyed the sound of a fight between a cat and a dog given to the phonograph by an animal imitator.

The Pueblo Indians are direct descendants of the Toltecs, but have lost the arts which distinguished their ancestors, and are now devoted mainly to agriculture. They raise corn and wheat, goats and sheep, and are a very industrious people. Their oppressive enemy is the tribe of Jicarilla Apaches. At harvest time the Jicarillas send spies down into the valley, and when they see the fruits being garnered and the goats and donkeys treading the grain from the sheafs they go back to the mountains and prepare for a raid.

Mr. Walters was anxious to secure a cylinder for the phonograph recording the speech of San Juan. The Pueblo consented to talk into the mysterious machine, but when before the receiver he was unable to speak.

"Tell us what you think of the Apaches," suggested Mr. Walters. In a stream of Spanish came a bitter denunciation from the Pueblo, who had many injuries unadjusted. He called the Apaches everything abusive he could think of, and spoke the names of chiefs who were arch thieves. And he did not stop until the cylinder ran out. Meantime his wife and other Pueblos listened approvingly. Not long after this Mr. Walters and the photographers continued their journey.

Up the valley they went, now over grassy mesas and again through canyons so narrow and deep that they could see the stars at noonday through the narrow rift above them. One afternoon they came out into a beautiful natural mountain park, with a cold, clear stream running through it, and plenty of wood and grass. Beyond the park narrowed into another canyon. In this park they determined to camp for a day or two, the photographer to make some views and Mr. Walters to study the botany and to prospect.

They were unpacking their camp equipage and preparing to turn their horses loose, when they saw emerge from the canyon a band of about forty Jicarilla Apaches. The Indians were in full war regalia. They were painted black and red and had war bonnets of eagle feathers on their heads. Each carried a shining new Winchester, and two or three revolvers, which were the gifts of their Uncle Sam.

Thep hotographer was for cutting the horses loose and at once making a bolt.

"Make medicine first, then," said Walters, a cheerful way af telling him to pray. "And then let's bluff it out."

And, as they waited, the Indians rode up to them in single file as stolid as wood.

"Buenos dios," said Walters to the first, who was evidently chief. He was extra adorned with red paint. He grunted and passed on looking straight ahead. Pleasant greetings in Spanish were offered to each, but they ignored the white men, as their chief had done. When they had nearly all passed, Walters stood up in the wagon and shouted:

"El hombre grande!" This was passed up the line and the great man turned and rode slowly back, accompanied by two of his sub-chiefs, while the other Indians dismounted and grouped themselves at a distance.

"This," said Walters in Spanish, pointing to the phonograph, "is the great white man's medicine box. It is a box that talks and sings. It will tell you everything." The phonograph sat on a rock, with its ear tubes hanging down. The chief looked at it and sneered slightly. Walters turned to the photographer and said in English:

"Slip San Juan's cylinder in there in a hurry. Don't be afraid. Always act decisively with an Indian."

The cylinder was slipped in and Walters picked up the ear tubes, and, adjusting them in the chief's ears, said:

"Listen and you will hear the Great Spirit talk to you out of the medicine box." At the same time he slipped a pair of the tubs into his own ears and watched the Indian's face. The phonograph was started and in a moment, in excited Spanish, the Pueblo's denunciation squeaked forth. The Indian's face was stolid for awhile, but when his name was mentioned he winced. When it recited his wicked life and called down curses upon him, he dropped the tubes, jumped into the air with a howl and took himself to a safe distance.

The photographer took the tube out and slipped another one in, meanwhile keeping his body between the Indians and the chief. One of the sub-chiefs, a lank, hungry-looking Indian, was invited to put the tubes to his ears and listen to the Great Spirit, but he declined with ill-grace. His companion, a greasy looking individual, whose ribs were well out of sight, stepped forward and the machine was started. He heard the opening strains of "After the Ball," as played by the Marine band. A look of pleased wonder spread over his face, and his head rocked in time with the rhymth of the waltz. In a moment came a bang of the drum and a clash of cymbals, and the trombone bone man slid his instrument out about four feet. The Indian dropped the tubes with a yell, and looked to see where the trouble was. Then he looked at the phonograph a few minutes and said:

"The devil is in the box."

The Indians stalked off to their ponies, mounted them from the left side, and rode off in a dignfied manner. They didn't want the white men to know that they were afraid of their medicine box.

Walters and the photographer stayed in the mesa for a week. All about through the woods they saw the blue smoke arising from the Jicarilla camps, but they were not molested, for on the rock still sat the terrible medicine box.—Kansas City Star.

Foreigners in Large Cities.

The French statistician, M. Bertillon, has compiled some intesesting facts regarding the population of Paris and other great capitals. Only thirty per cent of its present population was born in Paris, and this percentage has remained practically the same for the last thirty years. The native population in St. Petersburg is thirty-two per cent; forty-one in Berlin, forty-five in Vienna, and, contrary to the general opinion, sixty-five in London—the highest of all large cities. Of all European capitals, Paris has the greatest number of foreigners, more than 181,000, exclusive of 47,000 naturalized foreigners. Among these are 26,863 Germans, while in Berlin there are only 397 French. London has only 95,000 foreigners; St. Petersburg, 23,000; Vienna, 35,000, and Berlin. 18.000. In Paris the number of foreigners increased between 1883 and 1891 from 47,000 to 181,000. In point of numbers there are more Belgians (45,000) in Paris than people of any other foreign nationality; then come the Germans, 26,863; Swiss, 26,000; Italians, 21,000; English, 13,000; Luxembourgians, 13,000, and Russians, 9,000.

Ineffective.

Dr. Slade—Now, Mrs. Cusack, that your little son is convalescing from the fever, you should provide him with some cheerful amusement or mild recreation to wake up his enervated spirits.

Mrs. Cusack—I do try, doctor, but it don't seem to do any good. I've had him set at the winder an' watch the boys stonin' Chineymen an'playin' other games, but little Hankey don't 'pear to take no interest in any of em.—Chicago Record.

There are 48,000 artists in Paris, more than half of them painters. The number of paintings sent in to the exhibitions last year was about 40,000.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

The small steel screws used in watch making are worth six times their weight in gold.

The engine of an express train consumes twelve gallons of water for each mile traveled.

There is enough iron in the blood of forty-two men to make a plowshare of twenty-four pounds weight.

Oculists say that the period during which people have the most trouble with their eyes is between twenty and thirty years of age.

A company has been started in New York City which offers to supply through a pipe service cold air to hotels, restaurants and private houses.

Dr. Herman Weber of London has given $12,500 to the British Royal College of Physicians to be offered in prizes for the best essay on tuberculosis.

Professor Garriott, of the Chicago weather bureau, says that Dyrenforth's scheme for dissipating the London fogs, will not work and will prove dangerous to the city.

Asbestos towels are among the curiosities of the day. When dirty, it is only necessary to throw them into a red hot fire, and after a few minutes draw them out fresh and clean.

Three new naphtha springs, yielding 60,000, 75,000 and 82,000 poods daily, have been discovered in the Caucasus, near the Caspian Sea. The springs are in a chasm 444 feet deep.

Experiments made last summer in Europe show that the amount of radiation received from the sun on the surface of the earth in a clear day is greater with a dark blue than with a light blue sky. In the latter case there is a higher tension of the water vapor in the air.

Professor George F. Becker writes that in regions near the pole ice is as much a rock as limestone. This may remind some who may not have thought of it otherwise, that the essential difference between ice and granite, considered as rocks, is merely a matter of greater or less degree of heat it takes to "thaw" them.

A terrestrial globe on a scale of 1:100,000 has been projected by M. Elisee Recluse, a French photographer who believes that such a work would promote geographical discovery and topographical knowledge. The globe would be about 400 feet in diameter, and mountains a mile high would appear as elevations of about half an inch.

Animal Giants.

In the Senalik Hills of India was found the skeleton of a turtle ten feet long, twenty feet in circumference and fifteen feet in girth.

In Colorado there once lived a gigantic lizard-like creature eighty feet long and as large as the largest whales of today.

A lizard was discovered near Maidstone, England, that was three times as bulky as the largest elephant, and stood on its hind legs like a kangaroo.

Found in the Rocky Mountains was the skeleton of a plated lizard. The plates with which it was protected were two or three feet in diameter. and the spines in its back over two feet in length.—New York Mail and Express.

Bread as a Beautifier.

Bread as the staff of life is a familiar enough idea, but bread as a means of beauty has never received enough consideration. It is a subject which the persistent and consistent seeker after good looks will study. Observation and physiological research will show her that fine wheat bread means a pasty or even rough complexion, that pimples follow in the wake of hot bread, and that smooth rosy skins belong to those who eat a coarse, whole, grain cold bread. For the latter are best for the dsgestion, and good complexions accompany only good digestions.—New York World.

Fill the Bill Exactly.

"I've got Smedley's new gun."

"Why don't you know you couldn't hit anything with it? It's a beauty, but it won't shoot straight."

"Oh! That's why I got it. Fellows always guyed me because I couldn't shoot, and now I've got an excuse for missing.—Chicago Record.

Life-Saving Stations.

The station itself is a two-story house built securely and solidly upon some good site along the beach; it is comfortable and roomy, furnished by the Government, and has the boat-room and kitchen on the lower floor; a large bedroom for the keeper, another for the surfmen, and a store room occupy the second story.

The boat-room is large and opens by great double doors upon the beach. It contains the life-saving apparatus—always in perfect order and readiness.

The crew consists of a keeper and six surfmen, though some stations number seven surfmen; these men are graduates from no naval college, but have served their apprenticeship with Old Ocean as their master; they must be able to handle a boat in the roughest weather, and to face all the dangers of the deep.

Each man must undergo a strict medical examination, and must bring to the station his certificate of good health; and he is also obliged to sign an agreement to faithfully perform all duties.

The keeper receives a salary of $900 a year (up to 1892 it was but $700), he must be at the station all the year round, but is allowed a month's leave of absence in the summer if he gives up his pay. A surfman receives $65 a month, is at the station during eight months of the year, and has the privilege of leaving the station for twenty-four hours every two weeks,—but in lonely stations they generally remain for the active season, which begins September 1, ending May 1; when a man leaves in May he goes where he pleases, and if he does not return in September the keeper gets another man in his place for the next winter season.

The keeper is held responsible for the condition of everything connected with the station; he must drill the men in their duties, divide the work evenly, and see that the men are orderly. No liquor is allowed on the premises; drunkness or neglect of duty is punished by instant dismissal from the service; the man who is detailed to cook must keep the kitchen in perfect order; and each has his share of the housework to perform, for no women live at the stations.

The crew are numbered by the keeper from one to six, and at midnight preceding September 1 the station goes into commission; at that hour the keeper gives patrol equipments to two of the surfmen, and they start out on the first patrol, and the active season has fairly begun: everything runs like clockwork after that, and as strict a discipline is maintained as on board a man-o'-war.—St. Nicholas.

The Heart of Gotham.

The real heart of Gotham, the brains and genius of the metropolis, are to be found in a very small section of this big city, writes a New York correspondent of the Pittsburg Dispatch. Between Fourteenth and Fortieth streets are found the men who write out dramas, who make our songs, who compose the music for our operas, whose pens are responsible for many of those bright little bits of humor that lighten our lives, whose brains invent many of the ideas that other men utilize. It is no exaggeration to say that this section is responsible for nearly every bit of the new or original literary matter that is produced in this city. If it is not actually composed in the little world designated, it is there critically examined, revised, amended or put into the shape in which it is finally given to the public. On Broadway, between the streets named one is constantly bumping against men and women who are responsible for a good deal of the music and laughter of this whole country.

The Modern Novel.

Twitterly (to Snitterly, reading novel)—And what becomes of the hero?

I don't know his final fate, but on page 205 it looks as if the heroine had him treed.

Twitterly—Treed?

Snitterly—Yes. The author states that "at her glance he stood rooted to the spot."—Harper's Bazar.

George Stillman is suing to recover immense valuable property in Brooklyn under a deed given to an ancestor by three Indian chiefs.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Duty doesn't call; she listens.

Two lies are weaker than one.

All is not fun that raises a laugh.

Be as happy as you can, if you can.

Tomorrow is always the best of the year.

Some women look too old and some too young.

A good habit is never good enough brag about.

Many a man thinks he is in love and is only in trouble.

The man with nothing to lose does not necessarily win.

When a man has only one idea it is usually a wrong one.

It is not polite to have more than one kind of politeness.

It is not more blessed to give a bribe than to receive one.

All people have something to regret if it is only that they were born.

Even an honest man often breaks the promises he makes to himself.

Some benefactor should invent a system which will be an aid to forgetfulness.

The right to one's opinions doesn't always include the right to obtrude them upon others.

The people who are always waiting for their ships to come in are frequently those who have never sent out any.

Most women are convinced that all that is necessary to make a man happy is for him to get a wife. The men know better.—New York Press.

Victoria's Descendants.

A laborious genealogist announces, as the result of years of minute labor, that the Queen children, of whom she has lost two; 41 grandchildren, of whom eight have died; and 23 great-grandchildren, all of whom are living. She has therefore 63 descendants living, seven children, 33 grandchildren, and 23 of the next generation. Her eldest great-grandchild, the Princess Feodore, of Saxe-Meiningen, is now nearly 17, so that in all probability Her Majesty will live to see her grand children's grandchildren. Few English sovereigns before Queen Victoria have seen grandchildren grow out of infancy; and none ever saw a great-grandchild. Hence. Her Majesty had to determine the question of precedency in the case of the Duchess of Fife's children, and she wisely decided that they should rank only as daughters of a Duke.

The decision was in accordance with a House-law decreed earlier in the reiu, by which the title of Prince and Royal Highness is limited to the sovereign, and the children of the sovereign's sons, the children of the sovereign's daughters taking precedence only according to the rank of their fathers. Thus the Princess Helena's children rank as children of Prince Christian only, while the Duke of Connaught's are Royal Highnesses; and Prince Arthur of Connaught's son and successor, if he has one, will be the Duke of Connaught as an ordinary duke, taking precedence merely by date of the creation of his dukedom. This is now the case of the Duke of Cumberland on the roll of the House of Lords, though he is styled Royal Highness as a son of a King of Hanover.—The Gentlewoman.

Queer Stroke of Lightning.

While a company of soldiers were drilling at Rendsburg, Germany, lately, a bolt of lightning threw forty-eight men to the ground. The lightning ran from bayonet point to bayonet point, shattering the guns completely. Only one man was killed—one who carried no gun; through him the lightning was conducted to the ground. His body was covered with blue and green spots and stripes. The eyeglasses of one man were melted and burned into the flesh, and he received other painful injuries, but he will live. Another had both legs stiffened. The cries of the suffering men are said to have been heartrending.

Heart Failure.

"Isn't that Miss Smedley? I thought she was sick. Somebody told me Dr. Pankey had given her up."

"Well he did sort o' give her up but not until he had tried five or six years to get her."—Chicago Tribune.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, } Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

EDITORIAL.

In another column will be found a special from Washington to the State-Herald which shows what Messrs. Reynolds and Booker are doing for the Industrial school. Too much praise cannot be given the vice-president of the Southern railway for his liberality in giving free transportation of all material used in the construction of the school buildings. Mr. Baldwin even went before the committee on public lands and urged that the bill appropriating the public lands become a law. Our people will not forget this liberal and progressive gentleman and the great company he represents. We must say his corporation has a soul and a heart and big ones at that.

Mr. W. F. Aldrich is in the city today. He says he will go to Washington next week to relieve Mr. Robbins of his congressional labors, and then he is going to persuade Uncle Sam to erect a public building in Selma.—Selma Journal.

We hope Mr. Aldrich will remember the poor white girls of the state and see that they get the public land for the Industrial school. He can pass the bill if he will—and we believe he will do it.

Mayor James A. VanHoose, of Birmingham, returned last night from Washington and New York, where he has been with a committee that went from here eleven days ago to promote the scheme for the construction of a canal from the Upper Warrior river through the Birmingham district, eventually to connect the Warrior and Tennessee rivers. Accompanied by Congressman O. W. Underwood, Captain R F. Kolb, W. F. Aldrich and P. G. Bowman, Mayor Vanhoose appeared before the house committee on rivers and harbors at Washington and presented the matter. Mr. Aldrich, Mayor VanHoose says, made a strong speech to the committee setting forth the benefits that would accrue from the construction of such a waterway by giving Alabama coal and iron an all water outlet. The committee was urged to make an appropriation for the survey of the route for the proposed canal from here to the upper locks on the Warrior, a distance of about thirty miles. Mr. VanHoose says the committee seemed deeply interested in the matter, and promised to give it its careful consideration. He adds that the delegation received practical assurance that an appropriation amounting to $15,000 or $20,000 would be favorably reported.

The above extract is taken from the Montgomery Advertiser. We are glad to see that Mr. W. F. Aldrich is taking such a lively interest in the canal scheme, which means so much to the coal operators and mine owners. We learn that Mr. Aldridh has been earnestly solicited to give his aid and influence in getting the bill through congress, which is to give to the poor white girls of the state 25,000 acres of the mineral lands. While this bill would probably not meet the approval of the mining corporations, who are interested in securing these lands themselves, we cannot but believe that Mr. Aldrich will do all in his power to see that it becomes a law. There are many who believe that he will not give his aid to such a bill because the town of Montevallo was against him politically. We cannot think that such questions as these will influence a man who is supposed to represent his district. The people of this county and the adjoining counties have the interest of this school at heart and will wait with much anxiety to see what becomes of the bill now under consideration. It is true that the citizens of Montevallo were practically a unit against Mr. Aldrich politically—personally no one can say ought against him. They were democrats and he was a republican. The school that this land is intended to endow is for democrat, republican and populite. It is a state institution and is intended to help the poor white girls to get an education that will enable them to get along in the world. Can Mr. Aldrich allow his personal feelings to carry him so far that he will withhold his support from a bill that will lift the fair daughters of our land higher upon the plane of civilization? We do not believe he will. If he does we must confess we are sadly mistaken in the man. From all accounts he will soon be seated in congress. The responsibility of endowing this noble institution will then rest on his shoulders. The bill has the unanimous support of the committee on public lands. Mr. Aldrich can have it passed in ten minutes time. Will he do it, or will he not? It is for him to answer.

A British magistrate has decided that rice throwing at a wedding constitutes an assault. "Then shoe throwing must be an aggravated assault," adds the New York Recorder.

GOSSIP FROM WASHINGTON.

The Bill to Help the Girls' Industrial School Unanimously Reported.

Washington, Feb. 17.—At a meeting of the ezecutive committee of the board of trustees of the Girls' Industrial school, located at Montevallo, Mr. C. Reynolds and Capt. E. W. Booker were appointed a committee to come to Washington and advocate the passage as soon as possible of the bill in the house introduced by Hon. G. A. Robbins, which provided for the donation by the United States of 25,000 acres of public lands for the school. Messrs. Reynolds and Booker arrived here last week and through their efforts a favorable report has been made by the committee on public lands.

The bill introduced by Representative Robbins provides that the governor of Alabama shall select 25,000 acres of the public lands in Alabama and certify the location of the same to the secretary of the interior, who shall cause said lands to be deeded to the state of Alabama, the proceeds of which, if sold or disposed of in any way, to forever remain a fund for the Girls' Industrial school of Alabama.

At a meeting of the committee on public lands of the house last Friday Messrs. Reynolds and Booker, accompanied by Vice-President Baldwin of the Southern railway and Representatives Robbins, Bankhead, Cobb, Harrison and General Shelley, appeared before the committee. Mr. Robbins introduced Mr. Reynolds, who made a telling speech, and then presented Vice-President Baldwin, who, after stating that he was a Massachusetts yankee, urged that the bill before the committee be reported favorably. As soon as the speeches were concluded, upon motion of Mr. Wilson of Ohio, the committee unanimously decided to report favorably the bill to the house, and Mr. Underwood of Alabama, was instructed to write the report. This action of the committee was most unusual and was taken while the gentlemen urging the matter were still in the room. One member of the committee, Mr. Curtis of Kansas, wanted to go so for as to give all the public lands in Alabama to the school upon the statement by Mr. Underwood that there were about 300,000 acres in the state.

The bill is now on the calendar, and in a few days Representative Robbins will ask unanimous consent for its consideration, and there is little doubt of its passage. It will then go to the senate, where Senators Morgan and Pugh will give it a hearty support and send it to the president for his signature.

The interest that Vice-President Baldwin of the Southern railway, is taking in the school is very gratifying to Messrs. Reynolds and Booker and will be to the entire people of Alabama. In addition to the vigorous speech made by Mr. Baldwin before the house committee, he is willing to go before the senate committee and urge again the speedy passage of the bill. Mr. Baldwin has also issued a circular granting free transportation over the Southern railwny for all material to be used in erecting the school buildings. This means quite a help to the institution, and is a still greater evidence of the friendliness of this young and successful railroad official to the enterprise at Montevallo.

Messrs. Reynolds and Booker have been untiring in their efforts for this school, and have been given much aid on their visit here by General Shelley, Dr. J. L. M. Curry, Dr. Harris, the commissioner of education, and the Alabama delegation in congress.

While on this subject it will not be amiss to state that Representative Underwood is forging rapidly to the front as a wise and safe legislator, and showed by his information of subjects relating to the committee on public lands, of which he is a member. that he is giving much time to study, an unusual thing for the average congressman.

Representative Robbins, whose interest for his constituents is shown by the introduction of thir bill (H. R. 19), among the first presented to the Fifty-fourth congress, deserves and no doubt will receive the thanks of the whole state should this measure become a law, which it is certain to do, and many a poor girl, who shall have been given an opportunity through the instrumentality of the Industrial school of perfecting herself to meet the storms of life, will remember with grateful heart his efforts in her behalf.—State Herald.

ANOTHER AWFUL CALAMITY

By an Explosion of Dynamite—Many Go to Sudden Death.

An explosion of dynamite has occurred at Viedendorp, in Boerland, and the poor quarter of the town has been blown to pieces. Hundreds of houses are in ruins and the havoc wrought is fearful. The windows of every house in Johannesburg were broken by the force of the explosion. The dynamite which caused the catastrophe filled eight trucks, which were being shunted. The explosion caused an immense hole 30 feet deep. Every house within a radius of half a mile of the explosion was razed. Forty dead, nearly all terribly mutilated, have already been taken from the ruins, but the work of searching the debris has scarcely begun. Two hundred of the most severely injured were admitted to the hospital, where several died. President Kruger, after viewing the scene of devastation, declared that the Netherlands Railway company, on board of whose cars the dynamite exploded, would have to pay the amount of damage done, which is calculated at £1,000,000 at least. President Kruger was elected president of the relief committee formed and which has already collected £60,000.

ALABAMA IN BRIEF.

Birmingham Pushing for Water Transportation.

EX-CONVICT KILLED AT GURLEY.

Two Deaths From Explosion of an Engine—A Murderer Surrenders. A New Marble Discovery—Two Young Lives Extinguished by Fire.

Inexpressibly Sad.

In Etowah county little Amy Darnell was so badly burned as to leave no hopes of her recovery. Her clothes were burned from her body, and the flesh peeled off in slices.

An Editor Made Happy.

Mr. J. W, Young, the popular young editor of the Fayette Sentinel, was married on the 18th instant to Miss Naomi Ward, of Sulligent. A host of friends are offering congratulations.

Danger in Open Grates.

A special from Gadsden, Ala., says: Little Katie Green, whose parents live in St. Clair county, was playing with her doll before the grate when her clothing caught on fire. Her mother and aunt extinguished the flames and the child's wounds were pronounced very light. She played around the rest of the day but about midnight she had an attack, and in an hour was a corpse.

By Violence the Violent Die.

At Gurley's Thursday evening Dick Childress, an ex-convict, was terrorizing the citizens with a pistol when he met with Policeman Erwin and began to curse him, at the same time pointing his pistol at him. Erwin drew his pistol and both began firing. Childress shot twice and fell, dying instantly, three balls from Erwin's pistol having struck him. Erwin was unhurt.

She Would Dance.

A fatal shooting affray occurred at a candy break near Sardis, Dallas county, Friday night. Virgil Morrisette was jealous of Andrew Wilkins' attention to his wife and forbade them dancing together. Later he saw them dancing and, drawing his pistol, fired at Wilkins and the ball passed through his heart, killing him instantly. In the confusion which followed Morrisette made his escape and has not yet been captured.

A Thief Gets Ten Years.

J. W. Strong, who stole a bag containing one thousand silver dollars from an express truck in the union depot, at Birmingham, on the night of December 13, last, while it was being unloaded fom a car upon its arrival from the New Orleans mint, was on Saturday sentenced by Judge Green of the criminal court to ten years labor in the mines. Strong escaped from the officers last Saturday while he was being taken to the court room to receive sentence but was recaptured that night. The officers say he is a notorious crook.

Washington's Birthday.

The Birmingham society of the Sons of the Revolution on Saturday held a session at the Young Men's Christian association rooms at 3 p. m., in celebration of the one hundred and sixty-fourth anniversary of the birth of George Washington. The Daughters of the American Revolution participated, and the exercises were very interesting. The membership of these two societies is made up of some of the best citizens. All who feel an interest in patriotism were cordially invited, and members of the organization were especially requested to be present.

Cotton Planters' Convention.

M, B. Shelton, president of the Lauderdale County Cotton Growers' association, has called a convention of cotton growers, to meet in Florence next Saturday. The convention is for the purpose of taking active steps to reduce the cotton acreage this year. A convention of this character was held here last year and as a result the acreage was reduced about 30 per cent. It is feared that many of the farmers of this section contemplate planting an increased cotton crop this year on account of the better prices that prevailed last fall. A strong effort will be made at the coming convention to persuade them against such a policy.

More of Our State's Wealth.

Gen. J. W. Barker, receiver of the Chattanooga Southern railroad, has received a slab of the most beautiful dove colored marble ever found in the south. It is from a large deposit on the property of P. J. Hines, near Jacksonville, Ala. A short time ago Charles Haag, president of the Rockwood (Ill.) Furniture company, was in the south and was anxious to secure marble to be used in the less expensive grades of furniture. At Robinette Creek, in Wayne county, a county concerning whose riches "the half has never been told," some fine pink marble has been found, but it was too far from any transportation facilities to be available. The recent discovery at Jacksonville is attracting considerable attention.

Horrible Catastrophe.

A local freight train on the Nashville, Chattanoopa & St. Louis railroad, pulled into Bridgeport at 3:15 p. m., Thursday and had stopped on the main track preparatory to taking a siding, when, without a seconds warning, the boiler exploded with terrific force. The locomotive was torn to atoms, One piece of it crashed through the gable of a house several hundred feet away. The body of the fireman, Will Irvin, was torn to shreds, and that of John Walkup, the engineer, was thrown over the top of a plaining mill, over 200 feet distant, and was horribly mangled. Simon Riggles, a brakeman, who was on the locomotive tender, was scalded and is not expected to recover. Not a vestige of the big locomotive remained on the track except the wheels.

"Gwine Back" to Africa.

Ten negro families, consisting of forty persons, reached Selma Saturday from Camden, en route to Liberia. J. J. Carmichael, an intelligent negro, is in charge of the party. He is the agent of the International Emigration society, of Birmingham, and will go through to Liberia with them. The negroes are from Dallas, Wilcox and Marengo counties. Their passage is $41, and is paid through. and their household effects and farming implements have been shipped to Savannah. The party went on to Birmingham and will sail from Savannah. The negroes are promised three months provisions by the emigration company, while the government of Liberia offers them thirty acres of farm lands, ten acres for a house site, and each child in a family over 16 years of age ten acres of land additional.

Weary of His Secret.

William Walters has surrendered himself to Sheriff Barr, of Los Angelos, Cal., saying he killed Paul Maddox in Tuskaloosa county, Alabama, in April 1889. According to his story he was working at the coal mines near Tuskaloosa. One day he and a friend, Martin Davis, were riding along the road, when they met several other men who were supplied with whisky. Walters bought some whisky of Maddox, one of the other party, and paid for the liquor. They had several drinks together, when Maddox again asked for pay. Walters said he had already paid for the liquor. Maddox struck him on the forehead with a bottle. Walters retaliated by drawing a revolver and putting a bullet through Maddox's body. Walter's fled, and made his way to Mississippi, where he boarded a train for the Pacific coast. Sheriff Burr has received a telegram from Alabama that an officer and requisition papers will be sent for Walters.

Experiments in Photography.

Prof. A. F. McKissick, of the Alabama Polytechnic institute has very successfully reproduced the now celebrated experiments of Professor Rolutgen, of Wurzberg, by photographing through wood, card board, paper and the human hand. In one of the experiments he places a plate sensitized in a plate holder, which is impervious to sunlight. The articles to be photographed are placed on the top of the plate holder. A tube is lighted up for five minutes. When the plate is developed an image of the articles placed on the plate is distinctly seen. In another experiment he places a key and a book in a thick pasteboard box. This is placed on top of the plate holder and, after being exposed to the lighted tube five minutes, an image of the key and book, which are inside the box, is photographed on the plate. The third experiment consisted in photographing a pair of scissors through a thick piece of wood. One of the most interesting is the photographing of the human hand, which shows the faint outline of the hand, the bones, the joints, etc.

Pushing for Water Transportation.

Mayor VanHoose, of Birmingham, has lately visited Washington and New York with a view to forwarding measures looking to the construction of a canal through the Birmingham district to deep water on the Warrior river.

Mr. VanHoose said Saturday morning: "There were on the committee Congressman O. W. Underwood, Mr. W. F. Aldrich, Capt. R. F. Kolb, Mr. P. G. Bowman and myself. Mr. Aldrich, who was personally acquainted with several members of the committee on rivers and harbors, made a speech and showed them what benefit the canal would be to this section of the United States, and explained the reasons why the government should take a hand in it. A strange coincidence took place," continued the mayor, "and that was our delegation followed a delegation from Mobile. It was not a preconcerted affair. The Mobile delegation was before the committee for the purpose of asking for a continuation of the work on the gulf and bay there. That committee showed the good that would accrue from the continuation of the work, saying that it would afford an outlet for the coal and iron products of the state and assist the other industries of the commonwealth of Alabama. We showed the committee, after hearing that the Mobile delegation had just been ahead of us, that there was no arrangement between us, and it was only the coincidence that did our cause some good.

"The committee asked us to file our papers and, while not made in so many words, we were given to understand that a thorough investigation of our request would be made. The indications are that a survey will be ordered during this coming summer.

"I cannot say whether the survey will be made down Five-Mile creek or along Village creek."

FORTY PEOPLE PERISH.

Terrible Results of Fire and Panic at a Ball.

At a masked ball given by the Artists' club, of San Taren, Portugal, last Tuesday night, fire broke out shortly before midnight and spread with great rapidity. A terrible panic followed the first alarm and all present rushed for the exits, which were soon jammed with terrified people. Despairing of escape by any other means, men, women and children then jumped from the windows, seriously injuring themselves. Friends of the revelers rushed into the burning building, later, to aid in the work of rescue, and many of them were caught by the flames before they could make their way out again. Thus far forty bodies have been received at the morgue. All of the bodies of victims thus far recovered at San Taren, except one, are those of women and children.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.

Tennessee Burt Oats.

United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor: Services every 2nd and 4th Sundays. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. S. L. Dobbs, pastor: Services every 1st and 3rd Sundays. Prayer Meeting every Thursday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor: Services every 3rd Sunday, at 4 p. m.

Presbyterian Church—Rev. J. H. Zwingle, pastor: Services every 2nd Sunday.

Sunbeam Society meets every 1st and 3rd Sundays at Baptist church at 2:30 p. m

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Missionary Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8 B'ham & Selma.....	8:10 a m
No. 9 Selma & B'ham.....	7:25 p m
No. 15 South.....	12:37 p m
No. 16 North.....	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Emmett Welch, B. F. Roden & Co's. genial hustler, was in town the 21st.

Messrs. H. DuBose, Offie Leeper and Mr. Thedford, all of Columbiana, visited Montevallo Friday.

Miss Mattie Senoir of Brierfield is visiting the family of Dr. Trammell.

Crayons for drawing at H. C. & W B. Reynolds'. These crayons are especially adapted for map coloring. sketching and, in fact, for all purposes requiring a first-class article in those particular branches. The very low price commends them to all.

Mr. and Mrs Parker of Brierfield came up Friday to tender their sympathy and respects to Mrs. Dobbs.

Miss Nellie Parker, one of Columbiana's pretty girls, on her way from Birmingham, stopped over a few hours Friday.

John McMath is doing jury duty in Columbiana this week.

Misses Marion and Edna Booker of Shelby Springs and Miss Woolly of Maplesville, three most agreeable young ladies, were the guests of Mrs. W. B. Reynolds last week.

Miss Mabel Galloway of Calera is visiting Miss Lois McCauley.

Mr. Carland Duncan, superintendent of the Chilton Lumber Co., is visiting Dr. Claughton.

We were glad to have with us last Friday Messrs. Walter, Karl and Jerome Fuller of Centreville

Mr. Sam Curry brought in several bales of the fleecy staple Tuesday. Mr. Curry is one of Chilton's leading planters—one of the men who shows us how to farm.

Our friend, John Davis, of Centreville, was up to see us Sunday.

Rev. C. L. Herring of the Calera Metodist church was in town Friday.

Among the beautiful traits of true Christianity which our late departed Bro. Dobbs illustrated was that which might be called perpetual youth. Though ripe in years and wisdom, he sought and enjoyed the society of young people, and his company was in turn enjoyed by them. His departure from this world is probably mourned more sincerely by now more than by the young people of Montevallo and vicinity.

C. C. Grail, the "converted tramp," lectured to a full house at the Baptist church Monday night. He is well worth hearing and makes some good points. An amusing one is his classification of the terms tramp into the bum, hobo and tramp. That which gave most food for thought was his statement that a kind word might be worth more to a tramp than a biscuit. A collection of $3.50 was tendered him at the conclusion of his lecture. We would recommend that the lecturer cultivate a more distinct utterance.

Messrs E L Pinson, J D Carden, N F Busby and Thomas Lovett, all of Shelby, were in Montevallo Thursday buying goods cheap.

Registered at the Central Hotel on Tuesday: C C Grail, Montgomery: Ed Lilienthal, Selma; Milton Stewart, Baltimore; T H DeLoach, Louisiana; F B Jarvis, New Orleans; Leonard, Birmingham; A J Lee, city.

Mrs. Fannie King, of Scottsboro, well known in the Alabama Press Association as an earnest and graceful writer, has won a prize offered by the Courier-Journal for the concluding portion of a story called "Her Three Suitors." If the world could hear often from Mrs. King it would be the better for it, and Mrs. King would enlarge the sphere of her own fame.—New Decatur Advertiser.

We note the above extract with much pleasure. Mrs. King is a favorite of every Montevalloan who knew her, and we are proud to know of her success. We are surprised she has allowed her wonderful talent to lie idle so long. As a writer she has few equals.

ELEGANCE OF language must give way to simplicity in preaching sound doctrine.

CORRESPONDENCE.

ALDRICH LOCALS.

Mr. D. R. Monroe, of Anniston, is visiting his son, Genrge B. Monroe, of this place.

Miss Hattie Stein, of Birmingham, who has been visiting relatives here, returned last week, accompanied by Miss Bessie Hoskins and Miss Annie Platt.

Col. S. S. Holbrook and George T. Monroe made a business trip to Helena Monday.

Mr. C. C. Ambrose and a friend were out of town all day Sunday.

Miss Ada Mulkey, of Brierfield, spent a few days of last week with friends at this place. Miss Ada is quite a charming young lady and we hope she will visit us again.

Miss Maggie Monroe, of Anniston, came down last Monday to be at the marriage of her niece, Miss Lizzie Monroe.

Mrs. Frank Weaver of Blocton, is visiting her father's family this week—Mr. Jackson Gentry.

A happy wedding occurred last Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. George B. Monroe. The contracting parties were Mr. William O'Neal and Miss Lizzie Monroe, Rev. Thomas D. Buorne officiating. The bride is a member of one of our best families, is lovely, accomplished and has a host of friends wherever she is known, and will, no doubt, make a model companion. The groom is one of our most substantial and handsome citizens, and should be proud of the prize he has won. Mr. and Mrs. O'Neal have the best wishes and hopes of their many friends. After the ceremony the guests repaired to a previously prepared room and engaged in the merry dance till the hour of 12.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

We regret very much to chronicle the illness of Mr. M. L. Wooten's child, which has been very ill for some time.

We are pained to learn of the illness of Mr. H. C. Allen's child, and we hope for it a speedy recovery,

Mr. John Beardon, of Blocton, Ala., spent last week here with friends and relatives.

Mr. John Harmon, of Sturdivant, Ala., spent the front part of the week in town. We are always pleased to see the 'squire.

Mr. Clay Allen, of Birmingham, is spending a few days here with relatives.

Mr. Robert E. Allen, of Calera, paid us a flying visit one day last week.

Mr. Hubbard, of Birmingham, was in town last week on professional business.

We are very glad to welcome Mr. Lonzo Cross, of Highland, Ala., a citizen of Dogwood.

W. E. Harrison went up to Elliotsville Sunday, perhaps on matrimonial business.

Mr. John W. Randall, of Calera, was in town last week on professional business. T. A. T. E.

MONTEVALLO.

A Brilliant Social Event Was the German Tendered by the Young Men.

Montevallo, Feb. 24.—On Friday night the most brilliant social event in the history of Montevallo transpired. The occasion was a german tendered by the young men of Montevallo and vieinity to their young lady friends. The following couples participated: Miss Gertrude Woolley wore a beautiful gown of blue silk, trimmed with real lace, with Mr. N. C. Fuller; Miss Bettie Dill wore white organdie, with Mr. Jerome T. Fuller; Miss Edna Booker wore white silk net over satin, with Mr. Walton C. Fuller; Miss Bessie Hoskins wore blue silk, with Mr. W. P. McConnaughy; Miss Mary Lee Perry wore white organdie, with Mr. Joe Hoskins; Miss May Harris wore cream organdie, with Mr. Ambrose; Miss Stein of Bloomington, Ill., wore green crepe du chene, with Mr. W. T. Hardy; Miss Platt of Birmingham wore pink crepe du chene, with Mr. Hoskins; Miss Marion Booker of Shelby Springs wore a beautiful gown of white silk, with pearls and diamonds, with Mr. A. J. Lee. Mr. Thetford led the german, most gracefully assisted by Miss Marion Booker. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reynolds and Mrs. Hoskins were the chaperones. The rovers were DuBose, Leeper, Hill, T. Hoskins, Robins and Perry.

Montano's Italian band, of Birmingham, furnished delightful music.—State Herald.

Cleveland Newspaper Fire.

The Leader newspaper building Cleveland, O., narrowly escaped destruction Thursday morning. Fire started in the stereotyping department shortly after 6 o'clock, and a portion of the fourth floor of the building was badly burned. Water ran down into the press room and book bindery, doing considerable damage. The loss on building and machinery is estimated at $10,000. All editions of the News and Herald this afternoon appeared as usual and the Leader will come out tomorrow morning as if there had been no fire.

Powerful Coast Defender.

The monitor Monadnock was formally placed in commission at Mare Island navy yard Thursday. The construction of the Monadnock was commenced twenty-one years ago, and has dragged along at intervals all that time. Naval officers say she is now a most powerful battleship and able to hold her own against anything that floats. Captain Summer took command of the vessel.

MONTEVALLO MOURNS.

Rev. C. L. Dobbs, Their Pastor, Died Thursday—Aldrich Rejoices.

Montevallo, Ala., Feb. 22.—Rev. C. L. Dobbs, pastor of the Methodist church at this place, died suddenly Thursday night, after a week's illness with pneumonia. Mr. Dobbs was in the 65th year of his life and was a native of DeKalb county, Alabama. The sturdy independence of this Godly man is attested by the fact that had he permitted his name to be placed upon the superannuated list of the North Alabama conference he could long since have retired from active service and spent his declining years in his beautiful home in Alexander City. But he preferred to died in harness, and was actively discharging his duties up to a week before his death. He was twice married—the last time to Miss Laura E. Dean, who survives him. The body was carried yesterday afternoon to Alexander City for interment and was accompanied by Mrs. Dobbs, Mrs. C. W. Cary and Mr. J. M. Reynolds. Much sorrow is felt in Montevallo at the loss of this good man and able minister.

Mr. H. Clay Reynolds, the indefatigable worker for the industrial school, after two weeks stay in Washington in the interest of that institution, has extended his trip to New York. where he expects to obtain substantial aid for Montevallo's pet project. If every town in the state had a half dozen such citizens as Mr. Reynolds what might be the possibilities of Alabama. —Birmingham News.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

At a regular meeting of the Montevallo Y. P. C. E. S., held on Sunday, February 23, 1896, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God, in his allwise providence, to remove from our midst our worthy brother, Rev. C. L. Dobbs, on the night of February 21, 1896; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Bro. Dobbs our society has lost a true, ardent and faithful member, who, by his upright life and conduct and by his many noble qualities, endeared himself to us all.

Resolved, That we bow in humble submission to the gracious will of our Heavenly Father, who is too wise to err and too good to be unkind, and in this solemn visition we are reminded of the vanity of earthly hopes and admonished to prepare for the change which must come to all.

Resolved, That this society express our sorrow and regret at the departure of so worthy a member, and that we will ever hold him in grateful remembrance.

Resolved, That the society express their sincere sympathy for the family of the deceased.

Resolved, That as a mark of respect to the memory of our deceased brother, these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our society and a copy be prepared for publication in the Montevallo News, also a copy be sent to the family. L. N. Bowdon,
C. W. Cary,
Committee.

On the evening of February 19th the friends of Miss Viola Woolley laid her to rest in the Garner cemetery to await the resurrection morn. This is the saddest death that has occurred in this community for quite a while. Miss Viola had just grown into womanhood and bid fair to live her three score and ten years. She was a member of the M. E. church and weilded a wide influence over her friends and associates, whom were very numerous. The writer was rocked in the same cradle, nursed by the same mother and has been closely associated from infancy nntil the hour of her death, and never did he, in her childhood days, hear her speak harsh to her playmates at school or accuse one in any way, and when she had grown to womanhood he never heard her speak evil of her neighbor in any way, and when you met her she was always pleased with her situation and met you with a smile. She always made home facinating, bright and happy. But the good Lord saw proper to extinguish the light that illuminated home, church and society, and carried her home, where she would know no more pain or sorrow. While friends and loved ones lose her from their association, the angels welcomed her into a haven of rest, where she will dwell throughout the endless ages of eternity.

Dr. E. G. Ghivan, who so patiently administered medicine unto Miss Viola during her last illness, not only showed her all the attention that a medical physician could pay, but paid her the last tribute of respect by attending the funeral service. While the doctor, as well as loved ones, was so unfortunate as to lose her, he did all that medical aid could do and he has won the confidence and friendship of our community at large.

The bereaved family have our heartfelt sympathy, and we will say, "Let your walks be Godly walks and your conversations be Godly conversations" and make an unbroken family in heaven. A Friend.

Out in the Freezing Wind.

The Delaware County Children's Home burned at midnight Wednesday. It was beyond the city limits, and forty-three children were inmates of he building. The weather was extremely cold and the children had to be driven a long distance through the freezing wind to the city opera house, where they were kept during the night. The loss on the building was about $25,000, with $10,000 insurance.

Massachusetts and Rhode Island are the only states which cling to the annual election of their governors.

OUR TRADE AND TRAFFIC

As Observed and Reported by Dun's Weekly Review.

STATEMENT OF WEEK'S FAILURES.

Business Somewhat Retarded by Stringency Resulting From Withdrawal of Cash to Purchase Bonds. Confidence in American Securities--Low Prices--Large Stocks.

Liabilities in failures during the three weeks of February were $7,680,393, against $5,550,986 last year. Manufacturing liabilities were $3,163,986, against $1,592,319 last year, while tradings were $3,842,053, against $3,353,019 last year. Failures for the week have been 280 in the United States, against 302 last year, and 66 in Canada, against 36 last year. The restoration of the treasury reserve has been effected with remarkably little monetary disturbance, though stringency in the New York markets, greater elsewhere than here and greater in commercial than in other loans, has somewhat retarded business. The rapid rise in the price of bonds strengthens public confidence. Prompt action of the house on the silver bill has helped to increase foreign confidence in American securities. Prices of commodities as a whole are now at the lowest average ever known, though only one-half of 1 per cent below the average of September 3, 1895. Hides, leather and their products, textile goods and iron products have declined much since that date, and meats are also lower.

Though business is less than was expected at Chicago, it is increasing for materials for cars and car-wheels and is excellent in plates. The cast pipe business is active, but little is doing in rails, and the new bar classification is not favored. Prices are steady at Philadelphia and plates are doing a little better, but other branches are dull.

In textile manufactures prices are generally weak, open reductions averaging 2 per cent for cotton goods, and since January 1 about 9 per cent. Not much increase of buying answers to these reductions, and some of the accumulated stocks are quite large. The volume of domestic trade reflected by clearings is 63.7 per cent larger than last year. Railroad earnings in February thus far are 13.6 per cent lower than last year. Stocks weakened until Thursday, but then advanced and closed about ⅛ cent per share higher for railroads. Exports of products in two weeks of February have been 7 per cent larger than last year, though cotton mills are growing fewer. Imports no longer show the increase formerly observed, but for two weeks have been 18.8 per cent larger than last year.

Affairs of Boerland.

Judge Steyn has been elected president of the Orange Free State, vice Judge Reitz, who resigned the position in November last on account of ill health. Judge Steyn received a large majority over J. George Frazer, chairman of the volksraad.

The London Daily News says of Judge Steyn's victory that it is an indirect triumph for President Kruger, of the Transvaal, who approved his candidacy.

The Transvaal government has granted £25,000, the Netherlands Railway company £10,000, and the dynamite company $5,000 toward the relief fund for the victims of the explosion, which is approaching £100,000.

Waller Free at Last.

The pardon of John L. Waller, convicted by a courtmartial in the island of Madagascar of illegally communicating with the Hovas, and sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment, has been sent to President Faure for the latter's signature. The present action is due to the representations made by the United States government in the prisoner's behalf.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA,
Shelby County.

Under and by virture of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will proceed to sell on Monday, the 24th day of Febrnary, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corn r of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly dieection one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff,
tf Shelby County, Alabama.

Continued to March 23, 1896.

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.
H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land a any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Store!!!

FLOUR! FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE.

The State of Alabama,
Shelby County.

Probate Court for Shelby County, Alabama.—Letters of administration upon the estate of J. S. Davis, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 3d day of February, 1896, by the Hon. D. R. McMillan, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

F. E. Davis and
A. E. Davis,
feb 6 3t Administrators.

J. B. Lewis Co.

WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear,
Style,
Ease,
Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

A. B. CLAUGHTON,

Physician and Surgeon.

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

Office in store of H. C. & W. B Reynolds.

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO. The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT. LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

Grass is King! Hurrah!!

Shout for joy. The green grass rules. It's more valuable than oats, wheat and corn together. Luxuriant meadows are the farmer's delight. A positive way to get them and a very sure one we know is to sow Salzer's Extra Grass Mixtures. No need of waiting a life time either. Salzer has a mixture, sown in April, producing hay in June. Many farmers report yields of six tons of magnificent hay per acre. Over one hundred different kinds of grasses, clovers, Teosinte, Sand Vetch, Giant Spurry and Fodder plants! 35 packages earliest vegetables $1.00. (A. C.)

IF YOU WILL CUT THIS OUT AND SEND with 10c. postage to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., you will receive, free, ten grass and grain samples and their mammoth seed catalogue. Catalogue alone 5c. for mailing.

The Prevailing Malady

In this country is dyspepsia. Probably more than three-fourths of the people suffer from it in some of its many forms. Many have dyspepsia and don't know it, because they have the painless kind. Such are always half sick and ascribe their ailment to any cause but the true one. Where dyspepsia is known, or suspected, Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy ought to be used. It is a wonder of medicine, very pleasant to take, and not only corrects digestion in a few minutes, but cures the worst cases of dyspepsia. For sale by all druggists.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

If you are down with the blues, read the twenty-third Psalm.

The object of the manufacturers of Dobbins' Electric Soap has been for 41 years to make this soap of such superior quality that it will give universal satisfaction. Have they succeeded? Ask your grocer for it. Take no other.

If you don't know where to look for a month's rent, read the twenty-seventh Psalm.

THE GENUINE "BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" are sold only in boxes. They are wonderfully effective for Coughs and Throat Troubles.

If there is a chilly sensation about the heart, read the third chapter of Revelations.

It Is More Than Wonderful

how patiently people suffer with corns. Get comfort by removing them with Hindercorns.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

Impaired Health is Not Easily Regained, yet Parker's Ginger Tonic has attained it in many cases. For every weakness and distress.

I believe Piso's Cure for Consumption saved my boy's life last summer.—MRS. ALLIE DOUGLASS, LeRoy, Mich., Oct. 20, 1894.

March

April, May are most emphatically the months for taking a good blood purifier, because the system is now most in need of such a medicine, and because it more quickly responds to medicinal qualities. In winter impurities do not pass out of the body freely, but accumulate in the blood. The best medicine to purify, enrich and vitalize the blood, and thus give strength and build up the system, is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Thousands take it as their Spring Medicine, and more are taking it today than ever before. If you are tired, "out of sorts," nervous, have bad taste in the morning, aching or dizzy head, sour stomach and feel all run down, a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will put your whole body in good order and make you strong and vigorous. It is the ideal Spring Medicine and true nerve tonic, because

April

May

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1 Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, carefully prepared. 25 cents.

THE AERMOTOR CO. does half the world's windmill business, because it has reduced the cost of wind power to 1/6 what it was. It has many branch houses, and supplies its goods and repairs at your door. It can and does furnish a better article for less money than others. It makes Pumping and Geared, Steel, Galvanized-after-Completion Windmills, Tilting and Fixed Steel Towers, Steel Buzz Saw Frames, Steel Feed Cutters and Feed Grinders. On application it will name one of these articles that it will furnish until January 1st at 1/3 the usual price. It also makes Tanks and Pumps of all kinds. Send for catalogue. Factory: 12th, Rockwell and Fillmore Streets, Chicago

WE HAVE NO AGENTS. but sell direct to the consumer at wholesale prices. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Write for catalogue.

ELKHART Carriage & Harness Mfg Co. Elkhart, Ind.

W. B. PRATT, Secy

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

100 SALESMEN to sell New Cash Register (cut price). Big pay. National C. Co., Winston, N. C.

Am. N. U. No. 9, 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

NARROW CRIBS FOR CORN.

Experienced corn growers do not want a wide crib, as when the corn is very damp the air will not have free circulation through it. There is good reason for the old fashion of building the corn house wider at top than at the bottom, and with slatted sides, so that the over-hanging roof will keep out most of the rain. Snow, however, gets into corn houses of this shape, and as it melts it delays the drying of the corn. We once knew a farmer who fitted up a shield for the exposed side of his corn crib, which was put up during snow storms, but at other times the slatted sides admitted sun and air as usual. He said it worked well and saved more than its cost most years in the improvement it made in his corn. Where corn is wet frequently its feeding value is lessened and its value for seed is reduced in still greater proportion.—Boston Cultivator.

FOOD FOR PIGS.

Corn is undoubtedly the handiest pig food the farm produces, but it is not the most suitable one. Disease and degeneracy are certain to follow in the wake of an exclusive corn diet. The very elements which make this grain the best fattening food render it unfit for use when bone and muscle are needed to build up the strong frame and hardy constitution required for profitable pork production. No one kind of grain contains all the elements of animal life in the proper proportion, hence the need for a well balanced ration.

The best results are obtained with a variety of feed. Clover, wheat, peas, oats, middlings and bran, with all the pare skim and butter milk, are perhaps the most satisfactory foods. Corn should be given in moderation. A broad barley meal is regarded as the best feed for the production of high-class pork. The best results are obtained with ground feed. The whole grain is more expensive, as it is eaten too rapidly to allow of proper mastication and digestion. If unground, the grain should be soaked for twenty-four hours before feeding.

Hogs require some other succulent food when debarred from clover, and, as they do not take kindly to ensilage, it is necessary to supply roots. Pumpkins are excellent to give variety and furnish succulence. The great value of juicy foods is not in the amount of nourishment they contain, but in the stimulus they afford to the appetite, thereby enabling the pigs to maintain digestion and assimilation unimpaired. Salt, charcoal and ashes should be freely supplied, as they aid in regulating digestion. They are particularly needed when the hogs are being pushed.

It is important to remember that it is not what a hog eats but what he digests that makes the pork. For this reason the animals should be watched when at meals, and should never be allowed to overfeed. This is a very common trouble, as hogs are naturally very greedy. Their real wants can easily be discerned by noting the eagerness with which they come to their feed. The supply should be proportioned accordingly, and any surplus should at once be removed. In profitable pork production the aim is to have the hogs eat as much as possible without cloying the appetite. To do this they must be fed regularly and, though tempted to eat, must only be given what they will eat up clean.

THE WINTER DAIRY.

It is rightly considered economical to draw manure to the fields daily, in order that its fertilizing properties may not be lost by leaching in the barnyard, writes George E. Newell. There is another side to this, however, which the writer considers of great importance to the successful prosecution of winter dairying. To allow heaps of fermenting manure to accumulate all winter in proximity to the stable, is injurious both to the health of the cows and the quality of the milk. It is an evil that cuts two ways, and so has little that can be said in its defense. If winter was one uninterrupted period of frosty weather, the danger would be slight. As it is, thaws and heavy rains during winter are frequent, and turn barnyards into slush, at least those which have not been previously graveled and drained.

The average barnyard is situated on a common level with the stable, and paved with natural soil and compost. Often too, from additions to the latter what drainage there is sets toward the stable, underneath which may exist a permanent cesspool. Such surroundings taint the atmosphere, and are a constant menace to winter dairying. Thus, for a two-fold reason should manure be spread on the fields as fast as made—to prevent the leaching away of fertilizing properties, and to keep the stable atmosphere wholesome and pure.

Cows heavy with calf should be placed in box stalls several weeks before the parturient period is expected. It is customary on first-class dairy farms to give them this freedom just prior to calving, but a longer period would be clearly to the advantage of both mother and offspring. It should be remembered that in the open fields and pastures cows lead a natural life, and in the stable an artificial one. Of course the former practice has the advantage in results; and any detail of stable care that will ameliorate the influence of daily confinement should never be ignored. As dairymen we must study cows, their characteristics and natural tendencies. By conforming to their instincts and needs as observed in their natural environment, we are proceeding on safe lines of dairy husbandry. Consistent with reasonable convenience, too much freedom of movement cannot be given cows while confined in stable. It is better to box-stall them a month before calving, than to wait till the last few days. The dam will be less liable to complications during that trying ordeal, the offspring will do better, and the cow's subsequent milk flow be placed on a more steady and reliable basis. To get physical profit you must not withhold physical comfort. The dairyman who succeeds in regularly furnishing milk with a June flavor can take front rank in his profession. A natural milk flavor is the best flavor, and you can just as well have it in January as June.

To possess this valuable characteristic now, cast the weeds out of your fodder, do not feed musty grain, keep salt within constant reach of the cows, maintain pure stable surroundings, brush the cows' udders before milking, and aerate the milk. These points should not be considered as extra details on any dairy farm, but as necessary regulations never to be ignored. One great trouble is that so much that should be considered necessary routine work in the dairy does not find a place on the farm programme, except perhaps in an irregular manner.

Another thing: If you keep the young heifers off in one corner of the stable, and feed and care for them after all the other animals have been attended to, and that in an indifferent manner, they are likely to prove poor property when they become milkers. It is a popular fallacy that young stock require only second-class feed and second-class care. I tell you, heifers must be treated on equal terms with milk cows. All the future usefulness of a milk animal may depend on how she fares before her first pregnancy. True, she does not need a milk-forming diet, but she requires a tissue and a bone forming one, for a future reserve force when she becomes a cow. The amount of flesh on a young animal's back does not necessarily represent physical force, vitality, or sound tissue. It may be merely fat, without a relative development of sinew, bone and muscle. A heifer will stand more exercise than a cow, but she wants just as warm a stable, and should not be made to bow down and worship the straw stack. Plenty of good hay with a supplement of roots, or, in this winter of hay scarcity, ensilage and cut straw, with a light grain addition, form excellent rations. The object should be to combine foods so as to get growth of a sound, permanent character.—American Agriculturist.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

It never injures an orchard to manure it.

Wood ashes are never wasted when used as a fertilizer.

Clean pastures furnish clean feed, and clean feed makes the best milk and beef.

A damp floor is a sure source of disease. If possible keep the floor above the outside level.

Every farmer and stock raiser should own a pair of pinchers, a rasp and drawing knife for cutting and shaping colts' hoofs.

Do not work a sick animal. Rest is better than medicine, especially where the trouble results from lameness or sprain.

Poor seed never made a good crop, and a dull plow point is never economical. Only the best preparation produces the prize package result.

Be easy with the growing colt and the growing boy. They can be made to do a full day's hard, exhausting work for awhile, but it doesn't pay. Overstrained boys make stunted, round shouldered, listless, stupid men.

Do not expect to sell eggs enough to buy the groceries, when the hens are compelled to roost in the trees with the thermometer most of the time crowding zero. The best hen in the universe forgets all about laying eggs under such circumstances.

Train the motions of the young horse. With him the walk is the foundation of all other gaits, and without beginning at this foundation all future developments will be unsatisfactory. A slow walker in the wagon or the plow is a worse possession than an indolent farm hand.

The old horse which has rendered long and faithful service should not be sold or traded about by jockeys, to be kept half starved and overworked by some one who cannot afford a good horse nor decently feed a poor one. If you cannot afford to keep him longer, have him killed in the most merciful manner possible, and give him a decent grave.

There is no economy in using a cheap or convenient stallion. Estimate the value of care in breeding by considering the prices which good stock brings, even when young, and the city markets, where good, well looking horses, having good action, style and substance, are always in demand, and we cannot but conclude that it pays to breed well.

WOMAN'S WIT.

TOLD BY A SOCIETY GIRL.

Something About Morphine, Sulphur, Molasses and Other Things.

From the Evening News, Newark, N. J.

Among the popular society leaders in East Orange, N. J., Emma L. Stoll, a charming young maiden, stands in the foremost rank. She is of a lovable disposition and the light of the social set in which she moves. For two years she has been a sick girl from internal troubles peculiar to women, and having recently recovered, has given our reporter the following interesting account:

"Instead of improving under the care of my physician I became worse. For five weeks I was unable to get out of bed and about six o'clock each morning I suffered horribly. My lips were sore and lacerated from the marks of my teeth, for in my efforts to keep from screaming I sunk my teeth deep into my lips. At such times I rolled and tossed until the bed shook like an aspen leaf and it finally got so serious that the doctor—I won't tell you his name—gave me some morphine pills to take. The very thought of them now makes me shiver. These morphine pills simply put me to sleep for a while, and when I became conscious again my agony was renewed.

"The pain in my stomach and back was more than I could stand. 'Your blood is poor,' said the doctor, 'take sulphur and molasses,' and I did until it was a great wonder that I was not a molasses cake. It was time wasted in taking it because I was not benefited in the least; my suffering continued, but by a mighty effort after being in bed so long, I got up. Oh, but I was a sad sight then. From 112 pounds, I had fallen to ninety; my cheeks were pale and sunken and I limped; yes, actually hobbled from the extreme pain in my side. Then I read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and the testimonial in the News inspired me with hope. I got the pills and took them. Before many days I began to improve and before I had finished one box I felt as if I could go out and walk for miles. I soon stopped limping and through the Pink Pills I soon bid good bye to my headaches, while the pain in my stomach and back slowly but surely succumbed to the influence of these pills that seem to be able to persuade all pain to leave one's body. Now I am as I used to be, well and strong, light-hearted and merry but never without the pills. See I have got some of them now," and from a nearby desk she handed out one of the boxes.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Longfellow's "Hiawatha."

The Indian epic of "Hiawatha" took the world by surprise, writes Hezekiah Butterworth in an article "How Longfellow Wrote His Best-Known Poems" in Ladies' Home Journal. Its form and its matter were for a long time mysteries. How could a Cambridge literary recluse produce such an epic? Certain critics claimed that the idea, form and magic treatment of the poem had been borrowed from a Scandinavian sage, and the implication greatly disturbed his publishers, and must have caused his sensitive spirit great pain. It partly eclipsed for a time the new star in the literary horizon on which all eyes were fixed. The criticism was disarmed; the wonder grew; a fixed star had appeared. But the mystery of the poem is simply solved. Longfellow desired to produce an epic that should be in sympathy with all that was most beautiful and noble in the vanishing Indian race. Abraham Le Fort, an Onondaga chieftain, had furnished Schoolcraft, the historian, much Indian lore and many mystic traditions, with certain Indian vocabularies, in which the musical and unmusical sounds of many words indicated their meaning. These traditions and vocabularies made the work of the poet easy. One only needs to read Schoolcraft, to whom the poet acknowledged his indebtedness, to see how this monument to the Indian race, their only great literary memorial, was builded.

Lost Delight.

There are some pleasures which are inexpensive but satisfying, particularly to the childish mind.

"Oh," exclaimed Marjorie Manson, as the dessert came on, "how I wish you had told me this morning, mamma, that you were going to have ice cream for dinner!"

"Why, what difference would it have made?" inquired Mrs. Manson.

"Oh, lots!" said Marjorie, with a sigh. "I could have expected it all day, then!"

Retaliation.

Inkleigh—Did you read that last story of mine?

Pushpen—I did.

Inkleigh—Well, I'm going to write an article on how I came to write it.

Pushpen (savagely)—By George! If you do I'll write an article on how I came to read it.—New York World.

An Oversight.

It is said that when one of the sons of the emperor of Austria called his brother the greatest fool in Vienna, the emperor, who was present and highly offended at their quarrel, exclaimed, "You forget that I am present!"

Earliest Onions Pay.

There's a market gardener in Minnesota. He is prosperous, makes his money on earliest vegetables, gets his seeds from Salzer, follows Salzer's instructions how to grow 1000 bu. per acre and sells Salzer's King of the Earliest onion already in July and gets $1.50 a bu.! Catalogue tells all about it and of lots of other seed for garden and farm! 35 packages earliest vegetables $1.00.

IF YOU WILL CUT THIS OUT AND SEND it with 12c. stamps to John A. Salzer, La Crosse, Wis., you will get free his great catalogue and a package of yellow watermelon sensation. (A. C.)

A Good Dog is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Second Hand

TUERK WATER MOTOR

For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN,

Apply at once to

Atlanta Newspaper Union, ATLANTA, GA.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR

W. L. DOUGLAS $3. SHOE BEST IN THE WORLD.

If you pay $4 to $6 for shoes, examine the W. L. Douglas Shoe, and see what a good shoe you can buy for $3.

OVER 100 STYLES AND WIDTHS,

CONGRESS, BUTTON, and LACE, made in all kinds of the best selected leather by skilled workmen. We make and sell more $3 Shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.

None genuine unless name and price is stamped on the bottom.

Ask your dealer for our $5, $4, $3.50, $2.50, $2.25 Shoes; $2.50, $2 and $1.75 for boys.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE. If your dealer cannot supply you, send to factory, enclosing price and 36 cents to pay carriage. State kind, style of toe (cap or plain), size and width. Our Custom Dept. will fill your order. Send for new Illustrated Catalogue to Box R.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

RIPANS TABULES

The Home Bureau for Delicacies for the Sick, and Nurses' Registry, at 15 West Forty-second st., N. Y., under date of Oct. 20, 1894, writes: "Please send one dozen boxes Ripans Tabules to the Nurses' Club, 104 West Forty-first street. Reports of the Tabules for troubles resulting from disordered digestion come very frequently to our attention here. This Bureau does not dispense medicines, but has opportunity to hear frequent discussions concerning the merits of remedies. It seems to be conceded that the Tabules are a reliable auxiliary to the physician. Some of our patrons use them to a considerable extent, and physicians assure us that the formula is excellent."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Cotton.

With careful rotation of crops and liberal fertilizations, cotton lands will improve. The application of a proper fertilizer containing sufficient Potash often makes the difference between a profitable crop and failure. Use fertilizers containing not less than 3 to 4% Actual Potash.

Kainit is a complete specific against "Rust."

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing the results of latest experiments in this line. Every cotton farmer should have a copy. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS, 93 Nassau St., New York.

Manufacturers —OF— Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting —AND— Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.

OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.

Write for Prices. Address,

Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co., BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

In writing please mention this paper.

$3 A DAY SURE. SEND us your address and we will show you how to make $3 a day; absolutely sure; we furnish the work and teach you free; you work in the locality where you live; send us your address and we will explain the business fully; remember we guarantee a clear profit of $3 for every day's work; absolutely sure; write at once. ROYAL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Box 1B, Detroit, Mich.

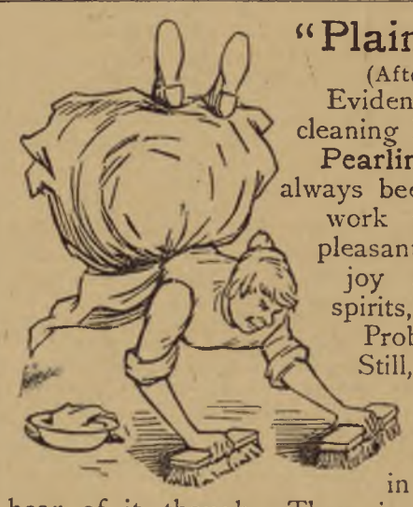
PAYING POSITIONS

GUARANTEED IN WRITING. Students' complete course in HALF the TIME at HALF the EXPENSE of other colleges. 24 placed last month. Address at once GEORGIA BUS. COLLEGE, Macon, Ga.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

"Plain, but athletic."



(After sketch in New York Truth.)

Evidently the picture of a woman cleaning house for the first time with Pearline. She finds that what has always been the hardest kind of hard work is now comparatively easy, pleasant, quickly done—and in her joy and enthusiasm and high spirits, she kicks up her heels.

Probably this is an extreme case. Still, it may be there are numbers of women who, when they clean house first with Pearline, manifest their pleasure in the same way. You don't hear of it, though. They simply tell you that in all their lives the work of house-cleaning has never been so light, so satisfactory, so soon over, so thoroughly well done.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 467 JAMES PYLE, New York.

BUY SALZER'S NORTHERN GROWN
HURRAH, FARMERS—SHOUT FOR JOY!
The millennium is coming for the farmer, for with our new creations in Wheat (60 bu.), Oats (209 bu.), Barley (116 bu.), Corn (207 bu.), Rye (70 bu.), Potatoes (1,200 bu.), Hay (6 tons), and Green Fodder (100 tons per acre)—we say with such yields the millennium is here for the farmer! SILVER MINE OATS—$200 IN GOLD!
This Oat yielded in Pennsylvania (sworn statement) 208 bu. from one measured acre, and hundreds of farmers who tested same are sure 250 bu. is possible in 1896.
SILVER KING BARLEY—$100 IN GOLD!
That is the wonder! 116 bu. per acre in 1895 and 150 bu. is possible in 1896. So one thousand growers say. It is marvelous, wonderful. Oh, the millennium is here!
Catalogue tells all about it. It is mailed you with 10 grain and grass samples, including Corn and Barley, upon receipt of 10c. postage, or Catalogue alone for 5c. postage.
GRASS AND CLOVER SEEDS
JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LA CROSSE, WIS

You Buy Health when you buy BROWN'S IRON BITTERS—tried and proven by time. This twenty-year-old medicine is not a beverage, but a pure and harmless remedy for Dyspepsia, Malaria, Female Infirmities, Neuralgia, Liver and Kidney Diseases. Sold under a guarantee. BROWN CHEM'L CO., Baltimore, Md.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. I. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1896. NO. 48.

Growth.

Blow, winds, your rage but shakes the tree
And roots it surer in its place!
Scatter your rain, ye clouds, and free
The buds that wait your frowning grace!
Roll down, O river, to the sea
And widen in your onward race!

Peace through a sunny span may keep
His garden in some quiet glen,
Whilst others sow for him and reap
And lend his flocks on moore and fen:
The flowers of Peace are death and sleep;
The strife of living makes us men.

Ah, joy it is to win the goal
By tireless work and dauntless will,
Yet may the life rise orbed and whole
From clouded hopes, and loss, and ill:
Our baffled toils upbuild the soul,
And future so is victory still.

—A. St. John Adcock.

BIG TOM THE CONVICT.

There were those who said that convict 1280 was innocent of the crime which sent him to prison for such a long term of years that there was scarce a hope of his ever being a free man again. They meant that he was technically guilty. He had sought to save a woman from a beating at the hands of her husband, and in the struggle and excitement he had struck a blow which caused the death of the man. It was accident, in a sense, but it was also manslaughter. No man who is a man will stand by and see a woman beaten, and yet if he interferes he must take his chances with the law. "Big Tom," as the convict was sometimes referred to, was like most big men—a child in his gentleness and good nature. He went to prison weeping. He did not complain, but he grieved. He thought of the years and years which he must drag away before the prison doors would open to him, and he moved about like a weak, old man. The prison officials felt to pity the man, but a convict is a convict and all must be treated alike—all who show obedience to the rules. They sized him up as child-like and good-natured, and yet they said to each other as they talked of him;

"Look out for Big Tom. He will break loose some day and do some desperate thing."

They thought it would come the first six months of his term—then during the second—then they almost became afraid of him. Men who are slow to anger—who go on greiving, brooding and bearing a mental burden for weeks and months are devils when the climax comes. Big Tom had the management of the trip hammer in the machine shop. Had they put him in the shoe shop or tailor shop he would have rebelled at once. His place was beside the biggest piece of machinery in the shop. Two pieces of machinery, as it were—"Tom and Trip."

Day by day and week by week, and month by month, as the ponderous hammer rose and fell and its blows shook the very earth for yards around and making the convict smile and look proud, the guards had an eye on him and kept saying to each other:

"It will come! It is only delayed! When he breaks loose he will kill some one and have to be killed in turn!"

Nearly half of the second year had passed and the giant convict had never even sulked, when one day there came into the shop as sightseers a husband, wife and little girl four or five years old. Children are seldom seen in prisons, and is a rare thing that they are taken into the shops in the yards. If any one in that prison knew that convict No. 1280 had a daughter—a fair-haired, handsome child who could only walk alone when the jury pronounced his verdict of "guilty," they had forgotten the fact. His wife had visited him as often as visitors were allowed, but the child had never been seen within the grim walls. Knowing that her husband had killed a man by accident the wife could bear to see him wearing the horrible stripes of a convict, but to let the child look upon him—to gaze in wonder at the iron bars—to ask why all those men were there—a thousand times no! And so this was the first child Big Tom had seen since the heavy doors shut him in. Father, mother and child came close to him and gazed at the ponderous hammer with wondering eyes. You would have argued that the sight of the child would have softened the convict's heart and brought tears to his eyes, but it did not. It brought a feeling of madness—of desperation—of frenzy. To save a woman from a brutal beating at the hands of a drunken, worthless thing not fit to be classed with men, he had struck a blow. A jury had called it murder in the second degree, and he was here in prison on a sentence almost never-ending. He had been wronged, and the knowledge of it fired his heart and brought the long-expected outbreak. With a sudden cry which startled every one in the noisy shop Big Tom made a spring forward, seized the child in his arms, and there was a shout of defiance on his lips as he held her at arm's length and glared about him. The mother of the child gasped for breath and staggered back to the wall and sunk down. The father stood staring, as if struck dumb, but presently held out his hands in silent supplication. Big Tom glowered and muttered in reply. He was a convict—a childless father. He was dead to his child—she was dead to him. He could not make another father's heart ache and throb and grieve as his did, but he would secure revenge.

After muttering he was silent. No one cried out. Guards and convicts were seemingly stupified. There was the hum of machinery, but not of voices. Convicts turned from forge and anvil and bench and lathe and held their breath. The two shop guards leaned forward in their chairs and looked and looked, but they did not move nor cry.

"What will he do with the child?"

The two men working at the trip-hammer with Big Tom had fallen back. He had control of the machinery which worked it. The answer to the question could be read in his eyes. Men had wronged him under cover of the law. He had been deprived of liberty, degraded and disgraced. Death were more merciful than such a sentence as his, and in, dying he would secure revenge. A piece of iron had been left under the hammer. There was heard the sound of crash! crash! crash! as the mass of iron rose and fell at regular intervals—that sound above the monotonous hum of the machinery.

"He will thrust her under the hammer!"

So thought each guard and each convict—so thought the father whose feet seemed chained to the floor and whose face was whiter than the dead. One of the guards could have touched a button and signaled the engineer to shut off steam, but he did not move a hand. Either guard had a fair mark to shoot at, but their pistols were not lifted. Up and down—up and down went the hammer, but suddenly the belt was thrown over on the loose pulley and the mass rested on the anvil. It seemed to those who looked as if they had been looking through a mist—such a mist as rises from earth of a summer morning. It seemed to them that this mist thinned out—cleared away before the influence of a rising sun, and by and by they saw the child nestling on Big Tom's breast, one hand smoothing his cheek, and seeming to come from a long distance off they heard her childish voice saying;

"No, you wouldn' hurt Nellie—you wouldn't hurt Nellie! What makes you cry? Have you got a little girl too? Won't they let you go home to see your little girl?"

And the convicts advanced step by step—and the guards crept forward, and lo! Big Tom's tears were falling as he hugged the child more tightly and kissed her fair hair and rosy cheek. There was silence yet—silence as he walked to and fro and wept and sobbed and lifted the child till she could clasp her tiny arms about his neck and rest her cheek against his. Not a whisper among the convicts—not a move from father or mother or the guards. By and by Big Tom placed the child in its father's arms, wiped the tears from his eyes on the sleeve of his striped jacket and with a "God bless the little darling!" and a "Thank ye, sir!" he returned to his work and the hammer was lifted and held in waiting for the hot iron to be placed on the anvil beneath. The guards motioned for the other convicts to go back to their benches and forges, and a minute later the visitors had gone and work was in full blast. The long-expected outbreak had come and gone. For thirty seconds Big Tom had felt such a raging hate in his soul that he was transformed into a human devil. The child had smiled into his burning eyes—her words had brought back his reason. Was he punished? No! A year later he was pardoned, and today another fair-haired, blue-eyed smiling child puts her arms about his neck and says:

"You are such a great, big papa, but you wouldn't never hurt nobody, would you.—Detroit Free Press.

Agricultural Notes.

The good farmer sees many a harrowing sight.

A farmer may be toothless and yet have many an acre.

It makes a farmer have a wry face to see his grain crop short.

A farmer's face may be smooth, although his fields are furrowed.

The farmer should always sleep in a bed, but never in the celery bed.

Sometimds a farmer looks as seedy as his farm in the spring.

To a farmer corn in the field is worth much more than corn on the toe.

The farmer's crop differs from a chicken's and is generally more valuable.

Some farmers are very slow, although they may have any quantity of hops.

A good farmer likes to turnip the soil, even if he should get beet in doing so.

Many a farmer is small potatoes himself though he raises large ones for the market.

When heifer a farmer starts to raising stock he shouldn't let anything cow him in an attempt to bull the market.—Florida Times-Union.

Riches in Pennsylvania Rivers.

The coal deposits in the Schuylkill River now reach as far south as Reading, where the bed of the stream is covered with coal several inches thick, in a semi-solidified form. It has been found that the deposit in the river bed from Pottsville to Reading, nearly forty miles, makes splendid fuel. The coal is scooped out and dried, when it is ready for use. The river coal industry now extends to Reading, and is gradually working farther down stream. Reading is almost forty miles below the last coal mine, and the particles of black diamond have been carried that far by the current. There is plenty of coal in the Susquehanna River at Harrisburg, which is many miles below the mines. The Lehigh at its mouth, at Easton, is black at times with the anthracite, and the bed of the stream is covered. It is estimated by conservative operators that the coal in the three rivers is worth many hundred thousand dollars, or far more than the sands of the golden-lined streams of the Sierras.—Philadelphia Recorder.

Dog Eating in Mexico.

The dog meat business continues, despite the stern examples that have been made of its venders. A policeman seized a man named Genaro Perez, passing through the alley of Los Gachupines, who bore a suspicious-looking bag, which, on examination, disclosed the skinned carcass of a large dog with the lower part of the legs cut off so as to prevent the easy recognition of its species. Monsieur Perez was taken to the police station to the third Demarcacion to be examined as to the antecedents of his dog meat, which, it is shrewdly suspected, was destined to be made into savory dishes sold at the puestos under the arcades. We are getting fast to be like Canton, and other big Chinese towns, where dog is sold without shame and partaken of with gusto.—Mexican Herald.

He Drew a Revolver.

"It is a great thing to be an artist. You know Cadberry?"

"Yes."

"He was attacked by footpads the other night and was wholly unarmed, but he drew a revolver—"

"You said he was unarmed."

"I know it. He drew his revolver on the sidewalk with a piece of chalk, and—"

At this point the police intervened.—Harper's Bazar.

The Sultan's throne is of beaten gold, incrusted with thousands of rubies, emeralds and pearls. According to an inscription on it, the throne was taken by Sultan Selim from the Persians in 1514.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

Scientists say that the hand loses the delicacy of its dexterity after 40, while the brain is not ripe for its best work before that.

The great advantage claimed by sanitary underclothing is that every garment is skillfully shaped on anatomical principles.

In the human subject the brain is the 1-28th part of the whole body's entire weight. In the horse it is not more than 1-400th part.

Dr. J. C. Cook of Chicago, reports that he has treated fifty-one pronounced cases of diphtheria with antitoxine without losing a single case.

A beam of light shoots through space with the prodigious velocity of 196,000 miles in a second occupying eight minutes in making the trip from the sun to the earth.

A cable 2,184 meters long is to be laid in the Amazon River between Para and Manaos, an ordinary telegraph being impracticable, on account of the impenetrable forest.

Mathematical calculations show that an iron ship weighs 27 percent less than a wooden one, and will carry 115 tons of cargo for every 100 tons carby a wooden ship of the same dimensions.

The firemen of Montreal, Canada, dress in suits made of abestos, shoes, breeches, jacket, apron, gloves and helmet, and find that they can remain in a great heat much longer than with ordinary clothes.

Mr. Wheeler, an old and well known citizen of Corsicana, Texas, and an experimenter in fish and poultry culture, has successfully used the incubator in hatching carp spawn. This is a novel use for the artificial hatcher.

The officer of health of the French government reports that since the introduction of the anti-toxine treatment for diphtheria the deaths from that disease have been reduced about 75 percent. It has saved three lives out of four.

The American oyster, says Professor W. A. Herdman, is more prolific than the English, producing as many as 60,000,000 ova at a time. The oyster is thought to live about twenty years, those fittest for market being about five years old.

Dr. Marmoreck, an Austrian, after four years study at the Pasteur Institute, claims to have discovered a serum cure for erysipelas, puerperal fever, and all diseases due to the streptococcus microbe, and which is also efficacious as an aid to Dr. Roux's cure for diphtheria.

A New Ship Canal.

The New Orleans Picayune says: Carnegie and other owners of iron and steel works at Pittsburg are asking congress for an appropriation to build a ship canal from Lake Erie to Pittsburg. They offer as an argument in favor of the enterprise that if there was a ship canal from a great manufacturing point to the lakes, the United States could build warships at a distance from the lakes without violating the provisions of the old treaty, under which each nation can have but two armed vessels for lake service, and that the vessels so built could be transferred to the lakes immediately after a declaration of war. This would be an excellent argument in favor of establishing a government ship yard at some point on the Chicago drainage canal. This canal is already built, or is nearing completion. Armed steel vessels for the protection of the lakes could be built at an interior point in Illinois and held ready for service without violating treaty regulations. Also, the United States would not have to build a $40,000,000 ship canal to make a channel for the ships to get to the lakes, as the channel is already nearly completed by Chicago enterprise and money.

The Longest Telegraph Line.

The longest telegraph line in the world, above ground and without a break, has just been completed in Australia, that land of long distances. The line runs from Rockhampton, in Queensland, to Broome, in western Australia, and crosses about two-thirds of the entire continent. The total length is something over 6,000 miles.—London Globe.

Bruin Got the Honey.

In California the bees frequently, on swarming, take to the woods. Hollow trees are favorite homes for them. Now, among the tall redwoods that skirted the margin of the mountain stream, two or three bee trees were found. It was settled that one of these hives should be taken up. The bole of the tree was more than four feet in diameter. At about sixty feet from the ground the bees had found a knothole and a hollow space. It was judged by the coming and going of the bees that there must be a large stock of honey. As the tree was wanted for timber, and had begun to die at the top, it was determined to turn it to account for both honey and lumber. On a bright moonlight night the ranchmen began on that tree. In about two hours it came down with a crash. A swarm of mad bees boiled out of the knothole. It was evident that nothing more could be done that night. It was planned on the next night to go with the usual appliances of sulphur, silence the bees, and take up the honey.

When the tree was reached it was certain that an enemy had been there. The enemy was evidently a bear, and had managed to enlarge the knothole so that he could thrust his paw in. He had fished out great quantities of comb, and had broken the nest up so that it was not worth carrying away. There was a dribble of sweets all over the trunk of the tree, and the ground itself seemed to be saturated with honey. The ranchmen were hot for revenge. They would have that bear if they had to hunt a month for him, they said. Then they asked themselves, who wants to watch two or three nights for a grizzly and no one was willing to undertake the task. There was much broken comb left in the hollow trunk. If the bear came again he would thrust his paw into the same hole, they reasoned. There was a coyote steel trap that would serve admirably. The ranchmen cut a large hole on the opposite side and pushed the trap well into the cavity opposite the original knothole. A lot of broken comb was laid over the trap, and the chain was spiked to the trunk. Now, if the bear should thrust his paw again into the same hole for honey, his thieving paw would be caught in the trap. He could not draw the trap through the hole. It was a dead open-and-shut game. Two nights afterward the old ranch dog set up an unusual howling. The men, on going to the bee tree, found an enormous grizzly hard and fast. Two or three rifle balls finished him.

The Reason Why.

"I wonder if this new woman movement will result in the erection of monuments to women," she said thoughtfully.

"It won't," he replied rather promptly.

"I don't see why," she persisted, "It seems to me that women have been slighted in that line. Why shouldn't there be statues of great women as well as great men?"

"How would a statue with puffed sleeves look?"

"I don't see why it wouldn't look all right," she replied.

"But how would it look after puffed sleeves had gone out of fashion?" he asked.

"I never thought of that," she answered. "But I do not see why they could not change the statue as the fashions changed; and I guess they will do it, too, when women are in full control of things."—Chicago Post.

Influenza Among Cats and Dogs.

Mortality from influenza seems to be very common among cats and dogs. It was reported at the annual meeting of the Glasgow Cat and Dog Home six per cent in the case of dogs and twenty-four per cent in the case of cats had occurred by outbreaks of influenza was much lower among the stray ones than among the boarded ones. How often, we wonder, could an attack of the disease on a human being be traced to infection from a cat or a dog? More frequently, we suspect, than is generally supposed.—New York Mercury.

France boasts of a navy of 408 ships of 200,000 tons and 612,000 horsepower, and 80 others in process of construction.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Progress is uphill work.

Charity is a creed in itself.

Pity is often envy in disguise.

The poor are the truly generous.

A man gives reasons; a woman excuses.

All sensible girls are not necessarily homely.

Where there is a will there is usually a lawyer.

Good advice is the kind you keep to yourself.

Original sin was preceded by the original sinner.

A dead level is a hard climb to a good many people.

The advanced woman is advancing in the wrong direction.

A pessimist is an optimist whose dreams didn't come true.

The top rounds of the ladder of fame are few and far apart.

The woman who married for love usually sees that her daughter doesn't.

Love your enemies but keep away from them till they begin to love you.

A man is known by the books he reads; a woman by those she doesn't read.

The man who always says he thinks will soon acquire a reputation as a cynic.

Women are considered strong minded when they cease to care for the men.

Take people as you find them, but don't find any more of them than is necessary.

Too many men regard home as a place where they are privileged to be disagreeable.—New York Press.

Even a Camera May Lie.

Photographers, especially amateur photographers, will tell you that the camera cannot lie. This only proves that photographers, especially amateur photographers can; for the dry plate can fib as badly as the canuas on occasion, and is actually more pernicious because of its undeserved reputation of veracity.

Who would believe a ghost story on the uncorroborated evidence of a painter's picture? Yet a photograph of a house at Halesowen, taken a few dsys ago, included the likeness of the wealthy lady who vacated it six months back. As she vacated it for the church yard, the plate appropriately enough exhibited her dressed in a shroud, and so convincing was this very counterfeit presentiment that a regular ghost scare broke out, and several women averred that they could see the dead lady at the window.

On Saturday it was discovered that it was all due to some flaw in the photographic apparatus, just as in a very similar case at Ipswich some time ago. There the view represented a back water off the lower Gipping, and in the water there was clearly outlined a drowned female form—waist, bust hair, features and all. They actually dragged the river to see what they could find, and found nothing. Curiously enough, a woman was really drowned at the very spot a few weeks later, so the Ipswich photography seems to be as previous as Halesowen is retrospective.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Photographing Lepers in Jerusalem.

One day in a narrow street we met two women who nearly blocked the way.

"They are lepers!" cried the guide, pushing me by them. I started to run, for never had the voice of man thrilled me with such fear; but, remembering my photographic machine, I had the guide throw them some coin, and made a picture, but not a good one. I was surprised that the poor beggar near whose feet the money fell made no effort to pick it up, but continued to pray to us, and waited for her companion. Then I saw that there were no fingers on her hands.—McClure's Magazine.

The Angler Fish.

The angler fish angles for his prey. From the upper part of his head project two long tenacles, with fleshy extremities, which wave about in the water and attract small fish, that, approaching and attempting to seize the small bait are themselves captured by the angler.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, } Local Editors.
L. N. BOWDON, }

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

Spain has 16,000,000 people, and owes $1,250,000,000. Her whole revenue is not enough to pay the interest.

President Cesneros, Executive of the Cuban Provisional Republic, says that nothing will satisfy Cuba but annexation to the United States.

Says the London Sketch: "The War of 1812, about which books are written in America, has scarcely got five lines devoted to it in any one of the popular English histories."

The colored people of this country seem to the New York Herald "to be doing very well by themselves. They own taxable property which is estimated as worth nearly one hundred and fifty million dollars. That certainly is a good showing, as the result of thirty years of freedom."

Professor O. F. Cook, who was sent to Liberia by the New York Colonization Society to see how things actually are there, asserts that the missionaries buy children to fill their schools. Boys sell at about $3 apiece, and girls for $6. One of Bishop Taylor's missionaries, he says, paid as high as $90 apiece for four princesses.

A curious form of life insurance is springing up in French manufacturing towns under the name of La Fourmi (the ant). The peculiarity is that the longer a man lives the less he becomes entitled to. The payment of $1 a month assures the payment of $1000 to the heirs of a man dying before the age of thirty-eight, the payment diminishing proportionately to $510 at fifty-one. The idea seems to be that if a man dies young his children are likely to be in want, but that when he is fifty they will be able to earn their living.

The colored Bishop Turner is reported to have used the following language recently in Baltimore: "I believe that the time will come when this continent will tremble beneath the foot of the black man, but it will not be until we have some individuality, a country of our own, a flag of our own. The black race in this country is yet in its infancy. We have a great and grand future and we will be in the prime and vigor of our existence when the white race is on the decline. The black race is God's youngest child. This world runs by periodicity. Races have their day, play their part and go out. Bringing us to this country was no accident, not a work of the devil."

The St. Joseph (Mo.) Herald states that the ethical code of the medical profession has just received a rude shock, and that, too, from a State Supreme Court, that of Iowa. As all are aware, it is strictly out of form for a physician to advertise. It has not only been considered against the statute made and provided, but so antagonistic to ethical culture as to make the guilty person a fit subject for professional boycott. A physician of Ottumwa concluded that he would make weekly visits to neighboring towns, and advertised the fact. His brother physicians were astonished and met the case in a peculiar manner. They claimed that he came under the head of "any itinerant vendor of drugs, nostrums or appliances, who shall advertise to cure disease, injury or deformity," shall pay a license, and they sought to put him on the quack list. Both the District and Supreme Courts held that he had a legal right to advertise, and would have been neglecting his business interests had he done otherwise. It is easy to understand the aesthetic nature of the strictly ethical revolt at placing the profession on strictly business lines, but with this decision it is not easy to see how it can be avoided.

A Swiss religious newspaper reports that the Rev. Dr. Hall, of New York, draws a regular salary of $125,000 (625,000f.) annually; and that it is fashionable to be baptized and married by him at $1000 per ceremony. The total annual income of the Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix is placed by the same authority at $200,000.

EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

The Trustees of the A. C. F. College Re-Elect Dr. Massey President.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT A SAW MILL.

Colored Farmers and Teachers Meet. Too Many Watches Per Capita—A Distinguished Alabamian's Death Little Girl Burned—Proposed College—Etowah County Enterprises.

Pipe Works to Resume.

The pipe works at Bridgeport are preparing to start work. They have been shut down for a number of weeks.

Lots of Hogs.

Messrs. Robinson & Ashman, at Scottsboro, have paid out $14,000 for hogs during the last year. All of them were shipped to western markets.

Alabama Conference Female College

At a recent meeting of the trustees of this institution Dr. John Massey, who has presided over it for twenty years already, was elected president for another term of five years.

Fatal Accident in a Saw Mill.

Last Thursday, while at work in a saw mill near Green Hill, Lauderdale county, Harvey Lifan was struck on the back of the head by a piece of timber and instantly killed. His neck was broken by the blow.

Important Tributary to Gadsden.

The Gordon Chemical works at Round Mountain have twenty-one ovens in full blast turning out 80,000 bushels of charcoal per month, which is used by the Furnace Company at that place.

The Usual Cotton Acreage.

The convention of farmers that was called to meet in Florence last Saturday did not materialize. The object of the convention was to curtail the cotton acreage in that section, but the farmers were too busy getting ready to plant cotton to attend. Only town people were present. The usual amount of cotton will probably be planted in that county this year.

Another Little Girl Burned.

At Ball Play, Etowah county, Wednesday morning, LaFayette Mickwent to the woods to cut crossties, and was accompanied by his son and daughter. A fire was built and the children were standing around it, when in some manner the little girl's clothing became ignited and she was enveloped in flames before her father could reach her. Every thread of clothing was burned off, and she suffered excruciating agony before death relieved her sufferings.

Proposed New Negro College.

A college for the education of negroes of both sexes is to be built near Courtland by the Muscle Shoals Association of colored Baptists who have secured twelve acres of well located land for the purpose. The purchase price of the school site was $30 per acre, and lands adjoining have risen in value in consequence. Courtland was selected after Decatur, Florence and other available sites had been carefully examined.

Robbins of the Fourth Goes Out.

A Washington dispatch says: The house committee on election No. 1 has decided the contested case of Aldrich, republican and populist, against Robbins, democrat, for the Fourth Alabama district, in favor of Aldrich. The vote in Aldrich's favor is unanimous, but the committee divided on party lines upon the argument by which the same conclusion is reached. So there will be two reports to the house, signed by democrats and republicans respectively, assigning different reasons for one result.

Another Etowah Enterprise.

The Anniston Lime & Stone Company have purchased 200 acres of land five miles from Gadsden, and will immediately begin the largest lime manufacturing plant in the south. Four furnaces are to be built, four lime kilns, a barrel factory and a number of tenant cottages. A spur line will also be constructed to connect with the Louisville & Nashville railway. The rock is quarried on Calvin mountain. The new village is to be called Calvin, and about 150 workmen and their families will reside there.

Populists and Republicans.

About 100 leading populists and republicans of Jefferson county met in Birmingham last Saturday to formulate plans for fusion on a county ticket. Reuben Kolb, Jr., presided. Early in the conference, Jerry Fountain, county populite chairman, and H. P. Burrus, populite candidate for state senator, opposed fusion. The conference concluded by appointing a committee to formulate fusion plans to be reported upon two weeks hence. Mr. Fountain and the anti-fusionists, then bolted and held a meeting of their own, a call for a populist county committee meeting to convene the same day as the fusion conference resulting.

Guntersville Industries.

The Chattanooga Tradesman says: The Standard basket factory is pushing its work at a lively rate. The addition to the factory has been followed by a general overhauling, under the supervision of S. H. Tyler, and the plant is now ready for use, with a capacity of 600 baskets daily. Robert M. Huffman, who has been foreman for Messrs. Sanders & Folsom, at the Fort Payne basket factory, will be in charge as general manager, and Sam H. Tyler, of Guntersville, will be time-keeper and shipping clerk. The pay rolls and the timber bills will be about $100 a day, or 65 per cent more than at any time previous. The enterprise will be of great benefit in the way of stimulating the trade of the town.

Normal and Industrial Institute.

This week will be remembered as a great occasion at the Normal and Industrial Institute at Tuskegee. On Thursday, March 5th, begins the fifth annual meeting of the colored farmers and educators. At this meeting will assemble many of the leading men and women among them and their discussion of every-day topics will prove beneficial to all who attend. The invitation have been sent far and wide, and parties coming are urged to be there if possible on Wednesday night. After they reach the college they will be at no further expense.

The Big Factory Humming.

Gadsden's great cotton factory, the largest in the south, with its 30,000 spindles, is in full operation, and the weaving of cloth goes merrily on. Some 500 neat dwellings have been completed and are now occupied. The place now has a population of 2,000 souls and 800 will be given employment. The company has 6,000 bales of cotton stored in their warehouses, enough to run them nearly a year. Gadsden is lively now and all her industries are in full blast, with a weekly pay roll of $15,000.

Under the Cruel Wheels.

Saturday morning at Palmer station, on the Birmingham Mineral road, J. P. Hanbury, a flagman, met with an accident in which he lost a leg and had the other badly crushed.

Mr. Hanbury was making a coupling, and by some means unaccounted for he fell between the cars and two wheels passed over both his legs. He was carried to Birmingham and taken to the Wilson & Brown infirmary. The left leg was taken off at the thigh and the right one bandaged as well as could be. The injured man has a family in Birmingham, and has a large number of friends who will regret to know of his unfortunate accident.

Important Prospective Industry.

A deal has just been consummated by which Florence secures a new and important manufacturing industry. Within the next two weeks there will be established in Florence a wood working plant that will give employment to one hundred skilled mechanics. All of the arrangements have been made, the factory building secured and the new factory will commence operations as soon as the machinery arrives and is put in place. The new factory will manufacture wagon wheel material for the export trade. It will be operated by W. E. Winch & Bros., who have an extensive plant of the same kind in Indiana. They have been offered cash bonuses and factory buildings free by other towns, but they went to Florence without any inducements except the natural advantages which the place offers.

Colony of Grape Growers.

A syndicate, composed of R. L. Spencer, O. F. Sampson, L. D. Phillips, J. B. Merrill and associates of the Alabama Fruit Growing and Winery association of Fruithurst and W. G. Ledbetter and others of Anniston, have bought of the Woodstock Iron works 8,000 acres of land adjoining and just northwest of Anniston, and will colonize it with Swedish, Scandinavian and German grape growers. The organization will be called the Anniston Homestead and Fruit Growing association, and will be capitalized at $153,000. An application has been made for a charter, and the organization will be perfected in a few days. The company will begin planting vineyards within the next ten days. The superb foreign agency organization of the Kruithurst company will be used, and a large class of the best immigrants will be settled on the lands.

Farmers to Meet at Florence.

The prospects are encouraging for a good attendance at the convention of farmers to be held in Florence Saturday. The convention has been called for the purpose of taking active steps for the reduction of the cotton crop in this section during the coming season. It is feared that the farmers, elated over the prices received last fall, are preparing to plant a larger crop than usual this year. At the convention tomorrow they will be asked to pledge themselves not to plant more than a certain percentage of their lands in cotton and to diversity their crops more than they have been in the habit of doing. The farmers of this section are in better financial condition than they have been since the war. The majority of them are out of debt and many have a surplus to run them through the year. Another siege of 4 cent cotton, it is feared, would put them back to where they were two years ago.

CONSTABLES MOBBED.

They Receive Many Shots and Are Severely Wounded.

Saturday night while Dispensary Constable Jenkins of Darlington fame and Redmond were on their way to the county jail, they were stopped by a posse of unknown men and fired upon. About twenty shots were fired in rapid succession. Both constables fell and are badly wounded. Jenkins was shot in the left hand, taking off one finger and lodging in the wrist, also through one arm. Another ball passed through the calf of the right leg, and still another from a shotgun in the back. Redmond received several gunshot loads in the right arm and side with a variety of pistol balls in the left wrist, and is thought to be mortally wounded. It is now thought that four men did the shooting. Neither Jenkins nor Redmond returned the fire as they were outnumbered, and they made every effort to get to the jail. Both the constables say they recognized the men who fired upon them. Dr. J. W. Bell was called at once, but no particulars can be learned further than above stated.

GENERAL NEWS SUMMARY.

Compiled and Condensed for the Convenience of Our Readers.

WIFE MURDER IN MINNESOTA.

Children Left Locked in a House and Cremated—Ohio Legislation. Father and Daughter Drowned. Mother and Two Children Burned—Other Calamities and Crimes.

John A. Wolf, a farmer and his daughter were drowned Thursday while attempting to cross the Monongahela river.

Fire on Thursday nighr destroyed the Cady planing mill and the plant of the Santa Clara manufacturing company, Omaha, Neb. Loss $50,000, partly insured.

Mrs. Frank Puckett and her two children, a girl aged 7 and a boy aged 4 years, were burned to death Thursday at Erie, S. D., in a fire resulting from the explosion of a gasoline stove.

The Detroit white lead works were partially destroyed by fire Thursday morning, causing a loss of between $50,000 and $75,000; insurance, $61,000. The fire was caused by the bursting of a pipe, the oil from which was ignited by a gas jet.

Very Rev. Ferdinand Bergmeyer, father superior of Franciscan mission, at Santa Barbara, Cal., was fatally shot Thursday by Bernard Henry Gerhard Krusemeyer, an employe at the mission. No reason for the crime is known.

The grand jury last Saturday voted true bills against 282 persons accused of conducting bucketshop operations in Chicago. This practically covers every bucketshop in that city, twenty-nine in all.

The report sent out from Russellville, Tenn., that a man named Young had been killed at Galbraith Springs whilst robbing a hen roost, is not true. There was no shot fired and no man killed, and Andrew Galbraith, who was said to have fired the shot, is greatly incensed.

Judge Grosscup, of Chicago, declined to change the sentence of Joseph Dunlop, editor of the Dispatch, convicted of sending obscene matter through the mails and fined $1,000 and given two years in the penitentiary. The court informed his attorney that an appeal was left to the president.

Ballington Booth is making plans for an independent Salvation army, of which he and his wife will be the leaders. He announced the decision to start such a movement one day last week, but it will be several weeks before he can tell just on what lines the work will be undertaken.

Three young children of Nelson Parker were burned to death at Crisfield, Md., Thursday. They were left in a locked room while their mother went to a neighbor's on an errand. The father, who was cutting wood in a nearby grove, saw smoke issuing from the windows, but by the time he reached the house it was a mass of flames and rescue was impossible. The eldest of the children was four years old, the second 2 years and the other 4 months.

The town of Florence, S. C., was visited by a $100,000 fire at 4 o'clock Thursday morning. The entire business portion of the town was wiped out. The insurance on the property burned will amount to about $50,000. George Williams, a printer, whose home is in Darlington, was cremated. He was asleep in one of the destroyed buildings. Every building from the Central hotel on Evans street to W. J. Brown's store on Durgan street, was swept away. The state liquor dispensary and the Western Union Telegraph office were also destroyed.

A special from Havana, Cuba, says: The Diaria De La Marina publishes the following: "The American press announced that Mr. Williams, consul-general of the United States at this capital, has presented his resignation. The announcement is inexact, and appears to have been published in the interest of the laborantes of the rebels to influence congress at this period when the subject of belligerency is under discussion." The New York World, however, makes the direct assertion that the state department at Washington is already is possession of the resignation of Consul-General Williams.

A Paris paper, The Temps, alluding to the resolution of the United States senate in regard to Cuba, says: "The United States has had an eye upon Cuba for a long time, and the vote in the senate is no surprise. If President Cleveland aspires to re-election he had better obey the resolution. Spain must follow with anxiety the events which are passing in course of preparation at Washington." The Republique Francaise expresses the opinion that the vote of the United States senate is a "grave breach of international courtesy," adding: "The language of the senators would justify the strongest protest."

The residents of Capitol and Auburn avenues, two of the leading thoroughfares of Atlanta, were startled the other day by finding the street car tracks on those streets torn up from end to end. The work had been done during the night by order of President Joel Hurt, of the Consolidated Street Railway company, who had become offended at the action of the city council for laying asphalt on those two streets. The gangs of men employed in dismantling the tracks were several times interrupted by the police, but continued their work. Indignation is rampant and it is probable that the street car company will be mulcted for heavy damages.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine,

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham	7:25 p m
No. 15	South	12:37 p m
No. 16	North	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Deep down in the mines, "That horrid hole in the ground," proved the most interesting place lately explored to the following crowd of pleasure-seekers Thursday evening: Miss Lena Nicholls and Nat Nabors, Miss Bertie Allen and A. J. Lee, Miss Bessie Allen and Fred W. Rogan, Miss Pauline Acker and Will Lyman, Miss Signa Christie and Fred K. Reynolds, Miss Mary Nicholls and L. N. Bowdon. Mr. E. L. Davis gave the crowd the benefit of his experience and pleasant company in the trip underground. The Fews undertakes to return thanks for the courteous treatment received.

Mrs. T. A. Best has purchased a corner lot at the corner of Valley and Shelby streets and will proceed to erect a house, which she will use for a millinery store. We learn she has already ordered a fine line of millinery goods, and having had considerable experience in that business she will no doubt make a success.

We learn that Mr. H. C. Fancher has purchased a lot on the Nabors addition and will build a nice residence.

Mr. George Morgan will commence work on his house next week.

Dr. Pratt, of Scottsville, and Mr. Frank Crow, of Blocton, spent a few days in our city this week. Some of our young men had better look to their laurels. The doctor is quite a handsome and agreeable gentleman.

We see from Washington dispatches that three separate reports from the election committee will be made in the Aldrich-Robbins contest case. Two of these reports will be made by republicans, who could not agree as to the facts, and one by the democrats. One of the republican reports give Mr. Aldrich a majority in the entire district of 250 and thows out the Montevallo box. The other report gives him 450 majority and leaves the Montevallo box undisturbed. The democratic minority report will maintain a majority for Robbins and insist that he rightfully holds his seat. This will bring the case before the house, where the matter will be promptly settled one way or the other.

Registered At the Central This Week.—W. A. Mooreman, Danville, Va.; W. O. Hill, Blocton, Ala.; Miss Lida Hill, Robert Hill, Blocton, Ala.; Mrs. Warner, Blossburg; Dr. E. G. Givhan, city; R. S. Stoon, Atlanta; C. V. McGraw, Montgomery; George Sehon, Louisville, Ky.; Wilbur North, Birmingham; R. H. Walker, Elliottsville; Robert Cunningham, Birmingham; Dr. Todd, Plantersville, Ala.

F. L. Couch, chief dispatcher, located at Selma, was in town on the 26th.

Married on the 27th, near Brierfield, Sam Edmonds to Miss Sallie Milam.

Frank McBride, of Blocton, was in Montevallo last Thursday.

Miss Bessie Day, of Ashley, is spending the week with her aunt, Mrs. Clay Fancher.

Miss Almy Findley, of Calera, visited her grandparents in Montevallo this week.

Her friends were pleased to see Miss Alice Huff, of Calera, in Montevallo Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Reynolds, of Blocton, came over Sunday. Mrs. Reynolds is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. B. Reynolds.

Mr. Thomas J. Perry, of Birmingham, was in town Sunday evening.

John Frost, of Calera, was in the city Saturday.

R. E. Hall, the fighting man for the News, spent Sunday with home folks in Shelby.

Memorial service will be held at the Methodist church on the third Sunday of this month at 11 a. m.

C. W. Cary left for Birmingham on the 3rd.

Dr. Givhan attended the session of the County Medical society Thursday.

We were pleased to have with us the presiding Elder, Rev. S. L. Dobbs, on last Sunday, The sermon Sunday morning was a masterpiece of thought and eloquence. By the way, if we mistake not, we believe his mother was born at some place on the Cahaba river, not very far from here, and spent her childhood days there.

Mrs. Laura Dobbs took her departure Tuesday for Alexander City, where she will make her home for the future to the regret of her many friends in Montevallo.

Charles Vest, of Birmingham, spent Sunday in Montevallo.

Miss Clara Nolen and Miss Rosa Moreland were in town shopping Monday. While on their way home they experienced the misfortune of a run-away in which Miss Nolen's arm was broken near the elbow joint.

Miss Bertie Allen left Wednesday for Florence, Ala., where she will attend the Normal school. It is hardly necessary to state that all the boys and girls, as well as her older friends, regret very much her departure from our town. We predict success for her.

The Literary society organized by Mrs. J. L. McConaughy several months ago continues to flourish and grow. One literary character is taken for each meeting and his life and writings are discussed. It is quite improving and interesting and we only hope they will change the constitution and by-laws so as to allow the men to join.

The street leading to the depot has been greatly improved under the direction of Mr. Honeycutt.

Mr. E. D. Reynolds and wife came over from Blocton Sunday to spend a few days with relatives here.

Miss Ada Dill has returned home after an extended visit to relatives in Jefferson county.

Mrs. Dobbs will leave for her home in Alexander City this week.

We learn Major Milner, of Birmingham, has been employed by French Nabors, Esq., to lay off his property adjoining the Industrial school grounds, into city lots.

FROM THE WOMAN ABOUT TOWN.

The beautiful parlors of Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Reynolds, were thrown open last Friday evening to the friends of the Industrial school, and a goodly concourse of citizens assembled to testify their interest in this institution and their willingness to lend themselves to its advancement. Mr. Reynolds who has done more than any other man for this enterprise, and who can talk Industrial school by the yard, either long or square measure, stated the object of the meeting, which was to organize among the ladies of Montevallo, a society for the promotion and aid of the school. His ideas were heartily endorsed by all present. The society was immediately organized and everybody present became a member. Feminine modesty forbade the presence of the masculine element in their counsels of war, so the poor men were banished to the back parlor, the folding doors were securely closed and a sentinel placed on guard to prevent eares dropping from the farther side. It is a strange and unaccountable phenomenon but nevertheless a fact, that men do not enjoy the society of their fellows, so well as do women that of each other. As soon as the doors had cut off the attractions of the front parlor, the gentlemen dropped into dejected attitudes. A few had the temerity to discuss the weather, a few others ventured on "corner lots," but the majority yawned hopelessly at each other. What happened in the inner sanctuary will perhaps never be known. All had been dignity and decorum, but with the closing of the doors there came a faint din, as of a babel of voices to the ears of the envious masculine contingent. After a time the doors were thrown back again, and the scene presented, reminded one of a garden of blooming plants refreshed by a gentle shower. Each lady had had her say and each felt happier for it, for where is the woman who does not love to talk. The gentlemen too seemed suddenly and sympathetically refreshed.

It has transpired that an organization under the name of the Ladies' Industrial Aid Society was formed with Mrs. H. Clay Reynolds president, Miss Pauline Acker secretary and Mrs. Joseph M. Dill treasurer. A committee of four, composed of Mrs. J. L. McConaughy, chairman; Mrs. George Morgan, Miss Hattie Lyman and Mrs. J. M. Dill was appointed to consider the advisability of issuing a periodical for the furtherance of the plans. A finance committee, consisting of Mrs. C. W. Cary, chairman; Mrs. E. S. Lyman and Mrs. Peters was also appointed. Two fair matrons then took up a collection for the good cause, and in this part of the entertainment the gentlemen were graciously permitted to participate. Besides the business transacted, a most delightful social evening was spent. Mrs. Reynolds, one of the most graceful and attentive of hostesses, entertained in her usual delightful manner, and she and Mr. Reynolds made a most charming evening for their guests.

On Monday afternoon the journal committee met at the handsome home of Mrs. J. L. McConaughy and Mrs. George Morgan. The subject was reviewed in all its phases, and after discussing pro and con for an hour or two a report was prepared to be submitted to the society at its next meeting. Business being over, dainty refreshments were served by the lovely hostesses and the committee adjourned.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. Editor:—Please let me express my heart's most grateful remembrance to the dear people of Montevallo and vicinity for their untiring devotion and ministry to my husband during his sickness and decease, and for the many expressions of sympathy in this dark hour of my bitter grief.

Very gratefully,
Mrs. C. L. Dobbs.

BRIEFS FROM ASHBY.

Mr. Z. T. Helcher, who fell from the top of the house he was building here last week is greatly improved. We hope he will soon be able to resume work again.

Miss Alma Burk returned home Wednesday last after a protracted visit of several weeks at Horse Creek, Ala.

Mrs. Jane Smitherman and grandson, Master Allen Mahan, of Randolph, are visiting relatives here this week.

Mise Bula Burk spent a part of last week with friends at Antioch and expressed herself as having been highly entertained.

Prof. W. E. Harrison, of Dogwood, was calling in the suburbs Sunday afternoon. Will is a jolly old boy and ever welcome in our city.

Mrs. Mandy Milams, Messrs. Will and Clark Milams, all of Blocton, visited relatives here last week.

Captain B. J. Large made a flying visit to Columbiana last Wednesday on matrimonial business.

Mr. Lewis Campbell spent Saturday and Sunday last with relatives at Dogwood.

Mr. Joe M——, is all smiles since his girl came home. How about it Miss B——.

One of the suburb boys passes through the city frequently. We are afraid his head will grow on the side as he invariably looks one direction.

Married, on the 27th ult., Mr. Sam Edmunds, of Blocton, to Miss Sallie Milam, of this place. At the Coke Ovens, in Shelby county, above Briarfield, on account of the death of Judge Davidson, license could not be obtained in this county. After the beautiful and impressive ceremony, Rev. Sutton Smitherman officiating, they returned to the home of the bride's father, where a feast was spread fit for a king. They have our congratulations and best wishes that their lives may be as calm and unruffled as a summer sea. Reporter.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

Mr. William Tyler, of Bamford, was called to the bedside of his sister, Mrs. J. H. Harmon, who has been very sick for some time.

Mrs. James Harmon, of Bond, Ala., spent the first part of the week in town.

Mr. T. O. H. McBride, of Cadle, paid us a flying visit Sunday.

Dr. R. C. Jones, who is attending the Medical college of Birmingham, was called Monday to the bedside of his wife, who is very ill.

To the sutprise of all Mr. Oscar Allen and Miss Minnie Holsomback joined the birds and had the laws of matrimony expounded to them. They will make Dogwood their future home.

We regret very much to chronicle the illness of Mrs. Clay, and we wish for her a speedy recovery.

Edward Harrison says his girl at Asley has diminished his latitude to a great extent and he now wears a very sad face.

Miss Mary Cost, of Ebenezer, is spending the week with relatives here.

Mr. James Ozley has a position as overseer on Mr. Shelby Allen's farm. Mr. Ozley is a hustler and we believe he will give entire satisfaction,

Mr. Frank Cunningham goes to see his girl three times a week and Sunday for a rarity. T. A. T. E.

REV. LEE ABERNATHY GOES TO MONTEVALLO.

To fill the vacancy in the pastorate of the Montevallo Methodist church, caused by the death of Rev. C. L. Dobbs, Presiding Elder S. L. Dobbs has appointed Rev. T. L. Abernathy, who has been in charge of the work at Belle Ellen. The Montevallo station is quite an important one and Mr. Abernathy's many Tuskaloosa friends are glad to hear of his appointment to that place. The Montevallo people are to be congratulated. To fill Mr. Abernathy's place at Belle Ellen Elder Dobbs has appointed Rev. W. H. Sturdivant, a local preacher.—Tuskaloosa Gazette.

We welcome Mr. Abernathy to our midst. No better selection, in our opinion, could have been made. Young, handsome and agreeable, and withal a fine young minister. He has already made a host of friends in Montevallo.

IT IS BEING WHISPERED.

That Potts and ——— are carrying the day.

That grandpa's trip to Birmingham cost him $1.70.

That Foots does not believe in the old saying: "Out of sight, out of mind." He still continues to send her boxes of candy.

That one of our young ladies is exceedingly fortunate.

That Shorty was feeling somewhat sad and woe-begone on last Monday evening.

That W. P. M. is singing the songs, "It Might Have Been," and "It May Be for Years."

That if all the hearts were as true as Jack's.

That the sympathy of the community has gone out to the poor boy who has been so sadly left on account of one of our M. D.'s.

That our pale-faced young man is improving rapidly, and that it is the exercise that causes the improvement.

That "Moon-fixer is all smiles this week. His trip to Columbiana must have been a success.

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

CORRECTION.

We hasten to correct an error which crept in last week's issue in the headlines of a special correspondence taken from the Birmingham News in relation to the death of our beloved pastor, Rev. C. L. Dobbs. The special correspondence referred to had in it an account of a dance at Aldrich, which was said to have been given in honor of Mr. Aldrich's success in being seated in congress. In taking the clipping from the Birmingham paper we cut off the account of the ball but failed to alter the headlines, which read "Montevallo Mourns—Aldrich Rejoices." The error was so glaring that we supposed no one would take offense. We hear, however, some have done so before asking for an explanation. The relations of the good people at Aldrich to their beloved pastor were so close that to suppose they would rejoice over his death is unreasonable. We apologize to the people of that little town for the mistake.

The organization of the ladies of Montevallo and vicinity for the advancement of the interests of the industrial school is most commendable. It shows that the promise made by the citizens of Montevallo to the board of trustees that they would foster and cherish the institution is being remembered. What the school most needs at this time is the presence and active administration of a live president. Buildings will soon commence and the presence and aid of one who expects to control this school is certainly needed to shape its future.

HONOR ROLL

For Montevallo High School For January, 1896.

Edgar Allen, Edgar Cary, Bessie McCary, Lois McCauley, Ben Rhodes, Bessie Steele, Imogene Vandegrift, Lucile Wilkinson, Joseph M. Dill, Jr., John Kroel.

For February, 1896.—Daisy Canterberry, Edgar Cary, Lois McCauley, Maud Reynolds, Bessie Steele, Harry Strong, Imogene Vandegrift.

Joseph M, Dill, Principal.

The following telegrams in relation to the Cuban affair passed between the citizens of our town and Gen. John T. Morgan, our United States senator:

Montevallo, Feb. 29.

To Gen. John T. Morgan, Washington, D. C.:

As citizens of Alabama we are proud of the stand you have taken for the freedom of Cuba.

H. C. Reynolds,
French Nabors and others

Washington, D. C., Feb. 29.

H. C. Reynold, French Nabors and Others, Montevallo, Ala.:

I am very proud to represent such a people as my honorable constituency.

John T. Morgan.

SHIP WRECKED OFF PENSACOLA.

The Conduct of Her Captain Rather Singular.

The British ship Mabel Taylor, 1,298 tons, Hibbard, master, lies in Caulker's shoals at the entrance to Pensacola harbor a total wreck. The ship was towed out of the harbor Thursday to the outer buoys. A stiff breeze was blowing and Pilot Bassell ordered Captain Hibbard to anchor, but he refused to do so and the pilot returned to the city. Friday morning the steam tug Flanders went out and found the vessel aground on the shoals. Captain Broadben of the life-saving station saw lights on the vessel all night, but no distress signals were made. The particulars of the accident are unknown, as the captain declines to explain. A survey has been made and the vessel declared a total wreck. She has on board over 1,000,000 feet of lumber for Rio Janerio and is owned by E. Lantalum, Parmouth. The vessel, cargo and advances are fully insured.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, Shelby County.

Under and by virture of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will proceed to sell on Monday, the 24th day of February, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corner of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly dieection one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff,
tf Shelby County, Alabama.

Continued to March 23, 1896.

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.

H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.

Shot and Killed.

Thursday at Blountstown, seventy five miles north of Apalachicola, Fla., in a fight Charles Allen shot and killed Mack Lowe. The parties are prominent, and both are from Columbus, Ga. Allen has been jailed.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Store!!!

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE.

The State of Alabama, Shelby County.

Probate Court for Shelby County, Alabama.—Letters of administration upon the estate of J. S. Davis, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 3d day of February, 1896, by the Hon. D. R. McMillan, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

F. E. Davis and
A. E. Davis,
feb 6 3t Administrators.

J. B. Lewis Co.

WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear,
Style,
Ease,
Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 or the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

Schooner Towed Safely In.

The schooner Harriet C. Kerlin, with a cargo of lumber from Savannah for Philadelphia, previously reported at anchor off Cape Hatteras with rudder gone and abandoned, was towed into the capes at 11:30 a. m Friday by the tug Asher J, Hudson, bound towards Hampton Roads.

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO. The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

Best of All

To cleanse the system in a gentle and truly beneficial manner, when the Springtime comes, use the true and perfect remedy, Syrup of Figs. One bottle will answer for all the family, and costs only 50 cents; the large size $1. Buy the genuine. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only, and for sale by all druggists.

A woman will battle equally for her children, her principles and her ideas.

Yellow Rind, Blood Red Flesh!

A wonderful combination, a tremendous novelty, found only in Salzer's Golden Pumpkin Watermelon. It's marvelous. We paid $300 for one melon! You will want it, everybody wants it. 5 kernels 10c., 25 kernels 40c. 35 packages earliest vegetable seeds $1.00. Our new creations in oats yielding 201½ bu., barley 116 bu., potatoes 1200 bus. per acre! Where will it end?

IF YOU WILL CUT THIS OUT AND SEND with 10c. postage to John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., you will get free a package of above Salzer's Golden Pumpkin Watermelon seed and our 148 page seed catalogue free. Catalogue alone 5c. for mailing. (A. C.)

A Great Blessing—Something in the Reach of Everybody.

What would you think of a man who was sick and constantly lived in reach of salvation, yet because he had failed in other directions refuses to take the blessing that is before him? This was the case with Mr. John S. Cook, of Atlanta.

"I have been suffering with dyspepsia for ten years. I began taking Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy and gained fifteen pounds in thirty day. I commend it to the public as a great blessing. I can eat supper, go to bed and sleep like a babe—something I could not do before." Price 50 cts. per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

The World's Earliest Potato.

That's Salzer's Earliest, fit for use in 28 days. Salzer's new late potato, Champion of the World, is pronounced the heaviest yielder in the world, and we challenge you to produce its equal! 10 acres to Salzer's Earliest Potatoes yield 4000 bushels, sold in June at $1 a bushel—$4000. That pays. A word to the wise, etc.

NOW IF YOU WILL CUT THIS OUT AND SEND it with 10c. postage to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., you will get, free, 10 packages grains and grasses, including Teosinte, Lathyrus, Sand Vetch, Giant Spurry, Giant Clover, etc., and our mammoth seed catalogue. (A. C.)

The thirst for justice is apt to end with the righting one's own wrongs.

Nothing in bath or laundry so good as Borax Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap needs but one trial to prove its value. Costs same as poorer floating soap. No one has ever tried it without buying more. Your grocer has it.

Our wealth is often a snare to ourselves and always a temptation to others.

BRONCHITIS. Sudden changes of the weather cause Bronchial Troubles. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will give effective relief.

Opinions grounded on prejudice are always sustained with the greatest violence.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mothers Who Use Parker's Ginger Tonic insist that it benefits more than other medicines for every form of distress.

I could not get along without Piso's Cure for Consumption. It always cures.—MRS. E. C. MOULTON, Needham, Mass., Oct. 22, 1895.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

Hindercorns is a Simple Remedy, But it takes out corns, and what a consolation it is! Makes walking a pleasure. 15c. at druggists.

Scrofula

Infests the blood of humanity. It appears in varied forms, but is forced to yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and vitalizes the blood and cures all such diseases. Read this:

"In September, 1894, I made a misstep and injured my ankle. Very soon afterwards

A Sore

two inches across formed, and in walking to favor it I sprained my ankle. The sore became worse; I could not put my boot on, and I thought I should have to give up at every step. I could not get any relief and had to stop work. I read of a cure of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it. Before I had taken all of two bottles the sore had healed and the swelling had gone down. My is now well and I have been greatly benefited otherwise. I have increased in weight and am in better health. I cannot say enough in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. H. BLAKE, South Berwick, Me.

Foot

This and other similar cures prove that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All Druggists. $1 Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills The best family cathartic and liver stimulant. 25c.

$50 A WEEK AGENTS Local or traveling, ladies or gents, selling National Patent Dish Washer; best made, simple, durable, low price; will and honestly made, washes and dries dishes in two minutes, no muss, slop, scalded fingers or broken dishes, a child can operate, every one warranted, one in a locality means a sale to all the neighbors, sells on merit, every family buys, permanent situation, write for agency. World Mfg. Co., C 24 Columbus, Ohio.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. DR. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Am. N. U. No. 10, 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

NEWS AND NOTES FOR WOMEN

BACHELOR MAIDS FORM A CLUB.

An interesting organization has just been created in Canton, Ohio, known as the Bachelor Maids. They expect to meet at regular intervals to sew for infants of the deserving poor. An elaborate constitution and by-laws has been adopted. One of the rules requires that each victim to Cupid shall give a dinner to the surviving bachelors. Officers have been chosen for life, or until such time as marriage renders them ineligible to membership, and in order to increase the chances of passing the official honors around, they are distributed among the oldest of the members.—Chicago Times-Herald.

FEMININE FARMING.

In Troy, Ala., there is a woman who is a more than ordinary successful farmer. She is Mrs. Buck Hathaway. Her husband died leaving her in debt.

The first thing she did was to sell a surplus mule for $60; of this she used $40 in making her crop. She used two plows and had but two children and one hired man to make the crop. She kept her hand on the throttle and her eye on the rail. In winding up the year she finds that she has made twenty-four bales of cotton, 100 bushels of corn and 100 bushels of potatoes. She has plenty of meat to spare, besides having plenty to run her place another year. She has paid nearly $800 on her debts, and now she is one of the happiest woman to be found.

A COLONIAL LADY'S WARDROBE.

Mistress Jane, widow of Cuthbert Fenwick, of Fenwick Manor, legislator, councilor, commissioner, died in 1660, leaving a will through which we catch glimpses of the wardrobe and toilet of a colonial lady of the period, says J. W. Palmer in an article entitled "Certain Worthies and Dames of Old Maryland." To her stepdaughter Teresa she leaves the little bed, the mohair rug and the yellow curtains, besides her taffeta suit and her serge coat, all her fine linen, her hoods and scarfs, "except the great one," and her three petticoats—the tufted holland one, the new serge, and the spangled one. To her own three boys she gives that "great scarf," and all the jewels, plate, and rings, except her wedding ring, which goes to Teresa; and to each a bed and a pair of cotton sheets. To her stepsons Cuthbert and Ignatius, an ell of taffeta; to her colored maid Dorothy, her red cotton coat; and to Esther, the new maid, all the linen of the coarser sort. To Thomas, the Indian, two pairs of shoes and a match coat; and to Thomas's mother, three yards of cotton. To the Rev. Francis Fitzherbert, a hogshead of tobacco annually for five years; and to her slave William, his freedom provided he pay a hogshead every year to the church; and to the church, the same William "to be a slave forever, if he shall ever leave her communion;" for had not her beloved brother William Eltonhead, and many of her dearest friends, "died by the bloody fangs of Puritan wolves?"—Century.

THE CUBAN GIRL.

A Cuban girl's life is very restricted, and she is never allowed to go out alone nor receive callers of the other sex except in the presence of her chaperon or some member of her family. If during her childhood she attends a day school, a maid or some family servant takes her there every day, and she cannot go as short a distance as across the street unaccompanied.

In some instances Spanish customs are absurd and incongruous. Every well-fitted establishment in Cuba is provided with a concierge, to guard the entrance and admit callers. This man, usually an ignorant peasant, sometimes escorts the young ladies of the family he is serving, and that is considered perfectly proper, whereas it would not be proper for them to go out attended by a gentleman, even if he were old enough to be their father, and an old friend of the family as well.

Of late years, however, the frequent intercourse between Cuba and the United States has somewhat modified the customs. For instance, two ladies can now go out alone in Havana in the daytime, which would have been considered an unheard of and almost shocking proceeding a few years ago.

The social pastimes a girls enjoys in Cuba consits of balls, parties, concerts, receptions, the theatre and opera, and picnic, for Cubans have adopted this American division, although in a modified form, to suit the requirements of Cuban etiquette.

GOSSIP.

England has a woman auctioneer.

Women work on English canal barges.

Fifteen women's clubs were organized in Maine last year.

Mrs. Emma Herr, of Lexington, Ky., is enrolling clerk of the Kentucky State Senate.

Twin sisters, seventy years old, were present as witnesses in court at Columbus, Ind., a few days ago.

The Czar of Russia calls his baby girl by a diminutive that translated means "Little Blue-Eyed."

Elizabeth Ney, daughter of Marshal Ney, lives in Texas. She is married to a man of the name of Montgomery and is well known for her work as a sculptress.

The Kentucky woman who proposed at 12.01, January 1, may merely have been taking a quickstep to unhappiness. She was accepted.

Mlle. Dumas, an old maid, who lately died at Paris, has bequeathed $200 to the policemen patrolling the district in which she resided.

Mrs. Levi P. Morton, they say, has a fad for buying shoes and has enough boots, shoes and slippers to wear a different pair every day in the year.

Mrs. Annie Merifield, of Limington, Me., who is ninety-four years old, is making considerable pin money knitting socks for the Portland market.

Mrs. Cornelius, the old and faithful servant of Charles Dickens, died a few days ago at the age of seventy-five. She was the first person named in the great novelist's will.

Mrs. Cleveland retains her old-time popularity among the women of Washington. The other day she had fifty young girls to luncheon, to see the babies and have a good time.

The Queen of Italy, who is a busy person, has lately been employing herself with the study of Hebrew. She has already mastered the language, and is deep in its literature.

A woman of Elk Rapids, Mich., who has a gray horse, said she was tired of hearing remarks about red-headed women, so she got some dye stuff and colored her horse a bright cardinal red.

Rev. Augusta Chapin, D. D., of Omaha, Neb., who is said to be the only woman doctor of divinity in the world, has resigned her Unitarian church and is going to Europe to travel and study.

Forty girl students at the State Normal School in Warrensburg, Mo., have organized an athletic association. They are going to devote much attention to outdoor sports and will wear bloomers and sweaters.

Dr. Mosher, just appointed professor of hygiene at Ann Arbor, Mich., is the first woman upon whom a full professorship has been bestowed there, although the instution was opened to women by the Legislature thirty years ago.

A full-blooded Sioux Indian girl, Miss Gertrude Simmons, of Deadwood, South Dakota, won the first prize in the freshman class oratorical contest at Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., a few days ago. She will represent the freshman class of the college in the State college contest to be held in Indianapolis shortly.

A farmer's wife in Lapeer, Mich., kept a record last year of her cooking operations. There are six persons in her family, and here is her list: Three hundred and twenty-five loaves of bread, eighty-three tins of biscuit, fifteen loaves of brown bread, 267 pies, 130 cakes, thirty-five puddings, 114 dozen cookies, 108 dozen ginger snaps, and fourteen chicken pies.

FASHION NOTES.

China tea bells are very pretty.

Lamp shades of opalescent shells are new.

The bangle is becoming more conspicuous.

The dinner ring is a gorgeous opal and diamonds worn on the middle finger.

Leather for dress bodices and vests is something new in the London winter fashions.

In ribbons the printed warps are mostly in vogue. These will appear on hats and serve as sashes.

In the stores narrow feather trimming sold by the yard is used extensively for dresses of all patterns.

Striped velveteens are much used by French dressmakers for blouse fronts, bishop sleeves and collar of modest wool dresses.

Capes are being shown freely, but the jacket will be a favorite for spring, even more than it was for fall. This is the feeling very generally.

A small close hat with soft puffed crown, or a genuine turban of fur or of cloth or velvet, is far preferable to wider-brimmed hats for skaters.

The plain skirt of the summer gown of last season will give way to ruffled and tucked bottoms. Valenciennes lace will be in great demand, too.

Very elaborate decollete waists, some white and others black, are imported to wear with skirts to match in shade, but of different rich fabrics.

Grass linen and leather lace are two new colors. They are selling well, though they look dull and common beside more decided colored, delicate laces.

The Persian designs so popular during the present season in printed velvets are repeated in samples anticipating the spring, on pure white grounds, pale turquoise blue and very light pink.

In collars and cuffs there is but one new thing on the market, and that gives promise to become a favorite. It is a white linen collar with a band about two inches in width running down the front and fastened at the belt.

The high stiff stock of our Revolutionary ancestors, as seen in miniatures and in large portraits, has been copied, not quite literally but most suggestively and effectively, for the women and girls who delight in shirt waists, and to complete many of their pretty washable frocks next summer.

Sad Scene at an Auction.

"Who bids?"

The auctioneer held up a child's rocking horse, battered and stained. It had belonged to some little member of the man's family whose household property was being sold under the hammer.

He was utterly ruined. He had given up everything in the world to his creditors—house, furniture, horses, stock of goods and lands. He stood among the crowd watching the sale that was scattering his household goods and his heirlooms among a hundred strange hands.

On his arm leaned a woman, heavily veiled.

"Who bids?"

The auctioneer held the rocking horse high, that it might be seen. Childish hands had torn away the scanty mane; the bridle was twisted and worn by tender little fingers. The crowd was still.

The woman under the heavy veil sobbed and stretched out her hands.

"No, no, no!" she cried.

The man's face was white with emotion. The little form that once so merrily rode the old rocking horse had drifted away into the world years ago. This was the only relic left of his happy infancy.

The auctioneer, with a queer moisture in his eyes, handed the rocking horse to the man without a word. He seized it with eager hands, and he and the veiled woman hurried away.

The crowd murmured with sympathy.

The man and the woman went into an empty room and set the rocking horse down. He took out his knife, ripped open the front of the horse and took out a roll of bills. He counted them and said:

"It's a cold day when I fail without a rakeoff. Eight thousand five hundred dollars, but that auctioneer came very busting up the game."—Houston Post.

Making Eating Attractive.

"Children take curious notions about not eating," said the Philosopher, the other day. "It is a common but erroneous impression of those who have no young ones that a healthy child running and playing all day comes in at meal time ravenously hungry and able to eat anything set before it.

"My little one plays out doors every day except when it is unusually cold or raining, but there are days and days when she doesn't seem to eat enough to keep a cat alive. Her mother tried to make her eat, failed, and tried to scold her into eating, and only made her cry.

"Then I took another tack. There was a time when I had to tell her three stories every night and sing her 'Annie Laurie' before she would shut an eye. The first was 'How Brer Rabbit Lost His Tail;' the second, 'Daniel in the Lion's Den,' a garbled version, and the third was about the 'Ga-room-Ga-rooms.' I divided the bread and butter or the milk, or whatever it was I wanted her to eat, into three parts. 'This is for Brother Rabbit and his tail; this is for Daniel and the lions, and this is for the Ga-room-Ga-rooms.' So now, when she eats anything at all, it is 'clear down to Ga-room-Ga-room.'

"I find this is a good way."—New York Press.

Weighed 575 Pounds.

Stephen Andrews, the biggest man in Rhode Island, tipping the scales at 575 pounds only four days ago, dropped dead of heart disease this afternoon at the home of his son Joseph in West Greenwich.

He was eighty years of age, and only weighed 200 when he was sixty-one. Since that time he has grown fleshier every day, and this winter he gained about thirty pounds in two months.

Mr. Andrews was, to all appearances, a healthy man. He was rosy cheeked and looked more like a forty-year-old than the aged farmer he was.

Andrews's chest measure was 78 inches, his biceps 21 inches, calf of leg 32½ inches and waist 58 inches.

He was born in Warwick. For many years he had never slept in a bed. His son Joseph weighs 300 pounds, and he has a grand-daughter living at Spring Lake who tips the scales at 350 pounds.

Mr. Andrews was thrice married. His second wife weighed 270 pounds, and the last one, who died not long ago, weighed ninety pounds.—Boston Globe.

Accent is on the "Bi."

We have remonstrated with a few friends in private because of the long "sigh" pronunciation of the second syllable of bicycle, but had not discovered that the fad was sufficiently widespread to call for public reproof. But if the offense is so general as our correspondent has been led to believe, then we take this occasion to say that the authorities all place the accent on the first syllable, and the whole word is pronounced just like the word icicle. We have never heard anybody pronounce this word as though it were eye-sigh-cul, and there is no more authority for bigh-sigh-cul. The accent is on the first syllable and the second and third are both short. This is a vehicle that is steadily growing in popularity, but there is no more authority for calling it bi-sigh-cle than for ve-high-cle. Let us sit steadily in the saddle, without leaning over the handle bars, and keep the accent on the bi.—Augusta Chronicle.

A Royal Physician.

The Queen of Portugal has just passed the examinations qualifying her for practice as a physician in the land of her adoption. It is the first instance on record of a lady of soverign rank winning for herself by means of diligent study the diploma of a doctor of medicine.

The Ins and Outs of It.

If you get best wear out of a coat, best work must have gone into it. You can't get good bread out of poor flour.

Moral: You can't get the best out of anything, unless the best is in it; and the best has to be put in before it can be taken out. Now, we have a rule to test those sarsaparillas with a big "best" on the bottle. "Tell us what's put in you and we'll decide for ourselves about the best." That's fair. But these modest sarsaparillas say: "Oh! we can't tell. It's a secret. Have faith in the label." . . . Stop! There's one exception; one sarsaparilla that has no secret to hide. It's Ayer's. If you want to know what goes into Ayer's Sarsaparilla, ask your doctor to write for the formula. Then you can satisfy yourself that you get the best of the sarsaparilla argument when you get Ayer's.

Any doubt left? Get the "Curebook."
It kills doubts but cures doubters.
Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Where Did You Get This Coffee?

Had the Ladies' Aid Society of our Church out for tea, forty of them, and all pronounced the German Coffeeberry equal to Rio! Salzer's catalogue tells you all about it! 35 packages Earliest vegetable seeds $1.00 post paid.

IF YOU WILL CUT THIS OUT AND SEND with 15c. stamps to John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., you will get free a package of above great coffee seed and our 148 page catalogue! Catalogue alone 5c. (A. C.)

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Corn

is a vigorous feeder and responds well to liberal fertilization. On corn lands the yield increases and the soil improves if properly treated with fertilizers containing not under 7% actual

Potash.

A trial of this plan costs but little and is sure to lead to profitable culture.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

THE AERMOTOR CO. does half the world's windmill business, because it has reduced the cost of wind power to 1/3 what it was. It has many branch houses, and supplies its goods and repairs at your door. It can and does furnish a better article for less money than others. It makes Pumping and Geared, Steel, Galvanized-after-Completion Windmills, Tilting and Fixed Steel Towers, Steel Buzz Saw Frames, Steel Feed Cutters and Feed Grinders. On application it will name one of these articles that it will furnish until January 1st at 1/3 the usual price. It also makes Tanks and Pumps of all kinds. Send for catalogue. Factory: 12th, Rockwell and Fillmore Streets, Chicago.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. Wm. J. Carlton, of Elizabeth, N. J., says: "I consulted a physician in the country this summer where I was spending my vacation, about a chronic dyspepsia, with which I have been a good deal troubled. It takes the form of indigestion, the food I take not becoming assimilated. After prescribing for me for some time, the physician told me I would have to be treated for several months with a mild laxative and corrective—something that would gradually bring back my normal condition without the violent action of drastic remedies. I recently sent to the Doctor (Dr. Thomas Cope, of Nazareth, Pa.) a box of Ripans Tabules, and wrote him what I understood the ingredients to be—rhubarb, ipecac, peppermint, aloes, nux vomica and soda. He writes back 'I think the formula a very good one, and will no doubt just suit you.'"

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Manufacturers
—OF—
Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting
—AND—
Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.
OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.
Write for Prices. Address,
Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

In writing please mention this paper.

ASTHMA
POPHAM'S ASTHMA SPECIFIC
Gives relief in FIVE minutes. Send for a FREE trial package. Sold by Druggists. One Box sent postpaid on receipt of $1.00. Six boxes $5.00. Address THOS. POPHAM, PHILA., PA.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

COCOA CAUTION

If "La Belle Chocolatiere" isn't on the can, it isn't Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast Cocoa.

WALTER BAKER & CO., LIMITED,
DORCHESTER, MASS.

Mamma & Baby

Have both been benefited by Brown's Iron Bitters. No wonder they look well and happy. Thousands of mothers and babies can look the same if they will use

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS,

A sure cure for women's troubles and strengthens weak and puny children.

Red X lines on the wrapper show it to be genuine.

Brown Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

SALZER'S VEGETABLE SEEDS

Are recognized as the best for all soils and climes, whether East or West, North or South, because they Sprout Quickly, Grow Vigorously, Produce Enormously!

That is their record the world over. Being Northern-grown, they are bred to earliness. There is lots of money made in early vegetables, and we are going to make a bold statement here that the earliest, choicest vegetables in the world are produced from Salzer's Seeds. Our Catalogue tells you why, so if you wish to make money—that is, have vegetables in the market 10 to 20 days ahead of your neighbors—plant Salzer's Seeds. Send 4c. for market gardeners' wholesale list. Lightning Cabbage is the earliest Cabbage novelty of the world, fit for market in 60 days! Pkg., 15c; oz., 60c.; ¼ lb., $2.00.

We make a specialty of choice pedigree Onion Seed: 90c. per pound!

Salzer's Earliest Cucumber cannot be beat. Pkg., 10c.; oz., 20c.; ¼ lb., 50c.

Our mammoth Plant and Seed Catalogue, containing a magnificent array of the choicest vegetables, with prices dirt cheap, is mailed to you upon receipt of 5c. postage, or Catalogue and Package of Early Bird Radish upon receipt of 8c.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., La Crosse, Wis.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. I, MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1896. NO. 49.

A Rain Song.

There's mis upon the mountains and mist upon he plain:
But can't you hear the music in the rain, rain rain?
It's singing of the summers with the roses red and white—
It's a dream to you in daytime and a lullaby at night!

Rain away,
Rainy day!
'Round the hearth the children play;
And I'm dreaming,
Dreaming, dreaming
Of the melodies of May!

The steeples, like sad sentinels that point the stars in vain,
Are dripping, dripping, dripping with the silver beads of rain;
But what care we for weather-cocks a-shiver in the cold,
When the hearth at home is blazing and the lambs are in the fold?

Rain away,
Rainy day!
'Round the hearth the children play;
And I'm dreaming,
O I'm dreaming
Of the melodies of May!
—Frank L. Stanton in Atlanta Constitution.

MARGERY'S SECRET.

Henry Fleet, the blacksmith, had a cozy little house in Newburg, which he called his bird's nest. It with ten good acres attached, had been in the Fleet family for three generations. The one son had always followed the occupation of the sire, as though they were born to the business. Harry had a pride in his work, and to those friends who had a larger ambition for him he was wont to say, "I was born a blacksmith; I like it, and will remain one."

In his bird's nest nestled his wife Margery and his little son. They were the joy and light of his work-day-life.

For a number of years Harry had been a very happy man, but a cloud had gathered in the sky, and at last it moved along just over his cottage, and there it obstinately stood. He had stood as bail for an old friend who was in danger of losing his liberty in consideration of certain liabilities. The friend had lurched him.

Margery knew something had gone wrong. He tried to keep the whole trouble to himself, but the shrewd little woman managed to ascertain his secret trouble.

"You see, Margery, I don't mind. I can work for you and the boy well enough, but the homestead, there is no help for it; that must go; and it has been in the Fleet family ever since it was a wilderness."

Harry told her the responsibility. Said he, "Old Squire Mitchell has paid it, and I have mortgaged the place. He has given me several years in which to redeem it, but he might as well take it now; I shall be no better prepared to pay it then."

Harry went to work and Margery to ruminating. She had always been able to adapt means to ends, and supply the means, too, if necessary, for a wise little thinking cap she was in possession of. She spent the afternoon in endeavoring to plan a method of relief, but it crept away and she felt tired and defeated.

It was supper-time. She heard her husband's foot strike the graveled walk, and at the same time she was struck with an idea. She put his supper on the table without a word, and instead of sitting down with him as usual, said: "Do you mind looking after the baby awhile? I want to run out."

A neighbor came in soon after and asked for Mrs. Fleet.

"She has gone out a moment," he replied.

"It must have been her I saw going into Lawyer Knowles' office a moment ago," said the neighbor.

Harry did not reply, but he did not like it. Young Knowles had once been a suitor of Margery's. A little waverings at first in his attentions, for he was a shrewd young fellow, acute in his profession, and in personal matters looking always to the main chance, and Margery had no fortune but her face, though there was a rumor about the time of her marriage that an uncle in a distant part of the country had left her property, more or less, and her relatives there had made it appear that she died in childhood, and had taken possession of it themselves. But Knowles had lost his heart to her so effectually before this report that he had proposed, and had been unhesitatingly rejected, much to the astonishment of himself and Harry Fleet.

Margery was an orphan, and had been reared by Harry's kind parent, and from continued association with him had learned to read his big heart so well that she knew who reigned queen in it long before he had courage to tell her. He really never could see why she had preferred a plain man like himself to one whom he considered so finished in worldly graces as young Knowles. So Harry did not like what transpired, and though too sensible a man to get jealous at a trifle, he was not a little perplexed when his wife made no mention of her business out on returning. As the weeks went by he came to know of her calling there at other times, and once, on coming home earlier than usual, he met Knowles at his gate coming out. At heart he had perfect faith in his wife, but fortune had begun to wrack him on her wheel, and a matter that he would have thought little of a few weeks before, now had the power to torture him.

He was grieved to see that his wife's manner toward him was changed. It was not trouble; she never spoke of their approaching loss, and he often found her singing, merry as a lark, but there was no longer perfect confidence between them. There was something she was keeping hid, he thought. And Margery did have a secret, and kept it—the old adage to the contrary notwithstanding.

Finally the day arrived on which the date of the mortgage expired. Harry's face had a set look. Always in the way, he thought, when around the house, watching Margery while deftly clearing up things. Everything she touched yielded like magic. This morning she was unusually skilful, and not a trace of regret was there in that sparkling face of hers.

Harry was woefully cast down. His clouded face seemed a reproach to her. He had not raised the money, and could not he said. The squire offered him an extension of time; he would not have it.

"It is of no use," said he, "and we may as well be over with it at once. The little place is not worth more than the money you loaned me. I will make you a deed of it, and you may write that the mortgage is satisfied."

He produced pen and ink, looking all the time like a man about to sign his own death-warrant. Then baby was hustled unceremoniously back into his cradle, and Margaret unlocked a little drawer in her husband's desk, producing a package, and placing it before the squire, asked him to count its contents. It was found to cover the whole amount for which her husband had given the mortgage.

"It was left me by my Uncle Heth," explained Margaret. "Lawyer Knowles was in need of all his shrewdness to straighten the matter out, but I paid him a round sum for his services."

Harry called himself a slow man, and it did take him some time to get the better of his amazement. He had barely succeeded in comprehending the whole, as his wife turned from the door from whence the squire had made his exit. Then, for the first time, the little woman broke down. She threw herself into the strong arms that were ready to receive her.

"Oh, Harry! how could you—how could you be jealous of me?"

He answered not at all, but held her as one of her own iron vises. Presently he fell to kissing her hair, forehead, cheeks, lips, and looking up, she saw what she never seen before—on the cheeks of her Vulcan were two round big tears.

Harry did not go to the shop that day, and baby got sadly neglected.

It was several years ago that this event occurred, and Harry's bird's nest is now called "The Dove-cot" by the observing neighbors.

Some National Characteristics.

I have never seen this statement successfully controverted: The first thing a Spaniard does on founding a colony is to build a gallows; a Portuguese, to build a church; an Englishman, a drinking booth, and a Frenchman, a dancing floor.—New York Press.

Chamberlain, South Dakota, has an artesian well which throws 4,000 gallons of water a minute through an inch pipe.

Slave Raids in Africa.

Writing about the development of Africa, in the Century, Henry M. Stanley describes a slave raid as follows:

As we approached the Falls we saw that the river banks had been depopulated and the villages were in ashes. We passed dead bodies floating in the river. Canoes were standing on end like hollowed columns, crowds of fugitives were afloat, and hiding among the reedy islands. These were all signs of a general terror, but we could get no information of its character. Vague ideas of an invasion from some savage tribe came into our minds, and now and then we had a misgiving that there must be Arab slavers in the neighborhood.

Continuing our ascent, on the third day we came in sight of a huge Arab camp on the right bank, and before very long we discovered that the Arabs of Nyangwe (Livingstone's farthest point), having heard the most exaggerated reports of our successful descent of the Congo in 1877, had hastened after us to reap a harvest of ivory and slaves. They had been too successful. Over 118 villages had been destroyed below Stanley Falls alone, a rich plunder of ivory was in their camp, and several hundred slaves, old and young, were herded like goats and heavily fettered in the slave-pen. It then appeared that while we had been negotiating with the negro chiefs along the river, making roads, building stations, and hauling steamers overland, the Arabs of Nyangwe had been coming down the river, laying the country waste. We had at last met, about fifty miles below the falls. A glance at the scene of the camp was sufficient to reveal what a future awaited the Congo valley had we not conceived the project of opening the river to civilizing influences. There was not a moment to lose. We had no authority to open fire on the miscreants. They were subjects of the Prince of Zanzibar, who was a protege of England, and to plunge into hostilities with them might possibly involve us it serious complications. But while we dared not use force, we believed that by continuing the same system we had found so successful with the native chiefs, we could check the audacity of the slavers by our mere presence among them. After some days spent in cautious and friendly negotiations with the Arabs, we were permitted to establish a station at the Falls, and after seeing it well advanced, we turned the prows of our steamers down-river toward Leopoldville.

Locomotives for Russia.

The entire cargo of twenty Baldwin oil-burning locomotives has been loaded on the British steamer Turret Bay, and will steam away from the Port Richmond piers on her long voyage to Novorostisk, a Russian seaport on the Black Sea. The engines are among the largest ever built by the Baldwin Locomotive Works, weighing 97 tons each, and have special fire boxes for burning petroleum. The tenders hold the oil instead of wood and coal. Five of the tenders will be carried on deck, and the shippers have so much confidence in the Turret Bay's steadiness and stability even in the most severe weather that they consider them as safe stowed outside as in the vessel's hold.

The passage will be straight across the Atlantic to Gibraltar, and thence through the Mediterranean to the Black Sea, over 5,000 miles in a direct course. The steamer will be obliged to make several stops for bunker coal, which will lengthen the passage.

The locomotives, which are the first built in this country in many years for Russia, are for the Trans-Caucasian Railroad, and are peculiarly adapted to mountainous countries. The balance of the order—twenty engines—will be shipped immediately.—Philadelphia Record.

Another Smashup.

"Hannah" asked Mrs. West, "where did all those broken dishes come from?"

"I dropped the tray of indestructible china, Ma'am," answered Hannah meekly.—Detroit Free Press.

In Russia you must marry before eighty or not at all, and you may marry only five times.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Sharing a trouble doubles it.

Conscience should lead, not drive.

Time is money only when you spend it.

Time is a healer that either cures or kills.

The best good luck is immunity from bad luck.

Ignorance is power, no less than is knowledge.

A mistake avoided is better than two corrected.

Luck is always against the man who depends on it.

Be thankful for a good many things you didn't get.

The best champion of truth is the man who tells it.

Women like flattery but they don't like to be told so.

The successful man is the man who knows when to quit.

The prodigal son may later on support the whole family.

It takes only one to start a quarrel, but it requires two to keep it up.

If all is fair in love, how is it so many homely people get married?

A close second to the Golden Rule is this: "Mind you own business."

If you wish to shoot a particularly sharp arrow at a woman refer to her as well-preserved.

In order to be of much practical benefit to her, a woman's interest in athletics should progress beyond the costume stage.—New York Press.

Untouched Deposits of Gold.

Immense deposits of gold remain as yet almost untouched in South America. In Colombia and Ecuador are regions rich in the yellow metal. Stories of great "mother" veins in the mountain ranges, said to have been worked by the Incas, and now jealously hidden by the natives, are frequently heard. Expeditions have been undertaken many times to find alleged lost mines, but they have been uniformly successful.

There are places in the mysterious region known as the "Interior," on the eastern slope of the Andes, where much gold is found. From that section there is a constant flow of the yellow metal to the coast, amounting to a great quantity yearly.

This land of gold, however, is not to be entered. No white man has ever returned from it alive. The savages are fierce and brave and are known to practice cannibalism. The country is a trackless wilderness, the only means of communication being by the numerous waterways. To the villages along the coast come canoes from inland, each bearing its little burden of coffee, plantains, nuts and fruits, and usually carefully wrapped in a leaf, a little gold dust or a nugget or two. Thus the gold flows in tiny streams to the coast, from which it is shipped by merchants in payment for goods.—Washington Star.

Silk Made From Wood.

Silk is about to be added to the list of things made from wood. A Frenchman named Chardonnier first tried the experiment some years ago at Besancon, in France, and set up an elaborate plant in that town for the manufacture of silk, or, rather an imitation of it, from wood fibre. Some fine specimens were made and exhibited, But it was found that the wood silk could not be woven in large pieces, and the works were finally abandoned.

Further experiments and discoveries have recently been made, however, and a company has been formed, which has taken the old Chardonnier plant. It is said they will be able to manufacture a product which will closely resemble silk from wood alone, which will be much cheaper than the real article, and which can be woven in large sized pieces. The process of making is said to be similar to that of manufacturing paper from wood. The wood is first ground into a pulp steamed and chemically prepared. The method of weaving the pulp is the secret from which the inventors hope to reap a fortune.—New York World.

After thirty years lawing Samuel Holladay has made good his title to fifty acres of Lafayette Park, San Francisco's favorite pleasure ground.

Infection in Dust.

A correspondent in the Tribune has taken intense interest in the danger of infection from dust which has been contaminated by the poison of tubercular disease. Some of the best-known physicians in New York discussed this subject recently, and all agreed that it was necessary that care should be taken in all places frequented by consumptive patients to destroy the tubercular infection in the dust of such places.

The reader already referred to writes to the Tribune to know if this tubercular infection in dust can be destroyed by the use of sulphur. One of the leading physicians of this city who was consulted on this subject says that sulphur when properly applied, is one of the most powerful and effective agents for destroying infection.

In order to obtain the most thorough results the walls of the infected rooms should first be washed down, and the windows and all cracks through which air could escape, such as cracks around doors, sills, keyholes, chimneys, etc., should be carefully sealed by fastening strips of paper over them, then when the sulphur is burned the fumes are retained. At least twenty-four hours should elapse before the fumes are allowed to escape by the admission of fresh air. The sulphur fumes should be as dense as the thickest smoke in order to be completely effective. Of course all gilt picture frames and bright metallic articles should be removed beforehand, as otherwise they would be discolored and practically ruined by the sulphur. This physician says that if sulphur is used in this way the infection in the dust ought to be destroyed.—New York Tribune.

An Austrian Samson.

Joseph Pospischilli, a convict recently imprisoned in the Austrian Fortress of Olen, surprised the whole Empire by his wonderful feats of strength. One of his tricks was to add a fifth leg to a common table (placing the useless addition in the exact centre) and then balance it with his teeth while two full-grown gypsies danced on it, the music being furnished by a violinist being seated in the middle of the well-balanced platform. One day when the prison in which this Hercules was confined was undergoing repairs, he picked up a large carpenter's bench with his teeth and held it balanced aloft for nearly a minute. Since being released from the Olney prison, Pospischilli and his cousin, another local "strong man" named Martenstine, have formed a combination and are now starring southern Europe, performing all kinds of startling feats of strength. Among other things they have had a 30-foot bridge made of strong timbers, which is used in one of their great muscle acts. This bridge is the oddest ever constructed, having two living piers—Pospischilli acting as one and Martenstine the other. Besides supporting this monstrous structure (weight 1,866 pounds) upon their shoulders, these freaks of superhuman strength allow a team of horses and a wagon loaded with a ton of cobble stones to be driven across it one each hour in the afternoons when exhibitions are being given.—New York Advertiser.

The Disappearance of a Hog.

Some six weeks ago a farmer of Benton, Ky., lost a fine fat young hog, weighing about a hundred pounds, and the most careful search failed to show any trace of it, or how it had disappeared. About the same time a high wind upset the farmer's straw stack. During the six weeks that elapsed since the disappearance of the hog the stack of straw has gradually been removed. A few days ago the last of the straw was turned over, and what seemed like the shadow of the lost shoat was found beneath it. The pig was still living, but it weiged only twenty pounds. Careful attention brought it round, and it is said to be all right again now and fattening up well.—New York Sun.

A White Rhinoceros.

A mounted example of the white rhinoceros from Zululand has been exhibited in London. Two specimens were brought to England two years ago from northern Mashonaland. These are the only two localities now known for this creature, which formerly abounded in the Cape Colony.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

Berlin scientists are now trying to make photographs of heat.

A lump of sugar saturated with vinegar is highly recommended as a remedy for hiccough.

Blood in its natural state contains a surprising amount of pure air, amounting to nearly seven-eighths of its entire bulk.

A new piledriver has been invented in France which is guaranteed to have six times the force and speed of the old clumsy apparatus.

Paper houses, for the use of travelers in Africa and Australia, have been manufactured by English firms. They are made in sections, and can be put together or taken apart in a few moments.

M. Poincare, who has been investigating the action of the moon on the meteorology of the earth, has discovered that it has an influence not only on the production of cyclones, but also on their direction.

The influence of temper upon the tone of the voice deserves much consideration. Habits of querulousness or ill nature will communicate a catlike quality to the singing as infallibly as they give a quality to the speaking voice.

Nervous people should eat fat food. Every irritated and exhausted nerve should, if possible, be coated with fat. With the fat should be combined grain foods and vegetables for strength and fruit to keep up a healthful consistency of the blood.

The eyes will bear a high temperature up to a certain limit, but above that the difference is very marked. For instance, workers in smelting houses can look at the molten metal without trouble until it reaches 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit, but above that they are obliged to wear colored glasses.

Founding the Congo State.

During my descent of the Congo, says Explorer Stanley in the Century, I had revolved over and over in my mind the question of the destiny of the river. Seated at the prow of my boat, which led our flotilla, and daily watching the river developing itself, I was preoccupied with these thoughts every leisure moment. There was, it seemed to me, no other power but England that could interest itself with this part of Africa; and, as I said, there was not a single white man in possession of any portion of the equatorial belt, except at the mouth of the Congo, where a few traders had gathered. But despite numerous addresses in England upon this subject, I failed to awaken more than a geographical interest in Equatorial Africa. The terror of the African cilmate in general was too strong upon everybody.

Elsewhere, however, the reports of my addresses in the English newspapers were taking effect. After nearly nine months' busy life in England, the king of the Belgians invited me to visit him and I was then informed of his strong inclination to undertake for Africa what I had been so strongly advising Englishmen to do. He was already president of the African International Association, which was about to set on foot a humanitarian enterprise from the east coast, and he led me to understand that if I were free from other engagements he would like to employ me in opening the Congo basin to European influence and civilization.

It was my opinion that the best way of setting about the work was to construct a light surface railway which should skirt the cataracts of the Lower Congo, and then to launch steamers on the upper waters, which I estimated would furnish about 6,000 miles of navigation. We argued about this matter from August to December, 1878. The best Belgian engineers were consulted, but after the most elaborate calculations as to cost, it was finally decided that, as the expense would be great, we should content ourselves with making wagon-roads past the cataracts, and build a series of military stations for the protection of caravans, and that the annual expenditure should not exceed $60,000.

New Orleans has 255,000 people, and extends over sixty square miles.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

Fifteen men and twenty-three women over 100 years of age died in England during 1895.

Edison prophesies that in ten years horseless carriages will be the rule, and horse-propelled vehicles the exception.

Over five million dollars' worth of Brooklyn real estate is owned by members of the Brooklyn police force. It is scattered all over the city in desirable localities, as well as in the humble quarters of the town; but nearly all of it is made to pay fair returns to the owners. A few men own at least one-half of the property, but, according to the New York Sun's figures, the remainder is widely distributed. Indeed it appears that the gross estimate is not too high; as if it were in fact too low. Much of the property is acquired on what might be called the installment plan, a plan to which many wealthy purchasers also resort.

The whaling and sealing industries of Alaska are practically exhausted, reports W. H. Dall, in Science, the fur trade is in its decadence, the salmon canning is in the full tide of prosperity, but conducted in a wasteful manner, which cannot be continued with impunity. The cod and herring fisheries are imperfectly developed, but have a substantial future with proper treatment. Mineral resources and timber have hardly been touched. No business-like experiment with sheep or cattle on the islands has been tried by competent hands, while the introduction of reindeer though promising well, is still in the experimental stage. Socially, the territory is in a transition state. The magnificent scenery, glaciers and volcanoes make it certain that Alaska will in the future be to the rest of the United States what Norway is to Western Europe—the goal of tourists, hunters and fishermen.

Says the Detroit Journal: —The total Indian population at this time, according to estimates made by the officials of the Indian Bureau, is 248,253, exclusive of the Indians of Alaska. In 1829, before the annexation of Texas and Mexico, the estimated population of the country was 400,000. In 1855 the number was said to be 350,000, and the same estimate is made for 1871. The most rapid decline in numbers has been in the last quarter of a century. The fact the Cherokees and Chippewas, both comparatively powerful tribes, have actually increased in numbers makes the decrease in other tribes all the more remarkable. At the beginning of 1895 the number on the reservation had been decreased to 133,417, or about one-third of the total number. Less than 30,000 of these are self-supporting, the Federal Government issuing supplies to most of them. If the rate of decrease which has been maintained for the last quarter of a century or so be continued, there will not be a single full-blooded Indian in the country, except possibly, in dime museums, by the end of the twentieth century.

Verily this German professor with his X rays has made a stir in this world of ours. Taking one day's papers only we find that one doctor in New York came to the conclusion that we will soon be able to take a photograph through a brick wall, another took a picture of his brain at work, an electrician feels sure that he will be able to see his own heart beat and Edison feels that he will be able to harden that lightest of all metals, aluminum, to the consistency of steel. What the ultimate outcome of all the experiments now going on with these wonderful rays all over the universe will be no one can say, but after making allowance for all exaggeration there is no doubt but that we have come on a great discovery, the possibilities of which cannot yet be realized. The telephone, which enables us to talk across half the continent, is still quite a novelty, but this discovery that we may see through the most solid of substances is far more wonderful and will be of much greater benefit to mankind. All honor to the men who are trying to develop it.

ALABAMA IN BRIEF.

"Railroad Bill," alias Morris Slater, Pays the Penalty of His Crimes.

NOTARIES PUBLIC APPOINTED.

Schooner Ashore—Mobile Contracts for Steel Bridges—Baptists Secure $1,500 for a School—Cherokee and Marshall Have New Court Houses—Alabama's Foreign Trade

A Popular Institution.

The Hamilton agricultural school has 184 students enrolled.

Fire at Union Springs.

Two store houses in Union Springs, near the center of the city, were burned Thursday night.

New Court House Completed.

Marshal county's new court house has been finished and turned over to the county commissioners.

Killing at Evergreen.

A difficulty occurred at Evergreen Monday between William Bird and Govan Moorer, two school boys, in which the latter was killed.

"Railroad Bill" Killed.

The negro Morris Slater, alias "Railroad Bill," robber, murderer and desperado, was shot and killed at Atmore Saturday night at 8:50 p. m., by J. L. McGowan.

People Paying Taxes Promptly.

Tax Collector King, of Winston county, has filed the delinquent tax list with the probate judge. It is the smallest delinquent list ever filed in the county.

To the Insane Asylum.

Wiley Tucker, the half witted white man who burned a bridge in Etowah county on the Chattanooga Southern last fall, has been sent to the insane asylum at Tuscaloosa.

Convicted of Gin Burning.

Dave Sanders has been convicted in the city court of Selma of the offense of arson, for burning Day's gin, and was sentenced last Thursday to the penitentiary for seven years.

Another Industrial School.

A benevolent lady in New York had recently placed in the hands of the Episcopal bishop of Alabama through Mayor VanHoose, quite a handsome sum of money to be used in starting an Industrial School for Colored Girls in Birmingham.

Negro Conference.

Over 600 people attended the fifth annual session of the Tuskegee Negro Conference Thursday, about 400 men and 200 women. Fifteen states were represented, eight Southern and seven Northern. Booker T. Washington presided.

A Large Saw Mill.

The large saw mill of the United States Rolling Stock Company at Ball Play is soon to be put in operation. Agents of the company have been at the mill making an inventory of everything, and it is very likely that the mill will start in a few weeks. This plant represents an outlay of $53,000.

Public School Library.

The teachers and pupils of the public schools of Greenville, having organized a library association, have taken a long step already toward the end proposed. Between 200 and 300 volumes have been secured by donation and purchase, all books of sterling merit, and the number is constantly growing.

Cherokee's New Court House.

There was a special term of the commissioners' court of Cherokee last week for the purpose of receiving the new court house from the contractors. While the contract called for a substantial duplicate of the old building, the new one is a much better house, and the authorities are well pleased with it. County officers will move in in a few days.

A Cavalry Company for Birmingham.

A movement is on foot to organize a new cavalry company in the Alabama state troops. If it is organized it will be located in Birmingham and attached to the Second regiment. It is stated that the company has already been virtually organized in the Magic City and is only awaiting authority to formally organize.

Boy's Head Under the Wheels.

John Young, a boy about fifteen years old, who lives with his widowed mother a few miles west of Double Springs, while driving a team of oxen Thursday, fell off the wagon, which was heavily loaded, and the wheels passed over his head. At first it was thought he was fatally injured. He is still alive however, and at last accounts was improving.

An Echo of the Expo.

The latest matriculant at the Polytechnic is Senor Miguel T. Romero, of Venezuela, who was enrolled Friday morning. Mr. Romero was commissioner in charge of the Venezuelan exhibit at the Atlanta Exposition, and his attention was called to the college by its exhibit in the Alabama building. He will study the branches relating to agriculture, such as botany, biology and agricultural chemistry.

Opening Gold Mines.

The gold mines of Clay county are being worked more profitably now than they have been for several years. Many new leads are being opened up, and unusually large and paying quantities of ore mined. A strong company has just been organized to operate the Irbelinda mine, a test mill having been going for some time with very satisfactory results. The new company will put in about $50,000 worth of modern mining machinery.

considering the hard war service he saw. Besides being a very busy man in congress he intends to presently begin writing a history of the confederate army of the Tennessee. The work is blocked out and much of the material in hand already. Strange to say, no history of this army has yet appeared, rich as the subject in historic and dramatic interest.

Following Governor Oates' Lead.

Following the example of Governor Oates, of Alabama, who has called a convention at Montgomery for March 25 to provide the ways and means for Alabama to have proper representation at the Southern States' exposition, a call has been issued for a convention of the interests of Kentucky at Louisville on Thursday, March 19. South Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, Alabama and Tennessee are now actively at work preparing for the exposition, and other states will soon be in line.

Warrior River Canal.

A Birmingham gentleman who was on the committee of those who recently went to Washington to see what they could get congress to do in the matter of the proposed Warrior river canal, stated the other day that he was in receipt of a letter from Senator Steve Elkins, of West Virginia, in which Mr. Elkins gave it as his opinion that the appropriation to make the survey for the proposed canal would certainly be allowed. Mr. Elkins also went on to say that if, after the survey had been made, the canal was found to be a practical scheme it would undoubtedly be built.

"Some" Are of Good Families.

One of the largest captures ever known to the moonshine fraternity was made near Kirby's Creek, in Jackson county, about twelve miles southeast of Scottsboro, by Deputy Collector Logwood and Deputy Marshals Skelton and Arnold Friday morning. They found two stills of about 100 gallon capacity each, both in full blast, capturing D. C. McCollum, James Armstrong, L. R. Evans, Oscar Armbrester, C. C. Temple and W. W. Temple, over 2,000 gallons of beer and quite a quantity of wild cat whisky. The two stills were in the same cave, in a few feet of each other, and operated by the same force. Some of the boys who were caught operating the stills are of good families, who will be shocked at the sad news of their capture.

A Handsome Little Town.

Mr. K. E. Faegan, vice-president of the Concordia and Improvement association of Thorsby, Chilton county, says the colony is laying out a handsome little town, subdividing the land into ten acre tracts. That $150,000 will be expended by the association at once in the building of homes and the preparation of the lands. The first attention of the colony will be directed to fruit raising, to be followed by such crops as will be the most profitable. Mr. Faegan says Thorsby has how two stores and a handsome hotel and several nice dwellings completed. A large crowd of immigrants are expected to leave the north and northwest on April 7, and the citizens of Thorsby are making preparations to entertain the visitors in a manner that will make them feel at home when they reach the new city.

Jefferson County's Roads.

Jefferson county can boast of about one hundred and seventy miles of ideal pike roads, About one mile in six of these splendid roads was built by convict labor. The balance was built by free labor. The cost, per mile, for these roads was about $2,000. The width of the roads is twenty-four feet in excavations and eighteen feet on embankments. In locating the roads it has been a rule to run the lines as straight as possible, and to secure grades as nearly level as the nature of the ground would permit. The road beds are made to rise slightly in the center. After completing the grading and preparation of the road bed a dressing of finely broken limestone is applied, nine inches in the center and six inches on the sides. A four-inch dressing of the best chert is placed on the limestone bed. Fortunately an abundant supply of chert is found in close proximity to the roads. The county has built thirty-one iron bridges from eighty-five to 400 feet long, costing in the aggregate $56,500. Thus the county has expended over $400,000 in equipping herself with good roads. It is estimated that this improvement of the roads has increased the value of property from 15 to 25 per cent and saves to the people annually more than $50,000.

Briefly Noted.

A new telephone system is being put in at Gadsden.

Mobile county has let the contract for three big steel bridges.

The Baptists have secured $1,500 for their school at Thomasville.

Dick Rountree, a negro, burned his way out of the Greenville city jail.

The bicycle riders of Florence will have to keep lights or not go on the street.

The Russian schooner Abrahams, which went ashore on Dixie Island, near Mobile, has been successfully floated.

Spain's Warlike Preparations.

Three mountain batteries embarked at Barcelona yesterday for Cuba. The warships Vizcaoa, Oquendo and Marie Taresa will be ready to go into commission at the end of March. The Alfonso XIII and Pelayo will be ready for service at the beginning of April. The Hon. Hannis Taylor, the American minister, had a long interview with the Duke of Tetuan, the minister of foreign affairs. The government has reiterated its orders to the governors of the various provinces to firmly suppress manifestations against the United States.

LIVE WASHINGTON NOTES.

The Secretary of Agriculture Discourages the Seed Business.

THE TREASURY STATEMENT.

Gold Reserve—Bill Approved Authorizing the Construction of a Bridge Across Lake St. Francis, Ark. Status of the Venezuelan Boundary Question.

Senate Confirmations.

The senate on Thursday confirmed the following nominations: Samuel Comfort, of New York, to be United States consul at Bombay, India; Commodore Thomas O. Selfridge to be a rear admiral in the navy.

***

Bill Approved—Treasury Statement.

The president has approved the bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across Lake St. Francis, Ark.

The treasury today lost $56,600 in gold coin and $5,100 in bars, which leaves the true amount of the reserve $125,056,526.

Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows; Available cash balance. $261,011,554; gold reserve. $126,173,954.

***

The Garden Seed Farce.

The "Garden Seed" comedy seems as far from settlement as ever, both branches of congress having passed resolutions ordering Secretary Morton to furnish the customary supply of seeds. Secretary Morton now shows his hand, and it developes that in order to secure clerks to put the seed up and label it, they must be taken from a list who have creditably passed a civil service examination, prepared by Secretary Morton, and which no one but a college professor would try. The result will probably be that when the necessary clerks have been secured if they can be secured at all, it will be too late to plant seed. Secretary Morton seems to be more than a match for the distinguished statesmen in congress.

***

McCall and the Congressmen's Clerks.

Mr. McCall, of Tennessee, had a very high compliment paid him, and one which has never before been paid to a new member, in being selected by the appropriation committee to present the report on the legislative appropriation bill, one of the very important appropriation bills. He was assailed on all sides during the discussion and made his point every time. He was responsible for the defeat of the amendment proposed, to put congressmen's clerks on the annual rolls, and in defeating the measure saved to the government $216,000 annually. The majority of the members, and the members of the appropriation committee are in favor of this amendment personally, but they feel that this is an inopportune time to pass such a measure, considering the fact that the government finances are very low, and that this congress has for its motto, "Economy."

***

Status of the Venezuelan Case.

As to the matter of conducting the negotiations, little information can be gained at this time, owing to the extreme reticence of all parties concerned. When inquiry was made at the British embassy Sir Julian Pauncefote said it was impossible to make any statement on the subject. Senor Andrade, the Venezuelan minister, was equally reserved, although his secretary said that the minister had had no direct communication with the British ambassador. This would indicate that the negotiations have proceeded through an intermediary or by correspondence. Once diplomatic relations (which have been suspended for about ten years) are re-established, it is felt that in the present temper of both Great Britain and Venezuela, the way will be opened to direct negotiations respecting the boundary question, and in this manner a settlement will be effected without the intervention of any third nation. It is understood that the original British demand for indemnity for the Uruan affair has been so modified as to eliminate it entirely from the boundary question, and thus render the latter easier of adjustment. As it now stands, the British contention is simply that a British officer was ill treated, without reference to where the ill treatment occurred, and on this a demand for indemnity is based. In other words, the British demand assumes that there is a right to exact indemnity even if the British official was in Venezuela at the time of his arrest. Put this, the case closely resembles that of Corinto, where Great Britain exacted indemnity from Nicaragua for the expulsion of Consul Hatch. By attacking the problem in this fashion, and again opening direct negotiations, the special tribunal created by the United States to ascertain the location of the boundary line may be rendered useless. But if a boundary agreement is reached that is satisfactory to Great Britain and Venezuela, there can be no doubt that it would be hailed with relief by this country, and would be welcomed by the administration as was made plain by the president in his celebrated message.

A Chicago Mystery.

Carefully concealed in a barrel and covered with a mass of old rags and cotton, the dead bodies of a gray-haired man and a new born babe were found in an alley in Hyde park, Chicago, Sunday. In consequence, the police are working on what they consider a double murder.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8 B'ham & Selma.....	8:10 a m
No. 9 Selma & B'ham.....	7:25 p m
No. 15 South.....	12:37 p m
No. 16 North.....	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. John Ozley, W. R. Oliver and Editor Graham, of Calera, visited Montevallo last week.

A memorial service for the Rev. C. L. Dobbs will be held at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. Everybody invited to attend.

Druggist Claude Duran, of Calera, as in town Thursday.

Mr. Sam Morgan, of Blocton, came over Sunday and returned Tuesday night.

Mrs. Augusta Wilson returned to Montevallo Tuesday. Mrs. Wilson will soon move into her new house, which is now completed.

Stupendous debates are occurring at school this week on the time-honored questions of Washington versus Napoleon, and on the justifiableness of the execution of Mary, Queen of Scots.

The mysterious search for hidden treasure still goes on at the old Indian Fort. New windlass and tackle have been put in position, and the old hole is now about sixty feet deep. Blasting may be heard at nnusual hours.

Who got left Sunday night?

Dr. Claughton and wife visited home folks at Verbena Sunday.

Mr. French Nabors, who has been ill for some time past, is improving.

W. R. Anderson, of Imogene, made us a pleasant call Tuesday.

Attention of all who wish to be well and neatly dressed is called to the good fits and attractive cuts lately turned out by M. Born and J. Solomon. Come and choose from 650 samples. Latest styles, leading novelties, lowest prices. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, Agents.

Otto W. Puls, architect, was in town last week. We hope to see Mr. Puls permanently located in Montevallo in the near future.

His many friends in Montevallo were glad to have Mr. S. S. Allen, of Biocton, with them last Sunday. The brevity of Sam's stay was its only bad point, so the girls say.

Dr. McGaha, as is usual and pleasant, was in town Sunday; but as was unusual and even more pleasant, his better kalf accompanied him this time.

Dr. Colvin, of Birmingham, was down Saturday spying out the land, or rather the location.

Miss Bessie Hoskins and Miss Annie Platt, two charming young ladies of Aldrich, attended church in Montevallo Sunday night.

The Montevallo Lump Coal company report bright prospects. They have recently purchased a new outfit, including a hoisting machine.

J. W. Seesions, of Dry Valley, spent Sunday in Montevallo.

Upon invitation of Dr. McGaha and to the satisfaction of all who heard him, Rev. Lee Abernathy occupied the Baptist pulpit at the Sunpay night service.

Mrs. E. D. Reynolds returned to Blocton Saturday.

W. B. Strong, our efficient postmaster, is laid up this week with the rheumatism.

The Methodist ladies have fitted up a room at the parsonage for Brother Abernathy.

Dr. Campbell, of Blocton, visited Montevallo Saturday.

Rill Large, of Briarfield, one of Bibb county's deputy sheriffs, made us a pleasant call Saturday.

Mrs. T. J. Dill, of East Lake, visited her son, Professor Dill, of this place, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Parr of Clear Creek were among the visitors this week.

New lot of 3-quart Fountain Syringes just received. Same old cheap price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds'.

Franklin's Memory in France.

A telegram from Paris says: The historical society at Passy on Sunday placed a tablet on the house which Benjamin Franklin occupied there in 1776. Two members of the society spoke on the subject of Franklin's stay in France. M. Faye, the distinguished astronomer and member of the French Institute, made an address, referring to Franklin's career as a scientist.

SOUTHSIDE.

Eugene Fancher says he is going to hire a mule soon and "raw-hide" him up to see his girl in Saginaw.

Long walks are the style now, when accompanied by your best girl especially.

Potts and "Deril" had an egg eating contest a few nights since. Potts ate three dozen, Deril three and a half.

One of our young men was heard to say that girls who are so unfortunate as to have large feet could not capture his heart. Expect he had better go to China, where small feet are stylish. No chance for him in this country.

"Grandpa" and "Whiskers" were strictly in it Sunday night. Say, boys, how about letting your old partner accompany you some time? He is ugly enough not to cause jealousy.

One of our young men who has been conceited enough to imagine himself good looking, received a request for his photo last week to put in a cellar to scare rats off the premises.

Say, girls, don't answer any matrimonial advertisements. Nine times out of ten they will prove to be "sucker bait."

The funny editor of the News, who now resides in Blocton, was circulating among his many friends here Sunday.

"Fools are not all dead yet," so said the Ashby correspondent. Lookout, brother, or sister, whichever you may be, April 1st will soon roll around. Perhaps your friends are now preparing you a soaker to send on that day.

Must bid you farewell. If I don't go crazy may send some more sometime in the future. Killdee.

ASHBY ITEMS.

Dr. Gratton B. Crow, of Marion, visited here this week, the guest of Mr. J. G. Oakley.

Mr. J. Elliott, of Dogwood, spent Saturday and Sunday here with relatives.

Mrs. Jane Spinks, of Randolph, spent last week here with her daughter, Mrs. Joe Whatley.

Miss Zula Burk left Sunday for Dogwood, where she will spend some time with relatives and friends.

The many friends of Dr. M. C. Thomas welcome him home from New Orleans, where he has been attending the medical college.

Mrs. Bill Oakley and interesting daughter, Miss Lily, visited relatives in Chilton Sunday.

Mr. Charles Milam, of Blocton, spent a part of last week here with his aunt, Mrs. B. J. Large.

Miss Alma Burk opened school at British Monday. Miss Alma is fully competent for the position and we predict for her success.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Campbell and Master Howard, spent Sunday last with her sister, Mrs. Frank Mulkey, near Chilton.

Messrs. Will Battle, Dock Belcher and Charles Gentry made a flying trip to Birmingham Junction Sunday evening, only to ride up and walk back. We know of no other reason.

If we hear aright not only one boy's latitude is diminished to a great extent. Sunday night, not long since, a young man was mistaken by several for a ghost, but it was only his guitar. He was returning home after an extended visit in our city.

"From out the gloom" is Mr. E. H. since his best girl is able to be abroad.

Success to Montevallo and all of its interests. Reporter.

PICKINGS FROM GURNEE.

The mines will soon be in operation, as nearly all the water has been pumped out. There will then be work at Gurnee for about 300 men.

Captain J. G, Moore, superintendent at Blocton, for the T. C. I. & R. R. Co., was in our city a few days since looking after the interest of said company.

J. S. Morgan, of Blocton, passed though the city Sunday.

Miss Mattie Acker, of Belle Ellen, is visiting the family of Rev. N. Hudgins.

Miss Maggie Hodgens, one of Gurnee's fairest maids, spent part of last week visiting friends in Birmingham.

S. S. Allen, of Blocton, passed through the city Sunday on his way to Montevallo.

Mr. M. Durby, of Belle Ellen, called to see his best girl Sunday.

Robert L. Rice spent Sunday with home folks in Bismarck.

Gurnee can boast of having some of the prettiest girls of any place in the state of its size.

Our popular agent says he is a candidate for matrimonial honors. We predict that he will be elected without doubt.

Mr. W. R. Anderson, of Imogene, made us a pleasant call a few days since.

J. S. L—— says that Gurnee is the town. S. S, is all smiles these days.

D. L. says he has permission to call on his girl three times a week. He must mean business.

Your correspondent would be glad to have the editors of the News come out and take in the city and have a fish on the river. Success to the News. Big Joe.

Burned by Boiling Tar.

Five workmen employed by the Standard Oil company at Bayonne, N. J., were severely burned Sunday by the overflow of boiling tar from one of the big tanks at the company's yards.

If you do not let your light shine, how many people will have to stay in the dark?

SPAIN STILL SPLUTTERING.

Infanta Eulalie Prays That Cordi Relations May Never Cease.

DEMONSTRATION OF HOSTILITIES.

Spanish Statesmen Agree That They Are Entering Upon a Decisive Stage in Their Relations With America, and That Serious Consequences May Follow.

The New York World on Sunday last published the following dispatch from Infanta Eulalie of Spain:

"Sweet remembrance of the affectionate reception given to me by the people of the United States, when I went to their country representing my own, at the festivities in honor of Columbus, lives and ever will live in my heart.

"During those festivities strong proofs of mutual esteem were given by both countries.

"I became convinced, and still am persuaded, that never, never should that traditional friendship be broken, much less should peace be disturbed.

"Being apart from the affairs of the state, I can only pray God fervently that cordial relations between the two countries may never cease.

"Eulalie."

The Madrid correspondent of the London Standard, noting the fact that the utmost energy of the authorities fails to prevent demonstrations of hostility towards the United States, says the press everywhere deprecates premature ebullitions, but plainly expresses the opinion that these impulses may soon be needed for energetic action, as Spain will sooner confront any contingencies, however dangerous, than stoop to insult.

"Senores Sagasta, Maret, Castilar, Canovas and other leading statesmen all agree that they are entering upon a decisive stage in their relations with America, and that recognition of the rebels will have most serious consequences.

"Ton thousand persons engaged at Valencia in a demonstration organized and led by well-known republicans They made a noisy display before the French consulate and public buildings before going to the American consulate, when the civil guard opposed itself. Shots were heard and the guards responded with their carbines and charged repeatedly before the dispersed mob.

"The affair has caused great alarm.

"The police also dispersed an imposing gathering at Saragossa."

Valencia was again in a turbulent state Sunday over the conditions of relations between Spain and the United States. A mob gathered and was proceeding toward the American consulate with the intention of causing a disturbance there, but a force of police and gendarmes opposed their passage through the streets. A desperate struggle ensued and several persons were wounded, including a gendarme.

The mob succeeded in entering the plaza de Toros by destroying the gates leading to the bull ring. They then held a meeting in the arena. A state of seige was proclaimed.

Several foreign military officers, including some Englishmen, have offered their services to the Spanish minister of war, Senor Marcelo de Azcarraga, in the event of war between Spain and America. The official belief, however, is expressed that no conflict will occur.

Many wealthy Spaniards are offering money to the government. Several towns have sent messages offering goods and the lives of their citizens in the defense of the country. The ship owners of Seville have offered to place fifty steamers at the disposal of the government. In the Basque province a subscription has been opened to present a war ship to the government.

The United States minister, Mr. Taylor, has refused the resignations of Spaniards acting as United States consuls when they were written in Spanish on the ground that the language is not the official language of the United States.

MISS BARTON'S MISSION.

She Says the Distress and Suffering is Enormous.

A letter just received by a member of the American National Red Cross from Miss Clara Barton, dated Para, Constantinople, February 19, tells of the journey of the Red Cross party which sailed on January 22, and also contains the following:

"Not only was the fullest permission given by the sublime porte for entrance into Armenia, but an active and generous effort was displayed toward making our journey safe and pleasant. Mr. Terrell was very much gratified and seems very happy over our success, to which the state department and he contributed so largely.

"As soon as an outfit can be made and passage secured our men will start for the desolate regions. It will be cold and terribly hard for them, but that is what they came for. I have met several of the leading missionaries and other American gentlemen here. It is hoped that the massacres are over, but it is of course uncertain. The general feeling is that Russia has said 'Enough.'

"The distress and suffering through want and sickness is enormous and terrible."

Call for Reinforcements.

General Baldissera, the newly appointed commander-in-chief of the Italian forces in Abyssinia, has asked the government to send to Africa at once additional artillery, men and munitions of war. He also reports of the 18,000 men who were missing after the battle fought at Adowa last Sunday, 7,000 have returned to the Italian camp, and others are arriving daily. It is reported that King Humbert will authorize Marquis di Rudini to form a cabinet.

Burned by Boiling Tar.

Five workmen employed by the Standard Oil company at Bayonne, N. J., were severely burned Sunday by the overflow of boiling tar from one of the big tanks at the company's yards

ITALIANS SUFFER DEFEAT.

Loss Reported From 3,000 to 10,000, Including 200 Officers.

A battle was fought on Sunday, March 1, between the Italian army under General Barateri and the Abyssinian forces, in which the Italians were routed with great slaughter. It seems that in the morning the Italian forces, comprising four brigades with one in reserve, occupied two ridges near Adowa. One brigade (Alberton's) was thrown forward and advanced too far. It was attacked by overwhelming numbers and driven back in such confusion that the supporting artillery could not be brought into action. In the effort to relieve this brigade all the Italian forces became engaged, fighting desperately. Gen. Dabormida's brigade was cut off. He fought his way through the Abyssinian lines, and, with a remnant of his battalions, rejoined the Italians. Fighting at great disadvantage from tha first, and assailed by vastly superior numbers, the Italians at length retreated, and it appears that the retreat had much of the character of a rout. Among the killed were General Alberton and Colonel Galliamo. General Arimandi was seriously wounded. It was stated that of 247 officers engaged, only 40 answered to roll call after ohe battle. Reports as to the losses vary from 3,000 to 10,000, killed wounded and missing. But as numqers of the missiug returned to the lines after the first reports were sent out, it is probable that the losses will not exceed 5,000. The Italians retreated toward Assemira.

Green Goods Men Entrapped.

An important capture of green goods men was made Friday by the postoffice inspectors of Chicago in conjunction with Deputy Marshals Thomas P. Gray and W. A. Richards, of Des Moines, Ia. The captured men are Charles Hurd, alias Vogel; J. R. Gray, alias Vogel, Jr., and Frank Smith. The capture was made at the Hotel Delaware, on Cottage Grove avenue, near Sixty-third street, and was the result of an appointment growing out of an extensive correspondence and repeated interviews. The seizure was very dramatic, weapons being freely displayed n both sides, and the guests of the ho el were thrown into a panic. A satch containing $25,000 in good money which was found in the possession of the prisoners, was taken in charge by the officers.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

Miss Nona Wells, one of Faunsdale's most affable young ladies, is spending a few weeks with relatives and friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Tyler, of Maccalla, Ala., spent last week here with relatives.

Miss Zula Burke, one of Ashby's fair damsels, is spending the week here with relatives and friends.

Miss Lula Lucas, one of Maylene's most accomplished young ladies, is visiting here this week.

Dr. R. C. Jones, of Birmingham, spent Saturday and Sunday with us.

Thea Elliott visited relatives at Ashby Saturday and Sunday.

B. Y. H.

The following were registered at the Central this week: J C McFee, Chicago, Ill; J M Walker, Atlanta, Ga; R F Asledge, Charlotte, N C; A W Beck, Birmingham, Ala; J R Semple, Winston, N C; A C Harper, Baltimore; M M Lehmon, Selma; J R Campbell, Birmingham; John S Ford, Selma; J R Colvin, Birmingham; C W Calton, Birmingham; J T Leonard, Birmingham; R C Fairbaw, Ladoga, Wis; Albert Thalhammer, Selma; C Senoir. Selma; Miss May Hay Harris, Cedardale Ala; J S Perkins, Cincinnati; Ivins, Winston, N C.

Court House Cremated.

The county court house at Wayne, W. Va., was burned, entailing a loss of probably more than $50,000. All the records were saved. The building was fully insured.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, }
Shelby County. }

Under and by virture of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will procced to sell on Monday, the 24th day of Febrnary, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corner of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff,
tf Shelby County, Alabama.

Continued to March 23, 1896.

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.

H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Store!!!

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE.

The State of Alabama, }
Shelby County. }

Probate Court for Shelby County, Alabama.—Letters of administration upon the estate of J. S. Davis, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 3d day of February, 1896, by the Hon. D. R. McMillan, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

F. E. Davis and
A. E. Davis,
Administrators.

J. B. Lewis Co. WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear,
Style,
Ease,
Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon,

Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

PATIENCE is always a step toward godliness.

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT. LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

Let the Earth Rejoice and farmers sing. With our new hardy grasses, clovers and fodder plants the poorest, most worn out, toughest, worst piece of land can be made as fertile as the valley of the Nile. Only takes a year or so to do so! At the same time you will be getting big crops! Teosinte, Giant Spurry, Sacaline, Lathyrus, what a variety of names! Catalogue tells you!

IF YOU WILL CUT THIS OUT AND SEND it to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., with 10c. postage, you will get free their mammoth catalogue and ten grass and grain and fodder samples (worth $1 to get a start.) (A. C.)

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars f r any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials free. Address

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

An Atlanta Banker has Words of Praise for a Home Institution.

Mr. Chas. E. Currier, of the Atlanta National Bank, is very careful with his words, not only in financiering, but in his conversation generally. Like the rest of us, he is sick sometimes; but, unlike many of us, he knows how to get well.

"I have used Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy in attacks of acute indigestion, and have always found it to give instantaneous relief. I consider it a medicine of high merit."

Price per bottle, 50 cents. For sale by all druggists.

WRENN, GA.

J. T. SHUPTRINE.

Sir:—"Having obtained a box of your TETTERINE of Hunter & Wright, of Louisville, Ga., which I used on a case of itching piles of five years' standing. I spent $50 for different kinds of remedies and the skill of doctors, all for no good, until I got the TETTERINE. I am now well. Accept thanks." Yours,

W. R. KING.

By mail for 50c. in stamps.

Man can live by bread alone if a little of the milk of human kindness goes with it.

A COUGH SHOULD NOT BE NEGLECTED. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are a simple remedy and give immediate relief. Avoid imitations.

Many experiment in vice just from curiosity or because they get tired of being good.

If you are doubtful as to the use of Dobbins' Electric Soap, and cannot accept the experience of millions who use it, after the 31 years it has been on the market, one trial will convince you. Ask your grocer for it. Take no imitation.

Some folks are so full of human nature that there is no room left in them for principle.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Everyone Knows How it Is to suffer with corns, and they are not conducive to walking; remove them with Hindercorns

---

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflamation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

---

Piso's Cure is a wonderful Cough medicine. —MRS. W. PICKERT Van Siclen and Blake Avenues, Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 26, 1894.

Many Influences Combine to Reduce Health to the danger limit. The reviving properties of Parker's Ginger Tonic overcome these ills.

Spring Medicine

Your blood in Spring is almost certain to be full of impurities—the accumulation of the winter months. Bad ventilation of sleeping rooms, impure air in dwellings, factories and shops, overeating, heavy, improper foods, failure of the kidneys and liver properly to do extra work thus thrust upon them, are the prime causes of this condition. It is of the utmost importance that you

Purify Your Blood

Now, as when warmer weather comes and the tonic effect of cold bracing air is gone, your weak, thin, impure blood will not furnish necessary strength. That tired feeling, loss of appetite, will open the way for serious disease, ruined health, or breaking out of humors and impurities. To make pure, rich, red blood Hood's Sarsaparilla stands unequalled. Thousands testify to its merits. Millions take it as their Spring Medicine. Get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1 Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

DROPSY Treated free. Positively CURED with Vegetable Remedies. Have cured many thousand cases pronounced hopeless. From first dose symptoms rapidly disappear, and in ten days at least two-thirds of all symptoms are removed. BOOK of testimonials of miraculous cures sent FREE. TEN DAYS TREATMENT FURNISHED FREE by mail DR. H. H. GREEN & SONS, Specialists, Atlanta, Ga.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS. but sell direct to the consumer at wholesale prices. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Write for catalogue.

ELKHART Carriage & Harness Mfg Co. Elkhart, Ind.

W. B. PRATT, Secy

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

Am. N. U. No. 11, 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

REMEDY FOR WIRE WORMS.

These injurious creatures will not be hurt by any amount of wood ashes. The best thing to be done—if it is possible—is to get a quantity of gas lime from a gas works and apply twenty bushels to the acre on the land as soon as plowed, and leave it fallow for a summer, plowing and crows plowing it several times. This will both smother and starve the wire worms. —American Farmer.

SELECTING SEED CORN.

A great many farmers who regard themselves as quite careful in the selection of seed content themselves with making the selection at husking time or from the crib, being guided by the appearance of the ear. This is not sufficient, however, to secure the best results. Professor H. J. Waters, Dean of the Missouri Agricultural College, narrates a direct experiment on this point. The field was gone through and fine ears were selected from the large, thrifty stalks having an abundant leaf growth. Another lot of ears, equal in size, was gathered from stalks smaller and less thrifty. After the seed had been gathered, the one lot could not be distinguished from the other so far as the appearance of the ears went. The only difference was in the kind of stalk that produced the ears. A field was planted with these two lots of seed. All through the season that portion which had been grown from seed taken from the thrifty stalks could be distinguished from the planting made from the seed taken from the less thrifty stalks. At harvest time the difference in favor of the seed from the large, thrifty stalks with plenty of leaf growth was seven bushels per acre, and Professor Waters thinks that if this process of selection was carried on for a series of years a variety of corn could be considerably improved on the one hand, or almost entirely run out on the other. It follows, therefore, that the selection of seed ears from the same crib, being guided by size and general appearance of the ear simply, is not sufficient, and that it is quite as important to know the kind of stalk that produced the seed ear as it is to know that the ear itself has the size, form, etc., which suit the purposes of the farmer.—Western Farm Journal.

NO MISTAKE IN PLANTING FRUIT TREES.

The fact is we expect too much from old orchards. They have already paid for themselves, many times over, and have outlived their usefulness. Still they are permitted to occupy valuable ground, and besides yielding nothing, are an eyesore, greatly detracting from the natural beauty of a place. During the winter months these uninteresting and unprofitable objects should be removed and cut up into firewood. In spring, new orchards should be planted on well-prepared ground, under-drained and subsoiled. Notwithstanding the prevailing low prices, no mistake can be made in planting fruit trees. The rich lands which are at our disposal, and the remarkably favorable climate which we are blessed with should be taken advantage of. There is a question as to the advisability of spending labor and money on some kinds of crops, but the fruit-grower can, if he will, continue to make an honest and good living at this pursuit for years to come.

The trees we plant live to bless the world and enrich the inheritance of our children long after we are laid beneath them; and with the return of each successive season, to shed their fragrance on the air and crown with golden fruits the harvest of the year.

I have the pleasure and gratification of stating that the insect pests and fungous diseases which a few years ago threatened the entire destruction of orchards and vineyards, have been so controlled by remedies and preventatives that no great injury need be feared in the future, so long as ordinary care and diligence are exercised by the orchardist. It is true that the beneficial effects resulting from spraying cannot be fully estimated until the treatment is more general, yet enough has been learned to satisfy the most incredulous that spraying is a success, if not an absolute necessity. Through the efforts of the Department of Agriculture great progress has been made in California in checking the ravages of injurious insects by introducing parasites, and the result is so satisfactory that the fruit-growers there believe it to be possible to overcome every insect pest by means of its natural parasite.—President W. C. Barry, before the Western New York Horticultural Society.

WINTER PROTECTION OF LIVE STOCK.

A common winter sight is a herd of cattle exposed to severest kind of weather browsing in cornfields or standing humped up in chilling winds.

Food is fuel to the animal body. It requires more fuel to keep up steam in a boiler, when the weather is intensely cold, than it does when it is mild. In the same manner, other things being equal, it requires more food to sustain an animal freely exposed to the chilling blasts of winter, than it does for one given protection.

In experiments conducted at the Indiana Agricultural Experiment Station, milch cows exposed to all sorts of weather in winter, but provided with night shelter, made a very unfavorable showing as compared with those given the shelter of the stable, excepting for a brief airing when the weather was suitable. The exposed cows ate the most food, lost slightly weight and also in milk yield. The sheltered ones gained in weight and otherwise made a better showing than the exposed lot.

At the Kansas Experiment Station hogs kept in conditions of winter exposure did not produce pork so economically as those given reasonable shelter, although the same kind of food was fed to each lot. In reporting the feeding experiments with steers at the same station, Professor Georgeson says that steers to give the best returns when being fed for beef should be provided with shelter. Warm, low, open sheds in the feed lot give comfortable shelter to steers.

While live stock should be protected from the inclemency of the weather, it is important that the stable should be well ventilated and not too warm. Disease propagates easiest where the air is stagnant and impure, hence special efforts should be made to keep the stable air pure. Without doubt, tuberculosis is more prevalent among cattle closely confined in stables where the ventilation is bad than it is where the air is good. Live stock should certainly be allowed outdoor exercise when the weather is mild and comfortable, but if it snows or rains and the air is chilling, the animals should be given stable protection.

It is also important that the stable should not be too warm in winter. A temperature of 40 degrees is a very satisfactory one. When it is as high as 60 degrees in the barn, stock turned from this into a freezing atmosphere to water are very apt to be severely chilled and take cold. When the stable is at 40 degrees animals are not so easily chilled when turned from the stable. Every stable should have a thermometer to guide one in keeping the temperature of the room as uniform as possible.—C. S. Plumb, Director of the Indiana Experiment Station.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

He who would enjoy the fruit must plant the tree.

Berries cannot be grown and marketed as easily as wheat, corn and potatoes.

The growers of berries for market should realize that ordinary farm methods are not sufficient.

Berry growing, like market gardening, requires the greatest concentration of good soil, labor and thought.

The way to get peaches is to plant peach pits and keep planting. Seedling peaches can be grown in sheltered places on almost any farm.

Every farmer who has an orchard of any size should also own a small hand press. It will save a trip to the large press quite frequently, save cash and enable the owner to work up the crop at odd times.

Straining the cream just before churning should be regarded as a necessary precaution, for if there is any dirt in cream it will become incorporated with the butter instead of passing off in the buttermilk.

Cows must have exercise in winter. The habit of keeping milch cows tied up all the time, even watering them in their stalls, together with bad air and lack of sunshine, is responsible for much tuberculosis.

More bees are being lost on account of bad food, or none at all, than from all other causes combined, especially in winter; for there is no factor so important as the matter of food, and it is one often neglected.

A little attention each year greatly improves the appearance of the orchard, and the work can be done with a greater economy in this way than by permitting it to accumulate for several years and then doing it all at once.

What farmers are looking for to-day is something that will yield an income outside of their farms. Bees would make quite an addition to the income of the farmer, and this would be received from what is going to waste every year.

At a dairy in Berlin, famous for the purity of its milk, the milk is strained through a wire sieve with a cloth, on which rests a deep layer of fine sand. Before the sieve is again used, the sand is put in a hot oven to destroy any possible germs.

A little common soda should be added to the skim milk before feeding the calves. It is claimed that soda prevents the formation of the rubber-like curd in the stomach that is so often found on examination of calves that have died of the dreaded calf disease.

A possible way to test butter is to get a clean piece of white paper, smear it with the suspected article and set it on fire. If the butter is good, the smell of the burning will be decidedly pleasant; but if there is artificial animal fat in the composition, there is no mistake in the tallowy odor.

It is always advisable to make a change of feed occasionally for the cow in winter. It gives her increased appetite. If you feed twice a day, stop it; but if you house your cows on stormy days, in place of letting them run in a stalk field, then give something to eat at noon. Above all be regular in feeding.

Trolley Cars and Pills.

From the Evening News, Newark, N. J.

Mrs. Anna Burns, of 338 Plane Street, Newark, N. J., is a decidedly pretty brunette, twenty-six years old, tall, and a pleasant conversationalist. On the ground floor of her residence she conducts a well-ordered candy store. When our reporter visited her store, she in response to a question told him a very interesting story.

"Until about two months ago," she began, "I enjoyed the very best of health and could work night and day if necessary. Suddenly, and without any apparent cause, I began to suffer from intense pains in my head, in my limbs and temples. Almost distracted with this seemingly never ending pain, I tried cure after cure, prescription after prescription and almost a gallon of medicine of all kinds. Nothing did me any good. In fact I became worse. The knuckles of my hands soon became cramped and the pain in my hips became more and more distressing each day. Business in the store had to be attended to, however, and so I was obliged, suffering as I was, to keep more or less on my feet and occasionally I was forced to go out. This was the ordeal I dreaded. Each time I went out I trembled when I came near the car tracks for my pain at times was so severe that I was obliged to stand perfectly still no matter where I was. On one occasion I was seized in this way while I was crossing the tracks on Market Street and there I stood perfectly rigid, unable to move hand or foot while a trolley car came thundering along. Fortunately it was stopped before it struck me, but the dread of it all lasted as long as my pain, for I never knew when crossing the tracks, whether I would not drop to the ground in my agony and be crushed to death. My anxiety to get well grew apace and I had about given up in despair when I saw in the Evening News one day, an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Here was something I hadn't tried before and I lost no time in getting to the nearest drug store. There I paid fifty cents for a box of these truly wonderful, health restoring pills. Before I had finished taking half of the pills I began to feel relieved; the pains in my hips gradually disappeared and for the first time in many days I felt as if there was some hope. I continued to take the pills and the more I took, the better I felt. I finished one box, got another and now having taken only a few of the second fifty cents' worth, I am free from all pain and as happy as the day is long. Since I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I have gained thirty pounds and now when I cross the car tracks I don't care if there is a dozen vehicles nearby. It is a great relief, I assure you, and suffering humanity has a never failing friend in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I know what I am talking about. I speak from experience."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental, worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR

W. L. DOUGLAS $3. SHOE BEST IN THE WORLD.

If you pay $4 to $6 for shoes, examine the W. L. Douglas Shoe, and see what a good shoe you can buy for $3.

OVER 100 STYLES AND WIDTHS, CONGRESS, BUTTON, and LACE, made in all kinds of the best selected leather by skilled workmen. We make and sell more $3 Shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.

None genuine unless name and price is stamped on the bottom.

Ask your dealer for our $5, $4, $3.50, $2.50, $2.25 Shoes; $2.50, $2 and $1.75 for boys.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE. If your dealer cannot supply you, send to factory, enclosing price and 36 cents to pay carriage. State kind, style of toe (cap or plain), size and width. Our Custom Dept. will fill your order. Send for new Illustrated Catalogue to Box R.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

THE DOWN-HILL ROAD!

Once give a disease a start, and the road from health to sickness is smooth, and declines rapidly. Sometimes just a little irregularity, just a little drain, just a faint "bearing down" feeling, indicates the existence of a disorder that nearly always leads to the most serious consequences.

There are very few women in perfect health. Nearly always there is some weakness in the female organs. Neglect of these little things is sure to push the sufferer further down the hill to disease. Put a stop to them.

McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI

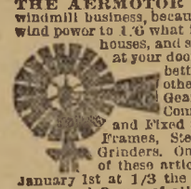
will quickly stop and cure all displacements and drains the weaknesses peculiar to women. It cures by building up the whole system. Disease can't exist in a strong, healthy body.

Wine of Cardui enables women to cure themselves. It enables them to keep secrets from the doctor that he must know if she goes to him for help.

One Dollar a Bottle.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

THE AERMOTOR CO. does half the world's windmill business, because it has reduced the cost of wind power to 1/6 what it was. It has many branch houses, and supplies its goods and repairs at your door. It can and does furnish a better article for less money than others. It makes Pumping and Geared, Steel, Galvanized-after-Completion Windmills, Tilting and Fixed Steel Towers, Steel Buzz Saw Frames, Steel Feed Cutters and Feed Grinders. On application it will name one of these articles that it will furnish until January 1st at 1/3 the usual price. It also makes Tanks and Pumps of all kinds. Send for catalogue. Factory: 12th, Rockwell and Fillmore Streets, Chicago.



Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Successful

growers of fruits, berries, and all kinds of vegetables, know that the largest yields and best quality are produced by the liberal use of fertilizers containing at least 10% of

Actual Potash.

Without the liberal use of Potash on sandy soils, it is impossible to grow fruits, berries and vegetables of a quality that will command the best prices.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS, 93 Nassau St., New York.

Manufacturers —OF— Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting —AND— Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.

OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.

Write for Prices. Address,

Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co., BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

In writing please mention this paper.

Better use them this way,

if you don't use Pearline. Give your tired arms and aching back a rest, somehow, when you're scrubbing and cleaning.

"An absurd idea?" Of course. But when a person has cleaned house with Pearline, year in and year out, and knows how much work it saves, and time, and rubbing, nothing seems more absurd than to try to clean house without it. Pearline—no soap with it—just Pearline—makes house-cleaning easy.

Millions NOW USE Pearline

$1,500 for 50 Cents

—AND—

Weekly Commercial Appeal 12 Months.

YOU STAND AN EQUAL CHANCE WITH ANY ONE TO GET IT.

In order to secure 100,000 subscribers the following offer is made: To the subscriber first guessing the correct or nearest number of bales of cotton received in Memphis, Tenn., from September 1, 1895, to May 15, 1896, inclusive, as follows: If correct or nearest to the correct guess is received on or before March 31, 1896, it GETS IN CASH $1,500, but if not till April only $500 cash. The contest closes April 30, 1896.

Receipts in former years were as follows: Up to May 15, 1892, 745,538 bales; to May 15, 1893, 410,585 bales; to May 15, 1894, 474,351 bales; up to May 15, 1895, 581,181 bales. Number of bales already received in Memphis from Sept. 1, 1895, to March 3, 1896, is 389,812.

Features of the Weekly:

Condensed News of the Week; The Week's Doings in Congress; General News of the Whole World; The Farm, Garden and Live Stock; A Corner for the Young Folks; The Latest Market Reports; Dr. Talmage's Sunday Sermons; Political Gossip; Items of Interest; Hints to the Housekeeper; The Letter Box; Asked and Answered; Veterinary Department; Religious News; The Friendly Circle; diversified matter on diversified subjects.

A prominent feature being timely editorials on current topics reproduced from the daily edition, and for DEMOCRACY and FREE SILVER.

SPECIAL—Weekly Commercial Appeal and Atlanta Weekly Constitution 12 months each for only $1.25, allowing guess on Commercial Appeal cotton guessing contest, also Constitution cotton guessing contest.

Other papers The Commercial Appeal clubs with:

Commercial Appeal and Home and Farm, Louisville, 12 months..... 80c
Commercial Appeal and Washington Weekly Post, 12 months 80c
Commercial Appeal and Weekly Courier-Journal, 12 months $1 00
Commercial Appeal and Semi-Weekly Republic, St. Louis, 12 months.. 1 25
Commercial Appeal and Texas Siftings (weekly, New York) 12 mos... 1 50

One guess allowed with each subscription for Weekly Commercial Appeal in above clubbing offers.

For a club of 10 yearly subscriptions at 50 cents each we will send a nickel openface watch, guaranteed to keep time 3 years. For a club of 20 at 50c each a 22-caliber Rifle. For a club of 15 at 50c each a fine $7 Parlor Lamp. For a club of 30 at 50c each a $10 single-barrel breech-loading Shotgun. For a club of 40 at 50c each a $16 double-barrel breech-loading Shotgun. For a club of 40 at 50c each we will send a lady's gold-filled case Watch, guaranteed for 5 years. Also gent's gold-filled Watch for 40 subscriptions. For a club of 60 at 50c each we will send a $40 Sewing Machine, latest improved. $1,180 in CASH AND VALUABLE GIFTS GIVEN TO AGENTS. Send for sample copies and terms. 50 cents must accompany every guess for 12 months' subscription. Both subscription and guess must be sent in same letter. Sample copies free.

Remit only by Registered Letter or Money Order.

Address all letters to The Commercial Appeal, Memphis, Tenn.

Shooting Pains in any part of the body are usually caused by Neuralgia, which in turn is caused by a low state of the blood. Purify the blood and the pains cease. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS purifies the blood.

BROWN CHEMICAL CO., Baltimore, Md.

ALABASTINE.

IT WON'T RUB OFF.

Wall Paper is Unsanitary.

Kalsomine is temporary, rots, rubs off and Scales.

ALABASTINE forms a pure and permanent coating and does not require to be taken off to renew from time to time. Is a dry powder. The latest make being adapted to mix, ready for use, with Cold Water. Can be easily brushed on by any one. Made in white and twelve fashionable tints. ALABASTINE is adapted to all styles of plain and relief decorating.

ASK YOUR PAINT DEALER FOR CARD OF TINTS.

If not for sale in your town, write us for name of nearest dealer.

THE DOCTOR—"One layer of paper is bad enough, you have three here. Baby may recover but cannot thrive."

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY ALABASTINE CO., GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

ASTHMA

POPHAM'S ASTHMA SPECIFIC

Gives relief in FIVE minutes. Send for a FREE trial package. Sold by Druggists. One Box sent postpaid on receipt of $1.00. Six boxes $5.00. Address THOS. POPHAM, PHILA., PA.

$3 A DAY SURE. and we will show you how to make $3 a day; absolutely sure; we furnish the work and teach you free, you work in the locality where you live; send us your address and we will explain the business fully; remember we guarantee a clear profit of $3 for every day's work; absolutely sure; write at once. Box 15, DETROIT, MICHIGAN.

PAYING POSITIONS

GUARANTEED IN WRITING. Students' complete course in HALF the TIME at HALF the EXPENSE of other colleges. 24 placed last month. Address at once GEORGIA BUS. COLLEGE, Macon, Ga.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

---

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. I, MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1896. NO. 50.

A Song of Seasons.

There's joy, my dear, in the youth o' the year,
When the hearts o' the bright buds break;
And the skies are blue as the eyes o' you,
And the blooms blow over the lake.
There's joy, my dear, for the world is fair,
And love is the sweetest blossom there.

There's joy, my dear, in the noon o' the year,
When the harvest hints o' gold:
And the soft sun streams with its gleams and dreams
On your beautiful hair unrolled.
There's joy, my dear, for the world is fair,
And love is the blossom that's brightest there.

There's joy, my dear, in the gray o' the year,
When the snows are drifting white;
And the cold winds cry to the starless sky.
And the last rose weeps: "Good-night!"
There's joy, my dear, for the world is fair,
While your love like a lily is blooming there.

—Frank L. Stanton.

THE WRONG MAN.

"Ah," said old Mrs. Prodgitt, "things have changed since my day! When I was a girl, folks used to stay at home and help their mothers do the housework, and piece bed-quilts, and embroider lace veils, instead of running about in all the dirty streets and narrow lanes in creation!"

Mrs. Prodgitt did not take kindly to modern civilization.

She had come up from Owl Brook to visit her cousin Mary Ann, who had married Ebenezer Hardy a quarter of a century ago, and settled down in New York; and, as she expressed herself, "things seemed to be all turned topsy-turvy."

"But, Cousin Prodgy," said saucy Hattie Hardy, who was equipping herself with basket, bag, parasol and waterproof cloak, "it is a work of mercy and charity that we are engaged in."

"Nonsense!" irratably cried Mrs. Prodgitt. "I think you've all gone crazy together! I'm surprised at you Mary Ann, to let the child go tramping all over the city by herself. In my day it wasn't considered respectable."

"You say, truly, that times have changed since then," mildly muttered Mrs Hardy, who was knitting fleecy, white wool by the fire. "Be sure, Hattie, that you come home early. The new minister is to be here to-night to tea, and Betsey can't be trusted with the new set of moss-rose china."

"I wonder what he is like?" said Hattie, as she tied the deep-blue strings of her hat into a coquetish bow under her round chin. "I do hope he's young and handsome."

"My dear!" remonstrated Mrs. Prodgitt.

"Of course," added Hattie, "we knew that old Mr. Puzzleton was a perfect saint; but one don't like saints with red noses and spectacles, and three layers of double chin!"

Mrs. Prodgitt looked as if she expected that Hattie would be struck by lightning on the spot for that heretical remark.

"Harriet!" was all that she could utter.

While Mrs. Hardy, more accustomed to the audacious speeches of her pretty daughter, went on, in her purring sing song tones:

"Don't forget that poor widow in Cob lane, Hattie. And if you go to Milo Reneau's, I think it would be well to speak a word in season to that great lazy son of his, who is always buying lottery tickets, and does nothing to support the old folks."

"Oh, yes. I'm glad you mentioned that," said Hattie, penceling an entry on a little tablet. "'Mem, to give Jonas Reneau a piece of my mind." Dear Mr. Puzzleton always said that that young man was a dreadful stumbling block."

"And I think," went on Mrs. Hardy, "that the Gray sisters can find work for Alice Jennings now, if she is unemployed.

"The—which?" asked Mrs. Prodgitt.

"The Gray sisters," explained Mrs. Hardy. "One of our church organizations."

Mrs. Prodgitt glared.

"Is there any end to the folly of nonsense of this generation?" she said.

"I suppose," laughed Hattie, "that in your days nobody ever went slumming?"

"Went where?" asked Mrs. Prodgitt.

"Slumming," distinctly repeated Hattie.

"She means visiting the poor and seeking out cases of destitution," explained Mrs. Hardy. "Hattie, my child, I do wish you wouldn't talk slang!"

Hattie disappeared with a little breeze of laughter, while Mrs. Prodgitt resettled her spectacles and uttered a deep groan.

"Mark my words, Mary Ann," said she, "that girl will come to no good end!"

"Hattie does not mean any harm, Cousin Prodgitt, mildly pleaded Mrs. Hardy, as she knitted on.

While Hattie, on her errand of mercy, went from house to house in the darkling lanes and crowded tenement districts, leaving an ounce of green tea here and a lecture there, a bottle of beef-wine-and-iron by a sick bed, a little rose-scented snuff in a poor old woman's hand, a picture book on the pillow of some little child, a wooden toy in the delighted grasp of a skeleton-like infant, a gentle admonition in the ear of a wilful factory girl, and a word of comfort to encourage a despairing widow.

She could be gay and flippant enough when "Cousin Prodgy" teased her, but here she seemed to have assumed a new personality of dignity and sweetness.

Old Milo Reneau's was the last house on her list. She glanced anxiously at her watch as she went in.

"Past five," she said to herself. "I must make haste or the dear little mammy will be fretting."

The dusk had already darkened the little room, where lay the patient old sufferer from rheumatism. It was always neat and clean there, but in Hattie's eyes it seemed more squalid and poverty-stricken than usual to-night. As she came around the corner of the door, she perceived a young man sitting at an uncovered pine table—a figure strongly silhouetted against the window.

"Ah!" said she, the spirit of righteous aspiration rising up in her heart, "so I've caught you at last in the very midst of your evil practices!"

The young man rose hurriedly to his feet.

"I beg your pardon—" he began, but the tide of Hattie's indignation was not thus easily stemmed.

"Don't beg my pardon," said she. "Beg the pardon of sosiety--of public opinion—of everything else which you are outraging by this shameful behavior of yours. Apparently you have neither pride nor self-respect left—now take my advice; turn over a new leaf. Give up your evil practices, and set yourself to earn a decent living. Look me in the eyes, young man!" she added severely. "Tell me if you are not ashamed of yourself!"

To all appearances, the culprit was stricken dumb. Involuntarily he raised a pair of clear, honest gray eyes to Hattie's face according to orders, but he did not speak a word, good, bad or indifferent.

"He's not bad looking," thought Hattie; "but I must not neglect the chance of making an impression. I am surprised at you!" she added aloud. "A great, able-bodied fellow like you settling down as a disreputable incubus on your friends and relatives. Don't you know that you are the talk of the neighborhood? Get up—go to work! Never let me see you idling here again! No; don't answer me. I never enter into argument with the people in my district. Logic is useless in a case like this."

She hurried to old Milo, who, being stone-deaf, looked smilingly on during this brief but energetic monologue, as if it had been a recitation from Shakespeare.

"Here's some extract of beef for you, Mr. Reneau!" she shouted in his ear; "and a tumbler of lemon jelly! I hope your lumbago is better. I'm sorry I can't stay a little longer to-day, but I'll come again very soon."

And nodding and smiling good-by to him, she bustled away.

She arrived none too soon on the domestic-tapis.

Betsey had already broken one of the moss-rose tea-cups, and spilled all the salad dressing, so that Hattie had to go to work to make more.

Cousin Prodgitt had lost her spectacles, and Mrs. Hardy could not find her best lace frill.

Consequently she was only half through arranging her hair when Mrs. Hardy called up the stair-case:

"Harriet! Harriet! Mr. Cray has come!"

She hurriedly coiled up the shining bronze locks and fastened them with a shell-pin, tied the Swiss muslin bow at her throat, and, catching up her pocket-handkerchief, ran down stairs.

Cousin Prodgitt was still adjusting her cap-strings, in her own room.

Miss Hardy had gone to see if the tea was properly steeping; and so our heroine walked directly into the presence of the Reverend Cecil Cray.

"I am Miss Hardy, said she. "I beg your pardon! but—"

Here she stopped, with the syllables of further speech fairly frozen on her tongue.

A cold chill crept through all her veins, and she recognized the curly, brown hair, the clear, honest eyes, the thick mustache.

But the Reverend Cecil was equal to the emergency.

"Don't beg my pardon!" said he, gravely, although there was a roguish sparkle in his eyes. Beg the pardon of society—of public opinion. "No, Miss Hardy," he cried, suddenly dropping his solemn mannerism—don't look so distressed! Of course it was a mistake. Don't I know perfectly well that it was."

"Oh, dear! oh, dear!" gasped Hattie. "I thought it was Gilbert Reneau, I never had seen him, you know, and it was so dark, and—and—"

"And so you scolded the wrong man," said Mr. Cray. Well, I'll pass the lecture on to the genuine offender at the very first opportunity, only I'm afraid I cannot emphasize it half so neatly as you did."

"Oh, don't!" said Hattie, piteously lifting her little hands. "Please don't!"

"No, I won't," said Mr. Cray, "We'll forget and forgive."

And when Cousin Prodgitt and Mrs. Hardy came in, Hattie and the young clergyman were earnestly discussing the rival merits of the geraniums on Mrs. Hardy's flower-stand.

Mrs. Prodgitt stayed until spring, and when she went back home she told her daughter that Hattie Hardy was engaged to a young minister.

"Or at least I suspicion she is," she added. "She won't own nothin' for sartin; but things ain't now as they used to be. Folks as was engaged to be married used to be proud of it. But Hattie's a queer girl. She hasn't been brought us as girls was brought up in my day."

Grant's Friendship For Mexico.

General Grant's strong convictions about Mexico were germinated from the impressions made upon him, when as a young officer, he served in this republic, says John Russell Young. One of his most intimate personal friends during his administration at Washington, was the Mexican minister there, Mr. Manuel Romero. Grant's whole aim in latter life seemed to be to compensate Mexico for the great wrong, which in his opinion, she had suffered at the hands of the United States, when a great and strong nation made a cruel war upon a nation far weaker than herself. And it was ever Grant's endeavor both as general of the forces and president of the republic, to make all possible atonement. He afterwardf called it "the most unholy war of modern times."

President Diaz was to him an ideal man. Often have I heard Grant talk of him. On one occasion of his returning to Washington he told me one day that he regarded Diaz as one of the most distinguished and able leaders in the world.

Grant was not a man given to enthusiasm. He was a quiet and unostentatious individual. "In my journey around the world I have," he said, "met many, indeed nearly all the rulers of the great countries of the earth. Yet, I must confess that General Diaz and the Mikado of Japan have interested me the most of all."

A Suggestion.

Uncle Sam (to Columbia)—Something must be done about this Venezuelan question. England insists on enlarging on its boundary, what shall we do and still avoid a war?

Columbia—Let both countries agree to make it a settlement for penniless English lords who marry rich American girls, we might save ourselves then.—To-Date.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

Boat building patents number over 1,216.

A fossil dragon fly 27 inches long, armed with big jaws and teeth, has been found in the coal measures of Allier, France.

The Chicago board of health is warning the people to boil their water before drinking, as their is a great deal of typhoid fever in the city.

There are six tunnels in the world which have a length exceeding 21,000 feet—St. Gothard, Mont Cenis, Hoosac, Severn, Nochistongs and Sutis.

A French inventor has devised an electrical microphone which, placed over a baby's cradle at night, will ring a distant bell and wake the nurse if it cries.

Experiments are being made in Orlando, Fla., in raising canaigre, a plant whose root is rich in tannic acid and will be useful as tanbark grows more scarce.

Salmon spawn from California, introduced into French rivers, have proved a great success. French fishermen are now taking salmon two or three feet long.

Governor Budd of California is an inventor as well as a statesman. He is at work upon a scheme by which he expects to get 12-horse power out of a gas engine weighing 1,800.

A new railroad headlight is called the strabismic, or cross-eyed. Two lamps are used, set at an angle toward each other, so that on curves either the one or other will always light the track ahead.

Professor Theophilus Robarts, of Perry county, Ind., professes to have discovered a method of trisecting the angle in simple plane geometry, and says that he will soon make the demonstration public.

A singular phenomenon appeared last winter on the frozen surface of Lake Neuchatel, in Switzerland. Professor Dufour, or Morges, describes this as consisting in the formation o cones of ice more than six feet high, each with a crater large enough to hold a man. No explanation is offered.

Tattooing is Popular.

"Do you meet tattooed men in your practice often?" a physician was asked.

"Frequently," he replied. "Only the other day a man who was remarkably decorated came to me to be treated. His right arm was encircled by a serpent in red, the head on his wrist and the tail on his shoulder; on the left arm was a crocodile, also in red. On his breast were three figures executing a dance. The work itself was well done, and the colors bright. He said it was done on the coast of Africa, and attended by great ceremonies, and he had become a great man in the tribe.

But such elaborate tattooing one seldom meets, and then only on sailors. Small designs are common."

'Ned" Thomas, who claims to be, the oldest tattooer in the city, said:

"I learned on board a man of war, and began business in this city in 1847, and have done it ever since. I find plenty of people who want to be tattooed. Not a great many sailors come to me, but lots of other people. I use simple designs. Masonic emblems are popular next come flags and shields. An Irishman will want, probably, a harp or perhaps an anchor. An Englishman, a ship or may be a crown. A butcher may want a pig's head or a chicken, and a baker sometimes a flour barrel or a loaf of bread. The Goddess of Liberty, sitting on an eagle's back and holding in her hands the nation shield and flags, is quite the rage.

"I charge by the piece," said Mr. Thomas. "For an anchor, eagle or crown, 25 cents; for a heart with hands clasped across it, from 75 cents to $1.25, according to the anount of fine work required. For the Goddese of Liberty, $2.50 to $3. For the two women I tattooed for Robinson I got $125 from each."—New York Press

Could Prove an Alibi.

"Oh! Miss Sharpley, you are so funny—I've laughed so much—indeed you make me right silly."

"I think the Lord did that for you, Mr. Blank," said she, in a commiserating way, "don't lay his work at my door."

Youthful Great Men.

It is undeniable that many of the greatest careers have been made by young men. Washington was but forty-three when he was called to the command of the American Revolutionary Army. Henry Clay was Speaker of the House of Representatives at thirty-four. Stephen A. Douglas was but thirty-nine when he first became a candidate for the Presidency. John Jay was Chief Justice of the United States at forty-five. James G. Blaine was only thirty-nine when he became Speaker of the House of Representatives. Alexander Hamilton took charge of the Treasury at thirty-two years of age. Martin Van Buren at thirty-six organized the famous Albany regency and was Governor of New York at forty. John C. Calhoun in his forty-second year was Vice-President of the United States. John C. Breckinridge of Kentucky was Vice-President at thirty-two and a candidate for the Presidency at thirty-five. George B. McClellan was only thirty-eight when nominated for the Presidency.

In military life especially young men have been most conspicuous. Gen. Grant was but forty years of age when he began winning a name for himself in our civil war, and was only forty three when the war closed. The great Napoleon was master of France and Europe before his thirtieth birthday. Alexander the Great had conquered the world and left it before he was thirty-three years old. Fremont, the "Pathfinder," had explored the Rocky Mountains before he was thirty, and was running for the Presidency at forty-three.

Columbus was in the thirties when he explained his ideas of the western passage and enlisted the Spanish sovereigns in the project that led to the discovery of America. Richard Cobden was but thirty-four when he founded the Anti-Corn Law League, which revolutionized the commercial policy of Great Britain. William Pitt, ranked by some historians as the greatest of modern British premiers, was practically ruler of England at twenty-four. The list of youthful great men might easily be extended.—Baltimore Sun.

A Town Without a Woman.

The little hamlet of Aliceton, Jefferson County, Wis., enjoys the distinction of being the only Wisconsin settlement of any size without a woman resident or inhabitant.

The village was platted a year ago, immediately settled, and named after Alice Aspinwall Metcalf, daughter of J. A. Aspinwall, one of the very first settlers of the country.

At present it has a "star route" mail service daily, a drygoods and grocery store, butter and cheese factory, blacksmith and repairing-shop, and a resident population of perhaps a hundred men. It is known as "the town without a woman."

The town is of historic interest because of its location within the limits of the ancient "canal strip" of 1840, a ten-mile wide track of land extending from Milwaukee to Rock River, in which the even sections of land were given to Wisconsin territory providing a canal was dug connecting Milwaukee and Rock rivers, for the convenience and necessities of commerce when Wisconsin had not a single railway.

In those days land purchasers in this "canal strip" paid $2,50 per acre for land in the odd sections, and $2,25 per acre for land in the even sections, purchasing the latter from the state.

There still reside near Aliceton two of these first settlers, J. K. Porter and wife, who in 1844 purchased eighty acres of their farm from the General Government, and pre-empted another adjoining eighty acres in the "canal strip" territorial lands—Chicago Tribune.

White Marechal Neil Roses.

For florists it will be of interest to learn that a German rose-grower, Franz Deegen, Jr., in Koestritz, has succeeded in developing white Marechal Neil roses and in such quantites that they will be sold wholesale to the trade this year. The new beauty is described as possessing extraordinary charm, and, outside of the difference in hue, all the distinguishing characteristics of the yellow Marechal Neil.—Chicago Record.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

One has only to die to be praised.

It is easier to blame than to be better.

It is not enough to arm; you must hit.

Handsome apples are sometimes sour.

Little and often make a heap in time.

Would you be strong, conquer yourself.

There is no good in preaching to the hungry.

Better free in a foreign land than a slave at home.

Speak little, speak truth; spend little, pay cash.

Idleness wastes a man as sensibly as industry improves him.

The men that hope little are the men that go on working.

The scenes of childhood are the memories of future years.

Everybody knows a good counsel except him that hath need of it.

Charity gives itself riches, but covetousness hoards itself poor.

A great part of our existence serves no other purpose than that of enabling us to enjoy the rest.

The application of common sense in matters of belief or business is always our best guide and monitor.

The idle should not be classed among the living; they are a sort of dead men that can't be buried.

Intelligence tests ignorance and wisdom tests follies. But who are the intelligent and who are the wise?

Don't covet the possessions of any man until you are willing to pay for them the price which he paid; then you will not need to covet them, for you can go and get them for yourself.

Cocaine on the Race Track.

Within a recent period cocaine has come into use on the race track, as a stimulant. Horses that are worn and exhausted, or are uncertain as to speed and endurance, are given ten to fifteen grains of cocaine by the needle under the skin at the time of starting, or a few moments before.

The effects are very prominent, and a veritable muscular delirium follows, in which the horse displays unusual speed, and often unexpectedly wins the race. This agitation continues, and the driver has difficulty in "slowing down" the horse after the race is over; not unfrequently the horse will go half round again before he can be stopped. The exhaustion which follows is not marked, except in the great thirst and loss of appetite. But good grooms give unusual attention to rubbing and bathing the legs in hot water and stimulants. The general effect on the horse is depression, from which he soons recovers, but it is found essential to give cocaine again to make sure of his speed. The action of cocaine grows more transient as the use increases, and when a long period of scoring follows before the race begins, drivers give a second dose secretly while in the saddle. Sometimes the horse becomes delirious and unmanageable, and leaves the track in a wild frenzy, often killing the driver, or he drops dead on the track from the cocaine, although the cause is unknown to any but the owner and driver. Some horses have been given as high as twenty grains at a time, but this is dangerous and only given to worn-out animals, who may by this means win a race. It appears that cocaine is only used in running races, and as a temporary stimulant for the time. It is claimed that the flashing eyes and trembling excitement of the horse is strong evidence of the use of cocaine.—Quarterly Journal of Inebriety.

Bad Outlook.

Citizen (to farmer)—How are things out your way?

Farmer (gloomily)—They couldn't be much wuss. My wife and three cows are down with pleuro-pneumonia. I refused a hundred dollars apiece for 'em last week.—View.

Knew Him Too Well.

Maples—The Count is deserving of great credit. Don't you think so?

Kiggs—I don't knew how deserving of it he is, but I know that he gets mighty little of it at our club.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS,)
L. N. BOWDON,) Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

A San Francisco woman is suing her sister for $250,000 for "services rendered" in promoting the successful marriage of the latter. In her bill of particulars the plaintiff specifies that she "interviewed" the prospective bridegroom in respect to the engagement between him and her sister, and "solicited him to keep, fulfil and perform said contract," and that the interview was had at her sister's request.

Although it is generally understood that the Russian government contemplates the introduction of the Gregorian calendar at the close of the century, it has not yet been decided whether the reform shall be effected suddenly and entirely or by a gradual process. The latter scheme consists in omitting the first twelve leap-years after 1900, and the change from the old style to the new would in this way cover a period of forty-eight years.

Andrew Carnegie has aroused British wrath by saying that it would pay England to burn up her railroad equipment and replace it with American models. Andrew is undoubtedly right if conveniences and comfort of travel are considered. "Every American who is not an Anglo-maniac that has ever tested their out-of-date traction and tramway equipment will heartily indorse Andrew," adds the Atlanta Constitution.

General Traveling Agent Stone, of the Georgia Southern Railroad, told a Georgia man recently that he had discovered an electrical process for converting wood into stone. He could, he said, petrify wood at a moment's notice, and he proposed to make a fortune by converting the plank walks common in Southern cities into stone pavements. He also said that there ought to be lots of money in turning frame buildings into stone houses. His statement was printed in some of the newspapers, and now Mr. Stone is kept busy telling his friends that he was only joking.

Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, in his address at Radcliffe College the other day, said: "One of the requirements for admission to college should be a physical examination, as it is at Amherst, and during the college course the girls should not be allowed to neglect gymnastic work, since regularity of exercise is of the greatest importance. But it is a mistake for women to think that they can keep up to the standard of work that men set for themselves. It is this disregard of their natural limitations which causes so many women to break down. Two very important results of a college training are the cultivation of the power of quick perception and the habit of using the English language carefully in everyday life. There should be a chair for daily English in every college. A most deplorable result of spending four years in college would be to lose all interest in the world outside of books, and to let dressing the mind keep you from giving care to dressing the body. May this never happen at Radcliffe."

Treasury officials were greatly surprised at the carelessness of many bond bidders, writes Walter Wellman, in the Chicago Times-Herald. In addition to the 4640 bids received there were several score of offerings which had to be thrown out because the men making them had neglected to sign their names or fill in the amount they were willing to take or the price they wished to bid. Most of these blunders were made by bankers and business men, and there were so many specimens that the Treasury officials who opened the bids were forced to wonder if their correspondents had not been laboring under some excitement when they filled out their blanks. One bidder, a Western banker, would be in a pretty fix if the Department were to accept his offer. He thought he was going to be smart and so started out to make his bid for a million read "at the lowest price offered." But by some curious mental lapse he wrote "highest" instead of "lowest," and a greatly surprised and embarrassed man he would be if Secretary Carlisle were to allot him his million at 150.

THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL LAND GRANT.

The bill recently introduced in the senate of the United States to give to the state of Alabama for the use of the Industrial school 25,000 acres of public land passed that body on last Thursday. On the same day it was carried over to the house and promptly referred to the committee on public lands, who reported it back to the house with recommendation that it pass. Coupled to this bill is a provision for a similar amount of land for the Colored Industrial school at Tuskegee. One cannot pass without the other. The fate of these two worthy bills now rests in the hands of our congressman, W. F. Aldrich. That it is a much needed and worthy bill admits of no question. Its passage means the largest and most flourishing school for the benefit of the poor white girls in the state. We learn from a private source that Mr. Reed, the speaker of the house, is very friendly to the colored attachment, but is not disposed to look with favor on the part granting aid to the worthy white girls who have never had the benefit of a state school exclusively for them. Surely Mr. Aldrich will seek to enlighten him on this subject. Mr. Aldrich owes his seat in congress to the white support he received in the upper counties. They are to a man enthusiastic supporters of this grand institution. They will look with great interest for his favorable consideration of this all-absorbing question. Mr. Aldrich cannot afford to withhold his influence from this bill.

There are many, as we have stated before, who believe he will not allow this measure to become a law on account of his supposed dislike to Montevallo. We cannot believe Mr. Aldrich to be so unfaithful to his constituency and so narrow in his views to allow such questions to come in his mind in the consideration of this bill. Mr. Aldrich is a broad-minded, educated man and although he may differ with us politically he knows the great uplift and benefit to the poor people of the state of such an institution as the Girls' Industrial school, and having it so completely in his power to aid them he will pass the bill. The bill is now before the house and Mr. Aldrich can call it up and pass it at any time. The people, white and black, await with much interest to know how he will act. It is practically in his hands.

WEYLER'S WILY WAY.

Another Proclamation to Soften the Severity of Previous Manifestoes.

Captain General Weyler has issued another proclamation, the terms of which indicate a purpose to still further soften the severity of the proclamations he issued soon after his arrival in Havana.

This edict provides that all persons captured up to the date, in the provinces of Havana and Pinar del Rio, who are suspected of having been members of a rebel band, should they of their own free will deny that they belonged to such band, will be liberated in every case, provided they give their promise before two witnesses to be loyal to the Spanish cause, and provided also that no one appears against them to offer charges of any other crimes.

To this end instructions are given to judges that they shall record in the files a personal description of those against whom proceedings shall have been taken, and shall then ask for the release of those coming within the above mentioned provisions as being discharged of the crime of rebellion, but they shall remain subject to the vigilant surveillance of the authorities. The same proceedings will be adopted with regard to those who are arrested and who are not accused of common crimes.

The above proclamation is signed Weyler.

Nicaraguan Rebels Defeated.

The Herald's correspondent in Managua, Nicaragua, cables that 1,000 rebels were defeated at Pital, near Momotombo. The battle lasted four hours. The government troops were commanded by Generals Paiz, Palido, Reyes, Emiliano, Herrere and Boudan. The rebels loss was heavy. The enemy was pursued by the federal troops. An engagement, in which the rebels were defeated also, occurred at El Jablon, between Lapaz and Nagarote, Thursday. The insurgent loss was thirty-five killed and eighty wounded. Forty-two prisoners were taken by President Zelaya's men. One cannon and quantities of arms and provisions were captured. The principal families of Leon have fled to Honduras.

Killed His Brother.

In Prince George's county, five miles from Petersburg, Va., George Butler shot and killed his brother Joe. Butler was assaulting his 10-year-old brother when Joe interfered to prevent the boy from being seriously injured. George became very angry and shot Joe dead. The murderer has so far eluded arrest.

Twenty-three by Two.

Oscar Darling, a well-known civil engineer of Babylon, N. Y., has just become the father of his twenty-third child. Seventeen are now living.

Mr. Darling has been twice married first when twenty years old. His wife bore him fifteen children.

Eleven years ago he married his second wife, who was but nineteen years old. She has had eight children.

Butterine Must Go.

A special from Providence, R. I., says: Inspectors of internal revenue have seized the entire plant of the Vermont Manufacturing company, manufacturers of butterine. The plant is valued at $60,000, without stock and fixtures. The company's officers gave bond for $10,000.

ALABAMA IN BRIEF.

Large Lot of Cotton Burned—Narrow Escape of Ships.

LANDS FOR ALABAMA SCHOOLS

College Commencement—Alabama Coal Companies Reaching Out. Night Schools for Factory Children—Populite Convention Call. ed—Aid for Colored Schools.

Assignment at Leighton.

J. L. Walker, general merchant, at Leighton, Ala., has assigned. Liabilities, $12,000; assets, about $6,000.

Giving Factory Children a Chance.

A free night school for the benefit of the factory children is to be established under the auspices of the teachers of Factory Chapel Sunday school at Selma.

Another Boiler Explosion.

The boiler of Larkin & Grigies' mill Selma, on Saturday afternoon exploded, killing one white man and fatally injuring three others. The names of the victims have not yet been ascertained.

Help for Montevallo and Tuskegee.

The house committee on public lands has reported favorably the senate bill granting 25,000 acres of land to each the Booker Washington Institute, of Tuskegee, Ala., and to the Industrial School for Girls, at Montevallo, Ala.

The Inevitable Consequence.

A telegram received from Gadsden announces that Mrs. John Eason, who deserted her husband and children in Marshal county last December and eloped with Dr. Joe Patterson to Texas, was seen in that city, and that she had herself been deserted.

Populite State Convention.

Mr. G. B. Deans, chairman of the populite state executive committee, in accordance with the instructions of that committee, has issued a call for a state convention of the people's party, to be held in Montgomery April 28, 1896.

Assignment at Huntsville.

George T. Scruggs & Son have made an assignment to Jesse F. Young, for the benefit of their creditors. The assignment embraces a stock of merchandise, accounts, etc. Liabilities, $5,500, with assets estimated at from $7,000 to $8,000.

Total of Assessed Values.

The total assessment of real estate in the state is $145,516,138, and of personal property $25,821,886—total, $541,337,024. This is an increase of $67,529,927 in the past decade. The tax rate has been reduced from 6 mills in 1886 to 5½ mills in 1896.

New Ore Mine Opened.

The Georgia Mining & Manufacturing company has leased a number of convicts and are now at work opening up the Guiton bank of red hematite ore, near Cass, Ala. The ore is said to be of excellent quality. It will be shipped to Chattanooga and South Pittsburg.

Railroads and Their Earnings.

The table in the state auditor's report regarding railroads is full of interest. There are 3,594 miles of railroad in the state. The earnings in Alabama were $12,407,284, and the license tax received to pay the expenses of the railroad commission amounted to $12,500.

Ingraham Surrenders.

Fred Ingraham, the Central of Georgia railroad station agent who on Monday night shot and seriously wounded Conductor Joe Oliver at Fitzpatrick's Station, on Thursday gave himself up to the sheriff of Bullock county, in which the shooting occurred, and is in custody at Union Springs. Oliver's condition is precarious.

Mobile's Shipping Business.

The Mobile Register of yesterday publishes a statement of the shipping business done at Mobile during February of this year. It shows an increase of 113 per cent over the February business of 1895 and 232 per cent over the business of 1894, with an average increase of 123 per cent for each period of each year. This is a wonderful growth.

Normal College Commencement.

Dr. P. T. Hale, pastor of Southside Baptist church, of Birmingham, has been invited by the faculty of the State Normal college at Florence to preach the commencement sermon on May 24. The large number of young teachers assembled in this well known institution from all over the south make it one of the foremost of its kind in the country.

Reaching Out for New Markets.

The coal companies of Alabama have taken steps to put a line of barges on the Mississippi river to carry their products from Greenville, the western terminus of the Southern railroad, to New Orleans and other points below. Pittsburg has heretofore supplied these markets, but the uncertainty of transportation by the Ohio has proven so disappointing that, with the favorable rates of freight offered by the Southern, the field is now fairly open to the Alabama operators.

Two Sentenced to be Hung.

Judge Greene, of the Jefferson county criminal court, on Saturday sentenced Will Smith and John Walton to hang May 8. Smith was the leader of the Brookside riot last July, when he and half a dozen other negroes ambushed Deputy Sheriff Arthur Woods and posse while they were going on their way to arrest Smith and his associates for petty offenses. Woods was killed. Three of Smith's associates have been sent to the penitentiary. Walton was a convict at Coalburg and murdered Jasper Thornton, a fellow convict, with a coal pick.

New Cotton Mill's Product.

The first shipment of cotton manufactured goods made in Birmingham left Saturday morning for Chester, Pa., over the Central of Georgia railway. The goods were manufactured by the Birmingham cotton mills, which were located at this place last fall by J. H. Cotton and associates, of Chester, Pa. They were brought here through the instrumentality of the Birmingham Commercial club. The shipment consisted of about 20,000 pounds of cotton yarn in one car load. The mill has orders for more than it can supply.

Charlson Pleads Guilty.

In the federal court at Birmingham Saturday Ex-United States Commissioner Robert Charlson pleaded guilty to eleven indictments charging him with making fraudulent returns in his accounts, and asked for the mercy of the court. He will be sentenced next week. Charlson was convicted and given one year's sentence on a similar charge two years ago, but while out on bond pending an appeal fled to Mexico. A few weeks ago he was captured at San Antonio, Tex., and brought back here. Charlson was one of half a dozen federal officers indicted three years ago for alleged fraudulent practices as the result of an investigation by special examiners which disclosed frauds amounting to upwards of $100,000.

Big Lot of Cotton Burned.

Fire Wednesday afternoon destroyed the fertilizer warehouse and upper wharf cotton seed shed belonging to the Mobile and Ohio Railroad company at Mobile and 3,680 bales of cotton stored in the shed awaiting shipment to Liverpool. The fire started in the midst of the cotton and spread from end to end instantly. With great difficulty the British steamship Corse, lying in the slip alongside, was moved out into the river. She had 24,000 pounds of powder and 300 barrels of petroleum on board. The British ship Van Loo and the British bark Killy and the American schooner C. D. Hall were rescued from the slip adjoining the first slip on the south. The Hall was slightly damaged. Loss on buildings and wharf is about $21,000 and on the cotton about $75,000, covered by insurance, blanket policies.

Negro Industrial Education.

Miss Francis C. Baylor, of Virginia, a popular authoress, was in Alabama last week conferring with the school authorities in relation to the use of a part of the Slater fund in the establishment of industrial departments in the colored schools. In these departments the colored boys will be taught trades, such as shoe making, carpentry, brick laying, machinery and so on, while the girls will be given lessons in housekeeping and corresponding duties. Miss Baylor came as the agent of a number of ladies who have charge of part of the Slater fund, and it is understood that her conference with the state superintendent of education, Mr. Turner, and other school authorities, was entirely satisfactory. While in Birmingham Miss Baylor was the guest of Mayor Van Hoose, with whom, as well as with Dr. J. H. Phillips, superintendent of the city schools, she consulted freely.

A REPORTER IN PARLIAMENT.

The Petition Against the Return of Harry H. Marks Dismissed.

The petition against the return to the British parliament of Harry H. Marks, proprietor of the Financial News, was dismissed last week. Marks is a conservative, and was elected on July 17 over the liberal candidate, John William Bann, by only four votes. Bann charged numerous irregularities, and claimed to have had a majority of the legal votes cast.

Marks is the son of Rev. Prof. Marks, of University college. He was born in 1855 and was educated at Brussels and the University college. He went to America when a young man and entered upon a journalistic career, reporting for a New York city paper.

In 1880 he started a financial paper in that city, which he sold, and then returned to London where he established, with the aid of a rich American, the Financial News, of which he is now the sole proprietor.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA,)
Shelby County.)

Under and by virtue of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will proceed to sell on Monday, the 24th day of February, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corner of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff,
tf Shelby County, Alabama.
ed to March 23, 1896.

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.

H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.

Tennessee Burt Oats.

United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons,
McCormick Mowers and
Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, paster. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham	7:25 p m
No. 15	South	12:37 p m
No. 16	North	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

As perhaps all recollect, the Baptist church of Calera was burned down about two or three months ago. On the 26th of this month Rufus Sanders will give one of his humorous and inimitable lectures the receipts of which will go to the building funds being made up for a new church. The News advises all who enjoy a good thing to attend, The editors intend doing so, if anybody is so thoughtful as to pay a subscription on or before that date.

Mrs Ed Peter and Miss Blanche Peter, of Braddock, were in town Thursday.

Miss Nora Claughton, of Verbena, is visiting her brother, Dr. Claughton.

Mrs. Hag Fancher, of Brierfield, visited Montevallo Wednesday.

Montevallo would be a well-chosen location for a cheese factory; but "suckers" are not so numerous in our town as might be supposed.

When Montevallo secured the Industrial school she scored the winning point. Confidence means success in anything. Montevallo has and has all along had all the natural advantages that attract good people; but heretofore the town has lacked the ability to inspire confidence in her future. This is no longer true. The school gives everyoue confidence in the future stability of the town. We will now be able to keep in our midst a class of people that will aid in pushing on the development and improvement of the town and country.

Mr. Tom Adams, of Briarfield, has moved to Montevallo and now rents the Carleton place. The News is glad to welcome any good citizen to the town.

The residence of Mrs. Bolling, of Aldrich, was burned to the ground Saturday night. Only a small part of the contents was rescued.

Died, on the 16th of March, Mr. Eli Lucas. Mr. Lucas died of pneumonia following measles. He was about 40 years old. While not a man of education Mr. Lucas was faithful and sincere as a friend and neighbor. The News extends sympathy to the sorrowing ones.

Sidney Bowie, of Talladega, was in town last week on professional business.

Miss Bettie Dill, one of Montevallo's prettiest girls, left last week for Lacey, Miss., in the company of her father, Mr. S. F. Dill. Mr. Dill was on a visit to home folks in Montevallo, and was himself called away rather unexpectedly by the illness of his brother.

Professor Joseph M. Dill is the owner of a fine gold watch, purchased in London, England, ninety-seven years ago The watch was bought by Professor Dill's grandfather, Dr. Joseph Mason Dill, of Charleston, S. C, who, at that time, was a youth of 18 years, and on a visit to relatives in London. Dr. Dill was the father of Dr Thomas J. Dill, of Howard College, and was one of the most eminent physicians of his day It may be added that this old watch has been on daily duty through all of its ninety-seven years, and when occasionally carried to a jeweler for cleaning and repairs, is pronounced to be a wonderful old watch, far superior in workmanship to those of modern times.

The following is the extension-front of the name of a 7½-year-old drummer who accompanied his father in Montevallo Friday: Miles Felix General Houston Napoleon Henry Clay Mays.

W. C. Dyer, of Stanton, made us a pleasant call Friday.

Miss Mamie Curry, the attractive and fine looking daughter of Mr. S. A. Curry, spent a brief while with friends in town Saturday.

Matthew Fancher, one of Prof. Dill's brightest pupils, is reported absent from school on account of serious illness.

Mrs. Ann Davis returned home Saturday.

Among others who brightened the town by their presence Saturday were Mrs. S. A. Curry, Mrs. Tom Fancher, Mrs. Anna Mahan, Miss Katy Wilson of Calera, and Miss Florence Farrington.

Otto W. Fuls is in town on professional business.

Her many friends are glad to have with them in Montevallo this week Miss Lucy Backus, of Birmingham. Miss Lucy represents Loveman, Joseph & Loeb, of Birmingham.

Mr. Frank Corbett spent Sunday in town.

Mrs, James Whorton, after several months' stay in Texas, has returned to Shelby, the best county of the best state in the Union.

We have just learned of the death of Mrs. Alex. Snodgrass, the mother of our esteemed friend, Mrs. T. V. King. Our warmest sympathy goes out to Mrs King in her great bereavement.

Mr. Milner was interrupted by the bad weather last week in the survey of lots along the new extension of Highland street.

Mr. Mick Kuffner, of Belle Ellen; was over for a few days this week.

Mr. H. C. Reynolds is still in Washington lobbying for the land-grant bill for the Industrial school.

SOUTHSIDE.

One of our young men says his heart is in Ashby now—that a certain young maiden has it in safe keeping.

Say, boys, don't you all think some of the old bachelors in town ought to marry or keep out of the way of the fellows who have matrimonial notions in their heads and would if allowed half a chance.

Fatty is getting to be a mighty good old boy. Wonder what he is up to now?

If you want to learn how to write regular heart-melting love letters ask Abb Fancher to set you a copy.

Miss Mattie Lenoir, one of Brierfield's charming and most captivating young ladies, returned home last Monday, after a few days visit to her cousin, Mrs. Trammell.

Pat Mc. is putting in good time now. He goes to see her three days and about four nights in a week.

Montevallo certainly has one brave boy. He saw a "ghost" a few nights since and instead of running away, as ninety-nine out of a hundred would have done, stood his ground like an old soldier. After the ghost had disappeared he wanted to go back and "raw-hide" it to death.

Judging from the number of green ribbons displayed on the lapels of our citizens' coats on St. Patrick's day Irish blood must flow in all Montevalloans' veins.

"Bully" and "Whiskers" have arranged for a bird hunt on Wednesday, the 18th. If something doesn't blur their eye-sights we predict the slaughter of a great many of the feathery tribe

"Kershonny" is contemplating a visit to Maryline soon on matrimonial business.

Will Harrison, one of Dogwood's most agreeable and accommodating young gentlemen, passed through Southside last Monday.

Miss Bessie Day, a sweet, pretty young lady from Ashby, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. H. C. Fancher, left us last Thursday morning, much to the regret of several you men, "Potts" included.

S. W. says when a girl refuses to accompany him anywhere he believes that she wants to give him the "G. B."

Long courtships are the style now.

Mr. Andy Day, of Ashby, came up last Tuesday evening to attend lodge meeting of the K. of P.

Success to the News. Rastus.

A SERIES OF ACCIDENTS.

A Barn Burned, a Horse Run Away and Two Children Were Killed.

Calera, March 16.—Sunday night Mr. William Reynolds, living some six or seven miles from this place, had the misfortune to lose his barn and contents by fire. The loss, consisting of corn, fodder, cotton seed, a fine horse and several head of cattle. amounts to several hundred dollars. No insurance.

This morning, just after Mr. W. R. Oliver had passed through the city on his way to the county seat, where he had started to be in attendance at chancery court, the horse ran away with the buggy, destroying the buggy and slightly hurting Mr. Hall's right hand, who was in the buggy with Mr. Oliver. Mr. Oliver was not hurt, but considerably excited when he came walking back to town carrying his grip, briefs, etc.

About 9 or 10 o'clock this morning, while a Louisville and Nashville crew were doing some switching in the railroad yard at this place, they cut a car loose from the train which was being made up. The detached car ran over and killed two small negro girls, daughters of John Doak, a respectable colored democrat of this place. The ages of the little girls were about 13 and 11. It is said the larger of the two never breathed and the smaller lived about thirty minutes.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST

Convention, Chattanooga, Tenn.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Southern Baptist convention, which will convene at Chattanooga, Tenn., May 8-14, inclusive, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Chattanooga, Tenn., and return at the rate of one limited, first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 6 to 8, inclusive, good to return fifteen days from date of sale, but limit on tickets may be extended, allowing fifteen days additional time, provided they are deposited with joint agent at Chattanooga on or before May 14, 1896.

Call on any agent of the Southern Railway for further information.

C. A. Benscoter,
tf A. G. P. A.

CORRESPONDENCE.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

We are very glad to say that Mrs. J. H. Harmon is convaleseing.

Mrs. E. F. Vest and her affable daughter, Miss Lucy, spent Sunday here.

Mr. Shelby Allen, one of Dogwood's most conspicuous farmers, went up to Birmingham Saturday to attend court this week.

Our latest combatants are Mr. William Lovelady and Dirick Holsomeback.

Miss Maggie Hauser, of Montevallo, is visiting relatives and friends at this place.

We are very glad to state that Mr. M. L. Wooten's child is convalescing.

Mr. William Tyler, of Bessemer, spent last week with us.

Mr. Dave Allen, of Jemison, spent Saturday and Sunday in town.

Mr W E Harrison says he was introduced to a sweet Bird (girl) in Saginaw last week.

Mr Mick Nash, of Blocton, came over Sunday to see dear ones

Miss Hattie Harper came home last week after a protracted visit at Blocton and Belle-Ellen. B Y. H.

DRY VALLEY LOCALS.

Mrs. D. T. Seale was quite sick last week.

Will Parker, of Jemison was out riding with one of our young ladies Sunday evening. From what we can learn Will is up quite often.

It is rumored that invitation cards will soon be issued to the marriage of one of our most popular young ladies.

Miss Lula Eddings and a friend visited Six Mile on the first. James S. Sessions contemplates visiting Huckabee, Ala., in the near future; perhaps his friend will accompany him back.

Luther McElroy, of Antioch, visited Miss Ada Mulkey last Sunday.

Miss Mary Garner, one of Concord's accomplished young ladies, left for Clanton Sunday to accept a position as governess in one of the leading families of that town,

Thomas J. Reynolds was so unfortunate as to have a buggy torn up by a young horse last Saturday night.

Mrs. N. L. Wiggins who has been quite sick for some time is improving.

A goodly number of young men enjoyed" a good days work rolling ogs at J. M. Garner's last Thursday.

We regret to learn that Mr. W. A. Reynolds, of Mulberry, lost all his corn, fodder, and stock by fire last Saturday night.

Mr. Ely Lucas breathed his last on the evening of the 15th. Mr. Lucas has a wife and a number of helpless children to mourn his loss. Mr. Lucas was a good citizen, and accommodating in every respect. His family has the sympathy of our community.

ASHBY BREVITIES.

Lawyer Lavender, of Centerville, spent Sunday in the city.

Mr. C. L. Swearengin has been very sick for a week but now much improved We wish for him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs Josh Milan and her mother spent the latter part of last week with relatives in Blocton.

Miss Bessie Cay returned home Friday last from Montevallo where she has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Clay Fancher.

Miss Lily Bell Splawn returned Thursday last feom an extended visit to relatives and friends at Blocton, Ala.

Mr. W. M. Battle and Miss Emma Campbell attended church at Shady Grove Sunday last.

Mrs. B. J. Large came home Saturday last after a protracted visit with her brother, Mr. Bragg, of Spring Creek, who is yet very ill.

Mr Jim Oakly made a flying trip to Blocton Tuesday last, on professional business.

Mr. M. B. L. passed through the city Sunday in flying colors, headed east—deer hunting, of course.

Mrs. Addie Lovejoy, of Brierfield, spent Sunday here with her mother, Mrs. B. Oakley.

Mr. Bob Rotenberry and son, Mr. Charles, of Six Mile, was in the city Sunday. Reporter.

There was a very pleasant programme rendered by the pupils of Professor Dill's school on Friday evening of last week. How vividly the most of us recall our "Friday evenings" in school. What fear, what pleasure was in it all! Then we said, "Mary Had a Little Lamb," or "The Lark Is Up to Meet the Sun," or "I Remember, I Remember," and many other selections from child lore. But these children of this day, under the guidance of their progressive teachers, read good papers on live topics, and had two debates, and good ones they were. The girls put the boys to their very best. The questions discussed were historical and each side showed close investigation and careful preparation. We hope Professor Dill will have another private "Friday evening" and let us go again.

AT THE CENTRAL THIS WEEK.

C R Newson, Georgia; Mr and Mrs W H Peck, Athens, Tenn; Julien L Suttle, Selma; Charles I Graves, Jr, Birmingham; A S Noble, Montgomery, Ala; John Levy, Birmingham; Jarvis, New Orleans; S J Bowie, Talladega, Ala; W C Caile, Knoxville, Tenn; W O E Dobbins, Atlanta; J W Stokes, Nashville; F H Mays and son, Franklin, Tenn; Ellis Hickman, Chattanooga; B Eberheart, Birmingham.

TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF REV. C. L. DOBBS.

A large congregation assembled at the Methodist church in this place on last Sabbath, March 16, to pay a fitting tribute to the memory of one beloved by all who knew him.

Rev. C. L. Dobbs, who had recently entered upon the second year of his pastorate here, fell "asleep in Jesus" Friday morning, February 21, and the memorial services in his honor were but a faint expression of the love and esteem in which he was held by all, irrespective of denomination. Though he now lies beneath the sod his memory will ever be kept green by those to whose spiritual needs he so tenderly and assiduously ministered.

The little church he served is draped in the habiliments of woe, and the more than Sabbath hush that fell upon the large assembly plainly manifested the sorrow and sympathy of all present.

The exercises were opened by congregational singing of the long metre doxology, "Praise God, From Whom All Blessings Flow," followed by prayer by the new pastor, Rev. Paul Lee Abernathy. The scripture lesson from Ecclesiastes xii, was then read by the pastor and hymn 546 was sung.

The following resolutions were then read by Mr. C. C. Vandegrift, who also spoke touchingly of the many virtues of the lamented pastor:

To the Members of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, Montevallo, Ala., and the Sunday School of Said Church:

We, the undersigned, your committee, who were appointed to prepare and report suitable resolutions, expressive of our common sorrow at the death of our friend, brother and pastor, Rev. C. L. Dobbs, beg leave to report the following:

Whereas, Almighty God has seen proper to remove from our midst our beloved pastor and brother; and,

Whereas, The intimate relations long existing between deceased and this people endeared him to us because of his true nobility of character, we feel called on to give expression to the profound sorrow caused us by his death.

Brother Dobbs was received into the traveling connection of the Alabama conference in the year 1857. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Kavenaugh in 1858, and ordained elder in 1861. He departed this life February 21, 1896. He had given thirty-nine years of his life to the active ministry. He was a man of lofty character, true to every relation of life. His unyielding devotion to right and duty made him a power for good. He was as pure and as tender as a woman. Love was the governing principle of his life—it was the essence of his nature. He was a man of wisdom, with a surprising knowledge of men and things. Every faculty of his mind and heart was given to the church he loved and to his Master's cause. The kingdom of God was the limit of his creed. He was public spirited and broad in his views. His people's interests were his own, and while he loved the Methodist church and all her institutions, his heart went out to all men and was ever ready for every good work or deed. He bore himself well among all men, and he won the respect and love of all who knew him. What more can we say? "God touched him and he slept;" and while we mourn his loss we know that he is at rest from life's cares and trials. We shall miss him, but we are submissive to Him who "doeth all things well." In that last day hundreds, yes, thousands will rise up and call Him blessed.

Respectfully submitted.

P. L. Abernathy,
C. C. Vandegrift,
C. B. West,
C. W. Cary,
S. H. McCauley,
J. M. Reynolds.
Committee.

Messrs. C. E. Meroney and S. A. Latham, of the Baptist church, then followed with appropriate remarks, and hymn 861 was sung. Mr. C. W. Cary paid a tribute to the dead man's memory, and Mrs. Lawrence sweetly rendered "Nearer Home." Feeling remarks were also made by Messrs. William Lyman and S. H. McCauley, and hymn 828 was sung.

After a few remarks by the pastor the resolutions of the committee were adopted; hymn 882 was sung, the benediction was pronounced, and those who had so recently sat under the teachings of dear old Brother Dobbs wended their way musing on the uncertainty of life.

"Beloved, it is well. It is well,
Though deep and sore the smart,
He wounds who knows to bind
And heal the broken heart."

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Re-union of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates. The dates of sale and limits will be announced later. Call on any Southern Railway Agent for further information. tf

SPRING MEETING BIRMINGHAM RACES.

Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

The Southern railway in the state of Alabama will sell tickets at reduced rates to Birmingham and return, account spring meeting of the Birmingham Jockey Club. Tickets will be sold March 16th to 21st inclusive, good to return until March 23d, 1896.

Call on any Southern railway agent for further information.

C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Store!!!

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE

The State of Alabama, }
Shelby County. }

Probate Court for Shelby County, Alabama.—Letters of administration upon the estate of J. S. Davis, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 3d day of February, 1896, by the Hon. D. R. McMillan, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

F. E. Davis and
A. E. Davis,
feb 6 3t Administrators.

J. B. Lewis Co.

WEAR SHOES RESISTER

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear, Style, Ease, Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon.

Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.

LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $5.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

Best of All

To cleanse the system in a gentle and truly beneficial manner, when the Springtime comes, use the true and perfect remedy, Syrup of Figs. One bottle will answer for all the family, and costs only 50 cents; the large size $1. Buy the genuine. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only, and for sale by all druggists.

Youth is the season of hope, enterprise and energy to a nation as well as an individual.

$100 Reward. $100.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

☞Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Tell a Friend Good News.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.

"Please forward six boxes of TETTERINE, C. O. D. I think it strange that it is not sold here in New England, as it is the best cure for eczema, ringworm and all eruptions of the skin I ever saw. I got a box from a Cincinnati drummer, and gave part of it to a young lady who had tried almost everything to remove pimples and an eruption from her face. Two applications of TETTERINE completely cured her. I know also a gentleman whose body had been covered with eczema. Two boxes of TETTERINE cured him completely, and now his skin is as smooth as a baby's."

P. O. HANLON,
With Silver Springs Bleaching Co.

1 box for 50c. in stamps.

J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

Does Lots of Good—You Will Find it so if You Try it.

Mrs. T. J. Meador has kind words to say about Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy. "For many years I have suffered with dyspepsia and nervousness. I have been taking Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy and find that it is doing me lots of good and I am now in better health than I have been for years. It relieves me in a few minutes of indigestion."

If you are suffering with indigestion or dyspepsia of any character whatever, it would be to your interest to try a bottle of this remedy. Price 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

A Good Dog is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

To be innocent is to be not guilty, but to be virtuous is to overcome our evil intentions.

Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap is not an imitation. It is original. The only soap that floats, contains Borax and is 100 per cent. pure. It is worthy a trial. Every lady who tries it continues its use. Red wrapper.

It is better to rise early and work for one's breakfast than to lie in bed and create no need of it.

IRRITATION OF THE THROAT AND HOARSENESS are immediately relieved by "Brown's Bronchial Troches." Have them always ready.

A true liar can always be depended upon to tell as many different stories as there are stories to tell.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Experience Leads Many Mothers to Say

"Use Parker's Ginger Tonic" because it is good for colds, pain and almost every weakness.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflamation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

I cannot speak too highly of Piso's cure for Consumption.—Mrs. FRANK COBBS, 215, W. 22d St., New York, Oct. 29, 1894.

Those Distressing Corns!

Bad as they are, Hindercorns will remove them, and then you can walk as you like.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

Spring

Is the season for purifying, cleansing and renewing. The accumulations of waste everywhere are being removed. Winter's icy grasp is broken and on all sides are indications of nature's returning life, renewed force and awakening power.

Spring

Is the time for purifying the blood, cleansing the system and renewing the physical powers. Owing to close confinement, diminished perspiration and other causes in the winter, impurities have not passed out of the system as they should, but have accumulated in the blood.

Spring

Is, therefore, the best time to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, because the system is now most in need of medicine. That Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier and Spring medicine is proved by its wonderful cures. A course of Hood's Sarsaparilla now may prevent great suffering later on.

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1 Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

GOOD WRITERS and Illustrators, known or unknown, wanted to contribute to The Waterbury, published at Waterbury, Conn. Ask your newsdealer for a copy, to see what it's like.

Am. N. U. No. 12, 1896.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

UNFRUITFUL APPLE TREES.

Too early fruitage in newly-set trees is often a sign that disease or insects have attacked the tree and driven it into premature bearing. Too late coming into bearing usually indicates an excess of nitrogenous fertilizer, and often a deficiency of the mineral elements of plant food. Liberal dressings of potash and phosphate will bring many old orchards into bearing. —Boston Cultivator.

POULTRY.

It would seem as if every person might see that poultry keeping is a profitable industry now that eggs are from forty-five to fifty cents per dozen; and there certainly is money in a limited number of fowls rightly managed. Considerable care and attention are, however, imperative. Perhaps there is more detail to the work of poultry culture than to any other class of live stock husbandry. Certainly there are any quatity of so-called "little things" to be attended to. Probably the poultry house needs whitewashing, if this has not been done recently. This not only makes things "look" vastly better, but is effective against lice and parasites. The wash may be mixed quite thin and applied with a spraying pump; or it may be used thicker and put on with a brush. To every gallon of the wash add a gill of carbolic acic, which is an excellent disinfectant and insect killer. The feed of fowls during these cold months needs attention. Bugs and insects are no more, and therefore, we must supply our birds with animal food. Boiled meat, beef scraps, etc., are all good; but fresh, raw meat and ground bone are much better and more nutritious. Only comparatively recently has a machine been put upon the market that will reduce hard, green bones to hen food surely and expeditely. Bones themselves are very cheap, and now that they can be readily worked up, are available as poultry food. Green food must be supplied to fowls that are confined; and in fact, to all poultry in winter. Hang up a cabbage, where the hen will be obliged to jump for it. This will "kill two birds with one stone," for the fowls will get the green food they need and also get the exercise so essential to health. Boil potatoes, carrots, turnips, beets and parsnips, mix with bran and cornmeal, and feed same every winter's morning, as a warm mash. Once or twice a day scatter a small amount of grain about to induce the birds to scratch.

SMOKING AND STORING BACON.

Before it is hung up in the smokehouse, the entire flesh surface of the hams and shoulders, and sometimes the middlings also, are sprinkled thickly with fine black pepper, using a large tin pepper box to apply it. Sometimes a mixture of about equal parts of black and red pepper helps very much to impart a good flavor. The meat is now hung upon sticks and hooks, close together without actually touching, and is ready for smoking. A few live coals are laid down, and a small fire is made of some dry stuff. As it gets well to burning, the fire is smothered with green hickory or oak wood, and a basket of green chips from the oak or hickory woodpile is kept on hand, and used as required to keep the fire smothered, in order to produce a great smoke and but little blaze. If the chips are too dry, they are kept moist with water. Do not allow the fire to get too large and hot, thus endangering the meat hung nearest it. The fire requires constant care and nursing to keep up a good smoke and no blaze. Oak and hickory chips and wood impart the best color to meat, while some woods, such as pine, mulberry and persimmon, are very objectionable, imparting a disagreeable flavor to the bacon. Corncobs make a good smoke, but they must be wet before laying on the fire. Smoking half a day at a time on several days a week for two or three weeks, will bring best results.

Bacon keeps nowhere so well as in the house where it is smoked. It needs air and a cool, dry, dark room for keeping well in summer. The least degree of dampness is detrimental, causing the bacon to mold. It has been noticed, however, that moldy bacon is seldom infested with the skipper. Some housekeepers preserve hams in close boxes or barrels, in a cool, dark room, and succeed well. Others pack in oat sheils or bran, or wrap in old newspapers, and lay away on shelves or in boxes. Inclosing in cloth sacks and painting the cloth is also practiced. The bacon thus cared for must be constantly watched to prevent mice and ants from getting access to it.—New England Homestead.

COMMON SENSE POULTRY MANAGEMENT.

What breeds pay best? is a question often asked of the fancier and answered generally by recommending the breeds he handles, writes S. N. Wolcott. In my experience the first cross between the Leghorn and a large breed makes the nearest to an all-purpose fowl of any one I ever used. My first cross was from White Leghorn cockerels and Plymouth Rock hens. It produced beautiful white fowls, the majority having the form of the Plymouth Rocks, weighing anywhere from five to seven pounds. They grow quickly and, feathering early, were salable at six weeks to two months old, weighing 1½ to two pounds and bringing fancy prices as broilers. The hens from this cross lay nearly as well as the Leghorns. A few crosses make a little mongrel fowl that is an eyesore and too small to be profitable. My next cross was Light Brahma males and White Leghorn hens. These were generally pure white, larger than the first cross, good layers as hens, and early broilers, but do not feather as early as the first named.

One can keep two breeds without confining them if the large breed is hatched early and the small one later. I did this for some years by letting the flock run out with Brahma males. I set only the dark eggs until I had all the hens sitting that I wished. About the middle of May I sold my Brahma males and brought home my Leghorn cockerels, which I lent to a lady who had a pen of Leghorns. After two or three weeks I began setting the pure white eggs, which hatched from July 1 to August 1. The pullets from these made early spring layers, continuing almost without intermission until moulting time, not stopping even then if well cared for. These late hatches come when there is an abundance of small seed and grain on a farm, besides insects, and if their quarters are kept free from vermin they require but little care after the first few weeks. They should have warm, comfortable quarters to themselves through the winter. I have a brood of Brown Leghorns hatched in June. One at least began to lay in January. Of course if one intends to keep pure chickens of any kind for sale, one breed is all that can be kept unless yarded, and so securely that there is no chance for mixture. But for farm poultry this plan can be followed with good results, and first crosses obtained by setting the Leghorn eggs while mated with the large males. The large breeds lay yellow or brown eggs, the small breeds white ones, so they are easily distinguished.

If you are breeding pure chickens of two or more varieties, the males should be separated from them by the first of February at least. I like to let my hens run at large as long as possible, so I shut the males up until ready to yard them for breeding purposes. Then I put each breed in its pen and turn the extra males out with my stock poultry. I like to have two good males of each kind, and then if anything happens or the one yarded does not prove satisfactory, I have a vigorous male to replace him without further trouble or loss of time. A few weeks' liberty will sometimes recuperate a fowl until he is as good as ever. When yarded, chickens must have good care to do well. Change of diet, green food, or scalded clover in winter sprinkled thickly with bran, apples and potatoes raw sometimes, a warm mess in cold mornings, with a good sprinkle of pepper and salt, meat scraps, broken dishes pounded fine enough to be swallowed, coarse sand and gravel, and plenty of coal ashes thrown about the yards—are inexpensive helps to keep poultry healthy. Then one can purchase the oyster shell, ground bone and many other things recommended for chickens.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Those who retail fruits in the city find that those of good appearance pay best, irrespective of quality. The largest and best looking are first disposed of. It is only after quality is known, as in the case of the Seckel pear, that a fruit of common appearance can be sold.

It is an almost universal mistake to think that trees require no water, or but little, in winter. There is a great deal of evaporation all through the winter, and if moisture is not close at hand the tree will die. Keeping this in mind, it will be seen why there is great benefit in mulching newly planted trees.

The impression that the growing of small fruits is both difficult and expensive has been obtained by the putting of this clase of plants in the kitchen garden, which is usually too small. To save space, the plants are crowded. Cultivation is, therefore, to difficult to be thorough, and a good yearly yield is out of the question.

An orchard of 100 trees should contain not more than twenty-five summer and fall sorts; the balance should be winter apples of best approved varieties. A few standard apples, well grown and prepared for market, will make a farm's reputation, while if there be a score of kinds, there will not be enough of any one to establish a name.

The fruit grower who desires to make the most of his trees must get acquainted with them and visit them frequently, even during the winter. Thus he can look after their welfare, protect them from rabbits and mice, remove insect eggs wherever found, and otherwise assist them. To leave an orchard to its own resources all winter is a great mistake.

Apples may be kept in good condition until late in the summer, by wrapping perfectly sound specimens in soft paper and packing them tenderly in clean barrels and storing them in a cold, dark cellar. Another good plan for keeping them is to bury them in earth below the reach of freezing. They will come out in the spring in good condition, hard, smooth, sound and juicy, without any loss of flavor, but a gain of it, by the slow, perfect ripening.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Advice may help, but it isn't help.

Enough exception make a new rule.

It is easy to be a big man in a little town.

Most men look on death as a happy relief.

Arguing with a fool shows that there are two.

He laughs best who laughs at the right time.

A good heart is always a soft mark for a good head.

Every marriage is a failure according to somebody.

It is pleasanter to read a romance than to live one.

A woman is known by the company she doesn't keep.

Sometimes it is the upper dog that deserves the sympathy.

Don't worry about privileges until you have your rights.

Civilization makes things easier for the fools and the knaves.

Some men who make good husbands are not good for much else.

Charity cannot cover sins as fast as the gossips can invent them.

The new woman is not above flattery; she only wants a different kind.

Even the invention of the looking glass has not eradicated human vanity.

Why is it that when a boy is well-behaved people always say he is a credit to his mother?

If there is any great difference between the bachelor girl and the old maid, we have failed to notice it.

When a man has a secret from his his wife she at once jumps to the conclusion that it must be something dreadful.—New York Press.

Gotham's Growth in Population.

The first New York directory was published in 1786. In 1859 the directory contained 147,325 names. Up to 1859 it had not been found necessary to canvass above Fifty-second street, but the directory for 1860-61 contained for the first time the names of every housekeeper from the Battery to the Harlem River. It contained 150,303 names, giving, by the usual computation, a total population of 751,515.

In 1865, five years later, the population of New York had increased 79,205 souls, and by 1870, 116,495 more had been added, making the total population at that time 947,215. According to the Federal census of 1890 the population was 1,515,301. The State census of 1892 placed the figures at 1,801,739. The present estimated population of the city is 1,906,438.

One hundred and eighty-five square miles, with Central Park as the central point, would show a population exceeding 4,000,000. Brooklyn, Bayone, Bloomfield, Elizabeth, Hoboken, Jersey City, Montclair, the Oranges, Passaic, Plainfield, Rutherford, Weehawken and West Hoboken have been termed the sleeping places for New York's workers. There is hardly a family in this section not dependent upon New York to a greater or less degree for its income.—New York Mail and Express.

A Brave Chinese Officer.

Huang Tsu-Lien, who was a returned American student, was killed before the surrender of Wei-Hai-Wei. He was first lieutenant of the Peiying cruiser Tsi-Yuen, having succeeded the late Shen Shou Ch'ang, another returned American student, who was killed while commanding the Tsi-Yuen in the first naval action of the late war at the mouth of the Yashan River, Korea, July 25, 1894, owing to the cowardice of his subsequently decapitated captain, Fong Peh Kien. During the fighting at Wei-Hai-Wei Lieutenant Tsu-Lien was badly wounded and was, therefore, advised to leave his ship and go to Chefu for treatment. This he resolutely refused to do, declaring that "his duty to the Emperor demanded his remaining at his post." After having had his wounds hastily dressed, the late lieutenant went on with his duties on board, although he had to be supported by an attendant in doing so. Shortly afterwards a shot struck his thigh, but he still refused to retire, remaining with his guns. A few minutes afterwards a shell from the enemy's batteries almost annihilated the gallant officer.—Blackwood's Magazine.

The Curative Value of Sleep.

Every sleeping apartment should be so arranged that a current of fresh air will enter and keep the air in motion and pure all night; without this precaution the carbonic acid gas exhaled from the lungs will, in the stagnant air, hug the bed from its own weight, and spread over the sleeper a blanket of impurity, and the rebreathed air will, before morning, be foul beyond belief.

The requisites for that beauty of tint and complexion which health gives are not many, and are in the reach of all who care to take a little pains. Give yourself plenty of sound, restful sleep—from seven to nine hours, according to your avocations and the tax upon your body and brain. If sleep, on a good bed, in a well-ventilated room, does not come readily, try a cup of hot milk or of hot water, the last thing before going to bed, and acquire a habit of relaxing all the muscles when you lie down, and banish thought. Don't take sedatives and narcotics to banish worry, but have sufficient faith in the temporariness of all worries to realize that dwelling upon them does much harm and no good.—Demorest's Magazine.

Onedia is an Indian word, meaning the people of the [illegible] stone.

He looked at her earnestly. "You have changed since last we met," he said.

"Yes," she answered. "Those red ones were causing so many runaways that I thought I would adopt a pair of a more somber hue."—Indianapolis Journal.

At the Grand Restaurant.

Walter—How will you have your clams—on the half-shell?

Westerner—No, siree; I've got money enough to be as swell as the next man. Give 'em to me on the whole shell or nothin', by gum!—New York World.

Practical.

"Professor, is your daughter a good housekeeper as well as a learned woman?"

"Why, yes, she has translated a cook book into Greek.—Fliegende Blaetter.

Every woman has a certain look with which she thinks she can squelch a man.

Saloonkeepers' Harvest.

A great manufacturing company in Massachusetts recently paid their workmen, on Saturday evening, 700 $10 bills, each bill being marked. By the following Tuesday 410 of these marked bills were deposited in the bank by the saloon-keepers of the town. Four thousand and one hundred dollars had passed from the hands of the workmen on Saturday night and Sunday and left them nothing to show for this great sum of money but headaches and poverty in their homes.

A Physical Impossibility.

"Mike," said Plodding Pete, "if you had a $20 bill would you blow it in?"

"Nop," replied Meandering Mike; "I couldn' blow it in. Havin' twenty ud' take me breath away."—Washington Star.

Nell—"I wouldn't like to be in your shoes!" Belle—"No! they'd pinch you frightfully, wouldn't they?"—Philadelphia Record.

"I am sixty years of age and from girlhood have been familiar with the name of Ayer..... Five years ago, I become nervous, sleepless, and lost flesh. I took a variety of medicines without benefit. At last I began a course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I became stronger, gained flesh, and* ...

"A Word in Season"

The season is Spring,—Spring when you call on your body for all its energy, and tax it to the limit of effort. Does it answer you when you call? Does it creep unwillingly to work? It's the natural effect of the waste of winter. So much for the season. Now for the word. If you would eat heartily, sleep soundly, work easily, and feel like a new being, take

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

"Blight"

costs cotton planters more than five million dollars anually. This is an enormous waste, and can be prevented. Practical experiments at Alabama Experiment Station show conclusively that the use of

"Kainit"

will prevent that dreaded plant disease.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing the results of latest experiments in this line. Every cotton farmer should have a copy. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

Second Hand

TUERK WATER MOTOR

For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to

Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

ASTHMA

POPHAM'S ASTHMA SPECIFIC

Gives relief in FIVE minutes. Send for a FREE trial package. Sold by Druggists. One Box sent postpaid on receipt of $1.00. Six boxes $5.00. Address THOS. POPHAM, PHILA., PA.

"IT WILL NOT RUB OFF"

ALABASTINE

DURABLE AND BEAUTIFUL WALL COATING.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. E. M. Cross, a special Associated Press reporter, who lives at 1916 Maple Avenue, Huntington, W. Va., has knowledge of the remarkable cure of Mrs. Martha Gilkison, the wife of a carpenter of the east end of the city, who, on the 22d of September, 1895, related her experience as follows: "For a good many years I have been bothered an awful sight with my stomach. I got so I couldn't eat anything at all without souring on my stomach. Lots of times while working I would spit up great mouthfuls of stuff bitter as gall. I kept getting worse all the time and took piles of doctor medicine, but I might as well took that much starch for all the good it done me. It run into neuralgia of the stomach and worked itself all over me. Dr. Gardener, the new doctor up on Twentieth Street, told me when I saw him it was my stomach that caused all the trouble and give me an order to the drug store. I took it there, and the boy give me a box of Ripans Tabules. began getting better, and have used a little over two boxes, and am now sound and well. (Signed), MARTHA GILKISON, No. 1820 Fourth Avenue, Huntington, W. Va."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Manufacturers
—OF—
Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting
—AND—
Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.

OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.
Write for Prices. Address,

Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

In writing please mention this paper.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Premium No. 1 Chocolate

Made by Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass., has been celebrated for more than a century as a nutritious, delicious, and flesh-forming beverage. Sold by grocers everywhere.

As the is superior to the

So is BROWN'S IRON BITTERS to other medicines.

GUARANTEE

Purchase Money refunded should Brown's Iron Bitters taken as directed fail to benefit any person suffering with Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fever, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Biliousness, Female Infirmities, Impure Blood, Weakness, Nervous Troubles, Chronic Headache or Neuralgia. More than 4,000,000 bottles sold—and only $2.00 asked for and refunded.

[SEAL.] BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. I. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 2, 1866 NO. 52.

A Life Builder.

Builder, in life's opening day,
While the moments fly.
Clear the dust of doubt away—
Set Hope's pillar high;
With the hand of Courage, trace
Arch and casement true,
Till a wall of matchless grace
Rises on the view.

Builder, in thy buoyant youth
Error's lines dispel—
With the golden sands of Truth
Mix thy mortar well;
With the bands of purest Love
Strengthen every wall,
Place the rock of Faith above—
Richly crowning both.

Builder, when the noon of life
Gleams above thy head,
Through the heat of toil and strife
Walk with fearless tread;
With a sheen of Righteousness
Glaze thy palace dome—
Till mankind shall rise to bless
Thine enchanted home.

Builder, when thy work be done,
Roof, and wall, and floor—
When the light of setting sun
Beams about thy door—
Thou shalt dwell in perfect peace
In thy castle blest—
Where the wicked troubles cease
And the weary rest.

—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

CHURNING STILL.

BY EMMA H. NIGHT.

During the early part of the Valley campaign I was encamped with my regiment, the —th Ohio, upon Cedar Creek. It was early in May, and it would have been difficult to find a more picturesque spot. We had pitched our tents upon the banks of the rushing, tumbling creek, girt by wild looking hills, covered with moss encrusted rocks and tall, beautifully tinted grasses. Above the hills rose the blue of the mountains, melting into the softer, tenderer blue of a morning sky, or vividly outlined against a rich gold and crimson sunset. On a hill above us stood a picturesque old mill, from the great wheel of which the water fell in glittering cascades; nigher still was the miller's pretty home. In the yard the bushes were weighted with roses and purple and white lilac, while the orchard at the back of the house was a mass of white and pink bloom. Nature seemed to rebuke the grim monster, war, trailing horror and suffering and devastation over all her fair beauty, until for very shame, in that sweet springtide, he seemed to hide his head for a time, and the songs of mating birds replaced the roar of cannon and musketry. The miller and his family, up in the pretty farm house might have forgotten that there was bloody strife in their fair land, but for our white tents and blue coated men down on the banks of Cedar Creek.

Was there ever a lovlier springtime to me? It was a time of peace and rest, and to me, of sweet, subtle happiness. Of all the week Monday was the red letter day, for, as the sun rose up from behind the mountains, I with several companions, would make my way up the winding road to a little shed standing under the shadow of a giant oak. There we would wait, watching the gate of the farm house high on the hill above us. After a little while that gate would open, and the slender form of a girl, carrying a churn in one hand, and a pail of rich yellow cream in the other, would come tripping down the winding path towards us. Off would go all our caps, and simultaneously we would exclaim.

"Good morning, Miss Sallie, we've come to help you churn."

Ah, Miss Sallie, Miss Sallie! Long years have passed since then. I am gray headed now, a father—aye, a grandfather—but I can see you as plainly as I saw you then, with the smile on your red lips, the early sunlight on your golden hair, and the bloom on your cheeks as pink as the apple blossoms up in the oldo rchard. And I sometimes ask myself a little guiltily if any days in after life were ever as happy as those spring mornings, fragrant with the odor of roses, when the boys in blue helped the fair faced southern girl to churn under the blossoming oak. How sweet, how gracious, you were to see us, stanch little southerner you were! How merry you laughed at our awkwardness in pouring in the cream and handling the dasher! And, ah, how pleased were your sweet blue eyes as you watched us drink, with such undisguised relish, the cool, delicious buttermilk!

Then one day came the order to break camp, and with a dull heavy pain at my heart I marched up the winding road. It was Monday, just about sunrise, too, and as we went by the farm house we saw Miss Sallie standing at the gate with her churn and cream pail.

"Three cheers for Miss Sallie" cried one of the boys, and three loud cheers went up.

She smiled and blushed, and perhaps it was only my fancy, that the blue eyes were sad and wistful. The blossoms from the oak had formed a soft, snowy carpet around the little shed. A lump rose in my throat as we tramped by, crushing and discoloring it, and soldier though I was to the heart's core, I would have given five years of my life to have stayed behind and helped Miss Sallie churn just once more.

The war came to an end, and I went back to my northern home. In time I wooed a northern sweetheart and married a northern wife. The long years went by, children were born to us, grew up, and married, and grandchildren stood about my knee. And when they clamored for a story I would tell them how the boys in blue once helped Miss Sallie to churn down in old Virginia. My wife would always smile as she listened to the story, and one day she remarked to me:

"I should like very much to see Miss Sallie. Suppose we take a trip down South and look her up?"

Well, though I am a little ashamed to confess it, my elderly heart bounded like a boy's, and as I eagerly assented, my wife smiled again, and said:

"I shall always believe that Miss Sallie was your first love."

"But she would never have married a Yankee," I replied, laughing a little consciously.

"I don't know about that," my wife went on. "The Yankee was too much of a coward to ask her. I wonder if she's single still;" and I wondered also.

So one day my wife and I started for the South. We went to Strasburg, a little town at the foot of the Massanutten Mountain, about five miles from Cedar creek. That night my wife informed me that she had been interviewing the wife of the proprietor in regard to Miss Sallie.

"She still lives at the old place," said my wife, "and she is Miss Sallie still."

The next morning the sun was hardly up when we started for Cedar creek. I was very silent during that drive. The sun was rising above the mountains when we turned down the winding road leading to the mill.

"There! there is the shed!" I cried as a turn in the road brought it in sight.

"And perhaps we shall find Miss Sallie churning still," said my wife laughing.

The carriage now stood directly in front of the shed, and my heart gave a quick leap as I laid my hands on the reins and brought the horses to a standstill, for a woman stood within and turned her face in surprised inquiry towards us. The next moment I had leaped from the carriage, while her blue eyes looked in mild wonder at the impetuous elderly gentleman. Of course she did not know me after thirty years. But though her sunny hair had turned to gray, and the apple blossom pink had faded from her cheeks, I knew her. She was Miss Sallie and she was churning still.—Munsey's Magazine.

The First Ice Boat.

Oliver Booth of Poughkeesie, N. Y., owns an iceboat which was built in 1790. It is believed to be the first ice boat ever built. The Poughkeepsie ice yachts set the pace today, and the local builders are proud of the ancient craft which gives their work additional claim to fame.

Just The Same.

Smithy—Jiggers is dead broke since he broke himself of the borrowing habit.

Barnaby—But he was always dead broke when he was borrowing, so what's the difference?—Truth.

It is thought that the Cooks Inlet section will be the scene of A... next placer boom.

New Styles of Cooking.

The trouble in the Transvaal and surrounding territory is attracting deep interest to that portion of the world. Among the curious things learned have been the odd ways of cooking practiced by South African tribes. A very palatable dish is made of an elephants foot by putting it in a hole, building a fire around and over it and keeping it going for five or six hours. Elephant's tail is said to be very delicious when washed, scraped and fried until it is a rich, dark brown. A novel way of making a stew is practiced by one tribe, who use the animal's skin as a receptacle for water; put in this water vegetables and pieces of meat and then add red hot stones. This generates vast quantities of steam and makes the water boil without injuring greatly the surrounding hide. At the end of an hour the contents are cooked and the water has become a very fair soup, but a little peculiar on account of the amount of cinders, sand and fragments of stone it contains. Still another tribe cook locusts, grasshoppers, katydids and the like, and say that they taste a great deal like an overcooked shrimp. None of the native tribes so far as known ever eat the lion, but they have no such feeling toward other carnivora. The jackal, wolf and fox are more or less popular and are reported to give a very palatable meat. Where our people hang mutton, game and the immortal goose to season it and give it a rich flavor, many South African tribes secure the same result by burying meat in the earth and leaving it there for several days. No civilized man has ever been able to eat it in this condition, but the savages pronounce it a delicacy of extraordinary merit. Not alone is canibalism practiced to a large extent, but our Darwinian cousins of the monkey tribe share the same fate. In the districts where they are employed as food they are very timid and fly at the sight of a human being even at a great distance. In other territories, where they are unmolested, they are about as tame and fearless as in South America or India. In nearly all of these tribes the woman is the cook and the waiter, very often the butcher and sometimes the hunter. As in all other savage races, man is only too glad to throw all the hard work of life upon what antiquity terms the "weaker vassal."—New York Mail and Express.

Last Stand of a Maimed Fox.

A fox was captured near Heathsville, Va., recently, that possessed only three legs. Several young men were on their way to the village when a dog belonging to them started the fox and gave chase. A hound belonging to a neighbor was then turned loose to assist the other dog. When the fox realized that there was no chance for his life he crouched behind a bush, waited for the dogs to come up, and gave battle. He was soon dispatched, and on examination was found to be minus a leg. The missing member had been cut off, presumably by a steel trap, close to the shoulder, and the wound had healed up nicely. Those who saw the chase said it was wonderful what speed the fox could make, although thus disabled. The poor fellow has probably had to devise many a cunning trick and use his wits to the utmost to prevent being caught by the many packs of hounds that have been hunting around here during the fall and winter.—Richmond Dispatch.

Hard Lines of English Peasantry.

A farm laborer died recently in Lyminster, near Arundel England, whose wages while he could work were $3.60 a week, as he never rose above a working bailiff and cowman. He was able to work until he was 73, when he had saved no less then $10,000 On this he managed to live for twelve years longer, with little help from his former employer. Then, as he out lived his savings, he had to be relieved by the poor law officials, dying a pauper at 87.

A Stream of Death

Before the English occupation of India it was estimated that the Ganges carried to the sea every year 100,000 dead bodies. It was then considered by the Hindoos that the happiest death was found in its waves, and all pious Hindoos who could do so were carried to its banks and placed in its waters to die.

A Misfit Glass Eye.

One of the most gallant of the soldiers sent by California to the war had the misfortune in his last engagement to be struck in the eye by a spent ball. The bullet ruined the sight of that eye, of course, and the optic had to be removed. At first, the soldier covered the empty orb with a green patch, and in the glory of showing a wound received in action did not seem to mind the disfigurement. But as the years went by, and fame and high social position came to him, he concluded that he would replace the patch by an artificial eye.

Accordingly, he sent to Paris, for a glass optic, and in due course of time it came to him by mail. Unfortunately, the eye was a misfit, and do what he could, the wounded veteran could not hold it in place. At all hours, at all places, and in the most embarrassing fashion, the eye had a way of falling out, and on one accasion nearly upset a dinner party by falling upon the table and rolling across the cloth. Eventually the eccentricity of the glass optic became a by-word in the soldier's set, but all unconscious of the merriment at his misfortune he kept on wearing it.

Eventually, at a time when a particularly gruesome antic of the general's glass eye had made conversation all over the town, he happened to be invited to a house party at which the late William Travers was a guest. In the middle of the luncheon one of the maids carrying a tray piled with glass ware and china, tripped at the head of the oaken stairs and discharged her burden with a tremendous crash to the bottom. The echoes had hardly died away when Travers pushed back his chair, jumped to his feet, and in an awe-struck stage whisper, exclaimed, "My goodness, there goes the general's glass eye again."—New York World.

A Bright Dog.

Dr. John Clark Ridpath, the historian, living at Greencastle, has a rather remarkable dog, known all over Putnam county as Duke. He seems to have absorbed some of the rare intelligence of his noted master. One day Duke was sent to the butcher's shop after a basket of meat. He secured it and started home. On the way he met a fellow canine that was determined to have some of that meat. After worrying with the highway-man for awhile, Duke decided that more heroic measures were necessary, and, jumping upon a stone fence nearby, he deposited the basket out of harm's way, leaped to the ground and walloped the life out of his enemy. When the latter went howling away, Duke secured his basket of meat and trotted homeward. He goes to the postoffice after the mail. He asks for it by placing his fore feet on the delivery window and barking. This act he performs several times a day, never loses a letter and never forgets what time to go. He almost invariably eats at his master's side. In fact the bites of meat alternate between his mouth and Dr. Ridpath's. He is a collie and can do a score of odd tricks. —Indianapolis Sun.

Making Holes in Glass.

Strong glass plates are bored through by means of rotary brass tubes of the necessary diameter, which are filled with water during boring. To the water is added finely powdered emery. Thinner glass may be perforated with holes in an easier manner by pressing a disk of wet clay upon the glass, and making a hole through the clay of the size required, so that the glass is laid bare. Moulten lead is then poured in the hole, and lead and glass drop down at once. This method is based upon the quick local heating of the glass, whereby a circular crack is produced, the outline of which corresponds to the whole made in the clay. When moulton lead is poured upon clay so that steam is generated from the moisture the lead is very apt to fly. Putty, although, of course, more expensive, is much to be preferred to clay for use in connection with moulten lead.—American Machinist.

The ministers of Hamilton, Canada, tried to prevent the street cars from running on Sunday, but the courts have ... is not contrary to the Su...

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

No country in the world can rival Japan in the matter of hot springs.

Every civilized nation of the world, even China and Japan, now has a weather bureau.

Australia has no rivers of any consequence. The interior of this vast continent is almost destitute of water.

The skull of a human being is apt to become thin in spots over the sections of the brain which are most exercised.

The Lehigh Valley railroad is equipping its stations with a complete surgical outfit so that in case of accident the injured might be treated without delay.

Sunlight is superior is artificial light because its action upon the eye is equable and unvarying, hence it may be used for a long time without fatigue.

It is said that foods stored in an atmosphere of carbonic acid gas are preserved indefinitely, the freshness and flavor being retained better than by the use of ice.

A medical writer says that seas of mineral water and such things have been poured into unoffending stomachs to cure headaches, which are due to abuse of the eyes.

Attention has been called by a medical man to the number of bow-legged children in Glasgow, Scotland, and he assigns as a reason a softness of the bones, caused by eating too many potatoes.

The whale's nose is on the top of the head, at least his nostrils are situated there, through which he expels columns of water during the action known as "spouting." Whales only spout when they are feeding.

The most recent numeration of the asteroids, made last November, sets the figure at 407 for those which have received a regular "number," as having been sufficiently observed to determine their orbits. There are several others waiting to be numbered as soon as it can be ascertained if they are really new or undiscovered old ones.

An Italian sea captain has found that by having a number of holes in bag of a sail the power of the wind is materially increased. He says that it acts to prevent a cushion of dead air gathering in the sail. It is reported that actual experiments with the perforated sails show an increase of 25 percent and over in the speed of the vessel.

A man in Lynn, Mass., the other day accidentally pushed a gas jet against an iron column. It happened that through a cross wire the ironwork of the building was connected with the trolley current, and there was a tremendous flash. The man was hurled across the room and badly shocked and burned, and the building took fire.

Queer Last Bequests.

A merchant of Aberdeen bequeathed a portion of his wearing apparel to his wife recently, because as the will said, "She had been accustomed to wearing them during their married life."

A French medical paper states that on opening a short time ago the will of a member the following clause was found: "I request that my body be delivered to the Paris gas company for the purpose of being placed in a retort. I always used my mental powers for the enlightenment of the population at large, and I desire that my body be used to enlighten the people after my death."

Squire Hawley, of the village of Hatfield, near Doncaster, left the whole of his estate to his groom, on the condition that his funeral should be conducted in a certain way. He died and was buried in his own garden in the centre of the graves of his cattle which had died during the rinderpest. He was laid out in full hunting costume, including spurs and whip, and was carried from the house to the grave on a coffin board, when he was placed in a stone coffin, which, weighing more than a ton, had to be lowered by means of a crane. His pony was shot and buried at his feet in bridle and saddle, and his dog and an old fox were buried at his head.—New York Herald.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

One cannot live on air bubbles of sentiment.

No matter what a man does, he should, at least, be consistent.

On the verge of a decision we all tremble—hope pauses with fluttering wings.

Woman's genius, if great and true, equals and often surpasses that of the most gifted man.

When one is attempting noble things, it is surely noble to suffer whatever it may befall us to suffer.

There are some griefs that can follow and persecute to the very death even Croesus among his bags of bullion.

Remembrance is very bitter, and useless as well; to play one's part out bravely in the world, it is necessary to have no memory.

Men never fall in love at first with a woman's mind. They may learn to admire the mind afterward, if it is worth admiration, but it is a secondary thing.

What a false world we live in—how full of the most gracefully performed lying! The pity of it is that when truth is spoken no one can be got to believe it.

There are two things, each of which he will seldom fail to discover who seeks for it in earnest; the knowledge of what he ought to do, and a plausible pretext to do what he likes.

Everybody is making mistakes. Everybody is finding out afterward that he has made a mistake. But there can be no greater mistake than the stopping to worry over a mistake already made.

Having made up your mind that trying to be happy is as silly as chasing fireflies in summer to furnish you with fire in winter, the next thing is to save your money and you will become known as a sensible man.

If a singular antipathy seizes you for a particular friend at first sight, no matter how foolish it may seem, you may be almost sure that there is something in your two natures that is destined to remain in constant opposition.

Its a deep mystery—the way the heart of a man turns to one woman out of all he has seen in the world, and make it easier for him to work seven years for her, like Jacob did for Rachel sooner than have any other woman for the asking.

Proof Against Death.

If ever a man bore a charmed life Nathan Porter of Cross Creek township is that man, says the Ohio State Journal. He has met with a number of accidents that would have ended the life of an ordinary human being, but Nate seemed possessed of as many lives as a cat. He is just now going about after having been kicked squarely in the forehead by a horse. His apple orchard is on the side of a hill, and he has fallen out of nearly every tree on it several times and never was more than shaken up. Some years ago a log rolled over him as if he had been made of rubber.

Then he went to a picnic and ate ice cream that poisoned everybody else, but beyond a little sick spell he never felt any discomfort. Several years ago his physician told him to settle up his affairs and prepare for the heaeafter as he might live two years and he might not live more than two days. He came out of the doctor's office and shook hands with his friends telling them of the good news imparted to him by the doctor, and adding that he did not believe a word that the doctor had told him. He lived to see the doctor buried. Porter holds that he could go through a powder mill explosion without even smelling the powder. The minor accidents he has met with are innumerable and he expects to die naturally.

Trying to Please.

"You had better scare up a few rebels and pull off some sort of a battle tomorrow," said the Spanish General.

"I will do the best I can," replied the adjutant; "but what's the necessity?"

"Two new war correspondents arrived this morning, and I want to give them so... sort of a run for their money."—Puck.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

Those married men who have already provided seal skin sacques for their wives and daughters are in big luck, thinks the Atlanta Journal. The Alaska seal herd has decreased from 47,000,000 to 175,000 in twenty-five years and is still falling. It is a consolation that a pretty woman dares not need a seal skin cover to make her attractive.

An era of good times in the South is reported by the Knoxville (Tenn.) Times, which says that: "Carefully conducted inquiries covering every Southern State develop the fact that the farmers generally are carrying less debt than ever before, are producing more for home consumption, and putting more money into farm improvements than at any time since the war." The corn crop of the South last year is shown, by the completed statistics, to have been 607,665,017 bushels, which is 124,000,600 bushels more than any previous crop.

Harry Furniss, the London caricaturist, told a story on George Augustus Sala, at a dinner in Scotland, to the effect that when Sala was a boy he intended to be a painter. At a drawing test, for admission to an art academy, Sala handed in the prescribed three drawings of the human hand, head and foot, but in the foot were six toes. Sala sued Furniss for libel on seeing the story repeated in print. Such are the English laws that although the damages were mighty small, Furniss had to pay the costs, including lawyers' fees on both sides, when a judgment was brought against him.

In the opinion of the New York World, "the present condition of its treasury makes it necessary for Spain to bring the war in Cuba to the earliest conclusion possible. The deficit in the treasury dates back to 1870, and in time of peace it has been running from 47,000,000 to 112,000,000 pesetas. The country has a debt of 1,962,000,000 pesetas, or over a billion dollars. Its credit was long ago exhausted. The resources of the Bank of Spain at the beginning of the Cuban war were about $100,000,000 in gold and silver, with paper outstanding against it at the rate of more than two dollars to one. The common people of Spain illustrate many of the homely virtues. Americans who have lived among them are apt to be enthusiastic in their praise, but Spain is the least advanced country of Western Europe. It has hardly emerged from the fifteenth century, and it would be incapable of carrying on an offensive war against a modern Power. Compared with the United States Spain is a mere infant in wealth, population and resources. Its 17,000,000 people are mostly simple peasants, living obscurely and almost contentedly under an oppressive Government, which though it wrings from them all it can, can take little because their production is limited and their net profits nothing. They have aspired for freedom and progress, but they have been unable to break from the control of the haughtiest and most incapable aristocracy in Europe. But perhaps for them, as for the people of Cuba, the day of enfranchisement may not be distant."

Los Angeles dispatches chronicle the fact that at the distribution of the estate of Pio Pico, the last Governor of California under Mexican rule, only a gold watch and chain were left. Pico was the richest of all the native California hidalgos except Vallejo. He owned ranches which covered hundreds of thousands of acres, and his cattle were unnumbered, but, like Vallejo, he had no conception of the value of land or money. When the the Americans swarmed in he played the hospitable host for several years, and when his ready money was gone he mortgaged his estates. Twenty years saw him stripped of everything, and for the last decade the man who was once the most powerful in the State simply vegetated on the bounty of old friends. In the same way General Vallejo, who once owned the best lands in Central California, died in poverty in the house which once witnessed his princely entertainments.

EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association.

ARRESTED AND BROUGHT BACK.

Four Young Thieves—Coal Chute Burned—Butler's Break—Selma's New Cotton Mill—Painful Accident at Browton—Night Watchman Assaulted—New Daily.

New Daily for Selma.

Selma is to have a new democratic morning daily, to be called the Daily News, with R. E. O'Neil editor, Frank Connelly associate editor and S. D. Barr business manager.

Coal Chute Burned.

The coal chute of the Southern railroad at Birmingham, with several coal cars and a lot of coal, was burned Friday night. Loss estimated at $4,000, partly covered by insurance.

Butler Caught on the Wing.

A dispatch from Atlanta says: Butler, who was taken from a berth in a sleeping car here last night, refuses to talk about his case. He is being held for a requisition. The police think that he will make a fight against going back to Alabama if he sees any chance.

Brought Back for Trial.

Will Mooney, the 15-year-old white boy who some time ago stabbed and killed at Langdale, Ala., Jack Oliver, a young white man, with whom he became involved in a difficulty, was captured at Talbotton, Ga., where he has been hiding out. The sheriff of Chambers county has conveyed the prisoner to Langdale. Mooney claims the deed was done in self-defense, Night Watchman Assaulted.

One night last week Jeff Henderson and two men at present unknown, brutally attacked Night-watchman King at Dwight Cotton factory, Alabama City, knocking him down with a brick and cutting him in the neck. King fired twice at his assailants without effect. Henderson was arrested seven miles from the city, and his companions will probably be captured.

People's Cotton Factory.

The committee on location of the People's Cotton factory at Montgomery has purchased twenty-three acres of land near West End for the site of the factory, and has made arrangements with the railroads to extend a track to the property. Material for building the factory will be placed on the ground at once and the work of construction will be commenced within the next sixty days.

Beginning Business Early.

Birmingham officers arrested last week four very youthful convicts. They were John Jackson and Griffin Skinner, 9 years old each, Russell Anderson, 10, and William Jackson, 11 years old. They are negroes and had entered a residence and stole therefrom a silver watch and other valuables They were afraid the watch would give them away and they smashed it into an unrecognizable mass.

Selma's Cotton Mill Contract.

The contract for the erection of the Selma Cotton Mill company's plant has been awarded to T. C. Thompson & Bro., of Birmingham. Dirt will be broken April 15, and the building will be completed by September 1. The building will be erected on the new Praray system. The company was organized one year ago, and has raised $100,000 at $1 per week per share of stock. The holders as a rule are wage earners.

More of Butler's Bad Break.

Manager Chamberlain, of the Jesse French Piano company, is over in Opelika looking after the affairs of one Thomas Butler, who acted as their agent and also handled a general line of musical goods. Butler skipped out owing a large amount of money. He beat the French company among others, and also defrauded his business partner, Mr. H. J. Daughtry, the clever young gentleman who has made a reputation as the author of the song "In Love Too Young."

Pistol Versus Knife.

On Friday morning, at Bolling, Jesse W. Flowers was shot by section boss J. A. Cory, of the L. & N. railroad. Flowers had been discharged by Mr. Cory and when the latter called to notify him to vacate the house he occupied they got into an altercation. Flowers, it is said, drew his knife and was advancing on Cory when the latter fired, the ball passing through the right ear and lodging in the skull. He is not believed to be dangerously hurt. Mr. Cory has given bond in the sum of $250.

Butler Bit the Opelikans.

A few months ago Thomas Butler, haling from Boston, opened at Opelika, under the firm name of Thomas Butler & Co., a large stock of musical instruments, at wholesale and retail. Butler was a high flyer. He purchased fine horses and bought diamonds, and in fact his patronage of all trades was most liberal. He took all that was offered on "a few days" time. On Friday morning last Opelika was astounded by the news that Butler had departed. The firm's funds were gone too. The losses are not yet summed up with exactness, but the amount is somewhere in the thousands.

Probably Fatal Accident.

One day last week Albert Sleigh, a young man of Brewton, was feeding a moulding machine in the planing mill of the Peters Lumber company, and it appears that while pushing a piece of moulding through the machine a defect in the wood caused it to break and one end of it was hurled with great force striking the young man in the stomach and penetrating the bowels. Doctors were called, who, after dressing the wound, telegraphed for Dr. Good, of Mobile, who came and performed an operation Friday morning. At last accounts the young man was resting quietly and his recovery is hoped for.

Two Painful Accidents.

On Friday afternoon at Clayton Major H. W. B. Price was out driving with his wife when the horse became frightened at the raising of Mrs. Price's parasol and attempted to run. Finding himself held firmly under control he began kicking. Major Price received one of the kicks on his leg between the foot and knee, breaking both the bones. His wife escaped from the buggy unhurt. Master Frank Valentine was an the same evening throw frem his bicycle, falling heavily against the corner of a street bridge. His injuries are very painful, though at this hour it is not known whether or not they are of a serious nature.

Ex-Judge Talley Acquitted.

The trial of ex-Circuit Judge Talley at Scottsboro for complicity in the murder of Banker Ross at Stevenson, Ala., was brought to a close Saturday and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The Skelton brothers were tried for the murder some time ago and were acquitted. The case has created a great deal of interest in northern Alabama, where all the parties concerned are well known. The state offered to nolle prosequi the case, but Judge Talley refused to accept such procedure, and demanded a full and complete vindication.

State Convention of Y. M. C. A.

The state convention of the Young Men's Christian Association convened in Birmingham in its eighteenth annual session Thursday night with a large attendance. The following were elected officers: P. W. Taylor, of Birmingham, president; W. E. Holloway, of Montgomery, A. F. Armstrong and J. W. Beeson, of Auburn, vice-presidents. and J. B. T. Cummings, of Selma, secretary. Mayor VanHoose delivered an address of welcome, responded to by J. B. T. Cummings, of Selma. Addresses were delivered on the work among university students by John L. Marshall, Jr., of Lincoln, Neb., secretary of the volunteer movement, and F. S. Brockman, of New York, international college secretary.

Refused to Bury His Dead.

Enoch Weaver appeared at the council chamber, of Selma, Friday afternoon and said he wanted to swear out a warrant against his son-in-law, Tom May, to compel him to bury his child. The child died Monday and is still unburied. The body has of course grown offensive. Turnkey Alum hardly knew what charge to book against the unnatural father, but at last decided to charge him with violating the sanitary laws and made the warrant so read. May was arrested. He positively refuses to bear the expense of the burial. He works for the Southern railway and could easily make the proper arrangements for the funeral if he felt disposed.

Common Bait to Catch Suckers.

The negroes in and around Scottsboro, Jackson county, are in sackcloth and ashes. They have been worked by a shrewd member of their race who gave his name as Johnson and who claimed to hail from Boston. Johnson entered the field for the purpose of organizing a benevolent order, which had for its object doing all the good possible for the colored brother at the minimum of cost. His game was an inviting one, and the innocent Scottsboro darkies proceeded to bite. He required the payment of certain dues or fees in advance, and, to get in on the ground floor, the darkies came up with the stuff. After Johnson had raked in about $100 he thought he would pull out for a new field, and all that the Scottsboro darkies now have of their money is the memory that it once was theirs.

Postmaster in Trouble.

Deputy Marshal Skelton arrived at Scottsboro last Thursday and placed in jail T. W. Higden, of Higden, P. O., who is charged with robbing his own postoffice of $66 in stamps. On the night of October 9, 1895, the office at Higden was robbed of the amount named. Two boys slept in the same room the office was in and say they were not awakened, though several planks were prised from the house to gain entrance, and Higden and his family occupied an adjoining room, but they also were undisturbed. Some little while after the robbery, Higden paid several small debts and bought supplies, paying in postage stamps, and these facts, together with some remarks made by a woman whom he was supporting, aroused suspicion and eventually caused his arrest. He has been postmaster for fifteen years.

Lost His Life Through Over-Zeal.

Last Friday morning shortly after midnight, near Jeptha, in Randolph county, revenue officers raided and destroyed one of the largest and most complete illicit distilleries ever captured in this country. The driver of the officers' team was left with a rifle to guard the vehicle while they went to arrest the moonshiners. The driver, whose name was Harvey Moseley, thought that he would be needed to assist the officers, and accordingly left the team and approached the house from the wrong direction, and Alvin Sorrell, of the revenue corps, seeing him in the dark with a gun, supposed him to be a moonshiner and commanded him to halt. On the other hand the driver supposed Sorrell to be a moonshiner and presented his rifle to fire, but Sorrell fired first and killed him The moonshiners were arrested.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.

In Effect February 23, 1896.

	No. *8			No. *7
.....	5.15pm	lv...Selma...ar		10.20am	.....
.....	7.30pm	Birmingh'm Jct		8.15am	.....
.....	8.15pm	..Gurnee Jnct..		7.20am	.....
.....	9.35pm	ar.Birm'ham.lv		6.00am	.....
No. §14	No. †12			No. †11	No. §13
7.00am	6.00am	lv...Akron...ar		7.50pm	6.23pm
7.58am	7.20am	..Greensboro..		6.35pm	5.31pm
9.13am	9.00am	.....Marion		5 00pm	4.16pm
10.45am	10.45am	ar...Selma...lv		3.00pm	3.00pm
No. *16	No. †42			No. *15	No. †41
7.00am	7.45am	lv..Meridian..ar		9.30pm	8.45pm
8.00am	9.20am	.....York.....		8.25pm	6 55pm
9.12am	11.50am	...Demopalis...		7.00pm	4.00pm
10.14am	2.33pm	ar Uniontownlv		5.55pm	1 29pm
11.30am	5.15pm	ar Selma lv		4 30pm	10.45am
1.00pm	8.30pm	lv Selma ar		2.45pm	6.00am
2.05pm	12.50am	...Montevallo..		12.37pm	1.58am
2.20pm	1.35am	.....Calera.....		12.22pm	1.35am
3.43pm	2.18am	..Columbiana..		11.57am	12.28am
4.17pm	3.22am	..Childersburg.		11.23am	11.30pm
4.54pm	5.00am	...Talladega....		10.45am	10.24pm
5.34pm	6.45am	.....Oxford....		9.59am	.850pm
6.10pm	7.20am	.....Anniston....		9.47am	8 00pm
10.00pm	.....	ar..Atlanta..lv		6.00am	.....
6.31pm	9.44am	..Jacksonville..		9.06am	6.31pm
6.58pm	10.39am	....Piedmont....		8.40am	5.27pm
7.30pm	11.30am	....Tecumseh...		8 12am	4.32pm
7.52pm	12.10pm	.Cave Springs..		7.51am	3.50pm
8.30pm	1.20pm	.....Rome.....		7.15am	2.50pm

East Bound.	No. *7	No. *13	No. *9
Rome.....lv	1.30am	7.22am	4.33pm
Dalton.....	2.55am	8.29am	5.43pm
Chattanooga.....	4.25am	9.55am	7.15pm
Knoxville.....	8.00am	1.25pm	.....
Morristown.....	10.25am	2.32pm	.....
Bristol.....ar	5.15am	5.15pm	.....

38*	36*	*26		*37	*35	*25
a. m.	p.m.	a.m		p. m.	p. m.	p.m
5.55	3.35	.....	lv Birmingham ar	10.10	12.20	....
7.11	5.00	.....	.....Pell City.....	8.55	10.55	....
7.40	5.35	.....	....Eastaboga....	8.24	10.20	....
8.12	6.10	.....	.....Anniston.....	8.00	9.52	....
8.20	6.20	.....	.....Oxford.....	7.40	9.37	....
8.57	7.00	.....	.....Heflin	7.00	8.57	....
9.10	7.15	.....	..Edwardsville...	6.48	7.45	....
9.18	7.27	.....	...Fruithurst.....	6.38	8.34	....
9.35	7.50	6.00	....Tallapoosa...	6.22	8.15	7.50
10.38	9.00	7.21	..Douglasville...	.....	7.01	6.30
.....	9.11	7.31	..Lithia Springs.	.....	6.50	6.15
11.40	10.00	8.20	ar...Atlanta...lv	4.15	6.00	5.15
a. m.	p.m.	a.m		p.m	a.m.	p.m

East Bound.	No. *38	No. *36
Atlanta.....lv	12.00n n	11.15pm
Charlotte.....	8.30pm	8.50am
Danville.....	12.10am	1.40pm
Lynchburg.....	1.58am	3.50pm
Charlottesville.....	3.38am	5.50pm
Washington.....	6.42am	9.40pm
Baltimore.....	8.05am	11.25pm
Philadelphia.....	10.25am	2.56am
New York.....	12.53pm	6.23am
Boston.....ar	8.30pm	3.30pm

No. 38 "Washington and Southwestern Limited." Solid Pullman Vestibule train Atlanta to New York, carrying Pullman Sleeping car Birmingham to New York Dining car Atlanta to Greensboro and Washington to New York.

No. 36 "U. S. Fast Mail." Pullman Drawing Room Buffet Sleeping cars Atlanta to New York.

South Bound	No. 36*	No. 38*
Birmingham.....lv	3.35pm	5.55am
Atlanta.....ar	10.00pm	11.40am
Atlanta.....lv	10.50pm	4.10pm
Macon.....	1.23am	7.30pm
Brunswick	7.15am	.....
Jacksonville.....	8 20am	7.00am

Train No. 38 carries Sleeping Car Birmingham to Atlanta.

Train No. 36 carries Pullman Drawing Room Buffet Sleeping Car Birmingham to Jacksonville.

*Daily, †Daily Except Sunday. §Sunday Only.

W. H. GREEN, Gen. Supt. Washington, D. C.
J. M. CULP, Traf. Mgr. Washington, D. C.
W. A. TURK, G. P. A. Washington, D. C.
C. A. BENSCOTER, A. G. P. A. Chatanooga, Tenn.

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Re-union of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates. The dates of sale and limits will be announced later. Call on any Southern Railway Agent for further information. tf

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, Shelby County.

Under and by virture of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will proceed to sell on Monday, the 24th day of February, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corner of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly dieection one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff,
tf Shelby County, Alabama.

Continued to March 23, 1896.

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Shelby County.

Probate Court for Shelby County, Alabama.—Letters of administration upon the estate of J. S. Davis, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 3d day of February, 1896, by the Hon. D. R. McMillan, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.

H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.

F. E. Davis and
A. E. Davis,
feb 6 3t Administrators.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.

Tennessee Burt Oats.

United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8 B'ham & Selma..... 8:10 a m
No. 9 Selma & B'ham..... 7:25 p m
No. 15 South.....12:37 p m
No. 16 North..... 3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

George Jacobs, of Turner Station, stopped over a while in Montevallo last week.

Mrs. Edwards, of Bismarck, was in Montevallo Saturday.

Miss Joanna Farrington is visiting relatives here this week,

Their friends in Montevallo were glad to have with them Sunday evening Messrs. Edgar Duran and R. E. Bowdon, of Calera.

Dr. J. H. Gunn, of Calera, accompanied Rufus Sanders to Montevallo and back on the 27th.

Joe McMillan, the popular shoe man, paid our town a visit last week,

Mr, Crswford Suttle, of Centreville, spent Saturday with his sistsr, Mrs. Anno Davis, of this place.

Mr. William Pilgreen and wife, visited Montevallo on the 28th.

One of the Southern's livest section bosses, Henry Busby, was in town Saturday evening attending upon his lodge.

Messrs. T. J. Perry and Walter Nicholls, of Birmingham, spent Sunday evening in Montevallo.

Rev. Mr. Sturdivant, of Banford, was in town Monday.

Mrs. Mick Kuffner and Mrs. Cobb, of Aldrich, were shopping in Montevallo Monday.

Dr. Givhan spent several days in Jemison this week.

Dr. Claughton visited Columbiana this week upon invitation from the grand jury,

"Potts" is doing petit jury duty this week.

Mr. Charlton Smith was in town Monday, accompanied by one of the prettiest little girls we know of—his daughter.

Mr. J. G. Barnwell, of Rome, Ga., was in Montevallo this week. Mr. Barnwell is a capable and efficient architect and has quite a reputation in his line. It would probably be difficult to find a man better fitted for the erection of the Industrial school buildings.

Miss Osie Pilgreen and Mrs. Alice Finley, of Calera, were in Montevallo Monday looking at millinery goods.

We call attention to the advertisement of Mrs. T. A. Best who has recently opened a millinery store in our city. Mrs. Best has had considerable experience in this line of business and when she trims a hat you may rest assured it is in the latest syle.

Mrs. McCauley, the reliable and enterprising milliner, comes to the front with a stylish lot of new goods. Read her advertisement in another column; She needs no praise at our hands. Her many customers will be pleased to learn she has moved over in town and is well prepared to serve her friends.

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

Montevallo Christians enjoyed their usual worship of God last Sunday under the guidance of Rev. Mr. Sinnod, a Presbyterian minister of Columbiana. Two good sermons, morning and night, were preached.

Burglars entered the store of S. A. Latham & Bro. on the night of the 25th by boring up through the floor in the rear part. Change which had been left in the drawer and an uncertain quantity of shoes, clothing, etc., were taken. A reward of $25 was offered next morning for the detection of the culprits. People who live in a growing, not to say booming, town like Montevallo will have to begin to take precautions against such occurrences.

Mrs. Crusoe, of Anniston, is visiting this week her sister, Mrs. J. L. McConaughy, whose serious illness for the past week we regret to chronicle.

Mr. Will McKennis, of Blocton, visited Montevallo Saturday to see his sister, Miss Signa Christie.

Transients at the Central this week: Francis B. Lloyd, Rocky Creek, Ala.; Dr. J. H. Gunn, Calera; Joe McMillan, Knoxville; H. B. Johnson, Selma; B. Eberhart, Birmingham; J. G. Barnwell, Rome, Ga.; Ed Lilienthal, Selma; L. Thalheimer, Selma; Otto W. Puls, Birmingham.

On Saturday, the 28th ult., Mrs. S. H. McCauley opened at the Lyman building her splendid display of headdresses, hats, ribbons, fine laces and the like. The opening was quite a success and those capable of judging pronounce the establishment a credit to the town. As Montevallo now has two well-stocked millinery establishments, with capable managers, there is another opportunity for patronizing home industries offered those who wish the town well and desire to see it prosper. Whenever we can buy what is needed in the town we may be certain that thereby we help both the town and, reflectively, ourselves.

The beauty of the night, the fame of the lecturer, the justness of the cause and the advertisement given the occasion by the News, all brought out a large and appreciative audience from town and neighborhood to hear Rufus Sanders. The crowd assembled to hear a good thing, to laugh and enjoy, and they were not disappointed. We have yet to hear one who excels Francis B. Lloyd in a natural and humorous portrayal of boyhood, with all its accompaniments. Montevallo thanks Calera for presenting to them such an agreeable method of contributing to a good cause. Proceeds, $18.20.

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—REDUCED RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Re-union of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates.

Tickets from points in Georgia and Tennessee, north and east of Atlanta and Chattanooga, will be sold June 27 to 28 and 29, and from points south and west of Atlanta and Chattanooga, and east of the Mississippi river, tickets will be sold June 26, 27, 28 and 29. Final limit on tickets from all points will be July 6, 1896.

From points south and west of Atlanta, the Southern railway is the short and quick route to Richmond, Va., via the "Piedmont Air Line," and the service is peerless. From Knoxville, Tenn., Chattanooga, Tenn., and points west thereof, the route of the Southern railway is via Ashville, and through the scenic "Land of the Sky." The service of this line is unexcelled.

Call on any agent of the Southern railway for further information, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanoaga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; W. A. Turks, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G, P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST

Convention, Chattanooga, Tenn.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Southern Baptist convention, which will convene at Chattanooga, Tenn., May 8-14, inclusive, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Chattanooga, Tenn., and return at the rate of one limited, first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 5 to 8, inclusive, good to return fifteen days from date of sale, but limit on tickets may be extended, allowing fifteen days additional time, provided they are deposited with joint agent at Chattanooga on or before May 14, 1896.

The Southern Railway reaches Chattanooga from all directions, and its service is unexcelled. It is the short line and the scenic route from Louisville, in connection with the Queen and Crescent. The Southern Railway is also the scenic route from Virginia points, Washington and other eastern cities, via Asheville, and through the "Land of the Sky." It is the direct line from North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida points. The Southern Railway is the short line and operates the quicket and most convenient schedules from points on its line in Mississippi to Chattanooga.

For further information call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanoaga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala., J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; L. S. Brown, G. A, P. D., Washington, D. C.; W. A. Turk, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G. P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn. tf

Rather Light Penalty.

At Blountville, Tenn., last week Deputy United States Marshal Sam South, who is also a magistrate and merchant in this county, was sentenced to twelve years in the penitentiary for the abduction of Minnie Moore, a 17-year-old girl of respectable parentage. South is a man of family. The evidence shows that he induced the girl to go to his home, ostensibly to visit his daughters, when he caused her to become intoxicated, and accomplished her ruin.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

The route for a railroad to the extent of a mile and a half, connecting the mines of the Montevallo Lump Coal company with the Southern railway, has been surveyed and work on same will soon commence.

Mr. D. B. Lacey and wife, of Maylene, spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives here.

Mr. Walter Harrison went up to Maylene Sunday on matrimonial business.

Prof. B. C. Williams, of Gurnee, was with us Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Oscar Harrison. who has been residing at Imogene for some time, will make his future home in Dogwood.

Mr. T. H. McBride, of Cadle, was over Sunday to see home folks and thers.

Mr. C. W. Cary, of Montevallo, was in town Thursday last on professional business.

Mr. Wesley Piper, of Blocton, was in the city last week on business.

Mr. John Randall, of Calera, came over one day last week on business.

B. Y. H.

BRIEFS FROM ASHBY.

Mr. B. J. Large visited relatives at Spring Creek Saturday and Sunday last.

Miss Lily Oakly is visiting relatives in Chilton.

Messrs, H. P. Burk and Al J. Day are attending court, in Birmingham this week.

Mr. J. G. Oakly visited British Sunday.

Mr. R. E. Alvis, of Briarfield, was calling in the city Sunday afternoon.

Misses Rebeca and Lily Oakly, syent a part of last week with friends in Shelby.

Two of Briarfield's most handsome young men, passed through town Sundap evening headed west. They seem to be taking life easy at the rate of one mile in five hours.

Misses Lydia and Rebecca Oakly, attended the Sunday school convention at Antioch Saturday last.

Our depot agent says he doesn't want his name to appear in the News any more. We don't see why, as he is handsome, intelligent, refined and industrious enough, but as he wishes we will not say more.

Mr. Henry Thomas, of Thomasville, passed through the city Saturday en route to Selma. Reporter.

GURNEE SOCIAL HAPPENINGS.

We are having some beautiful spring days and the farmers are taking advantage of the fine weather.

Hon. James Mc. Martin, of Birmingham, called to see us a few days since.

James Vick, of Bessemer, calls to see his best girl every week.

Gurnee was well represented at the opera at Blocton, and they that were present say that it was fine. The first night was the "Lone Star of Texas," and the second was the "Birth of the Confederacy at Montgomery in 1861," and it could not be excelled. They all showed what the south had to contend with at the close of the war under the rule of the carpet-baggers.

Mr. R. J. Jones spent the day Tuesday in Bessemer.

What is the attraction at Birmingham Junction to call an opera troupe to spend the summer there?

Our postmaster has appointed W. L. Nolen assistant postmaster here. Will is a handsome fellow and we are glad to have him wilh us.

J. C. B., our popular agent, is carrying out his contract all O. K

Captain Gunlock, of Blocton, was in the city a few days since in the interest of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company.

Messrs. Nash and H. Cline of Blocton, were in the city today en route to Blocton.

Mr. N. Smotherman, of Randolph, passed through the city en route to Birmingham, where he is attending United States court.

Mr. W. T. Johnson spent last week with home folks in Sugar Valley, Ga.

Success to the Nhws. Big Joe.

MONTEVALLO HIGH SCHOOL HONOR ROLL.

For Month of March, 1896.

John Adams, Edgar Allen, George Allen, Daisy Canterberry, Edgar Cary, Eunice Patham, Henry Latham, Bessie McCary, Lois McCauley, Anna Nabers, Ben Rhodes, Maud Reynolds, Bessie Steele, Imogene Vandergrift, Lucile Wilkinson, Ezekiel Day, Joseph M Dill, Jr.

Primary Department- Welton Nabers, Earle Cary, Virgil Cary, Exie Rhodes, Willie Rhodes, Tabor Cary, Arthor Reynolds.

Joseph M. Dill, Princiral.

$15 REWARD

Will be paid to anyone establishing the fact that Fleming's English Remedy for colic in horses and mules has failed to relieve. For sale by H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, Montevallo, Ala.

SPRING MEETING BIRMINGHAM RACES.

Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

The Southern railway in the state of Alabama will sell tickets at reduced rates to Birmingham and return, account spring meeting of the Birmingham Jockey Club. Tickets will be sold March 16th to 21st inclusive, good to return until March 23d, 1896.

Call on any Southern railway agent for further information.

C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A.

BRIARFIELD.

We are glad to say that Thos. Moreland's little girl, who has been very sick, is improving

Two negroes were playing with a pistol a few days ago and one of them got shot in the heel.

There is considerable excitement near Lumon Killingsworth's about something that appears in the shape of a dark blue shadow. It is in any particular shape and goes from one room to another. It cannot be washed out, nor cut out, nor covered over. Messrs. Onie Moreland and Cunningham Mahan went to see it last Sunday and report it a fact. Now, Mr. Editor, do you believe in ghosts? I do not, but this is strange. You can see it any time of the day, clear or cloudy.

Miss Clara Nolen spent a day or two here last week. She was the guest of the Misses Moreland.

An interesting prayer meeting was held at the methodist church Sunday night.

Mr. M. M. Moreland now has charge of the gin and mill here and will no doubt give entire satisfaction.

Occasionally.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

We learn the teachers of the county will in all probability hold their next Institute at this place the last of April. We all remember with much pleasure their last meeting here and will welcome them again. The teachers of the children should hold a warm place in our hearts. They are a noble band, striving by their every effort to make the world better. They are at best poorly paid for their irksome labor, and when they assemble at their gatherings they should at least be made to enjoy themselves. We all remember the lively interest they took in our fight for the Industrial School. We feel that we speak the sentiments of the entire community when we extend a cordial welcome to the teachers of Shelby county.

ELI LUCUS.

The subject of this sketch died March 15, 1896, at his resieence in Chilton county, in the 47th year of his age. He was born in Shelby county, his father being one of the early settlers. The war came on just in time to deprive him of educational advantages. He adapted himself to the circumstances and cheerfully met life's responsibilities. In his early manhood he was mail carrier from Elyton to Tuskaloosa. To this public trust he was faithful and true. He was married to Miss Mary Woods. To this happy union nine children were born, one of whom preceded the father to the world beyond. He was a generous neighbor, a good citizen, a faithful husband and an affectionate father.

A Friend.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST

Convention, Chattanooga, Tenn.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Southern Baptist convention, which will convene at Chattanooga, Tenn., May 8-14, inclusive, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Chattanooga, Tenn., and return at the rate of one limited, first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 6 to 8, inclusive, good to return fifteen days from date of sale, but limit on tickets may be extended, allowing fifteen days additional time, provided they are deposited with joint agent at Chattanooga on or before May 14, 1896.

Call on any agent of the Southern Railway for further information.

C. A. Benscoter,
A. G. P. A.

Horrible Slaughter of Chinese.

Three hundred Chinese were blown to atoms by the explosion of a magazine attached to the fort at Kiang, in China, on February 24. The disaster, according to the mail advices received by steamer, was the work of mutinous soldiers, who were preparing to join a secret society of rebels in the attack on the adjacent town, but whether through carelessness or by intention is not known.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly ADVERTISER

An eight page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting to an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!
The Fireside!!
The Store!!!

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon,
Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in for collection.

Millinery Goods.

Having moved my Millinery Stock over in the business portion of town I am now prepared to serve my customers better than ever. I have just opened

The Most Complete Line of Millinery

ever brought to Montevallo. I intend to keep the reputation my goods have made and offer them cheaper than ever. Call and see me in my new store on Main Street, under the law office of E. S. Lyman, Esq.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY.

New Millinery Store.

I have just opened the nicest line of

MILLINERY GOODS

Ever brought to Montevalle. Having had large experience in this line and having some of the best connections in New York, Baltimore and St. Louis, I feel that I can suit the most fastidious.

PRICES CHEAPER THAN EVER BEFORB.

Call and see me at my new store.

MRS. T. A. BEST,

Corner of Valley and Depot Streets.

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY.

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

J. B. Lewis Co. WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear, Style, Ease, Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction.

Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery Ala.

Few Acres, but Paid For.

The traditional little farm well tilled and the little barn well filled is sufficient for contentment. Many a farmer has lost all peace in life through a mortgage put on to build a bigger barn or to take in more land than he could till.

Greatness to Come.

"Pat, who, in your opinion, was the greatest man that ever lived?"

"Faix, an' at the rate we're goin' it's me own opinion he hasn't been born yit, at all, at all."—Waverly Magazine.

When Traveling,

Whether on pleasure bent, or business, ake on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50 cent and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only.

An elastic currency is supposed to be one that we can pull our way.

"The Wooden Hen."

The illustration shown herewith is small in size, but really large when we consider that the "Wooden Hen" is no larger than a live hen, yet has double the capacity. It weighs only fifteen pounds, has a capacity of twenty-eight eggs, and while not a toy, is just as amusing, besides being instructive as well.

We suggest that every reader of this write Mr. Geo. H. Stahl, Quincy, Ills., and ask for a copy of his handsome little booklet "A," describing the "Wooden Hen;" also his large catalogue of the Model Excelsior Incubator. All sent free. Mention this paper.

Worthy of Trial—That is the Opinion of Mr. A. E. Thornton.

"I think it is best not to hide a light under bushels, and when a good remedy is discovered it is our duty to let it be known in the interest of suffering humanity.

"I have been suffering with indigestion and dyspepsia. I tried all the various remedies as well as several eminent physicians, but without avail. I was induced by a friend to try Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy and the first dose relieved me. Yours is a grand remedy for indigestion and dyspepsia. It builds up, and I recommend it as worthy of trial by all who wish to be cured." For sale by all druggists.

There are nearly 7,000 miles of streets in London.

If you have tried Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap you have decided to use it all the time. If you haven't tried it you owe it to yourself to do so. Your grocer has it, or will get it. Be sure that wrappers are printed in red.

The robin and the wren are the only birds that sing all the year. All the other birds have periodical fits of silence.

"BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" are unrivaled for relieving Coughs, Hoarseness, and all Throat Troubles. Sold only in boxes.

The wars of the last seventy years have cost Russia $1,775,000,000 and the lives of 664,000 men.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Take Parker's Ginger Tonic Home With you. It will exceed your expectations in abating colds, and many ills and aches.

I use Piso's Cure for Consumption both in my family and practice.—DR. G. W. PATTERSON, Inkster, Mich. Nov. 5, 1894.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflamation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

Pain is Not Conducive of Pleasure, especially when occasioned by corns. Hindercorns will please; it removes them perfectly.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

Spring Medicine

Your blood in Spring is almost certain to be full of impurities—the accumulation of the winter months. Bad ventilation of sleeping rooms, impure air in dwellings, factories and shops, overeating, heavy, improper foods, failure of the kidneys and liver properly to do extra work thus thrust upon them, are the prime causes of this condition. It is of the utmost importance that you

Purify Your Blood

Now, as when warmer weather comes and the tonic effect of cold bracing air is gone, your weak, thin, impure blood will not furnish necessary strength. That tired feeling, loss of appetite, will open the way for serious disease, ruined health, or breaking out of humors and impurities. To make pure, rich, red blood Hood's Sarsaparilla stands unequalled. Thousands testify to its merits. Millions take it as their Spring Medicine. Get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1
Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

IF.... your Druggist don't keep TETTERINE, send 50 cents in cash or stamps for a box to—
J. T. SHUPTRINE,
Savannah, Ga.
It Cures all Skin Diseases.

Am. N.U. No. 14. 1896.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

Three of us sat in the cabin spinning yarns. Overhead the boom creaked till the tautened sheet caught up the block with a slam; then it swung lazily back as the Carondelet rolled on the next swell.

Captain Taggert refilled his pipe and settled himself comfortably before he responded to our demand for a story.

"If a man is bent on doing a foolish thing he ought to select some other kind of foolishness than taking his wife and child on a voyage with him. I learned that lesson by experience.

"You remember my telling you about the time the old Kate Morris was seized by the Haitians for running the blockade? Well, my wife was with me that trip, and as the baby was only raising eighteen months, of course we had not left her at home. We got a big indemnity for the schooner, but that didn't prevent our being on shore for the best part of a month and passing the kind of an Easter that will give the old woman a shiver just to think about to this day.

"Pretty country, Haiti. Ever been there? It's got mountains that I couldn't begin to describe, for I aint any hand at describing, and water along the coast that beats the Mediterranean, while, as for the trees and flowers, they make you think you've got into a greenhouse as big as all outdoors. It's a real sightly place, but I wouldn't live there if you should give me the island. No, sir!

"The town where we were when the Kate Morris was held was as white and clean looking as anything you ever saw, if you stayed far enough away, but close at hand one would judge that it could stand considerable disinfecting.

"Men on horseback used to come swinging through the streets that weren't clean enough to walk in or wide enough for a wagon. The women wore long-tailed dresses, and it seemed to us that they spent most of their time climbing the hill to a little prayer house that stood on the slope just outside of the town. It was getting on to the end of Lent, and I suppose they had religion stronger than common.

"We soon found out that there were two kinds of religion on the island. All the women did not go to confess to the priest. There was an old hag that had a hut to the west'ard of where we were stopping where a good many of them used to meet and concoct deviltry. Between that hag and the priest there was more hatred than you ever saw between rival candidates for a country postoffice. There was religion, politics and war all mixed up in it, for the old woman was the Obi Woman or Voodoo witch.

"I had heard a good deal about the voodoos and how they worship a serpent and pray to the devil, and eat human flesh, and I naturally wanted to get an invitation to one of their shindigs, but I found that they chose dark nights and out-of-the-way places for the exercises, and if an outsider got caught looking on his family was apt to go in mourning.

"I took it kind of the old priest that he came and told us that we wanted to look out for that old woman. You laughed at her or did something she didn't like, he said, and she will do you harm if she can. Don't go too far and keep watch of the child.

"When he said this—not in good English, but so that he could be understood—my wife turned pale and wanted to go right back to the Kate Morris. But the Haitian Navy was in charge, and we couldn't do that, so we made the best of a bad bargain and stayed right on where we were. But there wasn't a morning came that I didn't wish Car'line and little Carrie were back with her folks in Boston.

"The old priest was friendly. He came up frequently after we got acquainted. I think he felt kindly to me because we were the only two men in the place who were not generals. It was a pleasure to see him pet little Carrie. They got to be the biggest kind of friends. But if she saw the voodoo woman anywhere she would scream and hide in her mother's skirts. Then I could see a wicked look come into the eyes of that old hag till they were exactly like the eyes of an angry snake.

"Politics got to be pretty strong about there. It seems that the National party—that is the revolutionists—had the church with them, while the Government had its agents out among the voodoos trying to get their support. The revolutionists were in power in that town, but the others were strong enough to be dangerous.

"A good deal of this I made out from the priest's pigeon English, and you may be sure that I was with the church party. The Government had my schooner, and I did not like that, and I was not going to train with pagans and snake worshipers anyhow.

"It got to be pretty close to Easter, and they were making great preparations at the church. My wife went down to look on. The women treated her well, and she was in high feather.

"That night little Carrie was gone. How it happened we could not tell. At first when we missed her we thought that she had gone into the house, but finding that she was not there her mother became frantic and in a little while the whole town was roused. We searched everywhere. At the witch woman's house first, and after that in every place where we could possibly suspect that she had been hid. The frightful suggestion that she might be dead was replaced by another still more horrible when we recalled the tales we had heard of voodoo ceremonies.

"That night, after dark, some one came creeping to our hut as though not wishing to be seen. She stole in like a ghost and quickly shut the door, putting up her hands to reassure us, for we were startled at the intrusion. It was a rather pretty young woman, whose child my wife had taken in her arms and kissed at the church that day.

"With broken English and broken French and many signs she let me know that there was a voodoo dance that night and that she knew the way to it.

"I had hard work to prevent Caroline from going along, but at last I did persuade her that it would be better for her to go to the priest and tell him what we had learned. She clung to me and cried: 'Bring her back; bring her back with you!' till I was almost unmanned.

"I followed my guide through a tangled forest where there was no path. Up and up through vines that wound themselves about me and thorns that cut like knives. At every tep I expected to feel the stinging fangs of the deadly fer de lance. Presently we heard the trum trum and soon came upon the voodoos. They were in a little hollow dancing in a clear space, around which were blazing bonfires. Their priestess, the old hag, smeared with blood and dirt and dressed in a fantastic way, occupied the centre, leading the singing and getting those brutes waked up to a crazy pitch. It was not pretty to look at. But I did not see my baby anywhere, and I could hardly tell whether to be most relieved or disappointed.

"I was undecided what to do (for I did not want to waste time if Carrie was not there), when I heard a little whimpering cry not far to the left of where we were hid. My guide heard it at the same moment, and laid her hand on my arm as a signal for silence. Then we crept as quietly as two snakes till we came across a woman who was guarding my little girl. That woman was so wrapped up in the dance that she did not hear or see anything else. Her neck was craned out as if she was waiting for a signal to join them. She woke suddenly when Zelie's long fingers were wrapped around her throat to prevent her screaming and my pistol barrel was plunged in her face.

"We tied her, hand and foot, gagged and bound her and dumped her down in a hollow filled with ferns, where it would be difficult to find her. Then we left those savages and made for town. I did not mind how the thorns and the branches tore my hands and face and clothes now, as long as I could protect the little sleepy white head that nestled down to my shoulder.

"Half way down the hill we met a company of revolutionist soldiers. My guide held a brief parley with them, and when they found who we were they let us go. I could not understand what was said, but I could understand some distant shots that we heard before I put Carrie in her mother's arms.

"The voodoo people got the worst of the scrimmage. What's that? What Car'line said? Look here, old man, you are not married, and never had a child of your own, so I'll excuse you, but you'll maybe know some day that there's part of a yarn like this that would stick in a man's throat if he should try to tell it.

"Anyhow, the hag was dead, shot down by the soldiers. The next day all the children in the place turned out in their Sunday best, and all the mothers rejoiced.

"Carrie was there in the first place of all, carrying a lily as tall as herself, for when the old priest saw her he stooped and took her up and she headed the Easter procession in his arms."
—New York Journal.

EASTER VERSE.

Easter Hope.

When winter's minions have withdrawn
Their spectral tents from hill and plain,
And dawn, by vermeil-mantled dawn
Comes spring to claim her own again.

The wind-flower in its sunless sleep
Within its prison chamber chill
Feels sudden through its being leap
A vernal and ecstatic thrill.

Hope bids thee look, O drooping heart,
Beyond Death's dark environing,
When, like the flower, thou too shalt start,
Renewed as with the touch of spring.
—Clinton Scollard, in Harper's Bazar.

The Easter Lily.

The fairest lilies cannoe vie
With you, I trow;
I see you pass demurely by,
Then kneel and bow
Before the sacred altar where
The incense spells
Each whispered accent of your prayer,
And my heart tells
To me the secrets of your heart,
Fair devotee,
I'll venture to the world impart
As you've to me;
The reason why your blushes glow,
Fair penitent,
You're quite delight to have it so—
The close of Lent.
—H. S. Keller.

Easter-Tide.

Happy, happy Easter Day sets its bells a-ringing!
Once again—the Lenten passed—hearts are tuned for singing!
Let us cast our woes aside, think no more on sorrow,
While from the glad Easterside hope and peace we borrow.

Let us lift our eyes above, seek the glorious blue,
And remember that beyond dwells the Christ so true,
And that ere He reached that throne, for our sakes He died!
And our risen Christ we praise at the Eastertide.

Come, ye hearts that have been sad, hear the joy-bells ringing!
Come, ye hearts that have been glad, join ye in the singing!
Praise the living Christ whose eye sees our every need,
Praise the Lord of Hosts who is our "Comforter" indeed.
—Mary D. Brine.

An Easter of Ye Olden Time.

The observance of Easter is connected with the history of Christianity itself. And while there has never been any difference of opinion among Christians as to the general observance of the festival, in the early church the Asiatics kept the feast on the day of the Jewish Passover, while the Western Christians observed it on the first Sunday after the Passover.

Hence arose a great dispute in the second century, and Victor, the Bishop of Rome, excommunicated those churches which did not keep it on the Sunday. The controversy was brought before the Council of Nice, in the year A. D. 325, and it was decreed that Easter Day should be kept on the Sunday following the Jewish Feast of the Passover, which Passover is kept on the fourteenth day of the Jewish month Nisan. At the same time, to prevent all uncertainty, it was made a rule of the church that the full moon next to the vernal or spring equinox, should be taken for the full moon in the month Nisan, and the 21st of March be accounted that vernal equinox. Consequently, Easter Day is always the Sunday following the full moon which falls on, or is next, the 21st day of March.

The day is still known as Pascha in the Eastern Church, as well as in the various churches in Europe, the English title of Easter being probably derived from the old Saxon word "Oster," Spring. Some scholars have suggested that it had its origin in the word Eastre, the name given to the Anglo-Saxon goddess of the dawn. For the Church took the pagan philosophy and made it the buckler of faith against the heathen. She took the pagan Sunday and made it the Christian Sunday. And she took the pagan Eastre and made it the Christian Easter.—Home and Country.

Going to South Africa.

During the last year or two there has been something of a migration of miners from the Western States to South Africa, and advertisements of rates and routes to South Africa are printed in most of the mining papers. The movement seems to have extended to others than the miners, and may indicate that the emigrants have not fared badly. A man advertises in a recent issue of a Deadwood paper that he will sell at a bargain his saloons in Deadwood and in Lead, as he intends going to South Africa. Whether he expects to make money out of the mines or the miners he doesn't state.

Cheap Horses.

A herd of about 7,000 horses was bought on a Washington ranch the other day by the Portland Horse Meat Canning Company at $3 a head.

A Good Dog is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

Do Birds Understand Music?

This question has recently been discussed among naturalists, and Dr. G. M. Gould, of North Carolina, asserts not only that katydids keep time, but that they produce a kind of music which may be described as orchestral. Both Dr. Gould and another observer have listened to two orchestras of katydids, answering one another all night long. Sometimes individual performers were noticed to drop out of time, but upon the whole the stridulation of these insect bands is harmonious and in a regular key. Observers do not agree on the point whether or not there is a difference of pitch between the notes of two orchestras.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

"In the springtime of the year I always take your Sarsaparilla as I find the blood requires it, and as a blood purifier it is unequalled. Your pills are the best in the world. I used to be annoyed with ....." *

Poets Break Out

in the springtime. And a great many who are not poets, pay tribute to the season in the same way. The difference is that the poet breaks out in about the same spot annually, while more prosaic people break out in various parts of the body. It's natural. Spring is the breaking-out season. It is the time when impurities of the blood work to the surface. It is the time, therefore, to take the purest and most powerful blood purifier,

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook," with a hundred others. Free. Address: J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Cotton.

With careful rotation of crops and liberal fertilizations, cotton lands will improve. The application of a proper fertilizer containing sufficient Potash often makes the difference between a profitable crop and failure. Use fertilizers containing not less than 3 to 4%

Actual Potash.

Kainit is a complete specific against "Rust."

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing the results of latest experiments in this line. Every cotton farmer should have a copy. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

Second Hand
TUERK WATER MOTOR
For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to
Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

• WALL PAPER FREE •

Would be dearer than ALABASTINE, which does not require to be taken off to renew, does not harbor germs, but destroys them, and any one can brush it on.

Sold by all paint dealers. Write for card with samples.

ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

RIPANS TABULES

"Some time ago," said Clifton Arnsparger (of Paris, Ky.), County Attorney of Bourbon Co., Ky., "I saw the advertisements of Ripans Tabules in the Louisville Courier-Journal, and believing it was the remedy I needed, I determined to get some of the Tabules. There was no name attached to the advertisement, so I wrote to the publishers of the Courier-Journal and was referred to the Ripans Chemical Co., 10 Spruce st., New York, from whom I obtained a box for 50 cents. I had been greatly troubled with sick headache, but since I secured Ripans Tabules, whenever I begin to feel symptoms of sick headache or sour stomach, I take one or two Tabules and escape all the terrors of a splitting headache. One taken after eating has aided my digestion and made me feel like a different person. I find I now can get the Tabules from a local druggist. (Signed). CLIFTON ARNSPARGER, September 13th, 1895."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to the Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cts.

Manufacturers
—OF—
Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting
—AND—
Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.
OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.
Write for Prices. Address,
Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

In writing please mention this paper.

DETECTIVES WANTED in all parts of United States. Experience not necessary. Reference required. Address UNION DETECTIVE ASSOCIATION, 29 West 42d Street New York.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

It's Pure

Walter Baker & Co.'s Cocoa is Pure—it's all Cocoa—no filling—no chemicals.

WALTER BAKER & CO., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

Get Well

By using Brown's Iron Bitters. It's a natural remedy. Pleasant to take. No bad effects. Strengthens while you sleep. Cures quickly

Dyspepsia, Neuralgia and Malaria and many other diseases if you give it a fair trial.

The genuine you can tell by the Crossed Red Lines on the Wrapper.

Brown Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. II. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 9, 1896. NO. 1.

Growth.

Blow, winds, your rage but shakes the tree
And roots it surer in its place!
Scatter your rain, ye clouds, and free
The buds that wait your frowning grace!
Roll down, O river, to the sea
And widen in your onward race!

Peace through a sunny span may keep
His garden in some quiet glen,
Whilst others sow for him and reap
And tend his flocks on moor and fen;
The flowers of Peace are death and sleep;
The strife of living makes us men.

Ah, joy it is to win the goal
By tireless work and dauntless will,
Yet may the life rise orbed and whole
From clouded hopes, and loss, and ill;
Our baffled toils upbuild the soul,
And failure so is victory still.

—A. St. John Adcock.

Sarah Barton's Pension

BY ANDREW DOWNING.

It is not believed that patriotism alone prompted Henry Barton in 1862 to enlist in an Illinois regiment. In fact it is recalled by some of the neighbors that he and his wife Sarah did not "get along well" together about those days.

The cause of contention—if such there was—is not known, save that it might be summed up, perhaps, in the word "incompatibility," a mysterious something which often drapes very thinly a closeted domestic skeleton. For he was an ignorant, selfish man, much given to causeless jealousy. And Sarah was the very opposite in character, being patient, discreet and womanly. Moreover, she was well educated, and the marriage would seem to have been ill-assorted. But I will tell the story and permit the reader to draw his own conclusions.

The man enlisted. The little wife, with tearful eyes and a heavy heart, bade him good-by, and he was soon at the front. Left alone, with two small children, and an eighty-acre farm to care for, and with rather slender means at her command, it is no wonder that she thought to herself that her service would be the harder of the two. But she was plucky and resolute, and would do her best.

The soldier was sparing of letters to his family. Sometimes weeks and even months marked the intervals of their coming. And very little money was enclosed in them.

In July, 1863, the regiment was at Nashville. Mrs. Barton had received no letter from her husband for nearly three months; but one morning the news came through a neighbor—home on furlough from the same post—that Barton was sick in the hospital at that place. About a month later she received notice from the hospital surgeon that the husband was dead and had been buried in the Nashville cemtery.

But Barton was not dead. In truth he had been very sick with typhoid fever, then convalescent, and finally was ordered to report to his captain for duty the following morning.

He did not sleep well that night, but lay awake for hours pondering—scheming, it would seem. Upon the wall, at the head of his bed, was tacked a card giving his name, Henry Barton, his company and regiment, and the nature of his sickness. This rule was generally observed. The cots were close together, there was just room enough to allow the attendants to pass between them. Barton was in the "Typhoid fever" ward, as it was called.

Sometime after midnight he awoke from a doze. Listlessly his hand fell upon the cot nearest him, upon which was a Pennsylvania soldier. His fingers touched the man's face. It was cold. He investigated and found him to be dead. None of the nurses seemed to have discovered it.

Almost instantly he formulated a plan, and, about as quickly, began its execution. He wanted to desert from the army; it would appear that he wished to leave his wife also—or rather that he did not mean to return to her. The plan was a shrewd one and everything favorable to its accomplishment.

Rising from his couch, and dressing himself hastily, he lifted the dead man from the cot and placed him upon the one he himself had vacated. The lights burned dimly and he succeeded in finally getting out of the building unperceived, and finally out of the city.

The next morning the attendants of the hospital discovered that the Illinois soldier—known by the record at the head of his bed—was dead. Search was made for the missing man, and as he could nowhere be found, the Pennsylvanian was reported, officially as a deserter, while the Illinosian, Henry Barton, was recorded as dead.

I have said that the plan of the deserte rwas a shrewd one. Let us analyize it. The only chance that could prove unfavorable to the venture was that the nurse, who had waited upon both patients, might detect it. But he was aware that the hospital was crowded and the attendants overworked; that the dead soldier would be buried, probably, that day without being seen by any one who had known either of them—and he was willing to take the risk. He realized, too, beyond a doubt, that being officially dead nobody would pursue and arrest him as a deserter; and further, if they arrested him as the Pennsylvanian he could not be identified as that individual. He made no miscalculation in the matter, and was soon hundreds of miles away.

Years afterwards Mrs. Barton filed a claim for pension as the widow of Henry Barton, submitting the usual evidence to substantiate it. In due course of time the pension was granted granted at the rate of twelve dollars per month for herself and two dollars per month for each of her children, with arrears, at the same rate, from the date of the soldiers death. This allowance placed her in very comfortable circumstances. She was enabled to lift the mortgage that was on the farm, and deposit, besides, quite a goodly sum in the bank against the "rainy day" we have all heard about.

Meantime another very worthy little woman in one of the valleys of the Alleghany Range, in Pennsylvania—and whose husband also had been a soldier—did not fare so well. Believing herself to be a widow she, too, applied for a pension; but her claim was speedily rejected on the ground that record evidence in the Pension bureau showed that the soldier deserted from the army in August 1863, while an inmate of the Nashville hospital.

When her grief was yet new Mrs. Barton had resolved that she would have the body of her husband removed from Nashville and buried in Illinois as soon as her means would allow it. But the lapse of years and the cares of her daily life made his memory nebulous and dim whenever it happened to rise before her and the idea of a re-interment was abandoned. She reasoned that the expense would be great, and that it would do no good; he was dead, and many others who were even better husbands and oldiers than he must sleep in Southern graves until the resurrection morning. She would not disturb him.

So it is, ever, and has been. How soon, after death, even the greatest man dwindles into significance. How speedily and surely, when he is asleep in his little dormitory in the churchyard, do the people among whom he walked in life—whose activities and recreations, joys and sorrows he shared—forget him as though he never existed. How soon even those near and dear to him lose sight of him or at best are bound to him by only a ghostly and fitful remembrance growing fainter and fainter as the years go by. Is it not better so?

Some months ago an army comrade met Barton upon one of the crowded thoroughfares of San Francisco, and knew him. "I am aware that you have been dead for thirty years," he said to him, "but all the same you are Henry Barton and you were in my regiment in the army!"

And Barton, finding concealment no longer possible, told the whole story, and it was speedily transmitted to a prominent attorney in a Western state. That gentleman who had been their colonel in the army, succeeded, through a deal of correspondence, in straightening out the matter in the pension office in the interest of right and justice. In other words, the rightful and only pensionable widow in the case, the Pennsylvania woman, now receives a pension, while the name of Sarah Barton has been dropped from the rolls.

The attorney told me the story. He says that Mrs. Barton would have been prosecuted for criminal practice in the matter, but when it was shown to the officers of the government that, although technically guilty, she had perpetrated the fraud ignorantly and unintentionally—the husband being the real offender—the case was dropped. And no attempt was made to collect from her the money she had received as pensioner. I am glad of it. Yet, somehow, I cannot help thinking that in this particular instance the blind goddess will never have her scales properly balanced until Barton, the deserter, shall have received his dues, and the little old woman in Illinois, and that other little old woman in Pennsylvania, whom he caused so much trouble and sorrow, shall know "for sure" that his Nemesis has overtaken him. But I may be wrong.—Monthly Illustrator.

A Story About The Sultan.

Why does the Sultan allow what was once a respectable fleet to rot to pieces anchored off Stamboul?

Simply because he considers an ironclad a dangerous instrument in the hands of any Minister or the resolute Commander.

It is true that there are no ships to guard his coasts, but also there are none to steam up the Bosphorus and throw a shell into his place, and that is the first object to be thought of.

The incident which led to the order for the extinction of the Turkish navy was as follows: A transport was bringing a number of time-expired men home, when they respectfully mutinied, and begged their officers to go below, as they wished to do something which might not be approved of.

Some non-commissioned officers then took command and anchored off Doima Bagtchen, and after firing a small salute, began shouting. "Long live the Sultan!"

This demonstration caused immediate confusion at the palace and various high officials were dispatched to parley with the mutineers but they insisted on seeing the Minister, and when he at last appeared they said they knew the Sultan had given the money to pay them, but that they had not received it, and they would not budge until they did.

No arguments were of any avail, and the money had to be sent for and distributed after which the men weighed anchor with a cheer, and gave up the ship again.

The Sultan, however, reflected that what a transport had done peaceably a heavily-armed man-of-war might do with evil intent, and calling Hassan Pasha to him, he declared that he wanted no more navy.

In this light-hearted manner a branch of national defense, which has been the pride of its officers, was sacrificed to the royal fears for personal safety, and Hassan Pacha, who has steadily carried out his master's program, has ever since been in high favor, and is, to all intents and purposes, Minister for life.—London Standard.

A Ceylon Nettle.

We got up hill pretty well, and were just beginning the descent of the ridge, when W., who was leading, called out, "Ware Mousa! a cry that most planters know the meaning of, for the mousa plant is the most fearful of nettles. In appearance it is the most harmless of things, with large, smooth, darkgreen leaves, of a long, oval shape, slightly pointed at the ends. It is the sort of a leaf that you would pick, because of its shape and size to put in your hat on a hot day; but only touch it, and you will remember it to the end of your life. It raises a red patch that burns and inflames, and every time the part is washed, for days and sometimes weeks after, the pain is renewed with all its vigor. Some idea may be gained of its virulence when it is considered that in the "colapse" stage of Asiatic cholera it is not unusual to use this leaf, applying it by flagellation along the spine. When this does not wake the patient, he is bound to die.—Outing.

An Attempt.

Mrs. Brown,—How would you define "tact"?

Mrs. Jones.—I should say tact is the ability to make your husband believe that he is having his own way.—Puck.

WISE WORDS.

The finer the uniform the easier it is to get recruits.

To lift up the fallen we must take a stand beside them.

Never measure a man's religion by the length of his face.

It is easier to be happy without riches than with them.

The days are never long enough for the man who loves his work.

The shadow of a trouble is generally blacker than the trouble itself.

If we are not capable of suffering, we would have no need of love.

A policeman stops being an optimist when he puts on his blue coat.

The man who wants to do good finds the world full of opportunities.

Whoever would learn to talk well must first learn how to keep still.

If you want a man to do something, find a man who believes something.

The day which begins the darkest may turn out to be one of our brightest.

We have no more right to kill ourselves than we have to live useless lives.

If we are poor, we may take a long step toward wealth by becoming contented.

Some of the hungriest people in the world are those who have the most wealth.

People will the more readily believe in our love when it costs us something to show it.

We do not always have the most reason for sorrowing when we are sorrowing most.

If you find yourself becoming ungrateful look around and see how much better off you are than other people.

It takes some men a long time to find out that they can never become rich by keeping all they get.

The possibilities for good in one child started right are greater than in an army of men who have gone wrong.—Ram's Horn.

Mice and Rat Plague.

Mice and rats have caused great destruction in certain localities of Southern Russia during the past two years, and the remarkable invasion of the rodent army is the subject of a report just received at the State Department from Thomas E. Heenan, United States Consul at Odessa. The first appearance of mice in great numbers was in the autumn of 1893, and their rapid increase is attributed to two successive good harvests, in consequence of which much grain remained in stocks until thrashed, and to the mildness of the weather. There were three varieties of mice observed, the common house mouse, the common field mouse and another kind never previously noticed, having a long sharp nose. They swarmed in houses and graneries, and in some places moved in great numbers like an army. Instances are cited by Mr. Heenan where they attacked animals and men. The rats were not so numerous as the mice, but caused great destruction, even ruining buildings.

Every effort was made to stop the plague by the people living in the infested district, and finally Government aid was secured. The Department of Agriculture in June, 1891, sent Dr. Merezehkovski to one of the mice-ridden provinces to carry out experiments of exterminating the mice by means of the cultivation of the baccillus discovered by him. The results were excellent. Epidemic disease was generated among the rodents and now the plague has ended. Similar experiments made by Doctors Loeffler and Lazare did not give such good results.—New York Sun.

Number of Gallons in the Ocean.

The mathematicians figure on everything nowadays, from the number of leaves in a given extent of forest to the probable number of molecules of matter that it takes to make up the universe. One of the most curious calculations which we have met with recently is one in which a German professor gives figures to show the number of gallons of water in the Pacific Ocean. He first considered the average depth and then the average length and breadth, and then throws the whole into a square and the square into a globe. He finds that this aqueous globe would be exactly 726 miles in diameter. Next he considers ocean water as weighing ten pounds to the gallon, and finds that his immense sphere, were it hollow metal globe, would hold 200,000,000,000,000 (two hundred trillions) of gallons! Those figures represent the number of gallons of water now in the largest division of the earth's seas. It would take that amount of water more than a million years to pour over the precipice at Niagara.—St. Louis Republic.

Best Breed of Carrier Pigeons.

The citizens of Antwerp pride themselves on possessing the best breed of the carrier pigeon, and will not only take great pains in teaching them, but give very high prices for good birds.

The people of Cincinnati, Ohio, are taking steps to erect a statue of General Zebulon Pike, the discoverer of Pike's Peak.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Extended empire, like expanded gold, exchanges solid strength for feeble splendor.—Johnson.

The greatest glory of a free-born people is to transmit that freedom to their children.—Havard.

Hope is not the man for your banker, though he may do for a traveling companion.—Haliburton.

Though little fire grows great with wind, yet extreme gusts will blow out fire and all.—Shakespeare.

Every one must see daily instances of people who complain from a mere habit of complaining.—Graves.

No evil propensity of the human heart is so powerful that it may not be subdued by discipline.—Seneca.

Great men are the commissioned guides of mankind, who rule their fellows because they are wiser.—Carlyle.

There is a time in every man's education when he arrives at the conviction that envy is ignorance.—Emerson.

Do not allow idleness to deceive you; for while you give him today, he steals tomorrow from you.—Crowquill.

It is a good government when those who are near are made happy and those who are far are attracted.—Confucius.

Getting money is not all a man's business; to cultivate kindness is a great part of the business of life.—Johnson.

Think of the ills from which you are exempt, and it will aid you to bear patiently those which you may suffer.—Cecil.

Use your gifts faithfully, and they shall be enlarged; practise what you know and you will attain higher knowledge.—Arnold.

Persevering mediocrity is much more respectable than and unspeakably more useful that talented inconsistency.—J. Hamilton.

War Record of Photography.

While conjectures are rife as to what electricity and high explosives could do in modern warfare, it is interesting to glance at one marvel in the war record of photography. A quarter of a century ago on the 21st of September, Paris was completely shut off from the rest of the world, but two days later a balloon and a pigeon post was established, and regular balloons thereafter left the city at intervals of from three to seven days with letters for the provinces and carrier pigeons for bringing back replies. The return messages were written on thin paper and enclosed in a quill tied to the pigeon's tail, but the carrying capacity of the birds for such messages was very limited. Some weeks later, Dagron, skilled in photomicrographic work, carried out the idea of printing a great many messages upon a large sheet of paper and then photographing the whole in a greatly reduced form upon a thin film of collodion four inches square. Each pigeon carried eighteen of these collodion pellicles, with a total of more than 50,000 messages, the whole weighing less than a gramme. On arrival in Paris the messages were enlarged on a screen, when they could be read, and were published in the newspapers. During the seige sixty-four balloons left the city, of which seven were lost or captured by the Germans, while the others carried 4,000,000 letters and the pigeon post returned about about 2,500,000 messages. Even money orders and drafts were transmitted by the micro-photographic pigeon post and were paid in Paris.—Trenton, (N. J..) American.

Mortars 580 Years Old.

A Mr. Dunlap, who lives in the Butte Creek section, remarks the Portland Oregonian, reports a curious find near the foot of Mount Pitt. While grubbing out hazel brush he made an excavation four or five feet deep. In the hole he found two stone mortars bearing the date 1616, one of which was eighteen inches across. The pestles lay close by, and also a stone slab having the appearance of a petrified board. This was covered with different figures.

"Abe" Buzzard, the notorious Pennsylvania outlaw, now serving a term in prison, has become totally blind.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

Boston produce dealers are talking of using the cathode ray photography process to detect bad eggs.

Cuvier is authority for the statement that the life of a whale may extend over a period exceeding 1,000 years.

Over 155,000 children under one year die annually in Paris, the greater number of them owing to neglect on the part of their mothers.

A Rhode Island sailor has invented a successful apparatus, it is said, by which the motion of the waves is made to furnish the propelling power for a vessel at sea, by condensing air.

The largest fine tourmaline known to mineralogists was discovered recently in a large rock in West Seventy-first street, New York city. It is now in the Natural History museum.

Gold, silver, copper, iron, tin, lead, mercury, sulphur, carbon, antimony, bismuth and zinc were the only minerals known at the time of the discovery of America.

At Ardrossan, in the west of Scotland, the barometer marked 31.09 inches on January 9, the highest on record in the British Isles; the highest before this had been 31.06 inches on January 9, 1820.

The imperial German health bureau has been examining the adaptability of aluminum for the manufacture of cooking utensils, and has determined that the metal cannot give off any poisonous compounds, as copper, tin and lead do.

One-third of an acre grows 20,000 jasmine plants, yielding 2,000 pounds of flowers. Half an acre set with 3,500 rose plants bears 2,500 pounds of petals, which give from 200 to 250 pounds of pomade. An acre and a quarter will yield 2,000 pounds of violet flowers.

Lieutenant Beehler, of the hydrographic office, says that the accident to the steamer St. Paul, off the New Jersey coast, and other such, which have happened recently, are due to variations of the force of the gulf stream, caused by climatic conditions. Navigators have not been accustomed, hitherto, to take any such variations into account.

Neptune, the outermost member of the solar system yet known, is thirty times farther from the sun than the earth is, or 2,780,000,000, and the tremendous line of its orbit, which encloses our comparatively small group of heavenly bodies, is so long that, although his rate of travel is three miles in a second, it takes him 165 years to complete one circuit.

Ways of the Moose.

Ambrose seemed to know a great deal about moose, after all. He told the boys how, back from the narrow valley and the swift, winding stream, the country was all a wilderness; hillsides clad with birches, maples, and evergreens, and resting at their feet little lakes, so numerous that no man knew how many there were. Often, where these lake were shallow, the yellow pond-lily with its oval leaves crowded the surface. At other seasons the tender bark of mountain-ashes and moose-woods are the favorite food of the moose; but now there is nothing he likes so well as the long tubular roots of the lily. In the very early mornings and in the evenings, about the time of the harvest moon—the full moon nearest September 21—a hollow sound, not unlike the sound of distant chopping, may be heard. It is the sound of moose calling to their mates, or the angry challenge of fierce rivals. It is this sound which the hunter imitates to attract the moose. But there are only a few places where the moose will answer—shallow spots in certain well-known lakes, and it is said to be nearly useless to call anywhere else.—St. Nicholas.

Breaking it Gently.

Little Ella—Papa, I know what I am going to give you for your birthday.

Father—What is it, child?

Ella—A beautiful shaving cup.

Father—Why my dear, I have already got one.

Ella—Yes, but I broke it just now.

The great blizzard of 1888 began March 11 and ended March 14.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, } Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

Cuba has the right to dispose of 2.75 per cent. of its revenues. Spain attends to the other 97.25 per cent.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, in a recent magazine article, expresses a doubt as to the existence of the "ideal husband."

The London Economist figures that the Cuban war is costing Spain $5,000,000 a month, and says that it has depressed the Cuban securities twenty per cent.

Max Nordau, the expert in "Degeneracy," has written a highly laudatory estimate of Alfred Austin, the Poet Laureate of England. He says he considers Mr. Austin to be the most perfect embodiment of Anglo-Saxonism in the literature of our time.

A curious Presidential coincidence is found by Walter Wellman in the fact that two Presidents—Jackson and J. Q. Adams—were born in the year 1767, and two—Grant and Hayes—in 1822. Jackson succeeded Adams and Hayes followed Grant.

There is a religious sect at Orissa, in the Bengal (India) Presidency, which worships Queen Victoria as their chief divinity. It has been discovered, also, that she is an object of worship in the temple of the Podong Llama, at Toomloong, in Thibet.

Chief Fernow, of the Forestry Division, Agricultural Department, strongly advises the cultivation of the cork tree in the South. The United States pays more than $2,000,000 a year for imported cork. He also says that bamboo would do well in the South, and would be a source of profit.

Give the South the same amount of energy and capital that has been heaped upon the West, and we will make a garden filled with cities such as the world never knew, maintains Looking Southward. Such conditions and advantages do not exist in any other quarter of the globe. The South is the perfection of all that could be desired for the upbuilding of a great and wealthy country. It embraces all the requisite qualifications for agriculture and manufacturing, and the healthfulness to make it a most desirable home.

Fourteen years ago, recalls the New York Press, the Khedive sent a force of 10,000 Egyptians and Nubians against the Mahdi. The hostile forces met at El Obeid, on the White Nile, and had a short and savage encounter. The appalling result was that Hicks Pasha and his force were almost to a man destroyed on the field of battle by the enraged legions of the prophet. All Europe and the East shuddered at this frightful disaster, which weakened the rule of the Khedive, shook the Sultan's throne and carried dismay to the holy places of Mecca. The army of the Mahdi at El Obeid numbered 200,000 men, dervishes, Bedouins, mulattoes and some regular troops supplied with firearms. King Menelik has destroyed 10,000 Italians with an army of 100,000 Abyssinians, and again the whole world shudders.

A plan has been announced in London to lay a telegraph cable from Shetland, the northernmost telegraph outpost of Great Britain, to Iceland under five thousand miles of sea. The necessary funds have been secured to assure the success of the project, the total cost being divided between Great Britain, Denmark and Iceland. The cable will, it is expected, greatly stimulate trade between Iceland and England, which already amounts to a considerable sum yearly.

The growing influence of newspapers in school education was illustrated the other day at a conference of the Public Education Association in New York, when Miss Josephine C. Locke, supervisor of drawing in the public schools of Chicago, told how the children are being trained to search the columns of the press in working on topics of a public nature. It should be one of the functions of every school to teach the children how to read a newspaper to the best advantage—and also what newspapers should be read.

EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

Last of the Deluded Negroes, Who Went to Mexico, Returned.

LIVELY TIMES AT GADSDEN.

Ex-Postmaster Higdon Acquitted. Curious Freak of Lightning. Killed by Lightning—Burglary at Scottsboro—Accidental Shots—A Murder Trial—Smallpox Case.

More Trouble in Opelika.

W. R. Doughtry, of the firm of Thomas Butler & Co., was arrested at Opelika Saturday on two warrants charging him with embezzlement. He is under bond.

Minister Seriously Hurt.

On Saturday while Rev. Mr. Lee, pastor of the Baptist church at Blocton, was trying to stop a runaway horse he was struck and knocked about 16 feet into a ditch, causing severe bruises and injuries.

Appointments by the Governor.

Yesterday Governor Oates announced the following appointments: M. W. Stewart, notary public, Montgomery; J. B. Murdock, notary public and ex-officio justice of the peace, South Florence.

Farmers Out of Debt.

The Chattanooga Times of Sunday has this dispatch from Luna, Ala.: Cotton will be a short crop here this year; more corn, peas, clover and grass than usual. Farmers generally are out of debt and are not compelled to raise cotton.

Perhaps Fatally Injured.

Julian P. Clayton, an attorney from Muscogee, I. T., was struck by a passenger train on the Alabama Midland Tuesday night and probably fatally injured. Clayton has just been admitted to practice before the supreme court, and is pretty well known over the state.

Ex-Postmaster Higdon Acquitted.

T. W. Higdon, who was arrested last week charged with robbing Higdon postoffice, was tried before Commissioner Parks at Scottsboro and dismissed. Higdon was postmaster at the time it was charged that he robbed the office.

Lively About Gadsden.

The Elliott Car Works, the Weller Pipe Works, the Southern Manufacturing Company, the Kyle Lumber Mills and the long leaf Lumber Mills are in full blast, as is also the Alabama City Furniture Factory, and the Dwight cotton mills, besides numerous other improvements.

Smallpox Near Montgomery.

Three cases of smallpox have been discovered on the plantation of Dr. Henry Stone, about eight miles from Montgomery, and some alarm is felt here at the closeness of the disease. Competent physicians are in charge of the cases, and every precaution has been taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

Burglary at Scottsboro.

At Scottsboro W. J. Robinson's store was broken into last Tuesday night, and robbed of about $40 worth of goods, mostly watches and jewelry. The burglars, supposed to be local persons familiar with the house, gained entrance through the back door. No clew was left, but the watches may be identified if any attempt is made to dispose of them.

Two Accidental Shots.

Hollis Williamson, who lives near Gadsden, shot himself in the left leg while carelessly handling a pistol. The wound is not a dangerous one. Arville Lay, a 10-year-old son of W. P. Lay, accidently shot himself in the hand Wednefday with a 32-calibre rifle. He was climbing over the fence when the hammer of the gun struck the fence and was discharged with the above results.

Killed by Lightning.

During a thunder storm Wednesday evening, a negro named Eli Powell, living on Mr. J. J. Davenport's plantation, near Letohatchie, was struck and instantly killed by lightning while going from his lot to the house. A fine mule belonging to Mr. Davenport, hitched about fifty yards away, was killed at the same time. Eli was a good farmer and a good citizen, respected by white and black.

Fire at Hayneville.

Four buildings used for law offices, L. R. Brightman & Co.'s store, also the residence and store house of W. C. Carson, were burned to the ground early Monday morning. The loss is about $9,000 and insurance about $2,500. Judge Caffee, while trying with others to save the property, received a slight wound on the head by a bucket being thrown from the top of one of the burning buildings.

Baby Fatally Burned.

On last Thursday Mr. Jasen Johnson and his wife, who live one mile from Dothan, leaving their 2-year-old baby in the house, where there was a fire, went into the garden to work. While they were yet in the garden the child ran out with its clothes on fire. The anguished parents rushed to its rescue, and quickly extinguished the flames, but the child was so badly burned that, after lingering until Friday morning it found relief in death.

Repairs of the Capitol.

The painters and plasterers at work in the capitol have almost finished beautifying the walls of the senate and house chambers, which are now in bright tints without any fancy figure work. These pretty surroundings should inspire the solons when they gather next fall and have occasion to tint the atmosphere with oratorical figures. Maybe this is the reason why the fresco figures were left off the walls.

A Good Work Begun.

A night school was started at the Factory Chapel, Selma, free to all children and grown people working in the mill. Thirty-five pupils entered the school and it was organized for work. There is a dearth of books and slates; many of the children are too poor to buy. The good people of Selma are requested to donate any old books used in the public schools, primers, readers, arithmetics and geographies. The books should be sent to Mrs. E. H. Hobbs, Mrs. Frederick Watson, Mrs. M. R. Jarvis, or J. S. Bridges.

State Normal Commencement.

Dr. A. W. McGaha, president of Howard college, Birmingham, will preach the commencement sermon at the State Normal college in Florence in May. Col. T. C. McCorvey of the University of Alabama will deliver the annual commencement address. Dr. McGaha is a distinguished Baptist divine, and Colonel McCorvey is the professor of history and political economy in the university. He is the author of the new work on the civil history of Alabama that is used as a text in the normal.

Murder Trial at Scottsboro.

The preliminary trial of John Little, charged with the murder of Charles Judge, was held before Probate Judge Brice last week. The evidence introduced showed that Judge had made remarks about Little, a desperate fellow, attacking his reputation and had threatened Little's life. One morning last November Judge started to town and met Little, who began firing at him immediately, one shot taking effect in the leg. Judge seemed to improve and was able to be out after about two months' confinement, but one of the arteries in his leg burst last week, death resulting.

Curious Freak of Lightning.

During a thunder storm at Auburn Wednesday afternoon at half-past two o'clock lightning struck the residence of Mr. A. L. Dillard, doing an astonishing amount of damage, but not injuring any person. The house is a large one-story building, and it is hardly exaggerating to say that the lightning penetrated every part of it. The bolt fell upon the Southeast corner, wrecking one of the prettiest parlors in town, then passing west through several rooms in succession, turned north and finally coming out at the southwest corner, having traversed three sides of the quadrangle and doing more or less damage along its entire course. Mr. Dillard's baby was slightly shocked, and the ladies of the family were very much frightened.

All Back Home at Last.

Wednesday morning the northbound train on the Alabama Great Southern railroad came in to Tuskaloosa with an extra coach filled with returning negro emigrants who left Tuskaloosa something over a year ago for Mexico. It will be remembered that in February 1895, a Mexican craze, created and fanned by the glaring tales of labor agents, spread like wild fire among the negroes of this immediate section, and hundreds of these deluded creatures hurried off to that land of promise. It was not long before they found out the deception that had been practiced upon them. For months past they have been coming back in small squads as they could work their way, and Wednesday's arrival represents the last miserable remnant of dupes. They say that they are back to stay—and there is little doubt of the truth of what they say. Tuscaloosa will be good enough for them hereafter. Some of them seem to have very little idea of where they have been; they only realize that they didn't find the paradise that they had expected.

Murderers of Upshaw Smith Confess.

Upshaw Smith, a prominent farmer of Limestone county, Alabama, was brutally murdered while returning home from a neighbors on March 31st, last. Suspicion pointed to a negro, Nathan Howell, and his two sons, in whose possession have since been found shirts and shoes bespattered with blood and two pistols identified as having belonged to the murdered man. The negroes were arrested and jailed at Athens. Smith had his skull crushed by some blunt instrument and afterwards dragged some distance to a place of concealment. The two negro boys, Charles and George Howell, have lately confessed to the murder of Farmer Smith and say that they were hired to commit the deed for the sum of $20 by a man against whom Smith was an important witness in a barn burning case. The negroes were quietly sent to Decatur by order of Judge H. C. Speake, as fears were entertained that the jail at Athens might not prove secure against threats of mobbing of negroes.

Sport That Didn't Pay.

Engineer Tom Stone, of the East Lake dummy line, shot two men at Cain's Station last night. The names of the men were J. E. Brown and Will Gleason, who work for the Southern railway. It is stated that the men went out on Stone's train and rode on the front platform. They amused themselves as the train moved along by applying the hand brake, much to the annoyance of the engineer, who says that he called to them to desist. Stone says that the men then began to curse him and at Cain's station where they got off they threw rocks into the engine at him, breaking the glass windows and endangering his life. Stone then pulled his pistol and fired five shots in the dark at his assailants. One of them fell, but both managed to make off in the darkness. On his return to the city Stone swore out warrants for both men. This morning it developed that both had been wounded. One was shot in the groin and the other in the arm. Both will recover.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.

In Effect February 23, 1896.

	No. *8			No. *7
.....	5.1 pm	lv...Selma...ar		10.20am	.....
.....	7.30pm	Birmingh'm Jct		8.15am	.....
.....	8.1 pm	..Gurnee Junct..		7.20am	.....
.....	9.3 pm	ar.Birm'ham.lv		6.00am	.....
No. §14	No. †12			No. †11	No. §13
7.00am	6.00am	lv...Akron...ar		7.50pm	6.3pm
7.28am	7.20am	..Greensboro..		6.35pm	5.31pm
9.13am	9.00am	.....Marion		5 06pm	4.16pm
10.45am	10.45am	ar...Selma...lv		3.00pm	3.00pm
No. *16	No. †42			No. *15	No. †41
7.00am	7.45am	lv..Meridian..ar		9.30pm	8.45pm
8.00am	9.20am	.....,York.....		8.25pm	6 55pm
9.12am	11.50am	...Demopalis...		7.00pm	4.00pm
10.14am	2 33pm	ar Uniontown lv		5.55pm	1.29pm
11.30am	5.15pm	(ar Selma lv)		4 30pm	10.45am
1.00pm	8.30pm	(lv Selma ar)		2.45pm	6 00am
3.05pm	12.50am	...Montevallo..		12.37pm	1.58am
3.20pm	1.35am	.....Calera.....		12.22pm	1.35am
3.43pm	2.18am	..Columbiana...		11.57am	12.28am
4.17pm	3.22am	..Childersburg.		11.23am	11.30pm
4.54pm	5.00am	....Talladega....		10.45am	10.24pm
5.34pm	6 4 am	.....Oxford.....		9.59am	.850pm
6.10pm	7.20am	.....Anniston....		9.47am	8 00pm
10.00pm	.....	ar . Atlanta ..lv		6.00am	.....
6.31pm	9 44am	..Jacksonville..		9.06am	6.31pm
6.58pm	10.39am	....Piedmont....		8.40am	5.27pm
7.30pm	11.30am	....Tecumseh....		8 12am	4.32pm
7.52pm	12.10pm	.Cave Springs..		7.51am	3.50pm
8.30pm	1.20pm	.....Rome.....		7.15am	2.50pm

East Bound.	No. *7	No. *13	No. *9
Rome.....lv	1.30am	7.22am	4.33pm
Dalton.....	2.55am	8.29am	5.43pm
Chattanooga.....	4.25am	9.55am	7.15pm
Knoxville.....	8.00am	1.25pm	.....
Morristown.....	10.25am	2.32pm	.....
Bristol.....ar	5.15am	5.15pm	.....

38*	36*	*26		*37	*35	*25
a m.	p.m.	a m		p. m.	p. m.	p.m
5 55	3.35	.....	lv Birmingham ar	10.10	12.20	.....
7.11	5.03	.....	.....Pell City.....	8.55	10.55	.....
7.40	5.33	.....	.....Eastaboga....	8.24	10.20	.....
8.12	6.10	.....	.....Anniston.....	8.00	9.52	.....
8.20	6.20	.....	.....Oxford.....	7.40	9.37	.....
8.57	7.00	.....	..... Heflin	7.00	8.57	.....
9.10	7.18	.....	. Edwardsville...	6.48	7.4	.....
9.18	7.27	.....	...Fruithurst.....	6.28	8.34	.....
9.35	7.50	6.00	....Tallapoosa...	6.22	8.15	7.50
10.38	9.00	7.21	...Douglasville...	.....	7.01	6.20
.....	9.11	7.31	..Lithia Springs..	.....	6.50	6.15
11.40	10.05	8.20	ar...Atlanta ...lv	4.15	6.00	5.15
a m	p m.	a.m		p.m	a m.	p.m

East Bound.	No. *38	No. *36
Atlanta.....lv	12 00n n	11.15pm
Charlotte.....	8.30pm	8 50am
Danville.....	12.10am	1.40pm
Lynchburg.....	1.58am	3.50pm
Charlottesville.....	3.38am	5.50pm
Washington.....	6.42am	9.40pm
Baltimore.....	8.05am	11.25pm
Philadelphia.....	10.25am	2.56am
New York.....	12.53pm	6 23am
Boston.....ar	8.30pm	3.30pm

No. 38 "Washington and Southwestern Limited." Solid Pullman Vestibule train Atlanta to New York, carrying Pullman Sleeping car Birmingham to New York Dining car Atlanta to Greensboro and Washington to New York.

No. 36 "U. S. Fast Mail." Pullman Drawing Room Buffet Sleeping cars Atlanta to New York.

South Bound	No. 36*	No. 38*
Birmingham.....lv	3.35pm	5.55am
Atlanta..... ar	10.00pm	11.40am
Atlanta..... lv	10.50pm	4.10pm
Macon.....	1.20am	7.30pm
Brunswick	7.15am	.....
Jacksonville.....	8 20am	7.00am

Train No. 38 carries Sleeping Car Birmingham to Atlanta.

Train No. 36 carries Pullman Drawing Room Buffet Sleeping Car Birmingham to Jacksonville.

*Daily, †Daily Except Sunday. §Sunday Only.

W. H. GREEN, Gen Supt. Washington, D. C.
J. M. CULP, Traf. Mgr Washington, D. C.
W. A. TURK, G. P. A. Washington, D. C.
S. A. BENSCOTER, A. G. P. A. Chatanooga, Tenn

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, Shelby County. }

Under and by virture of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will proceed to sell on Monday, the 24th day of February, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corner of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff,
tf Shelby County, Alabama.
Continued to March 23, 1896.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land a any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Store!!!

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon,

Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons,
McCormick Mowers and
Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8 B'ham & Selma..... 8:10 a m
No. 9 Selma & B'ham..... 7:25 p m
No. 15 South.....12:37 p m
No. 16 North..... 3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Will Lawrence spent Sunday with home folks in Plantersville.

Dr. Barney Rogan went to Selma last week. Dr. Rogan has not yet decided where to sling out his shingle.

Miss Mary Phelan is visiting friends in Montevallo this week.

Mr. Sam Morgan, of Blocton, spent a few days with Montevallo friends this week.

Rev. Mr. Mitchell and wife, of Six Mile, accompanied by Mrs. Cornell, gave us the pleasure of a call Tuesday.

Dr. Claughton has been seriously ill this week.

Mrs. Theo Allen is visiting the family of Mr, Joe Farrington this week.

How about our pickling establishment? Perhaps the scheme would bear investigation and possibly deserves encouragement. It would be a boon to farmers.

John Ingram, the best blacksmith and one of the most popular men in the county, made us a pleasant call this week.

Mr. Lester W. North, of Birmingham, spent Sunday with friends in Montevallo.

Quite an accident occurred last week to the young daughter of Mr. John Allen, of Spring Creek. While doing what she could to help lighten her mother's work, the child's dress caught fire and fatal burns were the result. In spite of the best efforts of the attending physician the little patient died Monday night. We are sure that the parents have the sympathy of all in this distressing bereavement.

Away back in the dim past looms up the figure of the first "grand old man"—the patriarch Abraham. Since his day men have lived and men have died, men have failed and men have succeeded, yet few, if any, have lived more wisely than did he. Certainly none have found a nobler, more profitable or happier work than that of helping a fellow being. Let us think of this as we ge along and remember that though "man proposes, God disposes."

Inasmuch as a human being is useful and busy, to the same extent is he happy, when not suffering from indigestion, is the experience of a lone editor.

What makes a town? "Men, high-minded men," is of course the first requisite. These we already have in Montevallo. and it is to be hoped that the town is breeding more of the same kind.

With her men, her spirit and her superior natural advantages why can't Montevallo have a cotton mill? As you have perhaps noticed, the New England cotton mills continue to come to the fair southland. We don't see why Montevallo cannot get one in the general distribution. In fact we know of a certainty that Montevallo can get one if she tries. Will some one inform us why the effort is not made? Every town that is a town had to make a start.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoskins of Aldrich spent Sunday with friends in Montevallo.

We are glad to be able to say that Mr. French Nabors is improving steadily, and hope that he will soon be able to be about again.

A marshal with an attendant revenue officer gave Montevallo an abrupt call this week and threatens to deprive us of some of our pets, with but scant ceremony.

We notice in the Ashby locals that the "shadow ghost" continues to attract attention. Can't some one down there solve the mystery?

Mrs. Libbie North of Birmingham is visiting Montevallo friends this week.

Among the arrivals on the 2nd inst. was Mrs. Otto Puls, the wife of the popular and capable architect.

Mr. Clay Fancher spent Wednesday in Montevallo with homefolks. Among rumored new dwellings may be mentioned one for Mr. Fancher.

Two of the fair visitors to Montevallo last week were Misses Florence Wallace and Fannie Arnold.

R. Lee Rice, the clever postmaster at Gurnee, spent Friday and Saturday in this part of the county.

Who said the girls didn't look extra sweet Easter? We will refer him to our fighting editor.

Preacher Lee Abernathy returned Sunday morning from a visit to friends and home folks. At the close of an interesting sermon he made an eloquent and moving appeal for unity, harmonious and vigorous action on the part of God's people in Montevallo. Anyone who seriously considers the condition of the town will realize the justness of his remarks. And it does seem strange that sensible people should neglect to so large an extent the things that are most important to each of us and to all of us here and hereafter

Many people accredit wholly to themselves the things that God gives them the privilege of doing, and undertaking to do the whole thing themselves are justly disappointed.

Montevallo is living in hopes and we believe she will be justified of the same. We are glad to be able to inform our readers that prospects of the land grant bill on which so much depends are now very hopeful and we trust that we moy soon speak of it as an assured thing.

It might be said that an editor has many temptations to get "stuck up"—and right here we will mention among ours one or two boxes of the prettiest flowers we have yet seen—but just when he gets pretty well fixed in his own conceit something comes up that knocks him down as far as he can fall, if not farther. Perhaps there is something of human experience in it; anyhow we hope that such ups and downs are not confined to the space-writers on a country paper, who by the deference of an indulgent people are called "editors."

CENTRAL HOTEL.

J Sistrunks, Columbus, Ga; A J Black, Selma, Ala; A W Beck, Birmingham, Ala; M W Lehman, Selma, Ala; Ed Lilienthal, Selma, Ala; Emmett Welsh, Birmingham, Ala; F F Crow, Blocton, Ala; J F Ford, Selma, Ala; John T Welsh, Birmingham, Ala; T L Moore, East Lake; Cruikshank, Atlanta, Ga; E G Givhan, city; J L Meade, Birmingham, Ala; Dr John Payne, Birmingham, Ala; C J Christian and wife. Birmingham; S R Caffee, Birmingham; L C Hudgins, Birmingham; D W Jones, Knoxville, Tenn. L E Schwark, Selma, Ala; Albert Thalheimer, Selma, Ala; R Cunningham, Birmingham; J D Denmark, Mobile; J S Kenedy, N Y.

CORRESPONDENCE.

ASHBY.

Mrs. D. L. Campbell and interesting children, of Tuskaloosa, are visiting relatives here.

Mr. Charles Oakly and sister, Miss Lily, visited Montevallo Saturday.

Mr. D. P. Walker, of Six Mile, called on one of the suburb girls last Sunday evening.

Dr. G. B. Crow, of Marion, spent Sunday here with friends and others.

Mr. Andy Langston, of Six Mile, passed through the city Sunday evening en route to Brierfield.

Misses Alma Burke and Emma Campbell attended Easter services at Six Mile Sunday.

Several from here have visited the haunted house in Chilton and say it is quite true. The mysterious shadow appears in various ways and always in day time, "Reporter."

SOUTHERN BAPTIST

Convention, Chattanooga, Tenn.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Southern Baptist convention, which will convene at Chattanooga, Tenn., May 8-14, inclusive, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Chattanooga, Tenn., and return at the rate of one limited, first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 5 to 8, inclusive, good to return fifteen days from date of sale, but limit on tickets may be extended, allowing fifteen days additional time, provided they are deposited with joint agent at Chattanooga on or before May 14, 1896.

The Southern Railway reaches Chattanooga from all directions, and its service is unexcelled. It is the short line and the scenic route from Louisville, in connection with the Queen and Crescent. The Southern Railway is also the scenic route from Virginia points, Washington and other eastern cities, via Asheville, and through the "Land of the Sky." It is the direct line from North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida points. The Southern Railway is the short line and operates the quicket and most convenient schedules from points on its line in Mississippi to Chattanooga.

For further information call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala., J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; L. S. Brown, G. A, P. D., Washington, D. C.; W. A. Turk, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G. P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn. tf

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

If you want the best medium for advertising, put your card in the Educator.

THE FLOODS OF WATERS

Come Down From the Mountains and Hills of East Tennessee.

THE VALLEYS ARE SUBMERGED.

Bridges and Mill Dams Go Down. Brooks Became as Navigable Rivers—One Man Drowned at Little River—One in Rhea County, Tennessee, and Numbers in Virginia.

An unprecedented rainfall occurred over the headwaters of the Tennessee river lost Monday and Tuesday and in consequence the streams are swollen and in many cases are out of banks and the torrents are devastating the valleys of upper East Tennessee, Southern Kentucky and Southwest Virginia.

At Little River, Knox county, Robert Caughron, 21 years old, son of William Caughron, while in a boat catching floating rails in the Little Tennessee river, was thrown into the swollen stream and drowned. The body has not been recovered. The Little Tennessee river was 25 feet above low water mark.

In Rhea county, Floyd Kirby, while endeavoring to save some shingle blocks that were in danger of being swept away by the freshet on Piney river, got his boat into the current when it upset and he was drowned.

At Bristol Tenn., the rainfall was almost incessant for two or three days, and never in the history of Bristol has the town been more generally flooded. A cloud-burst at Wyndale, Va., brought the water down Beaver creek rushing and warning telegrams and telephone message received at Bristol put the fire companies and citizens out to relieve the citizens who dwell in the flats along the course of the stream. Many small houses have been flooded and their occupants forced to move out. Gardens have been overflowed, fences swept away and other damage done.

The Holston river is higher than it has been since 1874, there being upwards of 15 feet of water. In consequence much property has been swept from along its banks.

In addition to the people drowned in Washington, Scott and Lee counties, Virginia, a report comes from Russell county that Charles Holt and child and John Jenkins and two children were victims of the floods.

At Jackson, Ky., Captain J. S. J. Bull, military inspector in the collegiate institute, was drowned in the Kentucky river while boating.

The heaviest rainfall for many years fell at Estill Springs, Tenn. Farm lands are badly washed and many fences swept away. The new iron bridge across Elk river at the lock at Miller's Ford was wrecked and the Noel mill dam is in danger.

Easter Anderson, his wife and their three children, together with two horses, were drowned by the freshet on Powell's river. They lived on its banks in Lee county, Virginia, and the river came down with such force that they were overtaken and drowned before they could escape. The latest news from that section indicates great loss of property and stock.

Three trestles on the Marietta & North Georgia railraad, between Jasper, Ga., and Knoxville, were swept away. A cloud-burst coming right after several days' steady rains, brought the streams out of their banks and much damage is reported. It is said that several lives have been lost in the streams near the Tennessee line, but the truth of the report cannot be ascertained.

The weather bureau at Chattanooga sent out the following:

The Tennessee river will reach about 36 or 38 feet at Chattanooga by Saturday,

L. M. Pindell,
Observer in Charge.

News was received from Knoxville at 11 o'clock Thursday to the effect that the river had reached the danger line, 29 feet, and was still rising at the rate of about 6 inches an hour. Several industries will be compelled to close down in consequence.

At Harrman, Tenn., Terrific rain and electric storms prevailed Tuesday night. Emory river is on a boom. It has reached the mark of 33 feet, and hundreds of people are viewing its turbulent flow from the bridge,

The steamer Dawson ran right into the city Wednesday morning with a cargo of corn, which was unloaded on the bank and before it could be removed it was submerged by water, the river rose so rapidly—about 3 feet per hour.

At Riceville, Tenn., the water was higher than it has been at any time since 1874. Small streams that a man could jump across were a quarter of a mile wide and roaring like Niagara Falls. Families leaving their residences in the low lands and many lower stories are flooded.

At Russellville, Tenn., the heaviest rain ever recorded fell. Great damage has been done on the banks of all water courses; fences have been carried away and in many instances the soil from ploughed fields has been literally swept away by the current.

At Middleboro, Ky., 5 inches of rain fell in fifty hours. The Cumberland, Clinch, and Powell rivers are out of their banks. Nine trestles on the Middleboro railroad are gone. A trestle and 60 feet of trrck on the Louisville & Nashville at Wasioto washed out. No mail received for twenty-four hours. All traffic is suspended. Telegraph wires are under water at Barboursville.

At Kingston, Tenn., 2 and 8-10 inches of rain fell last Tuesday night. Race street was flooded from side to side for a quarter of a mile, filling cellars-washing away bridges, fences, side, walks and in fact everything in its front. Two milk cows were killed by a stone wall washing down on them. The river was 18 feet high Wednesday, and was expected to go to 20 feet by next morning. Much fencing in this county is washed away and many farms badly damaged by washing.

A GEORGIA SHERIFF SHOT.

A Desperado, With His Son and a Friend, Resists Arrest.

A fatal tragedy occurred at Concord, Ga., last Thursday night, in which two men were fatally shot. About 7 o'clock Sheriff Gynn and a posse went to the house of Taylor Delk, a notorious desperado, to arrest him on a warrant for robbery and assault to murder. As the sheriff arrived at the door he was fired on through a window with a Winchester, the ball passed through his left side. About fifty shots were fired. Sheriff Gynn was lying on the front porch begging for some one to come and get him. When Mr. John F. Madden attempted to drag him off he was fired on, the ball passing through both thighs, breaking both legs. Delk, his son and an escaped convict and a partner of Delk's named Tom Langford were the occupants of the house. All three ran out the back door, shooting and cursing. The posse fired back, but failed to bring down any of them. A possee with dogs went in pursuit, with favorable chances for capture. Govenor Atkinson was wired for more degs and asked to offer a reward. Sheriff Gynn was, at last report, in a dying condition. Mr. Madden was resting easy.

Americans Released at Havana.

The steamer Olivette arrived Saturday night from Havana in ballast and with a few passengers. Advices received here state that Marcos Rodriguez and Soa Illan and son, American citizens imprisoned in Moro castle for the past several months, were liberated yesterday and will leave for this city on the next steamer.

$15 REWARD

Will be paid to anyone establishing the fact that Fleming's English Remedy for colic in horses and mules has failed to relieve. For sale by H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, Montevallo, Ala.

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—REDUCED RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates.

Tickets from points in Georgia and Tennessee, north and east of Atlanta and Chattanooga, will be sold June 27 to 28 and 29, and from points south and west of Atlanta and Chattanooga, and east of the Mississippi river, tickets will be sold June 26, 27, 28 and 29. Final limit on tickets from all points will be July 6, 1896.

From points south and west of Atlanta, the Southern railway is the short and quick route to Richmond, Va., via the "Piedmont Air Line," and the service is peerless. From Knoxville, Tenn., Chattanooga, Tenn., and points west thereof, the route of the Southern railway is via Ashville, and through the scenic "Land of the Sky." The service of this line is unexcelled.

Call on any agent of the Southern railway for further information, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanoogu, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; J. C Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; W. A. Turks, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G, P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.

SPRING MEETING BIRMINGHAM RACES.

Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

The Southern railway in the state of Alabama will sell tickets at reduced rates to Birmingham and return, account spring meeting of the Birmingham Jockey Club. Tickets will be sold March 16th to 21st inclusive, good to return until March 23d, 1896.

Call on any Southern railway agent for further information.

C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A.

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE

The State of Alabama, }
Shelby County. }

Probate Court for Shelby County, Alabama.—Letters of administration upon the estate of J. S. Davis, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 3d day of February, 1896, by the Hon. D. R. McMillan, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

A. E. Davis,
Administrators.

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.

H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.

F. E. Davis and

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

—DEALERS IN—

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Millinery Goods.

Having moved my Millinery Stock over in the business portion of town I am now prepared to serve my customers better than ever. I have just opened

The Most Complete Line of Millinery

ever brought to Montevallo. I intend to keep the reputation my goods have made and offer them cheaper than ever. Call and see me in my new store on Main Street, under the law office of E. S. Lyman, Esq.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY.

New Millinery Store.

I have just opened the nicest line of

MILLINERY GOODS

Ever brought to Montevallo. Having had large experience in this line and having some of the best connections in New York, Baltimore and St. Louis, I feel that I can suit the most fastidious.

PRICES CHEAPER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Call and see me at my new store.

MRS. T. A. BEST,

Corner of Valley and Depot Streets.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
LOWEST PRICES.

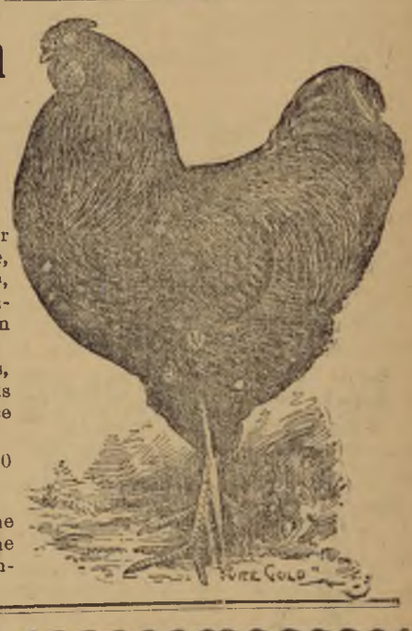
LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY



Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

FLOUR! FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310 Montgomery, Ala.

J. B. Lewis Co.

WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear,
Style,
Ease,
Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.
FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
{SEAL} A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

How Merit Counts.

"My father got a box of TETTERINE from a friend who had obtained it somewhere in the West. He has had eczema very bad a long time, and TETTERINE is the only thing that has ever benefited him.
"Please send by Express C. O. D. half-dozen boxes. I've no doubt but it will be the means of selling a great deal of it here." Very truly, MRS. L. C. MALCOLM.
591 Cranston St., Providence, R. I.
1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.
J. T SHEPTRINE. Savannah. Ga.

A Good Dog Is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

After a man is married he wonders what made his old friendships with other men seem so dear.

When an article has been sold for 21 years, in spite of competition and cheap imitations, it must have superior quality. Dobbins' Electric Soap has been constantly made and sold since 1865. Ask your grocer for it. Best of all.

Why are children like jellies? Because as they are moulded so will they turn out.

SUFFERERS FROM COUGHS, SORE THROAT, etc., should be constantly supplied with "Brown's Bronchial Troches." Avoid imitations.

Not much credit should be given to him who does right by accident.

Now Is the Time to Cure Your Corns with Hindercorns. It takes them out perfectly and gives comfort. Ask your druggist. 15c.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Every Mother Should Always Have a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic. Nothing so good for pain, weakness, colds and sleeplessness Piso's Cure cured me of a Throat and Lung trouble of three years' standing.—E. CADY, Huntington, Ind., Nov. 12, 1894.

Mothers

Anxiously watch declining health of their daughters. So many are cut off by consumption in early years that there is real cause for anxiety. In the early stages, when not beyond the reach of medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore the quality and quantity of the blood and thus give good health. Read the following letter:

"It is but just to write about my daughter Cora, aged 19. She was completely run down, declining, had that tired feeling, and friends said she would not live over three months. She had a bad and nothing seemed to do her any good. I happened to read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and had her give it a trial. From the very first dose she began to get better. After taking a few bottles she was completely cured and her health has been the best ever since." MRS. ADDIE PECK. 15 Railroad Place, Amsterdam, N. Y.

Cough

"I will say that my mother has not stated my case in as strong words as I would have done. Hood's Sarsaparilla has truly cured me and I am now well." CORA PECK, Amsterdam, N. Y.

Be sure to get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1 Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, reliable and beneficial. 25c.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR

W. L. DOUGLAS $3. SHOE BEST IN THE WORLD.

If you pay $4 to $6 for shoes, examine the W. L. Douglas Shoe, and see what a good shoe you can buy for $3.

OVER 100 STYLES AND WIDTHS, CONGRESS, BUTTON, and LACE, made in all kinds of the best selected leather by skilled workmen. We make and sell more $3 Shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.

None genuine unless name and price is stamped on the bottom.

Ask your dealer for our $5, $4, $3.50, $2.50, $2.25 Shoes; $2.50, $2 and $1.75 for boys.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE. If your dealer cannot supply you, send to factory, enclosing price and 36 cents to pay carriage. State kind, style of toe (cap or plain), size and width. Our Custom Dept. will fill your order. Send for new Illustrated Catalogue to Box R.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

PAYING POSITIONS

GUARANTEED IN WRITING. Students' complete course in HALF the TIME at HALF the EXPENSE of other colleges. 24 placed last month. Address at once GEORGIA BUS. COLLEGE, Macon, Ga.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

Am. N, U. No. 15. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

NEWS AND NOTES FOR WOMEN

THEY DO NOT LIKE IT.

The innovations which the young Czarina is making in the etiquette of the Russian court are meeting with a good deal of opposition from some of the Muscovite ladies. Among the changes her Imperial Majesty has ordained that presentations shall be made in the English fashion, the Sovereign offering her hand to be kissed, and not shaken, as was the custom of the dowager Empress. The Russian ladies are disposed to resent this as an unnecessary display of haughtiness.—Detroit Free Press.

TRAVELING SKIRTS WITH POCKETS.

The fact that an article may have been principally used for mischievous purposes is not, and should not be a bar to its adoption when it can be made to serve useful ends. The account of the arrest of a woman wearing a skirt with large pockets suggested to an ingenious damsel a most happy possibility.

Being fond of taking short trips, and very much disliking the cumbersomeness of a satchel or bag, she made a series of pockets in a petticoat. These were designed to hold brush and comb, manicure set, powder in a tiny package, and other small articles that she might need. A little pastboard box not much larger than a good-sized candy box held a lawn gown and India silk and lace matinee. When she wished a further equipment, a larger box was provided, and an extra waist put in, as well as a pair of silk hose and such other necessaries as the length of stay demanded. Of course, immediately on her arrival the toilet articles were arranged on the dressing case, and her skirts were relieved of all weight.

She says that this arrangement is infinitely more convenient than the old fashion of carrying a traveling bag. She told her idea to some young friends, and several of them have expressed their determination to try the experiment. There might be times when such a device would have very evident uses. Certainly anything that will reduce the bulk of hand luggage is to be welcomed, especially if the weather is unpleasant and one must hold up the dress or carry an umbrella.

On one occasion this young woman took waist, matinee, night dress and toilet articles in these pockets. She had to carry an umbrella and hold up her dress, and thanked her stars that she had no parcels with which her hands need be occupied.

Ingenuity is a good thing, and when it works in the direction of saving trouble and worry it is exceedingly well applied.—New York Ledger.

HAIL TO THE HOOPSKIRT.

Hoopskirts are coming back into fashion.

Two of the Parisian fashion journals received in New York last week contained pictures of the rejuvenated hoop, with long descriptions of it. But before the Paris papers came with the pictures hoopskirts were already displayed at two very swell shops in this city—one in a big Sixth avenue show window, the other in the window of a Fifth avenue modeste.

Small groups of women gathered daily and looked at them, apparently with pain.

The new hoopskirt does not differ to any great extent from those worn during the days of the Republican Court by Mr. Washington, Mrs. William Duer, Mrs. Alexander Hamilton, Mrs. John Jay, Mrs. Harrison Gray Otis, Mrs. William Bingham, the great Philadelphia leader of society and fashion, and by many others.

The hoopskirts now on exhibition in this city were manufactured here two weeks ago by a well-known bustle manufacturer as soon as the news came across the water that the old fashion was to return. Fashion journals show patterns for skirts to be worn with the new hoops.

One of these shows a skirt containing thirteen gores, having straight edges meeting bias edges in the seams, which are to be plaited and gathered slightly at the back. To make this skirt for women of medium size requires 14¼ yards of material twenty-two inches wide. This would give a circumference at the bottom of 12½ feet. No crinoline or extra heavy lining is to be used. The hoops are supposed to do all of the flaring necessary. The modistes who were interviewed said they had received no orders yet for skirts to be made for hoops, but that as the edict had gone abroad they expected orders soon. The makers and the wearers on this side of the Atlantic do not favor the hoop. The bustle is already here in great numbers, and is freely advertised by several of the large establishments.

Probably those who most bitterly regret the coming of the hoop are the officials and stockholders of the street railway transportation lines. It is estimated that three women wearing the new hoops will occupy one entire side of a Broadway cable car. The top of the Fifth avenue stage is suggested as the best and most convenient place for hoop-wearers to ride.—New York World.

GOSSIP.

In Roumania women both study and practice medicine.

The Empress of Austria is making a collection of cows.

The Iowa State Senate defeated a resolution giving women the right to vote at all elections.

Wilhelmina, the girl Queen of the Netherlands, is one of Queen Victoria's most constant correspondents.

Women medical students will, in all probability, be admitted to the University of Budapest during the next term.

Miss Annie Scott, of Great Bend, Kan., a niece of Justice Brewer, has been appointed clerk to the Venezuelan Commission.

The Kentucky Legislature debated a bill to allow women all over the State to vote for School Trustees and also to hold the office of School Trustee.

It is said that Mrs. Cleveland has developed very healthily since her marriage, and now tips the scales at 196 pounds, though her flesh has not marred her figure.

In New York City at Sherry's, Society had a "Spinster's Leap Year Ball." The handsome women did the handsome thing, and took the young men down to supper.

Decatur, Mich., is the paradise of the new woman. She holds all the offices of any consequence, manages the business, leads the thought and runs the whole place.

In Scandinavia there are thirty woman doctors, and in Finland three. India has eleven medical colleges and sixty-nine women doctors, chiefly medical missionaries.

The ex-Empress Eugenie has presented in the Paris Museum of Decorative Art all the plans and drawings prepared for the decoration of her private apartments at the Tulleries.

Dr. Mary Allman, who died the other day in Philadelphia, is said to have been the first woman dentist of the world. She got a diploma from the Philadelphia Dental College in 1881.

Mrs. John W. Foster is said to display remarkable ability as a presiding officer, coupled with great patience and firmness, in the discharge of her duty as President of the Daughters of the Revolution.

Some of the new poke bonnets have already been in evidence on several heads among the smart set. It is significant that only the prettiest of pretty women have had the courage to appear in them.

Downey, the London photographer, who takes most of the pictures for the royal family, says his success in making photographs of the Queen is due to her "being perfectly natural and avoiding all fuss."

Miss Elizabeth Moorhead Stone, daughter of the Pennsylvania Congressman, is one of the most accomplished musicians in Washington society and one of the few young women who can wear Watteau effects in dress.

Mary French Field, eldest daughter of the late Eugene Field, is preparing herself to read in public the poems of her father. She is a handsome young woman of noble presence, and will make a striking appearance on the platform.

Many women who have inherited jewels must have in their collection a few amethysts or a topaz, and now is the time to get it out, for the "great jeweler" declares them the fashion, and shows the former in both brooches and rings. The latter are seen in brooches, surrounded by pearls and diamonds.

Mrs. Alexander Campbell, whose husband founded the church variously known as the Disciples, the Campbellites and the Christians, is living, at the age of ninety-four, in Bethany, W. Va. Several of her children have established themselves well in life, but the one who is, perhaps, best known in the Nation is Mrs. W. R. Thompson, who was long postmistress of Louisville and is now a resident of Washington.

FASHION NOTES.

Authorities claim that with the tight sleeve will come also the Watteau style of dress and panniers.

Braid is once more to regain its own. As a trimming for a serviceable skirt graduated rows look exceedingly well.

Cloth skirts with capes to match, worn with a silk blouse, have been extremely popular in London for some time.

The open coat is certain to be popular. As a waistcoat white lace frills and black velvet trimming will be effective.

Shrink all cotton goods before making up, especially for shirt waists. Interline the collar and cuffs of these with coarse linen to hold the starch.

A novelty waist is made of silk in clan plaid. The fullness is gathered into the belt and collar, and wide epaulets and revers of velvet are used as trimming.

A stylish waist is of spotted crepon. It has a deep square yoke of velvet, edged with embroidered galloon with metal threads. From the side seams to the bodice point are wide bands of velvet ribbon. Three of these on each side meet at the bodice and are finished with a large bow. The velvet collar has large bows on either side of the front, and the enormous football sleeves have galloon bands at the elbows.

HIS BACK ALMOST BROKEN.

A GEORGIA FARMER'S SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

While Plowing in the Field He Attempts to Raise a Pine Stump and Injures His Spine.

From the Ishmaelite, Sparta, Ga.

"Did you notice the man who just passed us?" asked a gentleman of a reporter.

"Yes, what about him?" asked the reporter.

"How old would you take him to be?"

"Oh, about thirty-five, I guess."

"Well, you have made the same mistake that many others have made. That is Mr. Geo. Bradley, and he is fifty years of age."

A few days later the reporter was introduced to Mr. Bradley and commented on his youthful appearance. He seemed pleased, and in explaining the reason for it, incidently told of a once serious accident to himself.

"It will be twenty years next spring," continued Mr. Bradley, "that I was breaking up land for cotton in the northern part of the State, and my plow stuck under a large pine root. I loosed my plow and told my three boys to have the root pulled up by the time I came around again. When I returned I found the root still there, and thinking the boys were not trying to get it up, I told them to get out of the way and I would pull it up myself.

"I grabbed it with both hands and gave a jerk which broke it and almost did the same with my back. I had to quit work for some time, in fact, I was never able to do any more very laborious work. I suffered all the time; I tried several doctors and many methods of treatment, but nothing would ease the terrible pain I suffered. Night and day it was the same.

"I moved to Massachusetts and stayed there several years, during which time I tried several more doctors, but with the same disappointing results. I came to this place fifteen years ago, and had become almost a physical wreck. I suffered most excruciating pains and had given up all hope of ever being well again. One day last year I saw an account of a similar case which had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to try them. I purchased six boxes, and by the time I had taken them, I was entirely free from pain and had gained twenty pounds, and I have never been troubled since with my back."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are considered an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

An Invitation to Pray Frightened the Eminent London Attorney.

Many prominent lawyers in London are of an evangelistic turn of mind and employ their leisure by pulpit exercises in whatever denomination they favor. Reader Harris, a well-known queen's counsel, for instance, is founder and head of the obscure body known as the Pentecostal League, which is holding its annual meetings in London this week. But the best known preaching queen's counsel is Samuel Waddy, a leading light among Methodists. Mr. Waddy is a good-humored old soul, of whom his brethren "learned in the law" like occasionally to make fun. Once when he was on a circuit with Mr. (now Sir) Frank Lockwood, that witty lawyer determined to see how Waddy behaved in the pulpit. Accordingly, accompanied by a barrister friend, Mr. Lockwood visited the Methodist chapel where Waddy was to preach and took a prominent front seat. But Waddy espied them when he entered the pulpit, and, knowing their object, determined to get rid of them; so, after some preliminary exercises, he rose and solemnly said:

"Brother Lockwood will lead the congregation in prayer."

"Brother" Lockwood's dismay may be better imagined than described. He vanished from his seat quicker than thought, and no "Methody" chapel has known his proud presence since.

It is not often that anyone scores off Lockwood. Generally it is the other way. Once he was engaged on the opposite side from Sir Charles Russell (now Lord Russell of Killowen), who was trying to browbeat a witness into giving a direct answer, "Yes" or "No."

"You can answer any question 'Yes' or 'No,'" declared Sir Charles.

"Oh, can you?" retorted Lockwood. "May I ask if you have left off beating your wife?"

Of course Lord Russell is not a wife-beater, but he was fairly cornered. If he said "Yes" he admitted the practice; if he said "No" the situation was still worse. He did not press the point with the witness.

Of English Origin.

Many so-called Americanisms are in reality archaisms of which the English origin is forgotten. The phase "let slide" is supposed to be an Americanism, but students of English literature will call to mind the following stanza from Chaucer's "Clerkes Tale:"

"I blame him not that he considered nought
In time coming what might him belittle,
But on his lust present was all his thought,
And for to hauke and hunt on every side;
Well nigh all other cures let he slide,
And eke he n' old (and that was worst of all)
Wedden no wif for ought that might befall."

The term "I guess" was also used by Chaucer:

"With him ther was his sone, a younger squier,
A lover and a lusty bacheler,
With locks crulle as they were laide in presse,
Of twenty year of age he was I gesse."

Americans have been criticized for using the word "homely" to express the absence of beautiful—as a "homely girl" for a "plain girl." An example of such usage may be found in Shakspeare:

"Upon a homely object love can wink."

After all, life would be unbearable if everybody talked like a book. It is far better to use "isms" than, in the words of an illustrious Irishman, to "hide one's nationality under a cloak of personal affectation."

MALTA ONCE A BARREN ROCK.

It Is Now One of the Most Fertile of the World's Islands.

Malta is a striking example of how natural conditions may be overcome by industry and thrift. Although it is now a verdant island, nearly its entire face was originally a barren rock. Soil was brought to it from all parts of the world, to be mixed with the island stone reduced to powder; fortunately the rocks are soft and easily pulverized.

Want is unknown there. Things that are considered valueless in more fertile countries are carefully treasured; eggs' shells, chaff, the sweepings of ships' decks, rags, corks, kitchen waste—all are kept until a tiny patch of land can be created out of the solid stone. When that great day arrives the peasant farmer breaks with a pickax the surface of the rock to the depth of nearly two feet, levels it, throws back the smaller stones and powder, then adds the soil and refuse he has so carefully scraped together.

of their money is the memory that it once was theirs.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Manufacturers —OF— Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting —AND— Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.

OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.
Write for Prices. Address,
Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
In writing please mention this paper.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

WE HAVE NO AGENTS.

but sell direct to the consumer at wholesale prices. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 60 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Write for catalogue.
ELKHART Carriage & Harness Mfg Co.
W. R. PRATT, Secy. Elkhart, Ind.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. Charles Austin Bates, the famous advertising writer, makes a specialty of medical advertisements. He has studied medicine and has a habit of analyzing the ingredients of every medicine about which he is asked to write, refusing to write advertisements for medicines which he cannot indorse. He says of Ripans Tabules: "I had the formula and went through it from the ground up. I found that every one of the ingredients was put in for some special purpose, and was good for the purpose intended. I have as much confidence in Ripans Tabules as I have in anything I ever wrote about. I take them myself when I have eaten a little too much or feel nausea or symptoms of headache coming on, and I find them quicker to act than any medicine I ever took. I know some people who think they can't possibly get along without them. My wife went to call one day on some friends she had known always. She found they swore by Ripans Tabules. They did not know that she knew anything about them or that I had written anything for them. By the way, if you swallow them properly, you don't taste anything in the mouth. Swallow them quickly and you are all right. You can feel their action in the stomach almost immediately; a very pleasant sensation."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Corn

is a vigorous feeder and responds well to liberal fertilization. On corn lands the yield increases and the soil improves if properly treated with fertilizers containing not under 7% actual

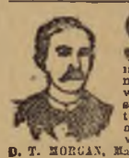
Potash.

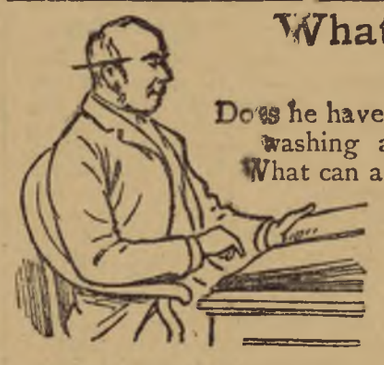
A trial of this plan costs but little and is sure to lead to profitable culture.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.



$3 A DAY SURE. SEND us your address and we will show you how to make $3 a day; absolutely sure; we furnish the work and teach you free, you work in the locality where you live; send us your address and we will explain the business fully; remember we guarantee a clear profit of $3 for every day's work; absolutely sure; write at once. D. T. MORGAN, Manager, Box LF, DETROIT, MICHIGAN.



What's your husband's work?

Does he have to do anything as hard as your washing and scrubbing? It can't be. What can a man do that's as hard, for most men, as this constant housedrudgery is, for most women? If he has any sympathy for you, tell him to get you some Pearline. Sympathy is all very well, but it's Pearline, not sympathy, that you want for washing and cleaning. Nothing else that's safe to use will save you so much downright hard work at the washtub or about the house. It saves money, too—saves the ruinous wear on clothes and paint from needless rubbing.

Millions NOW USE 464 Pearline

ALABASTINE.

IT WON'T RUB OFF.

Wall Paper is Unsanitary. KALSOMINE IS TEMPORARY, ROTS, RUBS OFF AND SCALES.

ALABASTINE is a pure, permanent and artistic wall-coating, ready for the brush by mixing in cold water.

For Sale by Paint Dealers Everywhere.

THE DOCTOR—"One layer of paper is bad enough, you have three here. Baby may recover but cannot thrive."

FREE A Tint Card showing 12 desirable tints, also Alabastine Souvenir Rock sent free to any one mentioning this paper. ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Brown's Iron Bitters Strengthens the muscles, tones the nerves, aids digestion, purifies the blood, improves the complexion.

Brown Chemical Co. Baltimore, Md.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. II. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 16, 1896. NO. 2.

Recompense.

Straightway through my heart this fact today
By truth's own hand is drive
God never takes one thing away
But something else is given.

I did not know in earlier years
This law of love and kindred,
But without hope, through bitter year
I mourned in sorrow's blindness.

And ever following each regret
For some departed treasure,
My sad repining heart was met
With unexpected pleasure.

I thought it only happened so,
But time this truth has taught me
No least thing from my life can go
But something else is brought me.

It is the law, complete, sublime,
And now with faith unshaken
In patience I but bide my time
When any joy is taken.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox

IN PASTURES NEW.

Phillippa, New, and Uncle John, Fat, Forty and not such a fool as he looks. Scene: A Drawing Room in Suburbia.

Uncle John (putting down his newspaper as Phillippa enters)—Very glad to see you, my dear. Enjoyed myself immensely, thank you. Delightful yacht; French cook; choppy sea. Can't believe I've been away three months. Quite well—dear? That's right. And jogging along pretty much the same as usual, I suppose.

Phillippa (seating herself opposite in a straight-backed chair, and with dignity)—I have ceased to jog, uncle, for the past nine weeks.

Uncle John—What—eh? Ceased to jog, my dear? Very enterprising of you, I am sure. Struck out a new line, I suppose. Gone in for a slum perhaps. Very nice thing a slum, I am told. Dirt, drink and socialism most picturesque.

Phillippa—You are mistaken, uncle. Chrrity is so old-fashioned that ——

Uncle John—That you have written a novel. Very clever indeed. There is a certain delicacy and refinement about a lady's novel that no man, to my thinking, not even a Frenchman, has ever attained. Not a novel? Rights and wrongs from a platform perhaps. Such a charming speaker, my dear Phillippa, could convert me to anything.

Phillippa—You will oblige me, Uncle John, by being as little frivolous as possible. Charity is played out, as I said. Every one writes novels, and woman's rights are not attracting much attention. I have gone in for the physical developmment of our sex in fields (both actual and metaphorical fields, as our leader says) which men have hitherto ursurped for their exclusive possession—and I am prepared to meet unflinchingly any amount of opposition which you may offer the cause in my person.

Uncle John (resting his newspaper on his stout knees and looking up)—Opposition! From me! What in the world should have made you suppose that, my love? I oppose you? Not at all. On the other hand, a cause as noble as the one you have named claims all my sympathy. Physical development, my dear! What more needed in a class of persons who can get into No. 3 shoes and No. 6 gloves. I am not personal in the least, I assure you, Phillippa. All women take three in shoes and six in gloves—or they say they do, which is the same thing. Yes—yes, Phillippa, I can promise your cause my most zealous and devoted support.

Phillippa (rather taken aback by a reception which totally differs from her expectations)—I am glad of it, if you had disapproved I should have been compelled to act without your approval.

Uncle John—Certainly, my love, certainly!

Phillippa—And have not indeed waited for it, in that I was, I trust, a not inefficient member of the winning team in the public football match, of which you may have seen an account in the papers a few weeks back.

Uncle John—To be sure I did. A vulgar and prejudiced account, if I am not mistaken—but still an account, and and in the public press. Dear—dear me—what a proud moment it would have been if I could have turned on all those ill-bred scoffers at Nice (British gentlemen, too, they called themselves) and said: "Gentleman, beware! My niece is a member of the Ladies' Football Club! Disrespect it at your peril!"

Phillippa—You would oblige me and other members, uncle, by substituting women for the more antiquated word, we——

Uncle John—You can rely upon me, my love, never to call you ladies again. And were you much damaged at the match, Phillippa?

Philippa (with an irrepressible note of alarm in her voice)—Killed, uncle! What in the world should make you suppose that?

Uncle John (casually)—Oh, one of the players generally is, you know, Danger adds to the excitement—don't you think?

Philippa (rather faintly) — Yes. But of course football is the only way—of developing ourselves, uncle. I practise that, certainly, a good deal by myself in our back garden, but—what are you laughing at?

Uncle John—Laughing, my love? Not at all. It's this cough I caught on board.

Philippa (reassured)—And there's bicycling, too.

Uncle John—Capital sport that—capital. Very glad you go in for that. Saw a young fellow—by-the-by, I am not sure it wasn't a young woman—on Reigate hill last summer slipping down at a beautiful pace—come off—, head over heels. Picked up—life extinct. Sad, of course—not unusual. Wear trousers, Phillippa.

Phillippa (outraged)—Uncle!

Uncle John—I beg your pardon, my love, I am sure. Er—how are you clothed for these sports, I mean to say.

Phillippa—We wear what delicate-minded people call rational dress. Then there's hockey. We play that against men, you know. And if they did not cheat most horribly, I know we should win sometimes.

Uncle John—Of course, my love, of course. Fine game, too. Ever seen Robert Matthews? No? Well, I'm glad of it. Front teeth, nose, upper lip broken in one match—in another, jaw, collar-bone and a finger. Still, it's a fine game, hockey; fine game.

Phillippa (rather tremulously)—All games seem dangerous acccording to you. I don't believe it. What about cricket? We go in for that.

Uncle John—Not much danger there. Disfiguring only. Know a young fellow who had his nose flattened—young woman wouldn't marry him. Black eyes with beefsteaks on them for weeks. Nothing more than that.

Phillippa (with some slight exertion)—However dangerous these games are no one can deny that they are splendid for physical developement.

Uncle John—He would be a fool who did. Why, my dear, you'll be pleased to know I notice quite a change in you already. Hands larger and redder. Feet getting quite—rational. A month or two's training on raw beefsteaks and that kind of thing and we shall have you as tough and hard as a prize-fighter.

Phillippa (dissolving into tears)—You needn't make it sound so hideous as that.

Uncle John—Hideous! Not at all. Seen with the physically developed eye it is beauty. As for muscle—ever seen those pictures of Samson's arms, Phillipa? I assure you you needn't despair of getting yours like that in time, with your football and cycling, and cricket and hockey. And though they won't perhaps have the soft, plump, little out of date prettiness that only does for the ball room—considered physically developed, if I may use the term, they will be splendid.

Philippa (still somewhat moved)—And what horrid things the undeveloped girls will say about them.

Uncle John—Oh, that wouldn't matter. Not more than the horrid things the Great Unwashed shouted at the football match, and the underbred journalists wrote afterwards. And as for really disgraceful things—Charlie's remarks — you remember your cousin Charles—about the football women (of course he did not know that you played) were quite unfit for publication.

Phillippa, (rather eagerly with heightened color)—I didn't know that Charlie disapproved of physical progress.

Uncle John—Oh! he's quite effete you know. Said he'd let no wife of his make a fool of herself in—rational dress, before a gallery of roughs. [illegible] only served her right by tell[illegible] the truth.

Phillippa (with more tears)—Did he really?

(There is a pause. Uncle John reads his paper unmoved.)

Phillippa (timidly)—I think, uncle, I will write to the secretaries and say I have not been been well lately. I think I should like a change.

Uncle John—Abroad, my dear?

Phillippa—Yes, and we don't mention physical development to any one we meet.

Uncle John—Not for worlds, my love. Suppose we go to Nice. Charlie has his yacht there. Do you think Nice will do?

(Phillippa thinks it will. It does) —Black and White.

This Bridge is Blown Up.

During the army maneuvers near Stettia a comical incident occurred. A young lieutenant of the cavalry guards, who has considerable property, was sent with six men to reconnoiter in the direction in which his regiment was to advance. Arriving at a bridge crossing the Stettin highroad, he fastened a board across, writing upon it with chalk these words, "This bridge is blown up," signing it with his name. After this heroic exploit he retired a little ways and treated his command and himself to an excellent breakfast, in which several bottles of liquor played an important part. Tired from the ride on the hot day, the little command, after that repast, took a rest along the wall of a cemenear by, allowing the horses to graze.

In the meantime, however, an infantry regiment of the enemy had arrived at the bridge, and its commander wrote another one, which read: "This bridge is built up again." The cavalry patrol were discovered and found asleep. The colonel of the regiment ordered their horses and arms taken away, allowing them to continue in their slumber. Of course, when they awoke, a few hours afterward, and made their way back to their own command, without being able to give an account of what had become of their horses, sabers and guns, there was great consternation among them. Since the lieutenant in charge of the expedition intended to retire into private life at an early day, to devote himself to his agricultural interests, the colonel of his regiment gave him the advice of executing the contemplated change at as early a date as possible.—Berlin Boersen-Zeitung.

Preserving Wooden Posts.

Posts for telegraph service are prepared in Switzerland by a process that commends itself for cheapness and inventiveness. On a skeleton framework of wood, standing something like twenty-five or thirty feet above the ground, is a tank with a capacity of about two hundred gallons. From this a pipe falls to within two or three feet of the ground where it joins a cluster of pipes, each having a cap, to the centre of which the pipe is attached. The poles are placed on an inclined plane, the larger ends up, then on each is clamped one of these caps, so arranged that no liquid can escape except through the fibers of the wood. Troughs are placed underneath them to catch drippings, and a solution of sulphate of copper descends from the tank through these pipes. There is sufficient fall to produce a pressure which drives the solution through the wood. As it drips out at the smaller and lower ends of the poles it is gathered and returned to the tank. When sufficiently saturated the poles are dried. The chemical has so penetrated the wood as to render it much more durable than by any other known process.—Ledger.

Unexplored Lake in Missouri.

The Grand Gulf in Oregon County, Missouri, is nearly four miles long, 100 feet deep, and 100 feet wide. It is crossed by a natural bridge wide enough for a wagon road, with a passageway below wide enough for two teams to pass abreast. At the base of the gulf is a cave, leading to an unexplored lake of water inhabited by eyeless fish. This lake is some 500 feet beneath the surface and is supposed to be a feeder for the mammoth spring in Arkansas, eight miles distant. The Grand Gulf is one of the wonders of the world.—Sedalia (Mo.) Bazoo.

It is proposed to "double-deck" the Union stock yards at Chicago. The ground space will be devoted entirely to cattle and that above to sheep and hogs.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

In some way the man you hate always becomes acquainted with the girl you like best.

The best society and conversation is that in which the heart has greater share than the head.

If we want to drive our neighbor from the path of rectitude we will tell everybody that he is mean.

It is a question with many bright young men whether they will practice law, medicine or deception.

Don't make a promise without performing it, as your neighbors will soon believe that you are lying.

When you find a man that you can trust with uncounted gold you have made a valuable acquaintance.

Friendship is a medicine for the worst of misfortunes. Ingratitude dries up the fountain of goodness.

If a man have love in his heart, he may talk in broken language, but it will be eloquence to those who listen.

Don't expect from your neighbor a favor that you would not grant, as he will combine against your prosperity.

Do not complain if the public does not give you credit for all the good deeds done in life. Your conscience will.

Those who do not fear that the robber will break in and steal have the soundest sleep and the keenest appetites.

A single man has nobody but himself to blame if things go wrong. A married man can blame it all to his wife.

It is quite out of place for one to administer a dose of morals to his neighbor when he is sick with the same complaint.

Much of the trouble in this country happens because men take too much time to make money and too little to enjoy it.

The destiny of nations is often decided on the battlefield. Man's successes or failures hang by a more slender thread.—The South West.

An Intelligent St. Bernard.

An English traveler in Switzerland having recently criticised somewhat unfavorably the race of St. Bernard dogs because a certain member of that famous breed took the liberty of devouring the contents of his luncheon basket on a recent occasion, a German admirer of the maligned animal has been moved to take up his pen in its defense. The St. Bernard's action, he maintains, does not exhibit any lack of intelligence. On the contrary, it shows a very keen appreciation of the interests of the innkeepers in mountainous regions. On the summit where the offence was committed, he points out, there is an inn where an excellent luncheon may be obtained at a very moderate price. When the English tourist makes a practice of carrying all his refreshments up from below, he shows a disregard for the prosperity of such establishments, which the St. Bernard dog—to his honor be it said—has no disposition to encourage.—Westminster Budget.

Chicago's Wonderful Growth.

In the seventeenth century the present site of Chicago was a swamp, which fur-traders and missionaries found fatally miasmatic. About 1800 a government engineer viewing that rank morass traversed by a sluggish stream, pronounced it the only spot on Lake Michigan where a city could not be built. In 1804 Fort Dearborn was erected here to counteract British influence. In 1812 the fort was demolished by Indians, but in 1819 rebuilt, and it continued, standing till 1871. Around the little fort in 1840 were settled 4,500 people. The number was 30,000 in 1850; 109,000 in 1860; 300,000 in 1870, In 1880 the community embraced 503,185 souls; in 1890 it had 1,099,850. In 1855 the indomitable city illustrated her spirit by pulling herself bodily out of her natal swamp, lifting churches, blocks, and houses from eight to ten feet, without pause in general business.—Scribner.

Uncertain.

"I'm sorry I stole the preserves, ma."

"Ah, your conscience is troubling you, is it!"

"I d[illegible]actly. Where is my co[illegible]'—Yonkers Statesman.

Cradle Song.

There's a baby moon rocking far up in the sky,
And the night wind is blowing a soft lullaby;
And down, away down, in a mossy-lined nest,
Are five little birdies 'neath mother's warm breast.
O hushaby, little one, sleep!

Enfolded in arms that a loving hold keep,
Another wee baby is rocking to sleep,
A soft golden head presses close to my heart,
And darkly fringed eyelids just drowsily part.
O hushaby, little one, sleep!

The tiny star candles are lighting the way
For birdies and elves that to Sleepy Town stray.
But my baby's stars are his mother's brown eyes,
That love-light his path as to dreamland he hies.
O hushaby, little one, sleep!

The silver-moon baby sinks low in the west,
The chirping is hushed in the little brown nest,
And, swinging and swaying, with eyes closing fast,
My little one crosses the border at last.
O hush thee, my little one sleep!

—Pauline Frances Camp.

HUMOROUS.

Unhappy love lasts usually longer than the happy one.

If roses had no thorns, they probably would have tongues.

To keep things moving, a crank goes with every millionaire.

There is language in colors, though some are much louder than others.

Quicksilver has been rising rapidly of late, although barometers are 'way down.

True love is the most happy capitalist. Love pays the highest interest and gets richer while giving it away.

"Say Smith's got a box in a safety deposit vault." "What's he got in it?" "The receipt for the rent of the box."

"Will you be my wife, Fraulein Paula, and make me happy?" "I am sorry, doctor, but I should like to be happy myself."

She—Do you think it would be unmaidenly for a girl to propose to a man? He—Certainly not, if she is rich enough for two.

Bennie—What's a conversationalist? Jennie—Oh, it's a man that doesn't have to stop talking when he hasn't got anything more to say."

"Haven't you made Mr. Bulger's portrait a good deal more than life size?" said one artist to another. "Perhaps. You see, that's as big as he thinks he is."

"Mamma, teacher whipped a boy today for whispering in school." "Well, that was right." "Well, mamma, he hollered ten times as loud as he whispered!"

"Dad, what's a running account?" "It's an open account with a dry goods store, my son, which keeps your mother running down-town all the time to buy something."

Willie—What's the matter with your nose, Bobby? Bobby—Tommy Higgingotham an' me had a fight in school about some marbles. Willie—Who got 'em? Bobby—Teacher.

"Been married seven times, has he? Is he a man of leisure otherwise?" "Oh, no; he's a hard-working tailor." "What a remarkable instance of the survival of the fittest."

"Excuse me, sir," said Barker to a boorish traveler, "but what is your business?" "I am a gentleman sir. That's my business." "Ah," said Barker. "I see. You are taking a vacation."

"Jane," said her father, "I thought you hated stingy people, and yet your young man—" "Why, pa, who says he is stingy?" "Oh, nobody says so; only that I could see that he was a little 'near' as I passed through the room."

"I wonder if sleeves will be as big next year as they are this?" said the fashionable girl. "I hope not," said the economical girl. "Why, if they're not you'll have to make all your wardrobe over." "Of course; and then I can take one dress and make two of it."

Bobbie—On my way to school this morning I met the new boy who has moved in next door.

Mrs. Bingo—Yes, and here's a note from the teacher saying you were late.

Bobbie—That's nothing. The new boy didn't get there at all.—Truth.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

The average life of a railroad locomotive is about fifteen years.

The cycles in use in the French army are to be provided with an electric light, which can be turned on and off at will.

Professor William R. Brooks of Geneva, N. Y., has received the medal of the Astronomical society of the Pacific for the discovery of his latest comet.

Dr. A. Graham Bell has invented a sort of telephone in which a sunbeam serves as a wire. He does not say whether he has a method for keeping the beam in place during the night.

According to professor M'Adie, the risk of lightning stroke is five times greater in the country than in cities, because ordinary dwelling houses in city blocks receive a very considerable protection from the tin roofing, cornices, gutters, and so on.

Some idea of the vast extent of the surface of the earth may be obtained when it is noted that if a lofty church steeple is ascended, and the landscape visible from it looked at, nine hundred thousand such landscapes must be viewed in order that the whole earth may be seen.

A sound vibration is the to and fro motions of the air molecules, if the sound be in air, the motions being in the line of the movement of the air wave; that is, longitudinal vibrations. The air particles act upon the tympanic membrane and cause it to move to and fro at the same rate.

The largest structure on the earth, when compared with the size of the builders, is the ant-hill of Africa. Some of these mounds have been observed fifteen feet high and nine feet in diameter. If a human habitation were constructed on the same scale, it would be more than seven miles high.

At a late meeting of the German Anthropological society, professor Ranke called attention to the fact that what constitutes the chief nervous distinction between man and animals is not the absolute or relative weight of the brain, but the fact that the weight of the human brain is much greater in proportion to the weight of the spinal cord than in any other vertebrate.

Of the human heart, Dr. Ephriam Cutter writes: "I have listened to the heart sounds of one woman and one man, both over ninety-nine years of age, with feelings of awe, and have thought how wonderful it was that these hearts had pulsated so long, propelling blood through vessels which if possible to be ranged in one line would on a very moderate estimate reach twice around the earth, or forty-eight thousand miles, with a leeway for the average red disc of one forty-eighth-thousandth of an inch.

Cocoa And Chocolate.

For the past fifty years the manufacture of chocolate and the preparation of cocoa has been going on in New York. There are now some twenty-five factories and firms engaged in the business. A prominent manufacturer said to a porter in relation to this:

The reason why New York is the center for the manufacture of the various forms of chocolate is because both the cocoa bean and the sugar required in its manufacture are grown this side of the Atlantic, and are more easily produced here than aboard.

There is also another reason why the domestic chocolate is better than the imported, and that is because we make a better quality of goods than they do on the other side.

The American manufacturers give better values and work on a smaller margin.

"One of the reasons why many chocolate manufacturers have had so much success is because New York is a seaport, and in some cases I know of cocoa beans being landed on the dock near a manufactory in the morning and turned out manufactured goods on the following morning.

This merely illustrates to how fine a point the business has been perfected.

The same authority estimated that the product of chocolate and cocoa of New York manufacture was 3,000,000 pounds a year, He made the prediction that it would not be long before this amount would be doubled.—New York Mail and Express.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

J. C. Clark, a Georgian mineralogist, declares that the richest gold fields in the world are awaiting development in Northern Georgia.

A physician declares that the bicycle has proved of untold benefit to women. It combines physical exercise and mental rest in a wonderful degree.

A California paper comments on the fact that that State, with fewer inhabitants than New York City, has five large insane asylums, and 4000 patients.

It appears that the French Academy occasionally awards "virtue prizes" to individuals whose devotion to duty or right attracts special attention. A prize of $100 was recently awarded to a woman who had sacrificed years and health in a heroic effort to support a sick sister and the latter's two small children.

The New England Conservatory of Music in Boston is pronounced by the German professor who is now its director, Carl Faelton, as on an equal basis with any of those abroad and in some particulars better. It is no longer necessary to go to Germany or Italy to acquire a musical education, maintains the New England Homestead.

Colonel Carroll D. Wright, of the National Bureau of Statistics, is reported as estimating that only 1,800,000 of the 15,000,000 of American wage-earners are organized in any sort of trades' union. He therefore ascribes to other causes than their activity the greater advance in the wages of labor which has taken place, amounting, in his estimate, to sixty-nine per cent. during the nineteenth century.

The seal will soon be an extinct animal, predicts the New England Homestead, if the law for its protection is enforced no better than at present, and a great industry will pass out of existence. In 1872, there were 4,700,000 seals on the Pribylov Islands, near Alaska; in 1890, 900,000; in 1895, 175,000. All this rate in little more than a year there will be none left. Great Britain and the United States have been squabling over sealing privileges for several years and while they dicker, the whole problem vanishes.

The most powerful of all living electric batteries known is the electric eel of South America. Richer, the astronomer, presented his experience with the eel to the French Academy of Sciences and was laughed at for his pains. Not till seventy years later was the story of an electric South American fish accredited. A Dutch naturalist has compared this eel to a Leyden jar. The large eels ten to fifteen feet in length, are dangerous to human life. One captured for the British Museum prostrated a horse and rider in the struggle and when dragged ashore by two natives gave them such shocks that they screamed aloud. An Englishman, who rushed forward and cut the line, himself received a shock.

The Joint Committee on the Library, which has charge of the Capitol, has decided that the World's Columbian Exposition was an epoch and that it is entitled to appear in the freize which decorates the dome with other great events in the history of America, which are there portrayed by allegorical representations. The discovery of America, the landing of the Pilgrims, the discovery of the Mississippi River, the baptism of Pocahontas, the battle of Bunker Hill, the surrender of Cornwallis, the reading of the Declaration of Independence, the attack on Fort Sumter, the emancipation of the slaves, the scene at Appomattox and other incidents in the history of this hemisphere have been given places, and but very little room remains for recording what may happen in the future, but the driving of the last spike on the transcontinental railroads and the World's Columbian Exposition are considered sufficiently important to have a place.

EVENTS IN ALABAMA

Carefully Collated and Condensed for Our Readers.

DROWNED IN THE TENNESSEE.

Suicide at Athens—The A. G. S. Railroad Improving Its Road Bed and Putting in Steel Bridges—Three Negro Tramps from Georgia Arrested With Sixteen Watches.

His Leg Amputated.

Samson Allison, whose foot was crushed in Forest Thursday by an L. and N. train, was compelled to have his leg amputated to save his life.

Convicted and Sentenced to Hang.

The trial at Athens of George and Charles Seawell for the murder of Upshaw Smith ended Saturday in a verdict of guilty and they were sentenced to be hanged.

Death From a Blow on the Head.

Jesse Norris, a young lad of 18, of Butler county, died Friday night from the effects of a blow received on the head by a piece of scantling in the hands of an ex-convict—Jim Allbritton.

A Farmer Stabs Himself.

James Henderson, a Limestone county farmer, committed suicide at Athens while attending circuit court there last week by stabbing himself with a knife. No cause for the deed is thus far assignable.

Man and Horse Drowned.

J. W. Lynch, while attempting to cross a swollen stream near Decatur one day last week, was drowned. One of his horses was drowned also and the other was with much difficulty rescued.

B. Y. P. U. Convention.

The annual convention of the Baptist Young People's Union was held in Anniston last week. The session was well attended and of an interesting character. Dr. P. H. Mell of Auburn, presided, with Wm. A. Davis, of Anniston, as secretary.

Negro Who Killed Jim Espy.

Hill Williams, the negro who killed Mr. Jim Espy near Gordon, which occurred on the 3d instant, was committed to jail at Abbeville, Friday. It is said to have been a very brutal murder, and it was feared Williams would be lynched, but this was averted.

W. R. Daughtry Discharged.

W. R. Daughtry, of the firm of Thomas Butler & Co., who was arrested on two warrants charging him with embezzling the firm's money, was tried at Opelika Saturday before the county court judge, and dismissed on account of a technical error in the warrants. Butler is still in jail, and all of the immense stock of musical goods has been divided out among creditors.

Taking Other People's Letters.

Pearl Congers, a colored girl 14 or 15 years of age, was arrested a few days ago for taking other people's mail from the Tuskegee postoffice. For some time she has been calling for mail belonging to one or two white persons and would carry it home. She was finally caught and carried to Montgomery, and, failing to make a $100 bond, was put in jail.

The Sixteen Watches Claimed.

The sixteen watches taken by the local police from the three negro highwaymen wanted in Rome and arrested in Anniston Wednesday morning, belong in Chattanooga, where they were stolen from a fruit stand last week. The three negroes, who knocked down and robbed a white man near Rome Tuesday night, were convicted in that city on preliminary trial.

Dothan Looking Up.

A board of trade was organized at Dothan last week by some of the most influential business men. Joseph Baker was elected president, Dr. J. R. G. Howell, vice-president, Ed Nix secretary, and W. T. Nicholson treasurer. This movement means a great deal for the town and section. The board proposes means looking to immigration and cotton factories, and many other important enterprises is to be pushed.

Church and Barn Burned.

The barn of Rev. M. N. Morrison, of Trinity, Ala., was discovered to be on fire about 12 o'clock Sunday. The flames spread rapidly and were soon communicated to the M. E. church, south, building, and others in the neighborhood, resulting in the destruction of the church, the barn and damage to other property, including the Masonic lodge room, to the amount of $3,000.

Executive Committee, B. Y. P. U.

Before the Baptist Young People's Union convention at Anniston adjourned Friday afternoon the following executive committee was elected: B. D. Gray and Charles F. Wheelock of Birmingham, T. F. West of Pratt City, W. D. Gray and L. R. Dix of Montgomery. E. P. Hogan of Birmingham was elected secretary and treasurer. Talladega was selected as the place in which the convention should be held next year. The date will be settled upon later by the executive committee.

Sixteen to One.

Henry Thompson, Charley Williams and William Henry, three negro tramps, charged with knocking down and robbing a white man at Atlanta Junction, just this side of Rome, Thursday night, were arrested on a southbound Southern freight train early Friday morning and locked up at Jacksonville. On being searched Thompson was found to have in his pockets sixteen new gold watches. He told several conflicting stories as to where he got them. The negroes will be held until a Georgia officer comes for them.

Between Mobile and Guatemala.

Mobile merchants and merchants at Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, have joined the forces and have sent the Manague down on the Belize line touching at Guatemalan ports. They will run a weekly by steamer, and it is said that there is considerable opposition Macheca Brothers who have the Guatemalan subsidy, and it is expected that this opposition may result in Mobile securing the subsidy.

Valuable Trotter Ruined.

Fantasy, the greatest trotter in the Hamlin string, with a record of 2:06, and a fair showing of breaking the world's record the coming season, met with perhaps a fatal accident while jogging along the road near the Driving park at Selma Friday morning. A negro was driving the mare and as she turned the corner near Moore's dairy a white goat ran out into the road, causing the spirited animal to jump to one side; the wheels of the cart ran up the street car track. The cart was overthrown, the driver thrown out and the frightened mare made a break. The end of the shaft stuck in the flesh under the shoulder. She ran and kicked and before she was stopped the shaft had made three ugly wounds from 3 to 4 inches deep.

A. G. S. Improvements.

The road bed of the Alabama Great Southern railway between Chattanooga and Birmingham is being given a general overhauling. A considerable amount of the track is being reballasted, this outside of the general repair of the track bed.

All of the wood bridges on the line are to be torn away in the near future, steel ones being placed in their stead. This improvement will cost the road several thousand dollars, there being quite a number of bridges between Chattanooga and the southern terminus at Meridian. A force of men, outside of the regular bridge crews, has been employed to place the new steel bridges.

Bridge No. 13, below Fort Payne, has been rebuilt, the old wooden bridge having been removed and the metal one put in its place. The work of placing a steel bridge in the place of No. 14, between Rising Fawn and Sulphur Springs, has been commenced. The work of placing the new bridges, after all necessary arrangements are perfected, is easy, requiring about an hour's time, and delaying no trains any length of time.

Hanged by a Mob of Masked Men.

Between midnight and daylight Sunday morning a mob of masked men went to the county jail at Seale, took Reddyck Adams, colored, therefrom and murdered him. The mob did its work very quietly, no one being disturbed but the jailor, who was very badly frightened. Some person representing himself as a deputy sheriff from Beat 4 knocked at the jailor's door, telling him he had a prisoner to put in jail. The jailor at once proceeded to the jail and unlocked it, being entirely unsuspicious, when he was surrounded by a posse of perhaps thirty armed and masked men. Resistance on the part of the jailor was useless. Reddyck was taken out hurriedly and carried to a little clump of woods about 200 yards east of the jail, where he was securely tied, one end of a plow line placed around his neck, the other thrown over a limb, and he was drawn up about 3 feet from the ground. The rope was tied to a post of the fence of the city cemetery and Reddyck was left dangling in the air, where he was found about 6 o'clock. Reddyck Adams deserved to be hung, but the law should have done the job. He is the man who waylaid and so foully shot Mr. R. T. Renfroe last November, and after shooting him robbed his person, burglarized his store and set fire to his dwelling. He had been on trial in the circuit court here last week, and the jury had been out on his case from 5:20 Wednesday until 3 p. m. Saturday, when they were discharged after having made a mistrial. A coroner's jury was empanelled to investigate the mobbing of Adams, and after examining a number of witnesses adjourned.

At the End of the Voyage.

During a squall on the bay of San Francisco Thursday morning the British ship Blairmore was capsized and six of her crew drowned. Nine others of the crew were rescued by boats that were in the vicinity. The captain, John Crow, swam to the small boat lying astern and pulled himself to the landing. The Blairmore arrived from Newcastle, N. S. W., with a cargo of coal, about a week ago, making the voyage in fifty-six days, the fastest on record. The Blairmore was anchored about a half mile off the Union Iron works in seven fathoms of water. Though the weather was squally all the morning, the ship held fast, and Captain Crow had apparently no reason for fear. At 7 o'clock, however, the wind suddenly sprang up from the southeast with increasing violence. The tide was then at its flood, and, taking the ship on the starboard bilge, keeled her over considerably. The captain thought the wind had about exhausted itself, but suddenly a wild squall rushed up and, catching the vessel under the port bow, lifted her completely out of the water. For a moment she seemed held in the air. She dropped over on her side, and shortly after sank out of sight.

Strife Between Fellow Craftsmen.

Governor McGraw, of Washington, on Wednesday evening called out the militia on account of the trouble between the Washington and Oregon fishermen along the Columbia river near Ilwaco, on the Pacific coast, and forty picked men left Seattle for the seat of trouble Thursday afternoon. Their instructions are to aid the civil authorities of the Pacific country. It is feared the action of the governor will foment strife, and further trouble is feared.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.

In Effect February 23, 1896.

No. *8			No. *7
5.1. pm		lv...Selma...ar	10.20am
7.3 pm		Birmingh'm Jct	8.15am
8.1 pm		..Gurnee Jct.	7.20am
9.3 pm		ar. Birm'ham. lv	6.00am
No. §14	No. †12		No. †11	No. §13
7.00am	6.00am	lv...Akron...ar	7.50pm	6.3pm
7.28am	7.20am	..Greensboro..	6.35pm	5.31pm
9.13am	9.00am	.....Marion	5 00pm	4.16pm
10.45am	10.45am	ar...Selma....lv	3.00pm	3.00pm
No. *16	No. †42		No. *15	No. †41
7.00am	7.45am	lv..Meridian..ar	9.30pm	8.45pm
8.00am	9.20am	...York.....	8.25pm	6.55pm
9.12am	11.50am	...Demopalis...	7.00pm	4.00pm
10.14am	2.33pm	ar Uniontown lv	5.56pm	1.29pm
11.30am	5.15pm	ar Selma lv	4.30pm	10.45am
1.00pm	7.30pm	lv Selma ar	2.45pm	6.00am
3.05pm	12.50am	...Montevallo..	12.37pm	1.18am
3.20pm	1.35am	.....Calera.....	12.22pm	1.25am
3.43pm	2.18am	..Columbiana..	11.57am	12.38am
4.17pm	3.22am	..Childersburg.	11.23am	11.30pm
4.54pm	5.00am	...Talladega....	10.45am	10.24pm
5.34pm	6.45am	.....Oxford....	9.59am	850pm
6.10pm	7.20am	....Anniston....	9.47am	8.00pm
10.00pm	.....	ar..Atlanta..lv	6.00am	.....
6.31pm	9.44am	..Jacksonville..	9.06am	6.31pm
6.58pm	10.59am	...Piedmont....	8.40am	5.27pm
7.30pm	11.30am	...Tecumseh...	8.12am	4.32pm
7.52pm	12.10pm	.Cave Springs..	7.51am	3.50pm
8.30pm	1.20pm	.....Rome.....	7.15am	2.50pm

East Bound.	No. *7	No. *13	No. *9
Rome.....lv	1.30am	7.22am	4.33pm
Dalton.....	2.55am	8.29am	5.43pm
Chattanooga.....	4.25am	9.55am	7.15pm
Knoxville.....	8.00am	1.25pm	.....
Morristown.....	10.25am	2.32pm	.....
Bristol.....ar	5.15am	5.15pm	.....

38*	36*	*26		*37	*35	*25
a. m.	p.m.	a.m		p. m.	p. m.	p.m
5 55	3.35	....	lv Birmingham ar	10.10	12.20	....
7.11	5.00	....	.....Pell City.....	8.55	10.55	....
7.40	5.35	....	.....Eastaboga....	8.24	10.20	....
8.12	6.10	....	.....Anniston.....	8.00	9.52	....
8.20	6.20	....	.....Oxford.....	7.40	9.37	....
8.57	7.00	....	..... Heflin	7.00	8.57	....
9.10	7.15	....	. Edwardsville...	6.48	7.45	....
9.18	7.27	....	...Fruithurst.....	6.38	8.34	....
9.35	7.50	6.00	....Tallapoosa...	6.22	8.15	7.50
10.38	9.00	7.21	...Douglasville...	.....	7.01	6.30
.....	9.11	7.31	. Lithia Springs.	.....	6.50	6.15
11.40	10.00	8.20	ar...Atlanta ...lv	4.15	6.00	5.15
a. m.	p.m.	a.m		p.m	a.m.	p.m

East Bound.	No. *38	No. *36
Atlanta.....lv	12.00n	11.15pm
Charlotte.....	8.30pm	8.50am
Danville.....	12.10am	1.40pm
Lynchburg.....	1.58am	3.50pm
Charlottesville.....	3.38am	5.50pm
Washington.....	6.42am	9.30pm
Baltimore.....	8.05am	11.25pm
Philadelphia.....	10.25am	2.56am
New York.....	12.53pm	6.23am
Boston.....ar	8.30pm	3.30pm

No. 38 "Washington and Southwestern Limited." Solid Pullman Vestibule train Atlanta to New York, carrying Pullman Sleeping car Birmingham to New York Dining car Atlanta to Greensboro and Washington to New York.

No. 36 "U. S. Fast Mail." Pullman Drawing Room Buffet Sleeping cars Atlanta to New York.

South Bound	No. 36*	No. 38*
Birmingham.....lv	3.35pm	5.55am
Atlanta..... ar	10.00pm	11.40am
Atlanta..... lv	10.50pm	4.10pm
Macon.....	1.20am	7.30pm
Brunswick	7.15am	.....
Jacksonville.....	8 20am	7.00am

Train No. 38 carries Sleeping Car Birmingham to Atlanta.

Train No. 36 carries Pullman Drawing Room Buffet Sleeping Car Birmingham to Jacksonville.

*Daily, †Daily Except Sunday. §Sunday Only.

W. H. GREEN, Gen. Supt. Washington, D. C.
J. M. CULP, Traf. Mgr. Washington, D. C.
W. A. TURK, G. P. A. Washington, D. C.
S. A. BENSCOTER, A. G. P. A. Chatanooga, Tenn.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, Shelby County.

Under and by virtue of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will proceed to sell on Monday, the 24th day of Febrnary, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corner of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly dieection one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff,
tf Shelby County, Alabama.

Continued to March 23, 1896.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land a any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Store!!!

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon.

Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons,
McCormick Mowers and
Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B.

REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society [illegible] on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma.....	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham	7:25 p m
No. 15	South.....	12:37 p m
No. 16	North.....	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Cadet Charles T. Acker spent Sunday with home folks.

Miss Alice Huff visited friends in Montevallo Monday.

On Sunday night Mr. N. J. Jarvis, of Dogwood, lost by fire his house and household goods.

Dr. McGaha filled his regular appointments in Montevallo Sunday.

Mr. F. E. Davis returned Sunday from Birmingham, where, as before mentioned in these columns, he has been in attendance upon medical lectures.

McCluskey's Sulphur Springs, one of the many pleasant outing resorts in the vicinity of Montevallo, was alive with young folks last Thursday. A delightful time is reported by the participants.

Miss Mary Phelan, after a few days stay with the family of Mr. French Nabers, left Monday evening for Birmingham. After visiting friends in one or two other towns, including Nashville, Miss Phelan will return to her Connecticut home, ending a pleasant and extended southern trip.

Miss Bessie Hoskins and Miss Annie Platt were in Montevallo Monday. If we ha'n't otherwise known it we would have been so informed by the brightened faces of ———

Mrs. J. T. Brown, of Birmingham, after several days visit to friends in Montevallo, left Monday for Selma.

Drs. Trammell and Acker were hastily summoned one day last week to Bismarck to attend J. J. Strickland who was bit by a pilot snake. Mr. Strickland has about recovered from the ill effects of the poisonous wound.

Mr. William Prestridge, his wife and charming daughter, were in town last week.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds will soon have in stock a full supply of machine needles of all kinds.

Wrs. C. C. Vandegrift and daughter, Miss Imogene, visited Selma Friday.

N. A. Graham, of Calera, was in town Friday.

Mrs. McGuire, of Glendon, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Dr. Claughton.

the following are the hotel arrivals: J S Kenedy, Nashville, Tenn; J A Mouldin, Selma, Ala; Jas P Waller, Lynchburg, Va; W A Thomas, J T Lenard, C A Graves and T S Rice, Birmingham, Ala; B H Bailey, Iona, Mich; Frank B Smith, Chattanooga, Tenn; L S Jones, Selma, Ala; G H Gollahed, Lenoir, Tenn; —— Thompson Key.

The Christian Endeavor Union, of Shelby county, will meet with the Montevallo society on the 29th and 30th of this month. We expect to have Mr. Fred Ball, president of the state union, also Rev. T. K. Roberts, of Montgomery with us, and we hope to have a large and enthusiastic meeting. Delegates are requested to send their names to Miss Mary Nicholls, chairman of reception committee; and homes will be provided for them. Shelby Sentinel and Chronicle please copy.

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

If you want the best medium for advertising, put your card in the Educator.

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.

H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.
F. E. Davis and

$15 REWARD

Will be paid to anyone establishing the fact that Fleming's English Remedy for colic in horses and mules has ailed to relieve. For sale by H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, Montevallo, Ala.

CORRESPONDENCE.

BRIARFIELD.

Strayed or Stolen—One young man about 21 years old; dark hair, dark moustache, brown eyes. He left last Sunday evening. When last seen he was headed towards Ashby. Any information as to his whereabouts will be gladly received.

We have prayer meeting every Sunday night, except when there is preaching.

Miss Gracie McLendon spent the day here last Sunday. She was the guest of the Misses Moreland. Miss Gracie is a charming young lady and we are always glad to have her with us.

The writer visited the shadow and, after examining the surroundings, could not make it out anything else but a shadow from some reflection.

It seems that the spring at the grist mill is a favorite place on Sunday evenings for the boys and girls to go and sit around and talk politics.

Mr. Ezekiel Smith is at home a few days fishing and hunting.

Some of the girls are making good use of this Leap Year, but they get slighted every time. Scribbler.

DOGWOOD BREVITIES.

Measles are raging in this community.

Miss Gussie Allen, of Birmingham, was a visitor of our town last week. Miss Gussie is a sweet girl and we are always glad to see her.

Mr. John Randall, of Calera, was in our town on professional business one day last week.

Miss Lucy Vest, one of Montevallo's most charming young ladies, was visiting relatives near this place last Sunday.

Rev. John Mills delivered quite an able sermon to a large congregation Sunday at the Baptist church.

Mr. May, of Birmingham, was in town Sunday.

Mr. B. C. Williams, of Blocton, was in the city Sunday to see his best girl.

Quite a crowd was out riding Sunday evening and had a nice time gathering flowers.

Mr. Walter Harrison was over to Gurnee Sunday to see his best girl.

Mr. Charlas Monroe, of Aldrich, passed through the city Sunday dear hunting. Vivian.

DRY VALLEY NEWS.

A goodly number of our old and young people went down to see the mysterious shadow or "ghost" that appears in the Martin house some four or five miles below here last Sunday. They say it did not appear, but to the writer's surprise it was there all o. k. when he visited the scene.

Mrs. R. L. Wooley and two of her affectionate daughters, Misses Maggie and Pearl, were out visiting last week, to the delight of their many friends.

Bro. Abernathy filled his appointment here last Sunday. He has won the friendship, respect and confidence of our people.

Miss Mary Garner of Clanton visited her parents last Sunday.

Mr. Frank P. West and wife visited homefolks at Columbiana last Sunday.

Miss Relie Sessions spent last week with the Misses Thompson of Tenis Hill.

Several of our boys attended the dance at Thompson's last Friday night. Their conveyance was grand.

Jim Sessions thinks he should receive mail at the arrival of every northbound train—mail or freight train.

Mrs. Jeff Eddings is sick in bed with heart weakness. We hope she will soon be better.

Wishing the News success, I am
Guess Who.

GURNEE

Gurnee is getting to be one of the finest little towns in the country. This is the place to visit when you want to have a good time. We have established a debating society, which is a fine thing.

Rev. D. N. Hodgins preached a most eloquent sermon here yesterday to a large congregation.

Miss Mamie Espey, one of Gurnee's belles, is visiting friends in Helena this week.

Miss Maggie Hodgins, one of Gurnee's fairest maids, is visiting at Bell Ellen.

Miss Roxie Davis, of Helena, spent last week in the city.

Hon. J. G. Harris, deputy sheriff, spent the day Saturday with us. They say he is a candidate for matrimony.

Robert Sharp, one of the Southern's most popular conductors, was in the city a few days ago.

Charlie Boatright, the clever conductor of the Southern, was in town shaking hands with his old friends. We are always glad to see Charles, for he always has a new one to tell us.

J. C. B. was all smiles last night. You all know what it meant.

Mr. R. L. Wilson said that the music was very fine last night, and that Gurnee was in the lead for pretty ladies. That is the stuff.

The kid gets weary, but he don't fail to go upon the hill every night and twice every Sunday. That is o. k. Don't get weary.

Success to the News and Montevallo. Rabbit.

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

ALDRICH LOCALS.

Work is very good here now and every one seems to be enjoying life, except some of the young people, they are looking down-hearted because widowers and old maids can get married and they cannot. Boys, I think you had better talk faster and sweeter.

Pat H. says Tom has him beat at the crossing and he thinks he will try going to Pearidge again.

Mr. Will Green is back in our town. All are glad to see him. He is quite a nice young man.

Mr. Sam Lawley, of Gurnee, was in town Saturday. Glad to see you, Sam; come again.

We have a good Sunday school here now; it is a union school, organized Easter Sunday.

Mr. E. W. Mc. is at home now. He says she got her arm broken and he had to go to see her, and found her greatly improved.

We are sorry to hear of Mrs. George Kline's illness. Hope she will be better soon.

There is one family all smiles, while there is another looking different and impatient.

Boys, do you want me to tell you who Charlie M——'s girl is? If so come over and I will tell you. Charlie, have you paid that little boy that nickle yet.

Some of our boys went yesterday to see the shadow haunt that is causing so much curiosity and say they saw it, but I think the haunt they went to see has been haunting their hearts for some time. George says she is a dear little haunt.

Rev. Mr. Abernathy preached an able sermon here last night. We think the people will come out if they only hear him once.

If you do not want your dogs killed you had better keep them where Santa Claus can't get a peep at them.

With success to the News and Industrial School, Little Fan.

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—REDUCED RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Re-union of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates.

Tickets from points in Georgia and Tennessee, north and east of Atlanta and Chattanooga, will be sold June 27 to 28 and 29, and from points south and west of Atlanta and Chattanooga, and east of the Mississippi river, tickets will be sold June 26, 27, 28 and 29. Final limit on tickets from all points will be July 6, 1896.

From points south and west of Atlanta, the Southern railway is the short and quick route to Richmond, Va., via the "Piedmont Air Line," and the service is peerless. From Knoxville, Tenn., Chattanooga, Tenn., and points west thereof, the route of the Southern railway is via Ashville, and through the scenic "Land of the Sky." The service of this line is unexcelled.

Call on any agent of the Southern railway for further information, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; W. A. Turks, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G, P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.

METAL CHECKS INHIBITED.

Parties Using Them Too Lib rally Subject to Arrest.

The first of a series of arrests under the United States statutes relating to metal coins and tokens and coupons, were made by United States Marshal Hawkins, at Linton, Ind., last week. If they hold good it will effect all manufacturers, mine owners and merchants who are using metal checks or tokens or coupon books, as a matter of convenience or otherwise. It has been the policy of mine operators to issue to miners before pay day metal checks, and merchants also used these checks, which have been a money equivalent in all mining districts for years. Those arrested include Nathan Dixon, of the Summit Coal company, and Finney Strong, president of the Linton Supply company. Some of the tokens were confiscated. These two companies alone have nearly $40,000 in tokens and coupons in circulation.

Matabeles Armed With Rifles.

A dispatch dated Buluwayo says that messengers who have arrived there report that a large force of Matabeles attacked Captain Brand and his party of 130 men. A laager was formed, which was completely surrounded by the blacks. The whites made a desperate fight. Finally, when all their ammunition was exhausted and their Maxim gun disabled, they fought their way through the line of Matabeles, losing five killed and sixteen wounded. The Matabeles were armed with Martini rifles. It is estimated that they lost 150 killed and wounded. Matters are daily becoming more serious. The rising is spreading rapidly.

Drowned in the Ohio.

Charles Decamp, Sr., 50 years old, and his son Charles, 10 years old, of Bellevue, Ky., were drowned in the Ohio river Saturday. They had crossed to the Ohio side in a skiff, loaded their boat to the water's edge with driftwood and were returning when they ran against a barge and their over-loaded craft swung to one side and then overturned. Both were drowned before assistance could reach them.

MURDERERS OF THE MEEKS

Break Jail, With Another Prisoner, and One Escapes.

Bill and George Taylor, murderers of the Meeks family, sentenced to be hanged April 30 at Carrollton, Mo., and Lee Cunningham, the latter also in jail, made an attempt to break jail Saturday night. George succeeded in getting away, but Bill Taylor and Cunningham were captured. Night Watchman Shelton was in jail at 8:30 p. m., and everything was all right. He went out in the back yard when he heard a noise at the opposite corner of the jail. He suspected that something was wrong. He reached the jail just in time to catch Cunningham as he slid down a hose to the ground. Bill Taylor was half way down, and when he saw Cunningham was caught he cried to the night watchman that he would give up and for him not to shoot. He then slid down to the ground into Shelton's arms. He told Shelton that George was still on the roof. Shelton delivered him and stood guard there to catch him as he came down. The alarm was given and Sheriff Stanley came out, handcuffed the two prisoners together and took them and locked them in their cells. A search was made and it was discovered that George had gone. Bill had evidently told the watchman that George was still up stairs in order to give him a chance to get away. An examination of the jail revealed the fact that a bolt had been cut in the back of one of the cells. This gave the prisoners access to the corridor. Next they went upon top of the cage up into the garret, out through the scuttle on to the roof. They took a fifty-foot hose with them, fastened it on top of the roof and slid down.

AMERICANS GET OUT OF SPAIN

Spanish War Fleet Being Put on a War Footing and Waiting Orders.

A dispatch from Madrid says: Affairs look so serious again that American tourists are hurrying away. Space on the Sud express, which leaves for Paris tomorrow afternoon, has already been taken.

The passage of the belligerency resolutions has caused excited talk. A guard is still maintained at the American legation, but it has not been increased. The feeling is prevalent that the crisis is near and that the trouble may break out at any moment.

The captain-general of Ferroi reports that the fleet which is being organized there is already to go to sea. The ships composing it are the ironclads Pelayo, Infanta, Maria, Terressa, Vizcaya and Oquendof, the torpedo destroyer Destructor and various torpedo boats. They will for the present be supplied with the necessary war material and will probably leave for the river Arosa on Friday week to go through a course of instruction until the government decides on the ultimate destination. The last three named ironclads are really second-class cruisers.

A Daring Plot Foiled.

Warden Neil, of the Kentucky penitentiary, discovered on Thursday a daring plot to blow up the penitentiary walls with dynamite and allow the prisoners to escape. The plot was laid by Will Clark and a prisoner named Sweeney, both life men from Louisville, who planned to secure dynamite and nitro-glycerine, which was to be used Sunday in blowing up the walls. In the excitement and confusion they hoped to make their escape. Their plot was foiled by the interception of a letter which Clark had written his sweetheart in Louisville, directing her to get the dynamite. The letter was given to a trusty named Butler, who, in attempting to post it, was discovered by a guard.

An Over-Loaded Bridge Breaks.

A span of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railway bridge over the Maumee river at the north limit of the city of Toledo, O., went down under the weight of a freight train, drowning one man. The five cars next to the engine went down, leaving the engine on the pier ahead and the remainder of the train on the span backward. One of the five cars was an 85-ton excavator, and its weight is the probable cause of the disaster. James Marshall, a brakeman, was carried down in the wreck, but was pinioned by wreckage and was drowned. J. A. Freeman was asleep in the excavator, but escaped with severe bruises.

Paint Brushes at 20c and 25c.
Sponges, a nice line.
Small Steel Tweezers at 10c.
Putty, Turpentine and Castor Oil in bulk.
One dollar bottles McElree's Wine of Cardui at 83c.
Hood's Sarsaparilla at 89c
Pure Drugs and Chemicals at
REYNOLD'S DRUG STORE.

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE

The State of Alabama,
Shelby County.

Probate Court for Shelby County, Alabama.—Letters of administration upon the estate of J. S. Davis, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 3d day of February, 1896, by the Hon. D. R. McMillan, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

A. E. Davis,
feb 6 3t Administrators.

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist,

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Millinery Goods.

Having moved my Millinery Stock over in the business portion of town I am now prepared to serve my customers better than ever. I have just opened

The Most Complete Line of Millinery

ever brought to Montevallo. I intend to keep the reputation my goods have made and offer them cheaper than ever. Call and see me in my new store on Main Street, under the law office of E. S. Lyman, Esq.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY.

New Millinery Store.

I have just opened the nicest line of

MILLINERY GOODS

Ever brought to Montevallo. Having had large experience in this line and having some of the best connections in New York, Baltimore and St. Louis, I feel that I can suit the most fastidious.

PRICES CHEAPER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Call and see me at my new store.

MRS. T. A. BEST,

Corner of Valley and Depot Streets.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago

Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

J. B. Lewis Co.

WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear,
Style,
Ease,
Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

FLOUR! FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a [illegible] grade of Flour when they can [illegible] good grade cheap? The United [illegible] Standard and the Missouri Belle [illegible] of Flour are unequalled in [illegible] They are both made from [illegible] selected wheat and every [illegible] guaranteed to give you satisfaction.

Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 3[illegible] Montgomery Ala.

Good Old Town.

Clarence, Erie County, N. Y. (population, 200), has a score of residents whose age is over seventy-five years.

Teacher—Olga, translate the following sentence into French: "My cousin Arthur is greatly attached to me." Olga (quickly)—His name is Max.—Fliegende Blaetter.

Form good habits, and you will find them as hard to break as bad habits.

When Traveling,

Whether on pleasure bent, or business, ake on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50 cent and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only.

Dr. Ball, the eminent naturalist, says that the whaling and sealing industries in Alaska are practically exhausted.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, price 75c.

A $50 Doctor's Bill.

"I cannot recommend your TETTERINE enough. I had erysipelas in my face and head so bad that I could not do any work in three months, and I tried the doctors, and my doctor's bill is fifty dollars. A friend told me to get some of your TETTERINE, and I did so, and it has entirely cured me. I recommend it to everybody." Yours truly,

WILLIAM H. ALDERMAN,
Laston P. O. (Bullock Co.) Ga.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

It is estimated that of the ninety thousand paupers of London, two-thirds are able-bodied and capable of working.

Everyone who once tries Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap continues to use it, for it is really infinitely superior to even the best of other floating soaps, and costs you no more. Made of Borax, floats, 100 per cent. pure. Try it.

The export of sheep from Ireland has been falling off enormously, but there has been an increase of cattle.

FOR RELIEVING THROAT DISEASES, COUGHS AND HOARSENESS, use "Brown's Bronchial Troches." Sold only in boxes. Avoid imitations.

The Siamese are skilled in the manufacture of fireworks, which are largely used at cremations and all public functions.

There are Dictionaries and Dictionaries, but the noblest Roman of them all seems to be Webster. It is still easily in the lead in the great race for popularity.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

There is Pleasure and Profit and satisfaction in abating troublesome and painful ills by using Parker's Ginger Tonic.

After physicians had given me up, I was saved by Piso's Cure.—RALPH ERIEG, Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 22, 1895.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

It Is So Easy to Remove Corns With

Hindercorns, we wonder so many endure them. Get it and see how nicely it takes them off.

Bank

President Isaac Lewis of Sabina, Ohio, is highly respected all through that section. He has lived in Clinton Co. 75 years, and has been president of the Sabina Bank 20 years. He gladly testifies to the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and what he says is worthy attention. All brain workers find Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiarly adapted to their needs. It makes pure, rich, red blood, and from this comes nerve, mental, bodily and digestive strength.

"I am glad to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a very good medicine, especially as a blood purifier. It has done me good many times. For several years I suffered greatly with pains of in one eye and about my temples, especially at night when I had been having a hard day of physical and mental labor. I took many remedies, but found help only in Hood's Sarsaparilla which cured me of rheumatism, neuralgia and headache. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved itself a true friend. I also take Hood's Pills to keep my bowels regular, and like the pills very much." ISAAC LEWIS, Sabina, Ohio.

Neuralgia

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All Druggists. $1
Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are prompt, efficient and easy in effect. 25 cents.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

Am. N, U. No. 16. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

THE JOKER'S BUDGET.

JESTS AND YARNS BY FUNNY MEN OF THE PRESS.

An Exception---A Question Unsettled---Determined---Society Note---Comparisons are Odious.

An Exception.

Miss Passe (demurely bonneted)—"Nothing accentuates a woman's age like a hat."

Miss Pert—"Except a bonnet."

A Question Unsettled.

Farmer's Wife.—What does the weather indications in the paper say?

Daughter.—Clear and warm.

"What does the almanac say?"

"Wind and storm."

"Well, it do beat all how these scientists disagree."—New York Weekly.

Determined.

"John," said Mrs. Blykins, "what is that in your overcoat?"

"It's a tin horn, Maria."

"And what have you in your hand?"

"A red lantern. I have a police whistle in my vest pocket and a red flag inside my vest. I'm going to see if I can't get a gripman to stop the cable car for me."—Washington Star.

Society Note.

"Papa, if you don't buy me that diamond necklace you promised me, I'll run off with the coachman," said a New York girl to her father.

"Come to my arms, my dearest daughter. You are the joy of your father."

"Then you are going to buy me the diamonds?"

"Oh, no; I want you to elope with the coachman. I owe him back wages for the last six months."—Texas Sifter.

Comparisons are Odious.

Valet—Well, I think master 's just like this 'ere clock!"

Buttons—Going on tick, I s'pose.

Valet—Yes, and going to be wound up soon.

This Sounds Odd.

Jimson—Brownkins has bought a bicycle.

Simpkins—Ah! that's why he is coming to the office nowadays in a hack.—Puck.

In Pity for Him.

Algy—Now--now, Miss Giddy, suppose I should try—try to kiss you?

Miss Giddy—Don't think of it, Mr. Gosling; you're so agitated that I'm sure you would scream!—Truth.

A Man of Repose.

Western Train Robber—Hold up your hands.

Reggie Languid—Aw—go to my man, deah fellaw; he always awanges about my twaveling bills.—Truth.

A War Reminiscence.

"It was just this night thirty years ago when Gen. Lee broke through our lines," said the old Major; "but he'd never had done it only for one thing."

"What was that?" inquired his eager listener.

"He had the aid of a lot of Confederates," said the Major quickly.

And then he waddled off, quite pleased to think there were still people on earth who hadn't heard his favorite joke.—Judge.

Fine Place for Quail.

"Any quail about this neighborhood?" inquired a tourist who was about to register at a Western Texas hotel.

"Quail!" said the proprietor with an indulgent smile, "they have got to be a nuisance. The cook complains that she can't throw a piece of refuse toast out of the back window but four or five fat quails fight to see which one shall be down on it."—Texas Sifter.

The New Burglar.

Jim—Got de tools all here, Bill?

Bill—Yep.

Jim—An' de dynamite capsools, an' de smokeless bombs, an' de non—detonatin' powder?

Bill—Yep.

Jim—Then git out de Roentgen camerer an' we'll see wot's inside de vault afore we goes any furder—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He Felt for Them.

First convict—They say us fellers is hard-hearted and cruel, but I allus had a great deal of feeling for my fellowmen.

Second convict—What was your line before they nabbed you?

First convict—I was a pickpocket, cully.

Seeking Consolation.

Eva—Mrs. Jones is a very sorrowful widow; she says that the light of her life has gone out.

Mamma—Light gone out? Well, I guess she's looking around for a match.

Time Enough.

R. R. Official—You may not believe it, but this dining car cost $20,000.

Planetree—How long has it been running?

"Just a week."

"Paid for itself yet?"—Life.

In These Days.

Mrs. Bunting—My James is so cruel. He is always torturing the cat, throwing stones at dogs and sticking pins in little girls. What will he do when he grows up?

Mrs. Larkin—Oh, he'll easily get a place as attendant in an insane asylum.—The Gothamite.

Fastnet Light.

The first glance of Great Britain that the American tourist gets on his European tour is that of the Fastnet lighthouse, says The Sketch. It stands on a rugged, solitary rock, situated nine miles south of Crookhaven, at the extreme southwest corner of Ireland, and is, perhaps, more stormbeaten than any other around our coast. The rock is eighty feet in height, and the lighthouse towers another seventy above, yet in winter gales the Atlantic billows literally bombard the massive structure and have even smashed in a portion of the lantern at the summit of the erection, the seas frequently sweeping over the rock with tremendous force. Some two or three years ago the stormy weather then prevailing prevented all communication between the rock for many weeks, so that the store of food was consumed with the exception of some flour. At last a schooner managed to approach sufficiently near to enable a small quantity of food to be dragged through the sea by the hungry men, and, fortunately, the next day the sea moderated, and the stores were once more fully replenished.

Except in very calm weather the Fastnet is surrounded by a fringe of foam, and the only means of landing is by the aid of a "jib" fifty-eight feet in length, so placed on the rock that in moderate weather its end reaches outside the surf. When a visitor wishes to land (an unusual occurrence) he is rowed in a small boat as near as the waves permit, and the lightkeepers throw out a small buoy attached to a rope, which is secured by the man in the boat. The jib is then swung out, and the visitor, placing one foot in the loop, and catching tight hold of the rope, is hoisted about forty feet vertically, and then the jib, being pivoted at its foot,, swings him horizontally about 100 feet on a safe landing

STANLEY'S PLUCK.

The Evidence He Gave of It in the First Ashantee Campaign.

"War correspondents," exclaimed Lord Wolseley. "Some of them are desperately brave, while others are anything but heroes. The majority, I think, do their duty well even when it leads them into tight places. By the way, talking of tight places and war correspondents, I remember an incident that may interest you. It was at the beginning of the Ashantee campaign, just after our landing. A square-built little man came up to me and said, speaking slowly and with an unmistakeable American accent:

"General, allow me to introduce myself. I am the correspondent of the New York Herald. I—"

"Too busy to attend to him," I cut him short with, 'What can I do for you, sir?'

"He replied imperturbably, with the same exasperating slowness, 'Well, General, I want to be as near you as I can if there is any fighting to be seen.'

"Captain So-and-So has charge of all the arrangements concerning correspondents,' I rejoined, curtly; 'you had better see him.' And with this I turned on my heel and went about my business.

"I saw no more of my correspondent with the aggravating coolness and slowness of speech for many a day. I did not even know whether he was accompanying the column or not.

"Personally speaking, I was only in danger once during the whole expedition. It was shortly before we entered Coomassie. I had pressed forward with the advanced troops, hoping to break the last effort at resistance and have done with the affair, when the enemy, utilizing the heavy covert, came down and fairly surrounded us. For a few minutes the position was critical and every man had to fight, for the enemy's fire was poured in at close quarters. They pressed upon us from all sides, dodging from tree to tree, and continually edging closer, hoping to get hand to hand. In the hottest of it my attention was caught by a man in civilian's clothes, who was some fifteen or twenty yards in front of me, and who was completely surrounded by the advancing savages. He seemed to pay no heed to the danger he was in, but kneeling on one knee, took aim and fired again and again, and I seemed to see that every time he fired, a black man fell. I was fascinated by his danger and coolness. As our main body came up and the savages were driven back, I went forward to see that no harm came to my civilian friend, who rose just as I reached him. To my astonishment it was the correspondent of The New York Herald, and he began again in the same slow, calm way—

"'Well, General—'

"Again I interrupted him. 'You were lucky to escape. Didn't you see that you were surrounded?'

"'Well, General,' he began again, 'I guess I was too much occupied by the chaps in front to pay much attention to those behind.'

"That was evidently the simple truth. Whatever men may say in the future about Henry M. Stanley, no one who has seen him in danger will deny that his courage is of the first quality. I took a liking to him on the spot, and we became great friends; nor has anything occurred since to alter my opinion of him."

Lots of Olive Trees.

Never before have so many olive trees been planted in California in a single year as this season. One Pomona nurseryman has sold 200,000 olive trees this season. The largest of the new olive-growers in Southern California is Andrew McNally, the Chicago publisher, who is planting 400 acres in Orange County. Mrs. Adlai Stevenson is interested with her cousin in 340 acres near Colton, San Bernardino County, which is now being prepared for olive trees. All the Southern California olive-growers who have groves in bearing have made money this year, and the demand for California olives exceeds the supply. If the pickled olives can be generally introduced in the East, then the market would be greatly increased, as they are far more wholesome than the green olives and more pleasant to the taste.

FARM LIFE IN MEXICO.

The Fine Residences of the Tillers of the Soil.

"Senor, the master sends his compliments, and hopes you have had a good night's rest." I turned lazily over and, rubbing my eyes, slowly awakened to the fact that I was in bed at the hacienda of —— ——, and the owner, my good friend, Don Luis, was, according to custom, sending his morning greeting by his body servant. Quickly springing out of bed, I plunged into the stone bath which was let into the floor at one end of the room, and in a few minutes we were discussing an excellent breakfast. The morning was deliciously cool, a faint breeze stirred the leaves on the orange and mango trees as I sauntered slowly about, smoking a cigar.

From Don Luis I learned that the present buildings were erected by his grandfather in times when a man's house was indeed his castle. An immense stone wall, some twenty feet in height, pierced with loopholes, surrounded the buildings, and on each of the four corners was a square tower in which were placed four cannons of an ancient pattern. A large wooden gate made of pieces of oak bolted together gave admittance within the walls. The main building was used by the owner of the hacienda as a residence, and was built in the prevailing style of Mexican architecture; that is, in the form of a square, with a patio or yard in the center filled with every conceivable kind of fruit and flowers. The flooring of the four sides of the patio was of diamond-shaped tiles of different colors, which were laid together in such a way as to form various designs pleasing to the eye. In niches cut into the wall were placed pieces of statuary, imported at enormous expense from Italy. Creepers were trained on the latticework of the inner veranda, completely filling all the spaces, even running over a part of the roof. Beautiful song birds filled the air with melody, while a fountain in the center cooled the patio and added beauty to the scene. The living rooms, opening off the patio, were large, with high ceilings, and each window had iron bars in front of it, which, until one became accustomed to it, gave it a prison-like appearance.

The residence of Don Luis was furnished with a barbaric splendor common to the wealthy tiller of the soil of this country. Articles of vertu, splendid paintings, carvings and statuary, were indiscriminately mingled with Parisian furniture and trophies of the chase. A magnificent collection of arms of the ancient and modern Mexicans adorned one end of the drawing-room. A fine piano stood in one of the corners of the room, on which Don Luis' daughter, a beautiful girl of some seventeen years of age, frequently played for us. The remaining buildings were used as store houses, servants' and laborers' quarters, and stables. Thus a haciendado had under his roof a village, as it were, of which he was the chief. In the cariage house I observed at least a dozen different makes and styles of vehicles, while the stables were filled with blooded horses.—Modern Mexico.

To Keep Horses from Balling Up.

There is a well-known Detroit physician who has been looking for years for some means to prevent snow "balling" on the hoofs of his horses. Yesterday he discovered what he has been looking for. For years he has tried every sort of device that he could conceive of or that had been brought to his attention by other people, but the snow was always "balling" up in the hoofs just the same, much to the danger of the horse and to his own discomfiture Yesterday he was coming down Woodward avenue and the same old trouble was wearing on his patience. Getting out of his buggy he went into a drug store, and, asking for some drug he wanted, incidentally remarked that he would like something, too, that would prevent snow "balling" up on his horse.

"Well," said the druggist, "I should think you ought to know how to stop that." Giving the doctor two ounces of glycerine, he told him to divide it evenly on the four hoofs of his horse. The physician took the prescription, and applied it as told. He drove on down town, and getting out looked at the horse to find that there was no snow whatever on any hoof. It seemed a complete cure.

Oil and lard have often been tried, but opposed by veterinarians on the ground that they keep the moisture away from the hoof, thereby doing it injury. This fails of application to glycerine, for it will mix with water. It will not injure the hoof, and it seems, will keep the hoof free from snow.

Broke Up the Meeting.

A church congregation in Sanders, Ky., was dismissed most summarily under unpleasant circumstances two Sundays since. Right in the middle of the preacher's discourse there bolted into the church through the half-open door what appeared to be a black and white cat, closely followed by a yellow dog. Cat and dog ran swiftly down the middle aisle to the platform. The preacher, taken unawares, did the natural thing, kicked at the cat, hit it, and landed it squarely in the middle of the congregation. Then it turned out that the cat was a skunk.

The Largest Skate.

A skate measuring five feet ten inches in length and four feet two inches from fin to fin, and weighing 90 pounds, was taken by hook and line in San Francisco Bay the other day. It was the largest fish of the kind ever caught thereabouts, and it took half an hour of pulling and hauling by half a dozen men to land it.

Miss Alcott's View.

In a book of reminiscences of Concord thirty years ago, by Frank Stearns, just published, the author relates how Miss Alcott came to him one day, and asked him to take her out rowing. He complied, but he found it more of a job than he had anticipated.

"This is the darnedest boat I ever pulled," he remarked.

"Frank," said Miss Alcott, "never say darn. Much better to be profane than vulgar."

Circulation.

In about twenty-two seconds a drop of blood goes the round of the body. In about every two minutes the entire blood in the body makes the round through the right side of the heart, the lungs, to the left side of the heart, through the arteries, the veins, again to the heart.

Hope for Massachusetts Spinsters.

The male births in Massachusetts during the past year exceeding the female births by nearly 2,000.

"I write to let you know how pleased I am with your sarsaparilla. I felt very weak and tired last month, and went, as usual, to get ——'s sarsaparilla, and did not know but I had ——'s until I got home, when I found I had yours. And pleased I am that I got yours, for it made me rugged and strong sooner than ——'s, and so strong that I set to work, alone, to turn a house round. I moved this house its full length, and then 16 feet back. Quite an undertaking for one man. But it was your sarsaparilla that gave me strength to do it. I shall always take it in future."—THOS. WARD, Hill St., Oliphant, Pa., Dec. 28, 1895.

WEIGHTY WORDS FOR Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Successful

growers of fruits, berries, and all kinds of vegetables, know that the largest yields and best quality are produced by the liberal use of fertilizers containing at least 10% of

Actual Potash.

Without the liberal use of Potash on sandy soils, it is impossible to grow fruits, berries and vegetables of a quality that will command the best prices.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

Webster's International Dictionary

The One Great Standard Authority,
So writes Hon. D. J. Brewer, Justice U. S. Supreme Court.

Send a Postal for Specimen Pages, etc.

Successor of the "Unabridged."

Standard of the U. S. Gov't Printing Office, the U. S. Supreme Court, all the State Supreme Courts, and of nearly all the Schoolbooks.

Warmly Commended
by State Superintendents of Schools, and other Educators almost without number.

THE BEST FOR EVERYBODY
BECAUSE
It is easy to find the word wanted.
It is easy to ascertain the pronunciation.
It is easy to trace the growth of a word.
It is easy to learn what a word means.

THE BEST WORK OF ITS KIND.
The Boston Herald says:—
No dictionary can be final, but for the next twenty-five years the International must be accepted as the best work of its kind in the English language.

G. & C. MERRIAM CO., Publishers, Springfield, Mass., U.S.A.

• WALL PAPER FREE •

Would be dearer than ALABASTINE, which does not require to be taken off to renew, does not harbor germs, but destroys them, and any one can brush it on.
Sold by all paint dealers. Write for card with samples.

ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. DR. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. P. T. Barry, who has general charge of the advertising contracts of the Chicago Newspaper Union, is compelled to pass a large portion of his time in journeying to and fro in the interests he represents. Speaking of Ripans Tabules, Mr. Barry says that he has carried them with him in his satchel on all his trips, since he first became acquainted with their excellent qualities. He uses four or five a week, being always particular to take one after a hearty or, more especially, after a hasty meal. He never requires more than one. Mr. Barry does not remember how he was first induced to make trial of Ripans Tabules, but now he buys them of the nearest druggist whenever his supply is exhausted. "They are specially convenient," Mr. Barry says, "and a mighty nice thing—just what a man needs when traveling, if he needs a medicine at all."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (60 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Manufacturers —OF— Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting —AND— Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.
OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.
Write for Prices. Address,
Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

In writing please mention this paper.

Second Hand
TUERK WATER MOTOR
For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to
Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

A. D. 1780.

Try Walter Baker & Co.'s Cocoa and Chocolate and you will understand why their business established in 1780 has flourished ever since. Look out for imitations.

Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

Failures Paid For. The curative effects of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS are so certain that in case of failure the purchase money is refunded. Begin your recovery now by taking this twenty-year-old remedy—it cures harmlessly, speedily, certainly. Here is the GUARANTEE:

Purchase money refunded should Brown's Iron Bitters taken as directed fail to benefit any person suffering with Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fever, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Biliousness, Female Infirmities, Impure Blood, Weakness, Nervous Troubles, Chronic Headache or Neuralgia. BROWN CHEMICAL CO., Baltimore, Md.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. II. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 23, 1896. NO. 3.

Seasons.

What did springtime whisper?
Oh ye rivulets,
Waking from your trance so sad,
Pleased to welcome fisher lad
With his little nets,
Speed, for summer's in the air,
Prattle, for the breeze is warm.
Chatter by the otter's lair,
Bubble past the ivied farm;
Wake the primrose on the banks,
Bid the violet ope her eyes,
Hurry in a flood of thanks
Underneath serener skies!
What a revel's coming soon—
Fairies trooping o'er the leas,
Making magic by the moon.
Crowned with wood anemones!
What a haunted heart the thrush
Nurses in the blackthorn bush,
Full of splendid songs to sing,
Cheery welcomes of the spring—
Spring has come!

—Norman Gale.

ROSE'S DIARY.

BY EMILY G. W. ROWE.

June 30, 1832—Little brown diary do you know that today is my birthday? I am sixteen today. I can hardly realize that I am growing old so fast. This morning when I threw open my shutters and the sweet June sunshine and the breath of roses came pouring in, I thought to myself how good it was to live, and how glad I was that I was born in June, ond that my name is Rose. Rose Meredith! It's a pretty name, isn't it, diary dear? I wonder if I shall always keep it just so.

This morning, when I went down to breakfast, little mother met me with a birthday kiss and a beautifully bound copy of "Milton's Poems." My father's gift, a gold thimble, marked "Rose," I found under my napkin. Bess gave me a dear little apron trimmed in lace, and after breakfast Kate Owen came across the lawn with a huge bunch of the loveliest creamiest fragrant roses—just sixteen, one for each year. Then Madame Carew came, and I had to take my music lesson. After dinner, mamma, Bess and I drove to Hatfield and got back just at tea time. Tea in honor of the day was served in the arbor, and after it was over our neighbors, Kate and Harry Owen, with a young college friend of Harry's, Frederick Murchison, came over, and we spent a very pleasant evening with music and talking. What a happy, happy day it has been, little diary. You just don't know.

December 15, 1834—How can I write through my tears? My sister Bess is dead—my lovely, brown-eyed sister, so beautiful in her young womanhood. Only twenty-one—and she was three years older than I—and always such a dear, loving elder sister to me. We buried her today in the hard, cold, frozen earth, and tonight the snow is falling silently and steadily upon her grave.

Mother mourns in her own room and refuses all comfort. She cannot forget that her first born is sleeping under a blanket of snow.

It seems as if I were all alone. Bess and I have always been so much to one another. Harry Owen is quite broken down with grief. They were to have been married in the spring, but Bessie, my dear and only sister, will never, never wear her bridal robes. It almost seems as if, through all space, she must hear my voice calling her to come back to me.

June 30, 1837—Constance, Switzerland. Once more it is the anniversary of my birth. At home the June roses are all a-bloom but there is only the June moonlight, the June silence, and in my heart the June peace.

"The world is in June, and it ripples in rhyme,
June, June, sweet heart of life,
And own darling of Time."

It is the happiest night of my life, little diary. Shall I tell you why? It is only the old, old story—old, yet to me new and inexpressibly sweet. Lake Constance is a glittering sheet of silver. I shall remember it so forever and always, with the moonlight upon the distant mountain tops.

Twenty-one to-day. Just the same age as our Bess was when she left us for a sunnier land than this. Dear, dear Bess! Was she as happy in her love, I wonder, as I am tonight? But I must write the connected history of it, mustn't I, diary carissima? I've neglected you most mercilessly of late, but then you know well, little book—you do know well, don't you? Two years since mamma and I came abroad—poor, poor mamma, patient and gentle always in spite of her suffering. The doctor thinks she is improving, and it has seemed to me that in the past few weeks she has been stronger and more like herself than at any time since Bessie died. The climate here is building her up wonderfully. It was while we were at Berlin that we met Mr. Murchison, who was a classmate of Harry Owen's. He remembered having spent an evening at our house with Kate and Harry several years ago, just before they were graduated.

He has been so kind to us in many ways. I cannot tell you all, diary; it would take too long—altogether too long; but he was with us in most of our rambles through Germany, and had to leave us when we concluded to stay in Dresden awhile. He had to return to Berlin on business. That was six weeks back, and only ten days ago we came on to this dear old inn on Lake Constance. The days have seemed so long to me of late, and I have often wondered why. To-night I know. It was because—well, diary, he came to-day, and everything is bright again.

To-night, while mamma slept, Katrine sat with her, and we two walked upon the shore. It was a perfect night. Nothing but still, intense light upon the surface of the water, a silver haze upon the mountain peaks, and shadows here and there upon the slopes. Beneath the arching trees we walked, and oh, there was so much to tell, so many little instances to relate that had occurred since we parted at Dresden. Suddenly a silence fell between us, and for a long time we walked slowly on, with hand clasped close in hand, beside the shining water. It was so solemn, diary dear. There was such a June intensity about us. It was the time and place for a betrothal.

At last he spoke to me; but what he said to, little diary, I cannot even write upon your pure white pages.

"I'll love him more, more
Than e'er wife loved before,
Be the days dark or bright."

September 10, 1841.—How fast time flies to be sure! Mamma has been spending a week with me, and today we took a long drive through the country lanes, where the feathery plumes of the golden-rod wave beside the fences. It hardly seems as if it can be September! Mamma goes to-morrow. The dear woman! I shall miss her so much. It seems as if the only blot upon my otherwise happy life is the fact that she cannot always be near me. Today she said to me:

"Rose, you ought to be the happiest woman in the world, with your lovely home, perfect liberty, and such a good husband."

And I am happy. During the three years that have rolled by so fast since the June day when Fred and I were married among the roses, life has been too happy for me. I fear this utter peace, this unchanging serenity cannot always last. Will the clouds be heavier when they do come in contrast with this beautiful sunlight? I am afraid I am a trifle depressed to-night, so had better lay my pen away, until I can inscribe more cheerful sentiments upon your pages, little diary.

April 15, 1846.—How the rain pours down! All day long, unceasingly, it has rained and rained. Fred is in Boston, and it is hardly time for his train to be due, so I will spend the time that must elapse before his return with you, my little brown volume, that for so many years has been my confidant. It will not be long now until my thirtieth birthday. It doesn't seem possible, does it? Some way, I am lonely tonight. It has been such a long, dreary day, and the moments now are longer and drearier. Little Bessie lies fast aslesp in her crib. The darling! The falling rain cannot disturb her sweet, quiet slumber. How it dashes against the window! It is time that Fred was here. Hark! I hear his step. Good-night, diary.

July 3, 1866.—Only a few days ago I was fifty days old. I seem so old, so old. I am all alone in the world, alone, save Bess, my bonny, brown-eyed daughter, who is the very picture and just the age of the dear Aunt Bess, who died so many years ago. How strange life seems to look back upon! Just three years ago today my husband fell at Gettysburg. I cannot bear to think of it—how, at the sunset hour, when God's world should have been at peace, that mighty struggle ensued; and he—ah, I thought by this time I should be able to write calmly of it, but I must close my book.

June 30, 1886—Feebly do my fingers hold the pen, and for the last time, ere I close the covers of this little brown diary forever, will I write upon its pages. I feel that it is for the last time. Seventy years today! The days, the weeks, the months, the years have given me the alloted time. My work is done. I await only the summons. All day my mind has wandered over the free, happy hours of my girlhood; I have lived them again. My sister Bess—I shall see her soon; my joyous youth—gone forever; that happy night upon the shore of Lake Constance, it is a blissful memory; the years we two spent together; how precious each moment seems; the long long months since we have parted; we shall meet soon—to "part, no, never." It grows dark. I can write no more. I smell the old fragrance of the June roses, and am weary with memories, little diary.—Home Queen.

A Peep at Trinidad.

Even the huts along the road are transfigured and glorified by the wealth of foliage that softens and enriches all it touches. Hedges of crotons, six feet high, with leaves of gold and orange and mottled green; or of hibiscus, red and white, whose flowers would measure four and five inches across the centre, grow in front of cabins that, in themselves, would be a blot on the plainest landscape ever eye beheld. But behind such a hedge and covered with some brilliant vine, one forgets the shabbiness of the meanest hovel, since nature has concealed it with such a gracious hand. And what a background! Orange trees, limes, cashews, tamarinds, cacao trees, pawpaws, bread-fruit, mangoes, calabash and others whose names I know not, brilliant with fruit of every shade and color, from green to red and gorgeous yellow, vie with each other in claiming precedence for themselves in the marvelous display which meets the eye. In the little patches of garden, the long, splendid leaves of the plantain and banana almost hide the flowers of every hue that form so strong a contrast to the ever-present green; while, amid a hundred unknown perfumes, one may detect that of the odorous Cape jasmine hanging heavy in the air. The eye becomes bewildered amidst such luxurious abundance, and can only take in a fraction of what it sees.—Outing.

Flowers Used as Food.

Although it is well known that many kinds of flowers are used in medicine, the fact may not be known to many that blossoms of certain plants are employed as food. In many parts of India the flowers of a saponaceous tree, bassia latifolia, or mahwah, form really important articles of food. In These blossoms, which are succulent and very numerous, fall at night in large quantities from the tree, and are gathered early in the morning and eaten raw. They have a sweet but sickly taste and odor. They are likewise dried in the sun and sold at bazaars.

The Bheels dry them and store them as a staple article of food, and so important are they considered for this purpose that when, in expeditions for punishment or subjection of these tribes, when unruly, a threat is made by the invading force to cut down their bassia trees, the menance most commonly insures their submission. An ardent spirit is distilled from these flowers both raw and cooked, and often with the addition of grain, and also make sweetmeats of them. A single tree will afford from 200 to 400 pounds of the flowers.—Current Literature.

Strange But True.

Visitor—Well Freddy, how many brothers have you?

Freddy—I have one, but my sister Stella has two.

"Why how is that? Who are they?"

"Me and my brother."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

In the Maine shipyards last year sixty-three vessels, aggregating 13,116 tons, were built.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Love seldom attains the sincerity of hate.

Every man is a failure at something.

Poverty is the raw material of anarchy.

It is easy to compile a list of "don'ts."

The ideal wife seldom becomes a real one.

Few people count the cost until they have paid it.

To some men a bad tion is better than none.

Our faillings serve to brighten the lives of our neighbors.

A good husband is sometimes spoiled in the making.

Conscience makes cowards of some and busybodies of others.

Few communities could survive an active incursion of the fool-killer.

Most mothers secretly hope their boy will grow up a better man than his father.

Don't argue with your wife; she may imbibe the notion that her opinion is really of some importance.

The woman who marries for love the first time is apt to marry for money the second, and vice versa.

When there is trouble in a neighbor's family young girls always sympathize with the husband. The married women know better.—New York Press.

Fifteen Wonderful Cabinets.

In the wilds of Wisconsin, in the little village of Martintown, Green county, lives one of the most industrious men of the century. He is Peter Haase, a cabinet maker. Ten years ago he conceived the idea and perfected plans in detail of the most ingenious and elaborate combination bookcase and cabinet in the world. Having saved enough money to support him the remainder of his life, he began the construction of not only one of these cabinets, but of fifteen, finishing a certain part of each at the same time before advancing further.

The cabinets are inlaid with all of the native woods, the boards having been in his shop seasoning for over 18 years. When completed the 15 cabinets will contain four million pieces of wood. Some idea of the time required for the completion of this undertaking may be had by knowing that it would take a man, working eight hours a day one year to simply sort and count a million such pieces, many of which will have to be handled 20 times by Mr. Haase before being permanently adjusted. The top of each cabinet is to contain 17,000 pieces, and each of the posts 4,000. The aged workman figures that it will take him six years more to finish his work, and the fifteen pieces of furniture will be completed at the same time.

Mr. Haase is seventy-one years of age, but is hale, hearty and full of hope and determination to complete this wonderful work to which he applies himself enthusiastically every workday. His patience and perseverance are remarkable. He counts on each cabinet being worth $5,000—$75,000 for the lot—when completed, and believes that investing his time in making them will prove more profitable than spending his money on life insurance would have been.—New York World.

Assistant Burglars.

Judge—Prisoner, did you commit the burglary alone or with the help of others?

Prisoner—With the kind help of the Eighty-third regiment band.

"What? Explain yourself."

"Well you see, judge, the band made a halt and all the people in the house went to the front to listen so that I worked quite undisturbed in the back."—Fliegende Blatter.

She Understood.

"Didn't you meet father in the hall as you went out last night?" asked Birdie McGinnis of Dudely Cansucker.

"No he replied, sadly: "I didn't meet him. We were going the same way, and I was a short distance in front of him."

"Oh!" she said, with a cruel significant smile.—Texas Siftings.

How Camphor is Made.

One of the principal products of the territory which has come under Japanese administration as a result of the war with China, is camphor.

Small shanties are scattered over the hills where the camphor trees grow, and in all directions the clearing of the woods is going on at a rapid rate. On the hillsides are built distilleries, consisting of oblong-shaped structures principally of mud bricks, and about ten or twelve feet long, six feet broad and four feet high.

"On each side there are five to ten fire holes about a foot apart and the same distance above the ground. On each fire hole is placed an earthern pot full of water, and above it a cylindrical tube, about a foot in diameter and two feet high, passes up through the structure and appears above it.

The tube is capped by a large inverted jar, with a packing of damp hemp between the jar and the cylinder to prevent the escape of steam. The cylinder is filled with chips of wood about the size of the little finger, which rests on a perforated lid covering the jar of water, so that when the steam rises it passes up to the inverted jar, or condenser, absorbing certain resinous matter from the wood on its way.

While distillation is going on an essential oil is produced and is found mixed with the water on the inside of the jar. When the jar is removed, the beady drops solidify, chrystalization commences and camphor in a crude form, looking like newly-formed snow, is detached by the hands, placed in baskets lined with plantan leaves and hurried off to the nearest border town for sale.

With regard to camphor as in other commercial matters, the Chinese government has acted very foolishly. For over thirty years there has been a constant demand for camphor, and yet the administration has done nothing to prevent the reckless waste of the forests and taken no steps to provide for the reafforestation of uninhabited tracts useless for cultivation.—Scottish Geographical Magazine.

Old Reading Boards.

What are "Reading boards?" Not many people know. Two of them were recently found near here.

A century or two ago books were much scarcer than now. School books were not given to children, but they were taught from reading-boards. Our grandfathers and grandmothers and their progenitors learned to read from these boards, and they got in the same way their first lessons in history and natural science.

There are a couple of these queer old boards among the curiosities at Erasmus hall, Flatbush. They are of pine and about twelve inches by nine. When found recently papers were pasted upon them containing the daily or weekly lesson. They used to be hung up in front of the whole class, and from these the teacher gave her pupils their lesson.

The two boards are numbered eighty and eighty-one, and eighty-six and eighty-seven on their respective sides. They are split and worm-eaten, and their warped and stained appearance shows their extreme age. The old cords still hang from the top of each.

Board eighty shows the old English lettering and also the curious confusion in the contemporary mind between corn and wheat.

"This is a grain of corn. This is an ear of corn. What grows upon a single stalk is called an ear.

"This bundle of corn is called a sheaf.

"This is a shock. There are many sheaves in a shock.

"When corn is ground it is called flour."

Erasmus hall, where they were found, has been an educational institution for over a hundred years. It numbers among its ancient curios some old Dutch tiles, containing Biblical scenes, Absalom caught by the hair, Esau and Jacob and all the patriarchs are here faithfully represented, all in original Dutch costumes.—New York Journal.

Not to Be Bluffed.

Chronic Deadbroke—Could you lend me a ten, Charlie?

Charlie—Ten cents. Certainly.

C. D.—That's what I mean.—Detroit Free Press.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

As many as 15,565 people die in Paris of consumption every year.

There are now nearly 50,000 eggs the zoological collection in the British Museum.

From 1890 to 1894, inclusive, only 2,412 folks were killed in the United States by storms, lightning, etc.

English capitalists are building an enormous factory at Toledo, Ohio, for the production of weldless tubing for bicycle frames. They propose to turn out 1,000,000 feet a week.

The electrical engineers of London are endeavoring to induce the government to enlist electricians for the volunteer service. They will be as useful as engineers in future warfare.

A telephone has been placed on the preacher's desk in the Congregational church at Norfolk, Conn., in order that members of the church who are unable to attend the services may hear the sermons as they sit at home.

A determined effort is making to explore the mysterious cave in the cliffs near La Salle, Ill. There are several quite regular square rooms in the cliff, with a narrow opening to the outside, and within a pit, which all efforts to sound have failed.

The greatest depth, writes professor Seeley in his "Story of the Earth," at which earthquakes are known to originate is about thirty miles. It has also been calculated that a heat sufficient to melt granite might occur at about the same depth.

The harbor improvements at Vera Cruz, Mexico, will probably be completed within the five years' limit stipulated. They involve an inclosed harbor 28 1 2 feet deep, with a breakwater 15 feet above high tide, an entrance 260 feet wide and a lighthouse.

It is calculated that a modern gun, throwing a 2,200-pound projectile with an initial velocity of 1,970 feet per second, develops 24,000,000-horse-power. This, however, is for less than 1-100 second at each discharge, and as the gun is ruined by 100 shots, the total period of active work of this terrible engine of destruction is one second.

A recent scientific traveler in Palestine publishes as the result of his observations, that the Sea of Galilee, which is eight hundred feet below the level of the Mediterranean, is fast becoming like the Dead Sea, with dense water and salt formations on its banks. The traveler believes that the bottom of the sea is sinking, and that greater changes in it are impending.

Saved by His Elephant.

"I had an elephant on my hands once," said the old showman, and he saved my life, my credit and my honor. But for him I would have starved to death; but for him I would have been unable to pay the salaries of my artists; but for him I would have been incarcerated in the Cheyenne jail. My show was stranded there and I didn't know what on earth to do. I stood at the desk of the hotel arguing about my bill when a young man beckoned me aside. 'I understand the situation,' he said. We can fix it up in a jiffy. If you will let me paint a sign on your elephant and give me a guarantee to keep it there for a year I will pay all your bills here, give you money to get out of town and send you a check for $50 every week while the tour lasts. I jumped at the offer. That very night we had the elephant painted from toenail to trunk with a tobacco sign, and the next morning we got out of town. I kept up my end of the contract for six months and he kept up his. His name was Theodore Marburg of Baltimore. He said that the elephant sold $100,000 worth of tobacco."—New York Press.

A Glorious Victory.

Subordinate—Sir, we have successfully landed 35,000 reinforcements.

Spanish General—In spite of the insurgents?

"In spite of them, sir—not a man at the wharf to oppose us."

Bravo! Good! Another victory! Ah, this is glorious!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Theban mummies have been found which give proof that, in the days of the Pharoahs there were dentists who filled decayed teeth with gold.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

Real estate in Havana, Cuba, has fallen to one-half and one-third of its value ten years ago.

The latest statistics give the number of Protestants in Germany as 31,000,000 and the number of Catholics as 18,000,000.

In the Spanish parliament consisting of 440 deputies, Cuba has never had more than six and usually only three members.

A statistician computes that Queen Victoria is now sovereign over one continent, 100 peninsulas, 500 promontories, 1,000 lakes, 2,000 rivers and 10,000 islands.

The United States spends $900,000 a year on it weather bureau; Great Britain pays $80,000, France $70,000, Russia $65,000 and Germany $56,000.

Although millions are wasted in supporting a civil and military bureaucracy in Cuba, the appropriation for the administration of justice never has reached $500,000.

A writer in the Chautauquan says that there are in round numbers 20,000 periodicals in the United States; that their combined circulation is 4,681,000,000 a year, and that they pay out $68,601,538 to 106,095 employes and $38,955,322 for paper. As at least $15,000,000 of the sum paid for paper must be paid out again by the paper manufacturers for labor, the periodical business of the country must expend $33,000,000 a year on purchasing labor, to say nothing of other indirect payments, such as to typefounders, press builders, inkmakers, etc. The circulation reduced to per capita would give sixty-seven periodicals a year to every man, woman and child in the country. Another curious fact stated in the article is that the receipts come in about equal proportions from advertising and sales.

The Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, since its organization in 1889, has purchased the old powder magazine in Williamsburg, which is now being converted into a museum for Colonial relics; the home of the mother of Washington, in Fredericksburg, and the historic home of General Nelson, in Yorktown. It now desires to purchase the site of the ancient House of Burgesses, in Williamsburg, in which the assemblies that governed the colonies met after the seat of government was removed from Jamestown, in 1698, and to erect upon it a simple stone, engraved with the names of the eighty-nine members of the Assembly who, under the leadership of such men as Peyton Randolph, Robert Carter Nicholas, Richard Henry Lee, Richard Bland, Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson and George Washington, fired the torch of patriotism and freedom.

The Washington Star observes, "It may be for little Switzerland, the oldest of the family of republics, to earn the honor of solving for America the problem of how to prevent the concentration of population in great cities, an evil believed by economists to be fatal to welfare. The President of the Swiss National Exposition, to be held this year, has addressed United States Consul Ridgely at Geneva on the subject, and the latter has forwarded his communication to the Department of State. President Turrettini's suggestion is that Americans may learn how rural life can be made at once attractive and profitable by studying the model Swiss village which will form an important section of the exposition, illustrating as it will the happy village life of the Swiss, with the numerous home industries which are so profitable in full operation. If this can be studied in connection with the agricultural section, in which Swiss methods of dealing with produce will be exemplified, and the best breeds of cattle exhibited, much valuable information may be obtained, which might prove to be of substantial value to persons who are seeking to solve the problem of over concentration of population."

Five Children Suffocated.

In a tenement house fire at Turner's Falls, Mass., at 5 o'clock Friday morning five French children were suffocated. Property loss small.

TRAGEDY IN MONTGOMERY.

Percy Wood, of Selma, Killed and Mardis Wood Seriously Wounded

BY R. H. KENNEDY, OF SELMA.

Percey Receives a Shot Aimed at His Brother, and Dies—Mardis Lives. But the Result of His Wounds is Doubtful—Kennedy Surrenders to the Authorities.

Montgomery, April 21.—A difficulty took place this morning at the union passenger station between R. H. Kennedy, sheriff of Dallas county, and the two Woods brothers, Mardis and Percy of Selma. Mardis Wood is a special agent in the revenue service, with headquarters at New Orleans.

Kennedy opened fire with a double-barreled shotgun on Mardis Wood, and Percy Wood took his brother's part. Both the Woods were seriously shot. Percy Wood is thought to be dying.

Mardis Wood may recover, though he is shot in both arms near the shoulder.

The cause of the difficulty is said to be the alienation of Kennedy's wife's affections by Mardis Wood.

Mardis Wood's arm has been amputated He will live.

PERCY WOOD IS DEAD.

Percy Wood, one of the men shot this morning by Sheriff Kennedy, died at 1 o'clock today, Mardis Wood is resting easy at this time, but the ultimate result of his wounds is not known. Immediately after the shooting Kennedy got in a hack and rode to the county jail, where he surrendered to the officers.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

Robert Kennedy, sheriff of Dallas county, mortally wounded Percy Wood, of Selma, and dangerously wounded Mardis L. Wood, state executive committeeman from Dallas county, at the central depot at 7 o'clock this morning.

The Messrs. Wood, who are brothers, had been here since yesterday, the latter attending the convention, the former being his companion.

The cause of the difficulty was that Mardis Wood, it is said, ran away with Mrs. Kennedy to New Orleans six weeks ago. Wood was warned yesterday that it was dangerous for him to be here. It is supposed he and his brother were preparing to leave when the tragedy occurred.

Kennedy seems to have watched Wood's movements. Kennedy was in the depot when the Messrs. Wood crossed from the Windsor hotel. As soon as the latter entered the shed Kennedy emptied a double-barreled shotgun. Percy Wood fell, his breast pierced through and through.

Mardis Wood ran from the depot across Commerce street, Kennedy in pursuit. Wood fired a pistol twice while running. Then he got behind a telegraph pole. Kennedy shot Wood in the shoulder as the latter ran and in the arm while behind the telegraph pole.

While Kennedy was reloading a third time Wood ran across Commerce street into the Windsor hotel. Kennedy, with a friend, Ben Burch, then coolly entered a carriage and drove to the police headquarters and surrendered.

It is understood that Kennedy says he did not mean to shoot Percy Wood. The latter is dying. Mardis will probably recover. Roth are now at the Windsor. Great excitement prevails.

HIS REPUTATION IN NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, April 21.—Internal Revenue Collector Carter was seen regarding the shooting of Mr. Mardis Wood at Montgomery, Ala., this morning and stated that Mr. Mardis Wood was employed in the treasury department as revenue agent and that his record as a revenue agent has been good. He is regarded as a man of integrity and honor. Mr. Wood's home is in Alabama and he left here on last Friday evening. He has been in the department about ten months and made a most excellent reputation. He has generally been regarded as a peaceable man.

Texas Epworth League Conference.

A dispatch from San Antonio, Tex., says: The Epworth league conference is the greatest religious gathering ever held in San Antonio. Eight thousand strangers are here, taxing hotels, boarding houses and homes of the city and the street cars. Bishop Key and Hendrix are presiding. Immense audiences were addressed today by George Stuart and Drs. Tigert and Steel.

Five thousand people, with Bishop Key, Dr. Steel and Rev. George Stuart in front, under the flag of Texas, marched from the city hall to Alamo plaza, singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name." Open air services were held, addressed by Dr. Steel and Mr. Stuart.

Rev. George R. Stuart's 11 o'clock address carried the great crowd by storm. Strong men wept, and many rushed on the platform and embraced him. It was one of the greatest pulpit orations ever delivered in Texas.

Three Prisoners Shot.

Three prisoners, named Borges, Hernandez and Baccalao were shot at Cabanas fortress, Cuba, Friday morning. The executions were public.

The doomed were knelt facing the main wall of the fortress with their backs toward the troops. All three fell forward at the first volley, but two of them were not instantly killed, and received single shots. The prisoners met death bravely. Two of the men were colored and one white. The men were taken prisoners in the action at Candelaria

EVANGELIST DIAZ,

The Cuban, Imprisoned by Weyler. Appeal to Baptists in his Behalf.

A million and a half Baptists will soon be demanding the release of Rev. A. J. Diaz, the Cuban evangelist, who has been arrested and imprisoned by General Weyler. Rev. I. T. Tichenor, corresponding secretary of the Southern Baptist convention, has issued an address to the Baptists of the south. In it he calls on the denomination to raise a fund to defend Diaz and to care for him and his family. Dr. Tichenor says that Diaz will not dare to touch a mouthful of food prepared in the Spanish prison for fear of being poisoned. The Baptists of this section, and they are numerous, are arroused by the news of the arrest, and they will appeal at once to the state department to interfere.

Diaz is an American citizen. He was a patriot of the revolution twenty years ago. To escape arrest he threw himself into the sea, hoping to drift back to shore at nightfall, but he floated so far out that he could not get back. A passing ship picked him up and carried him to New York. He was converted in this country, joined the Baptist church and returned to Cuba as an evangelist. He has done a great work there and has greatly endeared himself to the Baptists of the states.

News of the arrest and incarceration by the Spanish officials of Rev. A. J. Diaz, an American citizen and superintendent of missions of the Southern Baptist convention, in Cuba, was received in Atlanta, Ga., last Thursday by telegram from Havana to Dr. I. T. Tichenor, corresponding secretary of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist convention. No particulars are given, but it is presumed that the arrest is on account of Dr. Diaz's well-known pro-insurgent proclivities, though it is not believed here that he has been guilty of any overt act that should have subjected him to imprisonment.

Dr. Diaz is a great favorite among southern Baptists, and it is probable that a concerted movement will begin among them to secure his release. He is a native of Cuba, and, it is said, had to flee from the island on account of his alleged connection with the rebels in the former revolutions, escaping from a pursuing party of Spanish soldiers by swimming out from the shore to a passing vessel. He went to New York and subsequently entered the Baptist ministry. After the war he returned to Cuba to undertake the work of proselyting his own people. He has been very successful and has built up a large following in Havana, where he presides over the finest protestant church on the island.

RATHER HOT UP THERE.

Several Cities Report Last Friday the Hottest April Day Yet Recorded by the Signal Service.

Philadelphia—The hottest April 16 experienced in many years. The highest point reached was 88 degrees at 3 p m., but the greatest discomfort was caused by the excessive humidity. No fatalities have been reported.

Chicago—The hottest April day since the signal service was established in Chicago. The mercury went to 87 in the afternoon, beating the highest previous mark by 3 degrees; and it was several degrees warmer in the street. No prostrations were reported.

New York—Eighty-five degrees was shown by the official thermometer at 3 o'clock p. m., the highest temperature for an April day that the local signal office has recorded. This was the fourth day of the hot spell and according to the forecast there probably will be three more days of high temperature before a change comes.

Sequel to the Burden Robbery.

A special from London says: Two men, whose real names the London police say are William Turner and William Roberts Dunlop, were arraigned in the Marlborough Street police court Thursday afternoon charged with the illegal possession of jewelry. The prisoners were remanded into the custody of the police for a week.

The correspondent is informed that the two men are undoubtedly either the actual burglars or accomplices of the burglars who robbed L. Townsend Burden's house in New York city some months ago. Twenty-eight unset diamonds, valued at $15,000 were found in their pockets. They refused to give any explanation. At their lodging the police found jewelry to the value, as they say, of $200,000, together with the settings of the diamonds found upon them when arrested. The jewelry was sewn up in belts and in the lining of their clothes. One gold piece with the name "T. Burden" engraved upon it, was also found.

Battery Park Hotel Fire.

The Battery Park hotel, the largest in Asheville, N. C., was damaged by fire Thursday morning to the extent of $30,000. The flames originated in the kitchen about 7:30 o'clock. There were over 200 guests in the hotel, and all left the hotel quietly. No one was hurt. The fire was confined to a wing occupied by the kitchen and servants' quarters. The flames were extinguished by 9 o'clock, and at noon most of the guests had returned to their rooms The hotel will not close.

The War in Egypt.

In a second encounter which has taken place between a force of dervishes and a detachment of Egyptian cavalry thirty dervishes and eighteen Egyptians were killed. An Egyptian force of 1,100 men was attacked by the dervishes on Wednesday last, April 16. Sixty of the latter were killed and many more wounded. The Egyptian loss was five wounded, twelve killed and four missing. The friendlies have evacuated the hills, and the Egyptian troops will return here.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.

In Effect February 23, 1896.

	No. *3			No. *7
.....	5.1. pm	lv...Selma...ar		10.20am	.....
.....	7.30pm	Birmingh'm Jct		8.15	.....
.....	8.1 pm	..Gurnee Jnct..		7.20am	.....
.....	9.3 pm	ar. Birm'ham. lv		6.00am	.....
No. §14	No. †12			No. †11	No. §13
7.00am	6.00am	lv...Akron...ar		7.50pm	6.23pm
7.48am	7.20am	..Greensboro..		6.36pm	5.31pm
9.13am	9.00am	.....Marion.....		5 00pm	4.16pm
10.45am	10.45am	ar...Selma...lv		3.00pm	3.00pm
No. *16	No. †42			No. *15	No. †41
7.00am	7.45am	lv..Meridian..ar		9.30pm	8.45pm
8.00am	9.20am	.....,York.....		8.25pm	6 55pm
9.12am	11.50am	...Demopalis...		7.00pm	4.00pm
10.14am	2 33pm	ar Uniontownlv		5.55pm	1 29pm
11.30am	5.15pm	ar Selma lv		4 30pm	10.45am
1.00pm	8.30pm	lv Selma ar		2.45pm	6 00am
3.05pm	12.50am	...Montevallo..		12.37pm	1.58am
3.20pm	1.35am	.....Calera.....		12.22pm	1.35am
3.43pm	2.18am	..Columbiana..		11.57am	12.28am
4.17pm	3.22am	..Childersburg.		11.23am	11.30pm
4.54pm	5.00am	...Talladega....		10.45am	10.24pm
5.34pm	6 4 am	.....Oxford.....		9.59am	.850pm
6.10pm	7.20am	....Anniston....		9.47am	8.00pm
10.00pm	.....	ar..Atlanta..lv		6.00am	.....
6.3 pm	9.44am	..Jacksonville..		9.06am	6.31pm
6.48pm	10.39am	...Piedmont....		8.40am	5.27pm
7.30pm	11.30am	...Tecumseh...		8.12am	4.32pm
7.52pm	12.10pm	.Cave Springs..		7.51am	3.50pm
8.30pm	1.20pm	.....Rome.....		7.15am	2.50pm

East Bound.	No. *7	No. *13	No. *9
Rome.....lv	1.30am	7.22am	4.33pm
Dalton.....	2.55am	8.29am	5.43pm
Chattanooga.....	4.25am	9.55am	7.15pm
Knoxville.....	8.00am	1.25pm	.....
Morristown.....	10.25am	2.32pm	.....
Bristol.....ar	5.15am	5.15pm	.....

38*	36*	*26		*37	*35	*25
a. m.	p.m.	a.m		p. m.	p.m.	p.m
5 55	3.35	....	lv Birmingham ar	10.10	12.20	....
7.11	5.03	....	.....Pell City.....	8.55	10.58	....
7.40	5.35	....	....Eastaboga....	8.24	10.20	....
8.12	6.10	....	.....Anniston.....	8.00	9.52	....
8.30	6.20	....	.....Oxford.....	7.40	9.37	....
8.57	7.00	....	..... Heflin	7.00	8.57	....
9.10	7.15	....	..Edwardsville...	6.48	7.45	....
9.18	7.27	....	...Fruithurst.....	6.38	8.34	....
9.35	7.50	6.00	....Talladoosa...	6.22	8.15	7.50
10.28	9.00	7.21	...Douglasville,..	.....	7.01	6.30
.....	9 11	7.31	..Lithia Springs.	.....	6.50	6.15
11.40	10.00	8.20	ar...Atlanta...lv	4.15	6.00	5.15
a m	p m.	a.m		p m	a. m.	p.m

East Bound.	No. *38	No. *36
Atlanta.....lv	12 00n n	11.15pm
Charlotte.....	8.30pm	8.50am
Danville.....	12.10am	1.40pm
Lynchburg.....	1.58am	3.50pm
Charlottesville.....	3 38am	5.50pm
Washington.....	6.42am	9.40pm
Baltimore.....	8.05am	11.25pm
Philadelphia.....	10.25am	2.56am
New York.....	12.53pm	6.23am
Boston.....ar	3.30pm	3.30pm

No. 38 "Washington and Southwestern Limited." Solid Pullman Vestibule train Atlanta to New York, carrying Pullman Sleeping car Birmingham to New York. Dining car Atlanta to Greensboro and Washington to New York.

No. 36 "U. S. Fast Mail." Pullman Drawing Room Buffet Sleeping cars Atlanta to New York.

South Bound	No. 35*	No. 38*
Birmingham.....lv	3.35pm	5.55am
Atlanta..... ar	10.00pm	11.40am
Atlanta..... lv	10.50pm	4.10pm
Macon.....	1.20am	7.30pm
Brunswick	7.15am	.....
Jacksonville.....	8.20am	7.00am

Train No. 38 carries Sleeping Car Birmingham to Atlanta.

Train No. 36 carries Pullman Drawing Room Buffet Sleeping Car Birmingham to Jacksonville

*Daily, †Daily Except Sunday. §Sunday Only.

W. H. GREEN, Gen. Supt. Washington, D. C.
J. M. CULP, Traf. Mgr. Washington, D. C.
W. A. TURK, G. P. A. Washington, D. C.
C. A. BENSCOTER, A. G. P. A. Chatanooga, Tenn.

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—REDUCED RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Re-union of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates.

Tickets from points in Georgia and Tennessee, north and east of Atlanta and Chattanooga, will be sold June 27 to 28 and 29, and from points south and west of Atlanta and Chattanooga, and east of the Mississippi river, tickets will be sold June 26, 27, 28 and 29. Final limit on tickets from all points will be July 6, 1896.

From points south and west of Atlanta, the Southern railway is the short and quick route to Richmond, Va., via the "Piedmont Air Line," and the service is peerless. From Knoxville, Tenn., Chattanooga, Tenn., and points west thereof, the route of the Southern railway is via Ashville, and through the scenic "Land of the Sky." The service of this line is unexcelled.

Call on any agent of the Southern railway for further information, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; W. A. Turks, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G. P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA,
Shelby County.

Under and by virture of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will proceed to sell on Monday, the 24th day of Febrnary, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corner of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly dieection one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff,
tf Shelby County, Alabama.

Continued to March 23, 1896.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.

Tennessee Burt Oats.

United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham	7:25 p m
No. 15	South	12:37 p m
No. 16	North	3:05 p m

LOCAL LINKS.

Mrs Mims Walker is visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. B. Reynolds. She will go from here to Blocton for a short visit to her daughter there.

Miss Lula Hawkins, accompanied by Mr. Merck Hickman, were guests of Mrs. French Nabors Sunday.

We regret very much to learn of the serious illness of Miss Fannie V. King. She is now very sick with pneumonia, which resulted from a relapse of la grippe.

Montevallo is experiencing the dullest season for a long time.

The Southern is having a fine new tank erected just below town, which promises to be a beauty of its kind. Go and see it.

Mr. Fred Davis is spending a short while with his family here.

Rev. Mr. Abernathy is spending the week with his congregation at Brierfield.

Mr. Rufe Walker, our genial commissioner, spent Tuesday in Montevallo.

Just received a big lot of Dry Goods at Reynolds'.

Mrs. H. C. Reynolds, who has been quite ill, is much better.

When, oh when will the industrial school start? Echo answers when.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich is expected home this week. We hope he will bring good news of our land bill when he returns.

The depot caught on fire from the sparks of a passing engine last week, but unfortunately it was discovered and put out before any damage was done. We certainly need a nice new depot in place of the old tumbled down structure which has served its day.

The millinery stores seem to be doing a thriving business this season.

The preacher told us all about ourselves Sunday. We admire his grit.

It is expected that the Christian Endeavor convention to be held here the last few days of this month will be one of the most successful in the history of the Shelby county societies.

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

CORRESPONDENCE.

ALDRICH LOCALS.

Everything seems to be improving here now.

Mr. B. Thompson says if it were not for Miss A——s cousin, he would get along better.

Some of our young people took a drive to Falling Rock Saturday, and expressed themselves as having a fine time.

Miss Ella Broadhead returned Sunday from a visit to her cousin, Miss Maud Esphy at British. While her charming cousin, Miss Emma, is visiting friends here.

Miss Callie McDonough, of Pearidge, is visiting her cousin, Miss Annie Coats.

Mr. Wilber North and Dr. Fred Davis were in town Saturday. We are always glad to see our young friends. We are looking forward to the future when Dr. Fred will be in our midst as good and noble as the dearest doctor, for we loved him as a dear friend and doctor.

Married—Mr. J. R. Kennamer and Miss M. A. Huston were happily married Wednesday night at the home of the bride. There were quite a number of people to witness the marriage rite.

The supper given at Mr. J. W. McDonough's was a grand success. The bride and groom were there. All had a grand time.

Tom H—— says his papa's family will be one less before long, but we think it will be one more, for he is studying matrimony fast.

The young people are anticipating a good time at the entertainment which Mr. and Mrs. Coats are going to give them Friday night. With success to the News. Little Fan.

GURNEE LOCALS.

Our little city is still looking forward with the hopes of coming to the front, as we have now organized here such a flourishing little Sabbath school, and have preaching twice a month, also other society.

The singing at Mrs. James Dumos' Sunday night was largely attended and everybody seemed to enjoy it. While some were engaged in singing others were planning the future. It's nice enough to attend to matrimonial business, but not at a singing, boys.

Oh, no! that's O. K. about the kid going up on the hill every night. He thinks it's much better to begin while young. He might be like some of the old bachelors, wait so long they get their heads bumped.

We are glad to see Mr. W. A. Day able to be at work again. Mr. Day has been seriously ill for three months.

Miss Mary Evans, of Blocton, is visiting friends at this place.

D. R. L. says there isn't but one fan in Gurnee and he has the use of it. That's right, D., fan if you can.

Mr. Marion Daly, of Belle-Ellen, was to see his best girl here Sunday, the sunflowers.

Miss Alma Allen, of Dogwood, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. J. Allen, of this place.

Our handsome p. m. says our little town is well supplied with flowers, sweet shrubs and pretty girls, and a good demand for sole leather while they last.

Our little school is still progressing nicely. It is rumored that Gurnee will shut down soon. Why so, when everything is moving on so nicely.

Mr. Will Stinson is at home for a week or so resting up.

Mr. Sam McAuley, of Montevallo, passed through our city last week with his grand millinery goods. We are always glad to have just such clever men as Mr. Mc. to call.

Success to the News.

Deranged.

GURNEE.

Miss Mamie Hatcher spent last week at Maline, Ala.

Mrs. W. T. Norris spent last week in Blocton.

R. L. Rice made a flying visit to Bessemer a few days since on professional business.

The new time card on the Southern has made a considerable change.

Capt. J. G. Moore, of Blocton, was in the city last week looking after the interests of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company at this place.

Our popular conductor, Sam Walker, has been changed from the Blocton branch to the Bessemer branch, and I don't know what the ladies at Hargrove and Blocton will do since Walker and Little don't go there any more. Messrs. Little and Walker are much grieved to have to stop running into Blocton. They are both clever, good-looking young men and they have many friends in Blocton and Hargrove. So we are sorry for you, boys, but we can't help you in this. You must appeal to the one that made the time card.

Fishing is all the go these days.

J. C. B. says he is the medicine and lots of it.

Mr. A. E. Dickson is visiting home folks at Piedmont this week.

We regret to announce that Mrs. Lucy Stinson is ill and we hope for her a speedy recovery.

Some of our boys on Sunday eve get left. Ain't it bad to get left? Did you ever get left?

Success to the News and to all Montevallo.

Notice prices in H. C. & W. B. Reynold's drug advertisement.

A Fiend Incarnate.

Walter Crawford, a fugitive negro convict, is inviting a violent death in the country about forty miles southeast of Memphis, Tenn, Tuesday morning he knocked his guard senseless with a club, released a gang of fellow convicts and fled with the guard's weapons. Making his way to the home of a witness against him, Crawford shot him dead and would have served his wife the same had she not escaped by flight. He then went after a hostile planter, who saw him coming and, mounting his horse, hurriedly fled the danger. Friday the sheriff and posse took the field and it was reported last night the fugitive had already killed two of his pursuers.

Washington's Democratic Convention.

The democratic state convention of Washington fought all day last Wednesday over the question of a free silver platform and instructing the delegates to vote for a free silver candidate for the presidency. A free silver resolution was adopted, but the delegates go uninstructed. They are Hugh C. Wallace of Tacoma, R. C. McCrosky of Whitman, W. H. White of Seattle, J. E. Fenton of Spokane, J. F, Glocton of Chalis county, Thomas Maloney of Port Angeles, J. L. Sharpsteing of Wallawalla and Charles A. Darling of New Whatcom. President Cleveland's administration was indorsed.

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.

H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.

Do you want a nice winter pasture for the old cow that has served you so long? Then go to Reynolds and get a bushel of Tennessee seed Barley and sow it. Now is the time. 3t

EVENTS IN ALABAMA

Carefully Collated and Condensed for Our Readers.

GOVERNOR PARDONS A CONVICT.

Decaturites Excurt to the Magic City. The State Sabbath School Convention—East Florence Churches. The Missing Georgia Doctor—Pensions—Patents.

Chamber of Commerce Organized.

The Decatur Chamber of Commerce was formally organized on the evening of the 13th instant, with a large list of business men as members.

Pensions Granted to Alabamians.

Original, John G. Dernell, Athens; increase, George H. Jordan Citronelle; original widows, etc, Cora Lane (mother), Belle Pina, Limestone.

Montgomery News Suspends.

The Montgomery Evening News has suspended publication and the proprietors have made an assignment to Mr. Lee McLendon, who will wind up its affairs.

The Governor Grants a Pardon.

Governor Oates has issued a pardon for George A. Pearce, of Mobile, who pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement in the city court of that county last July and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

Churches in East Florence.

There is a decided boom in church building in East Flosence. The Methodists of that part of the city have just completed a handsome house of worship on Sweetwater avenue, and the Presbyterians are now enlarging their chapel by the addition of an L. which will cost about $500.

Patents Issued to Alabamians.

Patents have been issued to: John W. Noble, Anniston, Ala., car coupling; Brice Park, Roanoke, Ala., plough attachment; James N. Williams, Mobile, Ala., mucilage receptacle; Charles Linstrom, Vicksburg, Miss., locomotive truck spring hanger; W. C. Colwell, Palatka, Fla., hose coupling. Harry W. Russell, of Huntsville, Ala., has registered a trade mark for handles for axes and similar tools.

Excursion to Birmingham.

The first excursion of the season went down the Louisville & Nashville road Saturday morning from Decatur. It was conducted for the benefit of the reading room of the Louisville & Nashville shops at New Decatur and between 400 and 500 people came to the Magic City. The regular Decatur accommodation train had four extra cars attached and the crowds at the stations along the road were picked up without losing a moment's time. The excursionists return home in the afternoon.

In a Pickle is Picklesimer.

Rev. J. M. Picklesimer, of Bridgeport, has at present no church and no congregation. He handed in his resignation and requested the customary letter, which would enable him to pursue his chosen avocation in other quarters. The congregation promptly accepted his resignation, but refused to give the required letter on the ground that the charges made against him had not been disproven, and consequently not having been proved to be innocent, he was guilty.

The Mary Lee Coal Property.

A declaration of incorporation for a mammoth mining corporation has been filed in the probate court at Birmingham. The name of the corporation will be the Jefferson Coal and Railway Company. This corporation has acquired the property of the Mary Lee Coal and Railway Company, and, as the projectors are capitalists, with abundant funds, it is confidently believed that the new organization will go to work on a large scale in developing the extensive mineral properties of the Mary Lee company. Douglass H. Gordon and Henry S. Jenkins, of Baltimore, Md., filed the declaration of incorporation. The capital stock is to be $400,000.

Four Days' Sport at Demopolis.

The Demopolis Driving and Bicycle Association will inaugurate its first spring meeting with four great racing days—May 11, 12, 13 and 14.

A large force of men have been at work on the track and park, and by Saturday everything will be in readiness. A large and commodious grand stand as well as bleachers will be erected, and to crown it all a dancing pavilion will be built for the accommodation of the young people. On this occasion a splendid brass and string band will be on hand and will furnish their full quota toward making it the great success which it now promises to be. There will be four bicycle races and two horse races on the 11th, 12th and 13th, and on the 14th there will be a shooting tournament. $500 in prizes s offered. Further particulars will be furnished by the Demopolis Driving and Bicycle Association.

Big Land Deal Closed.

There was a big deal closed Saturday in Mobile which will result in the development of some ten thousand acres of cypress lands lying between the Mobile and Birmingham railroad and the Mobile river, and known as the Ladd lands. The novel feature of this deal is to be found in the fact that the sale of these lands will result in the bringing to the Mobile market of some 25,000,000 superficial feet of cypress timber. This will be done without the aid of freshets, and involving the use of pull boats, whose success has already been demonstrated in the Louisiana cypress swamps. In addition to the cypress that is on these lands, there are also about twenty million superficial feet of pine, which will also be developed. The land brought $40,000.

SURE ENOUGH BATTLE IN CUBA.

Cubans Victorious, But Poor Marksmen, or Else Spaniards are Brave Liars.

News has been received of a battle near Lechuza, in the province of Pinar del Rio. Colonel Debos, with his battalion and other bodies of Spanish troops, proceeding from Mariel toward Lechuza met the Cuban vanguard of cavalry, about 300 strong, which fell back, resisting the progress of the Spaniards at every favorable point, to the main line near Lechuza. Here Colonel Debos, finding that his flanks were about to be turned, and being hard pressed in front, ordered a retreat. Retiring to the San Claudio estate on the north coast, he waited, under the protection of the guns of the Spanish gunboat Alerta and hastily made breastworks, the arrival of reinforcements. The Spanish report puts their loss at four killed and fourteen wounded, which is ridiculous, in view of the detials given. Colonel Debos commends Captain Tort, who commanded his rear guard on the retreat, for the gallantry and skill with which he maintained the formation of the guard, "though attacked by a greatly superior force" of Cuban infantry.

Further details of the engagement that have been made public show that the Spanish column occupied two hours in advancing from Mariel to the point where it met the main body of the insurgents. The retreat to the San Claudio estate, which is some distance west of Mariel, occupied seven hours. On their retreat the troops were exposed to a constant fire from the rebels in their rear, and were frequently compelled to form squares to resist their charges. General Weyler's news editor is slandering his countrymen when he puts them in the attitude of retreating from a foe so little terrible as to kill only four of them in nine hours' fighting.

New Comet Discovered.

Prof. Swift, of the Mount Love (Cal.) Observatory, has discovered a new comet. The visitor is in right ascension 3 hours 33 minutes, declination north 15 degrees 40 minutes. The comet is bright with a long tail. Its motion is very slow.

$15 REWARD

Will be paid to anyone establishing the fact that Fleming's English Remedy for colic in horses and mules has failed to relieve. For sale by H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, Montevallo, Ala.

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE.

The State of Alabama,
Shelby County.

Probate Court for Shelby County, Alabama.—Letters of administration upon the estate of J. S. Davis, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 3d day of February, 1896, by the Hon. D. R. McMillan, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

F. E. Davis and
A. E. Davis,
Administrators.

Paint Brushes at 20c and 25c.
Sponges, a nice line.
Small Steel Tweezers at 10c.
Putty, Turpentine and Castor Oil in bulk.
One dollar bottles McElree's Wine of Cardui at 83c.
Hood's Sarsaparilla at 89c.
Pure Drugs and Chemicals at REYNOLD'S DRUG STORE.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!
The Fireside!!
The Store!!!

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon,
Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

J. H. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Millinery Goods.

Having moved my Millinery Stock over in the business portion of town I am now prepared to serve my customers better than ever. I have just opened

The Most Complete Line of Millinery

ever brought to Montevallo. I intend to keep the reputation my goods have made and offer them cheaper than ever. Call and see me in my new store on Main Street, under the law office of E. S. Lyman, Esq.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY.

New Millinery Store.

I have just opened the nicest line of

MILLINERY GOODS

Ever brought to Montevallo. Having had large experience in this line and having some of the best connections in New York, Baltimore and St. Louis, I feel that I can suit the most fastidious.

PRICES CHEAPER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Call and see me at my new store.

MRS. T. A. BEST,

Corner of Valley and Depot Streets.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO. The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

J. B. Lewis Co. WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear, Style, Ease, Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

FLOUR! : FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

The Hoosier Version.

Teacher—Have you learned the golden rule, Tommy?

Tommy—Yes'm. It is to do to other people like they would do to you.—Indianapolis Journal.

Never tell a secret; your confidant may not consider your secret of as much importance as you do.

As a rule, within four or five weeks after a bride comes to a strange own, her kin begin to drop in.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

It Took the Ribbon.

Dear Sir:—"Having used several boxes of your TETTERINE, I can say that it is the best remedy I have ever found for skin diseases. After failing with Cuticura and other similar preparations, through the recommendation of a friend I tried a box of TETTERINE, and two applications was all that it took to effect a complete cure of a breaking out on my foot of long standing. I think it is the best salve in the world for skin diseases." Yours truly,

R. B. ALEXANDER.
Mt. Selma, Texas.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

A Good Dog Is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

The love of God is so great that none can be lost who will believe in it.

Can the sale of an inferior article constantly increase for 31 years? Dobbins' Electric Soap has been on the market ever since 1865, and is to-day as ever, the best and purest family soap made. Try it. Your grocer will get it.

If you want a man to do something, find a man who believes something.

Why You Should Use Hindercorns.

It takes out the corns, and then you have comfort, surely a good exchange. 15c. at druggists.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has saved me many a doctor's bill.—S. F. HARDY, Hopkins Place, Baltimore, Md., Dec. 2, '94.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

Money Spent in Parker's Ginger Tonic is well invested. It subdues pain, and brings better digestion, better strength and health.

Spring Medicine

Your blood in Spring is almost certain to be full of impurities—the accumulation of the winter months. Bad ventilation of sleeping rooms, impure air in dwellings, factories and shops, overeating, heavy, improper foods, failure of the kidneys and liver properly to do extra work thus thrust upon them, are the prime causes of this condition. It is of the utmost importance that you

Purify Your Blood

Now, as when warmer weather comes and the tonic effect of cold bracing air is gone, your weak, thin, impure blood will not furnish necessary strength. That tired feeling, loss of appetite, with open the way for serious disease, ruined health, or breaking out of humors and impurities. To make pure, rich, red blood Hood's Sarsaparilla stands unequalled. Thousands testify to its merits. Millions take it as their Spring Medicine. Get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1 Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR

W. L. DOUGLAS $3. SHOE BEST IN THE WORLD.

If you pay $4 to $6 for shoes, examine the W. L. Douglas Shoe, and see what a good shoe you can buy for $3.

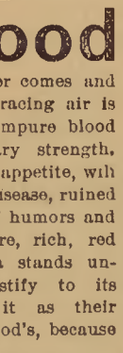
OVER 100 STYLES AND WIDTHS, CONGRESS, BUTTON, and LACE, made in all kinds of the best selected leather by skilled workmen. We make and sell more $3 Shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.



None genuine unless name and price is stamped on the bottom.

Ask your dealer for our $5, $4, $3.50, $2.50, $2.25 Shoes; $2.50, $2 and $1.75 for boys.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE. If your dealer cannot supply you, send to factory, enclosing price and 36 cents to pay carriage. State kind, style of toe (cap or plain), size and width. Our Custom Dept. will fill your order. Send for new Illustrated Catalogue to Box R.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

FOR THE YOUNG FOLKS.

WHAT WILLIE WISHES.

Wee Willie was a shocking sight,
When he came in the other day
From the corner of the garden, where
Since dinner-time he'd been at play.
His hands and face were streaked with mud,
And when she saw him his mamma
Said gravely, with a little frown:
"Oh, what a dirty boy you are!"

"I's'pose I am," the child replied;
"But I can't play and keep clean, too;
So, 'less I always stay indoors,
I really don't know what to do.
I wish that boys were like that stuff
You bought to make for me a shirt,
'Cause the man said when it got soiled,
He knew it wouldn't show the dirt!"

SUMATRA JUNGLES.

Sumatra is a veritable dime museum of nature. In no other place is there such a collection of odd animals, birds, and trees.

The sunbear is one of the queer animals. He is about three feet high, and wholly untaught can perform astonishing tricks.

The kukang is a curious animal the size of a cat. It is brown, with a fox-like head, and paws which it uses as if it were a monkey. Its eyes are remarkably large, round, and yellow.

The rhinoceros bird is the size of a small turkey, but has a beak a foot long, which joins the skull two and one half inches deep. Over this is another beak reversed, forming a cap or helmet.

Snakes of all sizes abound in the Sumatra jungles. Monster lizards are there, measuring six and seven feet. The house lizard is about twelve inches long, and makes a noise which sounds like the bark of a toy terrier.

There is an enormous black spider three inches long as to body, and with a stride of legs that would almost cover a dinner plate. Its web sometimes extends between trees eighteen yards apart.

THE CHILDREN AND THE STORK.

A story that comes from Germany is as quaint as it is true. Some children living in one of the northern provinces discovered that a stork had made its nest upon their roof. Being orthodox little Teutons, they hailed the newcomer with favor, as storks are supposed to bring luck to a house. All the summer they shared their tidbits with their long-legged friend, who became very tame and companionable.

At the first signs of approaching cold weather the stork prepared to flit to warmer climes. The children were sad at the thought of losing their pet, but their parents consoled them with the assurance that the bird would surely return the next spring. The children, still uneasy at the idea of the stork not being cared for through the long winter, consulted together and evolved a brilliant idea, which they immediately proceeded to put into execution. They wrote a little note in their best German script, stating that the stork was very dear to them and begging the good people in whose country it might spend the winter to be kind to their pet and send it back safely to them in the spring.

They sealed the note, fastened it to a ribbon, tied it round the bird's long neck and tucked it under its wing. The next day they sadly watched the stork wing its way toward milder skies. The snow and ice came; Christmas tree and "Christkind" brought the children gifts and fresh amusements, but their summer pet was not forgotten. When the spring came round again their little feet used to climb to the roof day by day, looking and longing for the stork's return; and behold! one fine morning there it was, tame and gentle as ever. Great was the children's delight; but what was their surprise to discover rounds its neck and under its wing another bright band with a note attached, addressed to "the children who wrote the letter the stork brought." The ribbon was quickly untied and the missive opened. It was from a missionary in Africa, stating that he had read the children's note and had cared for the stork, and thought that children whose good hearts had prompted them to provide for the comfort of a bird through the winter would be willing to help clothe and feed the little destitute children of his mission. A full name and address followed.

The children were full of sympathy, and the missionary's note won a golden answer from the family. Other letters came and went by post between them until by and by the children learned to know the missionary and his little black waifs almost as well as they knew the beloved stork which had proved so trusty a messenger.

HOW THE CHICKENS GET OUT.

"Say, Billy," said nine-year-old Tommy to his seven-year-old brother, "say, Billy, let's go over to Clarkie Warren's and see the chickens hatch out. Clarkie's father's got an 'incubator,' they call it, 'n' he puts two or three hundred eggs in it and lights a lamp under it, 'n' in three weeks the chickens hatch out same 's they do under an old hen, only the incubator has glass windows 'n' you can look right in an' see 'em comin' out. Clarkie says it looks like corn popping to see the shells breakin' open."

Having finished this long speech Tommy stopped to take breath; then he went on excitedly, "Clarkie says if we'll come over right away while his father's there he'll show us how a chicken breaks out of his shell. Let's go in an' see if mamma won't let us go right over!"

Into the house flew the two boys, and a few moments later away down the street they flew until they reached Clarkie Warren's house, and were hailed joyously by that young gentleman.

"Papa's out in the incubator-room now," he said. "Come right out there," and no second invitation was needed.

"Hello, boys!" said Mr. Warren, as three small individuals appeared before him a moment later. "You want to see little chicks hatched out by machinery, do you? Just look right in at this little window. There! What do you think of that? Interesting, isn't it?"

And interesting it was, surely enough. There, inside the glass, were dozens of eggs, dozens of fluffy little chicks, and a great many pieces of egg-shell. Many of the eggs had something strange going on inside their shells. Some were broken open simply in one place, while others appeared to be cut half way around, "just as smooth and even as though they had been cut with a knife," said Billy, while almost all of them were shaking and moving in a way that showed there were lively and strong little fellows inside them.

"The chickens have to cut their way out of prison," said Mr. Warren, smiling at the excited faces of the boys.

"What, with a knife?" cried Tommy, with big, round eyes, and then he had to laugh with the rest, as Clarkie asked where he 's'posed the chickens got the knives to do it with!

"Well, boys," said Mr. Warren, "Tommy wasn't so very far out of the way after all. Every little chicken that grows inside a shell has a bit of a sharp point right on the upper side of its bill, near the tip of the bill. Can't you see it on those chicks that are near the window?" The boys all looked eagerly, and each one saw the little sharp point.

"When the chick is ready to come out of the shell," went on Mr. Warren, "its bill is pressed close against the inside of the shell, and when the chick moves, the little point cuts a line right along the shell. The chicken begins to turn in the shell, and so cuts a straight line around it, and when he gets most round, the shell bursts open, and out the little wet and draggled fellow comes. See! there's one right in front that is turning slowly inside the shell, and cutting as he turns. Can't you see the little line that is being cut?"

The boys all looked closely, and all saw it. "There's another egg just behind this one that has been cut nearly around, and little bits of shell have fallen off all along where the line is cut. That little fellow will be out in a few minutes," and sure enough, while they were looking the little chick inside gave a bigger twist to his little body, and apart came the egg-shell, and out tumbled a very wet and forlorn mite, that some time, perhaps, might be able to crow or cackle, but that just now didn't look as though it would ever be doing anything of the kind.

"He'll be all dry and fluffy, and up on his feet in a few minutes, examining the new world he's come into," said Mr. Warren—and then it was time for Tommy and Billy to go home.

They were highly delighted with their morning's visit and thanked Clarkie Warren for his thoughtfulness in inviting them.

They had plenty to talk about all the way, and for some time after, for they had to tell mamma all about the cunning little baby chicks "that had little eenty-tonty jack-knives right on the upside part of their bills!"

THE FATAL LETTER.

Found In the Pockets of Two Men Killed in Railroad Accidents.

A short time ago a tramp was killed at Wellsburg, W. Va., in a railroad wreck, and a letter found in his pocket indicated that his name was James Ray, and that he lived in this city. An investigation by the police failed to locate anyone of that name who was missing, and the matter was dropped. It now develops that the letter was the property of another man, but the owner's name is not James Ray, although he is now known by that name.

During the railroad strike last year a man in this city who was employed by one of the roads, went out with the discontented, and when he sought for work, after things had quieted down, he found that wherever he applied, no matter how badly the company was in need of men, he was always told there was no vacancy. He had not placed much confidence that railroad officials kept secret blacklists, although contrary to law, and made the rounds of the several roads in search of work. He finally became disheartened and left the city. He also determined that it was useless for him to ask for work under his right name and so he took the name of James Ray. At the first place he asked for work under the assumed name he was successful, and served for several months as switchman. For some cause he then left the employ of the road. He was given a letter of recommendation, and in a short time had work on a road running into St. Louis. While in that city he met an old railroad friend who was having the same trouble he had experienced on account of having been connected with the strike.

Ray offered to let his friend have his letter of recommendation, and advised that he go to Cincinnati to apply for work. The friend reached Cincinnati on a freight train and made a search for work. He was successful, but found that he would have to wait about two weeks before he could begin. Having friends in this city who would assist him while he was waiting, he boarded a Big Four freight train with several other men and stowed away in a box car, after writing to Ray of his success and intentions. This was the train that was wrecked about two months ago, in which several tramps were killed, it has never been definitely known just how many, for some of the bodies were burned in the fire that followed. The body of the man who had Ray's letter was found, and in his pocket was the envelope which had contained the letter, but there was no letter. It seemed evident that some one of the other men who had escaped had stolen the letter.

A few weeks later it was announced through the columns of the press that James Ray had been killed in a wreck at Wellsburg, W. Va. The identification was made by a letter, which finally proved to be the letter stolen from the pocket of the switchman killed in the wreck this side of Cincinnati.

Famous Violin Makers.

The most celebrated violin maker of the Amati family was Nicholas. His instruments most sought after, however, are those of the large or grand pattern, which are powerful as well as sweet in tone, and the violins equal to most of those of Stradivarius. His instruments are valued at from $400 to $1,000.

PROBABLY FELT BLUE.

"Jones doesn't look so well; he's quite yellow this morning."

"He's been painting the town red."

New Chambermaid—Are there really so many mice in the house? Cook—Of course not. I was determined, however, that mistress should get a cat. You see, I've a young man who calls on me pretty often, and we must be able to account in some way for the food I give him.—Fliegende Blaetter.

A man seems to live for the privilege of dying, old and neglected, and with a great deal of pain.

Every poor singer in this country once led a church choir.

Paralysis.

From the Press, New York City.

Morris Preslaner, of No. 1 Pitt Street, New York, who is a real estate agent and collector of rents, caught a severe cold early last spring, which settled upon his kidneys. Soon he began to suffer severe pain in his backbone, sides and chest. His symptoms grew rapidly more alarming, until at last he was as helpless as a child and could scarcely move as he lay on his bed. As Mr. Preslaner is well known in the part of the town where he resides, he had many sympathizers, who did all they could to help him.

Though a native of Berlin, Mr. Preslaner has lived in this country for forty years, having served the country of his adoption by three years' hard service in the civil war. He enlisted with the Nineteenth Illinois Infantry, taking part in many battles and marching with General Sherman to the sea. While in Georgia, Mr. Preslaner was promoted to first Sergeant for bravery on the field of action. He is now a member of Koltes Post, G. A. R., and is one of the most popular men in the Post.

Mr. Preslaner told a reporter the story of his dreadful illness and wonderful recovery. The reporter met him as he was returning from a long walk, and, saying that he had heard of his wonderful cure, asked him to tell the story. When Mr. Preslaner was comfortably seated in his pleasant parlor, he told the following story, which, he said, he hoped everyone who was suffering as he had suffered, would read. His words were as follows: "To begin with, I was taken sick just a year and a month ago, having taken a severe cold which settled on my kidneys. At first I thought the pain I suffered would soon pass away, but, instead of doing this, it grew more intense every day, so that in a week I could walk only with considerable difficulty.

"I called in a doctor, who said I had locomotor ataxia and began treating me for that disease. He did me no good, and all summer long I could scarcely attend to my business at all. Then I called another doctor and took his medicine for several weeks, but experienced no relief. Dr. Truman Nichols, of No. 287 East Broadway, who I at last called in, helped me more than any of the other doctors, but along towards fall I grew worse, despite his treatment. I think Dr. Nichols is a good doctor and understood my case, but despite this fact his medicines did me no lasting good.

"Early in November the little strength I had in my legs left me and I was unable to stand. The pain in my back and sides became almost unbearable and my limbs grew cold. An electric battery I bought failed to help, and for weeks I felt myself gradually growing weaker until all hope left me.

"Sometime before this I had read of a wonderful cure a man had received from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, but was so prejudiced against what I thought was a patent medicine of the usual worthless character that I could not make up my mind to try them. As my pains increased and death seemed coming near, I thought of what I had read and of the symptoms of the man who had been cured. They were precisely the same as mine, and at last, with my wife's earnest entreaty, I consented to try Pink Pills.

"I am now convinced that these pills saved my life. Gradually my strength began to return, the desire to live grew stronger. After having taken three boxes I left my bed. This was early in March. All pain had left me, and that terrible dead feeling in my legs had gone away. I was still very weak, but before I had taken the fourth box I was able to get down stairs for a short walk in the open air. Now I feel as if I had been born again and am as happy as a child. Every pleasant day I take a walk, and am sure that in a month I will be as well as ever."

All diseases, such as locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus' dance, partial paralysis, sciatica, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous headache, palpitation of the heart, effects of la grippe, pale and sallow complexions, and all forms of weakness, either in man or woman, disappear when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are taken. Pink Pills can be bought of any dealer, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

RULES IN BRITISH GUIANA.

Augustus Lawson Hemming, K. C. M. G., the New Governor.

The people of this country are especially interested just now in British Guiana and in the new Governor who has been appointed by the British Government for that colony — Augustus Lawson Hemming, K. C. M. G. Sir Augustus has seen thirty years' service in the home colonial office and is well qualified for the position. He has on several occasions been entrusted with delicate missions affecting boundary disputes, and he is thus well fitted to cope with the difficulty regarding the Venezuela boundary line. British Guiana is one of the most thriving of the British possessions in the tropics and is the equal of Trinidad or Mauritius. Its sugar product is equivalent annually to $10,000,000 and is worked by coolies imported from East India. There are rich gold fields in Essequibo and Cuyuni. Sir Augustus will therefore find a prosperous country under him.

GOV. HEMMING.

A Valuable Franchise.

A cash offer of over $2,000,000 has been made by a leading banking house, representing a foreign syndicate, for the privilege of running canal boats on the Erie canal by electric traction.

The exclusive franchise for electric traction on the canal belongs to the Cataract General Electric company, one of the branches of the great Niagara Falls Power company. Several months ago experiments were made at Tonawanda, with a system of towing canal boats by a small motor running on a cable. The motor ran successfully and it is said to be ready for operation the entire length of the canal. If this system be put into successful operation the canal would become the great traffic route from the lakes to the seaboard.

Properly Named.

"I want to buy a make-up box," said the young married man.

"A make-up box?" the confectioner echoed. "We don't keep theatrical supplies."

"I mean a box of candy to take home to my wife. I promised to be home three hours ago."—Indianapolis Journal.

Good for a Fire.

Half a teaspoonful of sugar scattered over a dying fire is better than kerosense and has no element of danger.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

"Blight"

costs cotton planters more than five million dollars annually. This is an enormous waste, and can be prevented. Practical experiments at Alabama Experiment Station show conclusively that the use of will prevent that dreaded plant disease.

"Kainit"

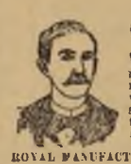
Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing the results of latest experiments in this line. Every cotton farmer should have a copy. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.



$3 A DAY SURE. SEND us your address and we will show you how to make $3 a day; absolutely sure; we furnish the work and teach you free; you work in the locality where you live; send us your address and we will explain the business fully; remember we guarantee a clear profit of $3 for every day's work; absolutely sure; write at once. ROYAL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Box LII, Detroit, Mich.

PAYING POSITIONS GUARANTEED IN WRITING. Students' complete course in HALF the TIME at HALF the EXPENSE of other colleges. 21 placed last month. Address at once GEORGIA BUS. COLLEGE, Macon, Ga.

WHAT IS ALABASTINE?

A pure, permanent and artistic wall coating ready for the brush by mixing in cold water.

FOR SALE BY PAINT DEALERS EVERYWHERE.

FREE A Tint Card showing 12 desirable tints, also Alabastine Souvenir Rock sent free to any one mentioning this paper.

ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

Am. N, U. No. 17. 1896.

Officer—What did you want, sir? Citizen—Somebody has stolen my watch, and I want you to hunt the rascal up and give him the key to it. It raises the mischief with a watch to let it run down, you know.—Boston Transcrit.

Gotrox—I think young Cheekly is a foreign nobleman in disguise. Wigwag—What makes you think so? Gotrox—Well, he has succeeded in borrowing a thousand dollars from me, and now he wants to marry my daughter.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. William T. Climo, a grocer doing business at 1822 Norris St., Philadelphia, recently made the following statement concerning Ripans Tabules: "I had what the doctors called Nervous Indigestion, from which I suffered day and night. I tried several doctors, took electric treatment, patent medicines, and, in fact, everything that I could hear of, but nothing done me any good and I made up my mind there was no help for me, only to grin and bear it, but one day I was passing a drug store and stopped to look at the display in the window and I happened to see a card with 'Ripans Tabules' on it and I thought, well, here's another straw for a drowning man, so I'll throw some more money away, so I went in and bought a box, and, seems to me, the first dose took effect. I have been taking them ever since and they have surely worked wonders with me. When I look back on the past and then on my present condition, seems to me I am a new man. I am enjoying elegant health now, and I feel that I owe many thanks to Ripans Tabules. I have recommended them to several of my friends who say they are wonderful, and I must say they are a God send to any one suffering from a disorder of this nature."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Manufacturers —OF— Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting —AND— Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.
OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.
Write for Prices. Address,
Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

In writing please mention this paper.

Second Hand
TUERK WATER MOTOR
For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to
Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS. but sell direct to the consumer at wholesale prices. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Write for catalogue.

W. B. PRATT, Secy. ELKHART Carriage & Harness Mfg Co. Elkhart, Ind.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 60c. and $1.00 at Druggists

AGENTS MAKE $5 PER DAY selling durable patented device for bowing shutters at any angle. Samples by mail, 15c. Territory given. Address S. & M. SHUTTER BOW CO., 73 W. 11th St., N. Y. City.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. DR. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

"Aye! There's the rub!"

And that ought to be enough in itself to seal the doom of bar soap. This rubbing with soap may get clothes clean, if you work hard enough, but can't you see how it wears them out?

Follow the directions that come on every package of Pearline, and you'll find that you not only do away with the hard and ruinous work of rubbing—but that you save time, and actually get better results. At every point Pearline is better than soap. But the mere fact that Pearline saves the rubbing—that ought to settle it.

BEWARE Peddlers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled. If your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 635

Strikes at the Root—When you take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS you find it strikes at the root of the disease. That's the secret of its mighty success. Whatever the symptoms, BROWN'S IRON BITTERS attacks the cause—speedily, vigorously, effectively—and the symptoms vanish.

GUARANTEE.

Purchase money refunded should BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, taken as directed, fail to benefit any person suffering with Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fever, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Biliousness, Female Infirmities, Impure Blood, Weakness, Nervous Troubles, Headache or Neuralgia. BROWN CHEMICAL CO., Baltimore, Md.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. II. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1896. NO 4.

The average length of life is greater in Norway than in any other country in the world.

About 4000 womem are graduates of the principal colleges for women. Probably another 4000 graduated from co-educational institutions.

The Supreme Court of Massachusetts decides that a scholar is not obliged to tell the teacher unless he wants to, and cannot be punished for refusing.

The charges made in Italian papers some time ago that Russia had aided King Menelek in his campaign against Italy, and that Russian arms and even Russian soldiers had been sent to Abyssinia, do not seem so improbable in the light of the report that the Czar has conferred the Order of St. George upon the African ruler. In view of the course adopted by Austria, Germany and Great Britain, this act, simple enough in its way and in other circumstances, borders on open defiance of the Triple Alliace. The Czar seems also to have chosen purposely the most irritating way of decorating King Menelek, selecting Baron Meyendorf, Councillor of the Russian Embassy in Rome, the capital of the defeated Nation, to transmit the insignia. The Order of St. George is a proud one to bear, but King Menelek may regret the day that he was singled out to receive it.

England has so much in the way of titles and fogs that we have not, that it is comforting to the New Orleans Picayune to hear that so far as eating is concerned, they are in the soup, so to speak, compared with us. Titles are all very well, but they will not stay the stomach of a hungry man who finds that if he wants "a dozen raw" on the other side of the water on an English half shell, he has got to pay seventy-five cents. Of fish the only sorts procurable in England and not here are turbots and soles. As an offset to these, we have in America at this season Spanish mackerel, shad, smelt, terrapin, green turtle, sheepshead, pompano, bluefish, stripped bass, whitefish and oyster crabs. There is nothing in the way of fruit at the command of the English that we do not possess. In addition, we have many sorts of apples of which they know nothing, and numerous varieties of California fruit that are not exported. Their winter grapes are all of the hothouse kind and very costly, whereas we have them from California in great perfection and profusion. Of vegetables, celery, now abundant with us, is not at this season in the London market. Celeriac is advertised, but that is used only in cookery. In addition, we have green peas, fresh asparagus, new turnips, egg plant, and other sorts now out of the market in England.

According to Mr. Munhall, the famous English statistician, the United States can easily become the home of 210,000,000 people without overcrowding. The population of this country has doubled in every thirty years for the past century. At this rate we should have 210,000,000 inhabitants in about forty-five years from the present time. This would give the Southern States about 60,000,000 inhabitants, and Georgia would have about 5,400,000 population, provided we grow as rapidly in the future as in the past. Atlanta has frequently doubled her population in ten years, but even if she should hereafter doubled it every thirty years she would at the end of forty-five years from now have 375,000 population within her gates. But will population continue to double in this country every thirty years? asks the Atlanta Constitution. It is not likely. Conditions have changed. Immigration has fallen off, and it is safe to say that the growth of the country in future will be less rapid. Still, it is probable that for generations to come our population will make long strides, and it is also likely that the South and her cities will grow more rapidly than in the past. So, we come down to a very conservative estimate, the young men of to-day may expect in their old age to see fully 150,000,000 American citzens on deck, and the South, Georgia and Atlanta may have the number of people which we have figured out for them, because there is certain to be a large immigration here from other sections

NEVER DESPAIR.

Who has not heard or read about London bridge, that famous thoroughfare of England's busiest centre of traffic, of its endless stream of humanity passing to and fro in their daily pursuits, of innumerable tales of woe, of lives lost, misspent and forlorn, of tragedies, occurring only to be at once forgotten and followed by more startling crimes, the inevitable result and outcome of everyday life in the English metropolis—the seat of untold wealth and untold misery—that unrolls before us the depths of human nature, only too often in their most revolting form?

It was a dark and foggy evening. The hour when the tired toilers seek the comfort of their fireside, when everybody goes to his home—provided he has a home—has come and gone. Suddenly two pedestrians approaching from opposite directions came to a sudden and rather unpleasant collision on the bridge. One of them, young, and dressed in the height of fashion, had come from the aristocratic regions of the West End, while the other, who had approached from the laboring districts of Southwark was much older and was poorly clad.

"Zounds, sir," exclaimed the younger of the two, "your cranium is not exactly bolstered up with springs, I assure you. Why could you not get out of the way when you saw me approach?"

The other, evidently a laborer, shrugged his shoulders and threw a longing look across the railing to the dark waters of the Thames below.

"Where were you going post haste?" continued the first speaker, noticing the man's dejected attitude.

"There!" came the hoarse answer, pointing down to the river.

"There? Well, my man, our road is the same. Take me with you!"

The poor laborer cast a surprised look at the well-dressed young man.

"You?" he said. "You to go down there? Impossible! What has put such a dreadful thought into your head? You are surely not suffering from want; you cannot possibly know the sorrow and the misery that is the poor man's portion? You look like a rich man, you have youth besides—consequently you are happy and to be envied!"

"Wrong, my friend, altogether wrong. Wealth is not always akin to happiness," responded the young man. "Come, rouse yourself, I can see things also have gone wrong with you; walk with me a short distance and let me explain."

Strange! Here were two persons who had not even known of each other's existence five minutes before, but withal, they found themselves drawn toward one another by that sympathetic flash which so often influences our destinies.

Peaceably and contentedly they walked side by side, while the rich man poured his heart out to his poor companion, telling him with impulsive words that he led anything but a happy life, although possessing everything that usually goes to make life worth living. He was a bachelor who had inherited great wealth from his uncle. He had drained the pleasure cup of all kinds of amusements, had kept servants, horses and carriages; numberless friends had congregated at his splendidly furnished apartments and in his country residences; he had even widely speculated without rhyme or reason in Lombard street, but won in spite of his folly; he had traveled, he had celebrated orgies, he had lived like a sybarite and thrown away his money with both hands and now he was tired of life, satiated and blase in spite of his youth. Melancholy, remorse and misanthropy troubled him incessantly, and he could not help repeating to himself that his life had been an utterly useless one. Therefore he had finally come to the deliberate conclusion to end his worthless existence in the waters of the river Thames.

The laborer was dumbfounded. Never in his life had he listened to such a queer tale.

"How incomprehensible!" he exclaimed. "My life tells exactly the opposite story. I am very poor, have an ailing wife and seven children, and, alas, no food for them; thus far I have honestly and tirelessly tried to make the two ends meet—in a manner—by hard work, but a few days ago I lost my place in the factory on account of the dull times. I cannot witness the misery at home any longer: it tears my heart to look at my starving loved ones: and though my poor, suffering wife tries hard to console me and to give me courage, bidding me not to despair, I see no escape. I have no hope left and am resolved to put an end to my miserable existence. May God in His infinite mercy have pity on my family!"

"Poor fellow!" The rich young man's countenance was full of deep felt pity and unbidden tears gathered in his eyes. Such a tale he had never heard, never dreamt of amid the affluence of his surroundings.

"Now I know that there are people in this world who are a great deal more unhappy than I considered myself to be, fool that I was," he reflected.

"But cheer up, man, there is help in a case like yours. Come, lead the way, take me to your house. I guess I can end your troubles, and as far as the—the—jumping into the Thames is concerned, I think there is no special hurry about it, do you?"

A cab soon brought the two former candidates for self-destruction to the dirty narrow lanes of the workingmen's quarter in Southwark, where it stopped in front of a tumble-down cottage. Poverty and want stared at them from every nook and corner as the master of the house and his young companion entered a small but tidy and scrupulously clean room. A group of children of a pronounced blonde type had hardly recognized their father when they ran up to them and pitifully begged for bread. Her eyes, red and swollen from crying, her body emaciated from want and sickness, the mother painfully tried to rise from her work, as soon as she beheld the aristocratic looking stranger, aided by her 17-year-old daughter Mary.

The young man was shocked when he beheld this scene of what appeared to be unmerited but great misery. But when his sympathetic and astonished gaze full of pity, had fastened itself upon the face and figure of the beautiful blue-eyed, slender blonde girl he gave a start of genuine surprise. Full of a generous impulse and quickly resolved, he grabbed the laborer by the hand, exclaiming:

"Cheer up, I shall be back in an hour," he explained, and left before the family had time to recover from their astonishment over the unexpected visitor.

All the father was able to do in reply to the many questions of his wife and children was to console and cheer them in a half-hearted manner. But he said nothing about his suicidal intentions or about the strange meeting that had prevented their consummation.

Suddenly the door opened once more to admit the man who was uppermost in their thoughts. Behind him appeared two servants carrying baskets filled with choice eatables, which they deposited upon the table and at once withdrew.

The young man walked up to the astonished and speechless laborer, saying in tremulous tones:

"My friend, tonight you have saved my life. Let me offer you and yours a small token of my gratitude. Do me the honor to accept what I brought you, also this sum of money. And now, cheer up, for you will have no more worries if I can help it."

All shed tears of joy. Again and again they showered blessings and expressions of their overwhelming gratitude upon their noble benefactor; but when Mary approached him to kiss his hand for saving the mother, whose life was fast ebbing away from sheer want and ailment, he drew back, saying:

"My friend! I have more to tell you. My name is John Graham, and, as I have already informed you, I have inherited great wealth. But I have no peaceful home, my life is not a regulated one. When an hour ago I left you I went to the next police station, to find out all I could about you, also to your former employer, and to the clergyman of this district. I have heard nothing but good spoken of you, especially so and in the highest degree, of your daughter Mary, for whom I should like to care exclusively, if you will let me."

These gracious words were followed by silence, unbroken but for the sobbing of Mary's mother, who finally remarked with suppressed tears choking her utterance, that Mary was her sole dependence for the household work, that she alone cared for the little ones when their father was away at his work, and she, the mother, sick in her bed, that Mary had never worked away from home, and was hardly in a fit condition to be employed elsewhere.

"Employment? A position? My dear madam, you have altogether misconstrued my meaning. Nothing is further removed from my thoughts than a desire to see your daughter work for others. I want her for my own, for my wife! I could not pay the debt of gratitude which I owe the family of the man who preserved my life more appropriately than to henceforth keep want and distress from their home. And on the other hand, what better compensation could I ask in return than the permission that would give me the right to do so by making your beautiful daughter my wife, providing she shares my love and is willing to make me the happiest of men!"

Of course there was no objection, and a few weeks later the marriage took place. Two men, tired of life, were fated to become the preservers of two families who henceforth led a happy and useful existence.

The young couple founded an asylum for poor laborers. If you, fair reader, ever go to London, and while "doing" the town should have a chance to visit this institute, over the main entrance to which is the motto "Never Despair," you will surely have no difficulty to recognize the gray-haired superintendent as one of the heroes of this true tale, the old laborer, and by his side his now fully recuperated wife, trying to do all the good in their power to those in need.—From the French.

Chinatown's Star Attraction.

The star attraction of Chinatown, San Francisco, is no more. Blind Annie is dead. For twelve years the old Chinese woman has held her court in the filthiest hut down the filthiest alley in Chinatown. There every celebrity that has visited California for the last decade has made a pilgrimage to Blind Annie and her cats. For years the old woman has not moved from the hovel. She was said to have been the first Chinese woman to come to California. Whether she was that or not, she was among the first, reaching here in 1851, in the Chinese bloom of fresh fourteen. Woman, white or yellow, were rare in those days, and an enterprising merchant bought Annie for $2,500 and made her his wife. Toward the end of her life she became quite helpless, and her animals deserted her. Only one yellow dog sat out the death-watch beside his benefactress. The last great visitor she had was Paderewski, who saw her twelve hours before she died, and gave her a five-dollar gold piece.—Harper's Weekly.

His Wife's Refuge.

Mr. Starzenstripes—It's all very well for you to want our Mary to marry a British duke, but what would she do in case of war?

Mrs. Starzenstripes—What would any wife do in case of war? Go back to her mother, of course.—New York World.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

A man's life is an appendix to his heart.—South.

Joys are our wings, sorrows are our spurs.—Richter.

A lie must be thatched with another or it will soon rain through.

The great secret of life is never to be in the way of others.—Haliburton.

Such is the posie love composes, a stinging nettle mixed with roses.—Brown.

Is not light grander than fire? It is the same element in a state of purity.—Carlyle.

Knowledge of all avails the human kind for all beyond the grave are joys of mind.—Hogg.

Liberality does not exist so much in giving a great deal as in giving seasonably.—La Mieree.

He who always prefaces his tale with laughter is poised between impertinence and folly.—Lavater.

Joy descends gently upon us like the evening dew, and does not patter down like a hailstorm.—Richter.

The game of life looks cheerful when one carries in one's heart the unalienable treasure.—Coleridge.

You may as well go about to turn the sun to ice by fanning his face with a peacock's feather.—Shakespeare.

As the confusion of tongues was a mark of separation, so the being of one language is a mark of union.—Bacon.

We paint love as a child, when he should sit a giant on his clouds, the great disturbing spirit of the world.—Croly.

They pass best over the world who trip over it quickly; for it is but a bog—if we stop we sink.—Queen Elizabeth.

Law is the science in which the greatest powers of the understanding are applied to the greatest number of facts.—Johnson.

The discovery of what is true and the practice of that which is good are the two most important objects of philosophy.—Voltaire.

Bucks Drown an Eagle.

If a writer for the American Field is to be believed, the crow duck is the most extraordinary bird on the Potomac river, cutting up such capers as to make even a naturalist gasp.

"Four years ago," he writes, "while shooting ducks with Mr. Waller (president Cleveland's duck blind builder,) I noticed a crowd of three or four thousand crow ducks. After half an hour I noticed an eagle going toward the flock. When he arrived at the proper distance he made a dart but the ducks as if by magic, went under water like a flash, and sent up a volume of water as if a big mine had been exploded. This was done time and time again, and finally the volume of water thrown up was so great that the eagle was drowned. This is a sight seldom seen, which may occur but once in a ducking life of fifty years."

This crow duck is also known as the American coot, mud hen, blue peter, and Fulica Americana by various hunters and alongshore people. Up North these ducks may be seen in creeks and marshy, reed-grown rivers, but South in Florida they resort in enormous numbers to the lakes where bonnets or yellow lillies abound, associating there with lesser scaup ducks. They are shy birds, being much persecuted usually, but in localities where shooting is prohibited, near the Titusville, Fla., railroad pier for instance, they are as tame as sparrows, understanding that they are safe.

The nearest anybody ever came to the drowning eagle story was Frank M. Chapman in his "Birds of Eastern North America," when he says; "When alarmed they patter over the water using their feet as much as their wings. The sound produced is a characteristic one." He does not say whether the water flies or not, but one could imagine that a crow duck just as it turned up to dive could give its scolloped webbed feet a kick up behind, like a vicious mule and so saturating the eagle that it would be drowned. Eagles often catch living fish, out of the water, and of course, get more or less wet in so doing, but perhaps the Potomac river eagles are of a different species than those known to bird books.

The Golden Age.

The Age of Gold! The Golden Age,
When life was life indeed,
Has gilded many a somber page,
Served many a poet's need.
I sing the Golden Age that is,
Not many a fabled story;
Nay, I myself once lived in this Same age of song and story.

Then men were heroes formed for love
And war—brave, wise, and good;
Then women reigned by virtue of
Their perfect womanhood;
Then more than fame, than lust of wealth,
Than empty power or splendor,
Were simple pleasures, buoyant health,
One friend both true and tender.

Then strange, wild beauty lurked within
Each common wayside weed;
The brook stopped on its way to sing
Weird tales to who would heed;
Then labor without thought of wage
Was crowned with teeming plenty;
What is this wondrous Golden Age?
Why, nineteen years, or twenty.

Susan Owen Moberly in Munsey.

HUMOROUS.

"You told me that you and Harry loved at sight." "Yes, but we quarreled on acquaintance."

"That," said the engineer, "is a fifty-horse power engine." "Don't you figure it by bike-power yet?"

Dolly—If you kiss me the second time I will scream. Dick—I have not kissed you the first time yet. Dolly—I know it.

"There, there!" said Mrs. Blue-Myrr, picking up her little boy, who had stubbed his toe. "Don't cry. Be a man, like mamma."

He—Nice dog—very. Have you taught it any new tricks since I was here last? She (sweetly)—Yes; it will fetch your hat if you whistle.

Jones—Smith is in business for himself, isn't he? Brown—For himself? Well, I should say he is in business for the benefit of an extravagant family.

"Hurry up, Maud. Mr. Jones has been waiting an hour already." "Humph! Let him wait. Didn't he keep me waiting three years before he spoke?"

Bagley—Have you got a dose of nerve tonic handy? Dr. Emdee—What's the trouble? Bagley—Just a bracer; I called to get the amount of your bill.

"If I only knew whether the policeman is standing there because nothing is happening, or whether nothing is happening because he is standing there!"

May—They tell me your engagement with Charley Gumpley is broken. How did it happen? Carrie—It was no great mystery. The fact is he was too fresh to keep—that's all.

Proof — Bridegroom — My friend Meekes says he is afraid you didn't like his wedding present. Bride—Certainly I did! Why, I kept it a whole month before I exchanged it.

"Yes," remarked the prima donna, "I know I ought to practice a little every day to keep my voice in condition, but I can't because some one might hear me without paying a cent for it.

Maisie—Sis, there's a young gentleman down in the parlor wants to see you. Sister—Who is it dearie? Maisie—Well, I don't know his name, but he's that one that looks so much like a wishbone.

Servant—Who shall I say wants to see Mrs. DeStyle? Country cousin—Oh, no matter about the name. I want to surprise her. Servant—Well, I'm thinking ye'll have no trouble in doing that.

Three of a Kind in Looks.

Three members of the House of Representatives are so much alike in personal appearance that they are often mistaken for each other, and could readily pass for three brothers. Their names are Monroe H. Kulp of Shamokin, Penn., George B. McClellan of New York city, and John Simpkins of Yarmouth, Mass., who enjoys the distinction of being one of the wealthiest congressmen at Washington. Messrs. Kulp and Simpkins are republicans, McClellan is a democrat, All three are heavy built, stocky young fellows, without a vestige of hair on their faces. In addition to looking so much alike in stature and facial appearance, the "triplets," as their colleagues call them, dress alike, and it is often difficult to distinguish one from the other.—Chicago Tribune.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, } Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

EDITORIAL.

The Christian Endeavor Union of Shelby county, will meet with the Montevallo society on the 29th and 30th of this month. We expect to have Mr. Fred Ball, president of the state union, also Rev. T. K. Roberts, of Montgomery with us, and we hope to have a large and enthusiastic meeting. Delegates are requested to send their names to Miss Mary Nicholls, chairman of reception committee; and homes will be provided for them. Shelby Sentinel and Chronicle please copy.—Montevallo News.

Populists and republicans in the union, if there should be any, will notice the gentle hint that they are not wanted.—Peoples' Advocate, Columbiana.

We refuse to quarrel with our Bro. Editor—him of the Advocate.

We apologize for the unintentional slight, and hasten to assure all delegates to the Christian Endeavor convention that a hearty welcome awaits all who come regardless of their political preferences.

No man is proscribed in Montevallo because of his political or religious belief.

Another notable game animal of the Northwest is said to be fast traveling the road to extinction that the buffalo went. The bighorn, one of the greatest attractions to sportsmen hunting in the Canadian northwest, is being indiscriminately slaughtered by the Indians, because of the high prices now paid for heads and sets of horns. The matter was brought to the attention of the Natural History Society of British Columbia, and the society has appointed a committee to secure proper protection for the animals. It is said that very few rams have been seen this year. The Indians have been slaughtering the animals in bands, removing the hides and horns and leaving the carcasses. Two or three years of such slaughter as is now going on will, it is said, cause the extinction of the big horn.

Friends of the University of Virginia, who have mourned the loss of its library last October, will be gratified to learn, thinks the New York Independent, that the alumni committee have arranged for the purchase of a library which would more than make good the loss, and put the university in possession of the famous collection, of about twelve thousand volumes in Greek and Latin philosophy, made by the late Professor Hertz, of the University of Breslau, as a working library for his own use. It is scientifically arranged in twenty-one sections, catalogued, and is said to be extremely rich in the departments most needed by students. Such a library would be the noblest restoration the alumni could offer their alma mater in her crippled condition. In the interest of sound learning, at the South especially, we hope that the sum will be raised, and without delay.

The thousands of brides who have visited the United States Treasury Department at Washington on their wedding tours, and have been allowed to hold in their hands for a few moments the big bundle of money so carefully done up in manilla paper, sealed with great blotches of red sealing-wax and marked "$2,000,000," will recognize what a wicked and deceptive world this is when they know that the real contents of the package were simply two old census reports. This innocent deception has been carried on for a quarter of a century. When people go into the vaults they always want to handle money. There is an irresistible tendency to feel of it, and the more valuable the package the greater the temptation. It wasn't considered good policy to allow a large amount of treasure to be passed around among strangers in such a way for fear some one might chloroform the guard and vaultkeepers and make a break with the package. So curiosity was gratified and the Government was protected from any possible loss by making up a dummy and giving it a proper appearance. The secret was well kept until a few day ago, when a spiteful employe, who had been discharged, gave it away.

Frost has seriously injured the fruit crop of California.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

Adopts a Platform Advocating the Free Coinage of Silver.

THE VOTE FOR GOVERNOR.

In Favor of Fair and Honest Elections, and the Repeal of the 10 Per Cent Tax on State Bank Notes-The Nominees-The New Executive Committee, Etc.

The Democratic State Convention, which was held at Montgomery, adjourned sine die about 8 o'clock last Wednesday night. The platform adopted thoroughly advocates the free coinage of silver without the slightest qualification as to quantity or the pleasure of other nations.

The ticket nominated is as follows:

For Governor—Joseph F. Johnston, of Jefferson.

Secretary of State—J. Kirke Jackson, of Lauderdale.

Treasurer—G. W. Ellis, of Montgomery.

Auditor—Walter S. White, of Colbert.

Attorney-General—W. C. Fitts, Tuscaloosa.

Superintendent of Education—John O. Turner, of St. Clair.

Commissioner of Agriculture—I. F. Culver, of Bullock.

The new executive committee consists of:

At large—Winston Jones, of Mobile; W. H. Lawson, of Montgomery; Richmond P. Wetmore, of Birmingham; Frank L. Pettus, of Selma; Tennant Lomax, of Montgomery; Henry D. Clayton, of Eufaula.

First District—A. S. Lyons, of Mobile; Isaac Grant, of Clarke, and John C. Webb, of Marengo.

Second District—R. R. Bricken, of Crenshaw; J. N. Standford, of Wilcox, and J. I. Long, of Butler.

Third District—R. H. Glenn, of Russell; Frank M. Moseley, of Bullock, and Daniel Gordan, of Henry.

Fourth District—J. B. Knox, of Calhoun; S. J. Bowie, of Talladega, and M. A. Keith, of Dallas.

Fifth District—J. W. Cook, of Lowndes; J. T. Heflin, of Chambers, and W. H. Balke, of Clay.

Sixth District—W. B. Peeples, of Pickens; Steve Smith, of Lamar, and Daniel Collier, of Fayette.

Seventh District—J. G. Winston, of Marshall; J. L. Burnett, of Etowah, and W. I. Bullock, of Franklin.

Eighth District—R. P. Whitman, of Madison; G. P. Jones, of Lauderdale, and Asa Rountree, of Morgan.

Ninth District—S. G. Logan, of Bibb; T. M. Hudson, of Blount, and John R. Hogue, of Perry.

THE DELEGATES.

The delegation to the National Convention consists of:

At large—A. H. Kellar, of Colbert; J. H. Bankhead, of Fayette; John B. Knox, of Calhoun, and A. O. Lane, of Jefferson.

Alternates—J. C. Clark, of Mobile; W. C. Swanson, of Barbour; R. C. Hunt, of Jackson; Jesse F. Stallings, of Butler. (It is understood that Mr. Strassburger, of Butler, will take Mr. Stalling's place.)

First District—D. R. Burgess, of Mobile; John H. Minge, of Marengo; alternates, James P. Kenney, of Mobile, and Massey Wilson, of Clarke.

Second District—Tennant Lomax, of Montgomery; William L. Park, of Pike; alternates, B. B. McKenzie, of Butler; James M. McMallon, of Escambia.

Third District—W. P. Pointer, of Dale, and T. P. Hendham, of Lee; alternates, John W. Smith, of Russell, and C. L. Jinks, of Bullock.

Fourth District—D. T. Goodwyn, of Calhoun, and C. W. Hooper, of Dallas; alternates, W. A. Porter of Cleburne and J. A. Dudley, of Chilton.

Fifth District—A. J. Driver, of Chambers, and W. D. McCurdy, of Lowndes; alternates, G. A. Sorrell, of Tallapoosa, and W. M. Smith, of Autauga.

Sixth District—H. B. Foster, of Tuscaloosa, and Sam Carpenter, of Greene; alternates, J. H. Moody and W. C. Jemison, of Tuscaloosa.

Seventh District—L. L. Cochrane, of DeKalb; E. C. Almon, of Franklin; alternates, J. T. Jones, of St. Clair, and W. J. Sibert, of Etowah.

Eighth District—J. E. Brown, of Jackson, and R. E. Sproggins, of Madison; alternates, B. L. Allen, of Third District—T. M. Epsey, of Henry; alternate, M. M. Baldwin, of Bullock.

Fourth District—W. B. Brown, of Shelby; alternate, T. J. Burton, of Cleburne.

Fifth District—T. L. Bulger, of Tallapoosa; alternate, W. A. Hayes, of Autauga.

Sixth District—J. J. Mayfield, of Tuscaloosa; alternate, M. B. Curry, of Pickens.

Seventh District—M. D. Sibert, of Etowah; alternate, C. C. Appleton.

Eighth District—E. S. Almon of Limestone, and Paul Hodges, of Lauderdale.

Ninth District—C. E. Waller, of Hale, and John W. Tomlinson of Jefferson; alternates, A. P. Howlson, of Bibb, and L. L. Lee, of Perry.

THE ELECTORS.

The list of electors are as follows:

State at large—S. W. John, of Birmingham; J. W. A. Sanford, of Montgomery; alternates, J. J. Willett, of Calhoun, and L. B. Musgrove of Walker.

First District—E. L. Russell, of Mobile; alternate, Oscar L. Gray, of Choctaw.

Second District—John D. Burnett, of Conecuh; alternate, T. L. Cochran, of Wilcox.

Colbert; alternate, W. T. Lowe, of Lawrence.

Ninth District—C. B. Powell, of Jefferson; alternate, W. C. Garrett, of Jefferson.

CUBAN RESOLUTION.

Mr. Powell, of Jefferson, introduced a resolution committing the democrats of Alabama in favor of the cause of the Cubans, and requesting the Federal government to recognize them as belligerents. The resolution prevailed by an overwhelming vote.

THE PLATFORM.

The platform adopted by the convention reads as follows:

We the democrats of the state of Alabama, in convention assembled, declare our continued faith in the old time-honored principles of the democratic party, and among these principles are the following:

1. The free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at 16 to 1 as the standard money of the country, without any discrimination against either metal and without the consent of foreign nations, as the United States coined silver and gold before the republican party obtained control of the government and changed the coinage laws of the country for the benefit of a class and to the injury of a great mass of the people.

2. The unconstitutional penalty of 10 per centum on each issue of state bank notes by any state or national bank ought to be repealed.

It is our purpose to maintain a government in this state fair and just to all, under control of the white men of Alabama.

The faith and credit of the state must be maintained untarnished.

Our system of public education should be improved and extended so far as the state has the ability without oppressive taxation.

We are in favor of honest and fair elections, and we recommend that laws be enacted under which primary elections and other party proceedings for the selection of candidates may be conducted.

We cordially invite all good citizens of this state, and especially all democrats who strayed from the party, to unite with us in an earnest and determined effort to maintain good government in the state of Alabama

Let us preserve the dignity and credit and peace, and if possible, the prosperity of our state.

VOTE FOR GOVERNOR.

The following is the vote for governor, by counties, as it occurred in the state convention:

THE CLARKE COUNTIES.

Autauga	1
Cherokee	7
Choctaw	6
Clarke	8
Coosa	5
Coffee	4
Covington	1½
Cullman	4
Elmore	7
Fayette	2
Geneva	4
Greene	7
Henry	8
Jefferson	15
Lamar	1 1-3
Macon	6
Marengo	11
Mobile	17
Pickens	7
Shelby	7
Sumter	6
Tuskaloosa	10
Washington	3
Total	147 5-6

THE JOHNSTON COUNTIES.

Autauga	3
Baldwin	3
Barbour	12
Bibb	5
Blount	7
Bullock	9
Butler	7
Calhoun	11
Chambers	9
Chilton	5
Clay	5
Cleburne	4
Colbert	7
Conecuh	5
Covington	1½
Crenshaw	5
Dale	6
Dallas	13
DeKalb	7
Escambia	3
Etowah	7
Fayettee	4
Franklin	4
Hale
Jackson
Jefferson	15
Lauderdale	8
Lawrence	7
Lamar	3 2-3
Lee	10
Limestone	7
Lowndes	11
Madison
Marion
Marshall
Monroe
Montgomery	1
Morgan	8
Perry	10
Pike	8
Randolph	6
Russell	8
St. Clair
Sumter	2
Talladega	11
Tallapoosa	8
Walker	5
Wilcox	10
Wilston	2
Total	356 1-6

Jealousy, Murder, Suicide.

Last Thursday afternoon at a place about two miles south of Meadville, Pa., Edward Karleskind shot his wife in the head three times and then cut his own throat. Both are dead. The only witness of the tragedy was the couple's 3-year-old girl. She says her father knocked her mother down with a club and then shot her. Thinking the woman was dead, he took a razor and cut his own throat from ear to ear, dying almost instantly. The woman lingered in agony for about two hours. Jealousy was the cause of the trouble.

If you want to be a man, your first resolve should be to pay your debts.

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

---

$15 REWARD

Will be paid to anyone establishing the fact that Fleming's English Remedy for colic in horses and mules has failed to relieve. For sale by H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, Montevallo, Ala.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, Shelby County. }

Under and by virtue of an execution issued out of the circuit court of Bibb county, Alabama, in favor of John W. Miller and against James P. Nelson, I will proceed to sell on Monday, the 24th day of Febrnary, 1896, in the town of Columbiana, Alabama, to the highest, best and last bidder for cash, during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate, as the property of the defendant, the said James P. Nelson, to-wit:

A certain lot, or parcel of land, situated in the town of Montevallo, Alabama, and described as follows: Commencing at a point on the sidewalk on Valley street, fifteen feet south of the southeast corner of the lot known as the Henry Thrift lot, and running along said street in a southerly direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in a northwesterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet, thence in a northeast direction seventy-five (75) feet, thence in an easterly direction one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to the point of beginning, said lot fronting on Valley street seventy-five (75) feet. Said property being situated in the town of Montevallo, Shelby county, Alabama.

H. W. Nelson, Sheriff.
Shelby County, Alabama.

Continued to March 23. 1896.

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—REDUCED RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Re-union of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates.

Tickets from points in Georgia and Tennessee, north and east of Atlanta and Chattanooga, will be sold June 27 to 28 and 29, and from points south and west of Atlanta and Chattanooga, and east of the Mississippi river, tickets will be sold June 26, 27, 28 and 29. Final limit on tickets from all points will be July 6, 1896.

From points south and west of Atlanta, the Southern railway is the short and quick route to Richmond, Va., via the "Piedmont Air Line," and the service is peerless. From Knoxville, Tenn., Chattanooga, Tenn., and points west thereof, the route of the Southern railway is via Ashville, and through the scenic "Land of the Sky." The service of this line is unexcelled.

Call on any agent of the Southern railway for further information, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; W. A. Turks, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G. P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Paint Brushes at 20c and 25c.
Sponges, a nice line.
Small Steel Tweezers at 10c.
Putty, Turpentine and Castor Oil in bulk.
One dollar bottles McElree's Wine of Cardui at 83c.
Hood's Sarsaparilla at 89c.
Pure Drugs and Chemicals at
REYNOLD'S DRUG STORE.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land a any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Store!!!

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon.

Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham	7:25 p m
No. 15	South	12:37 p m
No. 16	North	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The following are the transients for the week at the Central: George F Treadwell, Selma; Joe McMillan, Knoxville; W H S Dorsey, Atlanta; H C Davis, Atlanta; W G Butler, Pennsylvania; R J Jones, Centreville; N F Ozburn, New Orleans; W H Daniels, Nashville; Eugene Brown, Mobile; J F Scott, Birmingham; George F Shewbet, Birmingham; G E Keller, Birmingham; J A Mauldin, Selma; R H Walkes, Elliottsville; Ed Lilienthal, Selma; Albert Thalheimer, Selma; J T Lenoard, Birmingham.

Mrs. Fannie V. King whom everybody knew to love, died at her home at Scottsboro last Saturday morning. From letters received several days before her death was not unexpected, but nevertheless was one of the saddest events this paper has had to chronicle for a long time. Mrs. King was well known throughout the state, especially in this community where she lived for a number of years. She was one of the most brilliant writers in the south and bid fair to rank high in the literary world. A warm, ardent and true friend and a Christian mother has gone to her reward. She leaves two children, Frank and Veda, who are well remembered by all here. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family in their great bereavement.

It is a dead sure thing if—you will excuse the slang—that Montevallo is the place to buy your drugs. With two handsomely equipped and, above all, reliable pharmacists managing them, the people may be assured that they will find in Montevallo what they need and be cordially received.

James M. Hinolf has been given the position of manager of the Grange store, to be opened in Williamson about the first of next month. About twenty or more years ago Mr. Hinolf was engaged in business in this place and for a number of years past has been manager of a store run by a company in the mining districts of Alabama.—Exchange.

Cadet Sergeant Harry Reynolds spent a few days in Montevallo this week.

F. E. Davis visited Centreville last week.

Burr Nabers reports an enjoyable time at a picnic at Blount Springs last Saturday.

It is with sincere sympathy and deep regret that we chronicle this week the death of the wife of our fellow townsman, Mr. Tom Adams.

A very painful accident befell Nero Brazier, the miller, Saturday night. Brookyns, as he is familiarly known, passed out of his room and pulled the door shut behind him—at least he tried to do so, but she wouldn't pull, so he made another effort, and still she didn't come. By this time Brookyns was a bit "riled," as the saying is, and proceeded to exert on that refractory door some of the enormous strength with which Dame Nature has endowed his muscular arm. The result was that the door came to all right enough, but the unfortunate miller failed to get his middle finger out of the way, and it got caught. Away rushes Brookyns to the doctor. After the M. D had stanched the flow of blood and comfortably bound up his wound, he returns the scene of disaster o'er to view, and lo and behold a full inch of that self-same finger pointed at him from the door-facing.

On Monday morning Mr. James Garner gave his little daughter, about 3 years old, a dose of quinine, as he thought. At the breakfast table the child was seen to drop suddenly forward and at first they thought it dead. Mr. Garner at once remembered that he had a bottle of morphine sitting near the quinine bottle and it flashed through his mind that he had made a mistake and given the child a fatal dose of morphine. Dr. Givhan was hastily sent for and he at once administered a hypodermic injection of permanganate of potassium, which is a recent discovery as an antidote for morphine poisoning. The little sufferer was, after a hard battle, brought through all right.

FOR RENT.

For rent, the Wells place. Apply to J. M. Reynolds or myself.

H. C. Reynolds, Receiver.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Gurnee, April 25.

At the residence of D. N. Hodgins, in the quiet little city of Gurnee, joined in the holy bonds of matrimony Mr. Daniel P. Gordon and Miss Maggie Stewart, of Blocton. They outwitted the old folks, and by a special controlled by Conductor J. S. Little arrived at Gurnee at 9 o'clock p. m., and were accompanied to the residence of Rev. D. N. Hodgins by R. L. Rice, J. C. Brock and J. E. Francis, where the anxious crowd awaited their arrival. The little cottage of Rev. Mr. Hodgins was beautifully decorated with evergreen and roses. The bride was handsomely dressed in a white silk and wore a beautiful wreath of orange blossoms on her brow which was presented to her by her Florida friend. The first maid of honor was Miss Josie Hodgins, second, Miss Maggie Hodgins. Both were handsomely dressed in a beautiful cream. J. E. Francis and J. C. Brock acted as best men. After the ceremony was performed they were accompanied to the special that was awaiting their return. Their many friends of course hated to see their departure, but by congratulations and good wishes they took their departure for Blocton. We think they will make their future home in Bessemer. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. N. Hodgins of this place. We all join in wishing their future days bright and prosperous.

J. C. Brock made a flying visit to Bismarck Friday.

Mr. J. E. Francis, of Bessemer, is in the city for a few days.

The singing at Mrs. James Dunn's last night, was a success. We always have a good time at the hospitable home of Mrs. James Dunn.

Miss Nannie Stinson, one of Gurnee's bells, is visiting friends at Jonesboro this week. We wish for her a pleasant visit.

Messrs. R. L. Rice and J. C. Brock, is in Blocton on business today.

Fisherman.

ASHBY.

Mrs. J. W. Campbell is visiting relatives near Chilton this week.

Miss Eula Naremore, one of Antioch's most accomplished young ladies, spent the latter part of last week here with friends.

Mrs. Ben Large and son, Mr. Martin, spent Saturday and Sunday last with relatives at Spring Creek.

Prof. W. E. Harrison, one of Dogwood's handsome young men, was in the city Friday, en route to Randolph.

Lawyer W. W. Lavender, one of Centerville's competent counsels, visited our town last week.

Our dude, Mr. Henry King, returned from an extended visit to Bessemer some time since, to the delight of his many admirers.

Miss Lela Fancher, of Montgomery, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Day.

Mrs. H. P. Burk and Master Edward, spent Saturday with her sister, Mrs. Bob Frederick, of Furnace, Ala.

One of our handsome brunettes says the weather is very warm down here, and thinks he will resort north to milder climes, destination, Aldrich. How about it, Charles?

Several of the young people from here attended the entertainment Friday night at the beautiful home of Mr. R. C. Parker at Briarfield, and expressed themselves as having been highly entertained.

On Friday, the 22d of May, the M. E. Sabbath school will give a grand picnic on the creek near Briarfield. Everyone invited to attend and bring their baskets full.

Mistake corrected—Dr. G. B. Crowe, is of Birmingham, instead of Marion as it has appeared in the items heretofore.

Quite a crowd from here enjoyed near a week's hunt and fish last week on the Cahaba river. Among those that participated were Messrs. J. W. Campbell, Joe Espey, B. J. Large, Bob Frederick, D. S. Campbell, Albert Burk, Basil Hull, R. M. Large and Charles Campbell, being met by others on the river. They had quite a successful time.

Reporter.

A BONBON PARTY.

At the home of Mrs. C. C. Vandegrift a most delightful entertainment was given to the young people of this town. The house was beautifully decorated with palms and roses and the gallery was bright with Japanese banners. Games and music were enjoyed until about half-past ten, when two lovely little girls in white handed baskets around, from which each boy and girl took a bonbon. These contained tissue paper caps, and those having caps alike went together to refreshments. The tables were beautifully decorated and delightful refreshments were served.

Mrs. Vandegrift is a most charming hostess and knows well how to make the young folks enjoy themselves.

The following were among those who were present: Maud Reynolds and Edgar Allen, Lucile Wilkinson and Joseph Dill, Jr., Lois McCauley and Richard Dill, Bessie McCary and James Davis, Imogene Vandegrift and Edgar Cary, Anna Nabers and Seargent West, Bessie Steele and John Adams, Lucile Fancher and Clyde Reynolds, Annie Peacock and John Steele.

Bonbon.

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

EVENTS IN ALABAMA

Carefully Collated and Condensed for Our Readers.

NORTH ALABAMA PRESBYTERY.

A Convict Makes an Effort to Escape and is Shot—Exhibition of Poultry—Murdered in Sleep—Powder Mill to be Erected.—Revival at Blountsville.

A Lofty Location.

Col. R. B. Kyle, of Gadsden, has begun the erection of a handsome summer home on Lookout Mountain, in Etowah county. The location is the highest point on the mountain.

Pensions Granted or Increased

Alabama: Original, Charles Robinson, Ensley City; additional, James J. Kennedy, Flint; widows Indian wars, Emily F. Pace, Coffeeville, Clarke county; Martha C. Baly, Dodsonville, Jackson county; original, special, April 7, Henry Torbert, Society Hill, Macon county.

Mr. Aldrich Complimented

Representative Aldrich, who succeeded Mr. Robbins from the Fourth Alabama district, has been placed on the committee on banking and currency, a position regarded as quite a compliment for a new member. Mr. Aldrich will go to the St. Louis convention as a Reed delegate.

New Industry in Birmingham.

The erection of a cotton seed oil mill in Birmingham is now assured. The location selected is East Birmingham, where ground has been secured. The main building will be 160x60 and the machinery therein will be of sixty tons capacity. The sheds will be 60x200 feet and the boiler room 24x40.

Congressman Goodwyn.

A Washington item says: "Congressman A. T. Goodwyn will leave for Alabama in a few days, to be present at the fusion convention. He will doubtless be nominated to head the ticket for governor and will enter the campaign, and proposes, he says, to make it lively for the democratic nominee.

Newspaper Plant Sold.

Messrs. E. J. Wiley and A. E. Bayol have purchased the plant of the late Montgomery Evening News. The terms of the sale which were made by the assignee are not known. Mr. Wiley is an energetic and capable newspaper man, and Mr. Bayol is competent to make the business management of the enterprise a success.

Nine Orphaned Children.

Mr. Clarence Crenshaw was buried from his home in Marion last Wednesday afternoon, with Masonic honors. His death resulted from a fall down a flight of steps in the hotel at Columbus, Miss., fracturing his skull. His wife has only been dead a few months, and the entire community sympathizes deeply with the nine orphaned children.

Athens College Commencement.

The commencement exercises of the Athens Female College will take place May 31 to June 3. Rev. R. A. Timmons, of LaFayette, will preach the commencement sermon Sunday May 31 at 11 a. m. Rev. J. W. Shoemaker, of Florence, will preach the baccalaureate sermon the evening af the same date at 8 o'clock.

Compulsary Vaccination.

Among the sanitary measures recommended by the state board of health was one asking the legislature to vest power in city authorities to compel vaccination in the future as a prerequisite for admission to the public schools, thus gradually protecting more and more the cities and towns from the dangers incident to small pox.

Great Revival at Blountsville.

There was a great revival at the Methodist church in Blountsville last week. More than fifty persons were converted and about thirty joined the church.

Dr. McGaha, of East Lake, is to preach the commencement sermon at Blount college and Dr. Anson West the baccalaureate. Rev. G. W. Reed, of Birmingham, will deliver the annual address.

Dogwood Timber Valuable.

W. R. Sloan, of Buffalo, N. Y., was in Mobile en route to the cypress swamps near that city. Mr. Sloan said: "From the car windows I notice the dogwood in bloom everywhere. It is not generally known, but dogwood and persimmon timber is getting more valuable every day. It is the only wood available for the spindles in cotton mills and millions are used every year."

Alabama Medical Association.

This important body, which has been in session in Montgomery adjourned Friday at noon, to meet in Selma next year. The session was entirely harmonious and profitable and pleasant in all its details, social, legislative and scientific. The attendance was good, 162 physicians registering. The hospitality of the physicians of the city and of the citizens was generous and cordial.

Murder Near Ishkooda.

A cruel murder was committed Thursday afternoon about two miles from Ishkooda, some five or six miles below Birmingham. Alonzo Cook, colored, shot and killed Susie Spencer, also colored. The murderer is still at large. It seems that the two quarreled when Cook pulled his gun and fired on the woman, killing her instantly. A telegram was received by the police department to look for the man, who is described about 5 feet 7 inches in height, and of ginger-cake color. He is said to be 25 years of age.

Desperate Attempt of a Convict.

Last week Tom Martin, a negro, was sentenced in Birmingham criminal court to a term of two years in the penitentiary. Special Officer S. R. Hale was taking him, chained to another convict, to Pratt Mines. While they were going through the woods between Pratt Station and the mines Martin sprang at Mr. Hale's horse, causing him to shy so suddenly that Hale was thrown to the ground. Martin jumped on him. In the struggle Officer Hale shot Martin in the thigh. He then submitted, and now lies in the prison hospital.

BIENNIAL CONCLAVE

Of the Knights of the Ancient Essenic Order, Louisville, Ky. Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

On account of the Biennial Conclave of the Knights of the Essenic Order, which will convene at Louisville, Ky., May 12-14, 1896, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Louisville and return at rate of one limited first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 10-12, good to return until May 16, 1896.

Call on any agent of the Southern Railway for further information in regard to rates, routes, schedules, &c.

tf

ANNOUNCEMENT.

All have probably heard that Howard college, grounds, etc., is to be sold for debt in June unless money be raised to pay off the debt of $38,000. Any one wishing to contribute any amount for this purpose may do so at the office of the News, and due showing will be made for the same. Unless the whole debt be raised the contributions will be returned upon request. More might be said upon the subject, but it is unnecessary, as each one knows whether or not it is his or her duty to give anything. Let it be suggested, however, that this is an opportunity to show gratitude. As time is limited let every one act at once.

PILES CURED FREE OF CHARGE.

We have a few boxes of pile cure that will not only relieve but absolutely cure. A small amount will be given away free of charge. Drug Department of H. C. & W. B. Reynolds.

An Unmitigated Scoundrel.

It has just leaked out that Roy Brockus, of Argos, Marshall county, Indiana, was secretly placed in jail in South Bend about midnight of Tuesday to prevent a possible lynching. Brockus is regarded as one of the most desperate characters in Marshall county. He is charged with forcing an entrance Sunday morning into the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Kershaw, aged 75, at Argos, and criminally assaulting her, after which he robbed the house, it being reported that she had a large sum of money hidden about the place. Her condition at last reports were serious and indignation at Argos became very great. Brockus was caught and placed in the Marshall county jail. Threats of lynching were made and the excitement increased to such a degree that it was thought wise to get the man out of the county and he was quietly removed. Sheriff Eberhart said he feared Argos citizens might demand the prisoner for lynching. Every precaution will be exercised.

TO BE LASHED

Is the Sentence by a Court in Delaware.

A telegram from Dover Depot, Del., states that at a recent session of the superior court of Kent county John Saffo, James Murphy, William Mason and Charles Saffo pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking into the store of Charles J. Harrington, at Farmington, with intent to commit burglary. The court sentenced each one to stand one hour in the pillory, 20 lashes on the bare back and three years' imprisonment, except in the case of John Saffo, who was given one year instead of three on account of his age, he being 64 years old. Lewis Purnell was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and 10 lashes for the larceny of a piece of cloth valued at $1.40. Eli Brisco and Anias Watty, colored, were convicted of stealing a piece of bacon and were each sentenced to six months' imprisonment and 15 lashes.

NOT POISONED.

Baron de Hirsch's Death Was Due to Apoplexy.

Investigation at Buda-Presth into the cause of the death of Baron de Hirsch proves that the rumors put into circulation to the effect that his death was not due to natural causes are entirely without foundation. The autopsy shows that his death was the result of an attack of apoplexy.

Frost has seriously injured the fruit crop of California.

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE

The State of Alabama, }
Shelby County. }

Probate Court for Shelby County, Alabama.—Letters of administration upon the estate of J. S. Davis, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 3d day of February, 1896, by the Hon. D. R. McMillan, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

F. E. Davis and
J. D. Davis,
Administrators.

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist

—DEALERS IN—

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Millinery Goods.

Having moved my Millinery Stock over in the business portion of town I am now prepared to serve my customers better than ever. I have just opened

The Most Complete Line of Millinery

ever brought to Montevallo. I intend to keep the reputation my goods have made and offer them cheaper than ever. Call and see me in my new store on Main Street, under the law office of E. S. Lyman, Esq.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY.

New Millinery Store.

I have just opened the nicest line of

MILLINERY GOODS

Ever brought to Montevallo. Having had large experience in this line and having some of the best connections in New York, Baltimore and St. Louis, I feel that I can suit the most fastidious.

PRICES CHEAPER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Call and see me at my new store.

MRS. T. A. BEST,

Corner of Valley and Depot Streets.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO. The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT. LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

J. B. Lewis Co.'s WEAR RESISTER SHOES Lead All Others FOR Wear, Style, Ease, Comfort. For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

FLOUR! FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as collection agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery Ala.

It Seems Credible.

Gazpin—How old does a woman have to be before she can vote?

Hazbin—Twenty-one, I believe.

Gazpin—But usually she doesn't vote until she's at least twice that age.

Hazbin—I know it. You see she has to devote the intervening time to making up her mind how to vote.—Roxbury Gazette.

The street railways of Massachusetts, nearly all of which are operated by electricity, carried 260,000,000 passengers last year, of whom 1,507 were injured, twenty-five fatally.

Sure Sign of Success.

"Look at Nordica!" said a keen observer. "Look at that Plymouth Rock jaw! No wonder she is on top to-day! Will power is written all over her intelligent and sweet mug."—Musical Courier.

When Traveling,

Whether on pleasure bent, or business, take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50 cent and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only.

Whoever will take one step to please God, will soon want to take another.

A Good Dog is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

In seeking Christ, go as far as you know the way, and he will meet you.

The best way to know whether Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap is the best for laundry and bath is to try it. It don't turn yellow like other floating soaps, as it is pure. Red wrapper. Ask your grocer for Dobbins' Floating-Borax.

Whatever God does for man to look at, he does with a humble instrument.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is a liquid and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free. Sold by Druggists, 75c.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

Just How it Does it is Not the Question.

It is enough to know that Hindercorns takes out corns, and a great relief it is. 15c. druggists.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

I am entirely cured of hemorrhage of the lungs by Piso's Cure for Consumption.—LOUISA LINDAMAN, Bethany Mo., Jan. 8, 1894.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

"I Have Tried Parker's Ginger Tonic and believe in it," says a mother, and so will you when you know its revitalizing properties.

Nervous

People find just the help they so much need in Hood's Sarsaparilla. It furnishes the desired strength by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and thus builds up the nerves, tones the stomach and regulates the whole system. Read this:

"I want to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health run down, and I had the grip. After that, my heart and nervous system were badly affected, so that I could not do my own work. Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken Hood's Pills with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and they have done me much good. I will not be without them. I have taken 13 bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and through the blessing of God, it has cured me. I worked as hard as ever the past summer, and I am thankful to say I am well. Hood's Pills when taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla help very much." MRS. M. M. MESSENGER, Freehold, Penn.

Cured

This and many other cures prove that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1
Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills act easily, promptly and effectively. 25 cents.

Manufacturers
—OF—
Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting
—AND—
Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.
OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.
Write for Prices. Address,
Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

In writing please mention this paper.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

Am. N,U .No. 18. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS.

NEWS AND NOTES FOR WOMEN.

WOMEN AS MARINERS.

Two young women hold licenses to command steamers on the Mississippi River, Captain French and Captain Leathies. The latter is a good pianist, and embroiders beautifully. It is confidently asserted that these gallant young captains remain steadily at their posts through fair and foul weather, the sound of the foghorn at night exciting no other feeling than that of increased vigilance.

MRS. STANTON'S BLOOMERS.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton was the first woman to wear the bloomer costume, nearly half a century ago. She wore it all the time, and everywhere, considering it sensible, till one day her true femininity got the better of her and she discarded it, because it was "ugly."—New York Advertiser.

A WOMAN OF WAR.

Mme. Gith, cantiniere of the Fifth Regiment of Chasseurs d'Afrique, of the French army, who has just been decorated with her eighth medal, has a military record that not many men can boast. Now in her fifty-first year, Mme. Gith in her lifetime has seen service in the Crimea, in Italy, in Syria and in Mexico. At sixteen she was under fire when aiding the wounded before Sebastopol.

FOR THE LOW HEEL.

A shoemaker says that people who run down their heels and those who have weak ankles should always wear laced boots, the latter being particularly careful to secure a snug fit about the instep. Weak ankles require stiff counters and low heels. If there is any play in the instep the ankle turns in walking and the heel runs down on one side. If the shoe is laced the wearer can draw it together tightly and it supports the ankle. Persons who run down their heels should always have star plates, which are made of iron, or a half circle of iron nails fastened on the edge of their heels. The steel nails really wear much better than the iron, but they are dangerous, as they are apt to cause one to slip. Wearing shoes with run down heels make the feet tender and ruins their shape.

WHITE APRONED FEMININITY.

The stout woman should, if she wears white aprons, make them as she does her skirts, with a narrow pointed or rounded yoke, so that the fullness comes well below the waist line. White aprons for slender women are also more becoming if the fullness about the waist, especially in front, is lessened by shirring it down with from four to six narrow rows of shirring. A pretty apron after a new pattern has the fullness attached to the rounded yoke as suggested. In front there is a bib gathered into a narrow space at the waist line, but broader at the top. This bib, which is nearly two-thirds the length of the waist, has fastened to it at each corner wide revers that spread out over the shoulder and are continued in the back. Well below the shoulder blade these collars or revers each terminate in a strap. The straps cross each other and are fastened to the belt under the large bow made by the strings. The apron, made of white muslin, with embroidered frills at the bottom and on the revers, is becoming when an elaborate apron is desired. Deep muslin cuffs with a frill at the top add the somewhat coquettish, somewhat matronly effect of the apron.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

FOR SUMMER GOWNS.

The new batistes are prettier even than last year, and are in even greater variety. The lace striped ones, called linen grenadines, are very handsome. They will be made with plain, full skirts, mounted over bright taffetas, and have blouse waists with elbow sleeves trimmed with ruffles of embroidered batiste or beurre lace, and relieved with chine ribbons. This sounds very like the description of a last year's gown; and the economist can take this comfort to her heart—the changes are so slight that any of last season's gowns can be brought up to date with but a few freshening touches. The polka-dotted and striped batistes are shown in many colors on the natural linen, and there are also dark and blue ones dotted with white, and a few other combinations. The all-over embroidered batiste is much used for parts of blouse waists, as yoke and cuffs, or the entire front of the blouse, with the back and sleeve-puffs of the plain fabric.

Dotted Swiss muslins, lawns and organdies are in exquisite designs of blurred and overlapping flowers in soft and delicate colors, plainly suggested by the popular chine effects in silk and ribbons, though not copied from them, and achieving an original beauty of their own. Sheer fine lawns and plumetis come also in the modish Persian and Oriental patterns, which gain an added softness and charm from these sheer fabrics. They will be made up with plain, full skirts, gored in front and on the sides, with straight back breadths and hung over white or colored lawn or taffeta skirts. The ruche or double frill of narrow Valenciennes or Chantilly will be again seen as a finish at the foot, and lace and chine or dark satin ribbons will trim the full waists and fichus. More elaborate gowns will have many rows of insertion banding the skirts or inserted between the breadths, but these will be the exception.—Demorest's Magazine.

GOSSIP.

A table cloth costing $300 is handsome enough for a bridal robe.

The "Silent Ten" is the name of a club of women at Wellington, Kan.

If you want the baby to be quite up to date buy it a pique coat and bonnet.

The old-fashioned industry of knitting is now practiced with modern needles of gold.

Miss Frances Willard is going to England to assist Lady Somerset in her reform work there.

Miss Theresina Labriola has graduated from the University of Rome and been admitted to the bar.

Miss Braddon, the English novelist, was at one time an actress, playing small parts in the provinces.

For the young girl brooches appear to be popular, and are set with turquoises, pearls or small diamonds.

P. T. Barnum's widow, who went abroad and married a Greek named Callias, is said to be returning home much disgusted with her foreign spouse.

The late Empress Augusta of Germany did not permit her younger ladies of honor to read a book or go to the theatre without her express consent.

Miss Elsa Eachelson has obtained permission of King Oscar of Sweden to plead at the University of Upsala. She will be the first woman LL.D. in that country.

Explorer Nansen is married to an accomplished woman, who, after his departure in search of the North Pole, quietly settled down in Christiana as a teacher of vocal and instrumental music.

A Bostonian writing home from Cairo says: "The Duke and Duchess of Marlborough are staying at the same hotel with us. The Duchess has three rooms—one for herself and two for her clothes."

A London newspaper says that one of the most amusing of the many letters received by Dr. Jameson recently was one from a girl in Portland, Me., asking for a lock of his hair and inclosing a blond tress of her own.

Miss Mary W. Calkins, Smith College, '85, and for seven years on the faculty of Wellesley College, recently passed the most brilliant examination for the degree of Ph. D. known at Harvard University. Miss Calkins has the glory, but not the degree.

Mrs. Cleveland, wife of the President, is taking a great deal of outdoor exercise these days and can be seen on the street almost any afternoon—usually alone—taking her constitutional. She walks rapidly, with a long, swinging stride, and wears heavy, broad buttoned, low heeled shoes.

Nearly a hundred women have passed the examinations of the University of London this year in the courses for the degree of bachelor of arts and bachelor of science. This is an extremely good showing, as even the university matriculation examination is reckoned one of the hardest in Great Britain.

Miss Mary Lord Drake, daughter of the new Governor of Iowa, now by virtue of the Governor's widowhood, the first lady in that State, is a blonde of medium height, with large, expressive blue eyes and a face indicating intellect, refinement and strentgh of character. She is her father's Secretary and confidential adviser, as well as his social representative.

The greatest bane of Queen Victoria's existence is the enormous amount of original "poetry" sent to her from all parts of the world. It is all read by her secretaries, and the best of it submitted to her Majesty and personally acknowledged. On the recent birth of the royal grandson nearly half a ton of manuscript verse was received at Windsor.

FASHION NOTES.

Unique among brooches is the wreath of swallows.

Adjustable wire bustles have appeared in the shops, and it is to be hoped that they may remain there.

Bands of tiny ribbon, furnished with a bow and silver buckle, are used to keep long gloves from slipping down over the arms.

Long greenish stems are admirably adapted to twisting around the crown of a turban or toque and are held at intervals by jeweled barrettes.

Chameleon moire ribbons are among the novelties and, while they are not cheap, they are pretty enough to make the price seem a trifling matter.

White organdy made up over delicate pink, blue or violet taffeta silk is one of the dainty combinations conceived by French skirt designers.

Some very nobby tam caps for children are made of the very coarse, shiny straw, and checked off in Scotch colorings. Quills give finish to the side.

Black and colored double face satins and taffetas are reigning favorites, and a few eminence, green and brown velvet ribbons give dash to certain styles.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Sorrow is only one of the lower notes in the oratorio of our blessedness.

Cleverness is a sort of genius for instrumentality. It is the brain of the hand.

Peop'e seldom improve when they have no model but themselves to copy after.

A dwarf sees further than the giant when he has the giant's shoulder to mount.

An old truth stated in a new way will hit and stick where it has often missed.

The injuries we do and those we suffer are seldom weighed in the same balance.

No obligation to justice does force a man to be cruel, or to use the sharpest sentence.

If idleness does not produce vice or malevolence, it commonly produces melancholy.

An enterprise, when fairly once begun, should not be left till all that ought is won.

Nurture your mind with great thoughts; to believe in the heroic makes heroes.

When we stop looking toward the wrong place we will not find it so hard to stay in the right place.

You never know how dear things are, until you buy them, nor how cheap they are until you sell them.

Poverty is no disgrace, but it is a poor recommendation. A bank account is usually taken as evidence of ability.

He that is ungrateful has no guilt but one; all other crimes may pass for virtues in him. —The South-West.

Ancient Manuscripts.

There are $200,000 worth of ancient manuscripts in the Astor Library, but the oldest of these is the Evangelisterium, which is said to have been expressly executed for Charles the Bald, the grandson of Charlemagne. He was a patron of the fine arts, and was especially fond of embellished manuscripts. This rare and precious manuscript, which few people are aware is possessed by our city, is writen on fine vellum, and is an oblong quarto of 400 pages. Dr. Frederick Sanders, the venerable librarian of the Astor Library, justly calls the manuscript au "unrivaled beauty." This superb manuscript was secured some fifteen years ago by the late Mr. Astor from the famous London bibliophile, Bernard Quartrich, who catalogued it in 1880 at $5000. There are more costly manuscripts in the Astor Library—for instance, the antiphonaire of Charles X., for which I am assured the late Mr. J. J. Astor paid $10,000. But this old manuscript of Charles the Bald has, as an antique, no rival.—New York Advertiser.

Electric Pocket Lamp.

An electric lamp that can be carried in the pocket has been produced in Germany by Herr Bohwinkel. It is made either in cylindrical form or like a flat flask, a small glow lamp in each case forming the upper portion while the battery is the base. A so-called "revolver battery" of three platinum-zinc elements gives a current of four or five amperes at six volts. The filament is caused to glow by tipping the lamp, and in a lamp of ten inches in height by two inches in diameter continues to give a bright white light for an hour and a half with one filling. A patent battery fluid is used, of which one quart is sufficient to fill the lamp sixteen times. —Trenton (N. J.) American.

The Diminishing Alligator.

The alligator is being reduced in size steadily. Tourists used to hear about alligators twenty-one feet in length. A gentleman who is a naturalist, as well as a sportsman, is proud of having killed a 'gator measuring thirteen feet nine inches, and he believes a story about another nearly fifteen feet long; but he does not expect that this generation will ever see an alligator over sixteen feet in length. This retrocession from the pictures in the geography of childhood is due to no fault of the alligator, but to the presence of unimaginative Northerners. The 'gators are as big as they ever were; it is only the stories that have grown smaller.

One Town Solved the Difficulty.

Marinette, Wis., and Menominee, Mich., are situated on opposite sides of the Menominee River. An old wooden bridge, long since declared to be unsafe, connects the two towns. Both towns have long agreed that a new bridge is badly needed, but neither has been able to agree to the plans for a new bridge proposed by the other. Last week Menominee solved the difficulty by permanently blockading the street leading from the bridge. The residents of the town were willing to be inconvenienced in a good cause, and the Marinette folk came over, and plans for a new bridge were promptly agreed on.—New York Sun.

A Remarkable Cavern.

A remarkable cavern of great extent and with some curious characteristics was discovered recently near Allegash Lake, Me. Some half dozen chambers of great size have been explored and there appear to be many more. The air in the cavern is quite warm, and it is said that the compass is oddly disturbed in many parts of it.—New York Sun.

Red Rabbits in Georgia.

A red rabbit was caught near Eastman, Ga., a few days ago. It is alive and on exhibition in that place, and the farmers living thereabouts say it is the first of the kind they ever saw.

The Biggest Prune Orchard.

The largest prune orchard in the world is said to be located at Los Gatos, on the western edge of the Santa Clare Valley, California. It contains nearly 50,000 trees, covering about 380 acres. A hundred workmen and as many horses are constantly employed on this farm, which is provided with its own water works and electric light plant.

A woman who never marries misses the greatest opportunity of her life to be a martyr.

Humor with the Puritans.

The first boatload from the Mayflower scrambled out on Plymouth Rock.

"I suppose," remarked Miles Standish, emptying the water from his shoe, "that we can now be referred to as landed aristocrats."

And when this was repeated to Elder Brewster and explained to him he almost laughed.—New York Recorder.

An old man who marries a young wife may have good taste, but he has poor sense.

"I am only too glad to testify to the great value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla which has been a household companion in our family for years. I take from 3 to 5 bottles of it every Spring, generally beginning about the first of April. After that I feel like a two year old, for it tones up my system, gives me an excellent appetite and I sleep like a top. As a blood medicine it has no superior, at least that is my opinion of it.—H. R. WILDEY, Philadelphia, Pa., March 20, 1896.

WEIGHTY WORDS FOR Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Poor soil

and exhausted fields which were once productive can again be made profitably fertile by a proper rotation of crops and by the intelligent use of fertilizers containing high percentages of

Potash

Strikingly profitable results have been obtained by following this plan.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

There is just a little appetizing bite to HIRES Rootbeer; just a smack of life and good flavor done up in temperance style. Best by any test.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

Have you spent "hundreds" on experiments? Send 50 cents more for cure.

TETTERINE.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE,
Savannah, Ga.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. Walter Waterman, of No. 24 North Eleventh street, Philadelphia, writes under date of August 31, 1895: "I have always been a great sufferer from constipation. My liver seemed to be out of order almost all the time. Besides my face looking yellow. I am forty-two years old and have always led an indoor life. Some time ago a neighbor of mine suggested that I try Ripans Tabules. I did so. I now take them. I feel better. My bowels act well and they tell me my color has gotten more healthy in the face. I usually take one Tabule every day, also one at night before getting in bed. I have tried most all kinds of remedies. I am confident from the past experience that these Tabules have put me on my feet and I would recommend them to anybody who has been afflicted like me. I write this without solicitation."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Second Hand
TUERK WATER MOTOR
For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to
Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

ADVERTISING CIRCULATORS We shall put out 500,000 circulars this spring. If you want to "get in on the ground floor" send ref. and two stamps for contract, etc. MAINE MED. CO. Box 9. Stillwater. Me.

Breakfast Cocoa

Made by Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass., is "a perfect type of the highest order of excellence in manufacture." It costs less than one cent a cup.

ALABASTINE.

IT WON'T RUB OFF.

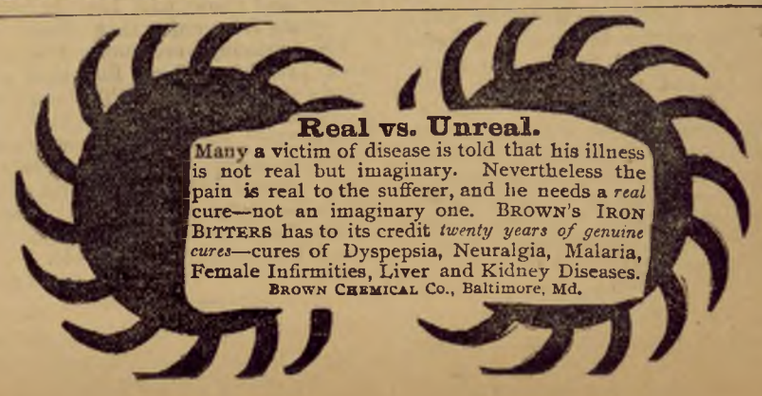
Wall Paper is Unsanitary. KALSOMINE IS TEMPORARY, ROTS, RUBS OFF AND SCALES.

ALABASTINE is a pure, permanent and artistic wall-coating, ready for the brush by mixing in cold water.

For Sale by Paint Dealers Everywhere.

THE DOCTOR—"One layer of paper is bad enough, you have three here. Baby may recover but cannot thrive."

FREE A Tint Card showing 12 desirable tints, also Alabastine Souvenir Rock sent free to any one mentioning this paper.
ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.



Real vs. Unreal.

Many a victim of disease is told that his illness is not real but imaginary. Nevertheless the pain is real to the sufferer, and he needs a real cure—not an imaginary one. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS has to its credit twenty years of genuine cures—cures of Dyspepsia, Neuralgia, Malaria, Female Infirmities, Liver and Kidney Diseases.
BROWN CHEMICAL CO., Baltimore, Md.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. II. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1896 NO. 5.

Matches have not yet displaced the tinderbox in the rural districts of Spain and Italy.

The Queen of England has never set eyes on any of her colonies, nor upon any part of Asia, Africa or America.

A Kansas court has ruled that "a man who calls upon a woman regularly and takes her to entertainments occasionally is legally engaged to marry her."

Count Tolstoi, the Russian philosopher, has moved into Moscow to live, but says that he is sorry to feel compelled to stay there, for country life is better for soul and body.

The addition of Russian to the curriculum of Harvard College is a proof to the New York Sun of the strides that have been made by the literature of that people in a comparatively short period of time.

An advertisement appeared in a scientific paper the other day in the following terms: "Wanted, a few enterprising individuals with capital to join in an expedition to search for relics of Noah's Ark."

For several years the number of lost children reported to and by the New York City police has remained about 2500 per annum. Two-thirds of them are boys, and the largest number are lost in the poorer quarters of the East side. Very few New York children are deserted.

Vienna is to lose the Wien, the little river from which the city derives its name. It had for some time been used as an outlet for sewage and often caused damage by overflowing, but will now be covered over. Reservoirs have been built to which the water will be drawn during freshets.

In order to prevent his wife from going to church a Texas man burned her Bible and prayer book. A few hours afterwards, relates the Atlanta Constitution, he was thrown from his horse and nearly killed, and now all the preachers in that vicinity are holding him up as a terrible warning to the unregenerate.

The papers related the other day how a valorous Kentucky colonel slew an enormous devil-fish on the coast of Florida. It turns out that the horrid beast was only a big stingaree, which leads the New Orleans Picayune to remark that "Kentucky is an inland place—and its inhabitants do not know much about water, anyway."

It is not generally known that the United States Government is building a ship railway. It has under construction around The Dalles of the Columbia, in Oregon, a ship railway to accommodate boats weighing, with cargo, 600 tons. The canal will be between eight and nine miles in length, and the rise at the lower end will be from fifty to eighty feet, according to the state of the tide, and it will require about an hour and a half to transport a boat from the river to the river again.

"The finest collection of temperance texts and precepts I ever saw is in a saloon in my town," said Henry T. Thompson, of Iowa City, Iowa, to the Washington Star. "The proprietor of the saloon is the son of a very wealthy man in the East, who formerly traveled for his father. Whisky was his bane and finally, at the close of one of his sprees, the father discharged him, sent him $10,000 in cash and told him that it was the last cent he would ever get. The son sobered up and made up his mind to two things, that he would get back the money he had spent and he would discourage drunkenness. He fitted up an elegant bar, over which was inscribed, "Wine is a mocker," and elsewhere are mottoes, "At last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." At one end of the room is a handsome painting portraying with wonderful vividness the drunkard's fate. Along the bar are inlaid the words, "A drunkard cannot enter the kingdom of heaven." If a man is intoxicated he cannot buy a drink in the saloon at any price, and the saloon keeper claims to be doing a temperance work. Incidentally he has stopped drinking and is getting rich."

THE GHOST TRAIN.

When the Rio Grande Western was a narrow gauge road it was very crooked. Even in the Utah desert there were many curves among the sand hills that have been piled up during the past few thousand years. A locomotive--one of a type known as "sewing machines," because all their machinery was in sight—was trying to make a spur for the general manager's special, against which she had a time order. The time was growing alarmingly short, and the driver of the light engine knew that the man on the special with the general manager behind him, would be crowding the limit.

To be allowed to "pull" the general manager is an honor earnestly striven for by engineers, and when once obtained it is carefully guarded. It was a clear, dry day in the early autumn, the very best time of the year for a fast run, and "Old Sam" had been gauging his speed for fifty miles back so as to hit Coyote spur on the dot, and break the record for fast running on the Alkali division.

By the rules of the road five minutes were allowed for the variation of watches, but the rule is not always wholly respected, and as the man on the special was known to be a daring driver the sewing machine crew saw they were in a close place long before the smoke of the approaching locomotive was seen. Now they had barely five minutes left and nothing for the variation and the coveted siding four miles away. If the opposing train failed to respect the "five-minute rule" she might at that moment be passing the spur. At last there remained but a single mile, and only a minute to do it in. The throttle was wide open and the little engine was rolling so that the bell rung continually. The fireman had put in his last fire and was now straining his eyes to catch the smoke of the special.

The engineer, with his left hand on the whistle rope, clung to the side of the cab to keep from being thrown out of the right of way.

The wheels under the sewing machine were so small that the best she could do was forty-five miles, and now when she came down to the very last second there was still a quarter of a mile between her and the meeting point, but at that moment the flying wheels of the special engine crashed over the switch and shut her out. The little sewing machine, hid among the sand hills was straining every nerve to reach the passing point at which she was already overdue. The man on the special was just beginning to feel sure of his position when he rounded a curve and saw the light engine emerging from a shadow cut. Of course he shut off and tried to lessen the force of the collision, but to stop was out of the question.

The fireman on the light engine saw the special and warned his companion, for they were curving to the left and the driver could not see, but the four men knew that nothing could prevent a dreadful collision and that in a few seconds' time they would all be piled up in a heap. Both drivers had called to their firemen to jump, and the firemen had turned to their windows. The special engineer was in the act of reversing, that he might take the good opinon of the official with him. The other driver only shoved the throttle in, braced himself and waited for the shock.

The driver of the special engine had a boy, and this boy had climbed up on a picket fence to kiss his father goodbye that morning at their home in Salt Lake, but he slipped, fell and hung there with a fence picket through the seat of his first pair of trousers; and it was all so funny that now as the engineer recalled the circumstance he threw back his head and laughed as heartily as he had ever laughed in his life. The fireman, casting a farewell glance at his companion, saw him laughing and concluded in his last moment that the driver had suddenly become insane, but as he glanced ahead where death was awaiting he was not sure that he was sane himself.

The driver, having finished his laugh and still feeling no shock, looked ahead. The track was clear! He unlatched the reverse lever and threw the engine in the forward motion and the speed of the train, which had been but a little checked, carried them away down among the sand hills. The driver looked over to the fireman and asked: "Did you see anything?"

"No," said the fireman. "Did you?" And the driver said no, tried his water and opened the throttle and the engine whirled away, while the fireman returned to his place at the furnace door.

The official in the special train felt the resistance of the engine when the engineer shut off and reversed, and the general manager, turning to the superintendent, asked with a show of surprise:

"When did you put in that siding?"

"What, back there? That's Coyote spur, and it has been there for six months," was the reply.

"I know very well," said the manager, "where Coyote spur is, for we waited there fifteen minutes for No. Eight going down the other day, but we just passed a siding on the north."

The superintendent was inclined to be funny, but the colonel, stroking his long, gray whiskers, remarked that he had seen a locomotive standing at the point mentioned, and "as trains are not in the habit of meeting and passing between stations, I take it that there must be a siding there."

There was just a twinkle of mirth in the colonel's eyes, which, despite the finger marks left about them by the touch of time, are still bright with the sparkle of youth, but the superintendent was utterly unable to understand the general manager.

There was silence for a little while, but the general manager was by no means satisfied. He pressed the button and when the porter came in he asked: "Did you see an engine on a siding back aways, George?"

"No, sah, I haven't saw no engine. D'aint no sidin' 'cept Ci-ote spur, an' dat wus clear."

"Send the conductor to me," said the official, and when the conductor came in the manager asked to be allowed to look at the running orders.

"Run a special to Grand Junction, avoiding all regular trains. Extra engine 57 has until 5.55 to make Coyote spur against you."

"What time did you pass the spur?" demanded the colonel.

"Precisely at 5.55," said the conductor, now somewhat alarmed at the manager's air.

"Is there a siding between here and Coyote?" asked the colonel, and the superintendent being at a loss to make out what the manager was driving at, started to leave the car, but his superior officer called him back.

"There is not," was the conductor's reply.

"Perhaps," said the colonel, "there was not when we went down, but there is now, for I saw a locomotive standing there."

The conductor laughed as the superintendent had done, but the colonel offered to risk a dinner that he had seen no "ghost" train, and the superintendent took the bet as the easiest way of settling an argument which was about to become embarrassing.

When the special reached Green river the party went into the eating house, where supper had been ordered, and, as was his habit, the colonel sat at the same table with the train and engine crew.

"What did you shut off for just this side of Coyote spur, Sam?" asked the colonel, looking the engineer in the eye, and instantly the eyes of the whole party were upon the driver's dusky face. The engineer was speechless. Not that the circumstances had escaped his mind, for as a matter of fact he had thought of little else, but he knew not how to answer.

"Did you think that engine was on the main line?" asked the general manager, noticing the embarrassment of the engine crew.

"What engine?" asked the engineer, trying to look and speak naturally.

"There was only one engine there besides your own," was the colonel's response. "Will you be good enough to answer my question?"

"Well," thought the driver, "if I've got 'em the G. M.'s got 'em," and he answered: "I did think she was on the main stem."

"What did you think, Harry?" asked the superintendent of the fireman, who was staring at the engineer. The fireman only closed his eyes and shook his head slowly, as though he considered them all crazy, and his long lashes, dark with coal dust, lay upon his newly washed face like the lashes of a chorus girl.

"Did you see anything on your side?" asked the colonel, who was determined to unlock the lips of the fireman.

"Not a thing," said Harry. "I don't believe in ghosts."

"It will not be necessary for you to take out 63 (an accident report,) but I wish you would tell me what you saw and how it affected you," said the general manager, addressing the engineer.

"May I ask you first if you saw anything, colonel?" said the driver.

"I saw a locomotive standing on a spur or siding just east of Coyote."

"When I saw her first," said Sam, taking courage from the colonel's confession, "she was bang in front of us coming out of a cut like a ball out of a cannon. I saw it was all up with us, but I naturally shut off—mechanically, so to speak. I think I hooked her over, but I didn't whistle, open the sand valve nor set the air—they wan't no use—no time—but just then I thought of little Sammie as I saw him last, hangin' on the fence by the seat uv his pants, an' it seemed to me that I never see anything so funny, and I laughed that hard that the tears came in my eyes and blinded me. Then the thought came to me that we were a long time coming together, so I looks ahead an' there wan't a thing in sight. I asked Harry if he see anything an' he lied an' asked me if I see anything an' I lied too, an' opened up the throttle again. That's all I know about it."

Now the agent came in with a number of messages for the superintendent, and as the official began reading the first of the lot he began to smile.

"Read it out," said the colonel, "Perhaps it will tell us something about the 'ghost.'" The superintendent read:

"Engine 57 is off the track and nearly off the right of way, 1,000 yards east of Coyote spur, but still on her feet."

That explained the ghost engine. At the instant when the engineer shut off, "the sewing machine," just then rounding a sharp curve, jumped the track, lit square on her wheels and went ploughing out over the hard adobe of the desert. She rolled and rocked for a few seconds and then came to a stop with the engine men still standing in the cab. The engine had been working hard and if the throttle had remained open she might have made the curve all right, but the sudden relaxation of all her tension caused a jar that threw her off her feet, but it was a lucky jar for the crew.

Since that time, however, old Sam has been in hard luck. He has already lost three legs. The last one being caught under an engine, was chopped off by the conductor with an ordinary ax to prevent the engineer being roasted alive. Those who witnessed the operation say that Sam rested on one elbow and smoked a cigar while the conductor hacked away at his ankle. It was a wooden leg. —Atlanta Constitution.

Seventeen thousand British patents for the manufacture of ink have been taken out.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Wherever hate lives, murder dwells.

Every crown man bestows has thorns in it.

Happiness is not found by looking after it.

Turn a thinker loose and you shake the world.

Indecision destroys more souls than love of evil.

The man who is not a friend will often need one.

To shake hands with some people is a call to repentance.

Some shepherds give the most care to the fattest sheep.

Death will change our surroundings, but not our character.

A golden opportunity never knocks at the same door twice.

The hardest wound to heal is the one inflicted by a friend.

This world is a bad world only for those who have bad hearts.

The love that never speaks until it does it on a gravestone, keeps still too long.

Whoever does a wrong thing today, will have to do another one tomorrow.

Give a man without love power to move a mountain and he will always move it the wrong way.

As soon as some men get their hands on gold, they become stone blind to their own good.

When a man with brilliant gifts plunges into sin, he goes deeper than a common man could go.

The man who enters upon a life of deceit will soon be able to lie and steal without hurting his conscience.

The prodigal did not fare as well as the swine he fed. They could fill themselves with husks but he could not.—Ram's Horn.

Farewell to the Bonnet.

The bonnet, large and small, convex and concave, narrow and wide, is doomed. It is superseded by the hat even for the most festive occasions. The flower wreath or a rose and an aigrette are still in vogue for opera and theatre, but the actual bonnet that covers the crown of the head and ties under the chin has had its day.

Hence the prettiest display of spring millinery is in an infinite variety of hats. The most dashing of new hats are displayed either in a combination of vivid colors or else are entirely black. The former are usually perfect flower gardens, while the black hats are broad of brim and carry a large and picturesque display of tossing plumes. The desirable hat for the first warm spring days will be undoubtedly the flower turban. These dainty turbans are square and oblong as well as round, and are completely covered with masses of flowers and foliage, with always a bunch of violets and a black aigrette on the left side.

The rose turban is a brilliant sample of the amount of color and style that can be crowded into one conscientious millinery effort. It is made of dozens of crush roses, shading from the delicate pink of the La France to the deep velvety carmine of the Black Prince. Roses in various shades of spring greens are used liberally, and thorned stems stand tall and straight in company with the black aigrette.

The violet and mignonette turbans are less gorgeous than the rose hat; but where they are found altogether too modest in effect a vivid American Beauty rose is placed at the base of the aigrette in place of the knot of violets.—New York Journal.

A Beggar's Device.

In a well-known street in London a beggar was often seen plodding about with a small dog. The dog was held by a piece of chain, and had round his neck a placard with "Pity the blind" in large red letters. Mr. T—, passing one day, dropped a sixpence into the man's outstretched hand.

"Halloa!" he cried as he was turning away, "was that a half-sovereign I gave you?"

"No, sir--no," answered the beggar; "only sixpence."

"So," said Mr. T—, "you are not blind then after all?"

"Bless you, sir, no!" he replied. "You see, the placard refers to the dog, he's blind—not me!"—(Tit-Bits.

You Will Forget.

You will forget—a few short hours,
Fortune and fame and all to woo,
And ere the bloom forsakes the flowers
The lips you kiss have kissed for you,
And ere the morrow's sun is set,
You will forget.

You will forget—a mile or so,
And out of sight is out of mind;
The easy tears soon cease to flow
When life's before and love behind;
Aye, love, while still your eyes are wet
You will forget.

You will forget—in other years
When you behold that white star shine
We see so dimly through the tears;
When you shall pass these doors of mine,
Or that dear spot where first we met,
You will forget.

You will forget—let me love on,
You have been all in all to me;
So when the past is dead and gone,
Like some fine golden phantasy,
Let me love on, to pay my debt—
You will forget.
—Pall Mall Gazette.

HUMOROUS.

Untold wealth is a thing well known to the tax assessor.

Trees are like lovers: when the time comes for them to leave they stay right in the same spot.

Mr. Fosdick (to his wife)—"Do you call your new hat stylish?" Mrs. Fosdick—"Certainly I do and so will you when you get the bill. The price was $40."

"It is sad," said one girl, "that so many men now-a-days have a great deal more money than brains." "Yes," sighed another; "and so little money at that."

"My good fellow," said the dude to the hatter, "how's trade?" "There's really nothing in hats now-a-days," replied the hatter, trying one on the head of the dude.

"Kitty, why has our French Revolution club called an extra meeting?" "Oh, Nan, we are so bothered; we can't find out whether we've read two volumes or three."

Belle—"You know Jack Giddiboy of course; don't you think he is just out of sight?" Sadie—"Indeed he is! a very personification of the old saying: 'out of sight out of mind.'"

He can't pay his board, for his star of success
Beneath the horizon has sunk;
He's an elephant now on his landlady's hands
And that's why she's holding his trunk.

Parson Bloomfield—"I'm afraid, my friend, your heart isn't right." Dying Sinner—"Well, parson, you'll have to settle that with the doctor. He says it's my liver."

Mr. Specilate—"Awfully dull in the wheat-pit today. Buyers and sellers didn't get together at all." Mrs. Specilate—"Why don't they mark it down and have a bargain sale?"

Mamma—"What do you mean by taking that piece of cake? When you asked for it didn't I say no?" Tommy—"You did; but last night I heard papa say that when a woman says no she always means yes."

"I understand your daughter has given up bicycle riding." "Yes, she sold her wheel as soon as she found out she couldn't wear high-heeled shoes on it with any degree of success."

Maud—"I hear that proposing parties are all the style this winter. The girls do the proposing and the one who proposes the best gets the prize. Have you been to any?" Ethel—"No; but I had a proposing party come to me the other evening. How do you like my ring?"

"Willie," said the boarding house mistress to her son, "I was ashamed of you at dinner. You kept your arms on the table during the entire meal." "Yes, mamma," was the hopeful's reply, "I didn't want to give the boarders a chance to say there was nothin' on the table."

Biggest Pine Tree in Wisconsin Falls.

What was believed to be the largest pine tree in Wisconsin was cut down a few days ago at Antigo. It was well-known as a landmark. Several years ago, the top was blown off, leaving the trunk standing. This trunk measured twenty-two feet in circumference and proved to be 150 feet in length. It was two feet in diameter at the top. The full length of the tree was 260 feet. It required five grown persons to reach around it with extended arms.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, } Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

Some of those who are yet agitating the adoption of a National flower believe that none has been thought of so fit as the columbine. Their arguments in favor of the blossom are that the word comes from the same root as Columbia; that it grows in red, white and blue from Canada to the Gulf, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in high and low lands. It is also claimed that it is so easily cultivated that it can be produced at any season of the year for the embellishment of National holidays.

The sudden celebrity of a world-wide nature attained by Professor Roentgen, the "inventor" of the X-rays, who has just been created a baron by Prince Ludwig of Bavaria, and decorated by the German Kaiser with the order of the Royal Crown, affords a remarkable illustration of the fact that success comes seldom of chance, but generally out of patient and thorough use and application of powers already in hand or principles already understood, observes the New York Observer. Professor Roentgen had had a thorough academic and scientific training. His remarkable discovery of the X-rays was an amplification rather than a contradiction of the knowledge and experience to which he had laboriously attained by years of patient effort and experiment. It is well to urge this lesson on the young. In the long run, and in the majority of cases, thoroughness takes the prize.

All great National art has arisen from the people and has depicted subjects of popular interest in a way that everybody can understand. In this way arose the sculpture of Greece, the cathedrals of the middle ages, the religious pictures of the Italian rennaissance and the genre painting of the Netherlands. But our leading artists who have received their training in foreign schools, are most of them entirely separated in thought and feeling from the masses of the American people, who would gladly welcome an art that would appeal to their understanding or answer their inspirations, remarks the Chicago Times-Herald. But why should the masses of the people care for foreign subjects or American subjects treated in a foreign manner? What are French peasants to them, or why should they waste time over an imitation, even if the landscape bears the name of an American scene?.

The Atlanta Constitution says: "England has recently become a large purchaser of American pig iron and will doubtless continue to patronize the Western market, as she has made the valuable discovery that American pig iron is the best that is anywhere produced. This information, though gratifying to Americans at large, since a fresh distinction is thereby added to this market, is still more gratifying to the iron producers of the South, since the compliment applies to them with special significance. Southern pig iron has not only the advantage of a better quality than Northern pig iron, but, what is also regarded as a most important item, it has the advantage of being cheaper. Nature supplies the reason for this superiority. The presence of extensive coal beds in the close neighborhood of these iron works, supplying cheap and ready fuel, enables the iron producer of the South to manufacture a better article of pig iron than his wideawake competitors of the North. The South has long been apprised of the fact that her pig iron was the best in the market. She possessed this proud consciousness long before England made the discovery and commenced to profit by the fruit of her research. A careful study of the South and her marvelous resources of field and forest, including her rich timber lands and her mountains of precious ore and minerals, will develop something else to rivet the attention of the world. Though England is rich in her possessions she does not include the South among her colonies, and there are rich deposits of wealth in these Southern States which can be surpassed by no fertile domain of this earth."

BETTER a blush on the face than a stain in the heart.

THE THIRD MEETING OF THE SHELBY COUNTY UNION OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORS.

Montevallo, May 2.—(Special.)—The Shelby county union of the Young People's Christian Endeavor met here in the Methodist church on Wednesday, under the efficient presidency of Mr. White, of Columbiana.

This was the first county union organized in Alabama and this the third session.

All the societies are prospering and were represented by large and enthusiastic delegations.

Two notable addresses were delivered Thursday. Rev. Mr. Abernathy, the talented young pastor of the Methodist church, spoke on the importance of organized effort to distribute good literature in our state. He spoke with great feeling, the result of extensive observation in missionary service. Thousands of boys and girls are growing up without any religious reading.

An organized effort will probably be made by the Shelby county union to distribute literature among this class of our population.

Miss Agnes Avery, of Shelby, read a notable paper on "Christian Endeavor and the Church." The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor means better methods of work in the churches. Youth believes and believes in work. Christian endeavor helps the pastor by promoting spirituality in young people and sympathy between them and the pastor and by organizing them for work. The motto of the society is "A work for each and each for a work." Christian endeavor stimulates the concerted study of the Bible. It trains the young people in work, singing and holding office. It is interdenominational and for union effort. It is the typical institution of the nineteenth century. It represents the church not so much in creed as in deed. In fifteen years it has extended into all denominations and lands. There is inspiration in 3,500,000 young people having the same devotional topics and studying the same scripture at the same time.

On Thursday Rev. T. K. Roberts, pastor of the Dexter Avenue Methodist church of Montgomery, delivered two impressive addresses, one on foreign missions and one on God's choice of "weak things" to confound the mighty.

The work of the different committees was thoroughly explained in carefully prepared papers.

A noteworthy address was made by Miss Lucien C. Witherby, of Shelby, on junior endeavor societies, and Master Harvy Clarke, a lad of 12 years, made an interesting report of this work in that town.

Rev. A. T. Clarke spoke on methods of Bible study and W. C. Cary, of Montevallo, on good citizenship.

The following resolutions were passed:

Resolved by the Christian Endeavor union of Shelby county, That the traffic in intoxicating liquors, for beverage purposes, is a curse which surpasses all other evils of our time.

Resolved, That we respectfully request our state legislature to give us better laws for the suppression of intemperance and our public officials to faithfully enforce such restrictive measures as have been, or may be, enacted into law.

Resolved, That it is the duty of all Christian Endeavors who have the rights of suffrage never to vote for any candidate whose personal habits and record are not sound on the liquor question.

The above is from Sunday's State-Herald. The young people of Shelby county are doing a splendid work for Christ and the church, and their coming into our midst was fraught with wonderful spiritual inspiration. The consecration of the young womanhood and young manhood of our state to church work is profitable and promises much good. Each service was spiritual to a marked degree and several have accepted Christ as a result. Montevallo did herself proud in entertaining the visiting delegates. No body of Christian workers ever brought a greater blessing to a town than the Y. P. S. C. E. brought to us. We trust that the Montevallo society received an impetus she will not soon lose. The singing was a feature of the convention. Such ringing, joyous strains as came from young hearts afire with Christian zeal were strong pleas to wicked hearts. Splendid good humor prevailed throughout, and "good-bys" were reluctantly said when Friday morning came.

CONDEMNED TO DEATH

By Judgment of the Court, But the Government is Merciful.

Four leaders of the reform committee of Johannesburg, South African Republic, who were implicated in Dr. Jameson's invasion of the Transvaal, when arraigned for trial plead guilty, hoping for the leniency of the court. But they were sentenced to death. One of the condemned men is John Hayes Hammond, are American. The others an English. From the time their respective governments were informed of of the severe sentence, the wires were kept hot until President Kruger gave assurance that the executive council of the republic had resolved not to enforce the death penalty. The British government has been informed that sixty other members of the reform committee have been sentenced to two years imprisonment, a fine of $10,000 and subsequent banishment for three years,

$15 REWARD

Will be paid to anyone establishing the fact that Fleming's English Remedy for colic in horses and mules has ailed to relieve. For sale by H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, Montevallo, Ala.

EVENTS IN ALABAMA

Carefully Collated and Condensed for Our Readers.

SUNDRY NEWS ITEMS NOTED.

Mobile's New Railroad—Coroner Appointed in Jefferson—Negro Shoots a Woman at Ishkooda—Murder at Oxmoor—Jugular Severed at Birmingham.

Shooting at Ishkooda.

A few days ago Alonzo Cook, a young negro, got into a quarrel with Susie Spencer, at Ishkooda, and shot her. The woman died of the wound and Cook lies in jail charged with murder. He claims the shooting was accidental.

Coroner Appointed.

Col. R. E. Jones, of Birmingham, has been appointed coroner of Jefferson county, by the governor, to fill the unexpired term of Coroner Dusenberry, deceased. Colonel Jones is the democratic nominee for the next term of the office, to which he has been appointed.

Struck by Lightning.

The dwelling of Mr. Riley, on Twelfth street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues, Birmingham, was struck by lightning about 8 o'clock Friday morning. The house was considerably damaged, the roof and weatherboarding being partly wrecked. Fortunately no one was injured.

Industrial Movement.

The Clifton furnaces at Ironaton, Ala., will be repaired and put in blast. Crellin & Nalls, of the Birmingham Boiler works, have just made a $20,000 contract for repairing the Clifton furnaces. They have also just completed repairs to the Sloss Steel and Iron company's furnaces at North Birmingham. This last contract amounted to $12,000.

Struck by Lightning.

The depot of the Southern Railway at Cordova was struck bp lightning Wednesday night, setting on fire some files, way-bills and messages hanging on the walls. The agent was fortunately out at the time, returning just in time to save the building from destruction, as the burning paper was sufficient to have ignited the walls.

Appropriation for Schools.

From the best information obtainable, there is a probability that the Tuskegee Normal School and the Girls' Industrial School, at Montevallo, will receive some aid from the public land bill, which is now pending before congress, rather the bill introduced for those two schools may pass. If so, the way will be opened for the other normal schools in the state at the next session of congress.

Reduction of Wages.

The coal miners throughout the Birmingham district, beginning Friday, are cutting coal for 37½ cents per ton, as against 40 cents last month. This reduction is caused by the fall in the price of No. 1 foundry iron, which is now quoted at $8.50 per ton. The sliding scale bases this price as rock bottom, and on every advance of 50 cents per ton the rate increases 2½ cents.

Thirty Convicts Sent Up.

Judge Green, of the criminal court of Birmingham, on Saturday morning sentenced thirty-five prisoners, all convicted in that court during the last two weeks. James Brown, who was convicted of murder in the second degree, was given twenty-five years; Will Spencer gets five years on the same charge and George Hawkins ten for assault to murder. The remaining sentences are for periods ranging from ten days to five years.

Negro Shot at Oxmoor.

On Wednesday at Oxmoor Clabe Tolbert, a negro, was shot, and it was thought the wound was fatal, but hopes of his recovery are now entertained. John, Frank and George Morrison have been jailed on the charge of assault with intent to rob Henry Mitchell. John Morrison is also charged with shooting Clabe Tolbert, colored, and Frank Morrison is charged with accessory to that act. The warrants were issued by Justice Ray, of Oxmoor, and the arrests were made by Deputies Burgin, Jones and Roebuck.

Arrested for Murder.

Sheriff Morrow, of Jefferson county, on Wednesday afternoon received the following telegram from Sycamore, Ala: "I have arrested Alonzo Cook for the murder of a woman at Ishkooda. What must I do with him? Answer. C. P Plassie."

A telegram was sent to hold the prisoner, and an officer was sent for him. Cook shot and killed a woman named Susie Spencer a few days ago near Ishkooda. A quarrel ensued between the woman and Cook and the latter pulled a pistol and killed her.

Items Noted.

The corner stone of the Barber Memorial School for negro girls was laid Tuesday at Anniston.

The United States grand jury recently in session at Huntsville returned eighty true bills as the result of their work.

W. T. Brooks, at Mobile, took aconite for paragoric by mistake. A doctor was secured in time to prevent serious results.

On Saturday last at 1 o'clock Mr. J. H. Radney, of near Roanoke, lost his mill and gin by fire. The loss is estimated at $1,500: no insurance.

Mr. W. R. Pryor, of Limestone county, sold three crops of cotton at one time a few days ago. There were 558 bales that averaged 500 pounds.

Thrown From a Buggy.

Mr. W. R. Hilliard, who travels in the Birmingham district for Roney, Arnold & Co., wholesale dealers in shoes at Knoxville, Tenn., was severely hurt Saturday morning near East Lake by being thrown out of a buggy. Mr. Hilliard lives at Huffman, a small place beyond East Lake, with his family. While going to Birmingham in a buggy the horse became frightened at something and became unmanageable. The horse finally ran away and Mr. Hilliard was thrown out of the buggy and seriously injured.

Mobile Rejoicing.

At last the Mobile and Jackson railroad is to be built. The project was first agitated in 1868. About a year ago English and New York capitalists became interested in it. Surveys were made and all preparations to commence work as soon as $250,000 were subscribed by the people of Mobile and along the line. Of this amount one-half was assigned to Mobile, and the last dollar of it was subscribed Friday. The people along the line having subscribed their part, the right of way and terminal privileges secured, work on the road will be begun at once. The distance, via Hattiesburg to Jacksonville, is 180 miles.

Robbery on the Street.

Tom Williams, alias Hambone, a negro, is in the Birmingham city prison, charged with robbery. He also has a number of small bird shot in his head. Thursday afternoon he robbed a woman of 25 cents and ran. The woman gave an alarm and the crowd put out after the robber. When overtaken he began cutting at his would-be captors, whereupon one of them gave him the contents of a shotgun. He was only stunned, however, and again ran. This time Officer Armstrong took after him and chased him nearly to the fair grounds and finally captured him. It was a long but successful chase.

Across the Jugular Vein.

Jim Ryan, a negro, was fatally cut Thursday afternoon by another negro, whose name is unknown. It is said that the two negroes were gaming at a colored picnic in Liberty park, Birmingham, when the difficulty occurred. Ryan received a deep cut with a razor across the jugular vein, and a physician who was summoned did all that could be done to hold the tissues of the artery together. The stitches and bandages answered for a time, but when he was being moved last night to his home in Pratt Mines the bleeding broke out afresh on the dummy. A doctor was sent for, but could do nothing to stop the flow of blood. Ryan was believed to be dying when the dummy left for Pratt Mines. His assailant has not been arrested.

Whitecaps Extort Evidence.

A Decatur special to the Chattanooga Times says: The grand jury is now at work investigating one of the most brutal cases of whitecapping ever reported in Alabama, and if the investigation results in the finding of true bills against suspected parties, there will certainly be more work for another grand jury.

In the circuit court of Morgan county the case of Mary White, a negress, charged with burning the Methodist church and other property at Trinity, Ala., was called, a demurrer to the indictment sustained and the woman allowed very light bail.

Hon. O. Kyle, attorney for the defense, developed a sensation in court by saying that he believed his client to be innocent of the crime charged, because of the character of the evidence presented to the grand jury and the manner of obtaining it, upon which the grand jury had found the indictment. He said that he could prove that the testimony had been extracted from the woman's two little children, George and Alice, one night last week by a body of masked men, who, after dragging the children from their mother's house to the woods, hanged them by the neck until they made a statement satisfactory to the mob. No statement was made by the girl, who had fainted and was very ill. The boy, said Colonel Kyle, was ready to state that the statements had been made by him to save himself and sister from personal injury, and that there was no truth in them.

At the recital of these atrocities a howl of indignation arose in the court room, which was with difficulty suppressed. Judge Speake, who was on the bench, with tears in his eyes, and a voice quivering with emotion, ordered the immediate investigation of the case by the grand jury. There is considerable excitement over the matter.

TWO SHIPS COLLIDE.

The Onwo Goes Down, With Over 300 People.

A dispatch from Shanghai, China, says the steamer Onwo hass been sunk by coming into collision with the steamer Newchwang, off Woo Sung, ten miles north of Shanghai. The Onwo went down immediately, and the Newchwang was beached to prevent her sinking. A news agency dispatch from Shanghai, says that by the sinking of the British steamer Onwo, many lives have been lost. The European survivors of the sunken vessel are Second Officer Cooper and Third Engineer Allen. The drowned include the captain, five English officers and 300 Chinese. The United States warships Olympia, Boston, Yorktown and Detroit sent boats to the assistance of the Onwo and saved many lives.

Leland Stanford Bequest.

After three years' litigation over the estate of the late Senator Stanford, Mrs Stanford has at last been enabled to pay the bequest of $2,500,000 which the senator left to Leland Stanford, Jr., university. The bonds transferred to the university draw interest at the rate of $10,000 a month.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.

Tennessee Burt Oats.

United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma.....	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham	7:25 p m
No. 15	South.....	12:37 p m
No. 16	North.....	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

A live and well attended meeting of the citizens of Montevallo was convened Monday to advance Montevallo's Industrial School interests. A committee, consisting of Rev. P. L. Abernathy and H. C. Reynolds, was appointed to wait on the executive committee of the board of trustees. The committee returned to Montevallo Tuesday and report that the executive committee will meet in Montevallo next Monday.

Mrs. Simonton, of Pleasant Hill, visited her sister, Mrs. H. C. Reynolds, or a few days last week.

Mrs. Mims Walker returned to Faunsdale last week.

The recent severe rain and hail storms have caused serious damage round about Montevallo. At Aldrich the coal mines were so badly flooded that mining is impossible for several weeks. The water broke through, we understand, from what is known as the old slope. Damage estimated at between $1,500 and $2,000. Farming lands are badly washed in some localities and tender plants injured by the hail.

Miss Mary Nicholls left Monday for a two months' visit to her sister in Evergreen, Ala.

Mr. William Horton, of Belle-Ellen, is visiting relatives in Montevallo this week.

Benjamin Cunningham, Jr., of Plantersville, spent Sunday with his father near Dogwood.

Montevallo was alive with the fair and the brave last week. If there is anything more enjoyable than a C. E. convention we think it must be another one just like it, only more so.

The way of the transgressor is hard. So doubtless thinks the colored gent who accompanied a revenue officer to Birmingham Monday. Quite a number of witnesses also went up

Mrs. McCauley, the milliner, has just received a new assortment of ribbons, laces and trimming materials generally.

An item which was pretty badly treated by the printers last week should have read: It is a dead sure thing—if you will excuse the slang—that Montevallo is the place to buy your drugs. With two well equipped drug stores, having capable and reliable pharmacists managing them, the people may be sure that in Montevallo they will find what they need and be cordially received.

Dr. B. B. Rogan, of Montevallo, is in the city today standing an examination for the practice of medicine before the medical board of examiners, of whieh Dr. J. P. Furniss is president and Dr. Catesby Jones is supervisor. He is standing an examination and expects to locate in Selma.—Selma Journal.

Miss Bessie Hoskins, of Aldridge, Ala., is the charming guest of Miss Hattie Stein, on Sixteenth street and Seventh avenue.—Birmingham News.

IN A CHURCH.

Moonshiners Said to Have Been Caught There at Centreville.

The Montevallo correspondent to the Montgomery Advertiser sends his paper the following:

News of a dastardly piece of "blind tigerism" is reported from Centreville A chance visitor to the Methodist church at that place discovered the peculiar paraphernalia of the nefarious business within that sacred edifice and reported the facts to the pastor. He proceeded at once to investigate and caught the parties in the act of disposing of the goods. They refused to give their names, but the minister shadowed them until he found them out and proceeded to present them to the grand jury, which was then sitting not two hundred yards away.

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

LIVE WASHINGTON NOTES.

The Trial of the Cruiser Massachusetts Proves Satifactory.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

The President Allows Certain Bills to Become Laws Without His Signature—Executive Clemency—Receipts and Expenditures—Two Florida Bills.

Nicarauguans Make Peace.

A private cablegram received from Managua announces that the rebel forces in Nicaragua have surrendered and that the rebellion in tha republic is ended.

***

River and Harbor Bill.

The senate committee on commerce has reported the river and harbor appropriation bill to the senate. Among the items added by the committee is $60,000 for dredging Mobile harbor.

***

Two Florida Bills.

Congressman Cooper's bill tosettle the titles of settlers on the Arredondo grant has been favorably reported and also Mr. Sparkman's bill giving 50,000 acres of public land to the Normal college at DeFuniak Springs and the Tallahassee Normal college.

***

Getting Home the Gold.

Secretary Carlisle today called on the depository banks in New York to pay into the treasury $3,000,000 deposited in those banks in payment of the last government bond sale and which has remained up to this time. This action is taken because of the weakness of interest rates in New York and the strength of foreign exchange. It is done in a hope to prevent threatened gold exports.

***

Receipts and Expenditures.

Treasury figures which will be officially proclaimed tomorrow show that up to May 1 the excess of expenditures over receipts for the fiscal year aggregated $23,200,000. For the month of April the excess is $4,5000.000. In round numbers the receipts for the ten months of the fiscal year are $274,800,000 and expenditures $298,000,000.

***

Gen. Lee Preparing for Cuba.

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, the new consul general of the United States at Havana called at the state department Saturday morning and had conferences with Secretary Olney and Assistant Secretary Rockhill. The Cuban situation was discussed, but further conferences will be held, The date of General Lee's departure for his post has not been settled, and he will probably remain in Washington several days posting himself on the state of affairs in the island, as shown by the reports received at the department.

***

Speed of the Big Cruisers.

The official computation of the speed made by the battleship Massachusetts in the trial trip Saturday, gives the vessel a record of 16.279 knots, according to a telegram received at the navy department this morning from Commodore Dewey, president of the trial board. As a result, the builders of the Massachusetts, the Cramps of Philadelphia, will get a premium of $125,000 or $25,000 for each quarter knot in excess of the contract requirement of 15 knots. The time made by the Indiana on her official trial was 15.61 knots.

***

Became Laws Without Approval.

The president, as was expected, has let the agricultural appropriation bill become a law without his signature, presumably because it thwarted Secretary Morton's purpose to abolish the seed distribution system. Four other bills have become laws without approval. These are the acts granting a pension of $100 a month to Joseph A. Cooper, late brigadier general, U. S. A., granting to railroad companies in Indian Territory additional grounds, granting a pension to Martha Brooks, of Nebraska, and the increase of the pension to Mary B. Houk, of Tenuessee, widow of Congressman Leonidas Houk.

***

Executive Clemency.

The president has granted a pardon to R. J. Gilley, of Alabama, sentenced in July, 1893, to six years for conspiracy to intimidate witnesses. In his indorsement the president says he is satisfied that Gilley is not guilty of the charge. A pardon for the purpose of restoring him to citizenship was also granted M. R. Fleming, of Texas, passing counterfeit money. In the case of T. A. Hall, of Florida, convicted of cutting timber on government land and sentenced in March, 1895, to eighteen months in jail and a fine of $180, the imprisonment is remitted. The application for clemency made by Samuel Peeples, John Carnes and Anderson Black, convicted in Georgia of conspiracy to kill a person who had given information concerning violations of the revenue laws, was denied.

***

Postal and Pension Matters.

Postoffice Appointments—John Siddons, Redfield, Madison county, Ala.; Benjamin Akerman, Wilson Ridge, Calhoun county, Ala.; J. H. Phillips, Leveritt, Coffee county, Ala.; William Allan, Quito, Shelby county, Ala.; W. E. Sistrunk, Sistrunk, Elmore county, Ala.; Alex Bennett, DeBerniere, Jefferson county, Ala.; J. H. Batson, Earnest, Jefferson county, Ala. Pensions—Ala: Original, Elias Brown, Fernbank. Lamar county; original widows, Jane Cox, Belle Mina, Limestone county. Mississippi; original, John Tate, Vicksburg, Warren county; Ambrose Brown, Rodney, Jefferson county; orinal, widows, etc., special, Ap 15, Judy Brown, Carrollton, Carrollton county, Florida: Original, Alexander Duncan, Orlando, Orange county; restoration, Peter A. Hiller, DeLand, Volusia county; widow Indian war, Lucy A. Humphrey, Ashville, Jefferson county.

***

Assassination of the Shah of Persia.

Secretary Olney has received a cablegram from the minister of Teheran announcing that the shah of Persia, while visiting a shrine near the city for devotion, was shot by an assassin disguised as a woman. The shah was entering a shrine near Teheran when his assassin drew a pistol and fired at him, the bullet striking near his heart. The wounded ruler was at once conveyed to his carriage and taken with all speed to the palace, where he died two hours later. The murderer was arrested. It is believed he had accomplices.

The details that have reached London, England, of the assassination of the shah are of the briefest character. As the shah was entering the inner court of the shrine of Shah Abdul Azim the assassin, who is said to be a Sayyid from Kerman, named Mollah Rosea, delivered the fatal shot. The shah was attended by his chief physician, Dr. Tholoseau, and other physicians. The assassination caused much alarm. Prince Niab-Es-Saltanes, the third son of the shah, retired to his palace at the request of the government, The heir to the throne, Muzapar-Ed-Din, is at Tabriz. He will leave for the capital as soon as possible. A possible reason for the crime is that there has been much discontent for some time owing to the dearness of provisions, partly caused by the excessive issue of copper coins.

SOUTHERN INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS

Birmingham, Ala., Enterprises Hold a Prominent Place.

Special reports to the Manufacturers' Record from various parts of the south, especially from the Birmingham region, show a very decided revival in business interests. In addition to the steel mill projected recently by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, the Birmingham Rolling Mill company has definitely decided to build a steel mill with a capacity of about 200 tons a day. At the same place a $100,000 cotton seed oil mill company, a $100,000 tobacco factory, a large powder mill have been organized during the week and negotiations are pending looking to the building there of a $600,000 cotton mill by northern people. The development of grain facilities at southern ports continues to attract attention, and contracts have been made for the expenditure of about $500,000, to include two new cotton compresses, warehouses and other interests near New Orleans, while work has commenced at Pensacola on transportation improvements by the Louisville and Nashville railroad, including a grain elevator, the aggregate expenditure being about $150,000. One of the most extensive water powers in the south has been capitalized at $2,000,000, with the reported intention of large electrical development and the transmission of electric power in connection with cotton mill enterprises. Gold mining matters continue to attract attention, and in Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia considerable capital is being invested in the purchase and development of gold properties. Among other industrial enterprises reported for the week were the enlargement of several cotton mills and one or or new mills projected; a $25,000 lumber company in Mississippi; a forty-ton cotton seed oil mill in Texas; a $50,000 flour mill and a $30,000 compress in the same state.

Matabeles Retiring.

Earl Grey has telegraphed to the government from Buluwayo that the Matabeles have retired from the immediate vicinity of that town and that they are tired of fighting and are preparing to travel northward. The Mangwe road, he says, is secured by 400 men in seven forts

A dispatch from Palapy says: Trustworthy natives report that two white outlaws named Dixon and Grobber are assisting the Matabeles in their operations.

The Christian Endeavor union, of Shelby county, assembled at Montevallo, tender our sincere thanks to the good people of Montevallo for their extreme kind hospitality and many expressions of love and good will shown us during our pleasant stay here. In behalf of the visiting delegates, we express the hope that it may be our privilege in future conventions to show the gook people of Montevallo the kindness they have shown us. We feel sure that God will ever send to these good people his choicest blessings, in behalf of which every Endeavor will earnestly pray.

Anna Bristow,
Agnes Averyt,
Belle Hewitt.

FOR SALE.

Fifteen choice residence lots; also Mrs. Holbrook's homestead in Montevallo. All on easy payments. Agent, W. S. Cary, Montevallo, Ala.

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon.

Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

Attorney at Law and Justice of the Peace,

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—REDUCED RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Re-union of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates.

Tickets from points in Georgia and Tennessee, north and east of Atlanta and Chattanooga, will be sold June 27 to 28 and 29, and from points south and west of Atlanta and Chattanooga, and east of the Mississippi river, tickets will be sold June 26, 27, 28 and 29. Final limit on tickets from all points will be July 6, 1896.

From points south and west of Atlanta. the Southern railway is the short and quick route to Richmond, Va., via the "Piedmont Air Line," and the service is peerless. From Knoxville, Tenn., Chattanooga, Tenn., and points west thereof, the route of the Southern railway is via Ashville, and through the scenic "Land of the Sky." The service of this line is unexcelled.

Call on any agent of the Southern railway for further information, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A.. Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanoogu, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; W. A. Turks, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G, P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST

Convention, Chattanooga, Tenn.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Southern Baptist convention, which will convene at Chattanooga, Tenn., May 8-14, inclusive, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Chattanooga, Tenn., and return at the rate of one limited, first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 5 to 8, inclusive, good to return fifteen days from date of sale, but limit on tickets may be extended, allowing fifteen days additional time, provided they are deposited with joint agent at Chattanooga on or before May 14, 1896.

The Southern Railway reaches Chattanooga from all directions, and its service is unexcelled. It is the short line and the scenic route from Louisville, in connection with the Queen and Crescent. The Southern Railway is also the scenic route from Virginia points, Washington and other eastern cities, via Asheville, and through the "Land of the Sky." It is the direct line from North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida points. The Southern Railway is the short line and operates the quicket and most convenient schedules from points on its line in Mississippi to Chattanooga.

For further information call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala., J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; L. S. Brown, G. A, P. D., Washington, D. C.; W. A. Turk, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G. P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn. tf

BIENNIAL CONCLAVE

Of the Knights ot the Ancient Essenic Order, Louisville, Ky. Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

On account of the Biennial Conclave of the Knights of the Essenic Order, which will convene at Louisville, Ky., May 12-14, 1896, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Louisville and return at rate of one limited first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 10-12, good to return until May 16, 1896.

Call on any agent of the Southern Railway for further information in regard to rates, routes, schedules, &c. tf

Paint Brushes at 20c and 25c.
Sponges, a nice line.
Small Steel Tweezers at 10c.
Putty, Turpentine and Castor Oil in bulk.
One dollar bottles McElree's Wine of Cardui at 83c.
Hood's Sarsaparilla at 89c.
Pure Drugs and Chemicals at REYNOLD'S DRUG STORE.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!

The Fireside!!

The Store!!!

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Millinery Goods.

Having moved my Millinery Stock over in the business portion of town I am now prepared to serve my customers better than ever. I have just opened

The Most Complete Line of Millinery

ever brought to Montevallo. I intend to keep the reputation my goods have made and offer them cheaper than ever. Call and see me in my new store on Main Street, under the law office of E. S. Lyman, Esq.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY.

New Millinery Store.

I have just opened the nicest line of

MILLINERY GOODS

Ever brought to Montevallo. Having had large experience in this line and having some of the best connections in New York, Baltimore and St. Louis, I feel that I can suit the most fastidious.

PRICES CHEAPER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Call and see me at my new store.

MRS. T. A. BEST,

Corner of Valley and Depot Streets.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

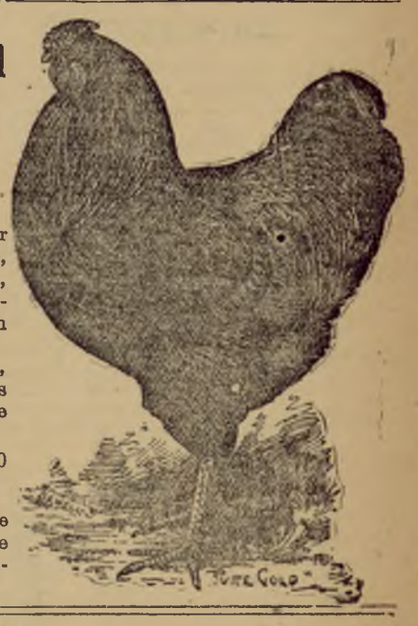
FINE BRED POULTRY

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.



J. B. Lewis Co.

WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear,
Style,
Ease,
Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

FLOUR! FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310 Montgomery Ala.

The first commercial traveler to adopt the plan of taking his bicycle with him as "baggage" to enable him to quickly visit his customers in country towns is a drug salesman from Portland, Maine.

A Good Dog is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

Sheer Desperation.

SAVANNAH, GA.

J. T. SHUPTRINE, City.

Dear Sir:—"Several physicians treated me without success for what they pronounced a stubborn case of eczema. In addition to this I have tried every so-called remedy that was suggested to me, but nothing did me the slightest good until in sheer desperation I tried your TETTERINE. This effected what seems to be a PERMANENT cure, and I take pleasure in testifying to its merits." Respectfully yours. ISAAC G. HAAS.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.

The day which begins the darkest may turn out to be one of the brightest.

There are people using Dobbins' Electric Soap to-day who commenced its use in 1865. Would this be the case were it not the purest and most economical soap made. Ask your grocer for it. Look out for imitations. Dobbins'.

Some people never learn how to pray, because they will not learn how to give.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., Props. of Hall's Catarrh Cure, offer $100 reward for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for testimonials, free. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

The More One Uses Parker's Ginger Tonic the more its virtues are revealed in dispelling colds, indigestion, pain and every weakness.

Piso's Cure for Consumption relieves the most obstinate coughs.—Rev. D. BUCHMUELLER, Lexington, Mo., Feb. 24, '94.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

Walking Would Often be a Pleasure were it not for corns. These pests are removed with Hindercorns. 15c. at druggists.

That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

Tired

Feel-

ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to everyone, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1 Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR

W. L. DOUGLAS $3. SHOE BEST IN THE WORLD.

If you pay $4 to $6 for shoes, examine the W. L. Douglas Shoe, and see what a good shoe you can buy for $3.

OVER 100 STYLES AND WIDTHS, CONGRESS, BUTTON, and LACE, made in all kinds of the best selected leather by skilled workmen. We make and sell more $3 Shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.

None genuine unless name and price is stamped on the bottom.

Ask your dealer for our $5, $4, $3.50, $2.50, $2.25 Shoes; $2.50, $2 and $1.75 for boys.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE. If your dealer cannot supply you, send to factory, enclosing price and 36 cents to pay carriage. State kind, style of toe (cap or plain), size and width. Our Custom Dept. will fill your order. Send for new Illustrated Catalogue to Box R.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

"IT WILL NOT RUB OFF"

ALABASTINE

DURABLE AND BEAUTIFUL WALL COATING.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

CUBA and her struggle for Freedom. Agents wanted. S. S. Scranton & Co. Hartford, Ct.

Am. N, U. No. 19. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

NEWS AND NOTES FOR WOMEN.

ORGANDIES OVER SILK.

Organdies this season are veritable dreams of loveliness, but must, alas! be made over silk! However, the summer girl who has two or three of those diaphanous trifles need have no fear as to the success of her coming campaign.—New York Advertiser.

REVOLUTIONARY HEROINE REVERED.

Mollie Pitcher, the Revolutionary heroine, is buried at Carlisle, Penn., and the Philadelphia branch of the Daughters of the American Revolution is trying to persuade the people to permit the removal of the remains from that city to Gettysburg, where she is to have a monument.

A FEMININE JACK TAR.

The first woman who ever circumnavigated the globe shipped with the famous Bougainville expedition in 1766. She was disguised as a man, and was known as Charles Thomas Barr. She was a servant to Philibert de Commercon, the botanist of the expedition. Her true name was never learned.

SHE IS A CAPTAIN-GENERAL.

Mrs. Alexander H. Kayser, of St. Louis, has been appointed Captain-General of the National Guards of Missouri by Governor Stone. During the interstate military encampment last year Mrs. Kayser was sponsor for the Kansas City Zouaves, and with her maids of honor accompanied the Zouaves to the field. It was suggested to Governor Stone that he recognize Mrs. Kayser's services, and he promised to give her a commission. He has redeemed his pledge, and announces that he will present to Mrs. Kayser a sword and epaulets.

FAIR FLEMISH WOMEN.

A recent traveler in old Flanders says that the Flemish women are tall, and that they possess great beauty. Their eyes are usually blue, their hair is like burnished gold, which they wear as did the German gods.

The Flemish woman is simple to excess; not because she has poor taste in her toilet; on the contrary, a Flemish woman never goes out on a Sunday without a heavy silk dress, with soft frou-frou marking her steps.

The Flemish woman has preserved intact the admirable naivete of the woman of the middle ages. She is an ideal mother of a family; she has no ambition, no love for art, for music or for poetry; not a whisper of rebellion against the domination—often brutality—of her husband, who, in her eyes, represents power, and for whom she cherishes an admiration which cannot be shaken.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

THE GERMAN WOMAN IN REVOLT.

The German woman is beginning at last to assert herself. The Berlin correspondent of a morning paper states that a great protest is being made against certain clauses of the proposed new civil code. The position of women in Germany has long been unsatisfactory, and there were hopes—fallacious, as it has turned out—that the new code would redress some of their grievances. The German married woman, according to the Berlin correspondent, has, unless a special contract has been made, no right to dispose of her own fortune without the permission of her husband, who is, besides, solely entitled to administrate and to have the usufruct of her money, even of that which she earns. Should a woman enter upon any financial transaction without the knowledge and consent of her husband, it can be canceled; women are also excluded from family councils. No wonder that they are discontented.—Lady's Pictorial.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF GOWNS.

Lilian Bell discusses "The Philosophy of Clothes" most interestingly in the Ladies' Home Journal. She declares that "there is a hollowness about having a man praise your gowns when you know he doesn't know what he is talking about. When a man praises your clothes he is always praising you in them. You never will hear a man praise even the good dressing of a woman whom he dislikes. But girls who positively hate another girl often will add, 'But she certainly does know how to dress.'

"And so the experienced woman wears her expensive clothes for other women and produces her 'effects' for men. She wears scarlet on a cold or raw day, and the eyes of the men light up when they see her. It makes her look cheerful and bright and warm. She wears gray when she wants to look demure. Let a man beware of a woman in silvery gray. She looks so quiet and dovelike and gentle that she has disarmed him before she has spoken one word, and he will snuggle down beside her and let her turn his mind and his pocket wrong side out. A woman couldn't look designing in light gray if she tried. He dotes upon the girl in pale blue. Pale blue naturally suggests to his mind the sort of girl who can wear it, which is generally a blonde with soft, fluffy hair, fair skin and blue eyes—appealing, trustful, baby blue eyes."

GOSSIP.

In Roumania women both study and practice medicine.

The girl pupils of the Osborne (Kan.) High School have two excellent baseball teams.

President Cleveland's wife selects all his clothes and gives orders how they are to be made.

George Eliot is to be commemoratod by a memorial library in her native town, Nuneaton, England.

An Alliance (Ohio) typewriter had almost all her hair burned off by the explosion of a celluloid comb.

In St. Petersburg, Russia, women are obliged to procure a police permit before they may ride the bicycle in the public streets.

The big insane asylum in Zehlerdorf, a suburb of Berlin, has now a female physician, Dr. Siegluede Stier, as assistant director.

Two young women have been appointed gardners at Kew Gardens, London, on condition that they wear trousers when at work.

A society paper in London says that "the American beauty is a thing of the past" there. It is also a thing of the present wherever it goes.

Mrs. Percy Fleming, M. D., and Miss Aldrich Blake have been appointed registrars of the Royal Free Hospital, of London, offices hitherto filled by men.

A woman has just been appointed assistant professor of English in the University of Michigan. She is Miss Gertrude Buck, a daughter of Judge Buck of Michigan.

The Queen of Madagscar is said to take the transfer of power to the French protectorate very gracefully, and is very much interested in seeing it properly done.

During the absence, for three months, of the Rev. Mr. Cochrane of the Unitarian Church at Bar Harbor, Me., his wife will attend to all his ministerial duties.

The coming general conference of the Methodist Church will have to face a very strong demand from the women to be admitted to its privileges on equal terms with the men.

A temperance society at Danbury, Conn., which is composed of young women who have pledged themseves not to marry any man who touches liquor, has a membership of 400.

Two West Virginia girls decided to go hunting, and finding themselves pursued by a bear, they were forced to take refuge in the branches of a tree, where they remained until morning.

A Mississippi woman caught a burglar in her room, knocked him down, tied him to the bedpost and then calmly awaited the return of her husband, who was spending the evening at the lodge.

Kingston, Mass., is believed to be the first town in that State to have a woman superintendent of schools. Miss Helen Holes was elected to the superintendency by the school committee a few days ago.

The attempt of European ladies to form a league of native girls for the suppression of foot binding in China has fallen through. One native girl is said to have put the case thus; "We squeezy foot! You squeezy waist! Same object both—get husband."

The authorities of the University of Buda Pesth, Hungary, have decided to admit women to the privileges of their institution. The departments of Medicine and Pharmacy have been thrown open to them, and they can be matriculated in the faculty of philosophy.

Women bicyclists rode in a race at a tournament in San Francisco recently. The race lasted two hours, and the four leaders in the race averaged nineteen miles an hour. The affair was not a big success, very general disapproval of women riding races being expressed.

Miss Winifred Warren, of Cambridge, Mass., daughter of President Warren, of Boston University, is the winner of the Mary E. Garrett European fellowship for next year. The decision of the Bryn Mawr (Penn.) College faculty was made public recently She will study for a year in Europe.

FASHION NOTES.

Some black brocades show bow-knots seven inches wide in the loop portion.

Nainsooks, with gold effects in stripes and squares, will be used to trim basques, blouses, shirt waists, etc.

The waistcoat effect is greatly in vogue this spring, and much of the style and effect of the waist is given by it.

The fancy gauzes will be used for evening waists. They require to be lined with silk or satin, but look very light and effective.

New leather bicycling and outing belts are shown, with both purse and chatelaine attached, Patent-leather belts, with buckles to match, are also new.

Gold and silver belts of every variety are selling amazingly. These are shown both in tinsel and military braids and in the plaited and coiled wire.

Capes made entirely of chiffon white ruffles look very fresh and summer like. The black chiffon capes are almost all relieved by touches of colored ribbons and beaded ruffles.

Probably the most remarkable railroad accident ever seen in America occurred on the Northern Ohio recently. The engineer of one train struck the rear car of a train ahead and the car ran up on the engine. The engineer stayed in the cab and was not injured, nor was the fireman. The glass in the cab windows was shattered. The train ran back to a town a mile away from where the collision occurred and went on to a switch, with its strange burden.

It may sound like an anomaly, but the man discovered in crookedness is in a strait.

Sciatic Rheumatism and Its Cure.

From the Gazette, Burlington, Iowa.

The story of Mr. Tabor's nearly fatal attack of sciatic rheumatism is familiar to his large circle of acquaintances, but for the benefit of others and those similarly afflicted The Gazette has investigated the matter for publication. Mr. Tabor is Secretary and Treasurer for the Commercial Printing Company, with offices in the Hedge Block and resides at 417 Basset Street, Burlington, Ia. A Gazette man sought an interview with Mr. Tabor at his place of business to-day, and, although he was busily engaged with imperative duties, he talked freely and feelingly on the subject of his recent severe sickness and subsequent wonderful cure.

"Yes," said Mr. Tabor, "I can safely say that I am a well man, that is, my old trouble with rheumatism has entirely disappeared, but I am still taking Pink Pills and will keep on taking them as long as I continue to grow stronger and healthier, as I have been every day since I began to use them. You will not wonder at my profound faith in the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People after you have heard what I have to tell you. About one year ago I was stricken suddenly with sciatic rheumatism and was confined to my bed. It grew worse and rapidly assumed the form of inflammatory rheumatism. I suffered constant and acute pains and all the tortures which that horrible disease is capable of inflicting. At length under the constant care of a local physician I was enabled to return to my work, but only at intervals. Severe attacks would appear regularly in my back and descend into my leg and foot, and threatened to make me a permanent cripple. I tried various remedies for rheumatism, but without any beneficial results. I grew pale, weak and haggard, and my family and friends grew alarmed at my condition.

"About eight weeks ago my mother induced me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and you know the result. Before I had used one box I felt greatly relieved and much stronger. I continued their use and improved rapidly. I have now taken eight boxes and feel like a new man and completely cured, all of which is due to the efficacy of Pink Pills. They are invigorating and thoroughly wholesome, and have helped me in every way."

In reply to inquiries Mr. Henry, the druggist, stated that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were having a large sale, that it was particularly gratifying to him to know that the customers themselves were highly pleased with the benefits they had derived from their use; that many of them stated that the pills were the only medium that had done them any good; that they not only gave quick relief, but permanent benefit. That the pills do sell and that the pills do cure is a certainty.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes only at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

How to Mend Blackmailers.

A Newark lawyer has hit upon a novel and effective method of dealing with a blackmailer. A fine-looking and somewhat notorious woman called at his office and demanded $500. On his positive refusal to give her a cent the woman threatened to call at his house and demand the sum of his wife.

As the lawyer knew the character of the woman, he communicated with his people at home by his private telephone, and instructed his two strapping, able-bodied German girls to show the visitor to the reception-room when she called and then do set upon her together and give her a sound beating.

The girls, liking the fun, did as they were requested, and without saying anything to the wife of their employer, carried out his suggestion so well that the blackmailer fled from the house without her $500, but with two black eyes and a broken nose. She left behind her a quantity of hair and two front teeth.—New York Evening World.

He Didn't Wait.

They have been printing recently some of Henry Labouchere's experiences as a diplomat in the United States. He was an attache of the British legation in Washington, once upon a time. One day, they tell us, Labouchere was sitting in his office, when a rather noisy individual came in and asked to see the minister.

"You can't see him. He's gone out. You must see me."

"I don't want to see you; I want to see the boss of the ranch," said the noisy individual.

"All right," replied Labouchere, going on with his writing. "Take a chair."

The visitor sat and waited for an hour. Then, with several picturesque extracts from profane history, he inquired how long the boss would be.

"I should think about six weeks," replied Labouchere, carelessly. "You see, he has just sailed for England."

He didn't wait.

Distinction with a Difference.

"It's rather disappointing," said the Cuban insurgent, "that we can't be recognized as belligerents."

"Never mind," was the reply. "We are all right. You've noticed that when a young man gets through a medical college he puts out an elegant gilt sign, and is known as a 'physician.' But whenever anybody in the neighborhood gets sick they send for the old-fashioned fellow that everybody's been calling plain 'doctor' for years."

"That's true."

"And some of these people who sit in the office and write pieces about us are journalists. But the one who gets the real facts is simply known as a 'newspaper man.'"

"Yes."

"Well, we aren't any 'belligerents.' We're fighters."

If Fate can slip a complimentary in a paper, the foreman notice of no one ever sees it. puts it w ult for a drinking man, to It is di ently; it is generally too hold his im. strong fo

There ne ing yo com always depend a: If one man buses a thing, th xt man you meet w like it.

We lia girl who refuses to let a young n break her heart.

Not nted in water colors—a toper's nose.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Manufacturers —OF— Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting —AND— Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.

OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.

Write for Prices. Address,

Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co., BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

In writing please mention this paper.

One of the health-giving elements of HIRES Rootbeer is sarsaparilla. It contains more sarsaparilla than many of the preparations called by that name. HIRES—the best by any test.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

DROPSY Treated free. Positively CURED with Vegetable Remedies. Have cured many thousand cases pronounced hopeless. From first dose symptoms rapidly disappear, and in ten days at least two-thirds of all symptoms are removed. BOOK of testimonials of miraculous cures sent FREE. TEN DAYS TREATMENT FURNISHED FREE by mail DR. H. H. GREEN & SONS, Specialists, Atlanta, Ga.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

AGENTS can COIN MONEY selling NIGHTINGALE TOY WHISTLE. Just out. Sells at sight. Sample, etc., 5 cents. Superior Wire Mat Co., Beaver Falls, Pa.

Keep the Children Busy.

Almost every family can allow the children a tiny spot their very own for the planting of a few seeds or bulbs or slips, the care of which will give occupation and keep the children at home when otherwise they would plead to go somewhere or to have somebody come to see them.—Womankind.

Every married woman looks as if she needed a little more love, but what she really needs is a little more money.

One of a candidate, generally a candidate.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. Herbert Miles, special representative of the Interstate Savings Loan and Trust Corporation, having main offices 201 and 202 Neave Bldg., Cincinnati, O., sends, under date of September 3d, 1895, a testimonial from his barber, Harry Scheid, of 211 West 6th St.: "I want to say," writes Harry, "that for eight months I have taken three Ripans Tabules a day, and have not been to see a doctor once since I commenced to take them. Before I would have to have a big tube put down my throat and have my stomach flushed (I believe that is what they call it) three times every week by a doctor that charged me 50 cents for every time. Of course that always gave me relief, but it always came back again, and I can tell you it was no fun to be pumped out about every two days. The doctor said I had catarrh of the stomach; but whatever it was it don't bother me now, but I still take one of Ripans after each meal, as I am afraid to quit. I am a barber, and for four years I was troubled, so that I used to lose about three days out of every month. I wish you would have your Tabules kept in more stores in Cincinnati, as there are only two places where I can get them. My attention was first called to your remedy by asking what the street car sign meant. (Signed), HARRY SCHEID."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Cotton.

With careful rotation of crops and liberal fertilizations, cotton lands will improve. The application of a proper fertilizer containing sufficient Potash often makes the difference between a profitable crop and failure. Use fertilizers containing not less than 3 to 4%

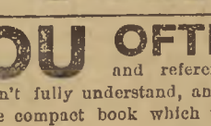
Actual Potash.

Kainit is a complete specific against "Rust."

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing the results of latest experiments in this line. Every cotton farmer should have a copy. They are sent free for the asking.

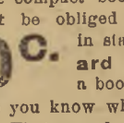
GERMAN KALI WORKS, 93 Nassau St., New York.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS.



but sell direct to the consumer at wholesale prices. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Write for catalogue. ELKHART Carriage & Harness Mfg Co. Elkhart, Ind.

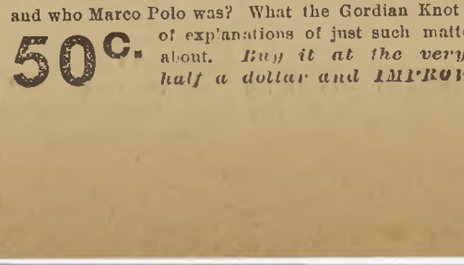
W. B. PRATT, Secy.



$3 A DAY SURE. SEND us your address and we will show you how to make $3 a day; absolutely sure; we furnish the work and teach you free you work in the locality where you live; send us your address and we will explain the business fully; remember we guarantee a clear profit of $3 for every day's work; absolutely sure; write at once. D. T. MORGAN, Box LF, DETROIT, MICHIGAN.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. DR. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

All over the house



you need Pearline. And more than ever in house-cleaning. Just look over the list of things that you might use—soaps and powders and fluids and what not. Some of them don't pretend to help you as much as Pearline; some will injure paint, or surfaces, or fabrics; some are only meant to wash or clean certain things.

But with Pearline, you will save time and labor in cleaning anything that pure water won't hurt. Not only can it do no harm, but it saves useless and harmful rubbing.

Millions NOW USE Pearline

DON'T YOU often come across expressions and references in the newspapers and books which you don't fully understand, and which you would like to look up if you had some compact book which would give the information in a few lines?—not be obliged to handle a twenty-pound encyclopædia costing $25 or $30. 50c. in stamps sent to BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE, 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City, will furnish you, postpaid, with just such a book, containing 520 pages, well illustrated, with complete handy Index. Do you know who Crœsus was, and where he lived? Who built the Pyramids, and when? That sound travels 1125 feet per second? What is the longest river in the world? That Marco Polo invented the compass in 1260, and who Marco Polo was? What the Gordian Knot was? The book contains thousands of explanations of just such matters as you wonder about. Buy it at the very low price of half a dollar and IMPROVE YOURSELF. 50c. 50c.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. II. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MAY 14, 1896. NO. 6.

A COMEDY OF ERRORS.

BY HELEN FORREST GRAVES.

Squire Packenham was very angry. Being a member of the church, he didn't swear. But he slammed the kitchen door so violently when he came in that Keturah, his wife, comprehended at once that something was wrong.

"Dear me, Abram," said she mildly, looking up from the apples she was slicing for pan-dowdy, "there ain't no occasion to take the door off its hinges! What's the trouble now?"

"It's Betsey Briggs!" answered the squire, seating himself, with some vehemence, on a cushioned chair. "The airs that creetur gives herself exceed everything!"

"Airs?" said Mrs. Packenham. I didn't know as them was Betsey Briggs' weaknesses."

"I dunno what you'll call it," said the squire. "She was out in the garden pickin' peas, an' I jest hollered to her, as I come by, to see if she'd be willin' to entertain the sewin' society at her house next Thursday. And, if you'll believe me, she didn't say a word—neither yes nor no!"

"Well, I never!" said Mrs. Packenham. "But," with a gentle desire for extenuation, "you mustn't forget, Abram, that Betsey Briggs is near-sighted."

"That don't prevent her hearin', does it?" the squire demanded, sharply.

"I didn't think o' that," said meek Mrs. Packenham, rejecting a golden summer apple, which had a bruise on its mellowest side. "But I'm quite sure Betsey didn't mean no harm. Betsey never does."

"I dunno how that may be," said the squire, morosely, "but I do know I shan't put myself out to speak to her ag'in, unless she sees fit to apologize."

"I can't make it out at all," said Mrs. Packenham, slowly shaking her head.

Miss Carter was the next person who stopped at the Packenham house. She was a spare female, whose exact age, like that of the obelisk, was wrapped in mystery, and she was a book-agent of the most rabid type and deadly execution.

"P'raps you'd like to subscribe to the Housekeeper's Weekly Visitor, Mis' Packenham?" said she, rounding off her sentences with a prodigious sniff.

"Wal, no," said Mrs. Packenham. "We aren't much o' readers here.

"Or maybe your husband would like to take a copy of the 'Ten Leading American Patriots?'" suggested Miss Carter, struggling with her catarrhal difficulty.

"Abram don't read nothin' but the newspapers," said Mrs. Packenham. "His eyesight ain't what it was."

"Who's your neighbor down under the hill?" sharply interrupted Miss Carter. "Just beyond the brook, where the bridge is out of repair?"

"Her name is Briggs," said Mrs. Packenham—"Betsey Briggs."

"Well, whoever she is," snorted Miss Carter, "she hasn't no more manners than a mooly cow. Not to notice me, even, and me standin' there, talkin' myself hoarse to her. Not even to turn her head to look at me!"

"Dear, dear!" said Mrs. Packenham, "that's very strange! Betsey's a dreadful sociable creetur. That don't seem like her a bit."

"Well, that don't signify," said Miss Carter, seating herself, and opening her leather packet. "But I'd just like you to look at a few recent publications I've got here."

"Oh, don't trouble to show 'em to me!" said Mrs. Packenham, apprehensively. "I hain't no money to buy, no time to read; and the churnin's behindhand this mornin', and I've got soft-soap to make."

"It won't take a minute," persuasively argued Miss Carter.

And she sat two mortal hours in the squire's kitchen and made Mrs. Packenham subscribe to the Housekeeper's Weekly Visitor for a term of three years before she departed.

"Betsey Briggs managed her the best way," groaned Mrs. Packenham, as she looked into the recesses of her empty pocket book. "What will Abram say?"

The clergyman, a slender dyspeptic young man of six-and-twenty, stopped at the garden gate to give sister Briggs a friendly good afternoon that day, but she did not return his polite greeting. He repeated it a little louder and still she took no note of his spectacled gaze and his new silk hat.

"I hope I haven't offended her in any way," said Mr. Sweetlands to himself, and he tried to think back to the sentences of his last sermon about gossips and meddlers.

"I don't think I said anything which she could, by any possibility apply to herself. Miss Briggs—Miss Briggs, I say."

He waited a minute or so for a reply, which did not come; then he sighed and walked on.

"These single sisters are perhaps a trifle difficult to manage," said he. "But doubtless experience will smooth my pathway in time."

And, naturally enough, the Rev. Mr. Sweetlands stepped in at sister Packenham's to ask her how she thought he could possibly have offended Miss Betsey Briggs.

And just as he was detailing in Mrs. Packenham's puzzled ears the tale of his perplexity, a stout elderly man, with a sea-faring aspect, rapped at the door with a knobby stick.

"Ahoy, there!" said captain Giles Gilliloe. "I hope I ain't intrudin', but these is all strange waters to me. I've just hailed a neighborin' craft. Betsey Briggs by name, and she don't lower no signals. P'raps I've sighted the wrong coast?"

"Miss Briggs lives at the next house," Mrs. Packenham said. "That's true enough."

"I'm her cousin," said captain Giles Gilliloe. "She has invited me to moor my craft in these parts for awhile, but I ain't used to heave anchor along side o' them as don't speak to me civil. And I hope I've made my log-book clear."

"I really can't account for it," said Mrs. Packenham, with a troubled expression of countenance. "Set down, cap'n Gilliloe, I've often heard her speak of you, and I'm sure she wouldn't intend any incivility. Set down and have a chat with Mr. Sweetlands, our minister, and I'll step over to Betsey's at once and see what all this means."

The sun had gone down in the crimson blaze which belongs only to July skies—a soft, purpling twilight was brooding over the swamp meadow, and the orange lilies glowed mystically in the apple orchard, as Mrs. Packenham hurried toward the old Briggs homestead, whose chimney stack rose out of a wilderness of tall lilac bushes. There, sure enough, was Miss Betsey in the vegetable garden, her sunbonnet flapping in the evening breeze, but just as Mrs. Packenham laid her hand on the latch of the picket gate, Bowse, farmer Pond's big red bull, knocked his horns against a weak spot in the adjacent pasture fence and came thundering into the inclosure with his tail in the air, his huge head lowered almost to the ground and a low-muttered note of defiance breathed through his threatening nostrils.

"La, me," cried Mrs. Packenham, "there's that brute loose again! And not a man in sight! And Betsey Briggs with her red caliker gown on. She'll be killed as sure as the world. Oh, dear, oh, dear!"

As the reflection eddied through her mind, the animal made an infuriated charge toward the figure darkly outlined against the hedge of silver-green pea-vines, uttering a savage bellow as he rushed past, and Mrs. Packenham hurried, screaming, down the hill.

"Abram! Mr. Sweetlands! Cap'n Gilliloe!" she shouted. "Help! help! Oh, why don't somebody come? Farmer Pond's Bowse has knocked poor Betsey Briggs down into the pea-vine and is a-gorin' her awful! Help! help! help! She'll be killed as sure as the world! Help! help!"

Just as she burst into the door at the end of the kitchen, the opposite one opened, and in walked—Betsey Briggs herself, cool, calm and composed, with a veil folded neatly over her dove-colored silk hat, and a traveling bag in her hand.

Mrs. Packenham sat down and began to laugh and cry hysterically; Mrs. Sweetlands opened his pale blue eyes like watery moons; the squire stared; Captain Gilliloe held out his two brown hands and waved a forecastle welcome.

Miss Betsey looked around in gentle astonishment.

"Dear me!" said she. "What is the matter? What is everybody looking at me so for? How d'ye do, cousin Giles? Why don't you go on to the house? I thought you was comin' to make me a visit!"

"I—I don't make out this here reckonin' at all," said captain Gilliloe, scratching his puzzled head. "Somehow the wrong signals have been swung out. But it's all right now—aye, aye, it's all right now! The figure-head of the Betsey Briggs can't be mistook."

"I've just been up to Albany," explained Miss Betsey, "to order a new parlor carpet. I went up yesterday, and come down on the evening train; and—"

"But, Betsey," cried Mrs. Packenham, clutching spasmodically at her friend's arm, "who is that in your back garden—gathering peas, you know? For as true as you live and breathe, farmer Pond's Bowse has trampled her to death by this time."

"That!" said Miss Betsey. "Oh, that's my wire dummy, as I had when I worked at the dressmakin' trade! I just dressed it up in some of my old clothes, as a kind of scarecrow-like, to keep the pigeons from stealing the green peas right out of my pods. They're the sauciest creeturs in all the world. Why, you didn't never take it for a live person did you?"

And everybody laughed the more heartily as their folly became apparent to them.

"I declare to goodness I was clean out of my lattitude and longitude," said the sea captain with a chuckle.

"Appearances are deceitful," said mild Mr. Sweetlands, rubbing his hands.

"I won't believe my own eyes ag'in!" shouted the squire.

And then they all three went to drive the belligerent bull out of Miss Briggs' vegetable garden, and to patch up the defective pickets in the fence, and Miss Betsey herself sat down to drink a comfortable cup of tea with Mrs. Packenham.

"For I'm sure I need one after all I've been through," said the squire's wife.

"Well I declare," said sympathetic Miss Betsey, "it must ha' been a trial. I won't never put that dummy out ag'in."—Saturday Night.

Derailed by a Buzzard.

As the mail train on the Pensacola and Atlantic division of the Louisville & Nashville railway was bowling along between Bonifay and Caryville, Fla., some heavy object struck the headlight, smashing the glass and knocking the burner off the lamp. The oil caught fire, and in an instant the front of the engine was in flames.

The engineer was alarmed, and reversed the lever so suddenly that the cars bumped together with great force, injuring several passengers and derailing the engine.

By hard work the flames were extinguished and then the engine was examined. It was found that a buzzard had struck the headlight and caused the trouble. The bird was found wedged in the headlight, with its feathers burned off and thoroughly cooked. The accident cost the railroad several hundred dollars and traffic was delayed for five hours.—Philadelphia Times.

CUBAN COMMISSARY

The Patriots Find Rations Under The Greenwood Tree.

After Camp is Pitched The Men Forage in The Forest.

One of the most disappointed men in town is captain Bueneo of the Cuban army. The captain, who is a member of the largest banking house in San Diego, Cuba, came to New York last July on a special mission. He soon finished his business, and has been trying ever since to get back to fight with his company. Twice he has attempted to get away, once, it is said, on the Hawkins and again on the Bermuda.

"I was all through with my business on July 20," said the captain, "and here I am still. Every time I've tried to get away something has happened. If the people in charge of the Bermuda had labeled their boxes the government would not have stopped the steamer and I should be back with my friends by this time, with a chance to help them. Here I can do nothing. I am useless.

"Look at colonel Perez there. He and I began together. We were old schoolmates, you know. He stayed and fought and now he is a colonel, If I could have got back, I'd be a colonel too, or dead. Oh, well, the rainy season is coming on and after that the fever. That will make the Spaniards sick. In the last war thirty-eight percent of them died of fever—to say nothing of those we put out of the way with our machetes and bullets.

"Of course they cannot ride at all. Perez has told you about that, but we can outmarch them, too. One night, about a year ago, we broke camp and started to meet Maceo and Marti. We knew that they were to land about forty leagues away. By noon the next day we had marched eighteen leagues but we were not too tired to attack a Spanish column that came down on our flank, a little to the rear. We had a lively fight until five o'clock when Maceo and Marti came up. Then together we drove the enemy out of sight.

"We ought to have been pretty tired by that time. Don't you think so? Well, we were not very fresh, but orders were given to return by the route we came and, hunting up something to eat from what the Spaniards had abandoned in their flight, we marched back the whole eighteen leagues, reaching our starting place the next afternoon. You won't find any Spaniards to do that. We couldn't if we weren't used to the food and to the climate and hadn't lived out of doors all our lives.

"Another thing in our favor, especially in the hilly country, where the woods are dense, is that we know what plants and roots are good for food and what poisonous. Almost anywhere in Cuba there is enough stuff growing wild to keep any man alive, if he knows how to get it. We do; so we can go about without a commissary department. When we halt for breakfast or supper, there is a bugle call as a signal to prepare to hunt—get our sacks ready, etc. Then a second call, meaning disperse to the woods. In a half-hour, perhaps, you will see all the men back in camp, each with some fruit or vegetable that he has plucked or dug out of the ground. We eat those things and they agree with us. If the Spanish eat them much they have a pain in the stomach.

"All we need to drive the Spaniards out is supplies. We've more men than we can arm. So it is no use for anyone to come to us looking for a job, unless he knows something about artillery. Then we might use him, but I do not know certainly."—New York Press.

Money in the Moleskin Business.

"No boys, it ain't money that makes my pockets bulge out that way, but it is the equivalent," remarked a gray-haired, gray-bearded rancher from Mendocino, as he took in the slack of a hay rope that did servic for a belt.

"To tell you the truth, my breeches pockets, and my coat pockets, too, are pretty well lined with moleskins. Within the last year I have developed into a mole h[illegible] it pays. I have several acres in strawberries at Ukiah, and they need considerable water. I used to put in a lot of time digging little trenches and turning water this way and that, but it was disappointing to go out the next day and find that I had been irrigating a mole hole. I set watch on the little pests, and I soon learned their habits. Since then it is no trouble at all to get them.

"In the first place, I found that a mole never comes straight to the top of the ground, but always on a slant, and you will see the ground agitated for some time before he throws up his hill. If you step within twenty feet of him when he comes to the top he will instantly stop work and run. It's no use to try and catch him then.

"But a mole is the victim of habit. If he is disturbed at his work at 2 o'clock today he will not come back until exactly 2 o'clock tomorrow. You can set a watch by him and depend on it being right. Well, I watch around in my berry patch and take the time whenever I disturb Mr. Mole. The next day when it is time for him to come back I take my station near his hole. As soon as he throws up his little mound I plant my foot behind him and close up the hole. Then all I have to do is to scoop him out of the dirt and drop him in my pocket kicking scratching like a good fellow. I kill him, stretch him on a shingle, and a man here in the city pays me $1 apiece for them to make purses of."—San Francisco Post.

"E Pluribus Unum" on Our Coins.

According to the United States mint officials, the words, "E Pluribus Unum," as they appear on our coins, are there without the sanction of law. The legend first appeared upon a copper coin "struck" at the Newburg (New York) mint in the year 1786. The United States was very young at that time and could not afford the luxury of a mint, so a private individual by the name of Brasher opened the Newburg coining establishment with the intention of turning out money of the realm for all comers. Exactly how the words "E Pluribus Unum" came to be used as a motto is not known, but one thing is certain, the Brasher copper coin bearing that legend and the date of 1786 is the most valuable metal disk ever minted on this continent, being worth about $2,000, or twice as much as the famous rare dollar of 1804.

Some time after coining his famous copper with the odd Latin motto as above described, Brasher tried his hand on a large-sized gold piece, producing the coin known to the numismatists as "Brasher's twenty." The Brasher "twenty" was not a $20 gold piece, however, for it lacked $4 of weighing enough; but of late years it has become very scarce and valuable because of the fact that the legend inscribed upon it reads "Unum E Pluribus," instead of "E Pluribus Unum." This coin is now valued at $1,500.

Taking Gold From the Sea.

The sea as a whole contains an enormous quantity of gold, but every gallon contains a quantity expressible chemically only as a trace. Many years ago a patent was taken out for securing this precious metal from the ocean, and more recently another inventor has brought out a method that for economy in working can scarcely be surpassed. Plates of iron are to be arranged in series with plates of copper, and their combined effect when immersed in sea water is to bring about a kind of electrolysis whereby the gold attaches itself to the copper. Batteries of this kind are to be placed in tideways or attached to sea-going ships and in process of time a thick coating of gold will be deposited.—Chicago Tribune.

Her Little Hand.

"Why," she faltered, "did you hasten to pick up the glove I had dropped?"

"Because," he answered, boldly, "I thought there might be something in it for me sometime."

And his worst suspicions were subsequently confirmed.—Detroit Tribune.

The Columbia river of Canada is 1,400 miles in length; the stream of the same name in Oregon is 600 miles.

Queen of Her Heart.

The little rag doll is queen,
Her realm is a maiden's heart,
And there she will reign serene
And play her important part.
A bundle of rags is she,
With collar of scraggly fur;
She's only a doll to me,
But more than a doll to her.

A doll that I thought a prize
I gave to the little maid,
That opened and shut its eyes
And beauty of face displayed;
But somehow it seemed to me
She never received the care
I daily and hourly see
Bestowed on a doll less fair,

The doll that can really talk,
The doll in the silken dress,
The doll that is made to walk
Lies lonely in some recess;
Forgotten and pushed aside
It lies in the dust apart,
While that of the rags, in pride,
Is held to the maiden's heart.

The doll is a doll to me,
A bundle of rags and fur,
And yet I am quick to see
It's more than a doll to her.
And so it maintains its place,
Unrivalled it holds its own;
In rags and a painted face
It stands in her heart alone.

—Chicago Post.

HUMOROUS.

Necessity is the mother of all inventions, except the folding bed.

"Is your overcoat comfortable, Mac?" "I don't know. I haven't heard from it since I hung it up."

"Does position affect sleep?" asked a medical writer. It does when the man hold the position of night watchman.

"Papa, George says he is very much worried about his income." "I should not think he would worry about a little thing like that."

She—Darling do you love me? He (kissing her rapturously and repeatedly)—Do I? I wish you were a two-headed girl. That's all I can say.

"Talking about the jaws of death!" exclaimed a man who is living with his third scolding wife, "I tell you they are nothing with the 'jaws' of life!"

"Please to give me something, sir?" says an old woman. "I had a blind child—he was my only means of subsistence—and the poor boy has recovered his sight."

I envy Dings whene'er he sings,
So much does he deserve;
'Tis not his voice makes me rejoice—
I envy him his nerve.

"Been married seven times, has he? Is he a man of leisure otherwise?"

"Oh, no, he's a hard working tailor." "What a remarkable instance of the survival of the fittist."

"Are you," she finally faltered, "really a duke?" "Can you doubt me?" he asked intensely. She shivered. "Almost everything is adulterated nowadays," she muttered.

"Why do you look so gloomy, Tompkins?" "You know my best girl is one of those new women? Well, I'm puzzled to decide whether I ought to ask her to marry me, or wait for her to propose."

"John is a mighty man," said Biggs. "He sold me a tub of butter that was strong enough to go alone; but I got rid of it. I sold it to my brother; and the best of it is I got more than I paid John for it."

Mrs. Green—Does your baby recognize you when you come home? You are away so much, you know. Mr. Black—Know me? I should say so. He always begins to cry the moment I get inside the door.

"I want to pay this bill," he said to the hotel clerk. "But I think you have made a slight error here in my favor. I've peen reading over the extras, and I cannot find that you have charged me anything for telling me you thought it might rain."

A Query.

Johnny—The porous plaster draws out the pain in less than no time, doesn't it, mamma?

Mamma—It does, Johnny.

Johnny—And does all the pain go out through the holes?—Truth.

During the Franco-Prussian war the Germans fired 30,000,000 rifle cartridges and 363,000 charges of artillery, killing or mortally wounding 77,000 Frenchmen, showing that 400 shots were required to kill or mortally wound one man.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, } Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

An advertisement appeared in a scientific paper the other day in the following terms: "Wanted, a few enterprising individuals with capital to join in an expedition to search for relics of Noah's Ark."

The Woman's auxiliary civil service reform association, lately started in New York, is stirring up things in a way that lazy employes of the city despise. More than a thousand of them, for instance, have undertaken to keep an eye on the street sweepers and report their doings by postal card to commissioner Waring. The sweeper's white uniform makes them easy to note.

There have recently been three wars not unlike each other, from a military point of view; the war of the French in the island of Madagascar, that of the Japanese in the island of Formosa, and that of the Spaniards in the island of Cuba. For some reason, there was long delay in beginning the French advance upon the capital of Madagascar; but, after active operations had been begun, they were short and decisive. The Japanese campaign for the reduction of Formosa has been carried on fitfully and irregularly during the year, and we suppose it must now be regarded as at an end, with success for Japanese arms. The Spanish war upon the people of Cuba began early last year, and has been carried on up to this time without seeming to approach its end.

Public attention is again directed to Egypt by the military expedition that is to ascend the Nile in the direction of the Dongola. The land of the Pharaohs has made some progress under the British occupation, but the burdens of that interesting but unfortunate country are still great. Egypt seems large on the maps, but the area of the cultivated and settled region covers only 12,976 square miles, or about one and a half times the area of Massachusetts. Nearly four such Egypts would fit in the imperial state of New York. Owing to the wastefulness of Ismail and other Egyptian rulers, the country is burdened with a debt of about $525,000,000, paying ing from three to five percent to the creditors. The general debt, which is nearly half the amount, pys four percent, which is a high rate for this period of light interest. The annual payments on the debt amount to about $18,000,000 in gold. The other government expenditures come to $32,000,000. That crafty old fellow, the sultan of Turkey, receives from this sum an annual tribute of $3,325,000. He makes no return for this money, which is paid him on the absurd assumption that Egypt is still part of the Ottoman empire. The civil list of the puppet khedive is allowed $500,000, and the private cabinet of this nominal ruler gets $272,100. Part of the remainder goes for useful purposes, but much of it is stolen or wasted by sundry bureaus and court followers. The burdens of this costly administration fall on a people who number less than 7,000,000. The whole foreign population does not exceed 200,000. The natives are classified as sedentary and nomads. The latter would be termed tramps here. The natives are all for the most part poor. The richness of the Nile region, which yields three crops in the agricultural year, barely enables the people to subsist. The thrifty Britons actually make Egypt pay for the army of occupation. It comprises less than four regiments. The expenses of the new expedition are also to be saddled on the Egyptians, who have had nothing to do in initiating it. The annual commerce amounts to about $107,000,000. Of course, England has acquired the lion's share of the import trade. France has always regarded Egypt as within the sphere of her commercial and political influence, but the administrative forces are now all directed to exalting the power of England, which is in undisputed control at Cario. No wonder that there is wailing and gnashing of teeth in Paris, while Lord Salisbury chuckles at the clever pretext he has devised for making firmer the British grip on the land of the Pharaohs.

LIVE WASHINGTON NOTES.

The United States Senate Not Ready to Adjourn on the 18th.

CIVIL SERVICE RULES EXTENDED.

The President Signs Orders Placing 30,000 Employes Under the Rules. The Order Takes Effect at Once. Dutch Records to be Searched Concerning the Guiana Boundary.

Further Civil Service Extension.

The president has further amended the civil service rules by an order issued Friday bringing into the classified service the inter-state commerce commission, which embraces about 140 persons.

***

The Guiana Boundary.

A Washington dispatch of May 8 says: Tomorrow the Venezuelan Commission's chief historical expert, Prof. George L. Burr, will sail for Holland to investigate the Dutch records bearing upon the Guianan boundary dispute.

***

Miss Kregler's Murderer.

Irving Ford, a negro, arrested at Harper's Ferry last Thursday, has confessed to the murder of Elsie Kregler Monday, near Zoological park, but denies that he attempted a criminal assault. He says she threw a stone at him and he attacked her. She fought him and he cut her throat with a pocketknife.

***

Want the Resignations Accepted.

It is stated upon official authority that certain members of the board of directors of the British South African company insist upon the acceptance of the resignations of Cecil Rhodes and Alfred Beit from all connection with the company, otherwise they themselves will resign. The Duke of Fife did not attend the recent mseting of the board of directors.

***

Loss in Defense of Buluwayo.

A dispatch from Buluwayo says serious friction exists between the inhabitants of that town and the management of the British South African company. Earl Gray, administrator of the British South African company, in an address to the troops promised that the chartered company would compensate them for their personal losses which they had incurred through the recent troubles.

***

Sent Home From Cuba.

James Creelman, correspondent of the New York World, and Frederick W. Lawrence, correspondent of the New York Journal, who have been expelled from the island of Cuba by order of Captain-General Weyler, were to leave for New York on Saturday's steamer. The Spaniards are intensely indignant at Creelman's articles representing that non-combatants were massacred by the Spanish at Campo Florida, which, together with the expulsion, is the talk of the city.

***

The Perils of the Ocean.

Captain Curtis, of the schooner Bertha F. Walker, reports while at anchor off the bar on the night of the 7th of May the anchor light went out. G. H. Hunter, a native of Germany, was sent to take it out of the rigging to relight the lantern. The wind was northeast, blowing hard, with a heavy sea. Thinking he was very long about it the mate went forward and the man and lantern had disappeared. The supposition is that he slipped and fell overboard and was drowned.

***

Refuses to Give His Name.

The following statement was given out Thursday afternoon: The state department has been authentically informed that, while of the persons captured on board the Competitor, some were killed during the fiht that ensued between the Spanish steam launch and the schooner, and while many more are supposed to have escaped, only one of the persons captured is an American citizen, who thus far has refused to give his name.

***

Improvement of a Cruiser Suggested.

Secretary Herbert has under consideration a report from the naval board of construction concerning the rehabilitation of the cruiser Atlanta. The plan of the board provides for new boilers and machinery that will give the vessel a speed of sixteen knots and a horse power of 4,000 and the substitution of twin for the present single screw. Her speed as developed on the official trial was fifteen knots and the horse power 3,300. If the plan is carried out the traveling range of the Atlanta will be increased about 2,000 miles, gained through additional coal carrying capacity. No change in the batteries of the vessel is contemplated.

***

Senate not Ready to Adjourn.

The house resolution for a final adjournment on the 18th of the present month is considered in the senate as too early a date. The resolution was referred to the committee on appropriations, and will not be reported back to the senate until the appropriation bills are in a fair way to be out of the road within a known period of time. It is safe to assume that Mr. Allison will not consider the resolution for at least ten days, and the conclusion of senators who have discussed the question with members of the committee is that adjournment will not be had earlier than June 1. The only snags in the way—the Peffer resolution to investigate the bond sales and the Dupont case—will be out of the way early by agreements as to when the vote shall be taken, and it is expected that nothing will then interfere with the continuous consideration of appropriation bills and the reception of conference reports on such bills as may be in the hands of the conferrees. June 1 is as early a date as any one in charge of legislation will predict.

***

Civil Service Extension.

The president by his signature Wednesday extended the provisions of the civil service law to 30,000 government employes, increasing the number of positions on the classified list from 55,136 to 85,135, and with a few minor exceptions between the extremes of officials whose confirmation by the senate is constitutionally requisite, down to mere laborers and workmen, governmental appointments are withdrawn as far as possible from political influence and protected in their tenure of office by the merit system. The president's signature at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning canceling all former orders issued and substituting the new rules was immediately filed in the state department and went into effect at once, thus forestalling any possible action throughout the country by appointing officials or transferring employes or in any other way evading the rules before being formally notified of them. From the moment of its signature the new order made all government officials directly responsible to the commission for appointments and changes. This revision of the rules divides the executive civil service into five branches, as follows: The departmental service, the custom house service, the postoffice service, the government printing service and the internal revenue service.

In the departmental service are classified all officers and employes (except laborers and persons who have been nominated for confirmation) in the several executive departments, the commissions, the railway mail service, Indian service, the District of Columbia, pension agencies, steamboat inspection service, marine hospital service, mints and assay offices, revenue cutter service, sub-treasuries and engineer departments and the forces employed by custodians of public buildings. The only exception made in the treasury department is in favor of those in the life-saving service.

In the custom house service are classified all officers and employes in any customs district whose employes number as many as five.

In the postoffice service are classified all officers and employes in any free delivery postoffice.

In the internal revenue service are classified all officers and employes in every internal revenue district, except, of course, as in the other cases, mere laborers.

The number of classified places exempted from examination has been reduced from 2,099 to 715, which are mainly positions of cashiers in the customs, postal and internal revenue services. Indians employed in minor capacities in the Indian service are necessarily put in the excepted list. The only classified positions in Washington which will be excepted from examination under the new rules will be private secretaries or confidential clerks (not exceeding two) to the president and to the head of each of the eight executive departments.

Brave and Expert Swimmer.

Herman Gallwitz, an expert swimmer, rescued Dave George, a nego, from drowning at Jacksonville, Fla., Thursday afternoon.

George was in a sailboat, skimming along, close hauled, on a heavy breeze A sudden squall upset the vessel He was thrown away from the boat and floundered desperately in the water, meanwhile yelling for help. Gallwitz was in his rowboat. He bent to the oars and made it fairly jump over the waves. Just as the negro sank Gallwitz reached the scene. He dived, brought the man to the surface and held him there, in spite of the fact that he was grasped tightly around the neck.

Captain F. A. Santina, of the tug Annie H., which was passing, saw the struggle in the water, and had a boat lowered and sent to the rescue. The negro was hauled in, while Gallwitz continued his exercise, as if rescuing people from drowning were only a matter of ordinary moment.

Southern Industrial Progress.

In spite of the general feeling of uncertainty which prevails throughout the country incident to the polical situation, reports to the Manufacturers' Record during the past week indicate much industrial activity in the south. Cotton mills representing an investment of over $600,000 capital have been projected by twelve different companies. The principal ones are a $150,000 mill in Texas, a $100,000 company in Georgia, a $50,000 company in Louisiana, a cordage plant in South Carolina, a 6,000 spindle mill at Norfolk, Va.; also a $120,000 company in North Carolina.

Other important industries to be placed in operation include a 120-ton cottonseed oil mill in Birmingham, Ala.; the enlargement of a farm implement works at Atlanta, a $50,000 marble company, also in Georgia; a $50,000 rice mill in Louisiana. A shirt-waist factory at McComb City is to employ 200 hands, and a furniture factory at Knoxville, Tenn., 60 hands.

Executive Clemency Withheld.

Governor Atkinson has refused to commute or reprieve the death sentence of Tom Allen, convicted of murder in Macon. While under sentence of death, Allen broke jail and was at liberty a year. When he was caught he lost no time in asking for executive clemency. He is under sentence to hang May 22.

Why strain your eyes when you can get a safe and reliable pair of spectacles for half the regular price. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds 3t

SOUTHERN BAPTISTS.

Forty-first Annual Convention Held in Chattanooga.

FOUR THOUSAND VISITORS THERE

Nearly a Thousand Delegates—President Haralson Re-elected—Secretaries and Vice-Presidents—Delegate of North Pacific Coast Convention Received.

The Southern Baptists met in their forty-first annual convention Friday in the city of Chattanooga, whose people gave them a royal welcome. Twenty-five years ago a zealous Baptist, Forney Vaughn, in whose honor a memorial window has been placed in the First Baptist church of that city, went to Raleigh, N. C., where the Baptist mission board was in session, to ask the board to send a missionary to Chattanooga. Today the spires of ninety-eight churches rise from her hills.

ENROLLMENT.

The convention met in the auditorium of the First Baptist church at 10 o'clock, and was called to order by Judge Jonathan Haralson, of Alabama. After devotional exercises the roll was made, and 785 delegates were found to be present. Georgia had the largest delegation, 102; Virginia came next, with 86; Alabama, with 45, was sixth in the list. One delegate responded from Oregon and one from Brazil. A fraternal delegate from the North Pacific Coast convention was recognized and welcomed by the convention.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of president was the next business in order, and Judge Haralson was re-elected unanimously. After appointing a committee on order of business, the president introduced Hon. George W. Ochs, who made an address of welcome in behalf of the city. He was followed by Rev. R. B. Garret, who welcomed the convention in behalf of the churches. Dr. William Landrum, of Virginia, responded in behalf of the convention.

Drs. Lansing Burrows and Oliver F. Gregory, the present secretaries, were re-elected by acclamation. The following vice-presidents were elected: Joshua Levering, Maryland; F. H. Kerfoot, Kentucky; S. H. Ford, Missouri, and ex-Gov. W. J. Northen, of Georgia.

REPORTS OF THE BOARDS.

The report of the foreign mission board was made and shows the following:

The board received from women's mission societies for foreign missions $22,399.55, apportioned among the states as follows: Alabama, $1,200.16; Arkansas, $184.60; District of Columbia, $161.20; Florida, $371.53; Georgia, $2,633.28; Kentucky, $1,373.81; Louisiana, $220.93; Maryland, $1,919.24; Mississippi, $644.52; Missouri. $1,254.63; North Carolina, $2.430.58; South Carolina, $3,008.72; Tennessee, $934.03; Young South, $322.70; Texas, $980.35; Virginia, $4,975.71; Western North Carolina, $294.56.

The field covered by the board included stations in Italy, Brazil, Mexico, China, Japan, Africa, many of them quite extensive and operating a large force.

Much of interest to the denomination was embodied in the report of the home mission board, made through its secretary, Rev. I. T. Tichenor, D. D., of Atlanta, Ga. The financial part of the report shows $75,927.54 received during the year and $72,629.75 expended.

The fifth annual report of the Sunday school board, like those of former years, presents a record of increasing prosperity, showing a large advancement in its volume of business and enlargement of its benevolent appropriations and an excellent condition in all of its affairs.

The amount received by the board during the year was $66,336.48, and expended $63,561.72.

All the reports were referred to appropriate committees.

The evening session of the convention was attended by the largest audience that has ever gathered in the First church. At 7:30 o'clock Vice-President Levering called the meeting to order, and in a few well chosen remarks introduced Rev. C. S. Stakely, D. D., of Washington, D. C., who preached the convention sermon. Throughout the discourse the speaker held his hearers spellbound, and it was evident from the first that they at once recognized the fact that an orator as well as a learned theologian was addressing them.

THE ATTENDANCE.

The Chattanooga Times, from whose report we have culled the foregoing brief outline of the first day's proceedings, makes the following estimate of the numbers in attendance upon the convention: The register at the office of the homes committee showed that nearly 1,000 delegates had been assigned to homes and fully 1,000 others in attendance at the convention had accompanied them. The hotel registers showed another 1,000, and fully another 1,000 were distributed in the various boarding houses of the city, making a total of visitors and delegates in the city of 4,000. The day was simply superb, and hundreds who were unable to obtain entrance into the convention hall visited the mountain and ridge and other points of interest.

Boston is planning for its southern railroads a new union station, to be the biggest in the world; but the golden dome of the State house will still be the hub of the universe, announces the New York Recorder.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8 B'ham & Selma..... 8:10 a m
No. 9 Selma & B'ham..... 7:25 p m
No. 15 South.....12:37 p m
No. 16 North..... 3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Misses Ella and Eunice Latham, of Montevallo, and Miss Jane Gay, of Plantersville, are at the St. James hotel, the guest of their uncle, O. E. Latham.—Selma News.

Miss Minnie Walker, of Faunsdale, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. B. Reynolds, this week.

Mrs. Joe Dill and son, of this place, are visiting friends in Birmingham this week.

Mr. E. D. Reynolds, of Blocton, spent Saturday and Sunday in Montevallo, and returned Sunday evening accompanied by his wife, who spent last week in Montevallo.

W. B. Reynolds returned this week from New Orleans, where he has been engaged in closing out a fine stock of millinery goods. Mr. Reynolds was relieved by Mr. S. S. Allen, one of H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' most reliable and efficient men.

Mr. Lilly, of New Orleans, a war comrade of H. C. Reynolds, visited the latter last week.

The four-year-old daughter of Mr. Thos. J. Hoskins, of Aldrich, died on the 5th after a brief but severe illness. Perhaps all have at one time or another felt the chastening sorrow that accompanies such bereavements, and the News would in this instance extend a sincere sympathy to the family.

Lawyers W. S. Cary and J. M. Reynolds attended court at Clanton at the late session of the same.

Mr. Nat English, of Lowndesborough, stopped off last week to see one of Montevallo's girls, but unfortunately for him the measles reached her home before he did.

The ladies of Aldrich will give an ice cream supper on the 20th of this month—next Wednesday. All are invited to attend. The supper is to be for the benefit of the Methodist church of Aldrich, and will doubtless be an enjoyable affair.

Dr. Crowe has rented rooms at the Carleton house and now lives there.

Mr. J. W. Sessions is visiting friends at China Grove, Bullock county.

Mrs. C. W. Cary visited friends in Calera one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Latham, after a visit of several days to relatives in Ocmulgee, have returned home.

Mrs. E. S. Lyman and Miss Hattie Lyman, representing the Studiosis, or ladies' literary club of Montevallo, attended the state convention of such societies at Montgomery last week.

Mrs. John Fancher left last week on a visit to Miss Sallie Deans, of Randolph. Miss Deans was seriously injured in a runaway accident about a week ago.

H. C. Reynolds has recovered from a serious illness of several days duration.

DIED.

At an early hour Sunday morning, May 10, the spirit of Mrs. Georgiana West, wife of Mr. Frank West, left its earthly tenement and sought the perfect sunshine and presence of its God.

She was a lady known and beloved by all our people, having spent many years in out midst.

For several months she had been quite unwell, but the end came with only a few hours of warning to the family. They had hoped, as loving hearts always hope, that she would be spared.

She leaves a husband and three sons to mourn her—Samuel J., George W. Morgan and Sergent P. West.

The hearts of this entire community go out to these noble men in this sad hour.

May He who doeth all things for the best bind up their broken hearts.

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

$15 REWARD

Will be paid to anyone establishing the fact that Fleming's English Remedy for colic in horses and mules has failed to relieve. For sale by H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, Montevallo, Ala.

CORRESPONDENCE.

GURNEE.

Gurnee, Ala., May 12, 1896.

We are having some fine weather now and the farmers in this section are taking advantage of it.

It won't be but a few weeks before the mines at this place will be ready for work.

Captain J. G. Moore, superintendent of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, and Mr. Ramsey, general manager of said company, with headquarters at Birmingham, were in the city a few days ago looking after the interest of said company.

A serious accident occurred at Belle Ellen last week, by which Mr. James Hodgins lost his life. He was mining coal at that place, and had lighted a shot in the mine, and, thinking it had gone out, went back to examine it. Just as he got to his room the shot went off, and killed him instantly. Mr. Hodgins' parents live in this place, and they have the sympathy of all in their sad bereavement.

Mr. Wesley Piper, of Hargrove, has moved to Gurnee. He has charge of the mines at this place.

Mr. J. E. Francis is visiting friends at Bessemer.

Miss Ada Carlton, of Blocton, is visiting friends at this place.

Miss Mamie Espey has returned home, to the delight of her many admirers.

Our popular railroad agent has been resting up awhile, but is able to go to work again.

William Read, of Hargrove, is in the city for a few days.

The singing at Mrs. James Dunn's last night was fine. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn always entertain their guests elegantly, and all present expressed themselves as having had a nice time.

Hon. J. G. Harris was in the city a few days since on legal business.

Mr. W. H. Henderson, of Lacy, has moved to Gurnee, where he and his handsome family will reside in the future.

R. J. Jones, of Maplesville, has moved to this place. It won't be long before we will have lots of people in our town.

Mr. Amos Batey is visiting homefolks in Charlotte, N. C. Roland.

ALDRICH LOCALS.

Miss Bessie Hoskins returned last Tuesday from a visit to relatives in Birmingham.

Messrs. Hoskins and Harris spent Sunday with their girls at British.

Rev. D. N. Hodgins, of Gurnee, preached two interesting sermons at the Baptist church Saturday night and Sunday.

Messrs. Kline and Weaver, of Blocton, spend Sunday in town. Come again.

Mr. W. A. Greene made a business trip to Birmingham Saturday evening and returned Sunday morning.

We had an excellent sermon Sunday evening at the Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hoskins had the misfortune to lose their little daughter Nellie last week. We all sympathize with them in their bereavement.

Our Sunday school continues to grow both in numbers and interest, and the prayer meeting is doing an excellent work.

We learn that the ladies are to give an ice cream supper Wednesday night, May 20, for the benefit of the Methodist church, and trust that all will aid them in making it a grand success.

Q. E. D.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL NOTES.

Messrs. Wadsworth, Moody and Plowman, composing the executive committee of the board of trustees of the Industrial school, met here on Monday last. They immediately went into executive session and discussed the question of building, etc., at some length. The committee were unanimously in favor of going immediately to work. However, before doing so they wished the governor to call the entire board together to see if they could not get consent of the trustees to unite the state appropriation with ours and erect a building that will in some measure reflect credit to the state. It was clearly seen that after repairing the old buildings only about $7,500 would be available for the new building, which would be entirely too small an amount to use advantageously. The Southern railway has done nobly by the school. They contribute free freights for the material used in the construction of the buildings. Montevallo has done her part. She has furnished the most beautiful grounds and the healthiest and most accessible place in the state. She has paid in her money that the trustees decided was necessary in order to hold the school. She holds a clear receipt from the state and the trustees are now in possession of the property. We learn the majority of the board are in favor of using the state's money, while a few, who were perhaps disappointed in not securing it for some favored place, are opposed to it. Surely the state should contribute something towards the most important step that can be possibly taken.

At the last meeting of the board of trustees of the Industrial school a resolution was passed requiring Montevallo to furnish, in addition to the property donated the school, $9,000 in cash. An executive committee was appointed to receive the money and deeds and to erect the proper buildings. This committee met here in January last, and after the deeds had been passed on favorably by the attorney general, received the property, went into possession of same, and we paid over to them the sum of $9,000 in cash. The requirements made of us were fulfilled to the letter. In addition to this, through the active work of a committee from Montevallo, who went on to Washington, we have secured free freights to the school, which will amount to several thousand dollars; through this committee we have a bill in congress, which will become a law in less than thirty days, giving to the school a large grant of land. This is what Montevallo and her people have done. Shall we be rewarded by the refusal of the trustees to spend a dollar on buildings outside of the money we furnish? We do not believe it. The board of trustees is composed of wise and honorable gentlemen, who cannot afford to follow such a short-sighted and illiberal course.

The trustees have to their credit with the state treasurer about $15,000. They have in their possession $9,000, paid to them by the citizens of Montevallo, making a total of about $24,000 in cash. In Anniston a magnificent building of brick and stone is being put up for the negro industrial school, to cost when completed, $28,000. It is said it can be duplicated, and, in fact, improved on, for several thousand dollars less. With the free transportation we have it can undoubtedly be done for $24,000. It will take from now until the legislature meets to finish it. In connection with this the bill granting the school 25,000 acres of public land, which will be well worth $150,000, has already passed the senate of the United States and has been favorably reported by the house committee on public lands and will, before this congress adjourns, become a law. Can it be possible that there is any gentleman on the board of trustees who will not sanction and warmly endorse the spending of every dollar of the state's money in a building that is of all importance to the future welfare of the school? Montevallo has done her part, let the trustees do theirs.

Quite a number of our citizens were decidedly in favor of the executive committee going on with the building and spending the $9,000 that we had raised. They were evidently afraid to leave the question to the board of trustees, for fear they would decide to move the school, or do nothing at all. We have too much confidence in the integrity of these gentlemen to excite such fears in our mind. We have nothing to fear in meeting the board. We have come up to their demands. They hold our money and are in possession of the property, and are now renting it out. We hold their receipts, and we come before them with a consciousness that we have done our duty, and ask them to do theirs. We have a personal acquaintance with every member of the board, and there is no man on it who will not see that justice is done. They will readily see that more than $9,000 should be spent in buildings, and the large majority of them will sanction and approve of the use of the state's money. According to the act creating this school it was appropriated for this purpose, and the trustees will so decide.

REGISTERED AT THE CENTRAL.

C B Williams, Montgomery, Ala; B H Franklin, Nashville, Tenn; F A Sims, Sweetwater, Tenn; J S Lenard, Birmingham, Ala; A Thalhammer, Selma, Ala; F R Ship, Nashville, Tenn; Ellis Hickman, Chattanooga, Tenn; W R English, Philadelphia; C Hagard, Virginia; William Chapman, New York; O F Owen, Selma, Ala; F N Crookshank, Atlanta, Ga; Paul C Emmett, Lynchburg, Va; J S Kennedy, Nashville, Tenn; J T Moreland, Pine Apple, Ala; George Lowenthal, V P Adkins, Selma; A W Beck, Birmingham, Ala; Everhart, Birmingham, Ala; F A Moody, Tuskaloosa; W W Wadsworth, Wadsworth, Ala; T T Plowman, Talladega, Ala.

National Prohibition Convention,

Pittsburgh, Penn.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

On account of the National Prohibition Convention, which will be held in Pittsburgh, Penn., May 27-29, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Pittsburgh and return at rate of one limited first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 24-26, limited for return on or before May 30, 1896.

For further information regarding rates and schedules call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or Mr. L. A. Shipman, T. P. A. Birmingham, Ala. tf

New Zealand offers $1,000 for a practical plan for exterminating rabbits, and some humane people in the colony are denouncing the authorities for thus encouraging cruelty to animals. They want to know if the rabbit hasn't as much right to the country as man.

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon,

Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—REDUCED RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Re-union of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates.

Tickets from points in Georgia and Tennessee, north and east of Atlanta and Chattanooga, will be sold June 27 to 28 and 29, and from points south and west of Atlanta and Chattanooga, and east of the Mississippi river, tickets will be sold June 26, 27, 28 and 29. Final limit on tickets from all points will be July 6, 1896.

From points south and west of Atlanta, the Southern railway is the short and quick route to Richmond, Va., via the "Piedmont Air Line," and the service is peerless. From Knoxville, Tenn., Chattanooga, Tenn., and points west thereof, the route of the Southern railway is via Ashville, and through the scenic "Land of the Sky." The service of this line is unexcelled.

Call on any agent of the Southern railway for further information, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanoogu, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; W. A. Turks, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G. P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST

Convention, Chattanooga, Tenn.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Southern Baptist convention, which will convene at Chattanooga, Tenn., May 8-14, inclusive, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Chattanooga, Tenn., and return at the rate of one limited, first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 5 to 8, inclusive, good to return fifteen days from date of sale, but limit on tickets may be extended, allowing fifteen days additional time, provided they are deposited with joint agent at Chattanooga on or before May 14, 1896.

The Southern Railway reaches Chattanooga from all directions, and its service is unexcelled. It is the short line and the scenic route from Louisville, in connection with the Queen and Crescent. The Southern Railway is also the scenic route from Virginia points, Washington and other eastern cities, via Asheville, and through the "Land of the Sky." It is the direct line from North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida points. The Southern Railway is the short line and operates the quicket and most convenient schedules from points on its line in Mississippi to Chattanooga.

For further information call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanoaga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala., J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; L. S. Brown, G. A, P. D., Washington, D. C.; W. A. Turk, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G. P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn. tf

BIENNIAL CONCLAVE

Of the Knights of the Ancient Essenic Order, Louisville, Ky. Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

On account of the Biennial Conclave of the Knights of the Essenic Order, which will convene at Louisville, Ky., May 12-14, 1896, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Louisville and return at rate of one limited first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 10-12, good to return until May 16, 1896.

Call on any agent of the Southern Railway for further information in regard to rates, routes, schedules, &c. tf

Paint Brushes at 20c and 25c.
Sponges, a nice line.
Small Steel Tweezers at 10c.
Putty, Turpentine and Castor Oil in bulk.
One dollar bottles McElree's Wine of Cardui at 83c.
Hood's Sarsaparilla at 89c.
Pure Drugs and Chemicals at
REYNOLD'S DRUG STORE.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!
The Fireside!!
The Store!!!

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist,

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Millinery Goods.

Having moved my Millinery Stock over in the business portion of town I am now prepared to serve my customers better than ever. I have just opened

The Most Complete Line of Millinery

ever brought to Montevallo. I intend to keep the reputation my goods have made and offer them cheaper than ever. Call and see me in my new store on Main Street, under the law office of E. S. Lyman, Esq.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY.

New Millinery Store.

I have just opened the nicest line of

MILLINERY GOODS

Ever brought to Montevallo. Having had large experience in this line and having some of the best connections in New York, Baltimore and St. Louis, I feel that I can suit the most fastidious.

PRICES CHEAPER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Call and see me at my new store.

MRS. T. A. BEST,

Corner of Valley and Depot Streets.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

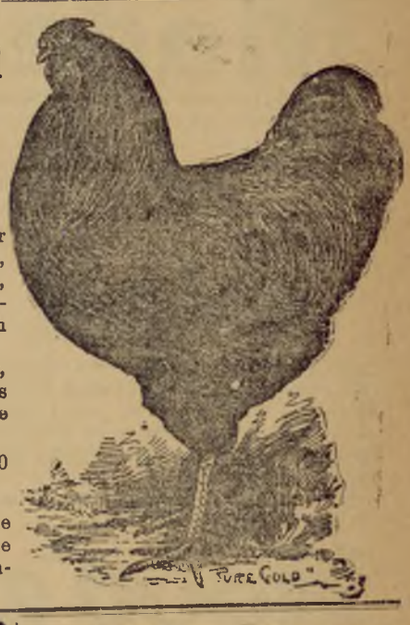
FINE BRED POULTRY

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.



J. B. Lewis Co. WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear, Style, Ease, Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

Students' Ghastly Prank.

Some pranking students stole the human skeleton belonging to the high school at Freeport, Me., the other night, and ran it up by the halyards to the top of the flagpole on the public common.

The statement is made that 4,290 bushels of potatoes marketed at Gaylord, Mich., last week, brought $343.20, or but 8 cents a bushel.

Napoleon had his double, so had Wellington. A boy's double is a green apple.

Hope is believing that some stranger will saw your wood while you sit in the shade.

Fashion never thinks of introducing a style that is of any benefit to humanity.

When Nature

Needs assistance it may be best to render it promptly, but one should remember to use even the most perfect remedies only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company.

The devil could not take Christ high enough to show him anything he wanted.

Gold Dollar Monument.

"It is due you and a pleasure for me to recommend your TETTERINE. Truly, it is an infallible remedy and cure for tetter. My wife had been annoyed by same for about twelve years, and after using the TETTERINE for five days it disappeared entirely, to her great relief. She is ready to sing your praise, and I am prepared to contribute my gold dollar in erecting a monument to your name."

Yours, etc., A. M. HAYWOOD,
Evelyn, Ga.

To J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.

A Good Dog is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

We have no more right to kill ourselves than we have to live useless lives.

Floating-Borax is now the only pure floating soap made. Be sure Dobbins' Soap Mf'g Co., Phila., is on every wrapper and cake. Ask your grocer for it. Red wrappers. No chapped hands with Dobbins' Floating-Borax.

We are poor, we may take a long step toward wealth by becoming contented.

M. L. Thompson & Co., Druggists, Coudersport, Pa., say Hall's Catarrh Cure is the best and only sure cure for catarrh they ever sold. Druggists sell it, 75c.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

Piso's Cure is the medicine to break up children's Coughs and Colds.—Mrs. M. G. BLUNT, Sprague, Wash., March 8, '94.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

Cripple

The iron grasp of sorofula has no mercy upon its victims. This demon of the blood is often not satisfied with causing dreadful sores, but racks the body with the pains of rheumatism until Hood's Sarsaparilla cures.

"Nearly four years ago I became afflicted with sorofula and rheumatism.

Made

Running sores broke out on my thighs. Pieces of bone came out and an operation was contemplated. I had rheumatism in my legs, drawn up out of shape. I lost appetite, could not sleep. I was a perfect wreck. I continued to grow worse and finally gave up the doctor's treatment to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon appetite came back; the sores commenced to heal. My limbs straightened out and I threw away my crutches. I am now stout and hearty and am farming, whereas four years ago I was a cripple. I gladly recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." URBAN HAMMOND, Table Grove, Illinois.

Well

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1 Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

Second Hand
TUERK WATER MOTOR
For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to

Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

Am. N, U. No. 20. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS. 25 CTS.

A GLANCE AT CUBA.

THIS BEAUTIFUL ISLAND RAVAGED BY CIVIL WAR.

Its Sugar Plantations the Chief Source of Wealth---Other Products---Interesting Features of the City of Havana.

Cuba is larger in area and population and richer in natural resources than is generally supposed. It has a total area of 43,319 square miles and a population of one and one half million souls. The distance from its eastern to its western extremity is nearly equal to the distance from New York to Chicago. To a soil of unusual fertility nature has added a climate which is peculiarly favorable to the growth of certain special crops of great value. The country may be broadly divided into the region of plains, the rolling uplands and the forest lands. The lowlands form a practically continuous belt around the island, and in them are to be found the great sugar plantations. Above these, and on the lower slopes of the hills, are found the grazing and farm lands, upon which among other things, is raised the famous Havana tobacco. The balance of the island, especially the eastern portion, is covered with a dense forest growth.

The sugar plantations form the chief source of wealth in Cuba. The cane grows best in the level bottom lands, which are cleared of all shrub and timber growth for this purpose. Some of the plantations are of vast extent, including as many as 10,000 acres, and they stretch away in unbroken monotony on all sides of the batey, which is the name by which the collection of sugar mills, dwellings, stables, etc., in the centre of the plantation is known. Roads or driveways are cut through the cane and radiate in all directions, and along these the teams drag the heavily laden carretas to the mills. The Cuban does not place a heavy yoke upon the shoulders of the oxen, as we do, but uses a lighter yoke, which he lashes across the horns of each pair, so that an ox pushes its load with the head. At the mill the cane is unloaded on to an endless belt, which carries it into the crushers.

The crushed cane, which is known as bagasse, is used for fuel, and the extracted juice is conveyed to large vats, where it is boiled. At a certain stage of the boiling it is transferred to pans, where it crystallizes to a brown sugar, which is then placed in long cylindrical moulds where the molasses is allowed to run off. The sugar is now of a light yellow color, and, to further cleanse it, it is placed in centrifugal separators, where the molasses that still remains is removed, and the sugar, which is now fairly white in appearance, is ready for export. The average production is about 2,000 pounds to one acre. In former days, when the work was done by slaves, they were housed in quarters known as the barracon, which were located within the inclosure of the batey. Although in some parts of the island the laborers occupy the old slave quarters, it is now a common thing for the laborers to live in separate homes, scattered in the neighborhood of the plantations. They are very primitive dwellings, and consist of a square frame of posts, upon which is nailed a layer of boards, the interstices being plastered up with adobe clay. The roofs are thatched with palm leaf, the wood of this tree, which grows in great abundance, being used for the posts and frame of the house.

The celebrated Havana tobacco is grown on the western end of the island and the choicest quality is raised a little to the west of Havana, chiefly on the banks of the San Sebastian. It is known as the "vuelta abajo" tobacco, and nearly the whole of it finds its way to the royal courts of Europe, whose agents have for a long time past been in the habit of buying the whole crop many years in advance. Genuine vuelta abajo cigars will cost $1.25 apiece.

Although there is a certain monotony about the appearance of the lowlands, with their miles of sugar plantation, there is no lack of beauty in the rolling uplands of the interior. The grasses are rich, and cattle raising forms one of the staple industries of the country. Coffee is raised in considerable quantities, and the land produces annually two crops of Indian corn, which is the chief cereal of Cuba. The principal fruits are oranges, pineapples, plantains, bananas and melons. The general agricultural industry, however, whether it takes the form of fruit or general farming, is in an undeveloped condition.

The forests of Cuba form one of its most striking natural features. They are estimated to cover fully two-thirds of the total unreclaimed land, or some 12,000,000 acres in all; and they are so dense as to be almost impenetrable. They are made up largely of hard woods, such as mahogany and the Cuban ebony, and a certain amount is cut down for export. The most valuable growth in the Cuban forests is the palm of which the most common species, the Palma real, is found throughout the whole island, but more particularly in the western half.

The cities of Cuba are fully as picturesque in their way as the surrounding country. By far the most important of these is Havana, which is the capital and the chief seaport of the island. It is admirably situated, both for military and commercial purposes, on the shores of a land-locked harbor, the entrance to which is narrow and tortuous and defended by two forts, known as the Moro and the Punta castles. The most celebrated of these is Moro castle, which is situated on the northeastern side of the entrance. It is in the courtyard of this fortress that many a Cuban patriot has suffered death for his country.

The harbor is one of the finest in the world, and could float a thousand ships of the largest size. Unfortunately, it is bein contaminated by the discharge into it of the whole of the sewage of Havana, and, as there is not sufficient scour of the tide to carry it out to sea, the filth is constantly accumulating. The result will certainly be disastrous to the city, unless some system of direct drainage to the sea be carried out.

Immediately upon landing the visitor is impressed by the strange novelty of the city and its inhabitants. There is a romantic air of mediaevalism about the older quarters of the city; he is at times conscious of having taken a step backward in the march of civilization, and the romantic impression is deepened by the soft, dreamy atmosphere of the tropics and the sweet odor of tropical vegetation. At the same time the more modern portion of the city is well built, and presents a dignified and harmonious appearance. The Spanish influence is everywhere apparent, and a modified classic architecture prevails. The houses are built chiefly of stone and then plastered, this latter work being of a good finish and durable quality. The business people live over their own stores, the two upper stories being used for domestic purposes. The entrance to the better class of homes is often freely decorated with Moorish colored tiles, and stenciling is employed with good effect upon the outside walls.

In the older quarters the streets are narrow and very tortuous and the houses only one story in height. There are no sidewalks to speak of, and as the great heat necessitates the windows being kept continually open, they are protected by prison-like iron gratings. The interior of a Cuban home, even among the better class, is very simple in its appointments. The excessive heat and the prevalence of insects necessitates the use of as little furniture as possible, and no hangings or darperies are to be seen.

The street scenes are novel and often ludicrous, as when, for instance, the milk seller drives the cow and calf (the latter muzzled) up to the door and milks the amount of his purchase in the presence of the customer and literally at his doorstep. The favorite luxury is "barquillo," a thin cake made of flour spiced with cinnamon. The barquillo vender goes through the streets beating a quick-step march on a musical triangle.. Travel is mainly carried on in "volantas," which are hired at the rate of 20 cents for the trip. Whether the trip be for two or three blocks or the whole length of the city, the price is the same. The various promenades, drives and gardens are exceedingly fine, and no visitors should miss seeing the botanical gardens and palm tree avenues of Los Molinos.

It is difficult to get an exact estimate of the population or the relative proportion of its different elements. It is broadly divided into the Insulares or native Cubans of Spanish descent, the Peninsulares or imported Spanish element, which is made up mainly of office holders, merchants and speculators, who do not and never intend to make Cuba their permanent home, and lastly the mixed races, such as the mulatto, negro and Chinese. It is roughly estimated that there are 1,000,000 residents of Spanish extraction, 500,000 colored people and 50,000 Chinese coolies.

Mushrooms and Toadstools.

The common mushroom never grows in the woods. Remembering this the collector will not eat supposed mushrooms found in the woods, and may thus save his family the unpleasant necessity of a coroner's inquest. The gills of the common mushroom are pink or dark brownish purple, but can be distinguished only by accurate knowledge of their individual appearance.

A large genius, the lactarius, is known by its exuding milk when the stems or caps are broken. None of them is poisonous, several of them are large, white and snowy; with two exceptions they grow from the ground, and are found in the woods in large quantities. On tasting, one is disposed to think that spontaneous combustion has occurred in the mouth, but it loses its fiery qualities on cooking, and, though it is a coarse species, is much more tender and savory than many of the vegetables we eat.

Here let me say that in cooking all varieties of toadstools they should be cooked precisely as is the oyster. The time of cooking should be determined by the consistency of the variety. Salt, pepper and butter are the only necessaries as seasoning, and the aim should be to preserve as nearly as possible a natural flavor. It is culinary heresy to soak them with gravies or smother them with foreign flavors.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Musical Cat.

My blue Persian cat is a gentle, sentimental creature, slightly inclined to melancholy, and strangely, even troublesomely, affectionate to one or two select friends. She had been accustomed, from the time I first had her (last summer), to be continually with me, generally on my lap or shoulder. When the winter evenings began to draw on I took to playing the piano, which I had not done during the summer. The cat could not understand why, when this was going on, she was not allowed to take up her usual position. In order, I suppose, to show her disapproval of my occupation, she would continually climb up, either on to me or the piano, and pat my hands with her paws, and pull them off the keys (very gently, and without scratching at all). This became such a nuisance that I could not play unless I put her out of the room; but she would sit outside and howl, and when any one opened the door she would rush in and begin da capo. At last I thought of a way of treating her, viz., like a rational being. I placed a chair next to the music stool (as though for a duet) and put her on it, and explained the matter to her; and from that time I have no further trouble, unless I forget to put her chair for her, when I begin to play.—London Spectator.

THE JOKER'S BUDGET.

JESTS AND YARNS BY FUNNY MEN OF THE PRESS.

Sarcastic---Consistent Fatality---Trifling With Science---Rare Appreciation---Lost His Nerve---For the Rogues' Gallery.

RARE APPRECIATION.

"Did I understand you to say she was a person of rare good taste?" inquired the King of Mwpkta.

"So I have heard, my lord," answered his counsellor.

Thereupon he gave orders to serve the roast underdone.

HE LOST HIS NERVE.

"I hear Snaggs went to have his wisdom tooth pulled this morning."

"Yes."

"Did he have his nerve with him?"

"He did when he sat down. When he got up the dentist had it.

SARCASTIC.

"What does it remind you of when these homely Muglet girls wash their faces?'

"I don't know. What?"

"Irrigation of the plain."

CONSISTENT FATALITY.

"I was just dying to see it."

"Yes?"

"Yes; and when I saw it it was perfectly killing."

TRIFLING WITH SCIENCE.

"What made that X-rays lecturer so mad?"

"Somebody worked him with a piece of boneless codfish."

WHAT SHE WANTED.

"I want proposals——"

The new woman with the old face paused, glancing in surprise at the startled countenances of the men about her.

"I want proposals——"

At first they were unable to believe their ears, but now their worst fears were realized.

"As I said before, gentlemen, I want proposals——"

The assembled men arose in haste and unanimously broke down the door.

"For bids for the construction of my new house," she continued.

But all about her was the stillness of the grave—stillness unbroken, save by the patter of many feet swiftly dying away in the distance.

THE ART OF WAR IN CUBA.

"I shall issue a proclamation," said the Spanish commander, "giving the rebels fifteen days to surrender."

"And if they don't surrender?" inquired his lieutenant.

"Well," answered the general, "if they won't, we'll be no worse off than we are now, will we?"—Puck.

A CHIP OF THE OLD BLOCK.

Headmaster (addressing the class)—How simple and yet sublime is the beautiful and detailed description which Pliny, the younger, gives us of the house in which he lived.

Solomon (aside to his neighbor)—Most likely he wanted to sell it.—Wiener Luft.

FOR THE ROGUES' GALLERY.

"Yes," said the sneakthief as M. Bertillon turned the X-rays upon his palm, "this cathodic business is enough to make almost any one seem light-fingered."

DISGUISED.

Briggs—What! A new bicycle suit! And so different from the one you had on the other day.

Griggs—You bet it is! I ran over a woman who lives in the next block, and I don't want her to recognize me.—Truth.

THE WANT FILLED.

"Wobbles needed exercise so urgently that he bought a bicycle, but he never rides."

"Never rides?"

"No, he never needs any more exercise after he has pumped up his tire."—Truth.

STILL THINKS SO.

"You used to say you thought heaven sent me to you," she said, tearfully, after a little family jar.

"I see no reason to change my mind about that now," he returned.

"Really!" she exclaimed, delightedly.

"Certainly, he replied. Then he spoiled it all by adding "As a punishment."—Chicago Post.

PLENTY OF GOOD SIGNS.

"Did you make much at the deaf and dumb entertainment?"

"Well, they all made gestures, so to speak."

WATERPROOF.

"Cannot, then, my tears reach your heart?" sobbed the Circassian princess.

"Certainly not," answered the India rubber man, with visible asperity. "Do you take me for an impostor?"

The laughing hyena in the menagerie introduced some octave effects, but otherwise nothing came of it.—Detroit Tribune.

THE SECRET OF BEAUTY.

Mrs. De Plain—Doctor, what is the secret of beauty?

Family Physician (confidentially)—Be born pretty.

DIDN'T LIKE THE FORM.

The Hostess—I suppose there is no use of asking you to stay to dinner?

The Caller—Not in that way.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

FASHION'S CHANGES.

Mr. De Style—Why, my dear, I'm glad to see you so composed. When I left this morning you were weeping and wailing and tearing your hair, because Fido was sick."

Mrs. De Style—Well, you see, just after you left, Mrs. Tiptop came in and she told me that dogs fo Fido's breed were going out of fashion. So I dried my tears and kicked him out.—New York Weekly.

Noah's wife is said by Armenians to be buried on Mount Ararat, and the Armenians trace their ancestry back to Japhet in one long genealogical tree. They have a tradition that the Garden of Eden was located in Armenia.

The old man likes to tell about the toughness of his youth, but if he was really tough he keeps still about it.

It would surprise a man if he knew how soon after he employs a man, that man begins to criticise his methods.

Worth Fighting For.

The property of the Salvation Army in this country is valued at something more than $4,000,000.

It is a peculiar fact that tramps and others who have no money with which to pay doctor's bills, never have appendicitis.

No one was ever able to fulfill the promise of his youth; youth is a promise that always goes to protest.

When buying sarsaparilla....

ASK FOR THE BEST AND YOU'LL

GET AYER'S:

ASK FOR AYER'S AND YOU'LL GET

THE BEST.

The remedy with a record:
....50 years of cures.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. F. B. Palmer, city editor of the Oskaloosa, Ia., Times, under date of May 5th, 1895, relates the following experience: "Recently I was compelled by a serious siege of dyspepsia to leave my office work, and thought to seek relief by a month's travel on the Pacific coast. The rest and change helped me somewhat, but I could find no relief for the awful fits of indigestion. When about to return home to Iowa I entered a prominent drug store in Tacoma, Wash, and asked for something that would bring relief from my indigestion. The druggist sold me a box of Ripans Tabules for 50 cents. In less than twenty-four hours I could feel a change for the better. From that day to this I have used Ripans Tabules whenever I felt my old ailment getting in its work, and with most commendable results."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

WHAT IS ALABASTINE?

A pure, permanent and artistic wall coating ready for the brush by mixing in cold water.

FOR SALE BY PAINT DEALERS EVERYWHERE.

FREE A Tint Card showing 12 desirable tints, also Alabastine Souvenir Rock sent free to any one mentioning this paper.

ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

The many imitations of HIRES Rootbeer simply point to its excellence—the genuine article proves it.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

Corn

is a vigorous feeder and responds well to liberal fertilization. On corn lands the yield increases and the soil improves if properly treated with fertilizers containing not under 7% actual

Potash.

A trial of this plan costs but little and is sure to lead to profitable culture.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars boosting special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

Manufacturers
—OF—
Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting
—AND—
Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.

OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.
Write for Prices. Address,
Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

In writing please mention this paper.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. E. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, Ga.

OH, LOOK!
EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain everyday English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE, 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

Real Cocoa

The test of 115 years proves the purity of Walter Baker & Co.'s Cocoa and Chocolate.

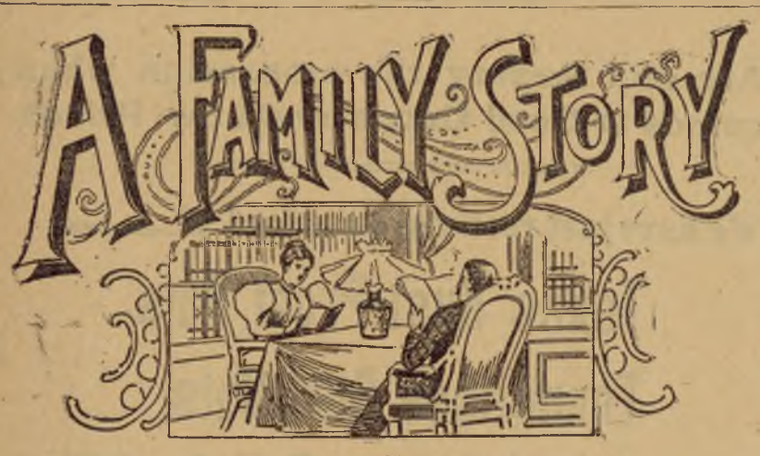
WALTER BAKER & CO., Limited, Dorchester, Mass.

Circuit Clerk's

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. II. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1896. NO. 7.



A SEA CHANGE.

"BUT it is a proof of weakness to be blinded by affection to the faults of those we love. For my part, I make no such distinctions. Even my mother, to me, is first of all an individual, and, after that, my mother."

Pretty Janet Dale gave the speaker a distinctly disapproving glance.

"No, no, Phil," returned his uncle, indulgently reproving in that mellow voice which was one of his charms; "first of all she is your mother, and after that an individual."

The first speaker, Philip Drummond, had one of those vividly handsome faces that would attract attention in any crowd. It was so eager, so young—and his character, too, had all the sharply defined angles of youth. He bristled with theories and opinions. There was a strong family resemblance between himself and his uncle. Mr. Armyn Van Dyne was also a handsome man, but naturally in a more elderly way, with more rotundity of figure; and the fact that his dark eyes were set rather close together deprived them of that candor of expression which characterized Philip's frank gaze.

"Thank you for saying that, Mr. Van Dyne," said Janet, to whom the word "mother" brought back a sad, sweet memory.

"I consent to waive the point," said Philip carelessly. "It's too hot, anyhow, to be argumentative," he added, as he fanned himself with his straw hat.

The conversation took place on board the Tom Jones, a dingy little steamboat that plied between a Southern city and an island of the gulf. They were now waiting to effect their entrance through a canal dock, and the pause was a tedious one, with not a ghost of a breeze blowing, and nothing to be seen but a few gaping bystanders on the bank, and the sprightly fiddler crabs scrambling about in the mud.

"If this is a foretaste of the joys to come," sighed Janet, "what a happy fortnight we shall have!"

"Now, my dear child," urged her father, "don't make up your mind beforehand to dislike the place."

"You see," said Janet, turning to Mr. Van Dyne, "papa has always represented the island as a sort of earthly paradise, and as this is the first time I have ever consented to visit it he feels personally responsible."

"It is a jolly sort of place when you get used to it," struck in Phil. "Not very exciting; but you can do pretty much as you please there—wear old clothes and be as unconventional—and as selfish—as you like."

"That is not my idea of bliss," retorted Janet."

"Whatever else the place lacks," said Mr. Van Dyne, "the air is delicious. It makes one feel young and strong, capable of any exertion."

By this time the tiresome wait was ended, and the Tom Jones was puffing and snorting its way between the banks of the narrow canal; into the bayou, which presently widened into a lake. The sky had been growing darker, and now a sudden squall arose, with sheets of rain and a wild wind. The feminine passengers retired to the small and stuffy cabin, where most of them seized the opportunity to become seasick. As a precautionary measure the engines were stopped, the Tom Jones not being a craft suited to stormy waters.

"I trust this will grow no worse," said Mr. Van Dyne, uneasily. "Are you suffering any inconvenience from the rocking of the boat, Miss Janet?"

"Not at all; only I wish papa would let me go outside. It is so close in here."

Phil appeared just then, with a beaming smile.

"Such a joke!" he exclaimed. "The captain forgot to bring the anchor along."

"Not really?" said Janet.

"I don't see much of a joke about that my boy, especially if the wind rises any higher."

One of the dejected sufferers raised a languid head to ask: "Are we in any danger?"

"Oh, no," said Phil, struggling to open the door. "It's rapidly going down."

She gave a hollow groan. "He says we are rapidly going down," she moaned to a companion in misery.

"The wind, not the boat," exclaimed Phil, and she fell back with a muttered "Oh!"

Presently the squall passed and the boat steamed on once more; but as they had been delayed, it was dusk before they approached the island. Then the painful news was circulated that the tide was too low for the Tom Jones to reach the wharf.

"Must we stay on board all night," asked Janet.

"We are going ashore in a lugger—a romantic lugger that will satisfy all your cravings for the picturesque," replied Phil, with unfeeling levity.

"Don't be alarmed—it won't last long," said Mr. Van Dyne reassuringly.

The passengers embarked upon the lugger with murmurs of, "Dear me! how horrid!" "I wouldn't have come if I'd known this," etc.

It was dark, very dark, with only the glimmer of the lantern at the boat's head to light their progress. Two men marched up and down on the thwarts, poling the boat along through the shoal water; and the passengers shuddered as they heard the cry, "Hard off! hard off!" for they knew they were about to stick in the mud. Three times they stuck, and meanwhile the mosquitoes bit ferociously.

"Even you, papa, must admit that this is a poor beginning," said Janet; but Mr. Dale only groaned and gave a vicious slap at an invisible but very audible swarm of mosquitoes.

At last they reached the wharf and disembarked with some difficulty, but it was so dark that Janet began to follow a stray mule, under the impression that it was her father. She was rescued from this vain pursuit by Phil, who declared that her misapprehension was very unfilial.

"How dreadful it all is," she said, "but at any rate it's something to be on dry land once more."

The next morning, however, under a bright blue sky, the island put on its prettiest face and Janet could not help being pleased with it. The freshly painted cottages beneath the rows of trees looked very attractive, and the old sugar house, which did duty as a ball room, gave promise of pleasure to come.

The days passed lazily and pleasantly, for a stiff breeze had swept away the mosquitoes, and the air was like a daught from the Fountain of Youth.

Mr. Van Dyne was his own charming self, and Janet could not help owing that there was something very winning also in Phil's good spirits, though she was repelled by some of the sentiments he uttered.

"He must have a hard, selfish streak in him," she thought, for she was still young enough to judge people by their words.

But presently the bright weather began to break up, and on the day set for an excursion to the neighboring lighthouse, the sky looked so threatening that Mr. Dale would not allow Janet to go with the party.

"Those long wisps of clouds mean wind," he said.

Janet felt inclined to pout as the gay party, headed by Phil, set forth on their quest of pleasure.

Darker and darker grew the sky, and toward afternoon it began to rain in gusts, and the wind piped shrilly. Some anxiety was felt on behalf of the absent ones, and Janet joined a group of watchers on the dining room gallery. Presently the lugger appeared, her sail sometimes almost flat upon the water as a fierce gust made her careen; but at last she battled her way to the wharf.

"What, are you among the watchers?" said Phil to Janet.

"We feared you might have come to harm," she replied.

"You feared for me?" he questioned, eagerly and wistfully.

"You, who believe in the duty of being selfish, can hardly imagine, I suppose, that one may feel interested in the safety of a fellow-being," she retorted, turning away from him and leaving him rebuffed and baffled.

All the next day the rain fell in torrents,, and the wind raged. Janet slept little when night came, for the dark was full of strange noises.

Toward daylight she arose and went to the window. As far as the eye could see the island was covered with water. It had risen level with the gallery floor, and was gurgling and gulping under the house. Still the wind howled and the rain deluged the earth. A terrified flock of cows stampeded through the water on their way to the high grounds of the ridge. Presently a rocking chair came bobbing along on the flood; then a wheelbarrow; then a chicken coop; then a barrel. Janet looked across the road toward one of the cottages and saw the water flowing in at the front door, under the bed, and out of the back door. She gave a little shiver as she turned away, and went to knock at her father's door.

"Get up, papa!" she cried, "everything is under water."

Mr. Dale, after splashing forth on a hasty tour of investigation, found that most of the cottagers had already adjourned to the "ball room"—that being considered the safest place. Phil was going around in a skiff to carry them thither; trying to revive their drooping spirits with the theory that the whole thing was a great lark.

"This will be something to talk about next winter," he said, as he helped Janet into the skip. "If ever you get short of subjects for conversation, you can always fall back on your perilous adventures."

"Yes—if we live to tell the tale," remarked Janet.

Up at the ballroom they found a dismal enough crowd. One stout German lady shook her head automatically, and ejaculated at intervals. "We'll never see our happy homes again!" The children were fretful, and their terrified mothers seemed to have lost the art of soothing them. Phil made a heroic effort to cheer them up—played with the children, joked with the old folks and induced some of the younger ones to gather around the piano and sing; but after all it was a fictitious gayety he stimulated, and it soon flickered down again. There was something too alarming to be ignored in the fury of the elements—the rising water, the never ceasing wind and rain. Janet noticed with some surprise that Mr. Van Dyne was gloomy, and even snappish. He answered shortly when spoken to, and seemed more concerned about his own comfort than anything else. He secured one of the few armchairs, and ensconcing himself in it, relapsed into sullen silence.

And still, as dark drew on, the storm increased, wieh lashing rain and screeching wind, and, above all other sounds, the great hoarse roar of the breakers. Phil and some of the other men made what provision they could for the comfort of the women and children; but Mr. Van Dyne made no move to give up his easy chair. Presently there were people asleep on the tables and benches—some even huddled upon the floor.

"It looks now like a tramps' lodging house," remarked Phil to Janet.

She turned and looked at him. "We are in great danger, are not we?" she asked. "I heard Captain Sanders say we may expect the worst, if the wind veers."

"Well, it hasn't veered yet, he answered.

"But it may."

"Yes, it may. I will tell you the truth, because you have courage to hear it. We are in great peril, and heaven knows how it will end."

There was silence between them for a moment, and then he took her cold hand in his.

"Janet," he said, "I must tell you—even here and now—how much I love you; even if you cannot love me, it eases my heart to tell you—"

"But I do, Phil," she answered, looking up with her frank blue eyes, The truth is, I was afraid to let myself love you until I learned, through this storm, how kind and good and unselfish you really are. You used to say such hard things, but now I see you are one of those who practice but do not preach."

And so they sat, side by side, hand in hand, happy in spite of their peril—happy, as romantic youth can be, even in the thought of dying together.

But no such poetic climax was possible. The storm subsided gradually, the waters began to recede, and as the two watched, with tired eyes, the coming of dawn, they knew that fate had spared them for life and love.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Some Queer Consuls.

"A few month since," remarked a recently returned traveler, "I had occasion to hunt up the American viceconsul at Luxor, on the Nile, in Egypt. He proved to be an Arab of probably Nubian blood, for he is as dark in color as the average colored man. He had never been out of Egypt in his life, could only speak Arabian and knew more about the United States than the ordinary hog knows of Christmas. I had considerable fun, but could transact no business with him, for there was no one about the place who could talk anything but Arabian, and that was beyond me. He had, however, an American flag in his office, which was some satisfaction to me, for I have met consular agents in various parts of the world who did not know even how it looked."—Washington Star.

Hard-Hearted Nurse.

A nurse in Los Angeles, Cal., is holding the baby she was hired to care for as surety for the payment of her wages. The mother of the child fell behind in her payments to the nurse, and finally the nurse refused to surrender the child until she was paid in full. The case is to come in court on habeas corpus proceedings.—Chicago Chronicle.

HORSE HOSPITAL.

DOCTORING SICK ANIMALS IN A BIG CAR COMPANY'S STABLES.

American Car Horses Unlike Others of Their Kind—Traits Which They Develop — Ailments From Which They Suffer.

IT will surprise many people to learn that a car horse only works three hours a day. But that is the absolute truth, at least with regard to the line that is written about here.

The life of a car horse has commonly been regarded as synonymous with overwork, misery and early death. But according to the foreman of the Eighth avenue car line stables of this city the idea is entirely erroneous. The car horse's occupation, he says, is healthful, cheerful and full of pleasant variety, and everything is done to make life agreeable for him.

In the care of the car horse the hospital of the stables plays a very important part. In these stable 1050 horses sleep regularly, and are fed, doctored and cared for. On their condition depends the working of a very important car service.

The American car horse is almost a distinct breed, and nothing exactly like him can be seen anywhere else in the world. He must be extremely robust. Whatever fault Americans may find with their horse cars, they must admit that they are faster than in any other country, and that they run all night, which they do not do elsewhere. This means much to the car horse. He is a sort of diluted draught horse. He is smaller, but he has a strength and solidity of limb indicating Norman or Percheron blood. Of course he could never run around with the enormous bodies of those animals.

Every morning a horse gets a brush down. In summer he is washed, but never in winter. Long haired horses are cropped in all seasons, because their coats would get wet and they would catch cold and die, or be made useless in a very short time.

After the brushing comes breakfast. The horses are fed on cut hay mixed with grain and moistened. Wet food enables them to endure violent work much better than dry would.

The grooms and the horses become very much attached to one another. When one of the animals is transferred to a new groom he will kick. The men on their side are sorry to be parted from old friends, and make every effort to keep them in good health.

The horse has animal intelligence of a useful but not a very high order. He easily becomes accustomed to a routine of duties and will then go through it with great fidelity, showing less forgetfulness than a man. The car horse knows just how long he must work, how to get ready to be harnessed and what treatment is good for him when he is ill. If man allowed him to he would learn not to start until passengers were clear of the car.

It is the duty of the foreman to watch out for the slightest sickness among the horses. Neglect would quickly make an animal permanently worthless for car purposes. The foreman says that most of them last six or seven years at the work. There is one veteran on the the line who has been at it for seventeen years.

Very often they develop corns on the soles of their feet. These must be attended to at once. There are several stalls the bottoms of which are entirely filled by large troughs. When a horse has corns one of these baths is filled with warm water. The horse is led to it and the groom puts one of the animal's feet into it. The warmth is so grateful and relieving that the horse will soon put all four feet into the warm water. A sufferer from corns will spend twenty-four hours standing in the water without showing signs of impatience. After the soaking is over the corns are pared and a specially made easy shoe is fitted to the tender foot or feet. If the case is unusually severe a flaxseed poultice is applied to the foot.

Pneumonia is a very common complaint among the horses, especially at this season. It is treated by mustard plasters applied on the chest in the region of the lungs.

Colic frequently attacks young horses, and, if severe, is almost certain to be fatal. It is made dangerous chiefly because the animals are unable to vomit. This peculiarity arises from the fact that they have not complete diaphragms like those of man and many other animals. A horse with the colic complains very loudly.

There is a common spinal trouble which horses suffer, the result of which is to make them unable to get up after lying down. The patient is tied up in a sling when under treatment for this trouble.

Spavin, knuckle and ringbone are among the numberless other ills to which horseflesh is heir, and which are sometimes cured in this hospital. Animals seriously diseased are sold.—New York Journal.

In Muskogee, Indian Territory, ear corn is selling seventy-four pounds for fifteen cents. Hay can find no market, as the freight to Chicago is more than hay sells for, and the nearby markets are too small to take the immense crop instack.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Glass bricks are being made in Silesia for building purposes.

The artificial camphor sold as moth balls is obtained from coal tar.

The coal consumed at the Kimberley diamond mines, in South Africa, costs nearly $100 per ton.

A recent invention is the manufacture of charcoal of a high commercial value from leather scrap or waste.

The new searchlight at Barnegat, N. J., near New York Harbor, throws a light which can be seen nearly 100 miles at sea.

London city has now about twenty-three miles of roadway laid with noiseless materials, three-fourths being asphalt and the rest wood.

The Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis is moving to secure health regulations against expectoration in public conveyances.

Establishments for bicycle cleaning have been opened in Berlin. For a small annual subscription the wheel is called for, cleaned and returned to the subscriber whenever he desires.

A broken needle imbedded in the fleshy part of a woman's head was drawn out by a powerful electro-magnet improvised at the electric light works in Cherryfield, Me., the other day.

The alligator never leaves fresh water, while the crocodile frequently travels long distances by sea. It has been seen one thousand miles from land, and it is possible that these seagoing crocodiles have given rise to sea-serpent stories.

The planet Neptune, which had for countless ages revolved in the heavens unseen by any one on earth, was discovered simultaneously and independently in 1846 by Professor Adams and M. Leverrier, the two most brilliant astronomers of the day.

Dr. W. A. Shepard, of Elgin, Ill., announces that he has discovered a cure for consumption. He says that in the four years that he has been testing his discovery every case treated in the first stage has been cured, and eighty per cent. of those in later stages.

The meldometer is an instrtment invented by an Irishman. It consists of a thin platinum strip, which can be heated by the passage of an electric current. Small pieces of a solid substance are placed on the strip and the temperature at which they melt is deduced from the length of the platinum strip, which has been previously calibrated by means of solids of known melting points.

Cromwell's Clock.

Probably the oldest timepiece in the country is the clock which complacently ticks away the hours of the days and nights in the building of the Philadelphia Library Company, at Juniper and Locust streets, Philadelphia, unquestionably first and foremost in its collection of historical relics. How many of the daily visitors to the Philadelphia library stop to read the legend on the card which informs them that "this clock was made for and belonged to Oliver Cromwell, the protector," or think of examining the two other timepieces which occupy spaces in the reading room of the library? Yet the Cromwell clock has been part of the furniture of the Philadelphia library since it was presented to the company in 1793. The remarkable feature of this piece of mechanism is that although fully 140 years of age, it still keeps perfect time. The Cromwell clock is wonderfully well preserved and runs with perfect regularity. It is one of those old-fashioned timepieces which stand on the floor, with its face about half a foot above the head of a man of average height. The face is plain, polished brass, with a steel circle containing the hours in Roman figures. The minute hand is perfectly plain, but the hour hand is ornamented by a sort of scroll work. There is really nothing particularly remarkable about its workmanship or its general appearance. Its style is familiar to everyone as that of the grandfather clock of ancient date. Its mechanism is simple in the extreme, there being but a few brass wheels, a weight suspended by a piece of twine, and a pendulum. In very fine script letters at the bottom of the face, is the name of Johannes Framantech, London, who constructed the timepiece.—Detroit Free Press.

Gas from Sawdust.

There are several large lumber mills in Deseronto, Canada, and the town is partially lighted by gas obtained from sawdust from them. The sawdust is charged in retorts which are heated by a wood fire. The gas from these retorts passes into a series of coils and thence into the purifiers, which are similar to those used for coal gas. Lime is used as a purifying agent. The plant is not a very large one, and it only turns out 540 cubic metres of gas per day, for which about two tons of sawdust are required. A man and boy furnish all the labor needed at the works. The best quality of gas comes from resinous woods. One hundred kilogrammes of sawdust leave a residue of twenty kilogrammes of charcoal, and the gas in an ordinary burner, says the Engineering and Mining Journal, gives an illumination of about eighteen candle power.

WITH MAGGIE AT THE BARS.

This is truth—as we grow older, and go farther from the times
When the days were formed in measure, and the nights were writ in rhymes,
We grow fonder of the old things—for, in that romantic age,
All our living was a poem printed on a tinted page;
And the sweetest lyric written was at eve beneath the stars,
Long ago, there at the farmstead, with sweet Maggie at the bars.

I have had somewhat of pleasure from a worldly point of view,
I have met with kindly bosoms, with their hearts pulsating true;
But, somehow, the woods and meadows have no flowers quite as fair
As they bloomed when I was younger, in the love-surrounded air
While the moons are not as tender, and not quite so bright the stars,
As they shone when we were trysting—I and Maggie at the bars.

Will [illegible] Hale.

PITH AND POINT.

Love's young dream often goes by contraries.

A good many of the people who dance contrive to owe the piper.—Puck.

The world may owe us a living, but it isn't easy to hypothecate the claim.—Puck.

If a man does not know when he is beaten, some kind friend is pretty sure to tell him.—Puck.

More loss of sleep has been caused by defective stomachs than by guilty consciences.—Puck.

To write an epigram all you have to do is to think up something mean in two lines and make it rhyme.—Texas Sifter.

Jinks—"Would you call Brobson a fool?" Filkins—"Well, hardly; but I think he knows the least on the most subjects of any man of my acquaintance."—Puck.

Poetry Fed: She (sentimentally)—"What poetry there is in fire!" He (sadly)—"Yes; a great deal of my pretty poetry has gone there."—Harper's Bazar.

How He Found Them: Jimmy the Con—"How are you finding things these hard times?" Mike, the Porch-climber—"Easy. Been using the X ray."—Indianapolis Journal.

"How large were the diamonds?" asked the press agent, pausing in the writing of the account for publication. "About as large as chestnuts," confessed the actress, unwittingly.—Indianapolis Journal.

Winterbloom—"Don't you think $200 is rather high for a tailor-made gown? Von Blumer tells me his wife paid only $150." Mrs. Winterbloom—"True, my dear, but she got hers before I got mine."—Harlem Life.

Game Warden—"Look here. Don't you know that you can't shoot deer just now!" Proud Amateur Sportsman—"Can't I? (pointing to a fine dead buck). Look at that and see whether I can't."—Boston Courier.

Proud Pop (to old bachelor friend)—"I tell you, Dawson, there's no baby like my baby." Dawson—"I'm glad you've waked up to that fact. I knew mighty well there never was a baby like the one you desired."—Harper's Bazar.

"What a nasty smell burned powder has!" said Johnny. "Powder?" exclaimed his elder sister, Miss Maud, looking up. "Why, it hasn't any sm—oh, you mean, gunpowder!" And she turned a lovely, creamy shade of vermillion and became absorbed in her fashion magazine again.—Chicago Tribune.

Leprosy on the Increase.

"Leprosy has been on the increase in the United States for the past ten years," said Dr. E. W. Munshall, of New Orleans, at the Arlington. "Very little is said about it, but Louisiana has had to provide a separate hospital for them, as has California. There are a good many cases of genuine leprosy, and the number has been increasing until very recently because no cure has been known. Now, there is a cure that I believe will prove an absolute specific, and the reports I have received from it in Mokalai, the leper island, are such that I will be surprised if it does not practically banish leprosy from the world. The remedy was discovered by Dr. Goto, a Japanese physician of great reputation, and it has already received royal sanction in Japan. It is now being tried in the Pacific islands, and I am informed by reliable authority that cases have been cured where no other known remedy would have had the least effect."—Washington Star.

Extraordinary Stenographic Feat.

The most extraordinary stenographic feat we ever heard of was performed last year by Mr. Reed, an Englishman. In the sittings of the opium commission in India, he recorded accurately, and afterward read over, the evidence of two Brahmans, of whose language he knew nothing and whom he had never seen before. He took down the sounds as they came from their lips, representing each sound by its phonetic character.—Baltimore Journal of Commerce.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, } Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

The Minneapolis Journal is one among many papers which admit the possibility of Japanese and other Oriental competition, but thinks it will come in the remote future.

It is in vain to suppose that the poor should adopt better methods of choosing and preparing their food till they are furnished with better implements and utensils for cooking, wrote Count Rumford.

The rumor has been heard often enough before, but this time the hatters say it is really true, cables Harold Frederic from London, that the high silk hat is diminishing everywhere in sales, and is clearly on the road to popular discredit.

The Harvard Co-operative Society, which was organized by Harvard students so that they might get their supplies of clothing, books, etc., at a cheap co-operative rate, has done a larger business each year since its foundation. In 1893-94 the business amounted to $118,500; in 1894-95 to $236,000.

The Chicago Times-Herald says General Gomez, Commander-in-Chief of Cuba's 45,000 rebel soldiers, left a peaceful home in his seventy-second year to lead the fight for Cuban freedom. No Nation on earth can long enslave such a people, led by such a man. His is the spirit that animated the rebels of 1776.

Inter-State emigration still continues to a considerable extent, and there is a constant movement of dissatisfied farmers from one region to another. During a recent week forty families moved from the country about Delphi, Ind., out to North Dakota. At the same time families were moving from North Dakota to the South, and the Northwestern papers print frequently paragraphs telling of persons leaving that region and of other persons moving there. The circumstances appear odd, but they seem, to the New York Sun, only to show that no one place is everybody's paradise, despite the eloquence of the land boomers.

On the northern border of Minnesota, surrounded by the waters of the chain of lakes that form part of the international boundary in that region, is a tract of 800 square miles of land known as Hunter's Island. The question is, does this island rightfully belong to the United States or to Canada? This question is to be investigated by a special committee of members of the House of Representatives. The island in different maps is given differently, though oftener to Canada. The old Webster-Ashburton treaty of 1842 fixed the boundary at the channel of the Rainy Lake outlet. The question becomes, therefore, a question of fact, whether that channel runs north or south of Hunter's Island.

The New York Times believes there is cause for serious reflection in the fact that the largest contribution ever made to the "conscience fund" at Washington was one amounting to $5000, received lately from somebody in England. Now, $5000 is not a sum of such magnitude, when compared with the losses which this Government has sustained from time to time through one form of iniquity or another, as to give a very exalted idea of the power of conscience over pocketbooks. Not infrequently the inner monitor succeeds in persuading sinners to demonstrate their penitence by sending a dollar or two to National, State or municipal Treasurers; occasionally its influence is strong enough to produce effects running into three figures, but somewhere among the first ten thousands the limit is reached. This is decidedly queer, for one might imagine that the mental suffering produced by a big theft would be much more poignant and more likely to be unendurable than the disquietude following an insignificant peculation. That such is not the case simply illustrates the perversity of man.

EVENTS IN ALABAMA

Carefully Collated and Condensed for Our Readers.

BIRMINGHAM MISSION REPORT.

A Fool's Fun at Gadsden Results in the Death of a Boy—Fatalities of Several Free Fights—Solomon Palmer Closes a Useful Career—State Militia Ordered Into Camp.

Cumberland Presbyterains.

The general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church will convene at Birmingham on Thursday, May 21.

For Robbing the Safe.

Thomas W. Dubose, the colored porter at the Southern railway ticket office in Selma, is in jail for robbing the safe. He was caught redhanded with some $65.

Military Encampment.

The First and Third regiments, state troops, have been ordered into camp on June 8.

The Second regiment has been ordered into camp on June 20.

College Commencement.

The commencement exercises of the Seventh District Agricultural school, Albertville, opened Sunday, May 3, and closed Wednesday, May 6. The exercises from beginning to end were enjoyed by all.

Bitten by a Mad Dog.

On Saturday night Mr. Robert Stapleton, living near Gastonburg, was bitten by a mad dog. Dr. Gaston who dressed the wounds, says he had on a pair of heavy jeans pantaloons and he hopes Mr. Stapleton will recover.

The Western Union Sued.

Mrs. Nancy James, of Huntsville, has sued the Western Union Telegraph company in the circuit court for $1,000 as damages for delay in the delivery of a telegram to her announcing the death of her son in Anniston.

A $10,000 Verdict.

In the Birmingham city court a few days since, Robert T. Hulsey obtained a verdict against the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company for $10,000. He claimed $15,000 in a suit for damages, of which the verdict was the result.

Two Farmers Shoot Each Other.

Saturday night George Gray and Geo. W. Watson, very prominent citizens of Lee county, became involved in a difficulty over a negro tenant. Gray shot Watson twice with a rifle, and Watson in return fired two loads of shot into Gray. Watson died in ten minutes. Gray's wounds will probably prove fatal.

Buying Himself Rich.

J. B. Kornegay, of Van Dorn, Ala., is under arrest charged with fraudulent use of the mails. He is said to have ordered some $22,000 worth of goods from 120 different firms in the north and west and disposed of the goods at a big discount and made no effort to settle. In December last he made an assignment, transferring previously all of his property to his wife.

Settling Their Differences.

At Bessemer Saturday afternoon Frank O'Rourke and Tom Burke, two young men in the employ of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway company, who have been at outs for some time, renewed their quarrel, and both began firing with revolvers, exchanging five shots each.

Burke was wounded in the hip, and it is thought that he will die. O'Rourke surrendered, and is being held pending Burke's wounds.

Fatal Malicious Mischief.

Saturday afternoon "Bud" Thomas, a negro boy, 12 years old, was riding a spirited horse in Gadsden. In the street he met Rube Horton, an 8-year-old negro, who was shying around for the evident purpose of frightening the horse. Thomas stopped and asked the boy to stop.

"My horse is scary," he said. "Get out of the road and don't do that way."

Horton then picked up a rock and struck the horse. The animal threw Thomas, and before the boy struck the ground, kicked him in the head, just above the ear. He died in a few minutes.

Grand Lodge I. O. O. F.

The fifty-sixth annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows came to a close in Jasper Wednesday evening about 9 o'clock.

Bessemer was chosen for the next place of the Grand Lodge meeting.

The following are the present officers of the Grand Lodge, having been installed just before adjournment:

Grand Master—H. L. McKee, of Selma.

Deputy Grand Master—W. T. Hutchens, of Huntsville.

Grand Warden—A. F. McGee, of Anniston.

Grand Secretary—R. P. Whitman, of Huntsville.

Deputy District Grand Master at Jasper—Dr. J. A. Goodwin.

Grand Representatives—A. G. Bethard, Decatur; O. J. Semmes, Mobile; H. C. Weaver, Huntsville.

Death of Major Solomon Palmer.

Major Solomon Palmer, president of the East Lake atheneum, near Birmingham, one of the leading female colleges of Alabama, while walking in the grounds of that institution at 7 o'clock Friday morning, was stricken with apoplexy and died two hours later.

Major Palmer was one of the most prominent educators in the south. He was superintendent of education of Alabama for three terms, from 1884 to 1890, and was the only state official who ever served three terms. He narthe hands of the democracy.

Major Palmer was born in Blount county, and when a boy walked to Tuskaloosa, nearly 100 miles distant, to complete his education at the State university. He was 57 years old.

Birmingham Mission Report.

The Birmingham and vicinity mission work has been steadily pushed forward. Once per week services have been held in the county jail, city jail, county almshouse at Woodlawn, railroad hospital of Drs. Wilson & Brown, and from three services per week to every night services for one month have been held in Hopewell, with varying interest. All of the five above named places have been kept well supplied with the best religious literature, received from various places by the missionary. Hundreds of religious house visits have been made, with the reading of the Bible, prayers and the distribution of good literature.

The colored woman's meeting has been ably led by white ladies of learning and Christian experience. Their services have always been highly appreciated, and our homes are being greatly blessed because of these meetings.

A colored mothers' meeting has been organized in Woodlawn, and our women are taking right hold of the work. The meeting is led by strong Christian white ladies of Woodlawn.

The business of the missionary is to work up these meetings.

There have been six conversions in the county jail this year, and twelve in the county almshouse.

The white people have given $116.03 for colored missions in and around Birmingham this year, and the colored people $22.50. Total from white and colored, $138.54.

R. H. Keller,
City Missionary.

DEVASTATING STORMS.

Child Killed—Two Men Drowned—Much Property Destroyed.

A severe storm, announced by the weather bureau, fell upon St. Louis Wednesday evening. From an almost clear sky at 6 o'clock rain fell in torrents, and was carried in waves through the air by a 40-mile wind. Damage to life and property was very great.

Agnes Bolin, aged 3, was blown off a porch and killed. Two men were drowned by the swamping of boats in the river.

Louis Traffinger, wife and child, were buried in the debris of their house and badly injured.

The steeple of a church at Fifteenth and Walnut streets fell on the sidewalk, but no one was injured.

Three horses and two mules were killed by the falling of a smokestack of Anthony & Kuhn's brewery.

The smokestack of the Liberty brewery fell, but no one was injured. In, calculable loss was done to shade trees, shrubbery and light buildings.

A heavy storm swept through the Chippewa Valley, Wisconsin, doing thousands of dollars of damage. Cloudburts are reported at Bloomer and other points. Menominee suffered the worst—two railroad bridges, two wagon bridges and a foot bridge crossing Wilson creek were swept away. The loss is said to be $45 000. A mill some distance above Menomiuee was also swept away, which is not included in the loss named. Several trains are delayed by washouts.

SAVANNAH INTER-STATE DRILL

The Morton Cadets, of Washington, Win the Championship Cup.

The military celebration in Savannah, Ga., ended Friday night with the presentation of the prizes, which were awarded by Col. William Garrard as follows:

Inter-state drill—First prize, $2,500, Morton Cadets, of Washington, D. C.; second prize, $500, Oglethorpe Infantry, of Augusta, Ga.

Zouave contest—The prize of $1,000 was awarded to the Aurora Zouaves, of Aurora, Ind., the only company participating, the Neeley Zouaves, of Memphis, having been excluded, as having no recognized military standing.

Cadet contest—First prize, $600, Citadel Cadets, of Charleston, S. C.; second prize, $400, Gordon Institute Cadets, of Barnesville, Ga.

Tilting contest—First prize, $110, Liberty County (Ga.) Independent Troop's first team. The first team of the Liberty County Guards won the second prize.

Largest turnout—First prize, $110, Liberty Independent Troop, 43 men; second prize, Liberty Guards, 30 men.

The Galveston cup, for the champion military organization of the United States, was awarded to the Morton Cadets.

Expert Rascals Arrested.

At San San Francisco, Cal., on Friday last the grand jury found true bills against two men whose names and crimes have thus far been kept secret. The men indicted are Charles Brecker, known for twenty years as the "Prince of Forgers," and James Creegan, who has no equal as a negotiator of spurious paper. Bail was fixed in each case at $20,000, and bench warrants were issued by Judge Stack for the arrest of the two expert criminals.

LATER.—James Creegan and Charles Brecker were arrested at Newark, N. J., Wednesday on a charge of check-raising, by which they secured from the Bank of Nevada, at San Francisco, $22,000.

$15 REWARD

Will be paid to anyone establishing the fact that Fleming's English Remedy for colic in horses and mules has failed to relieve. For sale by H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, Montevallo, Ala.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

The Business of the South and Southwest Remains Dull.

Bradstreet's weekly trade review says: Trade throughout the country remains quiet; wholesale merchants continue conservative, and the distribution of general merchandise is almost of a hand-to-mouth character. South and southwest business remains dull and featureless—unchanged from last week. At larger eastern centers travelers are preparing to start out, but unfavorable features in recent weeks in respect to cotton, wool, steel and iron industries show no changes. Collections continue unsatisfactory. Recent rains have had a very favorable influence on crops in Kansas and Missouri. This has tended to make the merchants regard the outlook more favorably and to stimulate purchases. In addition to a better feeling and stronger values for leather and hides, steel rail mills have sold two tons of product this year to one ton last year. The fact that fewer pig iron furnaces are turning out as much, if not more, iron this month than last, indicates that an unexpectedly large volume of contracts had been placed prior to the late nominal advance in quotations. The recent average weekly commercial death rate is continued, with a total of 265 business failures throughout the United States this week, against 267 last week, and against 210 in the corresponding week one year ago. More important changes in quotations for staples include advances for nails, cotton and oats, and decreases for pig iron, wool, petroleum, flour, wheat and pork, with steel nominally unchanged or shaded, according to the character of the sale.

TERRIBLE RESULTS OF A STORM.

Seventy-three People Dead and Probably Many More.

Sherman, Texas, was struck by a cyclone about 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, leaving death, destruction and suffering in its path. It is estimated that seventy-five people were killed and 150 wounded.

About seventy houses in the city are totally destroyed. Every member of some families were killed, and it is miraculous how members of other families escaped. A dead child was found in the top of a tree about two miles from the city. An old lady was found half a mile from the house in which she was at the time of the cyclone. Every vacant building in the city has been converted into a morgue or hospital, and every physician from all the neighboring cities are here attending to the wounded.

Following is a list of the dead so far as known:

WHITE.

R. L. Burns, wife aad two children.
Mrs. Otto Spaulding and two children.
James Nicholson, wife and three children.
L. H. Montgomery, wife and two children.
John Ames, wife and two children.
Rev. Mr. Shearer.
Eight members of the Pearce and Richardson families at the Wakefield farm.
Child of Mrs. Craighead.
Mrs. Burns and two children.
Mrs. James Davis.
Mrs. John Fields.

COLORED.

Lucinda Lake.
Charles Cox.
Eliza Cox.
Rosina Lake.
Sloane Ballinger.
Katie Ballinger.
William Nickerson's four children.
Wright Clarke and three members of his family.
Mrs Athens.
Eighteen unidentified dead are at the city hall.
Seriously injured — Professor and Mrs. Kohler, six children of J. B. Irwin and Edward Truro.

AT OTHER POINTS.

Justin—J. W. Evans was killed, seventeen wounded, some of them fatally, and twelve houses destroyed.

Gribble Springs—Four killed and more than twenty injured, some of whom will die. The village was about destroyed.

TWO ITEMS FROM CUBA.

The Reader Can Strike an Average If He Likes.

Advices from Havana, via Key West, Wednesday, state that in the recent engagement between Antonio Maceo and General Ynclan at Cacarajicaras, Pinar del Rio, 400 Spaniards were killed, while the Cubans lost 17. Socarras, the famous Cuban leader, was killed in this battle.

At Havana, on Thursday, Colonel Frances reports leaving Mariel and marching in the direction of Hoyo Colorado, in the province of Havana. Upon arriving at Panes the enemy attacked the van guard and rear guard of his column, but were repulsed, the Spanish troops using their artillery. The loss of the rebels is supposed to have been heavy. The troops had fifteen men wounded.

Further Details of the Storm.

The cyclone which swept through several counties in northern Texas and passed on into the Indian Territory, last Friday, left death and ruin in its wake at Howe, Texas. Ten farm houses and as many barns were wrecked, eight persons killed and many hurt.

Land Title Quarrel.

Thomas Ingram and John Pine, farmers, living near Greenville, Texas, agreed to fight out a land title quarrel, and met the other day on the highway with rifles. Pine was shot four times and killed. Ingram was shot twice, one ball penetrating his body and inflicting a fatal wound.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma.....	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham.....	7:25 p m
No. 15	South.....	12:37 p m
No. 16	North.....	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Perhaps this will catch the eye of some woman that wishes to buy a hat. If so let it bear to her the information that Mrs. T. A. Best, the milliner, has just received a line of hats that are marvels in point of cheapness and beauty of design. If a hat doesn't suit you, she has the taste and judgment to arrange it so that it will become you.

Tuesday Miss Della Latham took leave of her friends for a summer visit to Talladega Springs. We wish her the pleasure and the health that we feel she deserves.

Miss Lutie Blevins, of Calera, visited Miss Mariah Hawkins Tuesday. Miss Blevins was accompanied by Mr. Lewis Dial.

E. L. Davis visited Centreville Tuesday.

Pat McConaughy made a trip to Birmingham last week and among other investments got unto himself a tip toy wheel—a Waverly.

Dr. Acker was called away Tuesday to see his daughter, Mrs. Griffin, who is reported seriously ill.

Ed Storrs was served with a paper last week by the Shelby county sheriff. Selling whisky is the charge. We are sorry for Ed, but considering his traffic we hope we will have occasion to be sorry for him and all others engaged in and encouraging or abetting it.

His many friends in Montevallo felt better for seeing for a few days last week, Mr. Thomas J. Williams, of Selma.

Hrs. Almyr Burk, of British, accompanied by Mrs Harper, of the same place, visited Montevallo Saturday.

Mr. Thomas J. Perry, of Birmingham, spent Sunday in town.

Rev. P. L. Abernathy left Monday for Marion, accompanied by his mother, who spent several days with Mrs. C. W. Cary, of this place.

Among the welcome visitors to Montevallo Saturday were Mr. Newt Langston and his sister, Miss Ruby.

Mr. George Holcomb, of Calera, passed through Montevallo Sunday on his way south on business.

Mr. Ben Large, of Ashby, was in town last week.

Mrs. Cobb, wife of the clever and efficient agent at Aldrich, was in Montevallo Monday.

Mr. Sam Morgan returned to Blocton Sunday.

The Southern proposes to do the right thing for Montevallo. Lumber has been unloaded, and a force of men will come the latter part of the week to begin work immediately on the depot. It will be remodeled altogether as to the front part. A large bay window will project towards the railroad and the front part of the platform on that side will be done away with altogether. The whole front of the depot will also be let down close to the ground.

We won't say that he is a "hobo." We don't think it is necessary. But unless his future record improves on that of the past, we would advise other towns to beware of a lantern-jawed young man, height about 5 feet 8 inches, who makes old sewing machines better than new, and who can jump a board bill and a bill board with equal agility.

Mr. Sam Large, of Calera, spent Sunday with his mother in this place.

Commissioner Rufe Walker, of Helena, accompanied by his wife, was in our town Tuesday. Mr. Walker is always a welcome visitor to Montevallo.

Mrs. R. S. Allen, of Birmingham, is spending the week in Montevallo.

H. E. Reynold's, of Blocton, came in on the Three B. Sunday morning and left by the same road in the evening.

Among the arrivals Sunday morning, friends noted with pleasure the faces of Mr. and Mrs. Mick Kuffner, of Belle Ellen.

Quite a number of strangers visit Montevallo these days. In the list of attractive transients Saturday might be mentioned Mrs. Die Whatley, Mrs. J. P. Clark, and Miss Annie Adams, of Calera.

Special Rates to Conventions.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Of Cumberland Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Ala.—Reduced Rates Via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Birmingham, Ala., and return at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 17, 18 and 19, good to return on or before June 5, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Of Young Men's Christian Association, Knoxville, Tenn.—Reduced Rates Via the Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Summer School of the Young Men's Christian Association the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Knoxville, Tenn., and return at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 18, 19 and 20, good to return on or before June 30, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Of Young Women's Christian Endeavor, Asheville, N. C.—Reduced Rates Via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Summer School of the Young Women's Christian Endeavor the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Asheville, N. C., and return at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 10, 11 and 12, good to return on or before June 26, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN

Convention, St. Louis, Mo.—Reduced Rates Via the Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the National Republican Convention the Southern Railway will sell tickets to St. Louis, Mo., and return, at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 13 and 14, good to return until June 21, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

International Y. P. S. C. E. Convention,

Washington, D. C.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the International Christian Endeavor Conveution, which will be held in Washington, D. C., July 7-13, the Southern Railway will sell tickets at the rate of one limited first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold July 5-7, and limited to continuous passage in each direction, with extreme limit for return July 21, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the company or W. H. Doll, T. P. A. Chattanooga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.

NOTICE!

To Applicants for Confederate pensions:

Take notice that the Board of Examiners will be in session at my office for the purpose of considering and passing upon applications, on Monday the 1st day of June, and will continue in session three days. All persons having filed applications may appear on any one of these days with proof to support their applications, if they think proper.

I give this notice at the request of the board, and of some of the applicants whose applications were rejected last year, to give them an opportunity of introducing proof. Applications will be received until June 1st.

D. R. McMillan,
2t Judge of Probate.

AT THE CENTRAL HOTEL.

E. Lilienthal, Selma; V. B. Atkins, Selma; A. W. Beck, Birmingham, R. N. Parker, Gainesville; J. A. Mauldin, Selma; Frank Blair, Jr., Birmingham; Fergus W. McCarthy, Birmingham; L. C. Hudgins, Birmingham; D. Dearness, Nashville; L. F. Dial, Calera; M. J. Fass, New Orleans; E. M. Johnson, New Orleans.

LIVE WASHINGTON NOTES.

Secretary Carlisle Makes Another Call on the Depository Banks.

TO RESTRICT EMIGRATION.

Committee Appointed to Investigate the Recent Bond Sales—The House Committee Reports Favorably on the Ship Canal Bill—Presidential Nominations.

To Reduce the Penalty.

Senator Gorman from the committee on interstate commerce has reported the bill changing the penalty for violation of the interstate commerce law from imprisonment to fine. The bill was amended so as to make receivers of railroads in the hands of the courts amenable to the law.

***

To Restrict Immigration.

A numerously signed petition, addressed to the committee on rules, has been circulated in the house asking that a day be set aside for the consideration of the McCall bill, which provides an educational test for immigrants, and for other measures looking to the restriction of immigration.

***

Priority of Invention.

The board of examiners-in-chief in the patent office has rendered an important decision awarding priority of invention on a type-setting and line-casting machine to Joseph C. Fowler over Philip T. Dodge, president of the Merganthaler Linotype company. Albert H. Norris represented Fowler.

***

Committee of Investigation.

Mr. Morrill, chairman of the senate committee on finance, has appointed the following sub-committee to investigate the recent bond sales: Harris (democrat) chairman; Vest and Walthall (democrats), Jones of Nevada (populist), and Platt (republican). The majority of the committee is democratic and four-fifths of it free silver.

***

Senator Blackburn Objects.

The senate committee on postoffices and post roads has decided to report adversely the nomination of L. J. Glenn as postmaster at Carlisle, Ky. The action was taken on the representation of Senator Blackburn that Glenn had been exceptionally active in opposition to him in the campaign last fall and was therefore obnoxious to him. It was also stated that Senator Lindsay was opposed to the confirmation.

***

The Ship Canal Bill.

The house committee on interstate and foreign commerce has, by a vote of 7 to 4, ordered favorably reported the Nicaragua canal bill amendments.

The amendments made in the measure have reference to the manner in which the old stock shall be retired; the method of stating the accounts of expenditures incurred by the Maritime Company and the reimbursement of these expenditures in bonds instead of stocks.

***

Another Call on the Banks.

Secretary Carlisle has made another call on the depository banks in New York to pay into the treasury about $4,000,000 held by them of the recent bond money. This amount is called to be paid by June 1. This will leave, of the money deposited in banks designated on account of the bond issue, still $4,000,000, and this will be called for by June 15, the date of the last payment due on the bond issue, so that the whole transaction as between the banks and the treasury will be closed by that time.

***

Pensions and Postoffices.

Postoffice appointments—Q. W. Spence, Carmichael, Madison county, Ala.; A. T. Rowell, Cowles, Macon county, Ala.; W. R. Dobson, McDowell, Sumter county, Ala.; R. Veillard, Martin, Marion county, Fla.; S. Page, Drifton, Jefferson county, Fla.; W. J. Blair, Red Banks, Marshall county, Miss. New offices—Bodka, Sumter county, Ala.; Splints, Lafayette county, Miss.

Pensions—Original, Jackson Green, Tuskegee, Macon county, Ala.; increase, William Guthery, Burch, Cullman county, Ala.; increase, Isaac Ross Cooper, Greenville, Washington county, Miss.; increase, Newton Cram, Mascotto, Lake county, Fla.; original, James Kimmons, Ingrams Mill, DeSoto county, Miss.; original, special, April 29, James Link, Vicksburg, Warren county, Miss.; original, Francis Kelly, Crystal river, Citrus county, Fla.

***

Presidential Nominations.

The president has sent to the senate the following nominations:

John C. Tarsney, of Missouri, to be associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of Oklahoma Mr. Tarsney is a well known ex-congressman, and comes from Kansas City. He held a seat in the present congress, but it was contested and he was unseated. He served on the ways and means committee in the last congress.

Benjamin F. Shafford, postmaster at Canon City, Col.

John Fowler, of Massachusetts, to be consul of United States at Che Foo, China.

Robert Lee Jenkins, of North Carolina, to be consul of United States at Patreas, Greece.

William Lochren, of Minnesota, to be United States district judge for the district of Minnesota, vice Rennsalaer R. Nelson, resigned.

Dominick I. Murphy, of Pennsylvania, now first deputy commissioner of pensions, to be commissioner of pensions, vice William Lochren, resigned.

Napoleon J. T. Dana, of New Hampshire, to be first deputy commissioner of pensions, vice Dominick I. Murphy.

CONCORD HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT—MAY 29, 1896.

10 a. m.—Declamation and Essays by the students.

2 p. m.—Address by Rev. T. K. Roberts, of Montgomery.

8 p. m.—Exercise Grady Literary Society. Address by Dr. E. G. Givhan, of Montevallo.

Final Debate—Question: "Resolved, That there should be an educational qualification for suffrage." Affimative, W. R. Headley, B. W. Garner and J. F. Lowry; negative, G. R. Moore, S. A. Curry, Jr., and R. E. Sessions.

Our friends are cordially invited to attend all the exercises.

J. Alex. Moore, Principal.

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

Matches have not yet displaced the tinderbox in the rural districts of Spain and Italy.

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—REDUCED RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Re-union of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates.

Tickets from points in Georgia and Tennessee, north and east of Atlanta and Chattanooga, will be sold June 27 to 28 and 29, and from points south and west of Atlanta and Chattanooga, and east of the Mississippi river, tickets will be sold June 26, 27, 28 and 29. Final limit on tickets from all points will be July 6, 1896.

From points south and west of Atlanta, the Southern railway is the short and quick route to Richmond, Va., via the "Piedmont Air Line," and the service is peerless. From Knoxville, Tenn., Chattanooga, Tenn., and points west thereof, the route of the Southern railway is via Ashville, and through the scenic "Land of the Sky." The service of this line is unexcelled.

Call on any agent of the Southern railway for further information, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; J. C Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; W. A. Turks, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G, P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.

National Prohibition Convention,

Pittsburgh, Penn.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

On account of the National Prohibition Convention, which will be held in Pittsburgh, Penn., May 27-29, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Pittsburgh and return at rate of one limited first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 24-26, limited for return on or before May 30, 1896.

For further information regarding rates and schedules call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or Mr. L. A. Shipman, T. P. A. Birmingham, Ala. tf

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon.

Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Paint Brushes at 20c and 25c.
Sponges, a nice line.
Small Steel Tweezers at 10c.
Putty, Turpentine and Castor Oil in bulk.
One dollar bottles McElree's Wine of Cardui at 83c.
Hood's Sarsaparilla at 89c.
Pure Drugs and Chemicals at REYNOLD'S DRUG STORE.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!
The Fireside!!
The Store!!!

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Millinery Goods.

Having moved my Millinery Stock over in the business portion of town I am now prepared to serve my customers better than ever. I have just opened

The Most Complete Line of Millinery

ever brought to Montevallo. I intend to keep the reputation my goods have made and offer them cheaper than ever. Call and see me in my new store on Main Street, under the law office of E. S. Lyman, Esq.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY.

New Millinery Store.

I have just opened the nicest line of

MILLINERY GOODS

Ever brought to Montevallo. Having had large experience in this line and having some of the best connections in New York, Baltimore and St. Louis, I feel that I can suit the most fastidious.

PRICES CHEAPER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Call and see me at my new store.

MRS. T. A. BEST,

Corner of Valley and Depot Streets.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

J. B. Lewis Co. WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear, Style, Ease, Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for high count easy work, big returns. Address Box 310 Montgomery, Ala.

William D. Howells presided at a dinner given in New York City to Stephen Crane, the young author whose reputation has become international in a few months. "The Red Badge of Courage" was spoken of recently as having placed its writer in the position of the "Rudyard Kipling of the American Army." Yet Mr. Crane tells us, adds the Sun, that he got his notions of warfare on the football field. He never saw a field of battle. For the matter of that neither did Kipling. The best descriptions of carnage and bloody struggle have been written by men who evolved them out of their inner consciences. This was so with Beyle, Carlyle, Balzac. The fact is that the man who is on a battlefield sees so little of what is going on that if he wrote down his actual experiences they would not be striking or convincing. Even Tolstoy, in his more effective work, described a good deal more than what he had actually experienced.

Perry Patettic (in the road)—W'y don't you go in? De dog's all right. Don't you see him waggin' his tail? Wayworn Watson (at the gate)—Yes, an' he's growlin' at the same time. I don't know which end to believe.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"There's only one girl in the world for me,"
Is the song he was oft heard to holler;
And, come to find out, the one he adored
Was the girl on the almighty dollar.
—Yonkers Statesman.

The busy man may be tempted by one devil, but the loafer is tempted by a dozen.

For 31 years Dobbins' Electric Soap has been imitated by unscrupulous soap makers. Why? Because it is best of all and has an immense sale. Be sure and get Dobbins' and take no other. Your grocer has it, or will get it.

We do not always have the most reason for sorrowing when we are sorrowing most.

J. C. Simpson, Marquess, W. Va., says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure cured me of a very bad case of catarrh." Druggists sell it, 75c.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

After six years' suffering, I was cured by Piso's Cure.—MARY THOMSON, 29 1-2 Ohio Ave., Allegheny, Pa., March 19, 1894.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

Boils

It is often difficult to convince people their blood is impure, until dreadful carbuncles, abcesses, boils, scrofula or salt rheum, are painful proof of the fact. It is wisdom now, or whenever there is any indication of blood, to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and prevent such eruptions and suffering.

Impure

"I had a dreadful carbuncle abscess, red, fiery, fierce and sore. The doctor attended me over seven weeks. When the abscess broke, the pains were terrible, and I thought I should not live through it. I heard and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I decided to take it, and my husband, who was suffering with boils, took it also. It soon purified our built me up and restored my health so that, although the doctor said I would not be able to work hard, I have since done the work for 20 people. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured my husband of the boils, and we regard it a wonderful medicine." MRS. ANNA PETERSON, Latimer, Kansas.

Blood

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

ICE CREAM

Dealers, druggists and confectioners who wish to save ice, ice cream, labor and money, and who appreciate neatness and convenience, should send for our finely illustrated catalogue of ICE CREAM CABINETS or REFRIGERATORS. THE E. T. BURROWES CO., Portland, Maine.

You are bound to succeed in making HIRES Rootbeer if you follow the simple directions. Easy to make, delightful to take.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

Which do you prefer?
Tetter,
Eczema, or 50 cents?
Better swap all three for
TETTERINE.
1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE,
Savannah, Ga.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

Am. N,U .No. 21. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS 25 CTS

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

HANDY GARDEN RACK.

Where there are two persons about a place to assist each other in the work of the garden, the rack that is figured will prove exceedingly convenient. When there is but one pair of hands to do the work, a wheelbarrow wheel could readily be fitted to one end, when a convenient garden wheelbarrow would result. The frame should be made light but strong, and the legs braced with small iron braces.

WIDE TIRES AGAIN.

Having been an interested reader of all the pros and cons on good roads and wide-tired wagons, etc., I will suggest for your readers a plan that I have for several years advocated and talked of to many friends. Of course, here it does not apply, for the roads are of such a nature that it matters but little what width of tire is used, but I was raised in the lower part of Central Illinois, so know what bad roads are. My plan is to insist on the several Legislatures passing a law to take effect, say in two years, or even in one, levying a tax of say $4 per year on a two-inch or less tired wagon, $3 on a three-inch tire, $2 on a four-inch, $1 on a five-inch, and six-inch to go free, or more properly speaking, a license, every wagon to be branded when license was paid; any wagon caught on any public road not branded by the proper officers to be subject to seizure. Then do away with the present system of working out road tax, hire a competent road overseer by the year, whose duty would be to look after the roads, repair little defects in both roads and bridges, etc., hire and superintend any extra labor required, and see that they do a day's work for a day's pay; of course, always giving the nearest neighbor to the work the preference if he wanted to do it, and he would also always be expected to be a sort of tollkeeper and see that none passed or repassed without being duly licensed. I see a good many of your correspondents draw the line at four-inch tires, but there is no question but six would be better for the roads, and beyond doubt better for the teams drawing them. Hoping to see the good work go on, I remain.—Colman's Rural World.

MENDING PASTURE FENCES.

Mending pasture fences is often a prominent element in the regular summer work of the farm. The boards used in pasture fencing are usually of a cheap quality, and either decay rapidly or warp and twist out of shape, either of which evils has a tendency to free the ends of the boards from the posts. To again nail these ends to the posts is but to temporize. They will soon be off again. A much better way to mend such breaks is by using the plan shown in the accompanying illustration. Stout galvanized wire is now exceedingly cheap. It is just the material to use in making repairs upon board fences. Secure the end of the wire to the top of the post so that it cannot slip down, and then bind it about the post and the ends of the boards in the manner shown, making it fast at the bottom. Such repairing is easy, and, best of all, it is effective and lasting. Such wire may also be used in binding pole fences to the stakes which support them—New York Tribune.

THE STRAWBERRY BED.

As soon as the ground is fit the strawberry bed should be planted. The ground chosen should be rich and free from weeds. It is better to use fertilizers on this on account of the absence of weeds that may be in the manure. There is a way of setting these plants that is quick and sure. This is to first fit the ground and level it smoothly, then mark out the rows three feet apart. Then with a spade or a hardwood paddle make a split in the ground, pressing the soil to one side, then spread the roots—after trimming them a little in a fan shape—and set them in the soil; finally by pressure of the paddle firm the soil to the roots. In this way the roots get the depth they need and the work is done very quickly.

Strawberries differ from other plants in being of two sexes, or rather one is of the double sex, the other being simply female. The productive organs of plants consist of stamens, which are the male, and pistils, which are the female organs. Some varieties have both of these, and are perfect, supplying their own pollen to fructify the pistils. Others have only pistils, and must have the pollen supplied by the other kind, or they will not be fertile. Thus it is necessary to know the kind of plants and set the pistiliate kinds in two rows on each side of the perfect or staminate plants. The latter then supply the pistiliate varieties with the fertilizing pollen and thus secure fruit. In procuring plants this distinction is to be considered. The plants should set eighteen inches apart in the rows, the runners made during the summer being set in these spaces to fill up the rows, leaving the plants nine inches apart if only one runner is rooted, and the others cut off as soon as they appear. This will give the strongest plants.

To have strawberries in perfection a new plantation should be made every year in the spring. It is possible to save one or two of the late runners made after the fruit has been gathered for the new planting. But it is the best way to root the runners thus made in small strawboard boxes without a bottom, a mere roll of the board tied with a string or a piece of the handy bobbin wire. All other runners are removed as soon as they appear, leaving those saved to make good plants that may be set in a permanent bed late in the summer. They will then make a firm hold on the soil and will go through the winter with safety. In this way, by a little attention, one will not need to buy plants every year.—New York Times.

OATS AND PEAS FOR GREEN FODDER.

Feeders are coming to recognize more and more the necessity of plenty of green food for stock when grass is getting short. Owners of dairy cattle in particular feel this necessity.

For two years, at the Indian Experiment Station, we have planted Canada field peas and oats for this purpose. The first year of planting we scattered pea seeds at the rate of a bushel and one-half an acre over the ground, and plowed this in three or four inches deep. A bushel and one-half of oat seed per acre was then scattered over this plowed land, which was then thoroughly harrowed.

In 1895 the above practice was not followed. The land was plowed about seven inches deep and then harrowed to a fine tilth. A mixture of oats and peas, as the rate of one and one-half bushels each per acre, was then drilled in to the depth of about two inches. The plants thrived with great vigor until severe drought checked their growth, in common with all other farm crops. Either method of planting will no doubt be satisfactory.

In planting oats and peas, the first seeding should be gotten in at the earliest date possible, when the land may be satisfactorily worked. One or two more plantings, at ten-day intervals, will give a good succession of crops, covering about six weeks.

While cutting the green crop may begin as early as wished; after some length of stalk has been secured, it is advisable to wait until the oat head begins to expand, and when the peas are passing from the bloom. The best plan is to secure the green fodder as close to the maturity stage as possible consistent with about three weeks of use for soiling.

Oats and peas make highly nutritious and palatable food. They also give the earliest green fodder to be secured from plantings of the same season, and follow nicely after winter rye for soiling. This crop is coming more and more into favor. Oats and peas should only be planted early in spring, as these plants, as a rule, will not thrive from May or summer seedings.

If not all fed green, the balance of the crop may with advantage be plowed under or cured for hay.

The expense for seed is not great. Oats may be bought in the market at prices varying from fifteen to twenty-five cents per bushel, according to location. The pea seed purchased by this station this spring cost ninety cents a bushel laid down at the home depot. In buying, be sure and get Canada field pea seed.

Green oats and peas are eaten with a relish by horses, cattle, sheep and swine.—C. S. Plumb, Director Purdue (Ind.) University Experiment Station Bulletin, March 25, 1896.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

There is money in raising capons.

The South is showing a deep interest in fine hogs.

The Indiana Live-Stock Sanitary Commission has issued an order to the railway companies requiring them to disinfect all stock cars coming into the State to guard against hog cholera.

Great care should be taken not to feed the young pigs sour milk or sour food from the swill barrel. It will derange their digestion. They will not be nourished sufficiently by it, and it is almost certain to produce disease, which will work much harm, and, it may be, will cause the death of the pigs.

A churn may be so full that it may be worked a month without showing butter. Moving cream round in a body is not churning it. The cream must fall, strike or be struck with some violence, and it must be thin enough to allow free motion of the particles against one another and the sides of the churn. No churn should ever be more than half full of cream. If it is, it may take longer to churn it than if it were divided and each half churned separately.

Cream may fail to "come" because it is too warm or too cold, too sweet or too sour, because the churn is too small for the quantity of cream, and because the cows are too far past fresh condition. Cream from newly calved cows churns much more readily than from those nearly dry. Different kinds of cream may be churned at quite different degrees of temperature but each lot must be at the temperature best for that lot for the best success.

A MOTORMAN'S LIFE.

FULL OF HARDSHIPS, EXPOSURE AND CONSTANT DANGER.

The Great Strain on a Man's Nerves Sufficient in Itself to Wreck Him in a Short Time—The Experience of a Well-Known Motorman.

From the Cincinnati, Ohio, Enquirer.

The life of a motorman is not a bed of roses. He is subjected to many hardships, especially in the winter, when he is exposed to the cold and snow. Even in the summer he must bear the intense heat which beats down upon him. Considerable nerve and self possession are necessary in a good motorman, for the lives and limbs of his passengers are at stake. One of the best known electric motormen in this city is William Frazer, who is at present running a car on the Cumminsville electric line. He is not only well known to his fellow employes but to the people who travel on his car. Mr. Frazer is a young man about twenty-six years of age and resides with his wife and child at 144 Betts Street, Cincinnati, O. About a year ago Mr. Frazer was taken with serious stomach troubles. He bought several kinds of medicine which were recommended to him, but none of them seemed to give him even temporary benefit. An enthusiastic admirer of that famous remedy known as Dr. Williams' Pink Pill for Pale People told him to try them. Frazer was almost discouraged, but took the advice. To a reporter of the Enquirer he said:

"I can most heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are all that is claimed for them; in fact they advertise themselves better than any medicine I ever saw. I was seized some time ago with a bad attack of indigestion. My stomach hurt me nearly all the time and I could not digest my food. The pain was almost unbearable and I found nothing that would give me relief. I confess that when I bought the first box of Pink Pills I hadn't much confidence in their efficacy because I had tried so many things without success that I was almost discouraged. Before I had taken one box I was decidedly better. Two boxes cured me entirely. While I have been under the weather from other causes my indigestion has never returned. If it ever should I know just what to do. I have so much confidence in the efficacy of Pink Pills that if I ever get real sick again with any disorder I shall use some of them. It is a pleasure for me I assure you to testify to the excellent qualities of these Pink Pills. They not only tone the stomach but regulate the bowels and act as a mild cathartic."

Mr. Frazer's testimonial means something. He speaks from personal experience and any one who doubts that he received the benefits stated can easily verify the assertion by calling on Mr. Frazer or seeing him some time while he is on his car.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are sold in boxes (never in loose form, by the dozen or hundred) at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or directly by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

A Good Dog Is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

A Princess Who Is a Sixfooter.

The Crown Princess of Denmark is the tallest royal lady in Europe, her height being over 6 feet 2 inches. She is a granddaughter of Mlle. Desiree Clary, who was the first sweetheart of Napoleon Bonaparte. They quarreled, and Mlle. Clary married Bernadotte, who eventually became king of Norway and Sweden. Napoleon always remembered his old sweetheart with affection, and helped her husband out of one or two political snarls for Desiree's sake. The Crown Princess of Denmark is the richest as well as the tallest European princess, she having inherited a fortune of $25,000,000 from her maternal grandfather, Prince Frederick of the Netherlands, in addition to the fortune left her by her father.

A Beautiful Black Diamond.

Henri Moisson recently exhibited at the French Academy of Science a black diamond as large as a man's fist, which is valued at about $40,000. It is said to be the largest black diamond ever found, and was picked up in Brazil by a miner working in private grounds. It weighed 3,000 carats, or about twice as much as the largest stone of the kind hitherto discovered. Within a short time after its discovery, about five months ago, it lost nineteen grammes of its weight, evidently by the evaporation of water contained in it, but this loss has not ceased. Its crystalline form is nearly perfect, resembling that of the artificial diamonds formed by the crystallization of carbon in silver crucibles.—New York Tribune.

Where Comic Valentines Come From.

Fifteen million comic valentines are printed annually by a firm in Brooklyn, who virtually monopolize this peculiar business and give employment to 400 men and women the year round. Most of the caricatures turned out at this plant are drawn by a well-known magazine artist who says that he designs them only when he is out of humor. Instead of venting his anger in words he draws diabolical pictures of the person with whom he is angry, and the more horrible the picture the more fiendishly happy he is. The pretty lace work affairs that hold Cupids and hearts and arrows and carry sunshine into thousands of homes are designed by a woman, who also superintends their construction.

James Russell Lowell's Home.

There is concern in Boston about the future of James Russell Lowell's magnificent old home in Cambridge, at the gateway of Mount Auburn Cemetery. The house is the property of the poet's daughter, but the land adjoining it is in the hands of real estate agents, and the fine estate will soon be cut up into building lots unless the property is rescued.

The old family cat awoke from a nap before the fire and stretched himself in the manner common to cats. Margie looked at him with distended eyes. "My goodness!" she exclaimed: "I dess so tat's doin' t' boil over."—Judge.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Manufacturers
—OF—
Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting
—AND—
Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.
OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.
Write for Prices. Address,
Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
In writing please mention this paper.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

RIPANS TABULES

Mrs. Annie T. Risley, of No. 1429 South 59th St., Philadelphia, is the wife of a prominent real estate agent and moves in high social circles. She is also a member of the Presbyterian Church. Under date of September 11th, 1895, Mrs. Risley writes: "I write to thank you for the beneficial results from the use of Ripans Tabules. I saw them advertised, and though I rarely put much confidence in patent medicines, I decided to try them. Since I began taking them my dyspepsia has diminished and I can feel that it is leaving me. My complexion has improved, and I feel like a new woman—not the 'new woman' of the present fad, but a rejuvenated and physically regenerated being. (Signed). MRS. A. T. RISLEY."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (36 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

Successful

growers of fruits, berries, and all kinds of vegetables, know that the largest yields and best quality are produced by the liberal use of fertilizers containing at least 10% of

Actual Potash.

Without the liberal use of Potash on sandy soils, it is impossible to grow fruits, berries and vegetables of a quality that will command the best prices.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

$3 A DAY SURE. SEND your address and we will show you how to make $3 a day; absolutely sure; we furnish the work and teach you free; you work in the locality where you live; send us your address and we will explain the business fully; remember we guarantee a clear profit of $3 for every day's work; absolutely sure, write at once. ROYAL MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Box LE, Detroit, Mich.

OH, LOOK!
EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain everyday English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE, 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

USE NO SOAP

with Pearline. Twould be absurd. It isn't necessary. Pearline contains everything of a soapy nature that's needed or that's good to go with it. And Pearline is so much better than soap that it has the work all done before the soap begins to take any part.

You're simply throwing away money. It's a clear waste of soap—and soap may be good for something, though it isn't much use in washing and cleaning, when Pearline's around. 451

Millions NOW USE Pearline

ALABASTINE.

IT WON'T RUB OFF.

Wall Paper is Unsanitary. KALSOMINE IS TEMPORARY, ROTS, RUBS OFF AND SCALES.

ALABASTINE is a pure, permanent and artistic wall-coating, ready for the brush by mixing in cold water.

For Sale by Paint Dealers Everywhere.

THE DOCTOR—"One layer of paper is bad enough, you have three here. Baby may recover but cannot thrive."

FREE A Tint Card showing 12 desirable tints, also Alabastine Souvenir Rock sent free to any one mentioning this paper. ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

DON'T YOU often come across expressions and references in the newspapers and books which you don't fully understand, and which you would like to look up if you had some compact book which would give the information in a few lines?—not be obliged to handle a twenty-pound encyclopædia costing $25 or $30. 50c. in stamps sent to BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE, 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City, will furnish you, postpaid, with just such a book, containing 520 pages, well illustrated, with complete handy Index. Do you know who Cræsus was, and where he lived? Who built the Pyramids, and when? That sound travels 1125 feet per second? What is the longest river in the world? That Marco Polo invented the compass in 1260, and who Marco Polo was? What the Gordian Knot was? The book contains thousands of explanations of just such matters as you wonder about. Buy it at the very low price of half a dollar and IMPROVE YOURSELF. 50c. 50c.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. II. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1896. NO. 8.

TOM FARROW'S LUCK.

LIFE was indeed dark to Tom Farrow. It seemed absurd that a man of his ability and attainments should have sought work for three months and then miserably failed in securing anything more substantial than half a dozen mere promises. Not yet thirty years old, the author of several fairly successful romances, and now he was standing in a gloomy third story room looking disconsolately upon his last greenback.

How impossible such a condition would have seemed to him a year or two before! Then he was well established in a thrifty publishing house as reader of manuscripts and general adviser to the firm. Little was saved of his ample salary, for it had never entered his clever, improvident brain that it was wise and judicious to plan and provide for the future. So he had drifted happily and carelessly along with the tide, lavishing money on taking pretty girls to the theatres and operas, and paying carriage bills that would have dismayed a man of greater means. Those were, indeed, happy and irresponsible days!

As he rubbed his cold fingers over that last and solitary bank bill, he thought of those good times and smiled with gentle resignation at the ungenerous and ironical workings of fate. Had he but one-half of the money that he had thrown away on the pretty blue eyed minx who laughingly gave him the mitten and married an ugly old widower of fifty, he would not be fingering that bank note with such a deep despondency eating away his hopes and ambitions.

Then there was Esther—Esther—what the deuce was her other name? He could not remember; he only knew that expensive candy and high priced flowers were her especial joys and that his gifts had contributed largely to her happiness. In slow procession a host of pretty girls passed before his fancy and for the time lightened the gloom of the bleak, lonely room and cheered the heaviness of his discouraged spirits. They were sweet, clever witted, interesting creatures and each in turn had been an object of his devotion. Then, among all those pretty faces came the vision of one who had been different to him; one, the memory of whom had lingered firmer and longer than the rest, and whom he had always held in highest respect. Unlike the other more frivolous young women, she had not lightened his purse by hinting about theatres and operas. Instead, she was interested in his work and deplored his inactivity in fulfilling the promises of his early romances. She begged of him to put his soul into achievement, into writing great books that would earn for him an enviable place in literature.

How wholesome seemed the vision of this face, with its great, earnest eyes, firm mouth and expression of deep interest and sympathy! He compared it with those smiling, couquettish ones. He had not appreciated Miriam then, but he did now. Had he but entered into the plans that her foresight had built for him he would not now be fondling that very last greenback.

He walked over to his trunk and lifted the lid. In the top tray were a number of manuscripts that has gone the rounds of the magazines and were returned "with thanks," etc. Even his article on the trials and vicissitudes of a man seeking employment could not find a purchaser. He might have made it more humorous, he knew, but with such bitter experiences for material joking was not an easy matter. He dumped the papers out in a heap on the floor and began to sort and arrange them. In his heart he felt like throwing them into the fireless stove, but they were his entire fortune and there was still a chance of their bringing him in some small return. So he looked them over regretfully. Picking out several sketches that he considered the most salable and putting them into his coat pocket, he walked out of the room and down into the street.

It was almost night when Tom Farrow returned, even more cheerless and wretched in heart than when he had started out. The manuscripts had been left "for consideration," but he had received no encouragement, for all magazine publishers were flooded with short stories and sketches and discussions of all sorts and conditions.

He flung himself down on the hard bed and tried to make new plans. How his head throbbed! It was maddening! There seemed little left for him to build his hopes upon. His misfortunes had come one after the other in quick succession and almost before he realized his own unhappy condition he found himself thus sadly situated. First came the failure of the publishing house in which he was employed, then the death of his father, whose possessions, when sold, barely covered his debts. Then it was that Tom began to desert the pretty girls and wish for the money that he had so foolishly spent in entertaining them. After his father's death he started out on his ever-unsuccessful errand of finding employment. He did editing, copying and all sorts of general work connected with books. But it had been a hard row to hoe. Now and then he sold a story, and once he even disposed of a little novelette, but these pieces of good fortune were few and far between.

After awhile he was entirely cut off from his old circle of acquaintances. His clothes grew shabby and he accepted and welcomed the lowliest and humblest positions. During this last three months of unspeakable misery he had read proof, set type and, several times, earned half a dollar by walking the streets sandwiched between two large advertisements.

There was not a soul in the world on whom he had any claim, and he had already humiliated himself by asking for work from those who knew him in his better days. No, he must depend entirely upon himself and his own meager resources. Never before had he been in quite such hard luck.

For an hour or more he lay there on the bed. Then he remembered that he had had nothing to eat since early that morning, so he again descended the long flights of dusty wooden stairs and soon changed his last $1 bill to get a sandwich and a cup of coffee. There was no reason for returning to the desolate room, so he wandered aimlessly along the street, conscious of little except his ill-luck and miserable feelings of heartsickness.

His reverie was undisturbed until he heard the sound of voices, united in singing an old Sunday-school hymn of which he had not been reminded since childhood.

Looking up to find the source of the music, he saw that he was standing before a mission, one of those chapels that dot, with holiness and purity, the streets of the sinful slums. He had nothing to do, no where to go, why should he not enter the place?

Such wretched figures, such dissipated forsaken faces as he looked upon when he had passed through the rude door and taking a seat near one of the aisles. The large room was well filled with those unfortunate men whose home is either the streets or the Work House. Yet they were singing as best they could, and were—to all appearances—enjoying the ceremonies of the mission.

On the platform was a small cabinet organ, before which sat a young and slender woman. Several other women, some in the gray gowns of charitable organizations, were also there, helping the good work of those worthy people who labor among the lower classes. Tom Farrow could not see the face of the girl at the organ, but there was something peculierly familiar about her pose and figure.

The music ceasing, a man arose and preached the lesson of the evening. It s strange, indeed, to watch the uncouth hearers and to note how eagerly they listened to every word that the speaker uttered. Here were men a thousand times more wretched than he, Tom thought, and, sighing deeply, he put his hand over his eyes and so listened to what was being said. His head ached fearfully, his lips seemed dry, and the feelings in his heart were akin to death itself.

The speaker ended his talk, the singing began again and finally the pitiful congregation swarmed out into the street, but Tom Farrow did not move. He was in a state of semi-consciousness that desired no awakening.

He felt a gentle hand laid on his arm.

"My good man," said a woman's voice, "the service is finished and we are about to put out the lights."

He tried to lift his head, but could not. It was as heavy as lead. A faint moan came from his parched lips. The woman at his side called for help. He felt himself being carried out into the open air, and then seemed to sink into a severed, troubled dream.

He was in a strange place when he awakened. Such a very strange place that he was utterly bewildered. It reminded him of the dainty little den in which a younger sister—who was now no more—had slept. There were photographs scattered about and heaps of silken and lacey things, the uses of which he was most woefully ignorant. He turned his head; what a strange feeling he had—such a dizzy, sickening sensation. He raised his hand and looked at it. Surely those were not his fingers—such long, thin, white hands belonged only to women and invalids. He felt of his face; his cheeks were sunken and his features seemed strangely sharp and thin.

"What a lucky dog I am," he mused, "to fall into such good hands. I can fancy what a pleasant time I would have had had I been taken ill alone in that barn of a room on the third floor.

For some time he wondered where he had been when the sickness came on him, and after awhile he recollected the mission, with its bleary eyed congregation and enthusiastic leaders. He even thought of the slender little figure at the organ and wondered vaguely if she had been the one who had cared for and nursed him.

His reverie was interrupted by voices just outside the door. They were talking about him. What was that he heard? He had been sick with fever and his mind deranged for several weeks? He looked again at his ghastly hands and knew that the words were true.

The door opened and a woman came toward the bed. Her hands were filled with medicine bottles and as she drew nearer she stopped to read the directions. Tom Farrow looked at her with amazement. Could he believe his eyes! Was this woman, who had guided him through a dangerous illness, his old friend Miriam Haliday? Yes, it was indeed her.

While he was looking so intently into her face she raised her eyes and saw that he was smiling.

The medicine fell from her hands with a crash and she gasped happily: "Oh, Tom, I am so glad you are better! I'm so glad, so glad!"

"Did I come near croaking for sure?" he questioned.

"You nearly died, if that is what you mean. You poor, dear fellow, such a time as you've had! Brother Fred and I have been with you night and day."

"You are an angel," Tom said, feelingly. "I shall, forever, after this, be in debt to you." Then, after a pause, he added: "How did you happen to find me?"

"At the mission," she answered. "I play the organ there, and it was I who discovered that you were ill. I had you brought here to our home, and father says it is the first good result of my charitable work."

"You might extend the good deed, and kiss me." Tom whispered. And she did.

From that moment Tom Farrow's luck changed. Through the influence of Miriam's father he eventually found a good situation, and, in due course of time, there was a quiet wedding and Tom was made the happiest man in the world.

And, besides all this, those scorned manuscripts were finally accepted.

In luck, it is either continual drought or a heavy downpour.—Chicago News.

Oldest Dog in the Country.

Chambers's Encyclopedia says "a dog seldom lives more than twelve years and never more than twenty." Bride Gum, of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, has a black dog that is exactly twenty-three, which is probably the oldest dog in the country.

The dog is unusually hard on cats, having killed more than a hundred in the last five years. One of the dog's characteristics is its fondness for birds—not as food, but as companions. Once a day he will repair to a certain fence corner and set up a mournful howl. In a short time all the birds in the neighborhood will gather near.

The dog and the birds will enter into an animated chatter, lasting for half an hour, when the birds will disperse, leaving various offerings in the shape of small bits of food, which the dog devours.

All the denizens in the county look upon the dog as the evil one, and whenever one of them hears him howl at night, he immediately makes preparation to leave the world, believing that the "howl" means death to the hearer or to his near relative.—New York Press.

A Picturesque Woman Horsethief.

A woman horsethief was arrested by the Sheriff of Nez Perces County, Idaho, a few days ago. She was found to be one of a gang which has been operating in that region for about a year. Four male members of the gang were caught with the woman. She is reported to be good looking, twenty-two years old, and of a fiery disposition. She was dressed in men's clothes and rode her horse astride with great skill. She gave her name as Kitty Hoim.—New York Sun.

On the ground that they are too conspicuous in war times the gray horses of the Second Dragoons, the Scots Grays of the British Army, are to be suppressed and dark horses are to take their place.

THE MOOSE'S HOME.

A GREAT BREEDING PLACE FOUND IN MINNESOTA.

A Large Herd Discovered in an Almost Inaccessible Tract of Timber—A Man Treed by the Stampede.

THE breeding place of the moose has been discovered, says a Tower (Minn.) letter to the New York Press. These animals are multiplying rapidly, and as the law prohibiting their killing does not expire for two years yet, it is believed that moose soon will be more plentiful in Minnesota than the red deer.

The home of the moose is in the wilderness bounded by Red Lake, the Vermilion River and the Rainy River, in the far northern part of the State, which is seldom visited except by prospectors and pine land locators. The country is almost inaccessible, and the largest game animals left in the Northwest herd there undisturbed.

For three years it has been known that the Minnesota moose had one great breeding ground, somewhere in the north of the State, but until now no one has known where this place was. Ben Jackson and Gustave Herman, pine land "locators," are the men who found the breeding place of the moose by accident. Jackson had a narrow escape from death in consequence.

The two men were in town a few days ago, fresh from the woods, and Mr. Herman said to me:

"We were up in township 60.20 north, looking up pine lands, and in our wanderings came to an excellent tract many miles in circumference. We determined to make a careful inspection of the timber, and so entered from opposite sides. The snow was heavy, but we made good progress on our snow shoes. Along in the afternoon I came to something which made me open wide my eyes. It was a huge moose yard, in which were, at the least calculation, fully 500 moose. As far as I could see among the trees there were moose, big bulls and smaller cows!

"I observed the herd for some time, and then attempted to get closer. I must have made some noise, for the entire herd started off in the opposite direction. After the animals had gone, leaving a beaten path in the deep snow many rods wide, I made a tour of the yard, and found from a dozen indications that it was an old stamping place.

"The trees were denuded of bark and small branches, and in many places the hard ground was cut up as though by a plow. I found the skeletons of two big bull moose, with the antlers firmly interlocked. These bones evidently had been there for years, and told of a desperate battle. Hearing nothing from Jackson, who was about due, I started off on the trail left by the moose. The animals had made a road through the snow over which an army could have marched.

"Small trees were broken and old stumps overturned by the moose in their mad flight, and about a mile from the yard I came upon the mangled remains of a small cow moose. She had, no doubt, fallen as she ran, and had been trampled to death by her companions, as they rushed on in their efforts to escape.

"Just at dusk I found Jackson. He was up a pine tree, at the foot of which, pawing, stamping and snorting in anger, was a bull moose. The animal had been tearing at the tree with its antlers until most of the bark was off. I fired one shot at the animal, and he made off, as I intentionally missed him when I fired. At the foot of the tree lay what was left of Jackson's rifle. The stock was broken off and trampled into little bits, while the barrel was bent and twisted."

"Yes, and if I had not climbed the tree when I did," put in Mr. Jackson, "I would have met the same fate as did my rifle and my packsack. I was making my way through the woods when suddenly a noise like a hurricane coming fell upon my ear. There was no wind stirring, and, therefore, I was at a loss to account for the sound. Just then the herd of moose, many hundreds strong, came into sight, and for a minute I felt sick. The animals were headed straight for me, and, knowing that a bullet or two would not change them from their courses, I dropped my rifle and went up a tree like a squirrel. The animals paid no attention to me for a time. They dashed along under me, the ground trembling. When the herd had gotten past, an old bull, who seemed to be bigger than all outdoors, took his stand directly under the tree, and until Herman came along kept trying to knock down my refuge.

"Later Herman and I visited the yard, and we were convinced that the animals had made the region a breeding ground for many years."

When the moose law went into effect, five years ago, there were few of the animals to be found. Now they can be seen frequently in summer. They wander into small settlements in upper Minnesota. There is a fine $500 for killing a moose. When the law expires the true sportsman, the man who does not believe in wanton slaughter, will find Northern Minnesota a paradise for hunting.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Iron pyrites in commercially valuable quantities have been discovered at Mineral Point, Wis., and within a radius of fifty square miles of that place.

A Parisian electrician has succeeded in forcing violets by the aid of his battery, and recently sent a bunch of these fledgings, only four hours old, to the ex-Empress Eugenie.

A Berliner has invented an apparatus which automatically draws down the curtains of show windows as soon as the sun shines too brightly, and raises them again when the sun vanishes.

It is reported that a method of making an aluminum joint without alloy, and which without being soldered, brazed or keyed is rendered homogeneous and practically unbreakable, has been perfected.

Some professors of Emporia College, Kansas, have discovered that there are X rays emanating from a hot stove, and have succeeded in making a good shadowgraph with them through a piece of wood.

The eye of the blind fish in the Mammoth Cave is a true eye, having all the parts. It is, however, covered by a membrane, and it is probable that the fish receives no more than a mere impression of light.

The excitement over the discovery of rich tin ore in the Big Horn Mountains, near Sheridan, Wyoming, continues. Assays made at Sheridan and Omaha show an average return of twenty-four pounds of pure tin to the ton.

The importation into the United States of plants from China and Japan is forbidden on account of the prevalence of cholera in the Asiatic countries. Nothing holds the germs of disease so well as the soil in which the plants are shipped.

A process has been invented for the utilization of the iron ore dust, or fine ore, which up till now has been wasted in the process of blasting and smelting the iron ore. It is expected that a very considerable saving will result from the new process.

Professor Zacharewich reports in the Cosmos the results of his experiments in growing strawberry plants under colored glass. He found white glass the best, while red, blue and green glasses were found to retard the growth. Yellow accelerated it, but at the expense of quality in the fruit.

Telling Oysters' Ages.

It is just as easy to tell the age of an oyster by looking at its shell as it is to ascertain the age of a horse by examining his teeth, or a tree by inspecting the circles revealed by the axe or saw when it is laid low. When the oyster is six months old it is as big as a dime. When one year old it will cover a half dollar, and whee two years old will be about the circumference of one of Uncle Sam's depreciated dollars.

The oyster, unlike the crab, is not obliged to seek new quarters or build a new house every time he grows appreciably. The bivalve's habitation grows with him, he furnishing the building material. The extensions that he puts on to his house are clearly marked by a well-defined ridge.

Oysters are esteemed to be at their best when between four and five years of age, and the planters endeavor to protect the beds for that length of time. Conscientious oystermen, that is, men who are not inclined to kill the goose that lays the golden egg, always return to the beds oysters that are too young, but in case a patriarch is brought up over whose shell the tides of eight to twelve winters and summers have ebbed and flowed, he is sent to market, where he is put at the bottom of the heap and sold with his younger and more luscious companion. Such an oyster gets into the soup eventually.—New York Journal.

Mongolian Pheasants for Maine.

The Maine Fish and Game Commissioners are contemplating introducing into that State the Mongolian pheasant, which has been introduced in Western States with much success, and is now being propagated in Massachusetts. In the Pacific States, where it has been introduced, it has proved an especially fine game bird, and it has also done much good in destroying pernicious insects and worms. It is much the superior of the English pheasant, from the hunter's point of view, being remarkably quick on the wing. The Maine Commissioners believe that the bird would thrive even through the severe winters of the Pine Tree State, and it is very probable the experiment of introducing it will be made this year.—New York Sun.

Penalty of Fame.

Professor Roentgen is somewhat annoyed at his sudden fame. He is of course a great worker, but his discovery has entailed upon him new duties that he finds irksome. From all parts of the world he receives letters from people who "want to know, you know." As the Professor is a very kindly and courteous man he finds his correspondence a tremendous burden at present.

BEAUTY'S EYES.

Her eyes are the mist of the morning,
When the night has been still,
And the earliest flush of the dawning
Rises over the hill,
Though the field and the woodland and river
On earth's bosom slept
They would answer and tremble and quiver
If she wept.

Her eyes are the starlight of even,
When the moon is away,
And mystery reigns in heaven
In her mantle of gray.
Though the spheres were with sorrow o'erladen
By the ages defiled,
Yet their song would respond to the maiden
If she smiled.

—Times of India.

PITH AND POINT.

The front wheel of a bicycle should be called "Pride," for it often goeth before a fall.—Philadelphia Press.

"You never told me Miss Fairgirl was an athlete." "Well, is she?" "Yes, she has thrown me over."—London Tit-Bits.

He (in an argument)—"Well, thank goodness, I'm not two-faced!" She—"You ought to be thankful. One face like yours is enough."—Texas Siftings.

"Is the young man to whom Miss Songster is engaged musical?" "Oh, yes, indeed. You ought to hear him chant her praises."—Detroit Free Press.

"It is queer," said Mrs. Bloocher, "that a man can take enough interest in his wife's letters to open them, but not enough to mail them."—Indianapolis Journal.

"I know that age is telling on me," said Miss Sereleaf. "Yes, dear, but you needn't mind so very much. It isn't telling the whole truth," replied Miss Caustique.—Tit-Bits.

Hubby—"Darwin seems to have a lot of trouble with his cuff buttons." Blossis—"How so?" Hubby—"He was always howling about the missing link."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

"I expect to see the day when the bicycle will take the place of the horse entirely." "Well, I don't. They'll never be able to make cat's meat out of the bicycle."—Pick-Me-Up.

It is curious how eager some beings are to advertise themselves. The ass seems to be rather proud of its voice, and he is always obtrusively waving his ears.—Indianapolis Journal.

Watts—"How can a man tell which is the best bicycle, I'd like to know?" Potts—"Buy one. After you have had it a week it will be the best wheel in the market. It always works that way."—Indianapolis Journal.

"Consider the humble porous plaster," said the Cumminsville sage, after his heart had been warmed with a good five-cent cigar. "Everybody turns his back on it, yet look what success it achieves by close application."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Housewife—"I paid you for a dozen eggs, Mr. Sugarsand, and you only sent me ten. How was that?" Grocer—"Well, ma'am, you always ask for fresh eggs, and as I found two bad ones in your dozen I threw them away."—Philadelphia Record.

An Oversight: Mr. Crusty—"Where's my change?" Waiter—"Dar ain't no change, boss; dat's mah tip." Mr. Crusty—"But I didn't tell you you could have it." Waiter—"Oh! dat's all right, boss; I'se forgetful, mahself, sometimes."—Puck.

"By the way," said Jonah, as he made himself comfortable, "haven't I seen you before?" "Where!" snorted the overfed cetacean. "I have an impression that you are the fish that broke a line and got away from me one day when I was fishing off a dock in Nineveh."—Truth.

"Do you worry about meeting your notes?" said the victim of pecuniary embarrassments. "No," said the person who is indiscriminately flippant. "I don't worry about meeting 'em. Experience has taught me that I can just sit down and trust to 'em to run across me."—Washington Star.

How English Grass is Cut.

There are some things in which our English cousins have the advantage of us. An American millionaire, accustomed to purchase anything he wanted, tried to obtain from an Oxford gardener the secret of the beautiful lawns which make the pride of England—or a portion of it.

"Tell me, my good man, how you manage it," he said, condescendingly, putting his hand significantly into his pocket.

"It is very simple, sir," replied the gardener, quaintly. "You cuts it as close as ever you can cut, and you rolls it and cuts it for six hundred years."—New York Advertiser.

A New Sleeping Car.

A new sleeping car has been introduced into England. It is a modification of the Pullman car, but the berths are placed crosswise of the car. This gives each passenger a room to himself. A mirror, table, rack, watch-pocket, etc., are supplied. The car is heated with the Gold storage system, and each section is supplied with a quadrant handle, enabling each passenger to regulate his own supply of heat.—New York World.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, } Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

In five years surprising changes often occur in public sentiment. In 1890 the representation of Sardou's "Thermidor" was stopped in Paris after two performances because of the tumult among the audience. Now the same play has been produced there at the Porte St. Martin Theater without any excitement.

For the first time in eighty years the results of the competition for the Porson prize for the best rendition of a passage of Shakespeare in Greek by Cambridge (England) students have been so poor that the examiners decided not to award the prize. The Chancellor's medal for an English poem on the subject of "The Marquis of Montrose" has also been withheld.

Smoking out an obstinate juror is a new way of arriving at a verdict which was successfully tried by eleven good men and true in Hartford, Conn., a few days ago, according to the Times. The obstinate juror stood out for a long time, and his will was only conquered when he became physically prostrated by the volumes of smoke that filled the jury room from the cigars, pipes and cigarettes of the eleven other jurymen.

New York's philanthropic pawnbroker shop is a financial and moral success. It was organized to rescue the deserving poor from the three-per-cent-a-month money lenders. Last year it had 35,038 customers, 23,879 of whom redeemed their pledges. A total of over $600,000 was lent at one per cent. a month, with the result that that the institution made a net profit of between six and seven per cent., and a great amount of good was done and suffering relieved. There is a hint in this enterprise for other cities than New York, adds the San Francisco Chronicle.

One of perhaps many little considered ways in which the forests of the country are being eaten up is in supplying timber for railway trestle work. There are two thousand miles of trestle structure in the United States, according to an estimate by the Forestry Division. This trestle work has to be replaced entirely every nine years, on an average, and every year timber amounting to 260,000,000 feet, board measure, is used for this purpose. Nearly all the timber is cut from the largest and finest trees. The annual expenditure on this work is estimated at about $7,000,000.

The trolley car and the bicycle are credited with being mainly responsible for the remarkable fact, stated in the Department of Agriculture reports, that the value of the horses and mules in this country decreased by almost one-half between 1892 and the end of last year. The aggregate decline in the value of horses is put down at $500,000,000 and of mules $80,000,000. The stories that have come from Western ranges lately seem to bear out the figures in general. A Lewiston (Idaho) newspaper a few days ago spoke of the homely but once highly necessary cayuse as being a "pest and a nuisance" in that region, and rejoiced over the advent of a company seeking 5000 cayuses to supply a rendering establishment.

The "old Dutch estate" fever is prevailing in the United States and Canada to such an extent that United States Consul Downs, at Amsterdam, has been impelled to warn his countrymen against spending time or money toward the collection of these estates. He writes the State Department that for the last three months inquries on this subject at his Consulate have been so numerous as to almost baffle reply. The Anneke Jans estate, the Vancot estate, the Van Dussan estate, the Webber estate, the Brandt estate, the Mezger estate, are some of the fancy titles supposed to represent millions—actually representing nothing. "These estates do not exist," writes the Consul. "They are myths, will-o'-the-wisp fakes. The Bank of Holland, in which the unclaimed millions are alleged to be deposited, does not exist. Every dollar spent in reference to these estates is so much money wasted."

EVENTS IN ALABAMA

Carefully Collated and Condensed for Our Readers.

SHERIFF KENNEDY ACQUITTED.

A Mexican Veteran's Death—Horrible Accident at Bessemer—Protestant Episcopal Church in Session at Selma—Struck by an Engine. Negroes Going to Africa.

Man Decapitated at Sheffield.

Will McDaniel, an employe of the Cole furnace at Sheffield, Ala., was decapitated Thursday morning by falling in front of a switch engine. His head and one arm were cut off by the engine.

Struck by an Engine.

Saturday afternoon as Mr. Eliza Cartwright, of Greenville, was trying to drive some chickens off the track in front of an approaching passenger train she was struck by the engine and received such injuries as to cause her death in a short time.

An Eye Knocked Out.

E. B. Atkinson, section boss on the Coalburg division of the Southern railroad, was struck by a freight train late Thursday afternoon and had an eye knocked out and was otherwise injured. He was carried to the Charity hospital, Birmingham, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Copeland.

Protestant Episcopal Church.

The diocesan council of the Protestant Episcopal church is holding its annual session in Selma. Bishops Wilmer and Jackson presiding. Notice has been given of a resolution to permit women to participate and vote in church meetings. The council will hold the next annual session with St. Paul's church, Greensboro, on May 19.

Horrible Accident at Bessemer.

At Bessemer Thursday afternoon John Keller, an employe of the Bessemer pipe works, engaged in the rope making department, was accidentally tripped up and fell among the moving machinery. His head was caught between the cogs of an immense wheel and crushed to a pulp in sight of his fellow workers, who were powerless to rescue him, so quickly did the accident happen. The deceased was the only support of a widowed mother.

A Mexican Veteran's Death.

Gen. John R. Coffey died Thursday morning at his home, near Wannville, Jackson county. He was born in Bedford county, Tenn., about 86 years ago. He served as colonel in the Mexican war and afterwards brigadier-general of the Alabama militia. Mr. Coffey was one of the wealthiest and most influential men of North Alabama. He was stricken with paralysis several years ago and had been confined to his bed for a long time.

Handy for the Children.

John Latham, a 14-year-old lad, was accidentally shot by his brother Angus on Eighteenth street and Fifth avenue, Birmingham, near the Presbyterian church, about 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening. The boys were playing with a parlor rifle, which was accidentally discharged, the ball entering just below the left eye, near the nose. Physicians were called in and probed for the bullet, but did not succeed in locating it and are unable as yet to determine the nature of the wound. At a late hour the boy was reported "resting as well as could be expected."

Encouraging Them to Go.

The first direct news from the colony of negroes from about Selma, which sailed from Savannah for Liberia last March, was received Thursday. It is dated Monrovia, April 6, and states that the colonists are delighted with their new home. Another colony, numbering 400 persons, is being formed, and will leave this fall after the crops are gathered. Others will follow. The white people are encouraging them to go, believing that the thrifty northern farmers will come in and occupy the lands. The negroes are transported from Selma to Liberia for $32 a head, $17 being charged for children. They pay the transportation in monthly installments.

Boy's Skull Badly Crushed.

Hardly had the unfortunate general manager of the Dwight mills been removed to his home and made comfortable on Wednesday, after the terrible accident of which he was the victim, when a lad employed at the cotton mill fell from the third story of the building and was fatally injured. The boy, it was said, was sliding down a set of bannisters when he lost his balance and fell headlong to the bottom floor of the building. Life was almost crushed out of the lad. The bleeding and mangled boy was removed to his home and he has been in a comatose condition since. His skull was found to be badly crushed, while he received other internal injuries, and his life has been despaired of.

Little Hope of His Recovery.

H. G. Nicholls, the young man who was hurt at the Dwight cotton factory Wednesday, is still in a precarious condition and there are but little hopes of his recovery at this writing (Thursday). He is conscious and says that he will soon recover.

While but a young man, he has had under his sole direction the construction of the half million dollar cotton mill at Alabama City. By his gentlemanly conduct and amiable manners he has won the warm friendship of many people in Gadsden, and his condition is greatly deplored and watched with great interest.

His friends have telegraphed to New York for an eminent surgeon of that place. It is thought if Mr. Nicholls lives until his arrival his life can be saved. His head is badly crushed and the difficult operation of trepanning will be performed.

Its First Train Unlucky.

The LaFayette railway, the new line now being constructed between Opelika and LaFayette, on Friday began the running of regular schedules between Opelika and Oak Bowery and on one of the first trips met with a serious accident. There is a side track three miles from Opelika and the train for LaFayette left the main line and ran into a flat car on the side track, badly damaging both. The engine left the track and landed about 40 feet from the main line. Several passengers were severely bruised. Mr. Eugene Lowe, the fireman, had to be carried off on a litter, and the engineer, Mr. R. B. Smith, was also seriously injured. The accident was caused by some miscreant throwing the switch. The company has no other engine and no means of getting on the one derailed.

Trial of Robert H. Kennedy.

The trial of Robert H. Kennedy for the killing of Percy Wood and shooting Mardis Wood has been on several days in Montgomery. The evidence shows the theory of the defense to be that the killing was done under temporary insanity, resulting from the destruction of the defendant's domestic peace through the abandoned conduct of his wife in connection with Mardis Wood.

LATER.—The preliminary trial of Sheriff Robert Kennedy, of Dallas county, for shooting the Wood brothers because of Mardis Wood's alleged intimacy with Kennedy's wife, came to a close at 1:50 p. m. Friday.

General Pettus was followed by Captain White for the state, and at the conclusion of the latter's speech Justice Screws discharged Kennedy without bail.

CAPTURE OF DESPERADO DELK.

Thrilling Adventure—Daring Feat of Farmer McWilliams.

A dispatch from Senoia, Ga., tells of the capture of the desperado, Tom Delk, who is wanted for the murder of Sheriff Gwinn, of Pike county, Georgia. He was sitting out in the woods when T. H. McWilliams, a farmer of that neighborhood, came up and ordered him to throw his rifle down. Delk sprang behind a tree and then commanded McWilliams to throw down his pistol. This McWilliams did. Delk made him give up all his money and then began to deliberate.

McWilliams proposed that they lay in wait for a man who would soon be along with $100. While they were talking McWilliams jumped on Delk. They fought for fifteen minutes.

Delk tried to get his pistol to kill McWilliams. Finally, McWilliams snatched it and clubbed the desperado with it. Then McWilliams marched the prisoner half a mile to his own farm house and had the bell rung for help. When the farm hands came they chained Delk and started for Senoia.

Delk was chained securely to a wagon and started across the country for Atlanta, thirty miles away. They expected to reach there about 3 o'clock Thursday morning.

MOST TRANSPARENT SCHEMES

Of Swindlers Find Simple Citizens Who Greedily Gobble the Bait.

A slick swindler, claiming to be W. H. Stewart, of Washington, D. C., fleeced some citizens of Morristown, Tenn., Wednesday, including a Southern railway agent, a prominent druggist and a wholesale grocer. He purported to be a government official representing the United States coin repository of Washington. He baited his victims by informing them that the government would shortly call in coins of certain dates and pay a premium on them, stating that all pennies would be redeemed. He possessed a paper, issued monthly, with the desired information as to dates, etc., which he sold for $1. Enough evidence has been secured to send him to the penitentiary. After sticking several citizens to the tune of a few dollars, he left for Newport, where he was arrested. He compromised by returning the money and paying the costs.

Hagaboom's Hard Lines.

Edward Hagaboom, president of the City Savings Bank & Trust company, of Hot Springs, which recently failed with liabilities of nearly $175,000, and whose whereabouts has been a mystery, returned to Hot Springs Saturday and as soon as his presence became known he was besiged by a clamorous crowd of creditors. Depositors in the bank who had lost all their savings in the defunct institution fairly swarmed around Hogaboom's residence, and several stormy interviews between depositors and the president took place. Excitement was very high, and the opinion was freely expressed that violence would be done Hagaboom, but this is hardly probable. Mr. Hogaboom has, since his absence from Hot Springs, been spending his time quietly in a village near Memphis. He says he does not know what condition his affairs are in, but will try to straighten them out.

Homicide at Hot Springs.

Mayor W. W. Waters, of this city, at 9;30 Saturday night killed Harry Martin, a doctor's drummer, on the street, by cutting his throat with a pocket knife. The killing grew out of the war being waged on the drummers by the city authorities. Martin accosted Waters on the street and a quarrel arose, when the mayor drew his knife and cut Martin's throat from ear to ear. The mayor was arrested and is at the sheriff's house tonight. Mayor Waters gained national notoriety through his connection with the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fiasco.

Special Rates to Conventions.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Of Cumberland Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Ala.—Reduced Rates Via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Birmingham, Ala., and return at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 17, 18 and 19, good to return on or before June 5, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman. T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Of Young Men's Christian Association, Knoxville, Tenn.—Reduced Rates Via the Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Summer School of the Young Men's Christian Association the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Knoxville, Tenn., and return at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 18, 19 and 20, good to return on or before June 30, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P.& T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. &T. A., Lexington, Ky.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Of Young Women's Christian Endeavor, Asheville, N. C.—Reduced Rates Via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Summer School of the Young Women's Christian Endeavor the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Asheville, N. C., and return at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 10, 11 and 12, good to return on or before June 26, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN

Convention, St. Louis, Mo.—Reduced Rates Via the Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the National Republican Convention the Southern Railway will sell tickets to St. Louis, Mo., and return, at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 13 and 14, good to return until June 21, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift. P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

International Y. P. S. C. E. Convention,

Washington, D. C.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the International Christian Endeavor Convention, which will be held in Washington, D. C., July 7-13, the Southern Railway will sell tickets at the rate of one limited first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold July 5-7, and limited to continuous passage in each direction, with extreme limit for return July 21, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the company or W. H. Doll, T. P. A. Chattanooga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.

It Exploded Prematurely.

A premature explosion of dynamite, attended with fatal results, occurred at the mines of the Virginia Coal and Iron company, Middlesboro, Ky., Saturday afternoon, in which Joen K. Taggart, the general superintendent of the company, and an employe named Hardin were instantly killed. The superintendent and several workmen of the company were preparing a blast in the mines and had drilled a hole thirty feet deep, in which they placed a charge consisting of nine kegs of powder and a stick of dynamite. They were tamping the earth over the charge when it exploded prematurely. J. A. L. Minor, standing near the scene, was blown fifty yards in the air. George Glaceclsek was also injured.

Incompetent or Dishonest.

The investigation of the accounts of the Atlanta, Ga., postoffice has disclosed the fact that Charles Mobley, the clerk who has had charge of the rental of boxes, is short about $600 in his accounts, instead of $300, as was supposed when the discovery of his shortage was at first made. It will be two or three days before the investigation will be completed, and until that time nothing definite will be known.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.

Tennessee Burt Oats.

United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham	7:25 p m
No. 15	South	12:37 p m
No. 16	North	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Clifton Newton, formerly of the Demopolis Enterprise, visited friends in Montevallo Tuesday.

Lost, on the Ashville road a ladies' purse, containing some silver and two photographs. The owner will much appreciate the return of the same to the News office.

W. S. Thompson reported cotton squaring last week.

Messrs. John and Sam Eastham, two enterprising citizens of Mayline, visited Montevallo one day last week.

M. Born & Co., the merchant tailors, are still turning out the prettiest suits of the season. Their remarkably low prices and neat cuts keep H. C. & W. B. Reynolds busy ordering.

Rev. Mr. Thames, of Howard College, took Dr. McGaha's place Sunday morning and evening.

A number of Montevalloans have been attending court at Columbiana this week.

Mr. Newton Harris, of Brookside, spent a few days in town last week.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds have just recieved a fresh lot of that celebrated United States flour barrels and sacks.

Mr. Lenore, representing Cawthon & Coleman, of Selma, and Mr. Perkins, representing Merrill, of Cincinnati, were in town Tuesday and left some of their elegant pharmaceutical preparations with H. C. & W. B. Reynolds.

Miss Minnie Walker left Montevallo Tuesday for a visit to her sister, Mrs. E. D. Reynolds of Blocton.

Mr. G. B. Griffin and Mr. Wyatt, of Helena, were in Montevallo Tuesday for the purpose of carrying home a fine McCormick combination reaper and binder sold to Mr. Griffin by H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, agents for McCormick's harvesting machinery.

Mr. Thomas Cushatt who is working at Peter's mines is at home on account of sickness in his family.

Dr. and Mrs. Acker and Miss Pauline Acker attended the funeral of Mrs. Richard Griffin of Helena last Friday.

If you want a shoe with a written guarantee call at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds.

Majah says that with all due peace and dignity and by virtue of the authority vested in him, he will proceed to close the postoffice on Saturday, the 30th, the same being a legal holiday.

Mr. Will Abernathy, brother of Rev. P. L. Abernathy, has made many new friends during a few days stay in Montevallo.

At the home of Mr. Roberts, of Aldrich, walking about in a good state of health and bidding fair to grace some picnic spread may be seen two chickens hatched from the same egg.

No one will object to the size of your feet if your shoes be well polished. No one will object to the size of your hands if your heart corresponds. Freckles on the face is a small matter, provided there be none on the soul.

Our friend, Forney Lee, took the time from his crops to make us a pleasant call Wednesday.

We have heard that Shakespeare says that "conscience makes cowards of us all." It is our experience that it sometimes makes fools of us in the eyes of other people; it is, however, a thing that cannot be safely disregarded.

From a private letter from Mrs. W. F. Aldrich we learn that she if taking a lively interest in the land bill for the Industrial School and that her husband is watching every point to gain a vote on its passage. But for the opposition of Mr. Crisp of Georgia—who really represents someone else—the bill would have been passed. Mr. Aldrich yet hopes to get it through. If it does not pass this session it undoubtedly will next session of congress.

O happy day! when laying aside the work and routine of daily life we shake off "dull care" and with a joyous heart board the train for a good old-fashioned Sunday school picnic. How pretty and fresh the girls look! The young and the grown folks all wear a smile of satisfaction and a look of happy expectancy that an angel would be pleased to be the cause that illumines each childish face. Such are among our memories of the union picnic with the good people of Brierfield last Friday; and our thanks are due them, for if there are better ones anywhere we don't know it. We couldn't see much of the town for the trees, but some things we do remember—among them were some of the prettiest girls we have yet had the pleasure of beholding, the best dinner we have euer tasted and an interesting game of ball. May we all live to enjoy many other occasions of the kind.

MOONLIGHT.

What is society? Why should people mix up and go together and have a good time anyway? Well, we don't pretend to know, but we will tell you our experience in the matter.

It is a fact, and a very consoling one too, that no one has a monopoly of all the good features of mankind.

Each human creature has good points, and we can best appreciate them when leaving aside the cares and restraints of manner which our daily occupations to some extent necessarily impose, we enjoy social companionship of one another. Therefore the unfortunate that draws himself up in his shell and refuses to associate under proper circumstances with this one or that one for fear of contamination is to be pitied.

On Monday night a sociable crowd of nineteen enjoyed themselves hugely at a moonlight picnic at Ebenezer. Soon after the arrival a delicious "spread" was enjoyed by all, in which ice cream and lemonade were not lacking as delightful accessories to spring chicken, salads, chocolate cake and numerous other appetizing viands. After this the party made themselves comfortable on a large log, the trunk of a once giant oak. There on a grass robed lawn in depths of the grove as the party formed a most attractive and picturesque scene the dreamy influence of the soft moonlight drew forth entrancing renditions of charming melodies, both old and new, solos and choruses, from "Little Joe" to "Daisies." And confidentially, several of us, listening to the sweet music, almost swore a great swear that never more would mortal hear a note from our untutored voices. After an hour thus pleasantly spent the crowd took the chaperones at their word and wended their way homeward.

The following is a list of the couples that attended: Mr and Mrs C W Cary, Mr and Mrs W B Reynolds, Lewis N Bowdon and Miss Martah Hawkins, Dr Givhan and Miss Minnie Walker, Fred K Reynolds and Miss Signa Christie, Nat Nabers and Miss Katie Reynolds, P W McConaughy and Miss Mary Lee Perry, F E Davis and Miss Lena Nicholls, Dr Pratt, F W Rogan and A J Lee.

GURNEE, ALA.

Mr. D. D. Atkison, a railroad man on the Southern, happened to a serious accident last week, in which he lost one of his eyes.

Hon. L. P. Parvo, master of trains on the Southern, was in the city a few days since.

Attorney J. M. Reynolds, of Montevallo, was in the city last week on professional business.

Professor Pritchett, of Aldrich, Ala., was in the city a few days since taking in the situation.

Hon J. G. Harris was in the city a few days last week on matrimonial business.

Gurnee has a very fine little Sunday school now and prospects are bright.

Mr. E. A. Parker made a flying trip to Blocton last week.

R. L. Rice is making arrangements with the Southern to run an excursion from Blocton to Selma in the near future. The date will be fixed when the contract is signed. The attraction will be a game of base ball between Blocton and Selma, and the round trip will only be $1. Don't fail to see the best game of ball of the state with the champion amateur teams.

We learn from headquarters that it won't be long before the mines here will be shipping coal.

Mr. Thomas Dunn, of Blocton, called to see us a few days since.

Mr. J. W. Little, of Bismarck, Ala., spent a few days with us last week.

Mr. Charles Nash, of Aldrich, called to see us a few days since.

Mr. J. C. Brock is very sick with hemorrhage of the lungs.

Gurnee is to have a nice soda fount in the near future.

If you want to keep yourself posted read the Montevallo News and the Advertiser.

Don't forget that we are always in the lead and propose to stay there.

Birmingham Junction is going to have a new Baptist church, which will improve the city. We must have a church house here.

REGISTERED AT THE CENTRAL HOTEL.

Ed Lilienthal, Selma, Ala.; W. R. Eastham, Siluria, Ala.; L. D. Sewell, Moland, Ga.; J. T. Eastham, Siluria, Ala.; E. J. Snow, Jr., New York; W. G. Roberts, Nashville; Henry Meyers, Selma, Ala.; J. M. Hallman, Nashville, Tenn.; Max Lilienthal, Selma, Ala.; J. S. Perkins, Cincinnati; Chas. Lenair, Selma; John M. Norwood, Birmingham; John J. Hayes, Richmond, Va.; W. G. Roberts, Nashville, Tenn.; John Welsh, Birmingham; Miss Rhoda Latham, City; John Leonard, Birmingham; B. Eberhart, Birmingham; — Kufman, Montgomery; W. Abernathy, Birmingham; W. J. Right, Birmingham; C. Lenore, Selma; — Perkins, Cincinnati.

The first step toward decided improvement in the construction of roads and pavements is to develop a proper sense of their badness.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

We regret very much to chronicle the illness of Mrs. M. V. Lawley and we wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hermon's little child, who has been sick for quite a while, died on the 23d instant and it was carried to Jefferson county for burial. Jefferson being Mr. Harmon's former home.

Among those who attended the Sunday school picnic at Brierfield were: Miss Mamie and Minnie Harrison, and Messrs. Pat, Walter, Thomas and Oscar Harrison.

The game of base ball at the Brierfield picnic was called the seventh inning, with a score of 18 to 12 in favor of the visiting team.

Messrs. Walter Harrison and Osie Burke took Gurnee by storm Sunday.

B. Y. H.

THEY SAY

That money makes friends.

That whisky makes drunkards.

That some of the officers of the Weary S. of N. S. have resigned and the order is going down.

The order of B. C. has not met for over a year.

That J. S. L. says that some one is trying to beat him out of his girl.

That some of our boys have retired from sporting life.

That the way of the transgressor is hard.

That B. has barred the professor.

That the kid is in the matrimonial business.

That Foots doesn't get weary.

That Slen has bought him a new wheel.

That Fattie doesn't call no more.

That some one is like the label on the bottle.

That R. B. calls to see his girl eight times a week.

That there is going to be a wedding.

That the Hill Peeper is strictly in it.

Red Rabbit.

$15 REWARD

Will be paid to anyone establishing the fact that Fleming's English Remedy for colic in horses and mules has failed to relieve. For sale by H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, Montevallo, Ala.

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

Progress of Our New Ships.

Chief Constructor Hichborn's latest record of the condition of the ships under construction is very gratifying. The Massachusetts is 99 per cent. and the Oregan 98 per cent. completed, while both have been tried and are substantially ready for commission and for actual service. Close upon them comes our most powerful monitor, the Puritan, which is nineteen-twentieths completed. The Brooklyn, which recently made an excellent builder's trial, and which will probably have her official speed run in July, is four-fifths done. The three gunboats, Nashville, Wilmington and Helena, are nearly four-fifths completed, and the three torpedo boats building at Baltimore about two-fifths. There are other craft of various sorts and sizes building, but the foregoing are the most advanced.

Danger Mark Touched.

A climax was reached in the local storm at St. Louis, Mo., at 6 o'clock Thursday night. The clouds that had dropped occasional showers all day centered over the city and a deluge of rain and hail fell. The hail stones were unusually large and considerable damage resulted. The river continued to rise rapidly. At 9 o'clock the water touched the 30 foot mark, a rise of 5 feet since morning, and it was advancing. The government weather service sent out warnings to property owners along the river front and hundreds of men were put to work removing the lumber and other endangered merchandise to places of safety. Every vessel in the harbor had steam up. It seems assured that the destructive flood of former years will be rivalled.

Is There Another Durant?

A horrible tragedy, in many respects similar to the murder said to have been committed by Durant at San Francisco, has been unearthed in Salt Lake city. The victims were two women. Rev. Francis Hermann is accused of the murders. The place of the crimes was the Scandinavian church, 158 Second East street. The partially burned remains of one of the women were found in the furnace of the church. The body of the other is supposed to be concealed in the basin of the church. The preacher has disappeared.

Whole Family Murdered.

The whole Sawyer family, consisting of father, mother and grown-up son, were discovered in their home one mile east of Ava., Mo., Saturday, murdered. The three bodies were found piled together under a bed and covered with a blanket. On the front door was a card, upon which had been scribbled the words:

"We are gone to Ozark. Will be back Monday or Tuesday."

This is supposed to have been left by the murderers. The object of the crime appears to have been robbery.

No arrests have been made.

The Laurada Landed.

News of the Laurada was received from Philadelphia by a member of one of the Cuban clubs in New York city Wednesday. According to the dispatch, a landing was effected without molestation by the Spaniards. All the men and the entire cargo were put ashore.

It is not generally understood in this country that in Germany, France and Italy priests are liable to military duty, as well as all other classes of the population. In Germany they are usually assigned to service in the hospitals, but in France and Italy they are compelled to go into the ranks.

NOTICE!

To Applicants for Confederate pensions:

Take notice that the Board of Examiners will be in session at my office for the purpose of considering and passing upon applications, on Monday the 1st day of June, and will continue in session three days. All persons having filed applications may appear on any one of these days with proof to support their applications, if they think proper.

I give this notice at the request of the board, and of some of the applicants whose applications were rejected last year, to give them an opportunity of introducing proof. Applications will be received until June 1st.

D. R. McMillan,
Judge of Probate.

2t

National Prohibition Convention,

Pittsburgh, Penn.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

On account of the National Prohibition Convention, which will be held in Pittsburgh, Penn., May 27-29, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Pittsburgh and return at rate of one limited first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 24-26, limited for return on or before May 30, 1896.

For further information regarding rates and schedules call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or Mr. L. A. Shipman, T. P. A. Birmingham, Ala. tf

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—REDUCED RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Re-union of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates.

Tickets from points in Georgia and Tennessee, north and east of Atlanta and Chattanooga, will be sold June 27 to 28 and 29, and from points south and west of Atlanta and Chattanooga, and east of the Mississippi river, tickets will be sold June 26, 27, 28 and 29. Final limit on tickets from all points will be July 6, 1896.

From points south and west of Atlanta, the Southern railway is the short and quick route to Richmond, Va., via the "Piedmont Air Line," and the service is peerless. From Knoxville, Tenn., Chattanooga, Tenn., and points west thereof, the route of the Southern railway is via Ashville, and through the scenic "Land of the Sky." The service of this line is unexcelled.

Call on any agent of the Southern railway for further information, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanoogu, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; W. A. Turks, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G, P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon.

Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

Attorney at Law and Justice of the Peace,

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Paint Brushes at 20c and 25c.
Sponges, a nice line.
Small Steel Tweezers at 10c.
Putty, Turpentine and Castor Oil in bulk.
One dollar bottles McElree's Wine of Cardui at 83c.
Hood's Sarsaparilla at 89c.
Pure Drugs and Chemicals at REYNOLD'S DRUG STORE.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

—You can get—

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land a any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!
The Fireside!!
The Store!!!

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

—DEALERS IN—

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Millinery Goods.

Having moved my Millinery Stock over in the business portion of town I am now prepared to serve my customers better than ever. I have just opened

The Most Complete Line of Millinery

ever brought to Montevallo. I intend to keep the reputation my goods have made and offer them cheaper than ever. Call and see me in my new store on Main Street, under the law office of E. S. Lyman, Esq.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY.

New Millinery Store.

I have just opened the nicest line of

MILLINERY GOODS

Ever brought to Montevallo. Having had large experience in this line and having some of the best connections in New York, Baltimore and St. Louis, I feel that I can suit the most fastidious.

PRICES CHEAPER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Call and see me at my new store.

MRS. T. A. BEST,

Corner of Valley and Depot Streets.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY.

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels, Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

J. B. Lewis Co. WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear,
Style,
Ease,
Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

FLOUR! FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

He Loved Her Dressmaker.

"Here's a bill from my wife's dressmaker. I hate to pay dressmaking bills, don't you, Larkin?"

"No; I'm very fond of my wife's dressmaker. It's a positive pleasure to pay her bills."

"Good heavens, Larkin! that would not go in my family! Who is your wife's dressmaker?"

"My wife."—Detroit Free Press.

If a man tells you a story he thinks is funny, and you do not laugh at it, he will hate you.

Different Points of View.

Two girl friends met on the street and stopped to shake hands.

"So glad to meet you, Grace," said the tailor-made Alice. "Was just on my way to ask you, as my oldest friend, to be one of my bridesmaids."

"Bridesmaid! How lovely! I did not know you were engaged," replied the fin-de-siecle Grace.

"It's sudden, very sudden; but he's awfully in love, and is just too lovely to live. Will you act?"

"Act? Of course. I'll be charmed. But," moving forward and speaking in an undertone, "do come round the corner and tell me all about it. There comes that idiotic, irrepressible ass, Jim Berton. He's grinning as though he meant to stop, and I don't care to be seen talking to him."

"Jim Berton? He's the man I'm going to marry!"

When Nature

Needs assistance it may be best to render it promptly, but one should remember to use even the most perfect remedies only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company.

When you want a short prayer in church, don't call on a long-faced man to make it.

From a Prominent Clergyman.

LAKELAND, FLA.

"I was afflicted with eczema, or some kindred skin disease, for more than twenty years, and in addition to prescriptions from a great many prominent physicians I had used everything I knew of, recommended as cures for skin diseases, without the slightest benefit. Several months ago one box of TETTERINE was given me, and by its use I have been cured. Three months have passed, and no sign of its return. I shall ever remember the makers of this valuable remedy with gratitude."

REV. A. C. TURNER.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.

J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

A Good Dog Is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

People will the more readily believe in our love when it costs us something to show it.

More diseases are produced by using brown soap than by anything else. Why run such terrible risks when you know that Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap is absolutely pure? Your grocer has it or will get it for you. In red wrappers only.

The man who expects to outrun a lie had better start with good shoes on his feet.

We will give $100 reward for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

We have not been without Piso's Cure for Consumption for 20 years.—LIZZIE FERREL, Camp St., Harrisburg, Pa., May 4, '94.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflamation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The bustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

Feel-

ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to everyone, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1 Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

TO FATTEN AN OLD COW.

An old cow will make very good beef if well fattened. It will be necessary to give her plenty of time, and ten or twenty bushels of turnips will be required. These, with four quarts of corn meal, or half as much with an equal quantity of linseed oil meal, given with cut hay and some dry hay—as much as will be eaten—will make as good beef as can be wished. If the cow is milking she should be dried at once. Soft corn is good feed for fattening an old cow, as it is easily eaten. It will be desirable to begin the fattening process in the summer.—New York Times.

THE EXPENSIVENESS OF PASTURING.

Wherever land is dear the pasture provides food for stock that, considering its nutritive value, is much dearer than that grown by cultivation. In the first place, the grass, even if undisturbed, does not yield as heavy a crop as will most of the grains and corn drilled for fodder. In the pasture the constant trampling of stock lessens the grass yield still further. What the stock waste in a clover field will in most places pay for the labor of cutting and carrying the clover to them, provided the field is near where the stock is kept, and the cutting of the clover can be done by horse power. Yet there are many places where cultivation is impossible, and using these as permanent pastures is the only way to make the land useful and profitable. —Boston Cultivator.

CONVENIENT GARDEN CARRIER.

The cut shows how an old crate, of one of the larger sizes, such as are found about almost every place, can be made into a convenient carrier for handling garden truck. It can be filled with cabbages, carrots, beets or potatoes directly from the rows, and picked up by two persons and carried to the storehouse and emptied just where desired without further handling, which is not possible with wheelbarrows, handcarts, etc. Simply nailing two long handles to the top of the crate is all the work of construction that is required.—New York Tribune.

MANURING THE PEA CROP.

Most farmers who have manured peas heavily with stable manure, especially if applied in its unfermented state, have generally found that the crop was not benefited thereby. The manure will usually make a large growth of vine, but when buried in the soil the manure dries it out too much to make a well-filled pod. Even in a wet season the stable manure does not increase the grain product. That depends very largely on mineral fertilizers, which the stable manure only supplies in very small proportions. Both peas and beans respond liberally to dressings of the commercial mineral fertilizers phosphate and potash. Even on poor land where the vine growth is small the vines will be full of well-filled pods and will yield a large crop. For the very earliest planted peas some nitrate of soda applied in very small amounts with the seed will pay. Beans require to be planted after the ground has warmed and their supplies of nitrates can be furnished by the decomposition of vegetable matter which all but the poorest soil contains. —Boston Cultivator.

DOUBLE HIVES.

George Appleton tells in the Farm Journal that when the production of honey is not a side industry, but the only one, the double hive has taken the place of the single one. The more workers there are in any industry the greater will be the product if the workers have sufficient room and facilities. He says: "A small colony requires as much attention as, in fact probably more than, a large colony. Therefore, when the season is fairly begun and the strength of each colony is determined, unite the weak colonies immediately. It is better to have five strong colonies than twenty-five weak ones. Give each colony a double hive—that is, a hive with as much room in the surplus chamber as in the brood chamber. If this be done and this double hive be kept recruited to its maximum capacity, then there is no question as to the profit in keeping bees, provided of course that the season is an average one and that there is honey in the field that may be collected. There is no reason why a colony should not contain 50,000 or 75,000 bees, and they must be as numerous in order to insure success, not a few pounds of honey, but 50, 75, or 100 pounds of extracted honey to a colony.—Farm and Labor Journal.

PREPARING LAND FOR GRASS SEEDING.

Oats and peas mixed will not be a good crop to seed to grass with, on account of the dense growth by which the young grass will be smothered. It will be better to sow oats alone, and after harrowing in the seed sow the grass and clover seed immediately. The grass seed should be covered by a light harrowing with a sloping toothed harrow, having the teeth sloping back and of light iron or steel rods. Or it will do just as well to draw a smoothing plank over the surface, which may be made in this way. The planks are held together by short chains, which gives the best effect.

It will be very desirable to apply wood ashes—ten bushels per acre—immediately after the oats are sown, and cover them in with the grass seed. Nitrate of soda is always desirable; it is a compound of nitric acid and soda, and one of the most valuable nitrogenous fertilizers. One hundred pounds per acre may be sown, mixed with wood ashes. For oats alone, sow 2½ bushels per acre; for peas mixed, simply add to the oats 1½ bushels of them. This mixed crop will yield on one acre just the same as on two acres sown separately. But as the peas will settle down and shade the surface, it is not advisable to sow grass seed with this crop. After the oats are gathered it might be well to sow on the young grass ten bushels of air slacked quicklime per acre. Or in place of it, one bushel of plaster. Lime has an exceedingly good effect on clover.—New York Times.

SMOOTHING DRAG FOR COVERING GRASS SEED

THE GYPSY MOTH.

Professor E. H. Forbush, of the Massachusetts Gypsy Moth Commission, recently spoke before the Worcester Horticultural Society, says the Spy, on the moth and injurious insects generally. These begin their ravages with the settlement of a country, increase in extent up to a certain point, then gradually decrease, especially if the insectivorous birds are encouraged. Man is often the most obnoxious instrument in multiplying such insects, and imported insects are often more destructive than native species. The gypsy moth (ocneria dispar) was brought into this country to cross with the silk worm, to establish a hardier species. The attempt failed, but the worm remained hardy, indeed, surviving forty degrees below zero, and is, in fact, most numerous in Russia and Siberia. It has been very destructive to foliage within a certain area—about two hundred square miles—in Eastern Massachusetts, where the work of extermination has been carried on for five years both by hand gathering and insecticides. The best success has been with a sprayed solution of arsenic and lead. At present there are not more than two-thirds as many moths as when the work began. They have no skirmish line, but move in a solid body. There would have been greater success, had not the State appropriations for the past three years been too small, much below the closest estimates. The speaker believed the moth could be thoroughly exterminated, but it might cost the State a million of dollars, perhaps ten millions, if the work continued to be stinted. About forty kinds of birds will eat the caterpillars, but not the eggs. In the case of silk worms birds destroy ninety-five per cent. of the eggs. The total cost of insect injury throughout the United States has been estimated at from $250,000,000 to $400,000,000. It costs the farmers of Massachusetts about $80,000 annually to check the potato beetle with Paris green.

SOME IMPORTANT NOTES ON PIGS.

Professor A. A. Mills, of the Utah Experiment Station, has given the results of several careful experiments in pig raising, made through the two years of 1894 and 1895. He sums up his conclusions as follows:

1. Pigs allowed to run at large over eighteen acres of good pasture and fed a full ration of grain, made the most rapid growth, and required the least grain for one pound of gain.

2. Pigs confined in movable pens in the pasture grew more slowly than those running loose, and required an increase of twenty per cent. of grain to make one pound of growth.

3. Pigs at pasture, fed under three different conditions, gained 92.5 per cent. more and ate but two per cent. more than the pigs getting grass and otherwise similarly fed but confined in pens. The grain required to produce one pound of gain was increased forty per cent. with those in pens over those at pasture.

4. Pigs fed but part rations of grain at pasture made satisfactory gains. Those at pasture getting the three-fourths grain ration gained more than those fed a full grain ration and grass, either in the yards or in the pens.

5. Pigs pastured without grain made about the same growth for three seasons in succession, this averaging .36 of a pound per day.

6. As nearly as can be judged exercise alone increased the gain twenty-two per cent. and the amount eaten but 1.5 per cent., but decreased the amount required for one pound of gain twenty-two per cent.

7. Grass when cut and fed green to pigs, whether fed in pens or yards, or with full or part grain ration, or without grain, proved to be of very little value.

8. Pigs confined in pens and fed on grass alone, mostly lucern, for ninety-one days, lost over a quarter of a pound per day.

9. The average of the pigs fed on grass gained a little more than these without the grass, but not enough to pay for the extra feed in the grass.

10. With the pigs confined in the hog house pens the grass proved beneficial, while with those in the yard it proved detrimental, the latter required more grain to make a pound of pork than without it.

11. Pasturing either with full or part grain rations appearing to be by far the cheapest and best way of making pork.—Progressive Farmer.

BUDGET OF FUN.

HUMOROUS SKETCHES FROM VARIOUS SOURCES.

Quite English—A Distinct Advance—Not One of Us—What They Lacked—How the Report Started, Etc.

We're living in a funny age.
For now, with best intent,
Instead of boasting of their rise,
Men brag of their descent.

A DISTINCT ADVANCE.

"Jimmy, do you get along well at school now?"

"Yes; I've got big 'nuff to write my own excuses."—Chicago Record.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

Mrs. Kingley—"I wish this gown of mine was worn out. I don't like it a bit."

Mrs. Bingo—"Why don't you go shopping in it some day?"—Puck.

NOT ONE OF US.

"Gibbs is a fine specimen of the human race, isn't he?"

"I don't see why you call him a specimen of the human race—he doesn't ride a wheel."—Chicago Record.

DIPLOMATIC.

Mrs. Newed—"The cook and janitor have quarreled. What shall we do?"

Mr. Newed—"Recognize their belligerency, and do all in your power to protect our crockery and bric-a-brac."—Truth.

HOW THE REPORT STARTED.

"What is this yarn about Lushforth going in for floriculture?"

"Oh, that story started by one of the boys saying that the carnation on his nose cost more than $10,000."—Indianapolis Journal.

VICISSITUDES OF LIFE.

"Rose, did you have a good time downtown bargain day?"

"No; I waited two hours to see some lovely jardinieres marked down and a clerk came around and marked them up."—Chicago Record.

WHAT THEY LACKED.

Poetaster—"Wha-wha-what? You have burnt my love poems? Why, pray?"

Editor—"Why, because fire was the very thing they were short of."—Pfullendorfer Anzeiger.

EXPERT IN ORNITHOLOGY.

"Old chap, I've been duck shooting, don't you know."

"Duck shooting? Why, you don't know a tame duck from a wild one."

"Oh, yes, I do—the wild ones got away."—Chicago Record.

THE AUTOMATIC BRAKE.

Master—"How was the vase smashed, Mary?"

Mary—"If you please, sir, it tumbled down and broke itself."

Master—"Humph! The automatic brake again."—London Tid-Bits.

A SOUVENIR OCCASION.

Mistress—"Anna, whatever has become of all your pretty curls?"

Maid—"You see, ma'am, the regiment has left our town, and so I have had to give a lock of my hair to several of my accquaintances."—Fliegende Blaetter.

WHERE BEAUTY COUNTS.

"Good looks don't amount to anything after all."

"They don't? Well, just come round to our boarding house; that's the place where the fellow with side-whiskers gets the biggest piece of pie."—Chicago Record.

NOT THE RIGHT DEFINITION.

Johnny Chaffie's Sunday-school teacher is a lady. The other day she asked him:

"Johnny, do you know what a miracle is?"

"Yes. Ma says if you don't marry our new parson it will be a miracle."—Texas Sifter.

DONE WITHOUT TRANSFORMATION.

"I hear Wooley gave an evening of prestidigitation at your place."

"Yes."

"Did he do any remarkable tricks."

"Yes. He came out in a full dress suit, and hadn't been there five minutes before he'd made an ass of himself."—Harper's Bazar.

THE RIDER THE SUFFERER.

Walker—"Er—when you run into a man the rider is as likely to get the worst of it as the pedestrain, isn't he."

Wheeler—"You bet he is! The last fellow I ran into only lost a front tooth, while I had four spokes broken and my sprocket wrenched all out of true."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A BARMICEDE'S FEAST.

Wayside Wanderer—"I don't know how it is, marm, but I have a conviction that you are going to give me something to eat."

Lady of the House—"Well, perhaps you had better swallow your convictions. They ought to make a nice meal for you."—Boston Transcript.

AMPLE REVENGE.

"That feller Hankinson has been comin' to see my sister for six months," said Johnny, "and he's never give me a cent's worth of candy. But I got even with him last night."

"How."

"I saw him sittin' in the parlor, waiting for sis to come down. He had egg in his whiskers, and I didn't tell him of it."—Chicago Tribune.

"Seen Bill Brown when I was up to town," said the man with the gum boots, setting himself on the salt barrel. "Conductin' a street car."

"I thought Bill was goin' into business fer hisself," said the grocer.

"Wal, I allow he is to some extent, but the company ain't got onto it yet."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Not Rare.

Landlady—Do you like your steak rare, Mr. Boarder?

Mr. B.—No rarer than it is, madam.—Detroit Free Press.

The great truth that needs to be taught to every child, impressed upon every youth, and established in every mind is, that the basis of all happiness is loyalty to truth and right.

Newly married people do not go into society much until they are tired of each other.

What She Said.

"Liz," said Miss Kiljordan's youngest brother, "do you say 'woods is' or 'woods are?'"

"'Woods are,' of course," she answered. "Why?"

"'Cause Mr. Woods are down in the parlor waitin' to see you."—Exchange.

Spratts—"Miss Elder is much older than I thought." Hunker—"Impossible!" Spratts—"Well, I asked her if she had read Esop's Fables, and she said she read them when they first came out."—Home Journal.

"Your daughter has had a great many admirers." "Oh, yes; she puts nearly all her window curtains on the rods with her old engagement rings."—Chicago Record.

Should a man think more, or less, of a man who gives him a poor cigar?

The Blue and the Gray.

Both men and women are apt to feel a little blue, when the gray hairs begin to show. It's a very natural feeling. It's the normal condition of things gray hairs belong to advanced age. They have no business whitening the head of man or woman, who has not begun to go down the slope of life. As a matter of fact, the hair turns gray regardless of age, or of life's seasons; sometimes it is whitened by sickness, but more often from lack of care. When the hair fades or turns gray there's no need to resort to hair dyes. The normal color of the hair is restored and retained by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Ayer's Curebook, "a story of cures told by the cured." 100 pages, free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

START

THE GIRL RIGHT.

When the girl comes to be a woman—look out. If she starts out in vigorous, womanly health then it is pretty safe to say she will be a healthy, attractive, beautiful woman.

The beginning of womanhood is the real crisis in a woman's life. Nearly always something is wrong then in the distinctly feminine organs. Maybe it isn't very serious—no matter—the time to stop disease is when it starts.

McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI

will bring girls safely through the crisis. Taken at the first indication of weakness, it never fails. It regulates the monthly periods with perfect precision. Its action is direct upon the feminine organs that above all others, ought to be strong and well.

Start the girl right. Don't expose her to the dangers and tortures of dragging weakness, bearing down pains, nervous prostration and the debilitating drains so common to women.

McElree's Wine of Cardui, is a home treatment. It does away entirely with abhorrent "local examinations."

Sold at $1.00 a Bottle by Dealers in Medicine.

Second Hand

TUERK WATER MOTOR

For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to

Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

A quarter spent in HIRES Rootbeer does you dollars' worth of good.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Am. N.U. No. 22. 1896.

RIPANS TABULES

A physician in a New York town, not far from Albany, writes September 20th, 1895: "I had a case recently that will be of interest to you. An old gentleman had suffered from flatulence, due to indigestion; had been so annoyed by it that he had consulted all the doctors in the vicinity without securing any benefit. Finally he came to my office. I prescribed several remedies which failed utterly. I then prescribed Ripans Tabules, which he reported gave him immediate relief, and he is now nearly cured. I think it would be an excellent thing for you to make a strong feature of 'flatulence' in your advertisements, as I find them excellent in almost every case of that sort."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (30 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

"Blight"

costs cotton planters more than five million dollars annually. This is an enormous waste, and can be prevented. Practical experiments at Alabama Experiment Station show conclusively that the use of will prevent that dreaded plant disease.

"Kainit"

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing the results of latest experiments in this line. Every cotton farmer should have a copy. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

Manufacturers
—OF—
Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting
—AND—
Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.

OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.

Write for Prices. Address,

Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

In writing please mention this paper.

"Contains More Flesh Forming Matter Than Beef."

That is what an eminent physician says of good cocoa. The Cocoa made by Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass., is the best.

See that Imitations are not palmed off on you.

Circuit Court

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. II. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1896. NO. 9.

A PONGEE HANDKERCHIEF.

"BARGAINS, eh?" said Mrs. Pilkington. "Guess I'll a look at 'em."

Of all things, Mrs. Pilkington was least able to resist a bargain.

The old Pilkington farm house at home was crammed full of "bargains," possible and impossible. The bureau drawers overflowed with "bargains," which were of no use to anyone; the trunks were packed full of "bargains."

And here, on the crowded curbstones of Grand street, the swinging pasteboard sign of "Great Bargains Within!" attracted her attention, hurried though she was with the manifold errands which yet remained incomplete.

She had a lot of damaged table linen under her arm, and some cheap hosiery in her bag, and a dozen towels with misprinted borders in her pocket, and here she was crowding into the Grand street store to buy a blue spotted pongee neckerchief for eighteen cents!

"It'll do for Sara Janetta to wa'ar around her neck of a cool evenin'," said Mrs. Pilkington, "and eighteen cents is really very cheap for real pongee."

Mrs. Pilkington lived in a little brown roofed farm house on the Housatonic River, and her main errand up to town had been to buy a "store carpet" for her bedroom floor, and to exchange an old sewing machine for something of a newer order.

Her cousin, Mrs. Bruce Babbitt, who had spent the summer months at the farm, and made the most possible trouble for the least possible pay, had also engaged to hunt her up a "help" from the nearest intelligence office, and have the same on hand when the "five-four train" left the Grand Central Depot that afternoon!

And sure enough, when the lady from the country arrived, red and panting, at the depot, with disheveled hair, bent bonnet and shawl dragged all awry, a modest young girl stood at the door with a card bearing the name of "Mrs. Bruce Babbitt" in her hand.

"Is it Mrs. Pilkington?" said she.

"You ain't the new sewing machine, be you?" said Mrs. Pilkington, rubbing her nose with a puzzled air. "Nor yet the eighteen yards of carpet from Stoneybridge and Bounce's?"

"I am Phœbe," said the young woman—"Phœbe, at nine dollars a month, if I am lucky enough to suit you, ma'am?"

She was a pretty, blue eyed lass, with a fresh complexion, and a neat gown of green and white seer-sucker, and she wore a bonnet of her own trimming, with a cluster of buttercups on the side.

Mrs. Pilkington looked dubiously at her. She had prepared herself to expect a stout, red-handed drudge.

It did not seem possible that this delicate little apple blossom of a girl could be a servant-of-all-work.

But there, sure enough, were her credentials, and the bell, even then, was clanging for the closing of the gates.

"Come on!" said Mrs. Pilkington, and she rushed through, dragging Phœbe after her. "It's strange, though, that the carpet and the sewing machine ain't here."

"Did you expect carpet and a sewing machine, ma'am?" Phœbe asked respectfully.

"I bought 'em and paid for 'em," said Mrs. Pilkington impressively, "and I don't see why they ain't here."

"Perhaps they will be sent by express," suggested Phœbe.

"I declare to goodness, I never thought of that!" said Mrs. Pilkington.

And she skurried through the crowded car to find a seat.

It was the dusk of a chilly May evening when they reached Blackbird's Hollow, and alighted in the midst of dense pines and sighing tamaracks.

"If Pilkington hain't remembered to come and meet us I shall be mad!" said Mrs. Pilkington, stretching her neck forward the better to survey the glimmering curves of the road. "And Pilkington is always forgetting! My goodness, gracious me, what's that?" as Phœbe stooped to recover something which she had inadvertently let fall.

"My handkerchief, ma'am."

Mrs. Pilkington made a grasp at it.

"Your handkerchief?" she screamed. "Mine, you mean—minx! thief! good-for-nothing!—my pongee handkerchief, that you have stolen right out of my bag! Well, I never!"

She shook Phœbe vehemently. Phœbe began to cry in mingled terror and resentment, and just then up drove the farm wagon at a gallop.

"Hello, mother!" said Ezra Pilkington's cheerful voice. "I'm afraid I've kept you waiting a bit, but the linchpin came out of the wheel and I had to stop at Tony Deephill's to get it fixed. Now, then!"

He drove the stout pony close to the raised platform which extended away from the station.

Mrs. Pilkington pushed Phœbe into the back seat and followed her with lightning haste.

"Not that way!" she cried, grasping at the reins, as Ezra would have headed for the highroad. "Drive straight to Squire Pulteney's. This gal's a thief! I'm going to have her arrested before she is a day older!"

"Eh!" said Ezra, staring from his mother to Phœbe, and then back again.

"She's stole my spotted pongee handkerchief—my handkerchief that I bought at a bargain on Grand street this very morning!" shrieked Mrs. Pilkington.

"It's—it's my handkerchief," faltered poor Phœbe, feeling as if she were in a terrible nightmare from which there was no awakening.

"A likely story!" clamored the enraged housewife. "I've always heard of the wiles and tricks of these city minxes, but I never realized it until now. Drive on, Ezra—drive quick! She shall be lodged in the county jail this very night!"

"Are you sure you ain't mistaken, mother?" said kind Ezra, compassionating the look of pallid misery in the young girl's face.

"Mistaken, indeed!" sniffed the old lady. "Drive on, I say! Don't lose any more time, or Squire Pulteney will have gone home for the night."

She herself took possession of the reins and she spoke and chirruped to the horses.

"But, mother—" pleaded Ezra.

Even as he spoke, however, poor Phœbe, driven wild by vague terror and an instinctive desire to escape, had flung herself from the wagon to the ground.

"Stop—for heaven's sake, mother, stop!" shouted Ezra. "Don't you see that her dress is caught in the wheels?"

The little horse stopped. He always stopped, on general principles, whenever a suitable opportunity presented itself, and the very slightest "Whoa!" would invariably bring him to a dead standstill.

Ezra sprang from the wagon to disentangle the helpless figure in the dust, and Mrs. Pilkington scrambled after with a vague idea that Phœbe might yet get up and try to run away.

As she jumped down her satchel fell prone into the road, and bursting open the overstrained latch, disgorged its contents on the dewy grass of the roadside, first and foremost among which was—a spotted pongee handkerchief.

"Good Land o'Moses!" piously interjected Mrs. Pilkington, "if there ain't the dratted old pongee handkerchief, arter all!"

And she stared helplessly, first at its prim and undisturbed folds, and then at Phœbe's handkerchief—exactly the same in color, pattern and fabric.

"She ain't a thief, arter all!" said Mrs. Pilkington, her whole nature overflooded by the rising tide of remorse. "Poor child! and I'm afeard she's hurt a tryin' to run away from nothing at all."

Phœbe's ankle was slightly sprained, that was all, and by this time she was able to smile and answer kindly Mrs. Pilkington's numerous questions and condolences.

"Can I ride home? Oh, of course I can!" said she, in reply to Ezra's interrogations. "My ankle is only the least bit lame."

Old Father Pilkington was anxiously looking out for them, when, considerably later than he had expected, the wagon drove up and Mrs. Pilkington made haste to explain everything to him.

"And ain't it queer," said she, "that me and Phœbe should both hev bought pongee hankerchiefs just alike on Grand street? If ever there was bargains, they be! Half a yard squar, real China goods, with a hem—"

"Fiddlesticks!" said old Mr. Pilkington. "Is there's anything I hate, it's bargains!"

Little Phœbe Primrose stayed on at the farm. She liked the daisies and red clover, the sound of running brooks, the smell of the cow's breath. And—Ezra Pilkington liked her.

Charing Cross.

In reading English history you will happen across numerous references to Charing Cross, but the chances are you will wonder if the allusion is to a real cross erected as a memorial or simply a cross roads. Charing Cross was formerly one of the noted landmarks of Britian, and its history is as follows: In November of the year 1291, "Good Queen Eleanor," as she was called by her loyal subjects, was called to join her husband, who was then making an expedition into Scotland. When Eleanor had gotten as far on her way as Grantham she sickened and died. The remains must, of course, be buried at Westminster, and the funeral corcege started in that direction. During the time this royal funeral procession was slowly winding its weary way toward the capital thousands of people flocked to the wayside to get a glimpse of it. It was a great event in the history of the rural districts, and they did everything possible to make the solemn occasion a memorable one. Wherever the procession halted for the night or for other cause the people afterward set up a memorial. One of the longest stops was made at Charing, and subsequently a richly carved memorial cross was erected on the site of the camp. This was the Charing Cross history. It stood until 1647, when the last vestige of it was destroyed during the Civil Wars of Charles, the vandals who destroyed the relic claiming it to be a monument of Popish superstition. Charing Cross as seen today was erected by the Southern Railway Company in the year 1865.—St. Louis Republic.

A Splendid Military Spectacle.

The journal of Miss Mary Grace Thornton, daughter of the British Ambassador, describing the coronation of the late Czar of Russia, is printed in the Century. Miss Thornton says:

The programme here announced representatives of the haute noblesse. I didn't see them. I did see sixty footmen, the Emperor's Arabs, and twenty-five chasseurs on foot, all looking very much out of place. Then began a long line of State carriages, containing various State dignitaries. These carriages had each six white horses, and were very well appointed. Indeed, the number of fine horses, fine carriages, and fine things altogether, and the sumptuousness of all the arrangements, were very remarkable, as were the quantities of troops collected in Moscow—an army in themselves. Then came a blaze of color, the first detachment of the Chevaliers Gardes, in their white uniform, with shining breastplates and helmets, above which soared the imperial eagle, followed by the Garde a Cheval on their splendid black horses, their uniform in every point the same except that of color. To see these troops sweep up toward the Kremlin, the light catching their shining silver and gold, and their red and yellow pennons flutting in the wind, was a magnificent sight. Two military men who were with us were much impressed; and though in matter of detail these men are nowhere near ours at home, yet they thought it remarkable that such numbers should be turned out so well, and that the horses, for instance, far surpassed ours.

Real Fire is Invisible.

No eye, says a scientific writer, has ever seen real fire. The flame is leaping in strange, fantastic form, fifteen or twenty inches upward from the coal and with it is a good deal of black, sooty smoke. The sooty smoke and the flames are one and the same, with only a difference of temperature. The soot which forms the flame is red hot. Every particle of the flame is a red hot coal or a particle of carbon. The real fire we do not see. The instant that the carbon atoms become really burned, eaten up by the oxygen of combustion, they are invisible. In burning three pounds of carbon, the heated state of which gives us flame, the fire work is done by eight pounds of oxygen. The oxygen we do not see. The carbon we only see just before it is burned; and the result of the burning is eleven pounds of the compound of oxygen and carbon which is invisible.

Salt for Catarrh.

The late Dr. Loomis was a high authority on the treatment of all varieties of catarrh and throat affections, and he recommended the insufflation of a few grains of common salt, and it proved efficacious in many cases of long-standing catarrh. The salt, held in the hand and "snuffed up," causes no more inconvenience than a pinch of snuff; but a still less disagreeable way is to have a strong solution of salt on the dressing table, and insuflate a portion of this poured out into the hand. The medical journals give this simple remedy, faithfully applied, credit for curing headaches, eye strain, toothache, ear affections and even bronchial asthma.—New York Independent.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

AN ATHLETIC ARCHDUCHESS.

The wonderful strength of Archduchess Maria Theresa of Austria, which we mentioned recently, is due to two things—her early training and her regular exercise. Her father, Dom Miguel of Portugal, brought her up to be a sturdy woman, rather than a petted beauty, and her childhood was spent in the open air, hunting, riding, walking and running. At the present time she devotes two hours a day to exercise in her private gymnasium, using dumb bells, lifting graduated weights and fencing.—Argonaut.

"RATS" AGAIN IN FASHION.

What was formerly known as a "rat" is being brought back into use by experts in devising coiffures.

The hair of the ordinary woman is not sufficiently luxuriant to supply material for the newest methods of arrangement, and this old and excellent device proves just what is needed.

The "rat" is made of a plump coil of jute or curled hair, and is much the shape of a very large cruller. If the hair is very thin, or if it is felt that detection of the rat must be avoided at any cost, the frame should first be lightly covered with hair the exact shade of the wearer's.

In order to dress the hair effectively, the frame should be pinned to the top or in the middle of the back of the head, according as it is most becoming. The hair should then be drawn through the opening in the centre of the ring, after which it is a simple matter to arrange it in almost any becoming way. If the hair is simply twisted about the ring the effect is given of a very large foil of hair; on the other hand, it may be skillfully brought into a group of puffs, with the useful rat as the basis of the structure.

The shape of the rat itself is also susceptible of much variation, and may make possible again the high pinnacled wonders that graced the heads of the stately dames of centuries ago. It is unquestioned at least that the careless knot or loose braid of hair are passing completely out of style, and that the coiffure of the coming season will be a marvel of eleborate precision.

DO NOT BUY CHEAP VEILS.

One of the poorest ways to economize is to buy a cheap veiling. Even the best veiling does not last long, and the cost of veils is quite an item in a woman's expenditure. Good veils may be restored to almost their natural freshness by slightly dampening them and winding them upon a covered rolling pin. The round stick is covered with wadding and then with a piece of old silk. The veiling is carefully stretched around this roller and pinned to it, so as to secure the original width on each side. After being left to dry for a couple of days the veil will be quite fresh.

The adjustment of the veil is very important. Veils are no longer tied closely across the face, but are left loose and flowing. Only the upper part of the veil is fastened, the rest being allowed to go as it pleases. The veil is worn well below the chin, and no toilet is considered complete without it. The double fold veil is not much worn except by women with thin throats.

The first thing to do in putting on a veil is to find the center of one of the long sides, and tie a tight knot there, gathering up the veil for this purpose. This will give the fullness across the face. This knotted portion should be placed in the center of the brim, and an inch back of the front, and the ends gathered up and pinned at the back.

In selecting a veil it is well to see it on some one else, for its effect can be better seen than when a woman looks through the veil at herself in the mirror. Dotted veils are most becoming, although those with dots near together are bad for the eyes.

There are many varieties in the new veils, but combinations of black and white are the most fashionable. All the large hats have long veils, gathered under the chin and around the crown in front, but the veil no longer covers the back, owing to the flowers worn on the hats, but terminates just behind the ears. With toques a very small veil is worn, only sufficient to cover the face and to be lightly caught on either side above the ears, but well to the back. In no case must the veil go over the front trimmings, but start from just beneath the toque and leave all the hat free.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

FASHION NOTES.

A novel ribbon has a black velvet Pompadour design blown on a sky blue surface.

Some of the newest fancies in German favors are made of the dainty crepe paper.

The very newest thing is to have a married woman for maid of honor at fashionable weddings.

It is the elderly dame who walks up the stairs, the healthy young one who waits for the elevator.

Other favors displayed are flower chains of daisies or carnations, which are hung about the dancer's neck; small butterflies of different tints attached to long ends of baby ribbon and thrown around the neck or over the arm, and a large single butterfly frosted in gold or silver to be pinned on the dress or coat.

There are also fanciful fur capes for evening completed by a jabot of white lace holding a cluster of large velvet flowers of the richest colors. Seal skin, the most generally becoming of all furs, is especially liked for double capes, the upper cape going broadly out over the shoulders and half way down the back. Similar capes are made in Persian lamb, chinchilla, and range from seventeen to thirty inches in depth.

Persian lamb is the fur that will be most generally used for capes. It is far more durable than the glossy baby-lamb, and costs from $90 upward. Sealskin capes are next in choice, then black martin, mink, the dressy chinchilla, and the costly Russian sable. Ermine capes are reserved for evening wear. Very light linings of brocades or of plain satin are used in the darkest furs, as the great fulness of the cape often throws the lining into view.

For elderly ladies the longest capes of Persian, mink or sable are lined with brocades of brown or black grounds with nasturtium yellow flowers. The light brocades for linings have ribbon and bouquet designs in Louis Seize style. There are no trimmings on the lower edge of capes in the way of a border. Sometimes another fur is added in the way of a deep collarette very effectively, and this may be bordered by the fur of the cape.

Natives of the Nile Fight Hard.

There is trouble ahead for the expedition up the Nile, if the dervishes have become good riflemen, as a cable dispatch from London reports, on the authority of a correspondent of the Army and Navy Gazette. According to this correspondent the dervishes can now deliver a deadly rifle fire, which will enable them to combine European tactics with formidable onsets of cavalry and spearmen in the old style. He adds that the British tactics of forming squares and awaiting the shock of battle will no longer answer against the mahdists, and, if persisted, will result in rout and ruin.

In the stubborn fighting between the British and the mahdists during the expeditions of 1884 and 1885 the square was a favorable formation with the British, who met in this way the fiery charges of the dervishes at Tamai and Abou Klea. Such tactics were sound enough under the military conditions then existing, as the tribes had few rifles and little skill with this weapon. Thus solid formations, which would have crumpled to pieces under fire, offered the best means of meeting the desperate rushes of the Soudanese spearmen. How formidable these charges were was shown at the battle of Tamai, where the Hadendowas crushed in the face of a British square, captured several gatling guns and forced the "Black Watch," one of the toughest fighting regiments in the British service, to give ground.

We said at the time that if the Arabs ever attained skill as marksmen, so that their rifle fire would match the excellence of their spear work, the British would have to give up the idea of fighting in squares and face the charges of the tribesmen in open order. If, as the correspondent of the Army and Navy Gazette asserts, the dervishes are now able to combine firearms effectively with the cold steel, the Anglo-Egyptian troops have a far more formidable task before them in their present invasion of the Soudan than Sir Gerald Graham and Sir Herbert Stewart had to deal with in the expedition of 1884 and 1885.—Boston Herald.

Grandeur of Nature's Force.

The grandeur of nature's forces may be understood when one of the glaciers of Disco Bay, Greenland, is studied. Helland estimated that it had a thickness of 920 feet, with a breadth of 18,400 feet, and was found to be moving at the rate of forty-seven feet per diem. "At this rate three hundred billion cubic feet of ice would be sent off of this glacier in a single day." And this Disco Bay glacier was only one of the many. Rink estimates that on the west coast of Greenland there are 120,000 square miles of territory, all contributing their supply of ice, and consequently the steady procession of icebergs found in this part of the world.

A Robber-Proof Car.

A robber-proof car is on exhibition at St. Joseph, Mo. It has made a favorable impression on railroad men. The object of the invention is to produce a defensive mechanism for express cars and engine cabs. Guns are arranged to be thrown in and out of position in the form of a battery against robbers, to be discharged by unseen operators inside the cars or engine cabs. Provision is also made for safety appliances for the guns when out of use, for an automatic covering and uncovering of the portholes, a proper reflection of the light and suitable sight openings. It is said the invention will be adopted by the Burlington Road.—New York Sun.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Wit, like cutlery, needs whetting occasionally.

Some people marry bad luck, and others inherit it.

The man who never kicks is pretty sure to be kicked.

The best memory is the one that knows how to forget judiciously.

No man likes to hear his wife talk of what she will do after he is dead.

There is no more dangerous disease than wanting to get rich in a hurry.

When two discourse, if one's anger rise, the man who lets the contest fall is wise.

The trouble with cute children is they soon outgrow it and become impudent.

No man ever criticises his wife's coking until they have been married some time.

A man gets so that an alarm clock has no more effect on him than his conscience.

To convince a fool against his will is on a par with arguing with a mule not to kick.

A man's tendency to give advice is in indirect ratio to his ability to mind own business.

It is only the habitually silent man that can occasionally realize that he talks too much.

Thousands of people would appreciate sympathy and help who never ask for it and never get it.

Some people have moral sentiment who have no moral sense. There is a distinction and difference.

When girls pass the giggling age, they reach a period when they talk furiously about an "affinity."

There is a good deal of satisfaction to be had from comparing other people's faults with our own virtues.

We'd be much more thankful for the things we have if there were not so many other things that we want.

Wonderful Career of a Great Trotter.

Mr. Jonas Hawkins, of Orange County, obtained from a strolling gypsy band a brown mare, 15.2, with four white feet. He used her for a family nag and by Seely's American Star got a black filly, foaled in 1848, which was named Clara. The filly became the property of his son, Jonathan Hawkins, and she grew into a mare of 14.3. She had a star, snip and three white feet, and was driven pretty hard on the country roads by her young master. In 1857, by Rysdyk's Hambletonian, she had the paragon, Dexter. The brown gelding with blaze and four white feet was purchased by Mr. George B. Alley for $400, and he subsequently became the property of Mr. A. F. Fawcett. Dexter, under the tutorship of Hiram Woodruff, made his first public appearance at Fashion Course, May 4, 1864. He met and defeated, during his short but brilliant turf career, such horses as General Butler, George M. Patchen, Jr., Lady Thorne and Goldsmith Maid, and he probably was in the enjoyment of more world-wide fame than any horse foaled on American soil. He brought Budd Doble into public notice, and the sight of the white-faced gelding coming with tremendous force down the home-stretch inspired the loftiest dreams. The people swung their hats and shouted, "Hurrah for Dexter! Long live the horse of the century!"—Scribner's.

Fighting the Squirrel Pest.

"It seems strange that squirrels should be so plentiful as to be a pest in any settled country," said E. B. Breed, of Spokane, Washington, at the National, "but such is the case in the northeastern part of the State of Washington. They ruin vegetation, and farmers can find no way to get rid of them. A favorite plan is for the owner of a ranch to have a squirrel shooting match. Sportsmen's clubs from Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle and elsewhere are invited to a squirrel hunt. The ranchman entertains them royally, and prizes are given for the most squirrels, while the club having the smallest number pays all of the expenses of the trip. Rivalry runs high, and the clubs send their very best men to compete for the prizes. It is not at all uncommon for the leaders to have several hundred to their credit at the end of a six days' match, and a thousand a day, where several clubs compete, is by no means a big record. Yet, notwithstanding this wholesale slaughter, there does not seem to be any perceptible diminution in their numbers."—Washington Star.

Bedouin Characteristics.

There is no record of the costumes of the Syrian Arabs having changed the period covered by human history, either as regards male or female dress or adornment. Saving only for his firearms, there is no reason to believe that the Bedouin of the desert does not clothe and adorn himself exactly as he did in the days of the patriarchs. Arabs in the desert have contracted a strange prejudice against running water and they will only drink what they find in some stagnant pool. So much has this become a matter of habit with them that, while the most poisonous looking water agrees with them admirably, pure running water will make them violently sick.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, } Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

It is the announced purpose of Andrew Carnegie to make of Pittsburg the "art centre" of America, by an annual "salon" exhibition after the manner of the Paris Salon. To induce the world's artists to send pictures for exhibition he has decided to give $50,000 a year for the purchase of prize winners.

"When we lament the fact that only one-third of the communicants in our churches are men," suggests the New York Independent, "let us consider how we should feel if the figures were reversed and only one-third were women. It is greatly to be desired that the number of men were doubled; but if there is to be an inequality, it is better that the women should be in preponderent numbers."

Buffalo Bill is said, in Farm, Field and Fireside, to be the best known American citizen. In Germany he is looked upon as a general, in France, England and Ireland as the most prominent Presidential candidate, and in Spain and Italy as a cabinet officer taking a tour for his health. The members of the Wild West Show are looked upon as the courtiers in his train—typical American gentlemen.

New cures for consumption continue to be proposed, notes the Pathfinder. None has so far proved a specific cure, invariably successful or exclusively accepted. Consumption appears to be the worst enemy of man's health in this day, and it is probably increasing. It is these serious considerations that are urging scientists to study more closely the pathology of the lungs. Nature abhors unhealth and as soon as we learn how to make the conditions right it will be as easy to reform a pair of lungs as to set a broken arm.

In Australia they are exploiting a whale cure for rheumatism, which is said to be effective, though disagreeable. It was discovered by a drunken man, relates the New York Press, who was staggering along the beach near the whaling station at Twofold Bay, and who, seeing a dead whale cut open, took a header into the decomposing blubber. It took two hours for him to work his way out, and he was then not only sober, but cured of his rheumatism. Now, they say, a hotel has been built in the neighboring town of Eden, where rheumatic patients wait for the arrival of a whale in order to take blubber baths.

Only one lighthouse in ninety miles from Sandy Hook to Atlantic City, and several boats, including the liner St. Louis, have lately run on the beach in that stretch, exclaims the New York Dispatch. Only one lighthouse for the Long Island shore approach to Sandy Hood for sixty miles and over, where numerous wrecks are beached and strew the coast every year. Is the approach to the greatest harbor in the world properly protected considering the dangerous sands waiting to hold any craft unfortunate enough to get ashore and considering the enormous tonnage and its value that has to reach this port by running the gauntlet of the Jersey and Long Island sands?

A State organization of the school boards of Minnesota has been formed. There are similar organizations in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Texas and Pennsylvania, and a National convention, the first, will be held in Buffalo this year, in connection with the National Teachers' Association. The purpose in the organization of these State associations of school boards is to gather and exchange opinions and decisions. Without such organization, it is argued, school boards are independent bodies, each acting upon its own best judgment, and knowing little or nothing of the methods of other boards. School teachers and superintendents have their conventions and exchange of ideas, and it is equally desirable that members of school boards should have an opportunity of educating themselves for their duties.

The slums of New York City are being gradually swept out of existence.

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION

Sweep Over East St. Louis in Storm and Flame.

DEVASTATION IN ST. LOUIS.

Seven Hundred People Swept Into Eternity—$3,000,000 of Property Destroyed—Track of the Storm. Cyclone in Michigan—Terrible Calamity at Victoria.

St. Louis was struck by a cyclone of frightful fury at a late hour Wednesday afternoon. Hundreds of people were killed and the property loss is beyond estimate.

At 5:20 p. m. the clouds that had covered the city since noon broke into a furious storm. Within ten minutes the wind reached a velocity of eighty miles an hour, sweeping with it dense waves of rain. The highest speed of wind previously recorded in St. Louis was seventy-two miles an hour in August, 1878.

From reports received from Missouri, Indiana and Illinois cities the destruction and extent of the appalling cyclone are shown.

The storm began its work of devastation and death near Moberly, in Randolph county, in the northeastern part oi Missouri. It then passed southeast into Audrain county, where the school house at Rush Hill and its occupants were victims. The cyclone moved slightly north into Pike county, Mo., and then the ladies' seminary at Drake, in Green county, Ill., was stricken by the tornado, which then passed south and east, following the Illinois river until it joined the Mississippi, the greatest point of destruction being reached at St. Louis, East St. Louis and East Carondelet

The direction of the windstorm from that cluster of stricken cities then appears to have been in a southeasterly line through Illinois, but no news of destruction has been received from Illinois towns east of the big river. The cyclone reached the Ohio river and struck Evansville in the southwestern corner of Indiana. Later news indicates that the great storm tore a path through the heart of Indiana in a southeasterly direction.

The latest reports compiled from the scene of destruction in three states point to the loss of over 700 human lives, and the probabilities are that later reports will swell the total death list to enormous proportions.

According to reports received the death roll is divided as follows: In St. Louis, 300; East St. Louis, 300; Drake, Ill., 80; Rush Hill, Mo., 10; Rennick, Mo., 5; Labbadie, Mo., 10.

Some of the terrible details of the storm are given in the dispatches, from which the following are culled:

Rennick, Randolph county, Mo., was blown away and several persons were killed.

Lebaddie, Mo., was also destroyed. Ten persons were killed at the latter place.

It is reported that eighty children were killed in a school house at Drake, Illinois.

The village of Rush Hill, Mo., twelve miles from Mexico, in Audrain county, was destroyed. The cyclone struck the town a few minutes before 5 o'clock and blew down the school house, crushing its inmates. The report was to the effect that fifty pupils had been killed and a number injured.

AT ST. LOUIS.

At 7:30 p. m. the rain, which had ceased for a time, began afresh, and fell in torrents. At 8 o'clock the eastern sky was aflame with the light of fires in East St. Louis. The metal roof of the Merchants' exchange was rolled up like a scroll and fell into the streets.

Lightning struck the Standard Oil works and flames were soon pouring from a dozen buildings. The fire department was utterly powerless to cope with the conflagration, and it is feared nearly the entire business and a great portion of the residence section will be destroyed by the flames, if not already so by the wind. Among the principal buildings already in ruins are the National hotel, the Standard Oil work, East St. Louis Wire Nail works, the Crescent elevator, Hezel elevator, all the freight depots and stores and residences on St. Clair avenue.

The Louisville and Nashville eastbound local passenger train had just reached East St. Louis when the storm struck that city. The train was overturned, but miraculously only a few passengers were injured. They were taken from the cars by railroad yard men.

The Chicago and Alton eastbound local passenger train, which left St. Louis at 5 o'clock, was on the east span of the bridge when the wind picked the cars up and turned them over on their sides. The iron spans and trusses held the cars from toppling into the river, 100 feet below. The passengers were thrown into a confused mass. The net work of wires made rescue difficult and dangerous, but it is thought all will be gotten out uninjured. The east span of the Eads bridge is so badly wrecked that it will take three days to allow trains to pass.

The middle span of the roadway above the railroad tracks on the Eads bridge was blown completely away. It is not known whether any persons lost their lives while crossing the bridge.

The plant of the flour mills and the works of the St. Louis Iron and Steel company were destroyed and the big Couple's block of buildings was partly destroyed.

The dead and injured are being taken from the ruins of the various buildings and manufactories.

In addition to the river disasters noted later reports add to the losses. All the wharf boats on both sides were swept away and sunk. The steamers Medill, City of Pittsburg, Belle of Calhoun, City of Providence were all driven on the Illinois shore and wrecked. Eleven of the vessels' crews tried to swim ashore, but were caught in the eddy of the Pittsburg dyke and drowned. The river front is a mass of wreckage. From the Eads bridge south for two miles every building is damaged that is not in ruins. The loss to shipping is estimated at $400,000.

The damage to property in St. Louis is estimated at $1,000,000, and the loss in East St. Louis is already $2,000,000, and the fire is still raging.

There were really two cyclones. One came from the northwest and the other from direct west. Both met on the Illinois shore of the Mississippi river and joined in a whirling cloud of death and destruction. The list of dead in St. Louis is beyond present computation.

ANOTHER STORM.

A terrible cyclone, by which probably over 100 lives were lost and fully 100 persons injured more or less seriously, swept over Oakland, Lapeer and Macomb counties, Mich., Monday evening. The towns struck, so far as meager telegraphic and telephone communication can ascertain, are Ortonville, Thomas, Metamora, Mount Clemens, Oakwood and St. Claire. The town of Ortonville reports a list of dead that aggregates seventeen. The towns of Thomas, Oakwood and Ortonville were almost wiped off the face of the earth. At Mount Glemens fully thirty people were injured, bnt only four seriously hurt. Thomas was practically and Metamora was partly destroyed. No complete list of names has yet been obtained, but forty-two bodies of the dead have been found in the storm's track.

A DIRE CALAMITY.

An electric car fell through Point Ellice bridge, Victoria, British Columbia, at 2 o'clock Tuesday evening. There were eighty persons aboard and sixty-one are known to have been drowned. The car was taking the passengers to view the sham battle at Macauley Point in celebration of the queen's birthday and fell 75 feet.

Throughout the sorrowful and sultry night and far into the morning thousands of anxious watchers surged about the approaches to Point Ellice bridge, the scene of the disaster. As body after body was brought to land and tenderly laid upon an improvised bier an eager crowd would crush about the remains, hoping, yet fearing, until a shriek or sob would announce that a dear one had been recognized and the name of another identified victim would be placed upon the bulletin board and flashed by wire to the sorrowing friends. When the sixty-first corpse had been brought to the surface the rescuers announced that they could find no more bodies under the wreckage. Still nearly thirty people are missing, whose fate may not be known for days. It is possible that many bodies have been carried out by the strong tide.

HAVOC OF WIND AND FLOOD.

In the Michigan storm of last Monday there were killed at Ortonville, 14; Oakwood, 8; North Oxford, 6; Thomas, 2; Thornville, 3; Metamora, 2; Fair Grove and Munger's Station, 1 each.

AT CAIRO.

Monday's storm struck Cairo, Ill., about 8:30 o'clock and several large buildings were unroofed. The ferry boat Katharine was capsized and of sixteen persons on board only three were saved.

AT M'GREGOR.

A fatal cloudburst devastated McGregor, Ia., and county Sunday night. For ten miles everything is in ruins. All the afternoon the clouds were gathering and about 1 o'clock the storm burst in its fury, soon deluging the valley. It swept everything before it. A small stream called Bloody Run passes through the town. Some of the unfortunate victims are supposed to have been carried out into the Mississippi river, into which the Bloody Run empties at North McGregor.

The bodies of seven people have been recovered; also those of six canvassmen attached to Kirkhart & Ryan's circus. The canvassmen had entered a box car preparatory to accompanying their show to Winona, and were caught in the car when the storm came. The most conservative estimates place the loss of life at North McGregor at twenty-seven.

After the water from Bloody Run began to rise on Sunday night the cries for help from the terrorized and helpless people living upon the lowlands were heartrending, but little could be done by those on the bluffs nearby, as all were compelled to flee for their lives to the high grounds.

On one box car as it floated by was seen two men, supposed to be tramps, who were calling in piteous tones to be rescued. They could be seen jumping from one car to another as they proceeded toward the Mississippi.

The houses of two families, one numbering six persons and the other five, floated by and the screams of the women, the wails of the children and the cries of men were heard above the din and roar, but all who heard and saw the awful sight were powerless to rescue them.

CAREFUL ESTIMATE OF KILLED.

The following was sent out from St. Louis on Thursday: It will be several days before definite information can be obtained as to the loss of life and injury of the unfortunate people who happened to be in the path of the cyclone which swept over portions of Missouri and Illinois Wednesday afternoon. In addition to the killed and injured in East St. Louis, the cyclone mowed down many in adjacent localities. Appended is a table showing a careful estimate of the killed and injured, based on the dispatches:

	Killed.	Injured.
St. Louis	175	250
East St. Louis	215	150
Near Centralia, Ill.	42	125
Breckinridge, Ill.	2	...
Near Mt. Vernon, Ill.	5	30
Near Vandalia, Ill.	13	15
Near Mexico, Mo.	15	34

The number of killed will not be far from 400 and of the injured about 600.

Estimates of property losses range from $15,000,000 to $30,060,000.

THIEVES GATHER AT ST. LOUIS.

Four hundred of the Missouri National Guard, in addition to the same number of St. Louis police force, are patroling the storm-swept district. This is in accordance with an order issued by Mayor Walbridge Thursday evening, and is done to protect the exposed property, which has attracted the criminal element from all over the surrounding country. Both police and militia have received strict orders to arrest every suspicious character found.

Two companies of the Illinois National Guard have been ordered under arms and directed to proceed to East St, Louis at once. These soldiers will act under the direction of the mayor of the city and do police duty. Governor Altgeld came down from Springfield Thursday and consulted with the local authorities concerning the influx of thieves and suspicious characters. He decided to send the militia to help preserve order.

ECHOES OF THE GREAT STORM.

At 1 p. m. Friday the list of dead at St. Louis numbered 182. Of these 161 are identified and twenty-one unidentified. In East St. Louis at the same hour the police records show 138 identified and three unidentified dead, making a total of dead in both cities thus far of 323.

At New Baden, Ill., almost every building in the town was destroyed, there being nothing to be seen but wreckage at every turn. Ten persons were killed and a large number injured.

The little town of New Minden, a few miles from Nashville, Ill., was almost totally destroyed. Seven people were killed and forty or fifty injured. Scarcely a house was left standing.

Mayor Walbridge, Health Commissioner Starkoff and Chief of Police Harrigan, of St. Louis, completed a tour of the devastated streets at 4 o'clock Friday morning. In addition to gathering data on sufferers needing immediate relief, they made estimates of the losses. The mayor's tour of inspection has been thorough, and without hesitation he places the property losses in St. Louis at $20,000,000. This does not include damage to shipping nor collateral loss by suspension of business, but is placed upon the property wiped out by the storm. While these figures were startling they convey to the outside world probably the true character of the disaster in more convincing form, These losses in seven-tenths of the cases are irreparable, as they fall upon those unable to recoup themselves.

THE CZAR'S CORONATION.

Death at the Feast—More Than 1,000 People Crushed.

While the people of our own country stand aghast at the terrible disasters by storm and flood in the Mississippi Valley, news is flashed across the Atlantic of a calamity in far away Russia, which will be classed as one of the most horrible of the many heart rending events of recent years. Among the preparations for the celebration of the coronation of the Czar, at Moscow, was a feast, or popular banquet, arranged on a line of tables stretched along the vast plain (of unpronounceable name) in front of the Petrovskey palace. It was intended that 500,000 people should feast at this free banquet. It is estimated that twice that number had gathered in the city. About daylight Saturday morning, long before the time set for beginning the banquet, and before the immense police force and details from the army, provided for the preservation of order, had gathered into position, the masses, moved by some inexplicable impulse, or impatient to get at the food, pressed forward, pushed everything before them, and overturned benches and tables as if made of grass, trampling hundreds under foot and crushing the life out of a great many people. The old and weak virtually suffered most. A woman, who gave birth to a child during the excitement was trampled to death. The police and attendants present made desperate attempts to control the people, but all their efforts were futile, and men, women and children were trampled upon by hundreds, the shrieks and groans of the victims being heard afar. For a time the officials in charge of the banquet lost their heads entirely. The crowds seemed to have gone mad with rage and excitement, shouting, cursing and yelling as they pressed onward over a path strewn with dead and dying human beings. Bodies of troops and firemen were hurriedly brought to the scene of the panic, and when order was at length restored, began the work of extricating the dead and injured, ranging the dead on the ground in groups of ten, twenty and thirty at every 100 yards or so, and dispatching to the city as speedily as possible in the military transport wagons, etc., the injured, giving preference at first to the women and children. At 11 o'clock, an official notice was posted saying that the list of dead totaled 1,128 persons, including those who died from injuries after having been removed from the plain.

The czar has given orders that the sum of 1,000 roubles be given to each bereaved family, and that the victims be buried at his expense.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham	7:25 p m
No. 15	South	12:37 p m
No. 16	North	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The Southern certainly made a hit when they secured the services of M. V. Richards. We have heard about "hustlers, but he is one of them." Below we quote a typical article from the Southern Field, a journal that is doing as much if not more to build up the south than any paper we know of.

In the south, and the south only, can be found the great advantages combined of cheap lands, cheap fuel, cheap lumber, a mild climate, open winters, soils adapted to all kinds of grain, vegetables and fruits, and an abundance of rainfall in the growing season. The latter is an advantage greater than all that the Western states can offer.

Misses Nettie Pratt, of Six Mile, and Nannie Curry, of Concord, left Monday for East Lake, to visit friends and relatives and to attend the commencement exercises of the Howard.

Miss Alice Huff, whom friends in Montevallo hold in kind recollection, is taking a summer course at a Birmingham school.

We understand that the Rev. P. L. Abernathy has been blessed with decided success in the meeting which for the past week he has conducted at Aldrich.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Milkey were shopping in Montevallo Saturday.

Dr. Claughton and wife visited Verbena on the 28th. The doctor returned Tuesday with a very pretty buggy which he purchased in Montgomery.

This is getting to be a Knights of Pythias town.

Jim Lucas, of Blocton, spent several days lately with friends and relatives here.

Wind was stroug enough Thursday to do considerable damage to crops at Moore's Cross Roads.

J, B. Moore, M. D., a deservedly popular physician of Six Mile, visited Montevallo on the 30th.

Joe Peter, Esq., of Columbiana, spent a day last week with friends in Montevallo.

Col. R. E. Hall and his aunt, Mrs. C. C. Vandegrift, made a trip to Talladega Springs last week.

Miss Della Latham returned on the 1st from Talladega Springs accompanied by Mrs. Dr. Latham.

Miss Mary Owens, one of Centreville's numerous pretty girls, passed through our town Monday en route to Talladega.

Dr. Todd, the dentist, of Plantersville, is spending a few days in town.

Died on Monday night after a brief illness, the young son of Mr. Henry Killingsworth.

John C. Davis, a prosperous planter from Centerville, is spending the week with homefolks in Montevallo.

Rev. Mr. Sinnott of Columbiana preached Sunday morning and night at the Baptist church. The morning sermon impressed us as an intensely practical and therefore highly valuable contribution to religious instruction.

Miss Margaret Walker of Faunsdale gave her friends in Montevallo the pleasure of her company Sunday. Miss Margaret left Sunday evening for Blocton, where she will join a party that will take one of those delightful firshing trips on the river.

Miss Bertie Allen one of Montevallo's favorites, returned Tuesday from Florence, where for several months she has been taking a course at the Normal school.

Rev. C. L. Herring of Calera came down Monday to assist Mr. Abernathy in the religious meetings at Aldrich.

Miss Minnie Walker returned Saturday from Blocton.

It is rumored that Messrs. George Moore and Sam Curry, Jr., leave Thursday for Louisville to attend the noted commercial school of that place.

Relieved of Command.

Passengers by the Mascotte arriving Saturday at Key West report that General Arolas, in command of the military line, supposed to have Maceo hemmed in, has been relieved of his command and sent to Spain. Large quanties of ammunition have been discovered at a cafe in Havana near a boat landing opposite the postoffice.

SOUTHSIDE DOTS.

Miss Alice Barry, a charming young lady from Randolph, is visiting Mrs. H. C. Fancher of this place.

The boys in these parts look happy. Visiting girls are arriving, and their "Song and dance," which has grown tiresome to the ears of the home girls will be respectfully and attentively, if not joyfully, listened to by the visitors.

Several of our young men received invitations to attend the picnic at Elliotsville last Saturday, but sickness, urgent business and various other things prevented them from "taking it in."

"Hoots" came up from Centreville last Saturday to investigate the rumor that some other "Pard" had taken his place on the hill.

I noticed in last week's issue of the News that somebody said the order of "Never Sweats" was on the decrease, but I beg to differ with the brother. It is my opinion that the order is on the increase instead.

If the old "Bachelor" has any sweethearts outside of Montevallo they had better be looking after their interest.

Lanham Spring is a very popular resort for our young men--where they congregate to talk politics, religion and love.

Boys, don't be bashful. Walk right up to the girls and talk to them whenever you feel like it—they enjoy your company as much as you do theirs.

The several accidents that occurred on the road between here and Concord last Friday night proves that the young men were too much interested in their partners to notice anything else. In other words, they are better entertainers than drivers.

Mrs. F. T. Corbett left last Saturday to join her husband in Chicago, where they will reside in future. B.T.S

Miss Adelaide Mahon, a young lady residing in Brierfield, came up last Saturday to make some purchases. We are always glad to see the pretty girls. Their bright smiles dispel the gloom from our hearts.

"Scoopendyker" has taken himself off the matrimonial market.

"Whiskers" has earned for himself the very appropriate name of Flirt.

The "Fishermen" returned Saturday. Their anticipations were not realized, so the nice mess of trout expected by your correspondent failed to show up.

Do not stay away from church because of the heat. Think how much higher the temperature will be in the sinner's future abiding place below.

Don't turn around in your seat and gaze at everybody you hear enter the church door. It embarrasses the person entering.

Don't sit on the farthest bench back. Go up near the front. You can look at the girls after service is over and walk home with them if you like.

Don't chew tobacco in the church, unless you wish to be called a hog.

Hoping to see all this in print, I am, yours, Solomon.

CONCORD.

A series of very interesting exercises participated in by the beauty and young manhood of Concord and adjacent territory on last Friday closed the most prosperous session of Prof. J. Alex Moore's flourishing school at that place.

During the forenoon excellent essays were delivered by the charming young lady students. The most notable feature of the evening exercises was the address of the Rev. T. K. Roberts, of Montgomery. At night the already full house was crowded still more by arrivals from all directions, including quite a number from Montevallo.

An inspiring and instructive address on self-culture, by Dr. Edgar G. Givhan, of Montevallo, was next in order. Then followed the crowning event of the day—the debate by selected members of the Grady Literary society. Question: Resolved that there should be an educational qualification for suffrage. Affirmative, William Headly, Benjamin Garner, B. F. Lowry; negative, George Moore, Sam Curry, Jr., and Robert Sessions. Both sides were ably represented. The balance seemed to incline to each side successively as a speaker from one or the other side stepped forward and delivered in a forcible style his auguments on the question; but finally it was seen to remain in favor of the negative and was so adjudged by the committee appointed for that purpose.

It does not reflect upon the debate or debaters to say that a refreshing change was that to the valedictory delivered by Miss Linnie Curry.

Adjournment followed a short and appropriate talk by Professor Moore, to whom and his excellent school are due the thanks of the entire community.

M'CLUSKEY SPRINGS.

A party of young people enjoyed a delightful treat on Saturday afternoon last at Sulphur Springs. After many refreshing drinks of the healthful water they visited several neighboring cliffs, and many were the exclamations—Oh! how beautiful, etc.—as they admired the wondrous beauties of nature. A most delicious repast of Tenny's confectionaries and fruit was enjoyed.

They reluctantly wended their way homeward, returning over the beautiful road which passes Pea Ridge.

Those who participated in this delightful drive were: Misses Maria Hawkins, Belle Reynolds, and Messrs. William Lyman and Fred W. Rogan.

Special Rates to Conventions.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Of Young Men's Christian Association, Knoxville, Tenn.—Reduced Rates Via the Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Summer School of the Young Men's Christian Association the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Knoxville, Tenn., and return at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 18, 19 and 20, good to return on or before June 30, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Of Young Women's Christian Endeavor, Asheville, N. C.—Reduced Rates Via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Summer School of the Young Women's Christian Endeavor the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Asheville, N. C., and return at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 10, 11 and 12, good to return on or before June 26, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN

Convention, St. Louis, Mo.—Reduced Rates Via the Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the National Republican Convention the Southern Railway will sell tickets to St. Louis, Mo., and return, at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 13 and 14, good to return until June 21, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

International Y. P. S. C. E. Convention,

Washington, D. C.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the International Christian Endeavor Convention, which will be held in Washington, D. C., July 7-13, the Southern Railway will sell tickets at the rate of one limited first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold July 5-7, and limited to continuous passage in each direction, with extreme limit for return July 21, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the company or W. H. Doll, T. P. A. Chattanooga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

To the News:

I have a skillet that was my great grandmother's, and she bought it when she was first married, at the age of 18, and then my grandmother fell heir to it, and she was 76 years old when she died. My mother next fell heir to it, and she was 80 when she died; and then I fell heir to it and I am 71. The skillet looks as though it had not been in use over five years. It is in the fourth generation and has been moved to and from Kentucky and back to North Carolina, where it was first bought by my great grandmother. It was then moved to Alabama, on to Mississippi and back to Alabama. The skillet is at my house for every one to see that wishes to—not a piece of it broke.

I live near Gurnee.

Peter Mock.

CEDARDALE.

The local sickness which has prevailed for the past few weeks throughout our neighborhood has now about subsided.

Mr. Thomas Davidson, representing the Baby Cultivator company, of Birmingham, was among our farmers last week soliciting orders for his plows.

Some of our young people attended the closing exercises of the Concord school and say the programme was most creditably rendered.

The gentle rain that fell Thursday evening caused all vegetation to make rapid growth in the past few days.

Shot by an Assassin.

Near Mayo, LaFayette county, Florida, Friday night Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Dixon were fired upon while sitting on their front porch. Mrs. Dixon was shot through both thighs and may die. Dixon was only slightly wounded. Daniel Dixon and James Sparrow, brother and brother-in-law of G. B. Dixon, have been arrested charged with the shooting. The trouble grew out of a family feud.

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—REDUCED RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Re-union of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates.

Tickets from points in Georgia and Tennessee, north and east of Atlanta and Chattanooga, will be sold June 27 to 28 and 29, and from points south and west of Atlanta and Chattanooga, and east of the Mississippi river, tickets will be sold June 26, 27, 28 and 29. Final limit on tickets from all points will be July 6, 1896.

From points south and west of Atlanta, the Southern railway is the short and quick route to Richmond, Va., via the "Piedmont Air Line," and the service is peerless. From Knoxville, Tenn., Chattanooga, Tenn., and points west thereof, the route of the Southern railway is via Ashville, and through the scenic "Land of the Sky." The service of this line is unexcelled.

Call on any agent of the Southern railway for further information, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; W. A. Turks, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G, P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.

NOTICE!

To Applicants for Confederate pensions:

Take notice that the Board of Examiners will be in session at my office for the purpose of considering and passing upon applications, on Monday the 1st day of June, and will continue in session three days. All persons having filed applications may appear on any one of these days with proof to support their applications, if they think proper.

I give this notice at the request of the board, and of some of the applicants whose applications were rejected last year, to give them an opportunity of introducing proof. Applications will be received until June 1st.

D. R. McMillan,
2t Judge of Probate.

National Prohibition Convention,

Pittsburgh, Penn.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

On account of the National Prohibition Convention, which will be held in Pittsburgh, Penn., May 27-29, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Pittsburgh and return at rate of one limited first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 24-26, limited for return on or before May 30, 1896.

For further information regarding rates and schedules call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or Mr. L. A. Shipman, T. P. A. Birmingham, Ala. tf

$15 REWARD

Will be paid to anyone establishing the fact that Fleming's English Remedy for colic in horses and mules has failed to relieve. For sale by H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, Montevallo, Ala.

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon,
Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

Attorney at Law and
Justice of the Peace,

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Paint Brushes at 20c and 25c.
Sponges, a nice line.
Small Steel Tweezers at 10c.
Putty, Turpentine and Castor Oil in bulk.
One dollar bottles McElree's Wine of Cardui at 83c.
Hood's Sarsaparilla at 89c.
Pure Drugs and Chemicals at REYNOLD'S DRUG STORE.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

——You can get——

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly

ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!
The Fireside!!
The Store!!!

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

——DEALERS IN——

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Millinery Goods.

Having moved my Millinery Stock over in the business portion of town I am now prepared to serve my customers better than ever. I have just opened

The Most Complete Line of Millinery

ever brought to Montevallo. I intend to keep the reputation my goods have made and offer them cheaper than ever. Call and see me in my new store on Main Street, under the law office of E. S. Lyman, Esq.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY.

New Millinery Store.

I have just opened the nicest line of

MILLINERY GOODS

Ever brought to Montevallo. Having had large experience in this line and having some of the best connections in New York, Baltimore and St. Louis, I feel that I can suit the most fastidious.

PRICES CHEAPER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Call and see me at my new store.

MRS. T. A. BEST,

Corner of Valley and Depot Streets.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY.

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels, Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

J. B. Lewis Co. WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear,
Style,
Ease,
Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310 Montgomery, Ala.

Chinese Quail in Maryland.

Frank T. Redwood is interested in the increase of wild fowl in this country, and has an idea that Chinese quail may be successfully introduced. A friend brought him six of these birds a year ago. They were liberated in Talbot County, and flew off in the woods as naturally as though in China. But that was the last ever seen of them. They have disappeared entirely, so far as Mr. Redwood or his friends have been able to discover. Mr. Redwood is still firm in his faith that this species of bird will flourish in America, and to this end has arranged to have twenty pair brought over from China and let loose in the woods of Maryland. —Baltimore American.

If a girl is pretty when she is young, it is a good sign that she will be ugly when she is old.

How an equal suffragist despises a woman who forgives a mean husband

---

A Good Dog is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

BLACKSHEAR, GA:

MR. SHUPTRINE.

Dear Sir: "The box of TETTERINE I purchased of you has, I believe, permanently cured me of a ringworm that has been a great annoyance to me for five years. I cheerfully recommend it to those troubled with ringworm. Send a box to Mrs. Allen Brown of this place." Respectfully,

J. C. BREWER, D. D. S.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.

A. M. Priest, Druggist, Shelbyville, Ind., says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure gives the best of satisfaction. Can get plenty of testimonials, as it cures every one who takes it." Druggists sell it, 75c.

Any prayer is too long that is made in church by the man whose yardstick is too short.

Is it probable that what a million women say after daily trial is a mistake? They say they know by test that Dobbins' Electric is most economical, purest and best. They have had 31 years to try it. You give it one trial.

There is a sense in which we must pray for everybody before we can pray for ourselves.

I can recommend Piso's Cure for Consumption to sufferers from Asthma.—E. D. TOWNSEND, Ft. Howard, Wis., ay 4, '94.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle

---

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

X-Rays

Of test and trial prove Hood's Sarsaparilla to be unequalled for purifying the blood because

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills. 25 cents.

Poor soil

and exhausted fields which were once productive can again be made profitably fertile by a proper rotation of crops and by the intelligent use of fertilizers containing high percentages of

Potash

Strikingly profitable results have been obtained by following this plan.

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

Manufacturers
—OF—
Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting
—AND—
Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.

OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.
Write for Prices. Address,
Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
In writing please mention this paper.

Second Hand
TUERK WATER MOTOR
For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to

Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Cycling is not a very dangerous recreation after all, as is proved by statistics. In England only thirty deaths were produced by cycling in twelve months. On comparing this number with the total number of the highway and street accidents through England and Wales, it will be found that barely two per cent. of them were caused by cycling.

It is coming to light that the Chinese population of our cities, notably of San Francisco and New York, where the Chinese quarters are distinct sections, is gradually growing smaller. San Francisco has about 15,000 of the 50,000 that she had five years ago. The exclusion law is weeding out the present Chinese population and almost prohibiting immigration.

So much has been heard about the possibility of the invasion of England that the newspapers suggest that England's militia, upon which the brunt of the defense would fall, be put into a better state of efficiency. At present this force drills for only about three weeks in the year, and has the whole of the rest of the year to forget what it has learned in that time.

The experiment station attached to the Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College at Starkville has done a great work in encouraging the growth of hay in that State. When it began its work in the premises the average yield in the State was but .83 of a ton per acre, whereas, last year, it was 1.95 tons, being 144 per cent above the average yield of the northern and central States of the Mississippi valley.

Reports from the Pacific Coast say that never in the history of the West have so many people taken passage on the steamers for Alaska. The discovery of gold in certan parts of the far-off Territory is, of course, the attraction for many of the visitors; but the increased facilities for transportation and the possibility of seeing some of the grandest scenery in the world have induced many tourists to choose Alaska rather than Europe as their objective point.

"Sweden," says a native of that country who has just been visiting it, "is building railroad, telegraph and telephone lines everywhere. Every farmer who has 100 acres or more of land has a long-distance telephone. It is the most magnificent telephone system I ever saw, and is very cheap. News of great import is flashed over these wires from the urban to the rural districts, and the average citizen is better posted on the current events of the day than in probably any other country in the world. I was in Sweden all winter, and only two inches of snow fell during the whole time."

This country, to people who have not looked into the matter, does not figure as a large owner of floating property outside of war vessels and those attached to the revenue and lighthouse service; but a recent careful estimate shows that on one part of the Mississippi River the nation owns over one thousand craft of different kinds. That is the stretch between New Orleans and Cairo, and the value of the vessels and their outfit for riprap, revertment and levee work does not fall much below $6,000,000. When work is rushing there are at times 10,000 men employed on the vessels and in connection with the tasks assigned them.

From the census recently completed in Massachusetts it is shown that the females constitute more than 50 per cent of the population in each of the cities, except Gloucester and Quincy. The highest percentage is in Northampton, where it reaches 55.61, and the lowest in Gloucester, 42.37. The difference in Gloucester, where the males are considerably in excess, is said to be due to the peculiar character of the city, as the centre of the fishing industry. Ten years ago there were five cities in which the male population was in excess of the female; but the census also shows that the percentage which the females constitute of the whole population has declined in all but seven cities since 1885.

"In the Choctaw Indian Nation," says E. L. Craighead, of Ardmore, in the Washington Star, "there is no jail for convicted murderers. When I first went to the Indian Territory I settled in the Choctaw Nation, and hearing that a certain Indian was an excellent hand on the ranch, I hunted him up and asked him if he would work for me. 'I will work until the 20th of next month,' he said. 'Why not longer?' I inquired. 'I am to be hanged the 21st,' was his reply, in an unconcerned way. I hired him, and upon inquiry learned that what he said was true. But one man has ever failed to return for hanging after he has been sentenced, and my Indian did not prove an exception to the rule. On the day before the execution was to take place he left as calmly as though going on a visit, and the hanging took place at the time appointed. Notwithstanding his approaching doom the Indian made one of the best ranchers I ever saw, and I regretted to lose him."

Some of our famous athletes may think republics ungrateful when they compare their treatment to that of the Greek who won the recent footrace from Marathon to the Stadion. "Nothing," says the correspondent of the London Chronicle, "illustrates the character of the modern Greek so much as the extraordinary attention shown to the winner of this race. He has been treated as a sort of demi-god. All his sayings are duly reported, he has been escorted in a carriage by a detachment of troops; when he walks the streets crowds of respectable men and women follow, and the King of Greece has not only shaken hands with him, but both he and his father have been invited to the palace; private individuals have given him large sums of money; wine-dealers, grocers and numerous other tradesmen have offered to supply all his requirements for a year free of cost, and a barber has been reported as having offered to shave him and cut his hair for the period of his lifetime free of cost."

Speaking of the country's growth the Philadelphia Ledger says that in 1800 only the country between the Atlantic and the Mississippi belonged to the United States. Since that the Louisiana purchase in 1803, the Florida in 1821, the Mexican acquisitions in 1840, 1850, and 1853, and Alaska in 1867 have been added. The increase, excluding Alaska, has been from 827,844 to 3,025,600 square miles, or three and five-eighths, but the growth of population has been from 5,308,483 to 62,622,250, or nearly twelvefold. In 1800 the inhabitants were a little less than 7 to a square mile; in 1790 they had been less than 5; in 1890 they were over 21. The place where the population is densest is the District of Columbia, which has 3839 to the mile; the next is Rhode Island, 318; then Massachusetts, 278; then New Jersey, 193; Connecticut, 154; New York, 125; Pennsylvania, 110; Maryland, 105. The other States and Territories run below 100, down to Montana, Wyoming, Arizona, Nevada, which have less than 1 inhabitant to the mile. The Census Commissioner notes that in Rhode Island and Massachusetts the density of population is as great as in many of the most densely settled European States, and that the entire North Atlantic division, pre-eminently the manufacturing section, has an average of over 100 inhabitants to the square mile. But it may be a surprise to some that among the old States Maine has only 22, New Hampshire 41, Vermont 26.

It appears from the well-informed Railway Age that for eight years the mileage of annual railway construction in the United States has been steadily decreasing. From nearly 13,000 miles of track laid in the wonderful year 1887 the totals have gone down by thousands and hundreds, until 1895 touched the lowest round for twenty years by adding only 1803 miles to our railway system. But this does not mean that the demand for railways is nearly supplied and that construction will continue to decrease. On the contrary, there is room, and will be need for additions far greater than the entire present mileage of the country. We have now something over 181,000 miles of road. To equal Great Britain in its ratio of railway mileage to square miles, we should have a total of 492,000 miles; to equal the abundant supply of Illinois we must have 522,000 miles; while if Massachusetts with its mile of railway to every four square miles of territory be the standard, the United States will eventually boast 772,000 miles of lines. That there is much railway building yet to be done the records prove beyond a doubt. When it will be done depends on condition yet to be developed. A considerable amount of work is already under way. During the first three months of this year 253 miles of track were laid on twenty lines, and including these our books already show sixty lines on which it seems reasonably certain that 1750 miles of track will have been laid by the end of 1896, with a possibility of much more. It all depends on the times, not on the question of finding room, or of demand for more railroads.

The Fluoroscope.

Mr. Thomas A. Edison has invented an apparatus, called the fluoroscope, by the aid of which a surgeon, instead of photographing with the X-rays the bones or other hard substances concealed under the skin and flesh of a patient, may actually see them. The machine depends for its action upon the fact that the X-rays possess the property of rendering luminous certain substances, which chemists call fluorescent. Mr. Edison first determined, by experiment, that the best fluorescent substance for this purpose was calcium tungstate. The tungstate is spread in a smooth layer upon a piece of pasteboard which forms the bottom of a small box, having holes for the eyes at the upper end. A Crookes tube, enclosed in another box, is excited by a current of electricity, and if the hand, for instance, is to be examined, it is placed upon the box containing the tube. The observer then looks into the viewing box, whose tungstate-covered bottom is placed directly above the hand, and sees, with startling distinctness, the bones and joints, showing as dark and delicately graduated shadows, while the flesh is only faintly visible. The reason the bones appear is because they intercept the X-rays, and thus prevent the tungstate surface from becoming fluorescent where their shadows fall.

Human Heart Beats.

A remarkable calculation has been made by Dr. Richardson for the Medical Record. It gives the work of the heart in mileage, the amount of blood thrown through the veins, and winds up with giving the exact number of times the human heart will beat in a lifetime of 84 years.

Presuming that the blood is thrown out of the heart at each pulsation in the proportion of 60 strokes per minute, and at the assumed force of nine feet, then we must come to the following startling conclusion: That the mileage of the blood through the body must be taken at 207 yards per minute, seven miles per hour, 168 miles per day, or 61,320 miles per year. At the above rate in a life time of 84 years the blood mileage of the body is not less than 5,150,880, and in the same long life the grand total of heart beats will approximate 2,869,776,000."

The charities of Paris received $3000 as their share of the recent cycle meeting.

THE JOKER'S BUDGET.

JESTS AND YARNS BY FUNNY MEN OF THE PRESS.

Claude and Maude---Scorching---The Personal Quantity---Vain Regret---An Advanced Thinker---Sensitive.

CLAUDE AND MAUDE.

He was Claude,
She was Maude—
They married, but soon separated.
She was Maude,
He was Clawed—
A climax all anticipated.

FROM THE DEPTHS OF EXPERIENCE.

"Papa, what is the ruling passion?"
"Your mother's my child."

SCORCHING.

McCorkle—Isn't Tenspot running into debt pretty lively?

McCrackle—Running isn't the word for it. He's fairly sprinting.

THE PERSONAL QUANTITY.

She.—To me weddings are just as sad as funerals. Which would you rather go to?

He (glaring at his rival).—It depends upon whose it is.

VAIN REGRET.

Weary Waggles—An' ter t'ink we skipped dat free concert las' night!

Dusty Rhodes—W'y?

Weary Waggles—Dis here paper says de music was intoxicatin'."

AN ADVANCED THINKER.

First Westerner.—Tornado Pete has some curious idees.

Second Westerner.—He has so. Last night he was sayin' he thought the time 'ud come when we 'd lynch hoss-thieves by 'lectricity.

WORTH LOOKING INTO.

"Hello!" she ejaculated, as she stopped short. "I must look into this."

But she found nothing to excite her suspicion, even after a thorough and close examination.

It was merely a full-length mirror.

SENSITIVE.

Dorothy—Isn't it unfortunate that Charlie Kewpon stutters so frightfully! It has broken up his affair with Maude completely.

May—How?

Dorothy—He proposed to her last night, and when he was through she exclaimed, "This is so sudden!"

May—Well?

Dorothy—Charlie thought she was trying to be funny.

OFTEN THE CASE.

Day—A man's ability to save money depends largely on his marrying a woman who is an economist in dress.

Weeks—That's true; the more economy the more cost.

HARDENED.

"I just saw a man slip on a banana peel, and he came up smiling and never said an unpleasant word."

"I guess he must be learning to ride a bike."

CUTE.

"Goodluck has had his salary raised; was it for extra work?"

"Yes. He always listens when the proprietor tells his baby's smart sayings."

WHEN POLITENESS DOESN'T PAY.

"Politeness costs you nothing," says the Manayunk Philosopher, "except at a social function. Then, if you're polite you're liable to be mistaken for a waiter."

A DISADVANTAGE.

Jones—I hear you have asked your minister to resign?

Brown—Had to. He pounded the pulpit so that we couldn't sleep.

MUCH IN EVIDENCE.

Clarence—I hear you went last night to ask old Kermudgeon for his daughter. Did you find it a bootless errand?

George—No, indeed. I found the boots there all right!

BUT ONE REGRET.

Judge (to the prisoner)—Have you anything to say before sentence is pronounced against you?

The Prisoner—Why, no! Only this, Your Honor, I hate awfully to be convicted of burglary on the testimony of a man who kept his head under the bed clothes all the time.

AN IMPOSSIBILITY.

"Now between you and me, darling," he began as he sat with his arm enfolding her waist.

"George," she interrupted, "I wish that you would be a little more precise in your words. How can there be anything between you and me? There isn't room," and she snuggled up still closer.

DISAPPOINTED.

"Oh, dear," said the girl with the X-ray glance as she looked at her bashful lover. "Here's Jack come again to-night and not brought his backbone with him."

IN BOSTON.

Howell Beaconstreet—My cousin from Connecticut is a strange lad.

Mrs. Beaconstreet—Why do you say so?

Howell Beaconstreet—Last night he said to me: "You don't know beans!" Why, mother, the Leguminosæ is the study of a lifetime.

DOUBLY FATIGUING.

"Ragsy, let's git us one o' them bisickles."

"Gee, Frazzles, yer loony; want ter wear yerself out a-ridin' an' a-walkin' at the same time?"

OBEYED INSTRUCTIONS.

"Hannah, what are you standing there staring at me for? Didn't I tell you I was not to be interrupted unless the house was on fire?"

"Well, mum, that's it. It do be burning this half hour!"

HIS EXCUSE.

"Don't you know it is wrong to fish here on private grounds?"

"Well, sir, the line must be drawn somewhere."

A MEAN STATEMENT.

She.—How do you think I will look when I am real old?

He.—Much the same as you do now. At first she was pleased; then she got mad, and finally she did n't know exactly how to feel about it.

RENEWED HIS YOUTH.

A TALE FROM OLD ST. LAWRENCE COUNTY.

It Sounds Like a Miracle of Old—An Aged Man Made Young by the Use of a Simple Remedy—He Tells How His Youth Was Returned.

From the Courier and Freeman, Potsdam, N. Y.

St. Lawrence County has a national reputation as the banner county of the Empire State. Men reared in old St. Lawrence have achieved notoriety as consuls, governors and renowned jurists, and have distinguished themselves and the land of their nativity in every walk of life. There is an indefinable something that lends strength to manhood there, and gives him the bone and sinew and the mental energy that brings success in life. The winds, first blowing from the majestic St. Lawrence River, and then from the pine and spruce-covered mountains of the Adirondacks, give a richness to the atmosphere. The outdoor life in this climate gives a man a strong and sturdy physique, and his free and independent mode of living gives him a rugged character.

John Henry Henderson was a man that enjoyed all these sturdy characteristics. He was always a strong man and had never had a fever or other serious illness. Brought up in a prosperous farming community he became one of its mentally and physically strong citizens and gained a livelihood at carpentry, as did Joseph in the Bible days. But at last a break came that threatened to forever wreck his health and happiness and end his days of usefulness and activity.

In conversation with a newspaper man, Mr. Henderson told his story as follows:

"I had spent two years in Minnesota and the same length of time in Oregon, but the summer of '94 found me back at my old St. Lawrence County home, in the town of Hopkinton, working industriously at carpentering. My home and shop were on a farm, and my income was derived from repairing and building for my farmer neighbors.

"It was on a hot July afternoon in the summer of '94 that one of my neighbors sent for me to come out to his hay field. He had broken the reach to his wagon and wanted it repaired at once so that he would not be delayed in his haying. To fix the wagon I had to have a long, heavy plank, and the nearest I could find was a mile and a half distant."

Many a man would shrink from shouldering a heavy plank on a hot afternoon and walking a mile and a half, but Mr. Henderson said: "I didn't think much about it; I had always been strong and so I carried the plank into the field and mended the wagon. Before the afternoon was over I found that I had done wrong, that I had hurt my back and had to lie down, while sharp pains darted through my back, head and neck.

"That was the beginning of my trouble. I found that I couldn't straighten up after that and I had to quit work. The pains troubled me almost constantly, and after sitting still a few moments I would have to get up and move around in hopes of finding relief. I became useless and life became a burden to me, and I couldn't even write so badly was I affected.

"When I tried to work my nose would bleed freely and I would be dizzy. Frequently I felt so badly that I had to lie down. Liniments were no good, and nothing gave relief until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I had suffered nearly five months when I read one of Dr. Williams' advertisements and bought some of the pills, which I commenced using, and after I had used two boxes I felt better in every way. Five boxes freed me from the burden I had borne and I was no longer troubled with my complaint."

To-day Mr. Henderson is a well man, strong, erect, broad-shouldered and with a ruddy complexion, notwithstanding his sixty-eight years of age. He worked steadily all the summer and fall and said that his health was much better than men of his age generally. "People remark that my health and appearance seem to be better than in years. My blood circulates better, my hands feel warm, and what is unusual in a person of my age, my nails are soft and grow like a young person's."

Pink Pills were truly a God-send to Mr. Henderson, and he thoroughly appreciates the fact and wants his friends to know how wonderfully they have benefited him. He now enjoys the vigor of youth, and hard work has no terrors for him. He says: "I can work all day planing and sawing without feeling any of that lameness that used to bother me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk, or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

If you accept a substitute, you must not fuss because its not as good as genuine HIRES Rootbeer.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia.
A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

Gladness Comes

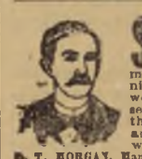
With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. A. W. Burch, an attache of the Rome, N. Y., Sentinel, writes September 5th, 1895: "In conversation with one of our merchants a few days ago, I learned that his wife, who had been in very poor health, was regaining her health and strength, and that she attributed her recovery to Ripans Tabules. I requested an interview, which was granted, and the lady cheerfully gave me the inclosed testimonial: 'For a long time I have been interested in the advertisements of Ripans Tabules, which I have seen in the Rome Sentinel and the leading magazines. The advertisements seemed to be honest and I grew to believe them. I tried to obtain some of the Tabules, but found that none of the druggists in this city kept them. I was determined to give them a trial, and at last procured a box by sending to Utica. I had suffered from indigestion, sour stomach, heartburn and distress in my stomach after eating. I began by taking a Tabule after my breakfast and supper and experienced immediate relief, and in a few days the distressing symptoms had entirely disappeared. Now when I eat anything that usually disagrees with me I take one Tabule and avoid unpleasant consequences. I have also found in them a very agreeable relief for constipation. (Signed), MRS. C. H. RUDD, 429 Liberty St., Rome, N. Y.'"

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

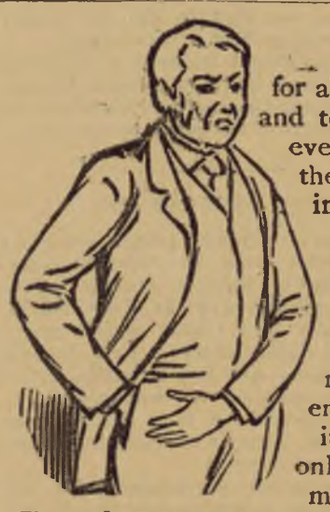


$3 A DAY SURE. SEND us your address and we will show you how to make $3 a day; absolutely sure; we furnish the work and teach you free; you work in the locality where you live; send us your address and we will explain the business fully; remember we guarantee a clear profit of $3 for every day's work; absolutely sure; write at once. E. T. HORGAN, Manager, Box LF, DETROIT, MICHIGAN.

Am. N,U . No. 23. 1896.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

CUT PRICES
and other cuts by the only concern that ever voluntarily reduced prices or, in recent times, originated a new idea in this line, on account of which, and the good works of its goods, it has been awarded one-half the world's windmill business. It prepays freight to 20 branch houses, one at your door. Send now for catalogue for up-to-date ideas. Our imitators may not have in print our latest plans.
This Appears Once Only.
THE AERMOTOR CO.
CHICAGO



Who pays

for all the clothes, etc., that are worn out and torn to pieces in the wash? Whoever it is, he or she ought to insist that the washing shall be done with Pearline, and with Pearline only. Then that ruinous, expensive rub, rub, rub, over the wash-board, which makes all the trouble, will be done away with.

It isn't a little matter, either, this needless wear and tear. It's big enough to pay any man to look after it, and stop it. Pearline saves not only hard work, but hard-earned money.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 633 JAMES PYLE, New York.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. II. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1896. NO. 10.

LOVE IS BLIND.

LEATHERY palm trees, banks of flowers, softly hued fairy lamps, and delicious strains of ever-changing music, all these go to make up enchantment!

So, at least, thought Lord Ronald d'Esterre.

He had but just returned from a two years' sojourn in the heart of Africa, a sojourn filled with dangers and privations; his years numbered but five and twenty, he was possessed of a well-knit, springy frame and a keen, clear eye; and he had come back from his travels with fame, courage and endurance, but without a penny that he could call his own.

What was next to be done? This was the problem that filled all his spare thoughts. His elder brother had fitted him out for his expedition with the polite intimation that the act was a virtual washing of his hands of the superfluous cadet; his aunts had kissed him so warmly at parting that he was amazed to find them "not at home" when he returned to London; his godfather had given him a twenty pound note and such a hearty farewell, that it was bewildering to be cut by him when they met once more in the club smoking room. "It really seems as if they wish I had never come back!" said the young man to himself, with a smile at the incredible idea; but as time passed on his smiles died away, and he ground his teeth savagely as he realized that his relations had thought it a good investment to lay out £500 and an infinity of farewell in the hope of getting quit of a troublesome encumbrance. The thought was a bitter one, and in his first fury he vowed to leave his native shores by the next ship, and never return to them again. But upon the heat of his passion there fell a cooling breath, as if from heaven itself, and the lion was straightway changed into a lamb. Lord Ronald d'Esterre had been accustomed so long to be looked upon as a "detrimental," that at first he scarcely dared to show the attraction that lay for him in Violet Harvey's appealing gray eyes and soft, shining hair. To his amazement, however, he found that obstacles melted away miraculously at his approach. Violet herself was shy and retiring, it is true, but her mother smiled sweetly upon him and her father shook him warmly by the hand.

Was ever man so blessed before?

"True love does run smooth sometimes, after all!" he said to himself on this bright June evening, as he walked homeward after a meeting with Mrs. Harvey in the park.

"Shall you be at Lady Chesterfield's party to-night?" she had said. "Violet and I are going, and we shall be disappointed if we do not see you."

His honest face had glowed with delight as she spoke, and he seemed to be treading on air as he walked away.

"Even Aunt Maria has taken me back into favor again," he thought; "she was horridly cross when I first came home, but now she is sugared satin whenever I come near her, I dare say it was my fault. I know that I was an ill-conditioned brute until Violet came to soften me!"

Lady Maria's flowered headdress was the first object that met Lord Ronald's eyes when he entered his hostess' crowded drawing rooms that evening, and somewhat to his surprise it was in close proximity to Mrs. Harvey's frizzled gray head.

"I should not have thought that Aunt Maria would have anything to do with her!" he reflected. "She always says that she can detect the faintest tincture of trade, and she must know perfectly well that Mr. Harvey made his money in malt."

At this moment, however, he caught sight of Violet, and forgetting all else, he elbowed his way eagerly through the crowd until he reached her side.

It might have been only fancy, but at any rate it seemed to him that her welcome was a warmer one than she had ever given him before, and his heart beat faster as he bent over her.

"Will you not come into the conservatory?" he said, pleadingly; "it is so hot here."

She rose without a word, and they walked away together.

"Do you know that it is only six weeks since I first saw you?" he said. "I can hardly believe it myself, for it seems as if I had known you all my life."

He had an idea even as he spoke that he had seen the remark in almost every love story that he had ever read, but he could not refrain from uttering it, for it seemed so exact an expression of his feelings. Violet, too, had probably heard it before, but from Ronald's lips it sounded absolutely new, and her long eyelashes drooped lower upon her cheek as she listened.

They were walking between banks of flower and fern, and the silence between them was too sweet to be broken at once; but Roland knew that their solitude might be disturbed at any moment, and rousing himself from his dream he had just opened his lips to speak, when a voice from some hidden speaker came plainly to their ears.

"It is almost certain to come off to-night, I think. I got him an invitation on purpose."

Ronald started; it was Lady Maria's voice, but he had not the remotest idea to what she was alluding. In another moment, however, she received her answer and it was Violet's turn to start, for it came in her mother's accents:

"We shall be only too grateful to you if it does come off, for her papa and I have always set our hearts on her marrying a lord. The very minute that Violet tells me he has proposed, the check shall be sent to you."

Ronald drew back a step, his cheek growing white beneath its bronze; his hands clenched involuntarily, and for a moment Violet expected to see him dash out upon the conspirators; but their voices were already receding in the distance, and as he looked around he saw the anguish in her face.

"Violet, Violet!" he cried, seizing her hands in his, "you knew nothing of this! I swear it with my dying breath!"

She drew her hands away, and turned to escape, but he followed her.

"I have not much to offer," he said, "but all I have is at your feet."

She quickly looked up, and a light of gratitude came into her eyes.

"How good you are," she said.

Ronald looked at her in bewilderment; the words were not what he had expected.

"You do not understand," he said. "I want you to be my wife."

"I do understand," she answered gently, "and I honor you for asking me, after what has happened; but I will not take advantage of your generosity."

"It is generosity," cried Ronald, "it is sheer selfishness!"

But Violet showed no signs of yielding.

"I will not leave you unless you tell me one thing," said Ronald. "If your heart is free, I claim it; but if not, I will never trouble you again. Violet, tell me, do you love any one?"

She looked at him with a face that grew pale under his gaze.

"Yes," she said, "I do."

"That is enough," said Ronald hoarsely, and dropping her hand he turned and went.

"It is strange how ungrateful young people are!" remarked Lady Maria, a few days later, to the friends gathered around her tea table. "I had arranged a most suitable match for my nephew, really done everything in my power to promote it; and yet he actually came here the other day and used the most terrible language—said that I had spoiled his life, and all kinds of dreadful things; and now he has gone off abroad, nobody knows where. I am sure I only hope that I shall never see him again."

Lady Maria's wish seemed likely to be fulfilled, for five long years came and went, bringing no news of Ronald; and though five years could not take the bloom from her cheek, nor the gold from her hair, they could, and did add very materially to the infirmities of her frame. But when at last he did reappear, she was willing to overlook the past in spite of her resentment, for Ronald had found his way into a profitable foreign partnership, and instead of fame he brought back money.

"One of the best things I ever did for you was getting you out of that entanglement!" she exclaimed fervently when they met, for Lady Maria came of military stock, and she knew that one of the most successful manœuvres is to carry the war into your enemy's quarters.

Ronald shot a glance at her from under his dark eyebrows, but said nothing, and she continued gayly:

"Mr. Harvey went bankrupt a year or two after you went away, and they are quite in poor circumstances now. That upstart girl waits upon the lodgers, I believe."

"You don't say so!" remarked Ronald. "Where are they living?"

"In Worthing," said Lady Maria, deceived by his coolness. "Lady Hennington was there last month, and she told me that she saw Mrs. Harvey on the Parade, and that the woman actually had the audacity to speak to her! Can you believe it?"

"I don't know," said Ronald; "but I am go to Worthing this afternoon, and I shall see whether she will speak to me!"

"Oh, my dear boy!" cried Lady Maria, in genuine distress. "Pray, pray don't do anything so foolish! You have no idea how designing poor people are—" but here she ceased, for the sound of the loudly closing door informed her that she was alone.

"But why did you send me away?" said Ronald, a few hours later as he and Violet stood together under the stars, and heard the waves beating upon the beach.

"Because I thought, after what we overheard, you felt yourself bound to say what you did out of consideration for me."

"So your pride came in the way my little one! Don't you know that pride is one of the deadly sins? However, I can't preach to you now, because I want to ask you another question. If you really have loved me all along, why did you tell such a dreadful lie?"

"A lie!" exclaimed Violet.

"Yes, a lie; a regular big black one! When I asked you if you had loved anyone, you said yes. Now, then, confess at once, because I'm not going to let you off!"

He held her away from him so that he could look into her face, and waited inexorably for her answer.

"I saw that you would not listen to any other objection," she said, "and I thought that you were sacrificing yourself, and so—"

"Yes, I know all that," he interrupted; "but you had no business to say what you did! Unless, of course, there really was some one? Come, now, tell me."

A flush came over her face, and as she raised her eyes he could see her tears shining in the starlight; he grasped her hands more firmly in his now, and looked down at her from the height of his six feet.

She tried to speak, but her quivering voice would not be controlled, and with a great wave of love surging up in his heart, he drew her close to him.

"Who was it?" he whispered.

She turned to hide her face upon his shoulder, and breathed her answer into his ear bent down to catch it.

"You dear, blind boy, it was you!"
—Household Words.

A Queer Pile Driver.

One of the queerest and most primitive pile drivers to be seen in California is at one of the Chinese fishing camps on the McNear Ranch, almost opposite the Two Sisters, in San Pablo Bay. The appearance of the contrivance is much like the pile drivers in general use, but the way it is put together and operated is ludicrous.

Every part of the machine is made of wood except the nails that hold it together. The hammer is part of a log. It is about two feet thick and five feet long. It is placed between the uprights and kept from falling out by several wooden pegs driven in on both sides. The uprights are made of some old scantling picked up on the bay shore, and are nailed and tied together and braced with odd pieces of lumber.

The operating machinery is about as complicated as a grindstone. All there is to it is a couple of pulleys, a hook and a piece of rope. One pulley block is suspended from the top of the upright frame and the other is allowed to hang loose. When working the machine a piece of rope is run through a hole in the top of the wooden hammer, and the hook on the lower pulley block is slipped through. All hands then pull until the hammer reaches the top. At this interesting part of the performance a man climbs to the top of the uprights and with a knife cuts the rope that is run through the top of the hammer, allowing it to drop on the pile. It is certainly effective, for the pile is driven a good distance into the soft mud at each blow. The process of tying the hammer to the pulley block, and cutting it loose after it reaches the top, is repeated until the pile is driven as deep as is wanted.

The Chinese who own the pile driver use it for building their small wharves, and when they start it going the whole settlement turns out and lends assistance. Some of the men really supply a little of the needed muscle, but the majority do their share of the work by jumping around and yelling in an excited manner.—San Francisco Call.

Public Debts in Europe.

According to the latest statistics, the public debts of the European Nations aggregate $23,320,000,000, or about $64 per capita for the whole population. The heaviest per capita indebtedness, $160, is in Portugal. France comes next with $125. England's rate is about $106. Switzerland is the smallest, $5.

STEAM SUPPLANTED.

TWO GREAT RAILROADS WILL ADOPT ELECTRICITY.

Experiments by the Pennsylvania and the New York and New Haven Lines Prove a Success—Electric Locomotives.

ELECTRICITY as a motive power for railroads is now the chief object sought by both electricians and capitalists, says the New York World. Not long ago railroad Presidents, while admitting electricity was advantageous for short lines thought it was not applicable to trunk lines.

There has been a great change in opinion during the past few months. Rufus Hill, master mechanic of the Pennsylvania Railroad said:

"Last summer the Pennsylvania Railroad made its initial experiment in the use of electricity on a line from Burlington to Mount Holly, in New Jersey. The success of this experiment was beyond question. Within a month the time schedule was made at the rate of over sixty miles an hour, with frequent trains. The service has been found to be far superior to anything known in steam railway practice and the economy in operation more than we expected. An electric locomotive has been used, not merely in hauling trains, but in switching service in the yards.

"The Pennsylvania has an innumerable number of branches which have been seriously affected by the competition of trolley lines. These have, in many instances, taken away our business, until we are forced to adopt electricity ourselves.

"We have the invaluable assistance of the Westinghouse Company and the Baldwin Locomotive Works, who have been working in harmony to solve the problem.

"We believe now that every difficulty has been overcome, and believe that inside of five years the greater part of the entire Pennsylvania system will be operated by electric locomotives.

"One of the serious drawbacks on trunk lines has been the question of transmission of power. About fifteen miles has been considered the limit of economical transmisson. This would necessitate the establishing of powerhouses every thirty miles over our entire system. Now Tesla has perfected a system of transmission which we think can be applied to trunk lines, and Mr. Westinghouse is confident his company will soon have an alternating current motor, practically adapted for any railway service.

"With the perfection of this motor all obstacles will have been removed. The success in the transmission of Niagara's current to New York has opened to us such a field as we scarcely supposed was within our reach. In the coal fields of Pennsylvania we have an unlimited supply of culm, the commercial value of which has been so small that it did not pay for shipping. The Board of Trade of Scranton made an appropriation six months ago for the establishment of an experimental plant for burning this culm at the mouth of the mines, where it is stored in vast heaps, thousands upon thousands of tons each.

"Now, if the transmission of electric power 450 miles from Niagara Falls to New York is possible—as it has been shown to be—is there any reason why we could not make use of these vast culm piles, which are scattered along within fifty miles of our railroad from Pittsburg to Philadelphia? The owners of the coal mines place no value whatever upon these banks; and, in fact, they would be glad to get rid of them.

"The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is an enthusiastic convert to electricity, and during the summer we shall make wide extensions in that direction. Eventually—that is, within a few years—we hope to have every mile of the Pennsylvania Railroad system operated by electricity."

Colonel N. H. Heft, chief electrical engineer of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway, said:

"Our company has, perhaps, more short lines upon which electricity can be used than any other railroad in the country. We have proven by the operation of the Nantasket Beach line that electricity is economical. I look to a rapid substitution of the current for steam.

"The Dedham branch, twenty-four miles long, is now being transformed and very shortly electric motors will be drawing all the cars there. Our motor cars at Nantasket haul with ease Pullman and passenger coaches.

"In five years we may be running into New York from Boston behind electric locomotives. There is nothing to prevent this. The heaviest freight trains are being hauled into Baltimore behind electric locomotives. We run our Nantasket trains at a speed equal to that of the swiftest steam trains.

"I have never been so sanguine of the ultimate adoption of the electric motor on all roads as I am now."

In the calendar year 1894 3,093,972 silver dollars were struck at the mints; in the fiscal year 1895, ending June 30, 3,956,011 dollars were struck.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Nikola Tesla the other day took an X ray photograph of his assistant at a distance of six feet from the tube, and got a capital picture of his bones.

M. Pouchet, an eminent French biologist, gives it as his opinion that the very lowest forms of life are not subject to death, as are the higher forms.

Dr. Cooke, of Boston, has reported to the Massachusetts Homeopathic Society a remarkable cure of paralysis, which he has effected by means of hpynotism.

Professor Lascelles Scott, of London, who has been examining the Keeley motor, in the interests of the stockholders, says that he is satisfied that it is a wonderful thing.

From an artesian well recently bored at San Marcos, Texas, a number of strange living things are thrown up, which scientists say are entirely different from any species of animals hitherto known.

Among recent inventions is one by an insane prisoner. This invention is a curiously formed folding-chair used for the measurement of criminals, in addition to the Bertillon system, which is also in vogue.

A recent examination of food samples by the British Board of Agriculture showed this result: Out of fifty-one samples from the United States and thirty-nine from Canada not one was adulterated, while thirty-seven out of 124 samples from Germany were adulterated.

At the Pasteur Institute in Paris 1520 persons were treated last year, of whom but two died, the smallest proportion yet attained. In ten years 17,337 persons have been inoculated, eighty-five of whom died. Nearly a third of the patients last year came from Paris and its neighborhood.

The relation between bad water and typhoid fever is strikingly illustrated in Naples. In 1887, when well water was still drunk, there were 468 deaths from that disease, while in 1893, when the greater part of the population drank good water from the new works, there only 173 deaths from that disease.

John F. Green, of Baltimore, has made a paper of asbestos which he says is more serviceable as an insulator in electrical construction, especially in motors and dynamos, than any insulating substance now in use. He prepares his asbestos fiber in a new way, and proposes several other uses, notably in strengthening glass, and as the basis of a compound for journal bearings.

A Few Mexican Taxes.

Every inhabitant of the Republic who sells goods to the value of over twenty dollars must give to the buyer "an invoice, note, or other document accrediting the purchase," and affix to the same, and cancel, a stamp corresponding to the value of the sale. Sales at retail are exempt from this tax; and retail sales are defined to be "sales made with a single buyer, whose value does not exceed twenty dollars. The reunion, in a single invoice, of various parcels, one of which does not amount to twenty dollars, but which in the aggregate exceed that quantity," remains subject to the tax. Retail sales in the public markets, or by ambulatory sellers, or licensed establishments whose capital does not exceed three hundred dollars, are also exempt. Tickets of all descriptions—railroad, theatre, etc.—must have a stamp, as must each page of the reports of meetings, each leaf of a merchant's ledger, day or cash book, and every cigar sold singly, which must be delivered to the buyer in a stamped wrapper. Sales of imported spirits pay eight per cent. on the duties levied on their importation, and a half of one per cent. in addition when retailed. Domestic spirits pay three per cent. when sold by producers or dealers at wholesale, and a half of one per cent. additional when sold at retail. Gross receipts of city railroads pay four per cent.; public amusements, two per cent. upon the amount paid for entrance; playing cards, fifty per cent.—paid in stamps—on the retail price; and manufactured tobacco a variety of taxes, proportioned to quality and value. Mercantile drafts are taxed at a dollar on every hundred.—Popular Science Monthly.

A Popular Idol.

The greatest popular idol, in a political sense, the country has ever known, was Henry Clay. Only one other American statesman ever possessed the quality called personal magnetism to the same extent that he did, and no other ever had a more enthusiastic personal following. He was an aspirant for President from 1824 to 1848, but he never reached the goal. He received thirty-seven Electoral votes in 1824, forty-nine in 1832, and 105 in 1844, but never enough to elect him. Clay was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives on the first day of his first term in that body, and was five times re-elected; he was twice elected United States Senator, once unanimously by the Kentucky Legislature, and held several other high offices. If there was ever a popular idol in the politics of this country, it was Henry Clay. But he could not be elected President.—Indianapolis Journal.

To-Day and To-Morrow.

Though narrow, poor and small,
To-day is infinite
With possibles of might;
To-morrow, vast and all
From Time's great shore to shore
Is infinite evermore.
—Freeman E. Miller, in Peterson'

The Lesson of the Sea.

I stood upon the shore one day
Casting pebbles, out of play,
Into the ocean broad and deep.
As they sank beyond my sight
In the waters clear and bright,
Wavelets bathed my feet.

Each pebble caused the same result,
A tiny sound, a slight tumult,
While circles formed around.
And beneath the surface bright,
Wavelets danced, though out of sight,
Homeward bound.

Each circular started, bold and clear,
Pressing onward without fear,
Widening more and more.
Circling, widening, still they grew,
Until they faded from my view,
Bathing another shore.

So, dear child, it is in life,
The pebbles cast may pass from sight,
Pleasures and pain.
But they have caused a movement of life's stream
Always felt, perhaps unseen,
Our loss or gain.

The circles widen as they flow,
Bearing records God shall know
Of our life.
May we keep our record clear,
Trusting Him without one fear,
Seeking light.
—George F. Turrill.

Sunshine Through the Rain.

Come, lift your head; those pretty eyes
Should ne'er be dimmed with tears.
This world is not all harsh and cold,
Nor life all trials and fears.
Let me, my loved one, bear thy cross
And share thy every pain.
And soon you'll see the bright, warm sun
Come shining through the rain.

For every cloud is silver lined,
And when the storm has passed
Our lives look brighter through the gloom
The tempest's shadows cast.
Your star of hope will soon appear,
The dark sky clear again.
And soon you'll see the bright, warm sun
Come shining through the rain.

The fairest flowers that bloom in spring
With winter fade and die;
There is no joy without its grief,
No smile without its sigh.
So let us look beyond the clouds
And cling to hope again,
Until we see the bright, warm sun
Come shining through the rain.
—Arthur G. Lewis, in Detroit Free Press.

He is Just Away.

I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead—he is just away.

With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand
He has wandered into an unknown land;

And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.

And you—oh, you—who the wildest years
For the old-time step and the glad return—

Think of him as faring on, as dear
In the love of there as the love of here.

Mild and gentle as he was brave
When the sweetest love of his life he gave

To simpler things, where the violets grew,
Pure as the eyes they were likened to.

The touches of his hands have stayed
As reverently as his lips have prayed;

When the little brown thrush that harshly chirped
Was dear to him as the mocking bird.

And he pitied as much as a man in pain
A writhing honey bee wet with rain.

Think of him still the same, I say;
He is not dead—he is just away!
—James Whitcomb Riley.

Slightly Mixed.

"A pound of tea at one and three,
And a pot of raspberry jam;
Two new laid eggs, a dozen pegs;
And a pound of rashers of ham."

I'll say it over all the way,
And then I'm sure not to forget,
For if I chance to bring things wrong
My mother gets in such a pet.

"A pound of tea at one and three,
And a pound of raspberry jam;
Two new laid eggs, a dozen pegs,
And a pound of rashers of ham."

There in the hay the children play,
They're having such jolly fun;
I'll go there, too, that's what I'll do,
As soon as my errands are done.

"A pound of tea at one and three,
A pot of—er—new laid jam,
Two raspberry eggs and a dozen pegs
And a pound of rashers of ham."

There's Teddy White aflying his kite,
He thinks himself grand, I declare;
I'd like to try to fly it sky high,
Ever so much higher
Than the old church spire,
And then—and—then—but there—

"A pound of three and one at tea,
A pot of new laid jam,
Two dozen eggs, some raspberry pegs
And a pound of rashers of ham."

Now, here's the shop, outside I'll stop
And run through my orders again;
I haven't forgot—no, ne'er a jot—
It shows I'm pretty cute, that's plain.

"A pound of three at one and tea,
A dozen of raspberry ham,
A pot of eggs, with a dozen pegs
And a rasher of new laid jam."
—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

France has 7,842,053 houses, of which more than half have but one story, 221,799 have three stories, and 96,487 only, four stories or more.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, }
L. N. BOWDON, } Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

It is a strange development in the business of writing, noted by Life, that as newspapers grow larger, books grow smaller.

The Washington Star thinks "International arbitration would be an excellent thing if England could be persuaded to forego the privilege of dictating the terms of every compromise."

A year's operation in Maine of the law substituting a town system for the school district system has reduced the number of ungraded schools by 348 and increased the number of graded schools by twenty-eight.

There is a widespread belief among the Boers that President Kruger is a sort of saint or prophet, occupying a place different from and higher than that of ordinary men. This feeling is said to explain, in a measure, Kruger's control of the Transvaal Parliament.

In a recent lawsuit it was shown that the materials for one of our best makes of bicycles cost only about $15. The work costs say, as much more. "But so long as enthusiasts will pay $100 for all the wheels first class makers can produce, the makers would be foolish to reduce prices," remarks the Pathfinder.

"The South is making it easy and profitable for the establishment of manufacturing enterprises in that section," declares the Trenton (N. J.) American. "We notice that at an election held in Charleston, South Carolina, to determine whether factories established there should be exempt from taxation for five years, the question was carried in the affirmative by almost a unanimous vote, only fifteen ballots being found in opposition to it."

The trolley car and the bicycle are credited with being mainly responsible for the remarkable fact, stated in the Department of Agriculture reports, that the value of horses and mules in this country decreased by almost one-half between 1892 and the end of last year. The aggregate decline in the value of horses is put down at $500,000,000 and of mules $80,000,000. The stories that have come from Western ranges lately seem to bear out the figures in general.

The lightning performs some curious freaks, but the other day it took it into its head to befriend a woman out West. This woman had straight hair, relates the New York Herald, and, of course, she despised straight hair and wanted it curly. We always want what we don't have and can't have. Well, this woman was caught out in a terrific thunderstorm. The lightning played all about her in the most caressing fashion, and on one occasion took a little excursion through her body, starting on the picnic at her head, and saying farewell, or au revoir, at her feet. When she recovered consciousness she found that her hair was frizzled as nicely as though it had been done with the curling tongs. Well, a more grateful creature you never saw. She believes in electricity with all her heart, and is glad that she was struck by lightning.

How strange it is, muses James Payn in the New York Independent, that Africa, the least populated, and on the whole the least interesting of the four quarters of the globe, should always be written about at greater length than any of the others. From the days of Livingstone down to that of Slatin Pasha accounts of this region have always been published in extenso. When you have read one chapter about the Soudan you have read almost all; one chief is the fac simile of another; one tribe, one army stand for all; one rule of cruelty and bloodshed extends from end to end of the great barren tract. The pictures of hideous men and still more hideous women that illustrate works on African travel do not enhance their attractions. If the writers would condense a little I feel sure they would have much more of the public's attention.

EVENTS IN ALABAMA

Carefully Collated and Condensed for Our Readers.

INDUSTRIAL MOVEMENTS NOTED

Gone to a New Field—A Waiting Warrant—Alabama Iron Going to England—Killed by a Freight Engine—The First Watermelons—A New Mill.

Will Be Put in Blast.

The big charcoal furnace at Jenifer, twelves miles south of Anniston, is being overhauled and repaired and will be in blast in a few weeks.

Better Than Cotton.

T. J. Hodges, of Ashville sold last week in Gadsden two and a half tons of home raised clover at $13 per ton. B. A. Nowlin, of Collinsville, also sold two car loads.

Postoffice Moved.

Mountainboro postoffice, Etowah county, has been moved to Carlisle Station, on the Tennessee and Coosa railway, and Logan J. Lisenby has been appointed postmaster.

Behind With Orders.

The Daniel Pratt Gin company closed down their shop a few days last week to repair the water wheel. They have recently begun to work their men eleven hours per day on account of being behind with orders.

Alabama Iron Goes to England.

The British steamer Huntcliffe cleared Wednesday at Mobile for Manchester, England, direct with a full load of cotton, etc., including 250 tons of Alabama iron, the first shipment of Alabama iron from Mobile to England direct.

Huntsville's Big Mill.

All arrangements are about completed and work is expected to begin in a few days on Huntsville's merchant flour mill. The mill will be up to the latest stage of the art, with a daily capacity of 100 barrels of meal and flour each,

Disastrous Hail Storm.

A dispatch from Rogers says: The cotton crop in this section is ruined. The plants are flat on the ground and in many instances are entirely stripped of their leaves. Corn is also damaged to a great extent. All owing to half an hour's severe hail storm.

Visited the Pest House.

There were two more cases of smallpox reported last week at Tuscumbia, and one death. The cases occurred in the family of a negro who it appears had clandestinely visited the pest house. It is thought now that the disease will be stamped out.

Cotton Seed Oil Company.

Articles of incorporation of the Birmingham Cotton Oil company have been filed in the probate office. Messrs. Robert N. King, of Dayton, O.; John W. Taylor, of Atlanta, Ga.; John O'Brien, of Montgomery, and W. N. Malone, of Birmingham, are the incorporators, and the capital stock is $100,000.

Two Prisoners for the Mines.

Special Agent T. C. Nelson, of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad company arrived in Birmingham at Midnight Wednesday night from Covington county with two negro prisoners for the mines. One of them, Andrew Searcy, goes up for life for murder, and the other, Will Washington, is a short term man.

Going to Another Field.

Messrs. M. C. Williams and R. J. Saywell, until recently superintendents of the rolling mills and blacksmith and machine shops departments of the United States Car company, at Anniston, have gone to Rome, Ga., having leased the cotton tie factory at that place, which has been idle for quite a while. They will operate it to its full capacity and intend to get it going in about two weeks.

Industrial—Birmingham.

The car wheel works on Avenue E and Twelfth street, Birmingham, fired up Thursday. They will use 100 tons of iron a day—almost the output of a furnace. The works will make trucks as well as wheels. They will furnish railroads with the trucks ready for the bed of the car. Many skilled workmen are employed. This is one of the most important industries that has recently been started in Birmingham.

The Law's Troublesome Memory.

George Baty was arrested a few days ago on a bill found by the grand jury in 1890. In that year Baty and a man by the name of Tom Precise had a due, on the streets of Scottsboro, in which a horse was killed by the former, though neither of the principals were hurt. Baty soon left the country and returned only a few days ago. He is quite broken up over the affair and says he did not know there was a warrant for him. He was unable to make bond and was lodged in jail.

Watermelons Have Come.

There are watermelons in Birmingham. A car load of them, the first of the season, arrived Thursday afternoon over the Louisville & Nashville railroad from Florida, and tonight will be seen at almost every stand in the city. The melons this season are a little ahead of those that arrived last season, and the crop will be every bit as heavy as it was last year. The Louisville & Nashville railroad on Thursday evening carried forty cars of bananas through Birmingham en route to Cincinnati and other points.

Slashed Across the Throat.

On Thursday night at New Castle Pink Scarver, colored, was carved to death. On examination of the body at the inquest held by Coroner R. E. Jones on Friday two gashes, one on each side of the throat, either of which would have caused his death, were found. Several other knife wounds on different parts of the body appeared. One Jim Johnson, colored, was arrested, charged with the crime, and conveyed to jail. It appears from the evidence before the coroner that another negro, who has not been arrested, is implicated.

Seem's He'd Been Drinking.

An unfortunate occurrence took place in Selma Friday night, which may result in the death of one citizen at the hands of another. It seems that Mr. Ed Molette had been drinking and went to the room of Mr. Llewelyn Bitts. All that is known is that a difficulty occurred and both men drew and emptied their pistols. The shooting attracted attention and persons who rushed into the room found the form of Mr. Molette lying on the floor with an ugly wound through the abdomen. It is thought the wound is fatal.

The Engine Struck Her.

At Liberty Park station, on the Ensley Dummy line, a negro woman stopped from a dummy train Wednesday morning on the track of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company. Hardly had she done so when a freight train on that line came in sight. The engineer blew his whisle and reversed brakes, but the woman failed to leave the track and the engine struck her, hurling her from the track. When picked up it was found that both legs and her hips were crushed. She was taken to a house close by, and it was learned she died shortly afterward.

Can't Subsist on Glory.

A good deal of kicking is being indulged in by the First regiment of the Alabama state troops, in camp of instruction at Mobile, on account of the fact that the soldiers will be required to pay for what they eat during the encampment. It is, unfortunately, true that the state will not be able this year to defray all of the expenses of the encampment. Transportation and all of the other camp expenses other than providing for the rations of the troops will be paid by the state out of the $15,000 appropriated by the legislature for that purpose. If after the encampment any surplus of this $15,000 is left it will be prorated among the regiments and applied to the grub fund. Only one company in the First regiment, however is said to have threatened to bolt the encampment.

Colored Teachers' Association.

The Colored State Teachers' association met in Anniston Wednesday night in annual convention to be in session three days. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Hon. Francis M. Hight, mayor, and Judge William I. Johnston, chairman of the board of education. The response on behalf of the visiting teachers was made by Booker T. Washington, who for six years has been president of the association, and who founded and is at the head of the big negro school at Tuskegee, which has achieved a world-wide fame under his management. His speech, after thanking the city for the welcome extended, continued with good advice to the negroes and sound truths as to existing conditions, and it is said to have been the finest, most sensible and most practical discourse ever listened to by those who heard it, the audience including a great many white people.

Executive Clemency.

Will Smith, colored, was to have been hung Friday at Birmingham. On Thursday his attorney returned from Montgomery bearing the following order;

State of Alabama, }
Montgomery County. }

The death sentence of Will Smith, to be executed by hanging on Friday, the 5th day of June, 1896, is hereby commuted to imprisonment at hard labor in the state penitentiary during his natural life. Wm. C. Oates, Governor.

Smith was convicted, with three other negroes, of the murder of Deputy Sheriff A. T. Wood, at Brookside last July. Since his conviction circumstances have come to the knowledge of Judge Greene and Solicitors Bradley and Furguson, who represented the state in the trial, that moved them to recommend the commutation of the death sentence. Sheriff Morrow, G. R. Easlel foreman, and F. F. Norton, a member of the jury of trial, also recommended the commutation, Limestone Circuit Court.

An extra term of circuit court commenced at Athens Tuesday, Judge Speake presiding. The object of this special term is the closing of the criminal docket. Three murder cases are embraced, chief among which is the case against Annie Mahona for the killing of T. Redus Westmoreland, both of Elkmont, Ala., on November 5, 1895. In this case the state will be assisted by Messrs. McClellan & Sanders of this place, while Judge William Richardson of Huntsville, and J. E. Fussell, of Columbia, Tenn., will represent the defendant.

It is set for Thursday next.

Perhaps more interest will be taken in this trial than in any ever held in this county since the Townsend-Binford case of ante-bellum days.

The next in importance, doubtless, is the case against Lorine Wynn, as the instigator, or particeps criminis, of the Upshaw-Smith murder, for which two young negroes are now under sentence of death.

The other the State vs. Sam Williams for the killing of Mr. Brooks and seriously wounding another of the Brooks boys at the same time and place, on December 25, 1892.

LIVE WASHINGTON NOTES.

Large Filibustering Expedition Lands Safely in Cuba.

A VERY PROPER ORDER.

Substance of the Filled Cheese Bill Which Passed the Senate Thursday—A Mint Employe Dismissed for Embezzlement—Nominations Confirmed.

Interior Department Appointments.

Secretary Hoke Smith has appointed T. D. Leach, of Texas, principal examiner and J. P. Wooten, of Georgia, chief of division in the bureau of pensions.

***

Nominations Confirmed.

The senate has confirmed the following nominations: William Churchill, of New York, consul general at Apia, Samoa; John M. Vandiver, postmaster at Rome, Ga.

***

Minority Report on Reciprocity.

The minority report of the house ways and means committee, opposing the reciprocity policy, was made Saturday by Messrs. Turner, of Georgia, and McMillin, of Tennessee. It deals largely in statistics to support its conclusions.

***

Senatorial Confirmations

The senate in executive session today confirmed the following nominations: David N. Burke, of New York, to be consul-general at Tangier, Morocco; Alexander G. Maylie, of Louisiana, to be special examiner of drugs, medicines and chemicals in the district of New Orleans.

***

Detailed for Alabama Service.

Captain Hobart Hailey, of the Fifth Infantry, has been detailed to attend the annual encampment of the Alabama state troops at Birmingham, June 8, and Lieutenant Benjamin H. Randolph, Third artillery, has been assigned to like duty with the troops of the same state at Mobile, June 8.

***

Had Pitch on His Fingers.

Mint Director Preston has dismissed Weigh Clerk Chanfau of the New Orleans mint for embezzlement, and directed that he be prosecuted. The present extent of his known peculation is $60 in gold. Superintendent Cade has been ordered to at once enter suit on the bonds of Chanfau and Pitkin for their shortage.

***

Treaty Ratifications Exchanged.

A cablegram from Ambassador Bayard informed Secretary Olney that ratifications of the Behring sea claims treaty had been exchanged in London Wednesday. The treaty will not be made public here until its promulgation in London, as it is desired to have it appear simultaneously in Great Britain and the United States.

***

The River and Harbor Law.

The river and habor appropriation bill, which was passed Wednesday over the president's veto by the senate, the house having previously taken similar action, was last evening signed by the presiding officers of both bodies and was this morning delivered by Mr. W. S. Daniels, one of the vice president's secretaries, to the state department for record, the law requiring it to be so delivered by the vice president in person or by some one designated by him.

***

A Very Proper Order.

Postmaster-General Wilson has issued an order to postmasters throughout the country which will prevent money lending companies doing business with railway postal clerks, letter carriers, and others who borrow of these companies and give a note on their paying postmaster for such portion of their monthly salary as they borrow. The postmaster-general forbids postmasters to recognize these notes given to the money lending concerns by employes, and refuses to assist such companies in collecting their accounts.

***

Successful Cuban Expedition.

Gonzales de Quesada, the Cuban charge d' affaires in Washington city, has received word that Col. Rafael Portuondo has landed safely in Cuba. He was accompanied by 100 men, among whom were Dr. Charles Poey, surgeon of the party, a resident of Washington, and two young Baltimoreans, Osman Latrobe, nephew of ex-Mayor Latrobe, and Mr. Janny.

The vessels used were the Laurada and Three Friends, and the expedition is said to have started from Jacksonville on Monday, May 25. The cargo carried is said to have embraced 1,000,000 rifle cartridges, six twelve-pound field pieces, with abundant ammunition for them, and a quantity of dynamite.

It is the largest landing made. Colonel Portuondo is the secretary of state. He came to this country on leave of absence and attended the debates in congress. He belongs to the bluest blood of the island is a lawyer of distinction.

Mills Running Full Capacity.

Snodgrass & Field, lumbermen, Chattanooga, say business is entirely satisfactory in volume and has been ever since January 1, the only objection being low prices and rather small profits. They are running full capacity of 35,000 feet per day. They have logs to run them a month now on the ground, and are expecting an additional supply with the June tide, sufficient to complete the season. They have about 6,000,000 feet of lumber now on their yard.

H. C. & W. B.

REYNOLDS

Are still leading the procession when it comes to Good Goods and Low Prices.

We have just received a car load of

Texas Rust-Proof Oats.
Tennessee Burt Oats.
United States Standard Flour.

GUANO . .

We are sole agents for the Alabama Fertilizer Company and will handle their Guano during the coming season. Come early and give us your name and amount wanted, as prices are sure to advance later on. Remember the commercial value of this celebrated Guano is from $3 to $5 a ton higher than any Guano brought to this market, but we will sell to you at reasonable figures.

A big line of

Cooking Stoves AND Furniture

just received.

We have control of the celebrated

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

which lead all others.

Come and buy Schnapps and Pound Cake Tobacco. We are headquarters for it.

Agents for

Tennessee Wagons, McCormick Mowers and Reapers.

Call on us when in need of anything from a needle to a steam engine.

Yours for the Trade,

H. C. & W. B.

REYNOLDS.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Baptist Church—Dr. A. W. McGaha, pastor. Services every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Methodist Church—Rev. Lee Abernathy, pastor. Services every first and second Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 a. m.

Episcopal Church—Rev. A. F. Smith, pastor. Services every third Sunday 4 p. m.

Union Prayer Meeting at Methodist church Thursdays at 7:30 p. m.

Sunbeam Society meets every first and third Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Woman's Missionary Society meets on Wednesday evening after the third Sunday in every month at Methodist church.

The Dora Rankin Juvenile Society meets every first Sunday at Methodist church. tf

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

No. 8	B'ham & Selma	8:10 a m
No. 9	Selma & B'ham	7:25 p m
No. 15	South	12:37 p m
No. 16	North	3:05 p m

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Master Harry McClean, of Livingston, is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Regan, of this place.

Miss Ada Hunter, of Brierfield, was in Montevallo Monday.

Her numerous friends in Montevallo and vicinity were delighted to welcome home again Miss Alta Perry. Miss Perry has been teaching, and no doubt very successfully teaching, a large school at Bold Springs.

The relatives of Mrs. Rebecca Rice who died on the 3d, desire their kind friends to accept thanks for attention and assistance.

Miss Mariah Hawkins visited friends in Calera Sunday.

Jolly Joe McMillan sold shoes in Montevallo last week.

William Cooper, a solid business man of Oxford, was in our city one day last week.

Miss McKensie, of Talladega, a pleasantly remembered visitor in Montevallo last summer, passed through our town Tuesday in company with the Selma boy who has been so fortunate as to win her heart and hand.

The closing exercises of the Montevallo High school will be held at the Baptist church on Thursday night, June 11.

Mrs. Dill's art class will give an exhibition of their work on Friday night. You are cordially invited to attend these exercises.

Mr. E. T. Peter, of Brierfield, has purchased Mr. Bartlett's wood and coal business and will make Selma his future home.—Selma Times.

Messrs. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds who have been in Washington for the last week in the interest of the Land bill for the Industrial school returned home yesterday. While not successfull in getting the bill up this session they feel sure it will pass at the next session of congress in December. All the democratic members from Alabama together with Messrs. Aldrich and Goodwyn have promised to do all in their power to get the bill through. We suppose the governor will now call the board together and proceed with the buildings.

Mr. William Head and his charming sister of Randolph were in town Saturday.

Miss Florence Farrington and Miss Minnie Wilson spent Sunday with friends in Montevallo.

Mr. John B. Randall, on his way to Birmingham, passed through our city Saturday.

Dr. Claughton made a trip to Birmingham Saturday.

Mrs. Miles of Pea Ridge brought in some fine apples last week.

Messrs. Fancher and Potts, who live near Bibb furnace, report crops in an advanced condition.

Mr. Hutchins sent to market the first tomatoes we have seen this season.

Messrs. Edgar Holcomb and Booker Hill of Calera visited friends in Montevallo Sunday.

Captain Pratt of Six Mile visited Montevallo on the 5th.

Miss Patti Nelson, a bright and pretty girl from Bessemer, is visiting Miss Lois McCauley.

Among Friday's visitors were William Brown and family of Bibb.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Farrington and Miss Mattie Trott of Six Mile were shopping in Montevallo on the 4th.

Dr. Reed a dentist from Bessemer, spent a few days in Montevallo this week.

Prof. Dill spent Saturday and Sunday in Birmingham.

Among welcome arrivals Monday was Dr. Todd of Plantersville.

Miss Alma Finley of Calera is visiting her grandmother of this place.

Destructive Northwestern Storms.

Heavy storms were reported Saturday night from all over the northern part of Minnesota. Eau Claire, Wis., reports three houses struck by lightning. All trains are delayed and the wires down, with bad washouts reported between there and Hudson and rumors prevail of a disaster at Hudson. A cloudburst at Baldwin, in St. Croix county, did great damage.

THE REVIVAL.

The conversion of one person is a wonderful thing; but when fully seventy-five are in a short space of time brought to realize their condition and to seek and find relief, we are astonished and bless the name of the Lord anew. Nevertheless such is the numerical representation of the success of the religious meetings of the people of Aldrich during the past three weeks. It is said that there were awe-inspiring scenes at times when the lightning of salvation struck here and there, this one and that one, when here would be one asking for prayers and there another testifying for the Lord and blessing His name for undeserved yet immeasurable benefits.

As previously stated in the News these meetings have been under the inspiring leadership of Rev. P. L. Abernathy.

Died, at her home near Helena on th 21st day of May, Mrs. Parthenia Acker Griffin, wife of Mr. R. Griffin and eldest daughter of our esteemed citizen, Dr. J. W. Acker. She leaves her husband and seven children to mourn her loss. She was a dutiful, loving daughter, and a most devoted Christian wife and mother. She had been a consistent member of the Baptist church since she was a child. A high type of womanhood one may well feel proud to own as a friend. She was always so patient under the cares of life—meekly following her Savior's example in all loveable traits of character. Strange mystery that God should take such a mother from her home. The dearest link in the home circle. Perhaps of all trials to human faith this is the sorest. Thanks be so God if he puts into our hearts such love toward him that even while he slays us we can trust Him still. We extend our most sincere sympathy to the bereaved ones.

At the crystal river's brink,
Some sweet day, by and by;
We shall find each broken link,
Some sweet day, by and by.

Then the star that faded here,
Left our hearts and home so drear,
We shall see more bright and clear,
Some sweet day, by and by.

A Friend.

Montevallo, Ala , June 4, 1896.

ART CLASS EXHIBITION.

Mrs. Dill's art class will give an exhibition of their work during the past six months on Friday evening, June 12, at the Baptist church, when the following programme will be rendered:

1. Piano duet, "Il Trovatore," Melnotte—Mrs. H. C. Reynolds and Miss H. Lyman.
2. Prayer.
3. Instrumental quintette, "The Liberty Bell March," Sousa—Quintette club: Violins, Messrs. Cary and Lyman; mandolin, Miss Kate Kroell; flute, Mr. W. B. Reynolds; piano, Miss Mary Kroell.
4. Address of Welcome—Miss Eunice Latham.
5. Instrumental trio, "Flower Song," Lange—Mr. and Mrs. Lyman and Mr. Reynolds.
6. Recitation, "A Picture of Home"—Miss Anna Nabers.
7. Duet, mandolin and piano, Polka, Op. 23, D. Tipaldi—Misses Kroell.
8. Address—Rev. Paul Lee Abernathy.
9. Vocal solo, "The Holy City," Adams—Mrs. H. C. Reynolds.
10. Recitation, "Asleep at the Switch"—Miss Maude Reynolds.
11. Duet, violin and piano, "Grand March," Bishop—Mr. W. S. Cary and Mrs. E. S. Lyman.
12. Recitation, "The Polish Boy"—Miss Imogene Vandegrift.
13. Instrumental quintette, March, Wagner—Quintette Club.

The public is cordially invited to attend the exercises and inspect the work of the young ladies.

BRIERFIELD.

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Moreland, who have been visiting relatives here for the past two weeks, returned to their home in Selma Saturday.

Miss Ona Hubbard, one of Brierfield's sweetest young ladies, left Saturday for Sylacauga.

Mrs. Kersh and her charming daughter, Miss Nona, of Centreville, are visiting the family of Mr. W. W, McCollum.

Miss Mamie Newman, a bright and attractive young lady of Selma, is the guest of Mrs. E. T. Peter.

Mrs. Walter Perry, of Blocton, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lucas, of Dogwood, visited relatives here last week.

Miss Alice Alexander, of Montevallo, visited friends here last week.

Miss Emma Hunter arrived home Saturday from Savannah, Ga., where she has been teaching school.

An interesting prayer meeting was held at the M. E. church Sunday night.

Seining is the order of the day.

There is a young man who stays close around the grist mill that seems to have made a mash.

We were glad to see the bright face of Mr. Bob Potts in town today.

Occasionally.

Every family should have one of those 3-quart Fountain Syringes with a 6-foot pipe and 5 rubber tubes. All physicians recommend them. Only $1.25 for the entire outfit in wooden case with clasp lock. H. C. & W. B Reynolds' Drug Department. 3t

Business Block Burned.

The Booth block, the largest business block in New Britain, Conn., was damaged by fire Saturday to the extent of $65,000. The origin of the fire is not known, but the police are at work under the belief that it was incendiary.

Special Rates to Conventions.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Of Young Men's Christian Association, Knoxville, Tenn.—Reduced Rates Via the Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Summer School of the Young Men's Christian Association the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Knoxville, Tenn., and return at rate of one first class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 18, 19 and 20, good to return on or before June 30, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Of Young Women's Christian Endeavor, Asheville, N. C.—Reduced Rates Via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the Summer School of the Young Women's Christian Endeavor the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Asheville, N. C., and return at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 10, 11 and 12, good to return on or before June 26, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN

Convention, St. Louis, Mo.—Reduced Rates Via the Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the National Republican Convention the Southern Railway will sell tickets to St. Louis, Mo., and return, at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold June 13 and 14, good to return until June 21, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or to L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; A. Whedon, P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.; S. T. Swift, P. & T. A., Lexington, Ky.

International Y. P. S. C. E. Convention.

Washington, D. C.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

For the occasion of the International Christian Endeavor Convention, which will be held in Washington, D. C., July 7-13, the Southern Railway will sell tickets at the rate of one limited first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold July 5-7, and limited to continuous passage in each direction, with extreme limit for return July 21, 1896.

For further information in regard to rates, schedules, etc., call on any agent of the company or W. H. Doll, T. P. A. Chattanooga, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.

Austin Corbin Dead.

Austin Corbin, the multi-millionaire of New York, died at 9:43 o'clock Thursday night from injuries received by the running away of the horses attached to his carriage. The accident occurred about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, while Mr. Corbin was driving from his estate to the game preserves, two miles from Newport, N. H., accompanied by his grandson, Edgell Corbin, and the latter's tutor, Dr. Kunger. The driver was John Stokes. When coming out of the entrance gate the horses shied and in the fright dashed across the road, colliding with a high stone wall. The carriage was overturned sufficiently to eject with great force all its occupants, with the result that one of Mr. Corbin's legs was broken in two places and the other wrenched, while his head was terribly bruised. The driver was injured internally and died at 6 o'clock. Edgell Corbin had one leg broken, besides other injuries, while the tutor escaped with a severe shaking up.

Spanish Generals Quarrel.

During a recent discussion of affairs in Cuba between General Martino Campos, the predecessor of General Weyler as captain general of Cuba, and General Borrero, the argument became so animated that the discussion developed in a hot quarrel and a duel was arranged. The matter was conducted with the greatest secrecy, but in some manner the authorities received information of the intended duel between the generals a few minutes before they were to meet on the Primo rivers. The captain general of Madrid proceeded with haste to the spot, arriving just as the principals were being placed in position, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that he succeeded in stopping the affair before either of the combatants was wounded. Generals Campos and Borrero were finally disarmed and sent to their respective residences under arrest.

Fire in New York.

Fire in the leather factory of Howard & McDermott, in Brooklyn, N. Y., Saturday, did $150,000 damage, gutted three buildings and was the means of putting 500 persons out of work. Incendiarism is suspected.

RE-UNION UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS, RICHMOND, VA.—REDUCED RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

For the occasion of the Sixth annual Re-union of the United Confederate Veterans, which occurs at Richmond, Va., June 30 to July 2, 1896, Southern Railway will sell tickets to Richmond, Va., and return, at very low rates.

Tickets from points in Georgia and Tennessee, north and east of Atlanta and Chattanooga, will be sold June 27 to 28 and 29, and from points south and west of Atlanta and Chattanooga, and east of the Mississippi river, tickets will be sold June 26, 27, 28 and 29. Final limit on tickets from all points will be July 6, 1896.

From points south and west of Atlanta, the Southern railway is the short and quick route to Richmond, Va., via the "Piedmont Air Line," and the service is peerless. From Knoxville, Tenn., Chattanooga, Tenn., and points west thereof, the route of the Southern railway is via Ashville, and through the scenic "Land of the Sky." The service of this line is unexcelled.

Call on any agent of the Southern railway for further information, or E. J. Martin, T. P. A., Columbus, Miss.; J. L. Meek, T. P. A., Knoxville, Tenn.; W. H. Doll, T. P. A., Chattanoogu, Tenn.; L. A. Shipman, T. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.; J. C. Andrews, S. W. P. A., New Orleans, La.; W. A. Turks, G. P. A., Washington, D. C.; S. H. Hardwick, A. G, P. A., Atlanta, Ga.; C. A. Benscoter, A. G. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn.

NOTICE!

To Applicants for Confederate pensions:

Take notice that the Board of Examiners will be in session at my office for the purpose of considering and passing upon applications, on Monday the 1st day of June, and will continue in session three days. All persons having filed applications may appear on any one of these days with proof to support their applications, if they think proper.

I give this notice at the request of the board, and of some of the applicants whose applications were rejected last year, to give them an opportunity of introducing proof. Applications will be received until June 1st.

D. R. McMillan,
2t Judge of Probate.

National Prohibition Convention,

Pittsburgh, Penn.—Reduced Rates via Southern Railway.

On account of the National Prohibition Convention, which will be held in Pittsburgh, Penn., May 27-29, the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Pittsburgh and return at rate of one limited first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 24-26, limited for return on or before May 30, 1896.

For further information regarding rates and schedules call on any agent of the Southern Railway, or Mr. L. A. Shipman, T. P. A. Birmingham, Ala. tf

$15 REWARD

Will be paid to anyone establishing the fact that Fleming's English Remedy for colic in horses and mules has failed to relieve. For sale by H. C. & W. B. Reynolds, Montevallo, Ala.

E. G. GIVHAN,

Physician and Surgeon,

Montevallo, Ala.

Offices in Lyman building and at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' drug store.

J. M. REYNOLDS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

Prompt attention paid to all claims put in my hands for collection.

Paint Brushes at 20c and 25c.
Sponges, a nice line.
Small Steel Tweezers at 10c.
Putty, Turpentine and Castor Oil in bulk.
One dollar bottles McElree's Wine of Cardui at 83c.
Hood's Sarsaparilla at 89c.
Pure Drugs and Chemicals at REYNOLD'S DRUG STORE.

TWO FOR ONE!

That is what is offered you

For $1 a Year.

—You can get—

The Montgomery Semi-Weekly ADVERTISER

An eight-page paper issued twice a week,

All the Year Round.

No paper as complete and interesting for an Alabamian can be had in all the land at any price.

Full of instructive and entertaining matter for

The Farm!
The Fireside!!
The Store!!!

CAWTHON & COLEMAN,

Selma, Alabama.

Wholesale and Retail Druggist.

—DEALERS IN—

Fine Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Whiskies, Wines, and Alcohol, also Garden Grass and Millet Seed. Surgical Instruments a Specialty

Millinery Goods.

Having moved my Millinery Stock over in the business portion of town I am now prepared to serve my customers better than ever. I have just opened

The Most Complete Line of Millinery

ever brought to Montevallo. I intend to keep the reputation my goods have made and offer them cheaper than ever. Call and see me in my new store on Main Street, under the law office of E. S. Lyman, Esq.

MRS. S. V. McCAULEY.

New Millinery Store.

I have just opened the nicest line of

MILLINERY GOODS

Ever brought to Montevallo. Having had large experience in this line and having some of the best connections in New York, Baltimore and St. Louis, I feel that I can suit the most fastidious.

PRICES CHEAPER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Call and see me at my new store.

MRS. T. A. BEST,

Corner of Valley and Depot Streets.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Braddock Poultry Farm

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

FINE BRED POULTRY.

Light Brahmas, Golden and Silver Wyandottes, Cornish Indian Game, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Houdans, S. S. Hambergs; Naragansett and Bronze Turkeys, and Pekin Ducks.

A few choice Cockerels. Brahmas, Brown Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks and Indian Games for sale. Price from $1 to $3.

Eggs and stock in season at $1.50 per 13.

The above stock is selected from the best yards in America. Many of the bird have taken prize in strong competion.

J. B. Lewis Co. WEAR RESISTER SHOES

Lead All Others

FOR

Wear, Style, Ease, Comfort.

For Lowest Prices.

FOR SALE BY

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

FLOUR! :- FLOUR!

Why will people clamor after a cheap grade of Flour when they can buy a good grade cheap? The United States Standard and the Missouri Belle brands of Flour are unequalled in quality. They are both made from carefully selected wheat and every barrel is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Ask for these grades and take no substitute. Remember the brands and you will make no mistake.

If you wish a written guarantee with every barrel, we will give it to you.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds

Wanted

An intelligent lady to act as our agent for this county. Easy work, big returns. Address Box 310, Montgomery, Ala.

Compliment to a Soldier.

During the siege of Paris Marshal Canrobert found himself for a moment in the presence of a party of ladies. They were very much agitated. "What is the matter, ladies?" the marshal asked.

"The matter?" said Madame Brohan, in whose house the people were assembled. "Why, we are on the eve of battle, and I suppose fear affects us."

"Fear?" echoed the marshal, looking about with a puzzled air.

Madame Brohan rang her bell.

"Marie," she said, when the maid appeared, "bring a dictionary for the marshal!"

A Two-Acre Fish.

There was once an English nobleman who told at a dinner of a tiger he shot. It measured twenty-four feet, he said, from snout to tail-tip. Everybody looked a bit astonished, but nobody insinuated disbelief the story—nobody but an old Scotchman, who told a story of a fish he once caught. He had been unable to pull it in alone, but with the aid of six friends, he managed to land it.

"It was a skate," he said, "and it covered two acres."

The nobleman looked at the Scot through his monocle, and left the table. Others followed. After a while the host returned.

"Sir," said he to the Scotchman, "you have insulted my lord, and you must apologize."

"I dinna insoolt him," said the Scot.

"Yes, you did, with your two-acre fish story. You must apologize."

"Well," said the braw and wary Scot, "tell him if he'll take ten feet off that tiger, I'll see what I can do with the fish."

'Decided by Jury.

It is not uncommon for an English judge to try to raise a laugh—and strange to say, he usually succeeds—by affecting an infantile ignorance of all things but purely judicial matters. Sir Henry Hawkins not long ago asked in court, "What is hay?"

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger says that in a recent libel suit a strange affectation of judicial ignorance was evinced by Lord Russell. Sir Edward Clarke read, from a book of the plaintiff's, a description of Chopin's 'umber-shaded head."

"What shade?" asked Lord Russell.

"Umber," replied Sir Edward.

"Yes, but what is that?" persisted the chief justice.

At this point the feelings of the jury were too much for them. With a unanimity reminiscent of the "Pirates of Penzance," they chanted in expostulatory chorus: "Brown, my lord, brown," and the trial went on.

The Modern Beauty

Thrives on good food and sunshine, with plenty of exercise in the open air. Her form glows with health and her face blooms with its beauty. If her system needs the cleansing action of a laxative remedy, she uses the gentle and pleasant Syrup of Figs. Made by the California Fig Syrup Company.

Do business for the Lord, and there will be no danger of bankruptcy.

Buy $1.00 worth Dobbins Floating-Borax Soap of your grocer, send wrappers to Dobbins Soap Mf'g Co., Philadelphia, Pa. They will send you free of charge, postage paid, a Worcester Pocket Dictionary, 238 pages, bound in cloth, profusely illustrated. Offer good until August 1st only.

There are pleasures in sin, but they are only pleasures for a season.

A Good Dog is Worth Looking After.

If you own a dog and think anything of him, you should be able to treat him intelligently when ill and understand him sufficiently to detect symptoms of illness. The dog doctor book written by H. Clay Glover, D. V. S., specialist in canine diseases to the principal kennel clubs, will furnish this information. It is a cloth bound, handsomely illustrated book, and will be sent postpaid by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., New York City, on receipt of 40 cents in postage stamps.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is a liquid and is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Write for testimonials, free. Manufactured by F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

FITS stopped free by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflamation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has no equal as a Cough medicine.—F. M. ABBOTT, 383 Seneca St., Buffalo, N. Y., May 9, 1894.

Pure

Blood is essential to health. Now is the time to purify and enrich the blood, and thus give vigor and vitality, by taking

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills. 25 cents.

There is lots of pleasure, satisfaction and health corked up in a bottle of HIRES Rootbeer. Make it at home.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. DR. J. STEPHENS, Lebanon, Ohio.

Am. N.U. No. 24. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION. CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. 25 CTS.

GOSSIP FOR THE FAIR SEX

TEMS OF INTEREST ON THE FASHIONS.

To Banish a Double Chin---London Home for Lone Women---Where Women Are Queens---Beauty in Belts.

THE QUEEN AND THE EX-EMPRESS.

Years ago, when Eugenie was Empress of the French, she and Queen Victoria used to exchange birthday presents of "gold, silver and precious stones." Now that they are feeble old women and Eugenie's crown has vanished, they still keep up the custom of birthday gifts, but send each other warm, easy slippers, thick woolen undergarments, widows' caps and such things.

TO BANISH A DOUBLE CHIN.

It has been discovered that a double chin can be banished by correct breathing. The woman with a short neck must hold her head high, even stretching her neck until conscious of the tension of the cords. She should also practice dropping her head and letting it roll listlessly about. This will give a graceful poise to the head and the exercise of the muscles will help consume the extra amount of fat.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

A "split" sunbonnet is made of striped and checked ginghams, and is delightfully quaint over round, serious little faces.

A washable material for sailor collars and revers of cheviot, serge and flannel suits is a thick linen canvas that comes in white and color.

Sunbonnets for small girls are more than ever plentiful this season, as are also dainty frilled and lace-trimmed aprons in all degrees of dressiness.

For everyday summer use there are the usual delicately figured and striped linen lawns, cambrics and percales that, come weal or woe, appear every year.

For young gentlemen up to ten there are matelot suits in the Russian crash that, with their long bell trousers and very low-neck blouses, have quite a professional sailor air.

For country use many mothers are having frocks made for the small fry of the new madras ginghams, which, in delicate blue, green and pink stripes, are in weaves of extreme fineness.

PROUD OF HER ORCHIDS.

Of all the orchids owned by Miss Helen Gould she is said to prize none as she prizes a certain great water lily pond in her domains. This is stocked with lilies that seem to wake up with the sun and go to sleep only when blanketed with ice. All summer there is a sheet of sweetness lying over the water.

The little cripples of Woody Crest enjoy these lilies. At Woody Crest all the useful arts are taught, and the curriculum embraces a knowledge of flowers. With crutches or without crutches, with legs or without them, the little sick fellows are brought to the lily pool and coaxed back to strength by the magic of its beauty. Almost any day, with a borrowed child or two, you may see Miss Helen wending her way from the lily pool to the house and back again. With so many fine friends as this young woman boasts she is not driven to the society of her Woody Crest acquaintances. All the children of the wide Hudson River colony are glad to accompany her if she will only be "at home" to them. Her $35,000 palm is not more a source of pride than her lily pool.

HOME FOR LONE WOMEN.

In London there is an establishment where lone women can be lodged and boarded at a moderate price. The Sloane Garden apartment house is different from anything in America, and there are no restrictions placed upon the coming and going of the guests. There is a handsomely furnished parlor and music room. The charges for furnished rooms range from $2.50 to $3.50 a week. For 8 cents to 16 cents one may obtain a good breakfast; and luncheon costs from 8 cents to 24 cents. The uniform price of a dinner is 24 cents. Soup, two vegetables, a joint and a simple dessert comprise the latter meal. There are, however, certain rules which must be observed on entering. No cooking is allowed in the rooms, and not a nail must be driven; no trunks or bundles are allowed in the halls. The inconvenient part of it is that each person must furnish her own towels, sheets, pillow cases and table linen. A deposit of about $5 is required upon entrance, which sum is returned when the visitor's time of occupancy expires. The questions asked would seem rather inquisitive to an American woman; the applicant is required to sign her full name, address, age, state of health, and whether married or single. The occupation of the father is asked, as the guests of Sloane Garden house are supposed to be gentlewomen, all others being strictly excluded.

WHY A MOTHER DOES NOT BIKE.

The bicycle craze burns fiercer than ever this year. A lady who went the 1st of April to buy a wheel for her daughter of a large city shop was astonished at being told they had not one in the establishment.

The explanation was scarcely less surprising. "We ordered 4,000," said the shopman, "for our summer's trade, and, before the middle of April, they are every one gone."

This woman herself, although still young and of a slender, graceful figure, not unfitted for dislpay upon a bicycle, has a curious theory of her own as to its capabilities for herself. "I can't bring my imagination to see my mother," she says "mounted upon a wheel. She never did anything in my remembrance that was undignified. Now after I am dead, I don't want my children to call up a picture of me perched upon a bicycle. It is all very well for them, but I draw the line at myself. A mother's position is different. I shan't buy myself one of those things." And she hasn't.

WHERE WOMEN ARE QUEENS.

Not even in America are women such absolute monarchs as in heathen Burmah. There, in law and custom, woman is on absolutely the same footing as man. In spite of this, it is claimed no women are more womanly than the Burmese women, whose good sense enables them to perceive the line where they ought to stop.

In the higher classes a woman has property of her own and manages it herself. In the lower classes she always has a trade and runs her business on her own responsibility. The sexes choose their own occupations, and it is curious to see the men sometimes sewing and embroidering, while the women have nearly all the retail trade of the island on their hands.

Just as the men farm their lands the women run their business. They do not hire out to others, but trade on their own account, and with the exception of being in the silk and cloth business it does not interfere with their home life. The bazaar lasts but three hours each day and the woman has ample time for her home duties after that is over.

The Burmese woman's home life is to her the most important thing, and she could not neglect it. Still, her business life has a strong influence on her—it broadens her views and teaches her things she could not learn in the narrow confines of four walls.

BEAUTY IN BELTS.

Belted women are everywhere. Shirt waists and bicycle costumes are responsible for the belts, and the ingenuity of manufacturers has been stirred in devising new fastenings. For the buckles of odd shapes, emblematic of everything under the sun, are the dearest vanity of the girl and woman who wear a belt.

There is a great bejewelled Egyptian buckle. It is ornamented with barbarous magnificence, and it bears the awful name of "Isis," to give it the due ancient stamp. Then there is the Rob Roy buckle. It is Scotch plaid, with two thistles crossed in the centre. The belt that goes with this ribbon is a tartan ribbon, broad and Caledonian, and it is one of the most attractive of the many belt of the spring.

The big Father Knickerbocker belt is a popular design. The buckle is like that worn by the villain in ancient plays—large, square and plain. It is like those placed on the fronts of the shoes of the old Dutchmen who ruled New Amsterdam, and were perfectly satisfied with themselves.

There are bicycle belts beyond count. Many of them have a wheel arranged in some ingenious way for the buckle. Large horseshoes are seen in some bicycle belts, probably in ironical reference to the decadence of the horse, now that the wheel has come into general use. The belt portion of the bicycle is five inches wide, and is elastic, so that it will keep the skirt up and the waist down, and at the same time give support to the back of the wearer as she hurries along on her silent steed.

Besides these freakish belts there are scores of dainty little girdles, of elastic, enameled with daises, buttercups, forget-me-nots, and other simple flowers of the woods, giving a pastoral effect that is inexpressibly charming. The buckle is sometimes a water color portrait of a friend, or of Martha Washington, or Mrs. Cleveland, or Queen Victoria, or Lillian Russell, or some other well-known woman for whom the wearer has a regard. These belts cost as high as $35, and each one is warranted to be worth the money.

A pretty custom is that of giving buckles as keepsakes. The young man of the day gives the young woman a buckle of some quaint and attractive design as he might give her a book or a bouquet. If he gives her something that no one else has, it is so much the more acceptable.

All belts are not $35. You may buy them for twenty-nine cents in some of the stores. But every one is wearing a belt, cheap or expensive, ugly or beautiful, and every one is interested in the subject of belts.

FASHION NOTES.

A pretty fan adds greatly to the beauty of an evening toilet, and it need not necessarily be an evening toilet, either.

Turn-down linen collars and cuffs turned back about an inch around the hand are to be worn very much this season.

The silk balayeuse is in use again, and many of the new summer gowns have the narrow pinked ruffle inside the skirt.

The combination of black and white is to be much worn this summer. It has the advantage of looking cool and being stunning as well.

Small fans being in fashion have brought back again the pocket fans, which really are very useful for every day wear, although ugly.

To be really sincere one's underwear must match one's gown. And, above all, must her corset repeat the tones of the trimming of her bodice.

The smart visiting gloves of the season is to be cream-colored French kid sewn with slender black spots. For cyclists the deerskin glove is the rage.

The Empress of Russia recently chose a white veil with a fine web-like ground and a black border, consisting of a single row of black chenille spots.

Transparent crepons and grenadines are largely in vogue for dinner gowns, and made over chameleon silk of a decidedly lighter shade are most effective by candle light.

The smart woman's lingerie is distinguished by elegant simplicity, and the old-time underwear, made heavy with lace and elaborate embroidery, is a thing of the past.

Even among the diaphanous affairs of chiffon and mull masquerading as parasols, the old-time favorite, the coaching parasol, stands out in stylish and serviceable relief.

There is no truth in the rumor that black stockings are no longer to be worn. Though brown are often worn for cycling, the black are just as fashionable as ever, and open work especially so.

Tan-colored shoes of a darker shade than heretofore seen will be the correct summer footwear for the little folks, a fashion which commends itself to the small boy, as it does away with blacking.

Some of the pretty veils selected by European royalties soon to be married are crescent-shaped and drawn up to fit the hat. They are of brown with white spots, white with black spots, and pure white.

Princess Alexandra is very fond of neat muslin and lace sets of collars, cuffs and fichus, and they will undoubtedly be more popular on this account. Trimmed with tiny tucks and narrow lace they are very dainty and girlish.

These small fans are of parchment, canvas or spangled tulle and silk. The latter two materials are in fashion, but are really not in keeping with the empire style. The parchment and kid are painted in odd designs, the watteau predominating.

The latest novelty in capes is made of chine glace, with a black velvet scroll pattern all over it. Full panels of Russian net edged with ostrich feather trimming hang over the shoulders, and black and white tulle with ostrich tips form the ruche at the neck.

HEADACHE.

A Common Disorder---Its Causes, Symptoms and Remedy.

Head pain is common in all disordered conditions of the system. It may occur in the progress of almost all acute and chronic diseases, at some time in their course, or it may precede them. The pain may be external or internal, and is due to a variety of influences that affect either the scalp or the contents of the cranium.

The determination of the particular tissues involved is extremely difficult; especially because the sufferer is unable to locate definitely the pain.

Headache is rarely regarded as a distinct disorder, but is considered rather as a symptom or accompaniment of some other disturbance in the system.

Variations in the circulation, with the resultant modifications of the blood-pressure, the presence in the blood of poisonous matters, irritations transmitted to the brain from more or less remote parts of the body, or abnormal or diseased conditions of the digestive organs—all these enter into the production of this most common form of distress.

These causes, acting singly or collectively, associated with an oversensitive conditions of the nerves of the brain, and the membranes which envelop it, cause the pain.

By far the most common form of headache is that due to a disordered condition of the organs of digestion. Such headaches are the result of indigestion and constipation, as well as of overindulgence in eating or drinking. A disordered stomach or a sluggish condition of the bowels, combined with overwork and too little exercise in the open air, are frequent causes of headache in persons who pursue sedentary and indoor occupations.

The remedy in this kind of headache is the exercise of regularity and moderation in eating, with an avoidance of food which is innutritious and difficult of digestion, and attention to the regularity of the bowels. The last point is of especial importance.

One variety of headache, the cause of which is sometimes overlooked, results from eye-strain. The provision of proper glasses, and treatment calculated to improve the tone of the muscles of the eyes, have been followed by prompt relief in numberless instances.—Youths' Companion.

False Teeth for a Midget.

Dentist Oscar Adelberg, of Elizabeth, N. J., has just completed a set of false teeth which is probably the smallest ever made. The set is intended for Baroness Magri, known to the world as Mrs. Tom Thumb.

The set can easily be placed within the circumference of a half dollar. She is greatly pleased, and takes delight in showing the plate to her intimate friends.—New York Journal.

"Horrible Discovery at the Pole."

The shouting "speshul edishun" newsboy is as well known in London as in Chicago. Recently when the Nansen North pole excitement was at its height pedestrians along a certain London thoroughfare were over whelmingly amused at hearing a strong-voiced youngster laden with papers and hurrying by call out earnestly: "Evenin' paper, speshul 'dishun, 'orrible discovery at the North pole."

With most of your friends, you treasure up things they occasionally do or say that offend you.

They Never Move.

There are but two European potentates who manage to get along without change of residence. These are the Pope of Rome and the Sultan of Turkey. The Sultan has never left Constantinople since he ascended the throne in such tragic circumstances nineteen years ago, and his Holiness has remained within the precincts of the Vatican since the triple tiara was placed upon his head.

It seems easier to manage the business of other people than your own.

"Scientists say now that handshaking conveys disease." "Of course; that's the way the grip got started."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Pleasant Frolic.

After the dissipated Duke of Wharton had been narrating his frolics, Dean Swift said to him, "My lord, let me recommend one more to you. Take a frolic to be good; rely upon it, you will find it the pleasantest frolic you ever engaged in."

After a struggle for some time with tropical vegetation, the builders of a line of telegraph along the Amazon have decided to lay a telegraph cable in the river for a distance of 1,400 miles.

Pill Clothes.

The good pill has a good coat. The pill coat serves two purposes; it protects the pill, enabling it to retain all its remedial value, and it disguises the taste for the palate. Some pill coats are too heavy; they will not dissolve in the stomach, and the pills they cover pass through the system as harmless as a bread pellet. Other coats are too light, and permit the speedy deterioration of the pill. After 30 years exposure, Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills have been found as effective as if just fresh from the laboratory. It's a good pill with a good coat. Ask your druggist for Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

More pill particulars in Ayer's Curebook, 100 pages. Sent free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Cotton.

With careful rotation of crops and liberal fertilizations, cotton lands will improve. The application of a proper fertilizer containing sufficient Potash often makes the difference between a profitable crop and failure. Use fertilizers containing not less than 3 to 4%

Actual Potash.

Kainit is a complete specific against "Rust."

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars booming special fertilizers, but are practical works, containing the results of latest experiments in this line. Every cotton farmer should have a copy. They are sent free for the asking.

GERMAN KALI WORKS, 93 Nassau St., New York.

Second Hand

TUERK WATER MOTOR

For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to

Atlanta Newspaper Union, ATLANTA, GA.

Manufacturers —OF— Engines, Boilers, Mining Machinery, Saw Mills, Shafting —AND— Pulleys.

MILL AND MINING SUPPLIES.

OLD MACHINERY REPAIRED.

Write for Prices. Address,

Hardie-Tynes Foundry and Machine Co, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

In writing please mention this paper.

RIPANS TABULES

August 8, 1895. In an interview with Mr. Chas. E. Johnson, manager gents' furnishing goods department, "The Fair," Seventh and Franklin avenues, St. Louis, he said: "Several years ago I was troubled with an aggravated case of Dyspepsia, and of course the first thing I did was consult a physician. As I had always enjoyed the best of health I was worried a good deal over this, my first illness—that is, the first I could remember since the ailments common to childhood—and my only desire was to get well as speedily as I could. I took regularly all the medicines as my doctor prescribed them. I must say that in a short time I felt all right, thought I was cured, and stopped taking the medicine. But it wasn't long before I was feeling as badly as ever, and again I had recourse to the doctor. This kept up for some time, until at last I made up my mind I would quit doctoring and try some of the remedies I saw advertised from day to day. Well, this was worse than ever, and in most cases I didn't even get temporary relief. So I didn't know what to do, and made up my mind that I would have to pass the remainder of my days in suffering. Well, to cut a long story short, I had read so much of Ripans Tabules that I concluded I would give them a good trial. It said, 'one would give relief,' and I thought if one could give relief a whole lot might cure me. I purchased two boxes from a druggist for one dollar, and when I had finished them I was feeling better than I had for years. I continued to use them, and to-day believe I am a well man. Once in a great while I do have a slight touch of the old malady, but a few of the Tabules fixes that all right. I generally keep a box in my house."

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

WOMEN SHOULD KNOW

That the Disorders commonly called "Female Diseases" are the Foundation of nearly all the Troubles from which they suffer.

Whites, Chlorosis, Falling of the Womb, Painful and Irregular Menses are caused by derangements of the organs of menstruation. Headache, Backache, Dizziness, Eruptions of the Skin and Fainting Spells are also symptoms of the same diseases. Being only symptoms, their temporary relief does not cure the disease.

McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI

CURES FEMALE DISEASES

by acting directly upon the delicate organs affected. It can be taken in the privacy of home. Thousands of ladies use it. Druggists sell and commend it. One Dollar buys a large bottle.

PIERCE CITY, Lawrence County, Mo.

I have been afflicted with Irregular and Painful Menstruation and very severe Cramping Spells following each monthly period. After the best doctors I could find had failed to benefit me, I tried the Wine of Cardui treatment. I commenced mending at once, and before I had used a full bottle I was better than I had been for twelve months. NETTY WATSON.

DON'T YOU often come across expressions and references in the newspapers and books which you don't fully understand, and which you would like to look up if you had some compact book which would give the information in a few lines?—not be obliged to handle a twenty-pound encyclopædia costing $25 or $30. 50c. in stamps sent to BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE, 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City, will furnish you, postpaid, with just such a book, containing 520 pages, well illustrated, with complete handy Index. Do you know who Crœsus was, and where he lived? Who built the Pyramids, and when? That sound travels 1125 feet per second? What is the longest river in the world? That Marco Polo invented the compass in 1260, and who Marco Polo was? What the Gordian Knot was? The book contains thousands of explanations of just such matters as you wonder about. Buy it at the very low price of half a dollar and INVEST YOURSELF. 50c.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Proprietors. "Devoted to the Interests of the People." Subscription $1.00 per Annum.

VOL. II. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JULY 16, 1896. NO. 13.

A Nature Prayer.

Oh, birds that sing such thankful psalms,
  Rebuking human fretting,
Teach us your secret of content,
  Your science of forgetting.
For every life must have its ills—
  You, too, have times of sorrow—
Teach us, like you, to lay them by
  And sing again tomorrow;
For gems of blackest jet may rest
  Within a golden setting,
And he is wise who understands
  The science of forgetting.

Oh, palms, that bow before the gale
  Until its peaceful ending,
Teach us your yielding, linked with strength
  Your graceful art of bending:
For every tree must meet the storm,
  Each heart must encounter sorrow;
Teach us, like you, to bow, that we
  May stand erect to-morrow;
For there is strength in humble grace—
  Its wise disciples shielding—
And he is strong who understands
  The happy art of yielding.

Oh, brook, which laughs all night, all day,
  With voice of sweet seduction,
Teach us your art of laughing more
  At every new obstruction;
For every life has eddies deep
  And rapids fiercely dashing,
Sometimes in gloomy caverns forced,
  Sometimes in sunlight flashing:
Yet there is wisdom in your way,
  Your laughing waves and wimples:
Teach us your gospel built of smiles,
  The secret of your dimples.

Oh, oaks, that stand in forest ranks,
  Tall, strong, erect, and sightly,
Your branches arched in noblest grace,
  Your leaflets laughing lightly:
Teach us your firm and quiet strength,
  Your secrets of extraction
From slimy darkness in the soil
  The grace of life and action;
For they are rich who understand
  The secret of combining
The good deed hidden in the earth
  With that where suns are shining.

Oh, myriad forms of earth and air,
  Of lake, and sea, and river,
Which makes our landscapes glad and fair
  To glorify the giver;
Teach us to learn the lessons hid
  In each familiar feature,
The mystery which so perfects
  Each low or lofty creature;
For God is good, and life is sweet,
  While suns are brightly shining
To glad the glooms and thus rebuke
  Our follies of repining.

Each night is followed by its day,
  Each storm by fairer weather,
While all the works of nature sing
  Their psalms of joy together.
Then learn, oh, heart, their songs of hope!
  Cease, soul, thy thankless sorrow;
For though the clouds be dark to-day,
The sun shall shine to-morrow;
Learn well from bird and tree and rill,
  The sins of dark resentment;
And know the greatest gift of God
  Is faith and sweet contentment.

—J. E. Jones.

THE RESCUE.

BY VICTOR LEGARE.

Ah, monsieur, it was a brave rescue. My old grandpere told me the tale many times in the evenings long ago as we sat before the cottage door and watched the shadows fall across the bayou. Maybe you have heard of that terrible time—I mean the time of the rescue. It was in France, in Paris. One Monsieur Robespierre was king at that time, and not exactly king either, my grandpere said, but the same as king, for he cut off people's head's when he wished to, and he wished to a great deal.

There were trials in the courts every day, trials of men and trials of women. And every day heads of men and heads of women were falling from their necks. If any man had some money, peste! his head must come off, for the rich were tyrants and tyrants must die. And if anyone thought to whisper anything in secret his head, too, must fall, for it was not the day of the Commune? And what right had a man to withhold anything he knew from the citizens? Exclusiveness was aristocratic and aristocracy must die. No, no, good citizen, tell all you know and what you do not know imagine.

Now it so happened that in the Rue de la——there lived a young girl whom nobody knew and who would allow no one to know her, that is, no one whom anybody else knew or who seemed to know anybody else. But on several occasions persons whom the citizens of the Rue de la—— did not know were seen entering the house where the girl lived with an old woman who now and then appeared at the door. And one day the old woman had been heard to call the young woman "Mademoiselle Clarisse." Mademoiselle! Think of it! What a word to use in the enlightened days of the Commune when men were no longer slaves as of old.

And so they arrested her—I mean Mademoiselle Clarisse—and brought her before the court of the section and said she was an aristocrat, because nobody knew her except the old woman and the other people whom nobody knew, and because the old woman called her "mademoiselle." They would have arested the old woman, too, but they could not find her.

When they asked the young woman's name in the court no one was able to tell it, save that the old woman had called her "Mademoiselle Clarisse," and when they ask her to tell her own name she would not. And when the judge frowned and said it was the court of the people and must be respected, she only smiled. And what a scornful smile it was! My grandpere was in the crowd in the court and saw the smile, and he said that it expressed as well as words could have done "One cannot respect that which does not command respect." So the judge was angry and asked her:

"Are you an aristocrat or one of the people?"

And still she said not a word. My grandpere said it would have been useless if she had, for she was an aristocrat and bore the stamp of it. And I suppose that is why she said nothing.

The people began to murmur, and the judge said:

"We will yet teach these aristocrats the will of the people."

And he condemned her to death.

They tied her hands behind her and placed her on the plank that lay across the top of the cart as a seat for the prisoners, and then started for the guillotine. The guard surrounded the cart and the people pressed in on every side. For while they saw guillotinings every day, yet they never grew tired, but seemed to thirst for blood more and more. Besides, Mademoiselle Clairsse was very beautiful and possessed hair different from that of most French women. It was of gold, while her eyes were brown.

As the march began a young man detached himself from the crowd and hurried away down a side street.

In half an hour the guillotine was in sight. The people looked up to see how the prisoner would endure the vision. She showed no sign of fear.

When the cart had stopped and the prisoner stood on the ground a large woman with bare arms broke through the guards and spat in her face screaming, "Ah, aristocrat, ah, aristocrat, you shall die!"

The guards laughed, the people cheered and the woman extended her broad hand, opened wide, to strike the mademoiselle on the cheek. The blow never fell.

A stir was noticed just behind the guards, and again their line was broken through. This time it was by four young men with drawn rapiers in their hands. One of them thrust himself against the bare armed woman and hurled her to one side. Another cut the cords which bound the prisoner's wrists, and all gathered about her and tried to force their may through the guards and crowd again. But this was not so easy, now that it was understood what was going on. With crys and curses the soldiers rushed upon the aristocrats—for such they were—and a fearful struggle followed. My grandpere saw the white hands, with their fine lace wristbands, rising and falling as the gleaming rapiers flashed in the sunlight. But this could not last long, and as they were pressed closer and closer, the leader of the little band looked around for some way of exit out of the hoard of tigers which encompassed them. A dozen feet away stood a wagon with two horses attached. The horses were becoming very restless because of the commotion. The people who had climbed in to obtain a better view of the guillotining began to scramble out. It was all the hand and voice of the driver could do to prevent a runaway. The young aristocrat turned his head and spoke a few hasty words in a low tone to his companions. They gradually fought their way to the wagon. Upon reaching it one of the number leaped upon the wheel, threw the driver from his seat and seized the reins. The others lifted Mademoiselle Clarisse into the wagon and instantly joined her. A free bit was given to the horses, who wanted nothing more, but dashed forward into the crowd scattering people right and left. The guards fired a volley after the fugitives, but without any apparent effect except to increase the speed of the flying beasts. Both men and women were crushed in the mad career, but they were men and women who had come to gloat over the death of another. And yet maybe not all, for my grandpere was there and he said he was glad to see the escape. He only went because not to go was to be suspected and to be suspected was to die. Ah yes, monsieur, there may have been some one who were glad, but not many, for when the wagon turned into another street and was seen no more, the people howled with fury and cried:

"Down with the aristocrats! Death to the aristocrats! Let the blue blood flow! Bring ten for the one escaped! Ah, Mother Guillotine, you shall still be fed with dainty food!"—Norfolk (Va.,) Cavalier.

Fleet of Foot.

Captain H. L. Scott, of the famous Seventh United States cavalry, relates some marvelous tales of the powers of endurance and fleetness of foot of the members of L troop of his regiment, which is composed of Chiricahua Apache Indians from Arizonia, to a Sioux Falls Argus reporter. He relates that on one occasion a full-grown and able-bodied deer ran through the cavalry camp and instantly with a series of wild yells the Indians gave pursuit on foot, and by exceeding swiftness and skill they actually ran it down, caught it about nine miles from camp, and brought it in unharmed.

On one occasion nine of them were returning to camp, after a full day of hard work, riding upon a government wagon drawn by a mule team. A coyote was seen close by the trail, pursuing a young calf. Instantly the fatigues of the day's labor were forgotten, the dusky driver, in his wild enthusiasm, even forgetting the team, and the whole gave chase, and after a wild yelling, scrambling chase of two hours, the wolf was captured, tied, gagged and packed into camp. The mules had meantime quietly and decorously wended their way to camp.

This seems strange to the average pale-face, and the Sioux look upon these wonderful feats as something approaching the supernatural; this, in short, indicates the difference which different methods of life, pursued through generations, makes in people of the same general race. The pale-face would fall by the wayside in a mile, the Sioux would shrug his shoulders, grunt and lie down, or would fly to his trusty pony, on which he will do more work probably than any other man living, without regard to the character of his mount.

California Redwoods.

A new venture has been tried in the shipping of California redwood to England. Two British ships have lately started on their homeward voyage carrying cargoes of redwood. This wood, which is used universally and recklessly here in general building, has in England attracted the attention of decorators and architects. Its rich reddish tint renders it adaptable to interior decorations, panelling, and wainscoting. The two ships just started are taking their cargoes on speculation. This is another menace to the redwood forests, which, as it is, are rapidly disappearing. Those interested in the preservation of the Golden State's beauty have unsuccessfully tried to stop the wholesale demolition of these famous forests—the wonder and beauty of California. Save in the few cases where the redwoods have gained the giant growth of "Big Trees" no attempt has been made to preseve them. As they only grow in the foldings of the Sierra, the time is not far distant when the canyons will be swept bare of them, and California will wake to the realization of the vandalism that has robbed it of its greatest scenic charm. —Harper's Weekly.

On Guard.

Dobbins—I didn't know you had organic heart trouble, Bright's disease, hereditary consumption and hardening of the liver.

Robbins—I haven't.

Dobbins—But you insinuated as much to that man who just went out.

Robbins—I know. He is a friend of mine and a life insurance agent.—Puck.

Children's Column

NONUMBERLAND.

I dreamed one night I found a land
  Where figures were not used,
Where table books are quite unknown,
  Yet no one was confused.

The people of that pleasant place
  Cared not how moments mount,
Discarded clocks and milestones, coins,
  In fact, declined to count.

'Tis true they're robbed by artful rogues.
  Could they expect to thrive
When they disdained such simple sums
  As four and one make five?

They've ships (they've seen them), sailors trim
  And soldiers gay as well,
But if too many are too few
  Of course they could not tell.

Their enemies soon heard of this,
  A day for "reckoning" came;
War was declared, and then, alas.
  Each did his neighbor blame!

When forth they went to greet the foe,
  But half equipped, 'twas vain,
As no one had a time table
  The army missed the train.

On came invader, conquering,
  Made captive small and great,
And all because these foolish folk
  Would never calculate.

—Atlanta Journal.

WEE WEE'S STORY.

When I was very, very small, I was owned by a very, very small boy. He did not know how to take care of me, and made my life wretched by his mad pranks. He would squeeze me until I cried with pain, and when I ran away to hide the nurse would find me, and turn me again into the boy's torturing little hands. They often forgot to feed me. So that with rough play and scant diet I got on badly.

One day the boy carried me into the yard, and when dusk came he was taken into the house, but I was forgotten. The night grew black and cold, and I was terribly frightened, but no one heard my cries. I crept about until I found myself in the street, and for a long while I lay curled up against a lamp-post, half asleep.

With the early dawn came a cold rain, and my misery was complete. Just then I heard footsteps, and I began crying for help with the little strength left in me. The steps halted, and a colored woman spoke to me: "Where did you come from, poor. wet little kitten?" She took me in her hand and carried me to a house where she was cook.

I crept under the warm stove and soon fell asleep.

Then a voice woke me: "Well, where did you get that miserable little kitten?"

I trembled all over, and felt that my troubles were to begin afresh. I peeped between my hands and saw a very white lady talking to the woman, who told how she had found me.

"I don't want the kitten," the white lady said. "Don't you know what house it was near, and can't you take it back?"

"No, ma'am, there are lots of houses about there, but that little thing was on the corner, close to the lamp post, and crying just like you hear it now."

I was wailing piteously and the lady grew sorry for me. "Little waif," she said, "are you hungry?"

I tried to tell her that I was famished. She gave me a bowl of milk, and when I had taken my fill I looked up and sang my sweetest song. The fair lady stroked my hair, and then I made bold to creep into her arms. "Wee kitten," she said, "are you homeless, houseless, helpless? And yet you are one of God's creatures. I must take care of you, albeit I do not want you. So saying she carried me up the stairway and put me in a tiny basket all downy and fresh. "Now go to sleep," she said, "I must go to breakfast."

Right glad was I to do her bidding, but after a time I awoke hungry and lonely, and began to cry. A door opened and the fair lady came with milk. "How many times a day must you be fed, Wee Wee?"

I could only reply by singing with all my might, and looking longingly at the cup of milk. She gave me my fill and put me again in my downy basket.

For days I only knew my little bed and the fair lady. The colored woman came too, sometimes, but it was the lady who stroked me and said gentle words. I soon felt so bright and well that I was wild to run about and learn the way through that door which closed upon the fair lady. One day I came to it and begged admittance. The door opened and the lady let me creep in. I was very quiet at first, while I looked about this strange room. I found not only the fair lady, but one who could scarcely walk, and they called her an invalid. She watched me while I investigated the room, and when dainties were shortly brought for her to eat, she had them give me food from her tempting tray.

After this the fair lady let me roam at will through all the rooms. I was so well fed and so happy that I could not keep still. I just tumbled all over myself, played with my tail, and frolicked as only a kitten frolics. The invalid and fair lady would smile.

"Wee, Wee," the lady said, "you have a little mission."

Now this was a new word to me. I stopped my play, sat gravely down, curling my tail about my feet, and tried to study out what "mission" could mean. The problem was too big for me. So I went to sleep. I was always going to sleep. I did nothing but eat, sleep and play, and yet my serious lady said that I had a mission.

So the days went on, and after a time I grew bold enough to run up and down the stairs. When the fair lady went I followed, and when she returned I danced in front of her, and played hide and seek among the banister rails. My lady would stop and play Bo-Peep with me. Then she would say: "Cute little Wee-Wee. You are filling your mission when you bring us smiles."

Again that word! But now I had an inkling of its meaning. It was when I interested the invalid or made my mistress play with me that I was said to be fulfilling my mission. "How easy!" thinks I to my kitteny little self. "I only make merry, and they call this doing right."

Sometimes a beautiful lad would come to see the fair lady. He called her auntie, and the others grandmama and grandpapa. Auntie, grandmama, the invalid, and grandpapa; who gave me balls to play with. Yes, I know them all now, and never was a kitten happier. Just being happy and bringing smiles, this was my little mission. I understand it now.

Once I heard the fair lady tell the beautiful lady I was doing my part in the world, and asked if he did his as well. He said that his duty was harder work than a kitten's.

"True enough," said the auntie. "We mortals have more to think about and more to trouble us, but we have more mind and soul to work with. Surely we should do as much as Wee Wee, and learn that a sunshiny heart brings sunshine to those about us."

Again I curled my tail about my feet and blinked seriously. I had heard my lady say, "Of whom much is given much is required," and I had heard the grandpapa read out of a book about learning in "Whatsoever state I am therewith to be content." So I was glad to be only a happy little kitten, and yet one of God's creatures.—Sunday School Visitor.

She Stops Its Crying.

A woman doctor, who is the wife of a well known scientific man and explorer, has an original way of treating her babies when they cry. Her theory is that when screaming a child needs much more air for its lungs than on ordinary occasions. Her method of supplying it would not be apt to find favor in the eyes of less scientific mothers. She has a good-sized basket, so the story goes, and when the baby cries it is placed in it until its screams cease.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

Microscopists say that the strongest microscopes do not, probably, reveal the lowest stages of animal life.

Professor Vaughan claims to have invented a telephone by which conversations can be carried on between New York and London.

An examination of the eyes of white and colored children in the Washington schools show that the latter are much less liable to shortsightedness and astigmatism.

Mme. Audriffred of Paris, has given the Paris Academy of Medicine $160,000 the annual income of which is to be paid to the man who discovers a remedy for consumption.

An eminent scientist sugges is tha the twinkling of the fixed stars may actually be caused by the flaming of the tremendous conflagrations possibly taking place on these far-away and distant suns.

A new thirteen-inch gun, tested by our navy department at a distance of 4,000 yards, sent a projectile weighing 1,100 pounds through a sheet of steel fifteen inches thick and twelve feet into the earth beyond.

An evidence of the striking uniformity of size among the Japanese is found in the fact that recent measurements taken of an infantry regiment show no variation exceeding two inches in height or twenty pounds in weight.

Probably the largest casting ever made in the country was turned out recently at a foundry in Pittsfield, Mass. It was a plate for the Berkshire glass works, weighing 9,000 pounds, was fourteen feet long and forty-four inches wide and five inches thick.

Lieutenant Peary has been granted six month's leave of absence, with permission to leave the country, and it is said that he is going to Greenland after a meteorite which he discovered when last there, and which is said to be the biggest thing of the sort on record.

One of the most remarkable pieces of mechanism in the world is possessed by Johns Hopkins University. It is a ruling machine used to make "gratings" for spectroscopes, and it can rule on speculum metal with a diamond point 15,000, 40,000 or 125,000 lines to the inch.

A warning to mariners who rely on the popular theory that icebergs chill air and sea perceptibly for a considerable distance all around has been given by captain Macmillan, of the ship Dunhops. Careful thermometric observations at regular intervals showed no change in air or water on approaching ice from windward, the temperatures being the same at a cable's length as at several miles' distance. On passing to leeward of a berg a fall of a few degrees was generally observed in the air.

Beneath His Dignity.

The church wardens of an English village had placed an organ in their little church, and in the delight of their hearts they told the archdeacon what they had done at his next visitation. He fell in with their enthusiam, and advised them to have a grand opening, at which Dr. C——— a well known physician, should be present.

The advice was eagerly taken. Placards were posted, and the service was advertised in the local papers. The all important day arrived, and with it Dr. C———, who was at once shown up into the singing-loft, where stood the instrument in a case brilliant with gilded pipes, known to the profession as "dummies."

"But where is the keyboard?" inquired the great man, who had already been somewhat disconcerted at the size of the organ.

"Oh, said the church warden, "we turn un round wi' that there," pointing to the handle.

The amazement and indignation of Dr. C——— were beyond words. He had been invited to open a hand-organ.

It Is a Disease.

Mr. Banks.—I see that it has been discovered that paper money carries the germs of disease.

Mrs. Banks—Ah! then that is the reason so many bank cashiers go to Canada for their health.—Puck.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS, Prop'rs.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 PER ANNUM.

Advertising Rates Furnished on Application

F. K. REYNOLDS, L. N. BOWDON, Local Editors.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second class mail matter.

THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL AGAIN.

Pursuant to a call of the chairman, Hon. W. W. Wadsworth, the executive committee of the board of trustees met in Birmingham last Tuesday to consider plans of the buildings and to employ an architect to supervise the work. Quite a number of architects were present and each presented an array of plans which varied in price from twenty-five to fifty thousand dollars to erect the same. After a careful examination of them all the plan of Mr. E. W. Walpole was accepted and he was employed to prepare elaborate plans and specifications for the purpose of asking for bids.

The estimated cost of the building when completed is to be $47,000. Only a portion of it will be finished now. The building is to be 250 feet front, each wing to be 100 feet long and the centre piece to be 204 feet long. It will be three stories high, covered with slate, and be partly of stone and part of brick. When completed will accommodate about 300 pupils. A tower will be placed on the centre piece, which will contain a large clock. The tower is to be 120 feet high. The entire building is to be heated by steam. Taken altogether it will be a modern, well equipped building. Owing to the scarcity of means only the centre piece and one wing will be built at present. By the time this is finished it is confidently hoped that the bill in congress, which is so near passage, will be passed and it can then be easily finished. The legislature will also be in session and will no doubt make a good appropriation for the school.

The letting of the contract and commencement of work on the building forever settles the question of change of location and now we hope to have the earnest co-operation of all the members of the board of trustees. Surely Montevallo has done her part and we are reluctant to admit that some of the trustees have not done their's. We hope they will let by-gones be by-gones and if there are any who cannot co-operate with the executive committee of the board they should promptly tender their resignations.

The school is here to stay, and Montevallo and Montevalloans propose to make it the grandest institution in the state.

Montevallo is slowly but steadily improving. It may not be evident or apparent to us all who have lived here during the past ten years but let some one who has known the town in the past and has been away for a long time come back and they recognize the fact at a glance. Now that the Industrial school is settled and building is to begin let us cast about for something more. Having this in view Mr. H. C. Reynolds while in Washington at work on the land bill had repeated conversations with the officials of the Southern railway looking to this end. This magnificent system under so liberal and able management agree to co-operate and help us. A few days since Mr. Reynolds received a letter from one of the officials which read as follows:

Mr. H. C. Reynolds, Montevallo, Ala.

Dear Sir—Today I went through the cotton mill that we were talking about. If you can erect the building and furnish power for a 6,000 spindle mill with 200 looms I think we can induce this party to locate with you I believe all that he will ask is that you furnish the above and take it in stock at actual cost. He will furnish a manager and look after sale of the products. The plant will require about 25,000 square feet of floor space. I am sorry you failed to get your school bill through both houses of congress but hav'nt a doubt but that your congressman will accomplish it in December. Hoping to hear from you at an early date, I am yours truly,

M. V. Richards,
Land and Industrial Agent.

No more liberal proposition was ever made a town. Cotton mills are all coming south. They look for a good, healthy town where living is cheap and cotton near by so no freightage will be necessary. We might as well have this mill as any other place. Let us see what can be done.

W. J. BRYAN NOMINATED.

The National Democratic Convention Performs Its Work.

SEWALL FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

The Banner it Unfurls is for Free and Unlimited Coinage of Both Silver and Gold, Tariff for Revenue Only and the Abolition of National Bank Notes.

The national democratic convention assembled in Chicago last Tuesday.

At 1 p. m. the convention was called to order by Mr. Harrity, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the democratic national committee.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Ernst M. Sires, rector of Grace Episcopal church, Chicago.

Chairman Harrity, by direction of the national committee, reported the following as the temporary organization of the convention:

Temporary Chairman, David B. Hill, of New York.

Temporary Secretary, Simon B. Sheerin, of Indiana.

Sergeant-At-Arms, John I. Martin, of Missouri.

Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama, offered a minority report, signed by twenty-three members of the committee, recommending that the name of Hon.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN, OF NEBRASKA.

John W. Daniel, of Virginia, be substituted for that of Hon. David B Hill, of New York, in the report of the committee, and that the Hon. John W. Daniel be chosen temporary chairman.

Upon the conclusion of the debate on the reports a roll call of the states was ordered on the question of the adoption of the minority report.

The vote, as announced by the chair was, ayes 556, nays 349. So the minority report was adopted and the Hon. John W. Daniel was escorted to the chair, and addressed the convention, closing with the announcement that the national democratic convention was now in session and would proceed to the business of organization.

After the adoption of resolutions of thanks to Chairman Harrity, the roll was called to give each state and territory an opportunity to name its selections for the several committees.

When the appointment of the committees was completed the members of them withdrew for organization. The convention then adjourned until 10 o'clock Wednesday.

SECOND DAY.

The convention was called to order at 11 o'clock by the temporary chairman.

Prayer, by Rev. Thomas E. Greene, rector of Grace Episcopal church, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

The first business in order being the reports of committees, and no reports being ready the time was given to music and speeches until 1 p. m. At that hour the chair announced a partial report of the committee on credentials. The report gave each territory and the District of Columbia six votes and seated the contesting delegatoin (silver) from Nebraska. The committee asked further time as to the Michigan contest. The report was adopted by a viva voce vote.

The convention took a recess until 5 o'clock.

The temporary chairman was in his seat at 5:15, but it was 5;50 when the committee on credentials presented its complete report, upon which all other business was waiting. By this report the contesting (silver) delegates from the Fourth and Ninth Michigan districts were seated. A minority report was presented favoring the delegation as named on the temporary roll. A warm debate ensued at the conclusion of which the minority report was rejected by yeas 358, nays 558. The majority report was then adopted.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.

The report of the committee on permanent organization was then presented by Mr. Finlay of Ohio, naming Senator White of California as permanent president of the convention and Thomas J. Cogan of Ohio as permanent secretary.

The report was adopted and Senator White was conducted to the chair. At the conclusion of the president's address, he had presented to him, by Mr. Clark of Montana, in behalf of the delegates of that state a silver gavel, from the mines of Montana.

The convention then adjourned until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

THIRD DAY.

President White called the convention to order at 10:55 and Rev. Thomas E. Greene of Cedar Rapids, Ia., offered prayer.

Mr. Richardson, of Tennessee, was called to the chair, and Senator Jones of Arkansas, chairman of the committee on resolutions read the platform as finally adopted by the committee.

A minority report and two amendments by Mr. Hill, of New York, were read by one of the secretaries.

MINORITY REPORT.

The minority report declares that some of the declarations in the report of the majority are ill-considered and ambiguously phrased, while others are extreme and revolutionary of the well-recognized principles of the party.

The minority offers, as a substitute for the financial report of the majority, a declaration of which the first paragraph is as follows;

"We declare our belief that the experiment on the part of the United States alone of free silver coinage and changing the existing standard of value independently of the action of other great nations would not only imperil our finances, but would retard or entirely prevent the establishment of international bimetallism, to which the efforts of the government should be steadily directed. It would place this country at once upon a silver basis, impair contracts, disturb business, diminish the purchasing power of the wages of labor and inflict irreparable evils upon our nation's commerce and industry.

The minority further declares in favor of the maintenance of the existing gold standard as essential to the preservation of the national credit until international co-operation for the coining of silver can be secured. It favors also "the gradual retirement and cancellation of all United States notes and treasury notes under such legislative provisions as will prevent undue contraction."

The minority report recommends the following amendment to the report of the majority:

"We commend the honesty, economy, courrge and fidelity of the present democratic national administration.

"Signed, David B. Hill, New York; William F. Vilas, Wisconsin; George Gray, Delaware; John Prentiss Poe, Maryland; Irving W. Drew, New Hampshire; C. O. Holman, Maine; P. J. Farrell, Vermont; Lynde Harrison, Connecticut; David N. Baker, Rhode Island; Thomas L. C. Weadock, Michigan; James O'Brien, Minnesota; John E. Russell, Massrchusetts; Robert E Wright, Pennsylvania; William R. Steel, South Dakota; Allen McDermott, New Jersey."

The amendments offered by Senator Hill, of New York, are as follows:

First amendment: "But it should be carefully provided be law, at the same time, that any change in the monetary standard should not apply to existing contracts."

Second amendment: "Our advocacy of the independent free coinage of silver being based on the belief that such coinage will effect and maintain a parity between gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, we declare as a pledge of our sincerity that if such free coinage shall fail to affect such parity within a year from its enactment into law, such coinage shall thereupon be suspended."

Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, offered an omendment denouncing the administration of President Cleveland, and addressed the convention in favor of the majority report. Senator Jones, of Arkansas, followed on the same line. Senators Hill and Vilas and Ex-Governor William E. Russell, of Massachusetts advocated the minority report and Bryan, of Nebraska, closed the debate for the majority.

ADOPTION OF THE PLATFORM.

At 3:15 the convention proceeded to vote on the minority report. It was rejected by yeas 303, nays 626.

The amendment endorsing the administration was lost. Yeas 357, nays 564.

Mr. Hill's two financial amendments were lost by a viva voce vote.

The plaiform as reported by the majority of the committee on resolutions was then adopted by yeas 628, nays 301, absent 1.

The conventian took a recess until 9 p. m.

NOMINATIONS.

Upon reassembling the convention was called to order by President White, who immeniately transferred the gavel to Mr. Richardson. The chair announced that the nominating and seconding speeches would be limited to thirty minutes, and that the roll of states would now be called for nomination.

Mr. Vest, of Missouri, nominated the Hon. Richard Parks Bland. Seconded by Mr. David Overmeyer, of Kansas, and Hon. J. R. Williams, of Illinois.

Mr. H. T. Lewis, of Georgia, put Mr. W. J. Bryan, of Nebraska, in nomination. Seconded by T. F. Klutz, of North Caralina, G. F. Williams, of Massachusetts and T. J. Kernan of Louisiana.

Governor Claude Matthews, of Indiana, was put in nomination by Senator Turpie, of that state. Seconded by Hon. Oscar Trippett, of California.

Hon. Fred White, of Iowa, presented the name of Ex-Governor Boles of that state. Seconded by A. D. Smith, of Minnesota.

Ron. John S. Rhea, of Kentucky, placed Sonator Joseph C. Blackburn, of Kentucky in nomination. Seconded by W. W. Foote of California.

Mr. Patrick of Ohio, nominated John R. McLean of Cincinnati.

The roll call being completed at 12:35 a. m., the convention adjourned until 10 a. m.

SYNOPSIS OF PLATFORM.

Allegiance to the essential principles of justice and liberty—freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of conscience, the preservation of personal rights, the equality of all citizens before the law, and the faithful observance of constitutional limitations—is reaffirmed.

The party renews its obligations and reaffirms its devotion to the principles of civil and religious liberty.

We demand the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. We demand that the standard silver doliar shall be a full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts, public and private, and we favor such legislation as will prevent for the future demonetization of any kind of legal tender money by private contract.

We are opposed to the policy and practice of surrendering to the holders of the obligations of the United States the option reserved by law to the government of redeeming such obligations in either silver coin or gold coin.

We are opposed to the issuing of interest-bearing bonds of the United States in time of peace.

We denounce the issuance of notes intended to circulate as money by national banks as in derogation of the constitution; and we demand that all paper which is made a legal tender for public and private debts, or which is receivable for dues to the United States shall be issued by the government of the United States and shall be redeemable in coin.

Taxation should be limited by the needs of the government, honestly and economically administered. We denounce as disturbing to business the republican threat to restore the McKinley law. Until the money question is settled we are opposed to any agitation for further changes in our tariff laws except such as are necessary to meet the deficit in revenue caused by the adverse decision of the supreme court on the income tax.

We hold that the most efficient way of protecting American labor is to prevent the importation of foreign pauper labor to compete with it in the home market.

We are in favor of arbitration of differences between employers engaged in interstate commerce and their employes, and recommend such legislation as is necessary to carry out this principle.

We demand the enlargement of the powers of the interstate commerce commission and such restrictions and guarantees in the control of the railroads as will protect the people from robbery and oppression.

We denounce the profligate waste of money and the lavish appropriations of recent republican congresses.

We denounce arbitrary interference by federal authorities in local affairs as a violation of the constitution of the United States and a crime against free institutions, and we especially object to government by injunction as a new and highly dangerous form of oppression, by which federal judges, in contempt of the laws of the states and rights of citizens, become at once legislators, judges and executioners.

Recognizing the just claims of deserving union soldiers, we heartily indorse the rule of the present commissioner of pensions that no names shall be arbitrarily dropped from the pension roll.

We favor the admission of the territories of New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma into the union as states, and we favor the early admission of all the territories having the necessary population and resources to entitle them to statehood.

Public lands should be appropriated to the establishment of free homes for American citizens.

The Monroe doctrine must be maintained.

We extend our sympathy to the Cubans.

No man should be eligible for a third term to the presidential office.

The federal government should care for and improve the great interior water ways of the country.

Confiding in the justice of our cause and the necessity of its success at the polls, we submit the foregoing declaration of principles and purposes to the considerate judgment of the American people. We invite the support of all citizens who approve them and who desire to have them made effective through legislation for the relief of the people and the restoration of the country's prosperity.

FOURTH DAY.

President White called the convention to order at 10:55 and prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Greene.

Mr. Harrity, of Pennsylvania, put in nomination Robert Pattison, of that state.

Mr. Miller, of Oregon, in behalf of his state, nominated ex-Governor Sylvester Pennoyer.

BRYAN WINS.

Nominations being closed the secretary called the roll of states for balloting.

While the fifth ballot was progressing the names of Bland, McLean, Boles and Matthews were withdrawn.

Senator Turpie then moved to make the nomination of Bryan unanimous. There was objection on the part of the states not voting. The chair, however, decided the vote on Bryan's nomination unanimous, a majority voting for it.

The convention then took a recess until 8 p. m.

The convention reassembled a few minutes before 9 o'clock and, without transacting any business, adjourned to Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

FIFTH DAY.

At 11 a. m. the convention was called to order by the president. The name of candidates for vice-president being the first thing in order, George F. Williams of Massachusetts, John R McLean of Ohio, James H. Lewis of Washington, Geopge W. Fithian of Illinois, Sylvester Pennoyer of Oregon. Arthur Sewall of Maine, John W. Daniel of Virginia, Walter Clark of North Carolina, and Joseph C. Sibley of Pennsylvania were put in nomination.

SEWALL NOMINATED.

On the fourth ballot the vote was Bland 255, McLean 210, Sewall 97, Sibley 50, scattering 53.

Mr. Bland's name and that of McLean were then withdrawn. On the fifth ballot the McLean following went to Sewall. The nomination of Sewall was, on motion, made unanimous.

The usual resolutions of thanks were adopted and the convention adjourned without a day.

CHICAGO PLATFORM.

Full Text of the Platform Agreed Upon by the Democratic Convention.

Jeffersonian Principles Reaffirmed.

We, the Democrats of the United States, in National Convention assembled, do reaffirm our allegiance to those great essential principles of justice and liberty upon which our institutions are founded, and which the Democratic party has advocated from Jefferson's time to our own—freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of conscience, the preservation of personal rights, the equality of all citizens before the law and the faithful observance of constitutional limitations.

Centralization of Power Resisted.

During all these years the Democratic party has resisted the tendency of selfish interests to the centralization of Governmental power, and steadfastly maintained the integrity of the dual system of government established by the founders of this Republic of Republics. Under its guidance and teaching the great principle of local self-government has found its best expression in the maintenance of the rights of the States and in its assertion of the necessity of confining the general government to the exercise of the powers granted by the Constitution of the United States

Civil and Religious Liberty.

The constitution of the United States guarantees to every citizen the rights of civil and religious liberty. The Democratic party has alway been the exponent of political liberty and religious freedom and it renews its obligations and reaffirms its devotion to those fundamental principles of the constitution.

Silver Once the Unit of Value.

Recognizing that the money question is paramount to all others at this time, we invite attention to the fact that the Federal Constitution names silver and gold together as the money metals of the United States, and that the first coinage law passed by Congress under the Constitution made the silver dollar the unit of value and admitted gold to free coinage at a ratio measured by the silver-dollar unit.

"The Crime of '73."

We declare that the act of 1873, demonetizing silver without the knowledge or approval of the American people, has resulted in the appreciation of gold and a corresponding fall in the price of commodities produced by the people; a heavy increase in the burden of taxation and of all debt, public and private; the enrichment of the money-lender class at home and abroad; prostration of industry and impoverishment of the people.

Monometallism Denounced.

We are unalterably opposed to monometallism which has locked fast the prosperity of an industrial people in the paralysis of hard times. Gold monometallism is a British policy, and its adoption has brought other Nations into financial servitude to London. It is not only un-American, but anti-American, and it can be fastened on the United States only by the stifling of that spirit of love and liberty which proclaimed our political independence in 1776 and won it in the War of the Revolution.

Free Coinage at 16 to 1.

We demand the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other Nation. We demand that the standard silver dollar shall be a full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts, public and private, and we favor such legislation as will prevent for the future the demonetization of any kind of legal-tender money by private contract.

Object to "Gold" Bonds.

We are opposed to the policy and practice of surrendering to the holders of the obligations of the United States the option reserved by law to the Government of redeeming such obligations in either silver coin or gold coin.

Bond Issue Denounced.

We are opposed to the issuing of interest-bearing bonds of the United States in time of peace, and condemn the trafficing with banking syndicates which, in exchange for bonds and at an enormous profit to themselves, supply the Federal Treasury with gold to maintain the policy of gold monometallism.

Opposed to National Banks.

Congress alone has the power to coin and issue money and President Jackson declared that this power could not be delegated to corporations or individuals. We, therefore, denounce the issuance of notes intended to circulate as money by national banks as in derogation of the constitution; and we demand that all paper which is made a legal tender for public and private debts or which is receivable for dues to the United States shall be issued by the government of the United States and shall be redeemable in coin.

Tariff for Revenue Only.

We hold that tariff duties should be levied for purposes of revenue, such duties to be so adjusted as to operate equally throughout the country and not discriminate between class or section, and that taxation should be limited by the needs of the Government honestly and economically administered.

McKinley Law Denounced.

We denounce as disturbing to business the Republican threat to restore the McKinley law, which has been twice condemned by the people in National elections, and which, enacted under the false plea of protection to home industry, proved a prolific breeder to trusts and monopolies, enriched the few at the expense of the many, restricted trade and deprived the producers of the great American staples of access to their natural markets.

Income Tax Law Repeal.

Until the money question is settled we are opposed to any agitation for further changes in our tariff laws, except such as are necessary to make up the deficit in revenue caused by the adverse decision of the Supreme Court on the income tax. But for this decision by the Supreme Court there would be no deficit in the revenue under the law passed by a Democratic Congress, in strict pursuance of the uniform decisions of that court for nearly one hundred years, that court having sustained constitutional objections to its enactment, which have been overruled by the ablest judges who have ever sat on that bench.

Its Re-Enactment Demanded.

We declare that it is the duty of Congress to use all the constitutional power which remains after that decision, or which may come from its reversal by the court as it may hereafter be constituted, so that the burdens of taxation may be equally and impartially laid to the end that wealth may bear its due proportion of the expenses of the Government.

For Restricted Immigration.

We hold that the most efficient way to protect American labor is to prevent the importation of foreign pauper labor to compete with it in the home market, and that the value of the home market to our American farmers and artisans is greatly reduced by a vicious monetary system which depresses the prices of their products below the cost of production, and thus deprives them of the means of purchasing the products of our home manufacture.

Arbitration.

We are in favor of the arbitration of differences between employers engaged in interstate commerce and their employes and recommend such legislation as is necessary to carry out this principle.

Federal Railroad Ownership.

The absorption of wealth by the few, the consolidation of our leading railroad systems and the formation of trusts and pools require a stricter control by the Federal Government of those arteries of commerce. We demand the enlargement of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and such restrictions and guarantees in the control of railroads as will protect the people from robbery and oppression.

For Economy in Office.

We denounce the profligate waste of the money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation and the lavish appropriations of recent Republican Congresses which have kept taxes high while the labor that pays them is unemployed, and the products of the people's toil are depressed in price till they no longer repay the cost of production. We demand a return to simplicity and economy which befits a Democratic Government and a reduction in the number of useless offices, the salaries of which drain the substance of the people.

"Government by Injunction."

We denounce arbitrary interference by Federal authorities in local affairs as a violation of the Constitution of the United States and a crime against free institutions, and we especially object to government by injunction as a new and highly dangerous form of oppression by which Federal judges in contempt of the laws of the States and rights of citizens become at once legislators, judges and executioners; and we approve the bill passed at the last session of the United States Senate and now pending in the House relative to contempts in Federal courts and providing for trials by jury in certain cases of contempt.

Against Pacific Funding Bill.

No discrimination should be indulged by the Government of the United States in favor of any of its debtors. We approve of the refusal of the Fifty-third Congress to pass the Pacific Railroad Funding bill, and denounce the effort of the present Republican Congress to enact a similar measure.

For Liberal Pensions.

Recognizing the just claims of deserving Union soldiers, we heartily indorse the rule of Commissioner Murphy that no names shall be arbitrarily dropped from the pension roll, and the fact of enlistment and services should be deemed conclusive evidence against disease or disability before enlistment.

Territories Should Be Admitted.

We favor the admission of the Territories of New Mexico and Arizona into the Union as States, and we favor the early admission of all the Territories having the necessary population and resources to entitle them to Statehood, and while they remain Territories we hold that the officials appointed to administer the government of any Territory, together with the District of Columbia and Alaska, should be bona fide residents of the Territory or district in which their duties are to be performed. The Democratic party believes in home rule, and that all public lands of the United States should be appropriated to the establishment of free homes for American citizens. We recommend that the Territory of Alaska be granted a delegate in Congress, and that the general land and timber laws of the United States be extened to said Territory.

The Monroe Doctrine.

The Monroe doctrine as originally declared and as interpreted by succeeding presidents is a permanent part of the foreign policy of the United States, and must at all times be maintained.

Sympathy for Cuba.

We extend our sympathy to the people of Cuba in their heroic struggle for liberty and independence.

Against Life Tenure in Office.

We are opposed to life tenure in the public service. We favor appointments based upon merit, fixed terms of office and such an administration of the Civil Service laws as will afford equal opportunities to all citizens of ascertained fitness.

For River Improvement.

The Federal Government should care for and improve the Mississippi River and other great waterways of the Republic, so as to secure for the interior States easy and cheap transportation to tide water. When any waterway of the Republic is of sufficient importance to demand aid of the Government such aid should be extended upon a definite plan of continuous work until permanent improvement is secured.

Against a Third Term.

We declare it to be the unwritten law of this Republic, established by custom and usage of one hundred years, and sanctioned by the examples of the greatest and wisest of those who founded and have maintained our Government, that no man should be eligible for a third term of the Presidential office.

Appeal to the People.

